With summer here, we are starting to receive calls in regards to citizens being scammed by individuals going door to door asking to trim trees or cut your grass. We want the community to be aware that we have a city ordinance stating that, if you are going door to door soliciting work, you have to have a permit from the city. We ask the citizens that, if they need work done, to please check with a reliable source to have the work completed. If you have to use someone you do not know, then please do not pay them upfront and ask to see their official permit from the City of Pampa. We ask that you wait till the work is completed and it meets your expectations before you pay them. If you have any questions please contact Officer McCullar at 806-669-5700.

AFTERNOON RUSH County considers formation of planning group

GOP nominee to Texas high court

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Rick Perry has appointed state District Judge Debra Lehrmann to the Texas Supreme Court, filling the seat of Justice Harriet O'Neill when she leaves June 20.

Lehrmann is already the Republican nominee to replace O'Neill in the November general election when she will face Democrat Jim Sharp. Perry's appointment allows Lehrmann to join the court on June 21 and finish O'Neill's term.

Republicans hold all nine seats on the state's highest court for civil cases.

Aggie killings lead to death penalty

BRYAN (AP) — A jury in Bryan has decided on execution for a man convicted in the 2009 shooting deaths of his ex-girlfriend and her brother.

Jurors on Friday ordered the death penalty for 26-year-old ex-Marine John Thuesen.

Thuesen was convicted May 20 of capital murder in the slaying of Rachel Joiner and her brother, Travis Joiner, in an attack at the College Station home that the siblings shared. Both victims were Texas A&M students.

The defense said Thuesen, who served in Iraq, suffered from post-traumatic stress syndrome.

Prosecutors say Thuesen was angry and jealous that Rachel Joiner was dating another man.

American Airlines, union reach pact

DALLAS (AP) — American Airlines said Friday it has reached a tentative contract agreement with about 10,600 ground workers.

A union official said workers will have to weigh the economy, past wage concessions and terms of the deal before deciding whether to ratify the agreement.

The union said the proposed contract includes pay raises, a signing bonus and retiree health benefits for workers over 50, and would keep a traditional pension plan for current workers. In negotiations with other workers, American has proposed that new hires get 401(k) retirement plans instead of pensions.

The deal faces a July ratification vote by the employees, who handle baggage, clean aircraft and do other ground chores. They are represented by the Transport Workers Union, or TWU.

Texas GOP leaders seek agency cuts

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas Republican leaders asked state agencies Friday to find more savings to prepare for a budget shortfall of up to $18 billion.

The request for agencies to lower their future state funding requests by 10 percent comes on top of an earlier plea to cut 5 percent out of their existing budgets.

Gov. Rick Perry, Lt. Gov. David Dewhurst and House Speaker Joe Straus said they want state agencies, with some exceptions for critical programs, to lower what they will ask for in the 2012-2013 budget. Officials say the funding requests are due by Aug. 30. The shortfall will top the agenda when legislators reconvene in January.

"As we move into the upcoming budget cycle, state leadership will continue to identify ways to trim spending, just as families and businesses across the state have done, in order to balance our budget," Perry said.

DAVID BOWSER

Creation of a new planning group will be considered by the Gray County Commissioner's Court when they meet after Memorial Day.

Commissioners will consider the creation of a Panhandle Rural Transportation Planning Organization and the appointment of the Gray County Judge as a voting member will be discussed when they meet at 9 a.m. Tuesday in the county courtroom of the Gray County Courthouse.

U.S. casualties in Afghanistan hit 1,000 mark

KABUL, Afghanistan (AP) — More U.S. military deaths in the last 10 months of the Afghan war than in the first five years of the conflict. More boots on the ground than in Iraq.

As the U.S. military death toll in the Afghan conflict reached the 1,000 mark, a fight that has become "Obama's war" now faces its greatest challenge — a high-risk campaign to win over a hostile population in the Taliban's southern heartland.

More casualties are expected when the campaign kicks into high gear this summer. The results may determine the outcome of a nearly nine-year conflict that has become the focus of America's fight against Islamist militancy.

The 1,000 U.S. military death occurred in a roadside bombing Friday — just before the Memorial Day weekend when America honors the dead in all its wars.

