City looks to raise park security with cameras

DAVID BOWSER
dbowser@thepampanews.com

The City of Pampa wants to put eight security cameras in city parks to prevent vandalism, especially after the Super Playground was torn up.

The Super Playground was vandalized in early August, resulting in some $6,000 worth of damages.

"It appears to us," said Director of Public Works Donny Hooper, "anywhere where we have vandals in the parks, if we put something there or put a close patrol on that, they just move to another park."

Hooper told the Pampa Economic Development Corporation at their meeting Thursday that the best way to deter such vandalism is to put surveillance cameras in the parks. They can be monitored from the police department 24-hours a day.

Earlier this year, Hooper said the city had applied for some grant money to buy the security cameras. The PEDC had agreed to fund half of the expected amount (approximately $21,800), but the city did not get the grant.

Thursday, Hooper and Pampa Police Chief Kelly Rushing were back to discuss the possibility of the PEDC putting up $25,000 toward a surveillance camera project. Hooper said the total cost of the project is expected to be a little over $40,000. He said the city could pay the rest of the cost.

Legacy concert

Jason Floyd Coleman, the grandson of legendary keyboardist Floyd Cramer, will be among the artists in this season's lineup for the Pampa Community Concert Association.

Concert Association offers variety

rpribble@thepampanews.com

Since 1944 the Pampa Community Concert Association has been bringing professional performing artists into the community. This year's concerts have been announced and season tickets are now on sale.

"We are in the middle of the ticket sales drive for season tickets," said association Treasurer Glennette Goode.

Goode added that family season tickets cost $40 for a total of 14 performances. Five performances are in Pampa. However, an agreement with concert associations in Borger and Plainview allows Pampa ticket holders to attend an additional 9 concerts.

"We probably have more variety in our offerings this year than we ever have," Goode said. "We always tried to have concerts featuring instrumental music, voice and dance in the hope that anyone can find a favorite. And they are always strong, professional artists."

Among the concerts scheduled this year are Buddy Jewell, the winner of Nashville Star 2003; Dallas Brass, one of America's foremost musical ensembles; Barbra and Frank, featuring Sharon Owens as Barbra Streisand and Sebastian Anzaldo as Frank Sinatra; and "The Legacy of Floyd Cramer" featuring keyboardist Jason Floyd Coleman, the grandson of Floyd Cramer. An additional free concert this year will be a performance of the United States Air Force Southwest Winds band. CONCERTS cont. on page 5

'Lost in Lefors' Poker Run Saturday

editor@thepampanews.com

It's that time of year again to get lost in Lefors.

The ninth annual "Lost in Lefors" poker run will take place on Saturday at the Lefors baseball field, with registration going from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m.

As with previous years, all proceeds from the run will go to the Lefors Volunteer Fire Department, which is looking to pay off the last of three vehicles it bought three years ago.

"We purchased a used ambulance and two new fire engines

(in 2007)," said LVFD poker run coordinator Dana Davis. Davis added that the ambulance and one of the trucks have been paid off and the department is looking to finish the job on the other truck with this year's proceeds.

"That's the goal," said Davis. "We have $42 (thousand) left on it, and we're hoping to be able to pay that off this year."

Last year's event raised $32,000, Davis said.

Once an event for the "single regular biker," the poker run has evolved into a festival for all ages, said coordinator Dana Davis.

"It's kind of turned around to be a family deal now," said Davis, who is also the Lefors Fire Department's training coordinator and EMS director. "That's made quite the difference. We're seeing more people out there because of it." LEFORS cont. on page 3

AFTERNOON RUSH

Blagojevich retrial looms

CHICAGO (AP) — “Blago on Trial, The Sequel” promises to be as circus-like and nearly as expensive as the former Illinois governor’s first trial. And in a state with a huge budget deficit, some people would prefer not to see it at all.

But the next round also could look different if prosecutors adjust their strategy after listening to jurors who deadlocked on all but one charge against Rod Blagojevich. And despite their defiance after the verdict, defense attorneys could offer a few surprises too — if they are still on the job.

Could prosecutors decide to call witnesses such as White House Chief of Staff Rahm Emanuel? Could the defense finally put Blagojevich on the stand?

Asked the latter question, Blagojevich attorney Sheldon Sorosky said, “The answer to that is, absolutely yes. It doesn’t mean he will. But he could.”

Prosecutors plan to retry Blagojevich on charges that include allegations he tried to sell President Barack Obama’s old Senate seat. U.S. Attorney Patrick Fitzgerald said the prosecution is nearly ready to start jury selection, and the presiding judge set a hearing on the matter for Aug. 26.

