St. Lawrence Seaway Bill Signed By Ike

WASHINGTON, May 13 -UP- President Eisenhower in an historic move Thursday signed the St. Lawrence seaway bill to end a two-decade battle to open the Great Lakes ports of the Midwest to Atlantic shipping.

The new law authorizes the United States to join Canada in building the canals and locks necessary to provide a continuous 27-foot navigation channel through the St. Lawrence River which links Lake Ontario with the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

Forty-two senators and House members who had backed the measure were invited to witness the President sign the bill at a White House ceremony.

Final passage of the seaway bill by Congress last week marked one of Mr. Eisenhower's biggest legislative triumphs since he took office 14 months ago.

The project, envisioned for more than a century, is expected to be completed by 1960. It would open the way for ocean-going vessels to sail from the Atlantic to Duluth, Minn.

Backers of the seaway maintained it is essential to national defense. They said it would permit easier shipment of Labrador iron ore to Midwest steel plants to bolster dwindling U.S. reserves.

Opponents contended, however, it would needlessly duplicate railroads and other existing transportation facilities, and would be highly vulnerable to enemy air attack in case of war.

Two big hurdles remain to be cleared before the construction can start. Canada and the United States must agree on details of construction, operation and joint control, including the setting of tolls.

Canada Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent said last week Canada still stood ready to build the seaway alone if "undue delays" are caused by U.S. participation.

Stakes In Lanier Gamble Are High

PARIS, May 13 -UP- Premier Joseph Laniel, fighting for the life of his government in a vote of confidence that was to come later Thursday, told the national assembly today that he would defend Dien Bien Phu in Indo-China because it might be used as a base for Communist attack on all southeast Asia.

Laniel said the decision to make a stand at the isolated northern Indo-Chinese fortress was based on advice from French military chiefs.

He said the military planners had agreed that Dien Bien Phu might become the Red base for a drive to conquer all southeast Asia.

Laniel and his government came under attack on their Indo-China policy when Dien Bien Phu fell in a bloody defeat after 56 days of Communist siege.

France's role in the Geneva conference also was at stake in Thursday's confidence test.

Defeat of the bill-necked conservative leader in a vote of confidence would mean the end of Laniel's government.

State Board of Water Engineers reports the Lone Star State's April rains ranged from less than one-half to almost three times normal.

The northeast got 47 per cent of its usual April moisture, but the Lower Rio Grande Valley received 288 per cent of its customary rains.

Some member of the guard will be on duty all day to answer questions concerning any of the equipment or enlistment in the guard.

Probe Halt Attempt Disavowed By Adams

WASHINGTON, May 13 -UP- Army counselor John G. Adams swore Thursday that he never at any time tried to get Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy to suspend or call off his investigation of alleged subversives in the Army.

At one point he testified that McCarthy's investigation at the Fort Monmouth, N. J., radar center had a "bad effect on Army morale." But he said he never, either on his own volition or under any orders from Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens, tried to stop or nullify McCarthy's investigation.

Adams made these statements under cross-examination by special counsel Roy H. Jenkins as hearings of the Army-McCarthy row went into their 16th day.

Jenkins asked if Adams meant to say "you never sought a suspension or hiatus" of the McCarthy inquiry.

"Yes, sir," Adams replied. "that is what I'm saying."

This is a crucial point on the controversy. The McCarthy side charges that the Army used former McCarthy aide, Pvt. G. David Schine, as a "hostage" in efforts to stop McCarthy's hearings on alleged espionage at Fort Monmouth.

The Army also is accused of threatening to publish an embarrassing report on Roy M. Cohn's activities in Schine's behalf if the investigation were not soft-pedaled.

The Army counselor had spent all of Wednesday giving direct testimony on "pressure" and "abuses" he said were used by McCarthy's aides - chief counsel Cohn and staff director Francis P. Carr - in attempts to get special favors for Schine.

Before Thursday's session, McCarthy said some of the charges Adams swore to Wednesday were "completely and provably false." He did not specify them.

Warns Of Bickering Weakened UN Seen By Hammarskjold

BERKELEY, Calif., May 13 -UP- Dag Hammarskjold, secretary-general of the United Nations, warned Thursday the UN will be "gravely weakened" if the Soviet bloc and the West refuse to settle their conflicts within the framework of the world organization.

In an address at the University of California, Hammarskjold said an effort to keep the East-West conflict outside the UN "would lose more than it gains."

He did not cite specific instances, but he apparently was referring to a statement by Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav Molotov at Geneva Tuesday that the UN is unfit to settle the Korean problem.

At the same time, he might have been referring to the opposition of the United States to admitting Communist China to the UN.

"We should recognize that it is worth more for world peace to achieve what little agreement is possible between the two conflicting parties, than to register the much broader area of agreement of one side only by excluding the other, knowing that such one-sided agreements cannot be implemented against the will of the party excluded," he said.

Hammarskjold said the challenge the world cannot escape "is a peaceful resolution of the conflict between the Communist world and the West."

"The United Nations would not be strengthened, but gravely weakened if, by exclusion of Communist members, it were to attempt to push the East-West conflict outside its council chambers."

He said an immediate problem may be met by a truce, "but we have done so only for today and tomorrow, or for the next few years...."

These facts were disclosed Wednesday night in a long summary of "the new colonialism in Asia: Sino-Soviet penetration of Indo-China." The document was "based on hard intelligence facts," official informants said, but the exact source was not revealed for security reasons.

Rebels Open Major Attack

HANOI, May 13 -UP- The Communists have opened a major attack against the French defense post of Phuly, 35 miles south of Hanoi, and heavy fighting still rages, the Francis high command announced Thursday.

Losses were described as "serious" on both sides.

Phuly, 10 miles west of the Red River delta, is 21 miles west of Nam Dinh, the third important city of the delta. If the outpost falls to the Communist onslaught the way will be open for a rebel Viet Minh drive on Nam Dinh itself.

French authorities said the Red attack began Tuesday night with Viet Minh regulars and guerrillas reserves attacking the French post under a barrage of mortar fire.

There was no official indication how many men were involved but military sources here estimated "several thousand."

The Communists have concentrated part of a regular division of about 10,000 men in the Phuly sector. The rest of the division is dispersed along Hanoi's life line railway to Halphong 35 miles north of the current battle.

Hoey's Death Mourned In Washington

WASHINGTON, May 13 -UP- A saddened capital Thursday paid tribute to the courteous old man in the swallow-tailed coat, Sen. Clyde R. Hoey, whose sudden death removed one of the Senate's most colorful and beloved figures.

The white-haired veteran of 50 years in politics died in his sleep in his Senate office Wednesday. He was 76. Funeral services will be held Saturday in the Central Methodist Church in Hoey's birthplace and hometown, Shelby, N. C.

Chessman Awaiting Reprieve

SAN QUENTIN, Calif., May 13 -UP- Author-convict Cary Chessman sweated it out in death row Thursday while Gov. Goodwin J. Knight decides whether to order a last minute reprieve.

Chessman, a robber, kidnaper and rapist, is scheduled to die in the gas chamber Friday at 11 a. m. The doomed man spent what may be his last 24 hours alive working on his will, which leaves the profits from his book, "Cell 2455, Death Row," to the children of some friends.

Chessman, 32, was sentenced to death for kidnaping with intent to do bodily harm. He was convicted six years ago on 17 counts of kidnaping, rape, robbery, grand theft and sex perversion in Los Angeles. One of his victims, a 17-year-old girl, is in a state mental hospital as a result of his attack. Her mother said Wednesday she hoped Chessman's execution "will release my daughter from the fear she has been under."

Reds Guiding Strategy In Indo-China

WASHINGTON, May 13 -UP- Intelligence reports reveal for the first time that swarms of Russian advisers now are helping guide Communist military strategy in embattled Indo-China.

The Soviet "advisers" or "supervisors" work with Viet Minh rebel officers down to the division level. They also are helping train Chinese Communist officers for the war.

These facts were disclosed Wednesday night in a long summary of "the new colonialism in Asia: Sino-Soviet penetration of Indo-China." The document was "based on hard intelligence facts," official informants said, but the exact source was not revealed for security reasons.

In the Viet Minh itself there are Soviet and Chinese Communist "advisers" and "supervisors" in the military organization down at least to the division level," the report said. "Communist political control continues down to the company level in the military and is spread throughout the administrative hierarchy."

The report also listed these other signs of Soviet assistance for the Red rebel forces fighting in Indo-China:

1. Training of Chinese Communist officers for the war.

2. Supplies and equipment from Russia and other satellites, including telecommunications devices, explosives, heavy caliber gun a trucks, gasoline, tires, machine guns, and other "military devices."

Cobalt Bomb Called Scare

MOSCOW, May 13 -UP- The Soviet Army newspaper "Red Star" said Thursday that warnings of the horrors of a cobalt bomb are western imperialist scare stories, designed to frighten people with a new weapon.

The newspaper said there are "not sufficient grounds" for fears that a radio-active cobalt bomb could wipe out large areas of the earth's population.

(In Vienna Thursday British No. 1 prize-winning physicist Sir George Thomson warned that use of a cobalt bomb in war would amount to world suicide. Other leading western scientists have sounded similar warnings of the effects of a cobalt bomb, which would saturate the atmosphere with deadly radio-active isotopes of cobalt which would retain their killing power for seven years.)

The article in "Red Star" was signed by a lieutenant colonel of engineers.

Sweet Water

SWEETWATER, Tex., May 13 -UP- The three reservoirs supplying water for Sweetwater were bankful Wednesday, so the city commission held a special meeting to discuss things for water users.

The commissioners voted to cut in water rates, effective June 1.

Builder To Start Bridge Work Soon

Frost Construction company, Hydro, Okla., which holds the contract for the building of the Canadian river bridge between Pampa and Perryton, is scheduled to "move in" Monday.