A NATO statement did not identify or give the nationality of the victim. U.S. spokesman Col. Wayne Shanks said the trooper was American — the 32nd U.S. war death this month by an Associated Press count. The list of U.S. service members killed in combat in Afghanistan begins with Sgt. 1st Class Nathan Ross Chapman of San Antonio, Texas, a 31-year-old career Special Forces soldier ambushed on Jan. 4, 2002, after attending a meeting with Afghan leaders in Khost province.

He left a wife and two children. The base where a suicide bomber killed seven CIA employees last December bears his name.

The AP bases its tally on Defense Department reports of deaths suffered as a direct result of the Afghan conflict, including personnel assigned to units in Afghanistan, Pakistan or Uzbekistan. Other news organizations count deaths suffered by service members assigned elsewhere as part of Operation Enduring Freedom, which includes operations in the Philippines, the Horn of Africa and at the U.S. detention facility at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba.

The grim milestone reflects the acceleration in fighting since President Barack Obama shifted the focus from missioner precinct 2, to adjust his budget in order to hire a temporary employee.

The commission will also consider renewing the maintenance grant contract with Texas Statewide Automated Victim Notification Service.

The commission is expected to recognize the continuing education and investment training of Gray County Treasurer Scott Hahn and the continuing education of Judge Kurt Curfman, Justice of the Peace for Precinct 2.

Iraq to Afghanistan, where al-Qaida plotted the Sept. 11, 2001 terror attacks in the United States.

Yet Obama's decision brought a heavy price.

In the last 10 months, at least 313 U.S. service members have been killed in the war — more than the 295 who died in the first five years of the conflict. More than 430 of the U.S. dead were killed since Obama took office in January 2009.

The number of U.S. troops in Afghanistan has now surpassed the total in Iraq — roughly 94,000 in Afghanistan compared with 92,000 in Iraq. In 2008, the U.S. force in Afghanistan numbered about 30,000.

For many of the U.S. service members in Afghanistan, the 1,000-mark passed without fanfare.

Capt. Nick Ziemba of Wilbraham, Massachusetts, serving with the 1st Battalion, 17th Infantry Regiment in southern Afghanistan, said 1,000 was an arbitrary number and would have no impact on troop morale or operations.

"We're going to continue to work," he said.

"(The community has) been good to us," David said. "Really they have, most definitely. I'm actually really surprised by it."

"I want to thank everybody for everything they've said and done for us. I want to thank all our employees at Dolly's for doing a great job taking care of the restaurant since we've been gone."

"I just hope everyone will keep (Dolly) in their thoughts," David added. "If we can get everyone to pray for her for the healing to begin, that would be great."

Support staff does much behind scenes

I have known that this column was due this week for the last nine months. Throughout the school year, as issues have come across my desk, I have often thought "This would be a good topic for my column." Then the immediacy of the issue wanes and other topics take the day — all of them would be good ideas for this article.

There have, however, been currents of the same theme running through most of the topics — the day to day issues of running a school "business," and the under-the-radar things that keep the district running smoothly. Below are some random facts you might not know about Pampa ISD - the business.

Pampa ISD is required to have an issuer credit rating (ICR) to sell Unlimited Tax School Building bonds. After a credit review analysis earlier this year, the school district's rating was raised by three rating agencies. Standard & Poors raised the ICR from "A-" to "A+." Fitch Ratings recalibrated the long term rate from "A-" to "A+." And Moody's recalibrated the District's rating from "A3" to "A1." These changes reflect the strong financial position of Pampa ISD.

Pampa ISD is the largest employer in town with over 500 employees and close to 3,400 direct "customers"; and probably, another 7,000 indirect "customers." With a total budget of over 30 million dollars, Pampa ISD injects a payroll of close to $1.5 million into the Pampa economy monthly. In fact, 80% of the school district's budget is payroll.

A little more than half of the staff is involved in the instruction of students in the classroom. These are the faces you know, that your children admire and that cause learning to happen in Pampa ISD.