Two burned in oil field explosion

ACKERLY (AP) — A Lubbock hospital official says two men injured in an oil field explosion in West Texas are in critical condition.

University Medical Center spokesman Greg Bruce said Thursday the workers have burns to 80 percent of their bodies. He did not have names or ages of the victims.

Martin County Emergency Management Coordinator Ashley Borgstedt says the accident that injured the men happened Thursday morning at a site in Ackerly, about 45 miles northeast of Midland.

Perry wants trafficking crackdown

HOUSTON (AP) — Gov. Rick Perry is proposing new laws to stiffen penalties for human trafficking in the state.

During an appearance Thursday in Houston, Perry says human trafficking preys on hopes and dreams of victims promised better lives for themselves and families. Instead, he says what awaits victims is a life of confinement, prostitution, abuse and early death.

The governor wants the Legislature, when it convenes in January, to make “the worst of these traffickers” subject to first-degree felony charges that could carry penalties of up to 99 years or life in prison.

Federal statistics show 25 percent of all human trafficking victims, as of 2006, were in Texas.

State capitol getting makeover

AUSTIN (AP) — The more than century-old Texas Capitol has a new under-construction look.

The $3.5 million renovation is expected to be finished by late December, a month before lawmakers return for the legislative session.

The Dallas Morning News reported Thursday that the project is the first major work to the building since 1992. Construction began in May. Scaffolding this week surrounded the dome of the iconic building in Austin.

The project includes repainting the dome and the surrounding rooftops, fixing weather-related damage and refinishing the ornate ceiling in the House chamber.

The original structure was completed in 1888.

The capitol in 1970 was placed on the National Register of Historic Places. It was designated a National Historic Landmark in 1986.

Fallen angel? Hardly

HOUSTON (AP) — Police say a Houston teen was injured after he crashed through a skylight on a church roof where he went to drink beer and stargaze with his pals.

Bellaire police officer Tim Quimby says 17-year-old Gage Passick was in stable condition in a Houston-area hospital after his 40-foot fall early Thursday morning.

Quimby says Passick was one of three teens who climbed over a locked gate and scaled a brick wall to reach the roof of the Bellaire United Methodist Church around midnight.

Police arrested 19-year-old Eric Hauptfeisch of Bellaire and 18-year-old Cameron Lumpford of Houston for criminal trespass and plan to file similar charges against Passick when he recovers, Quimby said.

Church spokesman Michael Ervin says even though they broke the law and were not church members, “God loves them and so do we.”

Three of four escapees captured

WICHITA FALLS (AP) — Authorities captured three inmates and were searching for a fourth Thursday after the group’s early morning escape from a North Texas county jail.

Wichita County Sheriff David Duke said only one of the four inmates, Deonte Marquis Combs, 19, remained at large as of Thursday afternoon. Authorities said the previous name they released in identifying Combs was one of his many aliases.

Duke identified those captured as Jimmy Noel Hughes, 22, who had been jailed on charges of aggravated sexual assault of a child; James Thomas McLendon, 19, jailed since June on a burglary charge; and Daniel Cicilio Ramos, 21, jailed since June on criminal mischief and burglary charges.

Sudan has it all figured out

KHARTOUM, Sudan (AP) — Authorities in southern Sudan have unveiled a $10 billion plan to rebuild the region’s cities in the shapes of animals and fruit.

The regional capital, Juba, will be relocated and designed in the shape of a rhinoceros. Wau, the capital of Western Bahr el-Ghazal state, is to be a giraffe. There is talk that the town of Yambio will be shaped like a pineapple.

In Juba, the office of the regional president is situated where the rhinoceros’s eye should be. In Wau, the sewage treatment plant is appropriately placed under the giraffe’s tail.

The plans have evoked criticism in Juba, which until two years ago barely had any paved roads, as well other parts of the country.

“It doesn’t seem like the (Government of Southern Sudan) should be using its resources or staff time when the people of Southern Sudan lack basic services like healthcare and water,” said Nora Petty, an aid worker with the Malaria Consortium.

The U.N. says more than 90 percent of Southern Sudan’s population lives on less than $1 a day.

RECOGNIZING RECOVERY

Pampa Mayor Lonny Robbins is flanked by the Smiths, David (left) and Mac, as he signs a proclamation observing September as “National Alcohol and Drug Recovery Month” in Pampa. The Smiths are spearheading Lifetime Recover Centers of America, a proposal to bring an alcohol and drug rehabilitation facility to the city with hopes of revitalizing the local economy and expanding into other markets in the future. In conjunction with the September observance, the LRCA will host a “Communities Helping Communities” neighborhood event on Sept. 25 at Recreation Park.