G. K. Reading, senior resident highway engineer, late this morning made the announcement.

"It'll probably be a week before they actually start," he explained. Frost's winning bid Feb. 16 is for the Texas Highway commission in Austin was $638,727.97.

Opening up the way from Pampa north, the bridge will be the fourth one to be built within 100 miles over the Canadian river in the last three years and should be completed sometime in the first part of 1955. Others spanning the Canadian are the one at Canadian; the one at Borger and the one between Channing and Vega.

Other contracts on this project, totalling $373,822.76, were let for the jetties; 8.76 miles of roadway leading up to the bridge site; and grading, rip-rap protection and the four bids pull the project over the $1 million mark.

Reading pointed out that work on the West Dugout creek bridge was about to get underway and should take about six weeks.

As for the bridge between Leffers and McLean, the detour - which was washed out two days ago - has now been repaired, and traffic is able to pass. The project is about 75 per cent complete, Reading said.

Columnist Flunks Out As Actor

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
WASHINGTON, May 13 — I signed a contract for a movie career, but I didn't get beyond the rehearsal period the first time out.

It was for a good cause, although I caused was a lot of trouble for the director and the make-up man. The skit was made by National Video Productions, Inc., and is called "Within Man's Power."

The greasings and the rehearsal took most of the morning and night work all of the rest to a frazzle. There was a recess for lunch. That's when I got the contract to sign.

Bond Set At $75,000 For Dallas Extortion Suspects

DALLAS, May 13 — (UP) — Two brothers were held to $75,000 bond Thursday on charges of trying to extort $200,000 from 22 prominent Jewish families.

An FBI agent testified Wednesday at a preliminary hearing for James Holtz Jones, 49, Dallas, and Ralph Franklin Jones, 42, Houston, that he saw Ralph make a telephone call at the same time instructions on how the $200,000 should be delivered were being given.

Justin C. Thompson, the agent, testified that last Monday night he watched Jones put a cloth over the telephone mouthpiece at a drugstore. At the same time, he said, he saw George Schepps receive a call at a nearby liquor store.

Same Voice as Caller
Schepps, brother of Julius Schepps who was designated as the payoff man by the extortioner, testified the call told him how to make the payoff. He said it was the voice of the man he later knew as Ralph Jones.

"Was it the same muffled voice you heard over the phone that night?" asked Lester May, former assistant U.S. attorney who is the brothers' defense lawyer.

"No, but it had the same inflections," Schepps replied.

James Jones was arrested shortly after the telephone call, at what the FBI said was the point where the payoff was ordered. Ralph was picked up early Tuesday morning at a tourist court.

22 Letters Were Sent
In addition to extortion, James Jones was charged with assaulting (shooting at) a federal officer. FBI agents testified he fired one shot during the scuffle preceding his arrest.

Bra Makers Bust Out Poetic - Boost Sales

By WARD CANNON
NEA Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK — (NEA) — Hot news item: according to a survey conducted by a leading clothing distributor, most American men do not know what kind of underwear they use.

"Nor do they know the brands, the names, the differences between one style and another. Besides, they don't know how often they have to buy a new supply. Reason: most American men do not buy their own underwear. It has fallen to that blushing-roose little woman — to take care of this chore."

Thus, as it is said, to discover the man you have to look at the woman. And to look at the woman, you must first look to modern science which has broken underwear-buying womanhood into three categories: name conscious; intangibly-conservative; and professionally-dripping.

A supplementary survey shows the American female to be foundation-garment-crazy. She and her sisters own six brassieres each. Together, they buy almost 15 million bras and girdles per year. About 40 per cent of all women use bras that have some amount of extra reinforcing material. And from the titles that foundation-garment manufacturers use, it's safe to assume that a rose by any other name would hardly be as sweet.

The gal who goes to buy her own underclothes picks from designations like: Whiproll, Loveable, Merry-Go-Round, Hidden Treasure, Inner Circle, Freedom Ring. It is not inconceivable that a historian, millions of light years away, may explain our whole civilization in terms of women's brassieres.

From the array of enchanting labels, milady eventually comes home with a new foundation. According to the statistics, she comes home with the same brand she bought last time.

"This," said Herbert Mayer, foundation manufacturer, "is because she is intangibly conservative." From his experience he has found women ready and eager to try new dress styles, new shoes, new haircuts. "But not new foundations because at some point in time — years ago perhaps — she found a garment that made her feel comfortable."

Whether or not it continues to be comfortable, she stays with the brand. Not so for all women, Mayer said. He has found that much of his merchandise goes to the "professional drifter" — the girl who changes foundations every day in the week because every day she has a different picture of herself.

To paint the picture in more glowing terms, bra-and-girdle manufacturers employ engineering and metallurgy. The whole idea is to make the body conform to the underclothes, whether or not the body wants to.

One of the largest foundation garment makers has come up with a brand new bra that is supposed to do the job better. It's called "Freedom Ring" and it presumably exerts an outward thrust and an inward pull with the help of highly tempered steel.

Will it change the standards of glamor as the American people? Its makers say no. But it is expected to be more comfortable — a quality that has been expen-

Scout Leaders To Attend Camp

Camp for Order of the Arrow members, Boy Scout adult leaders of the district, has been scheduled for this week, and at Camp Ki-o-wah, according to an announcement by George Newberry of Pampa, camp chairman. The outing will begin Saturday evening and end Sunday afternoon.

Purpose of the camp will be to hold a district conference, to be held throughout the history of fashion. So far the manufacturers can tell, women seem to be satisfied with the undergarments on store counters today. And no change in the national figure seems close. If it were, this is one industry that would know it.

As one top bra-and-girdle executive put it: "We simply help women look the way they think men want them to."

So far 760 reservations from scouts in the district have been taken for summer camp, Newberry stated.

'Defeatist' Could Be France's Next Premier

By CHARLES M. MCANN
United Press Foreign Analyst
A man who believes the French position in Indo-China is hopeless could be France's next premier. He is Pierre Mendes-France, an independent-minded member of the Radical Socialist party.

Mendes-France also opposes the European Defense Community pact which provides for inclusion of German troops in the Western defense set-up.

If he is called upon to head France's 20th government since World War II, the work of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles in seeking collective security in Europe and the Far East will be even more difficult, if not impossible.

Vote of Confidence
Premier Joseph Laniel is staking his job in the Paris National Assembly Thursday on a vote of confidence.

The issue is whether there shall be an immediate full-dress debate on the entire Indo-China situation — the French defeat at Dien Bien Phu, the threat of a new Communist rebel offensive and the Paris Eastern negotiations in Geneva.

Laniel is so dead set against holding a debate now that he is prepared to quit if the National Assembly insists on one.

A week ago Thursday Laniel won a vote of confidence — 311 to 343 — on the same issue.

But it was said then that Laniel was living on borrowed time — and next day he was forced to announce the fall of Dien Bien Phu.

Laniel may win Thursday night's vote. But belief is hardening that his government is doomed.

Mendes-France came near being premier before Laniel was chosen to take the government leadership last June.

When-French political experts no longer say "he" — Laniel government falls, Mendes-France probably will be the leading candidate for the prime ministry.

Middle-of-the-Road
The Radical Socialist party of which he is a leader is neither radical nor socialist. It is middle-of-the-road. But Mendes-France is emerging as a spokesman for what is called the moderate left wing, including the Socialists.

Mendes-France is 47. He is a financial expert. He was elected to parliament in 1936. He was an air force lieutenant at the start of World War II. When France collapsed he went to Morocco with other political leaders who would not collaborate with the Vichy government. He was arrested there and sentenced to six years in prison but escaped to London and was a French air force observer in bombing missions.

Mendes-France demanded in a speech in February, when the Indo-China situation was not so grim, that the government enter into direct negotiations with rebel leader Ho Chi Minh.

"We can not continue, without hope and without aim, to allow our youth to die," he said.

"Alfred! Who do we know that's stupid enough to come over on a rainy night like this just to play bridge?"

THE MARQUEE BY DICK KLEINER

The Record Shop: Most intriguing casting of the month is Columbia's plan to pair Gertrude (Molly Goldberg) Berg and Jimmy Boyd on the same record. It'll be a duet between a yoo-hoo and a you-all.

Fran Warren is a very lucky girl. She has a head on her shoulders that does more than just sing and look pretty. It also thinks. And a thinking head is an advantage in singing, as well as nuclear physics.

At the moment, Miss Warren's head is thinking of ways to promote the sale of her latest record, the very lovely "You promised Me" (MGM). It seems that to succeed, a recording star must go in for what is called exploitation.

"Exploitation is a must for records," Fran says. "If I think a record has a chance, I may spend between $2000 and $3000 in pushing it."

This money goes for things like personal phone calls and letters to some or all of the nation's 1800 disc jockeys. She may also hire a man for six weeks or so to go on the road and visit the disc jockeys. And-or she may go in some of the key spots herself.

"You have to do that," she says, "or you won't get a hit. It's practically impossible to get a hit otherwise."

Fran, after considerable research, has found that there's one thing most disc jockeys agree on. And that's that they like to decorate their offices and studios with cheesecake pictures. She says Marilyn Monroe, the cheesecake champ, is hanging in almost every radio station in the country.

"So I figured," she says, "why shouldn't they see pictures of a singer? And why not me? So I'm sending some pictures around soon."

It seems that, besides having a head on her shoulders, she has some other assorted material below her shoulders. And, very nice, indeed. Yep, Fran Warren is a very lucky girl.

The title song from 20th-Century Fox's big movie, "Three Coins in the Fountain," is getting one of the most widespread coverages in years. Records are out, or on the way, by Frank Sinatra, Toni Arden, the Four Aces, Dinah Shore, Marti Stevens and Julius La Rosa.

"Three Coins in the Fountain" should be subtitled "Five Coins in the Jukebox."

trouble pronouncing it, RCA is officially changing the title of Eddie Fisher's "Anema e Cora" to the translation, "With All My Heart and Soul." Wonder when they'll apply the same treatment to Fisher's conductor, Hugo Winterhalter?