The rest of the employees comprise a large group of support staff that keeps the organization running. They clean the buildings; they cook the meals; they drive the buses; they repair the buildings; they mow the lawn and care for the athletic fields; they keep the technology equipment running; and they pay the bills and write the pay checks. While only a teacher and student are absolutely necessary for the learning process; transportation to a clean well-maintained building, a hot lunch, reliable technology and the comfort of knowing you will be paid on time and the check won't bounce, make the experience much better for the teacher and the student.

On any given morning, there are bus drivers at the bus barn going through the check list on their buses by 5:15 a.m., and on the road by 5:30 a.m. Custodians are opening buildings and preparing for the day at 5:30 each morning, along with the cafeteria staff who are arriving to begin breakfast and lunch for the students of Pampa ISD.

These same groups are usually the last to leave the building at night. They clean classrooms and halls after the teachers leave, and straighten up after the night meetings or athletics events and prepare the building for school the next morning. They bring students safely back from out of town school events late at night, and then check their buses to ready them for the next day's route.

On cold, snowy mornings the process starts even earlier. About 4:00 a.m., every route is driven to make sure it will be safe for students to be bused to school. The Superintendent uses this information to make the decision on whether or not to have school that day. The technology department is up early getting information on the website and sending out the call to cancel or delay school. While the deciding is taking place the maintenance and grounds personnel, and the custodians are already at the schools, clearing the parking lots and sidewalks for the safety of the staff and students.

These same groups of support staff often work on weekends preparing for meetings and athletics events, or driving students to and from competitions. They check all buildings each weekend. They do work on the local technology network. They have ever spent Sunday afternoons cleaning graffiti off of school buildings.

This time of year when students and teachers are giddy with the anticipation of summer, counting down the days; I find myself a little envious of them all, and irritated with those who ask me what my plans for the summer are "since I have the summer off." That belief — that everyone that works for the school has the summer off — is a common misunderstanding.

Pampa ISD business services departments spend the summer preparing for the next school year. Buildings are cleaned thoroughly, floors are waxed, walls are painted, major maintenance is done, supplies are ordered, bills are paid and payroll is prepared each month throughout the summer.

The Pampa ISD Business and Operations staff are great people who care deeply for the students of Pampa. They do the under-the-radar things to make the school district run smoothly. They are a part of what makes Pampa great. They are your neighbors and your friends. Business and Operations staff take pride in the fact that the "business" they do makes Pampa ISD a better place for teachers to teach and for students to learn.

But whatever you do, don't ask them what they do with their summer off! Just say "Thank you!"

Carol Fields is the Executive Director of Business for Pampa ISD.

Dear Abby...

By Pauline & Jeanne Phillips

DEAR ABBY: I'm an "A" student, but my boyfriend, "Rory," has a difficult time in school, so he often comes over for help. We work at the computer in the room my sister and I share so she listens to everything we discuss. She says we are cheating because I'm doing most of his homework for him.

I don't give Rory the answers to questions, but I do give him "hints" and tell him where he's likely to find the answers in the textbooks. I always check that the answers are correct. With his math homework, I tell him each step he needs to take, but he actually does the math himself and then I check for accuracy. If he needs to write an essay, I suggest what he might want to write and help him with some of the edits.

My sister thinks what I do goes far beyond help, and that I'm enabling him to cheat. She feels that while it may help his grades now, I am doing him no favors in the long run. We had a big argument over this. I don't think it's any of her business. I'd really appreciate your opinion. — HELPING OR CHEATING? SACRAMENTO, CALIF.
DEAR HELPING: Thank you for asking. I'm sure you care deeply for Rory, but sometimes — with the best of intentions — a person can do too much. When you suggest topics for your boyfriend's essays, then edit them so the teacher won't see where he needs to strengthen his English skills, what you're really doing is preventing him from learning how to properly spell or construct a sentence. And when you're no longer around to be his filter, it's going to become apparent. The same goes for math. If you tell Rory what steps to take to solve his math problems, he won't master the concepts or memorize the formulas. Heaven help him if he plans to take a college entrance exam!