Dick's Picks: Instrumentals — "The Cat From Coos Bay" (Big Dave, Capitol); "Until Six" (Ralph Marterie, Mercury); "Venezuela" (Les Baxter, Capitol); "Horn Staccato" (Harmonica, Mercury). Vocals — "Senor" (Eartha Kitt, RCA); "Lazy Afternoon" (Leroy Holmers, MGM); "I'm So Glad" (Gayla Peevey and Jimmy Boyd, Columbia); "Love, Tears and Kisses" (June Valli, RCA); "Aye Aye Aye" (Ginny Gibson, MGM); "The Best Performance of the Year" (Bernice Parks, Mercury).

If you like show tunes, you'll like these — on RCA, the Melachrino Orchestra plays a "Show Tune Medley": (Berlin, Rodgers, Kern, Porter); and, on Walden, Louis Armstrong, violinist, plays them both. Angel is out with four symphonic poems of Saint-Saens, played by the Orchestre de l'Association des Concerts Colonne, led by Fourtetier.

 ISTANBUL, Turkey, May 12 — UP — Heads of U.S. missions in 12 countries met here Tuesday in the first session of a four-day secret conference. Henry A. Byroads, U.S. assistant secretary of state for Near Eastern, South Asian and African affairs, presided.

EXPENSIVE ACREAGE—T. H. Tanner, left, of Kalamazoo, Mich., hands $4 to T. H. Ellis, and receives the deed for a 500-acre "ranch" in Hunt County, Tex. At that rate an acre would cost $100,000. Immediately after the transaction, Tanner erected fence posts, covered with barbed wire, around the property. He bought the ranch to pay off a bet with a friend back home. Looking on is Tanner's daughter, Billy Jo.

It's A Human Trait... Favoritism Has Been Existent Since First War Was Fought

By HENRY McLEMORE

The sudden discovery (or suspicion) that there is such a thing as favoritism in the Army, the Navy, the Air Corps, and, even, the Quartermaster Corps, surprised me just about as much as does a bill from the telephone company.

Favoritism has been existent since the first man went to war, and it by no means belongs solely to the American Army. Ours is far from being the only Army where men are given special privileges, or have things made a bit easier for them, or draw cushy jobs.

The British do pretty well at it, starting at the very top level. For proof you only have to read the books of Sir Winston Churchill. A daughter usually accompanied him as a secretary and a bit of "home-away-from-home" on his major missions in World War II. And son Randolph didn't start out as a private — or end up as one, either.

Closer to home, did not President F. D. Roosevelt often choose to have by his side a daughter, or a son? Seems to me that when he traveled either Anna or one of the boys was close at hand. And the boys came out with pretty good ranks, too. Much higher ranks than men who had graduated from the Point and had inside the business of being either a field leader or an aide to a President their business.

I am not knocking this fire-side nepotism. I think it is as natural as rain, as human as a backache. I am quite sure that if I had the power to select those who were to be closest to me, I'd choose a member of my own family. No worry about trust and faith and reliance there. Wouldn't you? If you wouldn't then you are less than human.

There are men big enough not to use their power or influence for those they love or care for, but they only come along once in a while. I think Lincoln would have sent his son out as a private, with a rifle in his hand, to die or come back. I think Lee would have done the same. But how often do men of that caliber heed our nation?

To come back closer to home, name me another major other than John Eisenhower who has a presidential plane stop by his side on a trip home and his family for a trip home on Thanksgiving, Christmas, etc. We happen to like rattler out of Columbus, Ga., for John, the misus and the children. The Columbine sets down and off he goes.

If Mr. Eisenhower didn't do that,

I would rank him less than human. He would be the sort of man who would set behind his desk in Washington, missing his son and grandchildren and say, "No, let's go straight to Augusta. Let John and his family get to our place the best way they can." That would be an act of false simplicity, a show-off job of humility. I am glad he tells the skipper of the Columbine to pick up those he loves.

Few fathers in this country wouldn't do the same, and I am glad we have a human being back of the big desk on Pennsylvania Avenue.

Private Echins undoubtedly had a few extra privileges. You can't be as closely tied to millions and a senator and not have. I am sure that a few privileged had extra privileges; were coddled a bit, so to speak. Most of us, and even generals, are impressed by a name that hits the paper every day. Again a human trait.

I say it is impossible to treat everyone the same. No one does it in daily life, so why expect it in line of office? Nature isn't a quick-change artist.

I even got a few extra privileges in the Army. I had a man call me before the sun came up, whereas in civilian life I either had to get an alarm clock or ask Western Union to keep ringing. I once had a captain borrow my car, but he died on Omaha Beach, so I can't think too shamefully of his taking a favor of a private. I still have a car, and all he has is a cross. I wish I could still put my arm around his shoulder.

Students Stage Strike
HAMMONTON, N.J., May 13—UP—About 800 Hammonton high school pupils skipped classes Tuesday in protest against an order retiring their 66-year-old principal next month. Only 50 pupils were at their desks when school opened Tuesday morning. The others gathered in front of city hall, across the street from the school, and displayed signs demanding retention of Principal Paul A. Gillespie for another year.

Gary to Replace Bing
NEW YORK, May 13—UP—Gary Crosby, 21-year-old son of Bing Crosby, will be the crooner's summer replacement on his radio show starting June 4, the Columbia Broadcasting System announced Tuesday. The program will resemble the Bing Crosby show, with music and guest stars, CBS said.

Dam Engineers Continue Tour Of Plains-Panhandle Towns

Five representatives of Parsons, Brinckerhoff, Hall and MacDonald, the New York City engineering firm hired by the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority to make a feasibility report on the proposed dam-and-reservoir project today were in the midst of their tour of the 11 Panhandle-Plains communities in the project.

The five visited the Pampa City Commission Tuesday morning, led a short round-table discussion on the proposed project then headed for the other authority communities.

They were H. A. Foster, project engineer; E. A. Hardin, water supply engineer; E. F. Cadiz, economist; A. Bahr, area representative; and C. A. Hunt, hydrologist and assistant to the project engineer.

A conference with the engineer, the authority's executive board and U. S. Bureau of Reclamation officials Monday morning in Amarillo took the place of the May directors meeting, originally scheduled Monday in Plainview. Next board of directors session is slated for 10 a.m. June 14 in Plainview.

Preliminary drafts of the feasibility report from Parsons et al. are to be completed within 90 days from the date of contract—signed April 12—and will provide an instrument to which the authority can refer in any discussion of arrangements for financing the project.

Hollywood Vamp Returns On Television

By ALINE MOSBY
HOLLYWOOD, May 13 —UP—The most terrifying television queen in Hollywood wears long purple fingerless gloves, black wig and three bloody scratches above her plunging neckline.

This glamour ghoul is Vampira, and she's a dead ringer for the evil wife in those morbid Charles Addams cartoons.

Her skin-tight long black dress is fringed with tassels. Her chalk-white face is decorated with heavy black eyebrows and a beauty mark. Four lipstick "scratches," allegedly from some visiting bat, are drawn on her chest and she smokes black cigarettes in a long, red holder.

Vampira was hired by ABC-TV to be mistress-of-ceremonies on a local midnight horror movie program.

Border Labor Leaders Map Recruiting Plan

NUEVO LAREDO, Mexico, May 13 —UP—Union leaders at an international labor conference think a new policy of recruiting Mexican contract workers at the border is creating "serious problems."

The conference, in a resolution adopted Wednesday, suggested the recruiting centers be moved back to the interior of Mexico, to avoid a massing of Mexican migrants along the Rio Grande and in other border points.

The United States formerly recruited contract workers, or braceros, in the interior but changed to border stations this year.

The conference between representatives of the American Federation of Labor, Congress of Industrial Organizations, U. S. and Mexican independent unions and the Mexican Federation of Workers (CTM) suggested interior stations should be established, as well as more recruiting points to avoid the resolution also said government agencies should not give "exaggerated publicity" about job prospects.

The three-day conference was scheduled to end Thursday. It was called to discuss trade union problems common to both nations, primarily the bracero question.

The conference also asked, in another resolution, that unions be given consultative status on the United States-Mexican commission on migrant workers.

The labor leaders said they would continue to urge that braceros be given the right to organize and elect representatives as their bargaining agents.

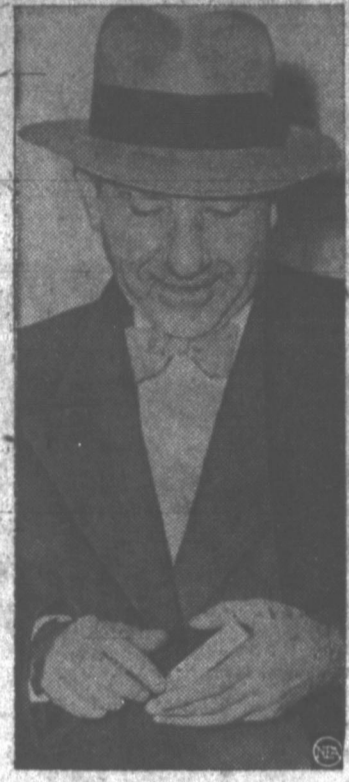

51 Area Scouts Sign To Attend Colorado Expedition

Reservations for the Colorado expedition by 51 Area Scout posts have reached 81, Phil Pegues announced at scout headquarters here today. The Adobe Walls council includes two local groups. Post 14, sponsored by the First Presbyterian church, and Post 80, sponsored by the First Methodist church here.

Ten boys from those two posts have made reservations to go on the council-sponsored trip, Pegues said. The trip will be to a point about 40 miles beyond Creede, Colo., into the mountains near the Great Divide.

Once Kefauver Show Star Costello Is Out Of TV Spotlight Now through four big windows on one side of the high-ceilinged room and in the spectators' benches a seemingly disinterested group of 38 people sat quietly.

The judge, Francis X. McGohey, slouched glumly on the bench, one hand propping up his head. The lawyers, a youngish United States attorney and a tall defense counsel, argued quietly over the admission of evidence.

It must have seemed strange to Frank Costello as he sat at the defense table. He had just returned from lunch, where people around him talked about the McCarthy hearings which had been on television all morning.

A little over two years ago, Costello had held the spotlight at televised hearings, too. That was during the Kefauver crime investigations. Costello made history of a sort by allowing only his hands to appear on TV, and the hearings had drawn excited and noisy day-and-night crowds.

But Kefauver had cost this reputed Prime Minister of the underworld only a year's time in jail for contempt.

This trial — this strange, quiet affair — could cost Costello 20 years in jail, and the evidence was being argued over in front of the judge's bench. It was a pile of receipts, bills which, the government says, will show Costello cheated on "income taxes."

After an hour and 15 minutes of boring testimony from hotel auditors who had been brought in from places such as Hot Springs, Ark., and New Orleans, the judge called for a recess and Costello walked out into the marble corridor for a cigarette.

He pulled on the cigarette nervously and his eyes blinked. He looked around, as if waiting for a mob of people to rush up and begin questioning him. But the people didn't come. They stood in quiet little knots and were, for the most part, quiet. This trial, you see, has little sensation to it. But it can be a deadly one for Costello.

After a recess, the judge called for a recess and Costello walked over to the court reporter and kidnaped him.

"What are you doing with your hands this time? There aren't any television cameras to show them off now."

Costello fingered a book on golf which he had in one of his celebrated hands and smiled.

"The next time I go on television I'll show people how I hold a golf stick. I'll show them my grip," he said. "Do I play golf? I played golf for 30 years. I haven't played for two years now, what with being away and this stuff," he said with a wave of one hand at the courtroom door.

"I shoot 82, maybe 83 — you know, around that," he said.

"Here," he said to his lawyer, Leo C. Fannely. "Read this book. Maybe you'll learn something. Next time I won't have to give you two strokes. I'll only give you one."

"Just keep your head down," he added as an afterthought. "The fellow nearby chimed in, kidding. 'They claim you owe them tax money,' he said. 'Why don't you make some sort of a motion to get this trial on television, then get a sponsor and give the government all the money. Maybe they'll let you go and play golf then.'"

"Yeah," Costello smiled. "Maybe I could show them the grip and charge professional fees, too."

A court attendant broke it up by announcing that the recess was over.

There was no rush for the empty seats. The spotlight had moved elsewhere, and now nobody seemed to care what Costello did with his hands.

Four State Governors To Take Korean Tour

WASHINGTON, May 13 —UP—Four state governors will leave next week for Korea to study the progress of U. S. efforts to bolster that nation's military and economic strength.

The trip, suggested by President Eisenhower earlier this year, is designed to let the American people know what is being done in Korea. It was originally planned for sometime in March but had to be delayed until May 20 because of developments in some states.

The four who will make the study are Govs. Dan Thornton of Colorado, chairman of the governors' conference; John S. Fine of Pennsylvania, Allan Shivers of Texas and Johnson Murray of Oklahoma.

Will Look Into Programs
While in Korea, the governors will look into programs for building up the South Korean military machine and for rehabilitating the Korean economy. The emphasis, however, is expected to be on progress of reconstruction of the war-ravaged country.

While the governors' inspection schedule has not been worked out, it is expected they will spend time in Seoul and other larger centers of the nation. It is likely they will have a conference with South Korean President Syngman Rhee, perhaps other South Korean officials and top American military and aid officials in the nation.

The United States is now engaged in a Korean reconstruction program which will extend several years and cost hundreds of millions of dollars. The administration is seeking some $241 million for Korean economic aid during the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Mr. Eisenhower apparently expects the four governors to give the American people some kind of

Panty Raiders In Dictionary

LA CRESCENTA, Calif., May 13 —UP—A revolutionary new dictionary Thursday coined an eight-and-a-quarter syllable word to describe the college boys' mania to stage "panty raids" on girls' dormitories.

The new word: Cryptovestimentacyclofuranania.

According to the dictionary, the word means "a recurring mania to steal intimate garments, and is derived from crypto (hidden), vestimenta (garments), cyclo (recurring) and mania (penchant for)."

The newly fabricated word appears in a book titled Sex Dictionary, authorized by Dr. J. E. Schmidt, noted Baltimore physician and lexicographer. It is being published by Hannah Publications here.

Plants, ramps and yard-areas of a single U. S. aircraft manufacturer cover almost 62 million square feet. That's enough area for 1,270 football fields.

Topeka is currently celebrating its 100th anniversary and for the occasion, many men are letting their beards grow and are wearing old-time costumes. Most wives, however, are holding over the scratchy beards. Idea of the card is to cover the beard so the good wife will not object to kissing her husband.

"Miss Polley! What's Cartwright doing in San Bernardino when I told him to go jump in the Pacific?"

★ EDSON IN WASHINGTON ★

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Wherein We Indulge Slightly In 'Hearing Heebie Jeebies'

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Grocery from two weeks of daily attendance at the Senate's Army-McCarthy investigation, Joe Doakes staggered into a restaurant on Capitol Hill to get a cup of coffee.

The following monitored conversation which might be entitled, "What Makes Lawyers Believe This Way?" is then alleged to have taken place, though it is unsupported by any other evidence:

Mr. Doakes — (to waitress) — Before placing my point of order, I demand to see a menu, which we shall call Exhibit A.

(Waitress complies. He reads it line-by-line.)

Mr. Doakes — You hand me herewith a card which you allege to be a menu. I find printed or typewritten hereon, in what appears to be a carbon copy, various and sundry items of food, such as: Appetizers, soups, entrees, sandwiches, salads, desserts and beverages, with certain specified prices listed after each item.

But nowhere hereon does the word "Menu" appear. Are you prepared to testify under oath that this, in fact, the menu of this establishment for this day, or a reasonable or exact facsimile thereof, and in whose files does the original of this document, Exhibit A, now repose; also if it is marked in any way shape or form "Confidential" or "Restricted"?

Waitress — (flustered) — You look tired. May I get you a cup of coffee? Or would you like something else?

Mr. Doakes — Do not put words into my mouth, madam. I will come to the point of the end of my allotted ten minutes. For the moment, may I please call to your attention the fact that this card, which you have delivered to me this date, in response to my oral request, and which you infer, though you have not yet so testified, is indeed your actual, full and complete menu, lists on the last line certain beverages, to wit:

"Tea, coffee, milk." This card does not say whether these alleged beverages are served separately or in conjunction, and if the latter, in what proportion.

Waitress — Look, I got other—

Mr. Doakes — (interrupting) — I am not here to inquire about your "other" as you call them. Give me your full attention please. Do not divert me and do not try to evade the question.

Assuming for the moment that I did come into this alleged establishment for the sole and express purpose of ordering coffee, tea, and in what form would it be delivered to me, if I merely ordered what you have listed on this aforementioned card, which you say is your menu, is coffee?

Would it be of the whole bean, or berry, or would it be ground and if so, would it be percolator in his life.

The New Tax Bill

Very few people have either the time, the inclination or the specialized knowledge needed to read and understand a major tax bill. That is certainly true of the Administration-backed, 875-page tax revision measure which has passed the House and is now the subject of extensive Senate hearings.

As a consequence, almost any criticism—or praise—can be made of a tax bill and many will believe it. The current bill is an excellent example. Opponents of the Administration have jumped on it gleefully on the grounds that it is primarily "a rich man's measure," which will give all kinds of benefits to big business and wealthy individuals and few if any to those of small and moderate status.

In the light of that, it may come as something of a surprise to learn that numbers of tax experts and corporation executives are looking on the bill with anything but eager eyes. They think that some of its provisions would actually be more burdensome to some important industries than is the case under existing tax laws. And they are urging the Senate to make substantial changes in the interest of business' welfare.

Without going into the rights and wrongs of this complex matter, a Wall Street Journal article by Alan L. Otten impressively disputes the "rich man's tax bill" argument. The measure, he writes, "contains more than 50 provisions that will cause more distress in Union League clubs than in C. I. O. union halls or at Democratic Party rallies." The reason for this is that the bill closes doors on certain devices, now entirely legal, by which some businesses and high-income individuals have been able to save substantial sums in their taxes.

Mr. Otten describes a few of these proposed revisions. As of now, beneficiaries of life insurance policies can leave the money with the company and take it out in installments over an extended period of time. They receive interest from the sum in the company's hands, and it is tax-free to any amount. The new bill would limit tax-free interest to $500 a year for a wife and $250 for a child. Certainly, that would hit the wealthy much harder than the rest of us.

Now the survivors of a deceased employe can get up to $5,000 in tax-free death benefits from each employer, for whom he worked. Some top executives of inter-related corporations can make arrangements so each of the corporations will pay the tax-free $5,000. The new bill would restrict payments to just one $5,000 per person.

Today, executives can be given big tax-free bonuses and vacations under health insurance plans. Payments on these are tax-free, with no limit. The new bill would set a ceiling of $100 a week for such benefits—and, further, even that would be tax-free only if all workers in the company receive similar coverage.

Other examples cited by Mr. Otten are of a very technical nature and space precludes describing them. But they would hit the owners and dividend-recipients of certain kinds of corporations—principally those whose stock is closely held—to a materially greater degree than is the case now.

The Senate may or may not make important changes in the House-approved bill. But one thing seems pretty sure—no one in authority is trying to give the rich any handouts.

Big Unions

Just as Big Business has been tamed by governmental power and kept within competitive limits and subject to vigilant observation, so also is Big Unionism being examined now to determine whether federal or state regulation or both shall curb the excesses enjoyed by a privileged group that seeks a monopolistic status," writes David Lawrence in U.S. News.