While the argument you had with your sister was regrettable, please try not to be so defensive. She was trying to tell you something important, and it couldn't hurt to really listen.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 13-year-old girl in junior high. I am very shy and self-conscious. When I see skinny girls, I look at myself and feel embarrassed or ashamed. I have a lot of friends who support me. They say I shouldn't worry about my weight and that I don't need to lose any more.

I would like some words of encouragement from you. It seems like nothing can stop the way I feel. I have a boyfriend, but our relationship is long-distance. We talk online and he is as supportive as he can be, but I still feel self-conscious. Please help me with this. — TEEN IN NEED IN NORTH CAROLINA

DEAR TEEN: The harder we stare at our imagined flaws, the bigger they become. So please stop constantly comparing yourself to others. It's a depressing waste of time. Very few people are completely confident and self-assured at 13, and there are more important qualities to focus on in life than whatever happens to be the ideal of physical perfection at the moment. Your time would be better spent developing qualities that not only make you special, but also will last a lifetime — your personality, your intellect and your talents.

So listen to what your friends and your boyfriend are telling you. Spend a few minutes every day reminding yourself of all the things you have going for you and the special qualities you have to offer. If you do you'll have less time to dwell on the negative.

Records of Permian impostor hoops star kept secret

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Documents that might show how a 22-year-old Haitian immigrant duped coaches and administrators into thinking he was a 15-year-old student and basketball star will not be released, attorneys for state and local school officials say.

Lawyers for Ector County schools and the University Interscholastic League say the records for Guerdwigh Montimer, who is charged with felony sexual assault and false documentation, are protected under federal student privacy laws.

The Associated Press sought records of Montimer's request to be eligible to play basketball at Odessa Permian High School, whose football team and backers inspired the book "Friday Night Lights." The request, which sought letters from Permian coaches and himself to UIL officials, was denied.

A First Amendment and open records expert says the documents should be released to the media because Montimer was not a legitimate student.

"These aren't educational records, these are records of a crime," said Houston attorney Joe Larsen, a board member of the Freedom of Information Foundation of Texas.

Montimer enrolled in junior high and later at Permian High last year using a fake birth certificate from Haiti. Because he was living with Odessa coach Danny Wright and not a parent or guardian, Montimer had to apply to the UIL in Austin to play high school basketball. A waiver was granted and he was the star of the team, leading Permian to the state playoffs.

Suspicious were raised recently after coaches at an amateur basketball tournament said they recognized Joseph as Montimer, a 2007 graduate of a Florida high school and a naturalized U.S. citizen from Haiti.

The AP initially received a copy of Montimer's waiver application and approval from the UIL's district committee, before an attorney stopped the release of more documents.

Citing Texas open records laws, the AP requested copies of all supporting documents for the waiver, including the letters from coaches and Montimer himself explaining his story and why he should be allowed to play.

Attorneys for the school and the UIL said the records are protected by the federal Family Educational and Protection Act and would not be released.

The AP has also requested copies of the school district's internal investigation, but no formal ruling has been made.

In 2006, federal education officials said school districts could not even ask the state attorney general's office for a legal opinion on what records to release. Such a request would include a student's name and would violate the law, the memo said.

Leo Barnes, associate vice president for legal affairs at the University of Texas, which handles all public records requests for the UIL, said attorneys questioned whether Montimer would qualify for protection if he enrolled in school using fraud.

The law covers anyone who is enrolled, legitimate or otherwise, Barnes said.

who is enrolled, legitimate or otherwise, Barnes said.

Larsen said interpretation of the privacy law has gone too far.

Grade transcripts, course schedule and other specific information about a student's academic career are legitimately protected, Larsen said. He said the school district's investigation into how Montimer enrolled and was allowed to play should be made public.

"It's not a real education record," Larsen said. "It's just a fraud."

Montimer is in the Ector County jail awaiting trial. Originally arrested on a misdemeanor charge of failure to identify himself to a police officer, he also faces charges of having sex with a 15-year-old girl when he was 21 and with tampering with a government document.

Montimer's attorney, Dusty Gallivan, did not immediately return a telephone message Friday.

Permian has forfeited its 16 wins from last season.

GOP leaders order agencies to find more cuts

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas Republican leaders asked state agencies Friday to find more savings to prepare for a budget shortfall of up to $18 billion.