The fact that close to a third of the states have adopted "right to work" laws, which guarantee labor the basic freedom to join or not join a union as he chooses, shows the way the wind is blowing. The law is belatedly recognizing that domination and dictation of labor by unions is as indefensible as domination and dictation of labor by business. The closed shop, which denies a man the right to earn a living unless he pays tribute to a union, is as bad as the outlawed "yellow dog" contracts which denied him that right if he did join.

Ought Not To Be

Way back in 1837 this country underwent its first major depression. Many demanded that a program of heavy federal spending be adopted. That led President Van Buren to make some observations that are as timely now as they were then.

He said: "All communities are apt to look to the government too much. This ought not to be. The framers of our Constitution, . . . wisely suggested that the less government interferes with private pursuits the better for general prosperity.

"It is not the government's legitimate object to make men rich or to repair by direct grants of money or legislation, losses not incurred in the public service."

The nation was never given wiser advice.

The Nation's Press

TEXAS HUNT FOOLING (The Tulsa Tribune)

By RICHARD LLOYD JONES President Eisenhower addressed two thousand listeners last week at the annual banquet of the American Newspaper Publishers Association. He appealed to those newspaper makers to build American Unity and dissipate all efforts at disunity. He appealed to those competent captains of the Press to do balance their reporting of the life of our times that their readers will be aware of all that is worthwhile in America. We are too commonly fed stories of our social frailties, giving to our enemies, as well as to stupid Americans at home the impression that our imperfections are dominant; the Republic is a failure.

While the President of the United States was pleading with American newspaper makers to build a heroic and right-minded America, true to our noblest traditions, a significant little gathering of 300 devoted patriots was a meeting in Omaha. From thirty-two states self-appointed delegates gathered in Omaha, calling themselves the "Congress of Freedom." They met to discuss ways and means to revive the courage and the character that made America.

The President was right in his plea. How effective he will be with the newspaper makers is the great political question of the time. Too many of our newspaper publishers have yielded to the subtle, demoralizing influences of subversive propaganda. Some of our most pretentious newspapers have enlisted the potential power of their presses to defend our reputations and praise those who seek to destroy us.

The little group that met last week in Omaha has a more forthright and hopeful challenge to the confused and clouded minds of American voters than anything the collective representatives of American newspapers have yet shown.

These little "Congresses of Freedom" are beginning to gather because of apprehension of impending disaster. The reckless inequity of our scientists has developed the planet-splitting H-bomb. The world war is tense with fear. One blast and one retaliation will so far destroy life on this planet that all traces of our civilization will be effaced. But it is not the H-bomb that we are afraid of, it is the H-bombism.

It is pleasant to plead for peace. It makes good reading. We all want it. But we will never get it so long as we condone the presence of the criminals from the Kremlin in the councils of the United Nations. The United Nations was designed to promote the unity and peace the President pleads for. Exactly. But we gave our criminal enemies the veto power to protest peace. Stupid stuff strutting around in striped pants.

One hundred years ago fifty-four alarmed farmers met in the little country school house at Ripon. They re-affirmed the patriots who met at the State house in Philadelphia to draft the Constitution of this Republic. That Constitution, with its Bill of Rights, was so potent in its proclamation for human rights and freedoms that it fashioned the frame-work of what became the mightiest nation on earth. And the little group of freedom zealots who met in Omaha last week is more prophetic than the great convulse of newspaper publishers and we will see until the collective presses bring the ability of action for which the President pleads.

Franklin Delano Roosevelt was an ambitious man. On a staunch American platform he was elected to be our President in 1932. His promises were magnificent. They were true to the noblest of our traditions. In his election the people felt secure. As soon as he took his oath of office he began to violate it. And, as the ancient Roman Republic destroyed itself by bringing its citizens with prerequisites and privileges, so this son of Tory ancestors began to destroy the Republic with corruptions. All through his and his successor's administrations treachery and treason played havoc with our fortunes. Our rights and our freedoms were bartered away. At so-called "international conferences" at Yalta, Teheran, Moscow, Quebec and on the high seas America was betrayed.

Once the American people had sufficient collective intelligence to comprehend their rights and freedom. But this Tory Roosevelt played tricks that intrigued and enlisted the shallow minds of alleged "journalists, college teachers and scientists." He was our first President to tax the people that he might "throw our money all over the world, the prelude to his campaign to be first ruler of the world. He diverted us from this treachery by deliberately hurling us into the wasteful and useless war with Japan. He was the designer and director of the Pearl Harbor disaster. All this is documented now. Yet his Democratic party endorsed it four times.

So some these grass-roots conventions like the one last week at Omaha. So comes the defiance of young patriots like Dudley T. Dougherty, a member of the Texas State Legislature who now asks the people of the Lone Star state to send him as an AMERICAN, on the Democratic ticket, to take the Senate seat now occupied by the Roosevelt disciple, Senator Lyndon Johnson.

National Whirligig... McCarthy Won't Be Assigned Official Role In GOP Campaign

By RAY TUCKER WASHINGTON — Sen. Joe McCarthy will not be scheduled as an official Republican campaigner in next fall's congressional election on a direct order to Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall from the White House. Party strategists believe his star is in descent as a result of his exposure to television in the Stevens-Schane controversy. Individual GOP candidates, however, will undoubtedly ask for the Wisconsin man's services. If they should address their requests to Chairman Hall, he will, as a matter of courtesy, forward them to McCarthy. But he will appear as simply a member of the Senate, not as an approved administration spokesman.

The hour for reconciliation between him and the man who headed the nation's greatest military adventure has now passed. McCarthy's manner and methods have, in fact, antagonized even his original sympathizers on the Republican side, especially Chairman Karl E. Mundt of South Dakota, Sen. Everett McKinley Dirksen of Illinois and Sen. Henry C. Dvorshak of Idaho. The Democratic members—Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri, John L. McClellan of Arkansas and Henry M. Jackson of Washington—previously quit the hearings out of disgust with McCarthy's behavior and headlines proclivities.

Symington's attitude is significant because, as a prospective candidate for the 1954 Democratic presidential nomination, he cannot afford to be wrong on this issue.

REACTION OF TWO GOP SENATORS—The reaction of Senators to submit to legislative rulings by the United Nations. Texas is opposed to the continuation of extracting untold millions from the taxpayers' pockets to support this United Nations.

And so out of Texas comes a David to slay the Goliath, Dudley Dougherty demands that the United States get out of the United Nations, thus terminating the Russian spy base in the western world. Dougherty isn't fooling. Nor is Texas. Neither are the three hundred stout Americans who met in Omaha.

Dougherty demands that we promptly wind up all government aid programs to Europe and Asia, realizing that our only defense is our air power. Last year England spent more money on socialized medicine and pensions than on armament as an ally. And we paid the bills.

Dirksen and Dvorshak is even more revealing of McCarthy's decline. As a semi-isolationist and conservative—his middle name, McKinley, mirrors his political background—Senator Dirksen was a Tatt sealer and the Chicago Tribune's beloved statesman. "Evil" springs from McCarthy's ideological backyard. But he has not sprung to McCarthy's aid.

McCarthy selected Dvorshak as his replacement on the committee when the Wisconsin man, as a participant in the trial, had to step aside. McCarthy has expressed regret at his selection of the Idaho conservative, and he has complained privately about the Dvorshak-Dirksen complacency and indifference.

Well he might, and he could also fume over the neutralism of Chairman Mundt and Sen. Charles E. Potter, the heroic war veteran from Michigan. They have shown irritation at McCarthy's "filibustering by cross-examination."

Committee Counsel Ray H. Jenkins is secretly sore at McCarthy. In his opinion, the senator and his legal aide, Roy M. Cohn, foisted two spurious documents—the Stevens-Schane photo and the Hoover-Bowling letter—on an agency of the United States Senate. The Tennessee lawyer publicly disclaims any connection or sympathy with these maneuvers.

REACTION OF ATTENDING AUDIENCE—Although these technical and legal stratagems are extremely important as televised evidence of McCarthy's cunning and subtle and diversionary ruses, it is the recorded reaction to McCarthy's sense, which lowers the senator's stock at Republican headquarters. Every rating shows his TV appeal to be about 30 points below that of the Kefauver crime inquiry and "I Love Lucy."

The ancient expression among political feudists was "Would that mine enemy would write a book. The Eisenhower-Stevens version is "Would that mine enemy would show up on television."

Fair Enough... Irish Bishop Says McCarthy Has A Job That Must Be Done

By WESTBROOK FOGLEE (Copyright, 1954, King Features Syndicate, Inc.) NEW YORK — Sen. McCarthy and his activities have had a very bad press in Great Britain, and the British people, dependent on low-grade journalism for information as the raw material for opinion, have a contemptuous opinion of the whole affair. That they move their hard luck than ours, but there is little we can do about it. The best consolation lies in the fact that it makes little difference to us what they think of us or our political fortunes.

However, it does make a difference what the Irish think of the affair. McCarthy because our blood ties are strong and warm by contrast with our diluted and embittered relations with the British, for whom many of us have lost even that forbearance and official crush of the two war periods.

As bearing on this subject of Irish public opinion on the McCarthy matter, I think the comments of the bishop of Cork, the most Rev. Dr. Lucey, deserve wider presentation. Lucey, who received on April 3 when he landed here on a visit to the United States. Incidentally, he to the point, he brought back 30,000 pounds, which would be about $46,500, in subscriptions from American Irish Catholics for the Cork Diocesan Churches Fund. I had read nothing about this fund or the American donations in our papers although that may have been my oversight. However, I am certain that the subject has received nothing like the volume of publicity that was raised in the New York Times and the Herald Tribune for an American subscription to a kitty to repair Westminster Abbey and for other religious projects beyond the seas.

The Cork Weekly Examiner reported that as to McCarthy, the bishop said: "Here in Ireland, we have been sadly misinformed. McCarthy's job was not to be done if people valued the free way of life. To represent him as has been done here as a disreputable and discredited witch-hunter is just gross misrepresentation. I have not heard that the Irish press, like the British, had given McCarthy the pro-Communist smear, but that I infer from this comment."

In direct quotes, the Examiner said the bishop put it this way: "I have heard that the Irish Communists and would-be Communists—the people who were giving tongue in Moscow accents in the forties when the whole world was slipping into Communism and I have heard that the Irish press, like the British, had given McCarthy the pro-Communist smear, but that I infer from this comment."

"My visit was as profitable as it was pleasant. I received nearly 30,000 pounds for our churches appeal fund. From His Eminence, Cardinal McIntyre of Los Angeles, I received $10,000 on behalf of himself, his clergy and his people. His Eminence, Cardinal Spellman, of New York, presented me with $7,500, in appreciation of the part our emigrants played in building up his great Archdiocese.

"Most of the money, however, came from the Archbishop of Boston, who was very helpful. He is a great churchman and a good friend of Cork and we owe him more than we can ever hope to repay."

The impression received by this Irish prelate on a tour of the country mainly in the society of Irish Catholics is expressed in terms of unusual interest to those concerned and, I believe, most other Americans.

Success Secrets

By ELMER WHEELER If something is bothering you, don't be afraid to say so! Harry Banks, a textile salesman, spent ten months out of the year traveling from city to city across the country selling his company's goods.

As time went on and the cost of living went up, he found that his company allowance was not sufficient to cover his expenses. Instead of notifying the company of the situation he complained to his friends, scripped, and worried about his lack of money. He was afraid that if he asked the company for an increase he would lose his job.

Eventually his work suffered, sales fell off, and he was fired. The man who replaced him was soon faced with the same lack of funds; but lost no time in informing his employers that he needed more money.

As a matter of course, the company increased his expense account by a substantial amount. Know your problems and value yourself. Fear and success don't mix.

can. "United States was a great country to visit and to settle in," he said. "And, as I met not only those who emigrated in recent years but the descendants of the emigrants of 20, 30, 100 years ago, I could not but be struck by their deep attachment to Ireland and to things Irish. They have kept the strong, simple, matter-of-fact faith of their fathers. And to faith they add good works in abundance. In Boston, for instance, one could not but feel proud of the part Irish emigrants in general, and Cork folk in particular, have played in making the church, the influence it is in American life."

"Emigration is not an unmitigated evil. It has given Ireland an overseas empire more enduring and more embolishing than any achieved by conquest. And it has given to our emigrants, broad and good work and a home and a good way of life. In my opinion, for those who have to emigrate, America very definitely is the place to emigrate to."

Controversy inevitably ensues upon such expressions and for the opposite view there is no more vigorous or representative exponent than Mrs. Dorothy Schiff, of New York, who hates McCarthy and "McCarthyism."

On March 21, Mrs. Schiff wrote that McCarthy was "the shame of Wisconsin" and pointed upon an expression used by the principal speaker at a St. Patrick's Day party in Chicago where Joe was guest of honor. The speaker said McCarthy was typical of Americans of Irish ancestry and Mrs. Schiff said the party saddened her because it supported the belief "held by most non-Catholics that McCarthyism is fully sanctioned by the church and those of its older adherents who are of Irish background. I think I understand why the old-time Irish Catholics fail to realize the menace of McCarthyism. Their fear of Communism is so great that their intelligence is paralyzed."

All this may not promote "understanding," but at least it will clarify the issues of an important misunderstanding.

The Doctor Says

By EDWIN J. JORDAN, M. D. What is evidently a common and distressing complaint is perspiration having a bad odor. Sometimes this appears to be located principally in the armpits, sometimes in the feet and sometimes elsewhere. Today's first letter is an example.

Q—My son and I both have excessive perspiration of the feet, which has a bad odor. We have tried many different foot powders without satisfaction. Have you any suggestions? Mrs. S. W.

A—Some foods like onion or garlic, and a few medicines may have excreted in the sweat and give it an offensive odor. The general excretion of perspiration usually affects the local perspiration.

More commonly, perhaps, the perspiration in certain places serves as a good spot for the growth of certain germs which decompose the sweat or oil secreted from the glands of the skin, causing it to have an offensive odor.

Perhaps the most useful measures to combat this process are certain aluminum preparations which are present in most of the commercial deodorants sold in drugstores.

It appears that the effect of these products is to slow the action of the germs and perhaps have some chemical effect on the products present. There are other preparations sometimes used, but most of them are fairly strong and should be employed only under the direction of the physician or skin specialist.

In very severe cases X-ray treatments are sometimes used but these must be given with the greatest of care.

Q—I have a daughter who drives to work teaching school every day. In cold weather the ends of her fingers turn white when she is driving. What could cause this? Mrs. C.

A—This sounds as though your daughter had some spasm of the arteries in her fingers. She should be examined by a physician with the possibility of Raynaud's Disease in mind.

Q—Please give the cause of valley fever and describe the symptoms. Mrs. R. R.

A—This disease is known by several different names and is caused by a fungus which enters the body either by being breathed in or through a scratch. The disease is particularly frequent in southern California, but is present throughout most of the southwest and may be spreading eastward. If any case no symptoms whatever but it also produces fever, headache, chills, backache, cough and other signs of infection in some cases. Recover is usually rapid and complete.

Q—What harm (if any) does a grapefruit do to a person with a bad heart and hardening of the arteries? Reader.

A—No harm at all so far as I know.

Note On Questions Dr. Jordan is unable to answer directly individual questions from readers. However, once a week, in this "Q & A" column he will answer the most interesting and the most frequently asked questions received during the week.

Bell HD Club Has Demonstration On Basket Weaving

A demonstration on basket weaving highlighted the meeting recently of the Bell Home Demonstration club in the home of Mrs. D. W. Swain, 811 S. Bank.

During the business session, Mrs. Ernest McKnight announced that the county home demonstration clubs' tea will be held at 2:30 p.m. Saturday in the city club room, city hall.

Refreshments of strawberry shortcake and punch were served. Members present were Mrs. W. L. Walter, Ernest McKnight, L. O. Collier, Noel McKnight, Jerry O'Neal, Hubert Keashey, Hershel Kelly, T. D. Anderwald, Roland Duser, and Charles Warming.

Exemplar Chapter Plans For Dinner

The exemplar chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met recently in the home of Mrs. Joe Fischer, 1429 Charles.

The business session was led by Miss Joyce Wagner, president. Mrs. Martin Stubbe reported for the social committee that the club's dinner, honoring incoming exemplars and for the installation of officers, will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the home of Mrs. W. L. Heaslow, 1120 N. Somerville.

The program, "The Barbary Coast," was under the direction of Mrs. Ralph Eason.

Members present were Mrs. Stanley Chittenden, Bob Fugate, Creel Grady, Raymond Hall, Travis Lively Jr., Roy McKee, John Plaster, Jim Poole, Bill Sullivan, Eason, Stubbe, and Fischer; and Misses Virginia Vaughan and Wanner.

RUTH MILLET

The dress cost $39.50. It was exactly what Betty wanted and just the dress she had been looking all over town. She knew Bob would kick at the price, and so when she tried it on for his approval, she told him it cost $25.00. (The difference she made up out of her household allowance.)

And now, her conscience bothering a little, she asks: "Wasn't I justified? Isn't it better to fib a little, than to be accused of being extravagant?"

No, it isn't. Because, even if Bob never finds out that Betty paid more for her dress than she told him, the lie will hurt their relationship.

A wife can't lie to her husband and still feel exactly the same toward him. In order to justify the lie, she must blame him. So she decides she lied because he is stingy, and then she begins to resent his stinginess.

There are two honest methods by which Betty could solve her problem in the future.

One is to ask her husband to go shopping with her next time she goes to buy a dress. Men who kick about how much women's clothes cost, and accuse their wives of being extravagant, are often just ignorant about the cost of clothes.

Nor do they realize that a woman can look better dressed with a few good clothes than a closetful of cheap ones.

If he refuses to go along, there is still another way out.

Betty can figure out with Bob what is a reasonable amount for her to spend on clothes for a year's time, and then agree not to exceed the budget, if he in turn won't even ask how much each individual dress or hat costs. That way, she can buy an expensive dress and balance the total cost of an outfit by buying an inexpensive hat or other item of apparel.

There is always a better way to keep peace in a family than by lying to avoid an argument.

Manners Make Friends

Three months after John Brown had gone to a great deal of trouble to do a favor for Bill Smith, they happened to see each other at a lunch, and Smith said: "Oh by the way, everything turned out fine on that deal I asked you to help me land."

That's being a little too casual about saying thanks. We should be in as big a hurry to say "Thank you" as we are to ask a favor.

Garden Club Gives Table-Setting Show

SHAMROCK — (Special) — The Shamrock Garden club sponsored a showing of table settings recently. Proceeds from the show will be used for the development of Elmore Park.

Table arrangements ran from small TV tables at chairs to elaborate arrangements for formal dinners. Among the many beautiful and unusual settings were those for a golden anniversary, silver anniversary, wedding, bridesmaids luncheon, and bachelors dinner.

One table featured silver appointments in the same pattern the silversmiths of London designed for a coronation gift for Queen Elizabeth.

Ironstone china, all pieces more than 100 years old, were used with green goblets, set on a green cloth.

Another table featured an antique brass and copper urn 100 years old. Tables especially for the younger set, from toddlers to college-age teenagers, included a birthday table with a flower-decked merry-go-round and a "Sweet Sixteen" birthday table with heart-shaped cake with rose-colored icing, and milk-glass punch bowl.

Holidays were emphasized by tables decorated with Thanksgiving, Christmas, Valentine, Easter, May Day and St. Patrick's Day themes.

Breakfast tables were set for a honeymoon, and for a Sunday family group. Tea settings included "Koffee Klotch" of German origin; "Dutch Chocolate" and "Tea for Two."