The request for agencies to lower their future state funding requests by 10 percent comes on top of an earlier plea to cut 5 percent out of their existing budgets.

Gov. Rick Perry, Lt. Gov. David Dewhurst and House Speaker Joe Straus said they want state agencies, with some exceptions for critical programs, to lower what they will ask for in the 2012-2013 budget. Officials say the funding requests are due by Aug. 30. The shortfall will top the agenda when legislators reconvene in January.

"As we move into the upcoming budget cycle, state leadership will continue to identify ways to trim spending, just as families and businesses across the state have done, in order to balance our budget," Perry said. The Republican governor is seeking another term in November and is being challenged by Democrat Bill White.

Perry said the request for spending reductions will help the state keep taxes low and attract businesses that create jobs.

The earlier 5 percent budget reductions from the current budget were expected to save $1.2 billion, according to state leaders.

Texas leaders have asked state agencies to identify spending cuts heading into past legislative sessions. This time the request takes on added importance because the state is expected to face such a large shortfall.

Perry appoints GOP nominee to Supreme Court

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Rick Perry has appointed state District Judge Debra Lehrmann to the Texas Supreme Court, filling the seat of Justice Harriet O'Neill when she leaves June 20. Lehrmann is already the Republican nominee to replace O'Neill in the November general election when she will face Democrat Jim Sharp. Perry's appointment allows Lehrmann to join the court on June 21 and finish O'Neill's term.

Republicans hold all nine seats on the state's highest court for civil cases.

Pampa Optimist Club hosts Little League regional

aglover@thepampanews.com

For the first time in 20 years, Pampa will host the Cal Ripken Little League Southwest Regional tournament at the Optimist Club.

The tournament will be July 22 through July 28. Kevin Davis from the Optimist Club said they put their name in a hat a year and a half to two years ago.

"Traditionally they rotate the tournament between states in our region: Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Missouri, and Louisiana," Davis said. "They selected us this year."

Two state champions from Arkansas, Louisiana and West Texas and one state champion each from Missouri and Oklahoma will play in the tournament. The teams are playing for a shot at the Ripken World Series in Ocala, Florida in August.

Davis said this will provide a nice economic boost for Pampa.

"It's a fabulous opportunity for Pampa," Davis said. "We will have 100 kids from the Southwest coming here with their families. With an average family of four that will be 500-750 people who have never been to Pampa before. So it will be a good economic boost."

The first day of the tournament will kick off with a banquet, where the teams and officials will be introduced. Former Dallas Cowboys tight end Jay Novacek will be speaking. "I'm elated," Davis said. "I'm pumped and excited that he will be our speaker."

The banquet is open to the public and Dixie Cafe is catering. Right now, the banquet fee is $15. At the gate there will be a charge for a pass to watch the games. Davis said the cost of the tournament is $15,000 which includes: the speaker, the banquet, hotel rooms for Babe Ruth officials. The Optimist Club is looking to businesses to provide sponsorship.

"We already have two," Davis said. "We are sending out packets today to businesses explaining what's going on. If they are interested they can get in touch with me."

Davis said several volunteers will be needed for the tournament.

"We need field crew personnel," Davis said. "If people can volunteer an hour or two that would be great."

Davis said people should see some exciting baseball. "I'm 30 years old and I still get excited every year when the season comes around," Davis said.

If anyone is interested in volunteering or being a sponsor they can contact Kevin Davis at 806-664-2542.

Former Pirate competes in NJCAA track championships

aglover@thepampnews.com

Former Lefors Pirate Dustin Forsyth competed in the NJCAA Track and Field Championships May 22 in Hutchinson, Kansas, in discussion as a freshman at Dodge City Community College in Kansas. That was where Forsyth saw himself competing his freshman season.

"It was my goal for the year," Forsyth said. "I had to throw 40 meters and 81 centimeters to qualify. I had an awesome day one track meet and threw 44 meters. So I met my goal for the season."

That throw came in a meet at Tabor, Kan, where Forsyth finished fourth. At the national track meet Forsyth finished 16th with a distance of 42.09 meters, his second longest throw. Forsyth said the college meets haven't been too different than high school.

"It's the same kids," Forsyth said. "There are some absolute freaks that throw 180 feet. Other than that, the only difference is bigger competitions."

Forsyth said competing in bigger meets affected his final results.

"I went from winning meets to barely making finals," Forsyth said.

Dodge City's head track coach, Cole Ballard said he was impressed with Forsyth in his freshmen season and he has a great attitude.

"The best thing about Dustin Forsyth is that he is a good kid and enjoyable to be around," Ballard said.

"Obviously when you look at him physically, God gave him some things that certainly benefit his discus throwing. But, with that being said, he works hard on using those gifts to his advantage. He doesn't waste them."

Forsyth said he has enjoyed working with Ballard.

"He is fun," Forsyth said. "He's a great coach and he knows what he is doing."

Forsyth said the biggest difference between Ballard and his high school coach Joey Czubinski is their personality.

"Coach Ski is more you've got to do it his way and that's the only way," Forsyth said. "Ballard is more which ever way works for you."

Forsyth said his goal for next year is to improve at the national meet and make finals. Ballard said they are going to work on his flexibility next year.

"With increased flexibility and strength his spin will be more balanced and quick," Ballard said.

DAILY HOROSCOPE

HAPPY BIRTHDAY for Monday, May 31, 2010:

This year, you discover the real meaning of flexibility. You often will go overboard trying to accommodate others. You can understand where others are coming from and often cannot decide whether to defer. The issue will be how much to give and how to establish better boundaries. Your energy soars, making it difficult to limit your role. An issue that arises this year is how much to give. If you are single, you could enjoy dating more than ever. Producing a viable bond could take some thought and skill — and the right person. If you are attached, learn that neither of you has to be wrong. Look at your opinions and decide how both could be true! SAGITTARIUS knows how to appeal to you.

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have:
5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
* Just when you thought everything was clear, you discover otherwise. Confirm a get-together and make sure everyone is on the same page. Though you might not feel like pitching in, do. Tonight: A good time is had by all (if they are around you!).

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
 Your mind might not be present with others. Don't even think that they don't notice your mental drifting. Perhaps you need to hop into a car or make a call to whomever is distracting you. Tonight: Don't create a problem; choose to eliminate one.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
 Your ability to engage others comes out. Your innate understanding of others and your ability to read body language make it easy for others to share matters they usually wouldn't. Tonight: You are everyone's confidant!

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
* Be sensitive to the many possibilities. The question might be simple: who, where and when. You will figure it out by going within and deciding what is important to you. Tonight: Make special time for a special person.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
* You might want to pitch in a little more. You have more energy than many others right now. If anyone can hit a home run, it is you, especially today. Your efforts do make a huge difference. Tonight: Relax, wherever you are.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
 It appears that you take your creativity wherever you go. Often you hold back and don't share your opinions. Right now, your suggestions — which often lead to solutions — will be welcome. Tonight: Let your hair down.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)
* Stay as close to home as possible, whether entertaining or squeezing in some work. Zero in on what is important to you. Don't allow a low level of worry to take over. Take a walk and release this energy. Tonight: Flipping the burgers.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)
 Keep conversations moving, and worry less about others' opinions. You might want to rethink an incident or a relationship. You suddenly realize that there is more than there appears to be. Tonight: Hang out with a friend.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)
* Be aware of what you are doing. A loss of self-discipline could be very costly or might become a problem. Be careful when dealing with someone you look up to. Your words could hang around for way too long. Tonight: Remember that there is a tomorrow.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
 You might want to confirm who is doing what before charging in. Misunderstandings seem to happen with ease. Use care, especially around financial matters. You might not be as comfortable as you would like to be. Tonight: The world, once more, is your oyster.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)
* Know when to kick back and do little. Easily, you could be overwhelmed by recent events and happenings. Do rethink plans that revolve around tonight, or at least confirm them. Tonight: Make it OK to do nothing.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)
* You could feel vaguely out of sorts without a good reason. Don't over-analyze. Rather, think carefully, knowing what needs to happen. Your instincts could be off, and pushing to get answers won't work. Tonight: Hang out with friends.