Even the slimmest girl looks trimmer when she wears a girdle. A foundation garment eases the flesh into a smooth, neat line. For those girls who need this gentle assistance there are many lightweight garments that are comfortable to wear even in warm weather.

It's important that you take time to adjust your garters properly. Wearing them too loose will cause your stockings to wrinkle, but wearing them too tight will impede circulation.

The Selection Of Bridal Headdress Takes Careful Thought And Planning

By ALICIA HART, NEA Beauty Editor. NEW YORK — (NEA) — Selecting a bridal headdress deserves more thought than many girls give it, in the opinion of the nationally known hair stylist, Michael of the Waldorf. In addition to complementing your gown, the headdress, says Michael, should become your face and your height. And your hair should be styled to go with it. Regarding the wedding hairdo, Michael advises: "He fell in love with you as you are, so don't appear on your wedding day in a radically different hair style."

Many Women Still Need Pointers On Applying Lipstick

By ALICIA HART, NEA Beauty Editor. For some years now, lipstick has been as much a part of a woman's grooming ritual as a comb. So it is natural to think that most of us would be quite proficient in the use of both. But hair stylists assert that few women comb their hair skillfully. And even a casual observation shows that few are adept at applying lipstick.

Oilers, Plainview Open Series Here

Jonas Gaines, crafty lefthander, will go after his fourth win against no losses for the Pampa Oilers tonight at Oiler Park when the Oilers take on the Plainview Ponies in the first of a two-game series.

It will be the first game since Sunday for both the Oilers and Ponies. And the two teams played against each other that day with the Ponies taking a 11-2 decision at Plainview.

Since that time, the Oilers and Ponies were rained out in their two games.

The Oilers and Ponies will clash in a doubleheader tomorrow night, Jimmy Hamilton, Oiler business manager has announced.

One of the games in the twin-bill will take the place of the Aug. 5 date with Plainview. This move was made in order to not conflict with the Top 'o' Texas Redox on that date.

game series with Albuquerque here Tuesday and Wednesday nights, and Plainview had its two games with Burger postponed because of rain Tuesday and Wednesday.

Tonight's game will start at 8 p.m. This is 15 minutes earlier than the usual starting time.

Gaines has gone to the hill three times this season and has been winner each outing. He got credit for an 11-7 win over Clovis in his first start; downed Albuquerque 2-1 in his second outing; and defeated Lubbock, 4-2, in his last appearance.

Manager Doug Lewis also announced that Sad Sam Williams will get the starting call in tomorrow's series final with the Ponies. Williams is suffering from a cold at present but he is expected to be recovered by tomorrow night.

Sad Sam will be making his first start for the Oilers this season. He compiled a 26-12 record with the Oilers last season. He has been with the Oklahoma City Indians of the Texas League this season where he made several relief appearances.

The Indians optioned Williams to the Oilers last weekend.

After the series with Plainview tonight and tomorrow night, the Oilers will conclude their current homestand Saturday and Sunday against the Abilene Blue Sox.

Schedule Set In Pampa LL, Pony League

Schedule for the first three weeks of the two Pampa Little Leagues and the Pony League was approved last night at the weekly meeting of the Optimist Club, sponsors of the kid baseball program.

Opening date for the three leagues was postponed for one week due to the rain. The original opening day was set for next Monday. But the recent rains delayed completion of the three baseball parks and the Optimists voted last night to postpone the opening to Monday, May 24.

A split season was also decided on last night. Each team of the leagues will play 18 league games, nine in each half. Winner of the first and second halves will meet in a two-out-of-three series for the league title. If one team wins both halves, then no playoff will be necessary.

Winner of the playoffs in the two Little Leagues, Western and Eastern Leagues, will clash in another two-out-of-three series for the city championship.

BIDS FOR JUNIOR TITLE — Lila Austin, above, is the only girl entry thus far in the Senior division of the Pampa Junior Golf tournament that starts tomorrow on the Country Club course. Miss Austin, winner of the Pampa Women's title the past two years, is listed among the favorites in the junior tournament. Chisum To Defend Junior Golf Title

The annual Pampa Junior Golf Tournament gets underway tomorrow with defending champion Joe Chisum back to make it two straight tourney titles.

All boys residing in the Pampa area are eligible to enter this year's tournament. There will be no entry fee. Those who haven't entered may still do so by turning in their names to Country Club pro Johnny Austin by tomorrow.

The three-day tournament will be based on medal scores. Handicaps will be used in each division of the tournament.

The tourney is divided into three divisions, the grade school, junior high school and senior high school. The grade schoolers will play 18 holes, nine Saturday and nine Sunday.

Fifty-four holes of medal play will be played in both the junior high and senior high division. Eighteen holes will be played each day of the 3-day tournament, Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Jimmy Graham is the defending champion in the grade school division and Tommy Murray was last year's winner in the junior high bracket. Both will be back in the same divisions this year.

Pro Johnny Austin of the Country Club reminds that girls are also eligible to enter in the junior tournament. Lila Austin, winner of the Pampa Women's tournament the past two years, will be a strong contender for the junior title.

In a warmup to the coming tournament, Tommy White recorded a hole-in-one last week on the 14th hole. White's wedge shot from the 14th tee box landed in the cup on the fly.

Chisox Fan Tries To Get In On Act

CHICAGO, May 13—UP—A Chicago White Sox baseball fan almost cost the Sox a 3 to 1 victory over the Boston Red Sox Tuesday night when he "voluntarily" decided to play a little major league baseball himself.

The fan, Otis Williams, 25, scooped up a two-base hit Minnie Minoso lined into right field while the ball was still in play in the seventh inning. He ran onto the field from the right field stands. He was arrested by police immediately and jailed on two disorderly conduct charges.

Williams, "not-very-sparkling play" in the eyes of 30,000 partisan Sox fans deprived Minoso of a run-batted-in and knocked him out of the leadership in that American League department. It also took a triple away from Minoso, who also leads that department.

Big State Prexy In Heated Rhubarb With Bryan Manager

BRYAN, Tex., May 13—UP—A protested Big State League game recently between Bryan and Galveston brought about a rhubarb Thursday involving league president Howard Green, Bryan manager Al LaMacchia and officials of the team.

John Leason, Bryan business manager who described himself as "an awful good friend" of Green, said the league president told him over the telephone that LaMacchia was "trying to get the games given to him."

Leason said Green told him: "Al LaMacchia couldn't win while he was on the mound, and now, since he can't win as a manager, he's trying to get the games given to him. If LaMacchia gives me any trouble, I'll slap a suspension on him and he'll stay there."

Leason said LaMacchia was sitting in his office while he was talking with Green and realized from Leason's part of the conversation they were talking about him.

He said LaMacchia "told me something to tell Green" and Green apparently heard what LaMacchia said. Leason said it angered Green and he made the disputed statement.

"The entire thing was set up through Mr. Gonzalez, who overheard the conversation," Leason said.

"Howard is an awful good friend of mine. I would expect him to say what he did about his statement. Sometimes a man says something in the heat of anger he knows later he didn't mean," Leason said.

Wally Moon Stars in Cardinal Win

By CARL LUNDQUIST
United Press Sports Writer

The calendar insists there won't be a full moon until next Monday but the Cardinal rookie of the same name was shining in all his glory Thursday—right in broad daylight.

Young Wally Moon, the 24-year-old lefty swinger with a master's degree in education from Texas A&M College who ousted Enos Slaughter out of a 15-year job with the Cardinals, had a day Wednesday that all hitters dream of but seldom achieve. He started with a 285-foot homer in the first inning, then added four more singles to boost his average to a lusty .364 in a 21-hit St. Louis victory over Pittsburgh.

That's a far cry for a kid who reported to the wrong camp in Florida this spring and who wasn't even on the Cardinal roster until the season began. But, to mix a celestial metaphor, Moon seems destined to become a star. He proved that when in his first time at bat in an exhibition game with the Yanks at St. Petersburg, he blasted a homer. He demonstrated it again when he homered in his first official time at bat as a major leaguer on opening day, Wednesday's road-tripper was his fourth.

Not a Shot Ever Since

Yet he might still be with a Cardinal farm club had he reported to Daytona Beach this spring instead of to the Eddie Stanky rookie base at Detroit. He, for kids even less experienced than he was, Stanley saw him and couldn't keep his eyes off. He's been a hot-shot ever since.

But in Brooklyn and New York there was no evidence that Peter Rabbit instead of Warren C. Giles was autographing the official NL ball. Lew Burdette missed a nifty hit for Milwaukee by just one pitch—a fat one to Gil Hodges—who swung it for a home run, the Dodgers' only hit in a 5 to 1 defeat.

The Giants made only three hits against Cincinnati but one was a two-run ninth inning homer by pinch-swinger Bobby Hofman for both runs in a 2 to 1 defeat of lefty Harry Perkowski. At Philadelphia, the Phils took a grip on first place by beating the Cubs, 5 to 1.

Many Silent Bats in AL

There were many silent bats in the American League, too. Don Johnson pitched a two-hit 1 to 0 victory for Chicago over Boston as loser Tom Brewer gave up only three hits. Ted Gray pitched a six-hit shutout as Detroit edged Washington 4 to 2 while the Yankees took the odd game from Cleveland 5 to 4.

Burdette, taming the Dodgers in an hour and 51 minutes for the fastest NL game this season was backed up early homers, Ed Mathews and Joe Adcock each reaching starter Don Newcombe for long range blasts as Milwaukee made 11 hits. It was the Braves' second in a row over Brooklyn.

Wednesday's star—Wally Moon, who had a homer and four singles and drove in four runs in the 13 to 5 Cardinal victory over Pittsburgh.

3 All-State Cagers Play Here Tonight

Three all-stars will be seen in action tonight when the ex-Harvester basketballers take on the Futures in the annual spring game at Harvester Fieldhouse.

Tipoff time has been set for 8 p.m.