PROPERTY TAX PROTEST AND APPEALS PROCEDURES

The Law gives property owners the right to protest actions concerning their property tax appraisals. You may follow the appeals procedures if you have a concern about:

- *the values placed on your property
- *any exemptions that may apply to you
- *the cancellation of an agricultural exemption
- *the taxable status of your property
- *the local governments which should be taxing your property
- *any action taken by the appraisal district that adversely affects you

Informal Review
The first option a taxpayer may use to protest a value is to visit with the chief appraiser or a staff member. Records on individual properties are available for review by every taxpayer. This informal review is to the benefit of the taxpayer, as many protests are resolved at this level.

Review by the Appraisal Board
If you cannot resolve your problem with the appraisal district staff, you may have your case heard by the Appraisal Review Board (ARB).

The ARB is an independent board of citizens that reviews problems with appraisals or other concerns listed above. It has the power to order the appraisal district to make necessary changes to solve problems. If you file a written request for an ARB hearing (called a note of protest) before the deadline the ARB will set your case for a hearing. You will receive written notice of the time, date and place of the hearing. The hearing will be informal. You and the appraisal district representative will be asked to present evidence about your case. The ARB will make a decision based on the presented evidence. NOTE: You should not try to contact ARB members prior to the meeting. The law requires ARB members to sign an affidavit saying that they have not discussed your case prior to the ARB meeting.

Review by District Court
After the ARB decides your case you will be sent a copy of its order by certified mail. If you are not satisfied with the decision, you have the right to appeal to district court. If you choose to go to court you must start the process by filing a petition within 45 days of the date you receive the ARB's order. If the appraisal district has appraised your property at $1,000,000 or more you must file a notice of appeal with the chief appraiser within 15 days of the date you receive the ARB's decision.

Additional Information
You can also get a pamphlet describing how to prepare a protest from the appraisal district. You may obtain more information by contacting the appraisal district at the address or phone number below or by contacting the State Comptroller at the following address:

DAILY HOROSCOPE

HAPPY BIRTHDAY on Sunday, May 30, 2010:
This year, a problem within a financial or emotional partnership will clear up, and quite suddenly. You will need to do your share as well. Some consideration will be given to changing your home or remodeling your present digs. Whatever your decision, you will be happy with the end result. Curb a tendency to worry. If you are single, you could meet someone quite important to your life's history, though there could be a lot of suitors to sort through. If you are attached, the two of you simply seem more indulgent and caring with each other. CAPRICORN bottom-lines problems.

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have:
5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
★★★ You cannot change another person's mood. In fact, if you lie back, you could see a big change in a key person. Where this person might have been holding back, he or she now opens up. Tonight: Don't forget an older friend. This Week: You are on top of your game. Act.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
★★★★ If you can, take off for a day trip or adventure. You feel as if you cannot follow through on your desires. If you ask someone for some help in making plans concrete, others will overturn your desires. Tonight: Avoid going overboard. This Week: Research and thought have a place. On Wednesday, act.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
★★★★★ Someone does a reversal. Did you forget that you are a flexible sign? Enjoy the change and being tossed into limbo. You are seeing many facets of a person and/or an issue. DAILY HOROSCOPE

HAPPY BIRTHDAY on Sunday, May 30, 2010:
This year, a problem within a financial or emotional partnership will clear up, and quite suddenly. You will need to do your share as well. Some consideration will be given to changing your home or remodeling your present digs. Whatever your decision, you will be happy with the end result. Curb a tendency to worry. If you are single, you could meet someone quite important to your life's history, though there could be a lot of suitors to sort through. If you are attached, the two of you simply seem more indulgent and caring with each other. CAPRICORN bottom-lines problems.

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have:
5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
★★★ You cannot change another person's mood. In fact, if you lie back, you could see a big change in a key person. Where this person might have been holding back, he or she now opens up. Tonight: Don't forget an older friend. This Week: You are on top of your game. Act.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
★★★★ If you can, take off for a day trip or adventure. You feel as if you cannot follow through on your desires. If you ask someone for some help in making plans concrete, others will overturn your desires. Tonight: Avoid going overboard. This Week: Research and thought have a place. On Wednesday, act.