Jimmy Bond, two-time all star, will lead the likes. The 6-3 center, who has been chosen to play in two all-star games this summer, will likely be making his last appearance on the Harvester Fieldhouse floor. Bond will play in the All-American High School All-Star game at Murray, Kentucky, and in the Texas High School All-Star game at Dallas this summer.

Bond will be joined by one other regular in tonight's game, George Depe, starting guard last season, is the only other senior of last year's state championship squad.

On the Futures' team, two all

Little LEAGUERS

North, South Dakota Only States In U. S. Not Competing In Little League

By JIMMY BRESLIN
NEA Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (NEA) — Little League Baseball in Bayonne, N. J., and standard mechanical teaching came into a direct conflict.

It started when a doctor told 11-year-old Bobby Pavlick, the home-hitting star of the Jersey League, that he would have to undergo an appendix operation.

Young Pavlick didn't believe that would be a good idea. Seems his sights are set, even now, on hitting the organized baseball marks set by his brother, Pete, Louisville second baseman, and Billy, Sioux City infielder. Bob reasoned that an operation more than likely would leave him weakened and out of baseball for good.

Bobby was waging a pretty stiff battle with the medical people until — enter Mrs. Pavlick.

After the simple operation was completed, Bobby spent the hot June season recouping and now he looks stronger than ever.

When this kid plays, he's the only attraction that gets people out of the house and away from their television sets," reports Bayonne Sports Editor Morris Rosenberg.

SWC Spring Meet Starts At Waco Today

WACO, Tex., May 13 — UP — Defending tennis and golf champions were expected to dominate the field in the Southwest Conference spring sports carnival that got underway Thursday.

Johnny Hernandez, Texas' 1953 tennis singles champion, was back for another shot at the title and Hernandez and Tommy Springer, who won the doubles last year, were paired again.

In golf, Floyd Addington of Southern Methodist, 1953 co-champion, rated a slight favorite. But two of Texas' four entries from its team championship squad were close behind Addington a year ago and may give him trouble this time.

Lee Finston finished with a 284 and Joe Golden with a 284 last year at Fort Worth while Addington had a 72-hole total of 285. Julian Oates of Texas, 1953 co-champion with Addington, has graduated.

Two of Baylor's young stars — Johnny Thornton and Eddie Parma, who own the best match play records in the season just closed — also will have to be figured in the running. Several 1953 competitors were in the 18-player field.

Parma boasted a 5 1/2 to 1/2 match play record while Thornton had a 5-1 as compared to 4-3 records for Addington and Pinkston.

The Texas tennis team didn't lose a match all season in sweeping to the team crown and Hernandez and Springer were expected to furnish an all-Texas singles final for the second straight year.

Last year's all-Texas doubles final also is likely to be repeated although Rice's Dale Miller-Robin Robinson duo or SMU's Walton Miller-Dick Davis team might slip into the final.

The golfers will play 36 holes Thursday and Friday, while the 28 singles and eight doubles teams in tennis opened first round play Thursday.

Eskimos Sign Ex-Ag Griddler

EDMONTON, Alta., May 13 — UP — The Edmonton Eskimos of the Western Football Conference Tuesday signed Glenn Lippman, a former backfield standout with the Texas A&M squad who has been playing football for the past two years.

Lippman, 23, expects to be discharged from the service in time to join the Edmonton training drills which start July 11.

While at Texas A&M in 1951, Lippman carried the ball 118 times for 501 yards and scored five touchdowns. He runs from both the left and right halfback slots. The backfield is harried and lives at El Campo, Tex.

With feelers sent to Little League headquarters by North and South Dakota, it appears the small-dry baseball will be played in all 48 states this year.

Random thought: While various groups of double-domes are intensely studying the "ill" results of normal athletic competition, as we have in Little League, we wonder if it might not be a good idea for teams to look into the gold star system teachers use to reward students.

They might contend that the teachers are putting too much academic pressure on the students. Competition, which has more to do with a little to do with the American way of life, is something, it seems from which youngsters should be protected.

Ridiculous? Sure is.

John McCallum and Whitney Martin, a pair of 350 hitters in the typewriter league, have put together an excellent book, "How You Can Play Little League Baseball" (Prentice Hall, $2.75), and it is highly recommended.

The tome quotes top-notch authorities.

One is Stan Musial and the Cardinal great comes up with a pretty good point about hitting.

"I make any ball near the plate a good one," The Man points out. "Not that I am in any sense a bad ball hitter."

"I will take a strike to get a whack at a pitch I like better."

Speedway Action Increases
INDIANAPOLIS, May 13 — UP — Activity around the Indianapolis motor speedway began picking up Wednesday as nearly 40 cars took practice laps in preparation for the time trials of the 500-mile auto race. The time trials begin Saturday for the Memorial Day classic.

HOW ARE THE BUMS DOIN'? — Charley Dressen, left, gives pitching pointers to Jim Atkins. Dessen's Oaker top the Pacific Coast League and Oakland attendance is up. The manager was refused a contract for more than one year after the Dodgers were beaten in a play-off and won consecutive pennants in three years under him. (7)

Dial Pulls Iron Man Stunt

By UNITED PRESS
Big Red Dial, Clovis' 28-game winner last season, won both games of a doubleheader against Abilene Wednesday night in the only games played in the West Texas-New Mexico League.

Dial pitched the entire seven-inning first game, allowing the Blue Sox only four hits in registering his fourth victory against a single loss.

He relieved Pioneer starter Oscar Reguera in the fifth inning of the nightcap and pitched three innings of hitless ball, taking credit for his fifth victory.

Dial fanned the side in the last of the seventh inning of both games and Clovis, ironically, scored the winning runs in the first of the seventh in both contests — breaking a 2-all tie in both.

The games were played in 55-degree weather at Abilene. Wet grounds and rain forced postponement of games at Pampa, Lubbock and Plainview.

Scores by innings:
(First game)
Clovis 010 010 2-4 4 1
Abilene 000 200 0-2 4 0
Dial and Benites; Del Toro, Ortiz (3) and Bowland.

(Second game)

Abilene 002 000 0-2 8 0
Reguera, Dial (5) and Benites; Alonso and Bowland.

SWC Expansion Talk Commences

WACO, Tex., May 13 — UP — The Southwest Conference's annual spring meeting gets off to a deceptively quiet start here Thursday night with a routine get-together of athletic department heads.

But behind everybody's thoughts is the big question that will have to be dealt with again — that's whether the conference will expand to admit Texas Tech, Oklahoma or the University of Houston, either or all of them.

The expansion problem faces the faculty athletic committees in their sessions Friday night and Saturday morning when Texas will formally present its motion to admit its sister state school at Lubbock.

Five of seven votes cast by each school's representative are required to admit a new member. Texas Tech and Oklahoma were believed to have received four votes last year — from Texas, Texas A&M, Texas Christian and Baylor, Rice, Southern Methodist and Arkansas — were thought to have voted in the negative.

Most observers felt that the same lineup was likely again this time whether Texas Tech was voted on alone or paired with Oklahoma, a Big Seven Conference member that has shown no inclination toward the Southwest Conference in more than a year.

Houston's name may also be brought up, but it wasn't expected to draw even as much support as the other schools received a year ago if it comes to a vote.

The Roswell-Artesia game was tied at 3-all in the fifth inning when Roswell's Joe Bauman smashed a two-run home run. Pat Stacey homered in the seventh inning for Roswell.

Roswell Wins 10th Straight

By UNITED PRESS
The Roswell Rockets gained ground on second-place Artesia in the Longhorn League Wednesday night by taking a 7 to 4 victory, their 10th straight win, in the first of a two-game series. The victory increased Roswell's league lead to four games.

In other games, Carlsbad slammed Big Spring, 10 to 2, on Don Fornall's six-hitter; Bob Hully's double that drove in Tom Barton from first base in the 10th inning gave Midland a 3 to 2 edge over San Angelo, and Odessa staved off a ninth-inning Sweetwater rally to nip the Spudders, 7 to 5, at Odessa.

Tech 5 To Play Sooner Aggies

LUBBOCK, May 13 — UP — Texas Tech will meet Oklahoma A&M in a basketball game at Goodwell, Okla., Dec. 13 to help Panhandle (Okla.) A&M dedicate a new field house, Coach Polk Robinson announced Tuesday.

Robinson also revealed that Texas Tech would play in the All-American city tournament at Owen Sound, Mich., Dec. 27-30 along with Maryland (Okla.), Evansville, Denver, Rhode Island State, Mississippi and Kentucky Wesleyan.

Mayor Issues Proclamation For Courtesy Week, May 17-21

Mayor Tom Rose has issued a proclamation designating next week as "Courtesy Week" in Pampa.

In the proclamation Mayor Rose urged all citizens "to repledge themselves to courteous conduct and goodwill at all times and to take advantage of the clinic (Courtesy and Sales clinic) which will highlight the observance."

Howard J. Wisaupt, Red Bank, N. J., will conduct the four-season clinic each day, Tuesday through Friday at the La Nora theater, each session being held from 8 to 8:30 a.m.

President Clinton Evans of the Chamber of Commerce pointed out that Wisaupt is the dean of salesmanship instructors and is a personally builder. He comes to Pampa highly recommended by various cities of Texas and New Mexico where he has appeared.

While the sales and courtesy clinic is designed for retail store employees, anyone else interested in taking the course is cordially invited to do so, Evans stated. However, reservations should be made in advance by calling the chamber office.

The week's activities will open at noon Monday with a luncheon for business and professional men of the city in the Palm Room of City Hall. All business and professional men are invited to attend and hear an address by Wisaupt. Reservations should be made by calling the chamber. The only charge will be the cost of the meal, the chamber president said.

At 8:30 p.m. Tuesday, members of the Panhandle Personnel association will be guests of the Cabot Companies and the chamber at a dinner at Pampa Country club, at which Wisaupt again will speak.