Hoyt likewise brought home the European, African and Middle Eastern Theater Ribbon, also with three bronze stars, as well as a Good Conduct Medal, the Distinguished Unit Medal, the Company Infantry Badge and the Bronze Star.

It’s the sacrifices that earned those awards that the community is coming together to celebrate this weekend, said John Tripplehorn, president of the Freedom Museum USA.

“We wouldn’t be here if it weren’t for what each of those men did,” said Tripplehorn. “It’s important for us to realize that.”

Tripplehorn added that, although only five names will be added to the Hall’s roster on Saturday, the ceremony aims to honor all of the men and women of the region who have heeded the call of duty.

“Although we will be recognizing specific individuals, this occasion is in fact dedicated to remembering all the veterans from the Texas Panhandle who have never failed to answer their country’s call to arms,” Tripplehorn said.

“(Their) sacrifices and deeds will never be forgotten as long as there are people willing to take a stand against tyranny and injustice.”

two cameras in Central Park, two cameras in Recreation Park and one camera in Prairie Village Park.

The problem isn’t just vandalism, but the park crews spend a lot of time cleaning up trash in the parks, Hooper said.

He said the Gray County jail has installed security cameras and Hooper and Chief Rushing talked with Lubbock-based company Guardian Security about a system for the city parks.

“We don’t have a proposal with a dollar amount from that company,” Hooper said.

“We still believe in this project,” Rushing said of the security cameras in the parks.

Hooper said that originally a California company was going to sell the hardware to the city and the city would build the system. In his discussions with Guardian, they will install a turn key system.

In other business, PEDC Executive Director Clay Rice reported to the board about his trip to Midland for the High Ground of Texas Conference and the Class 4 Winds Seminar Sept.

9 in Amarillo.

Kathy Cota, PEDC administrative assistant, reported about the Texas Supply Chain Conference in Fort Worth. She said that speakers included trucking companies and companies that build wind farms.

The staff reported that the PEDC had $327,934 in cash in FirstBank and $1,935,258.67 in investments as part of their $2,352,001.30 in total assets.

The PEDC’s accounts payable total $6,550.45.

Aside from the poker run itself, this year’s event will also feature a live auction, karaoke and a drawing for a GPS combo, a digital camcorder and an MP3 player. There will also be a reverse drawing for two prizes: a 2010 Wedge Nose 7’x14’ trailer and a 2010 Black Harley Davidson Heritage Softail motorcycle.

The bike giveaway, Davis said, is her favorite part of the poker run.

“It’s great to see the look on the face of someone who just won a new bike for a $25 ticket,” Davis said. “That’s a lot of fun.”

Today in History

Today is Friday, Aug. 20, the 232nd day of 2010. There are 133 days left in the year.

Today's Highlights in History:

On Aug. 20, 1940, during World War II, British Prime Minister Winston Churchill paid tribute to the Royal Air Force before the House of Commons, saying, "Never in the field of human conflict was so much owed by so many to so few." Exiled Communist revolutionary Leon Trotsky was assassinated in Coyoacan, Mexico by Ramon Mercader, a Spanish Communist agent working at the behest of Josef Stalin. (Trotsky died the next day.)

On this date:

In 1833, Benjamin Harrison, 23rd president of the United States, was born in North Bend, Ohio.

In 1866, President Andrew Johnson formally declared the Civil War over, months after fighting had stopped.

In 1910, a series of forest fires swept through parts of Idaho, Montana and Washington, killing at least 85 people and burning some 3 million acres in what became known as the "Big Blowup."

In 1914, German forces occupied Brussels, Belgium, during World War I.

In 1920, pioneering American radio station 8MK in Detroit (later WWJ) began daily broadcasting.

In 1955, hundreds of people were killed in anti-French rioting in Morocco and Algeria.

In 1960, the Mali Federation broke up with the withdrawal of Senegal, which declared autonomy.

In 1964, President Lyndon B. Johnson signed the Economic Opportunity Act, a nearly $1 billion anti-poverty measure.

In 1968, the Soviet Union and other Warsaw Pact nations began invading Czechoslovakia to crush the "Prague Spring" liberalization drive.

In 1977, the U.S. launched Voyager 2, an unmanned spacecraft carrying a 12-inch copper phonograph record containing greetings in dozens of languages, samples of music and sounds of nature.

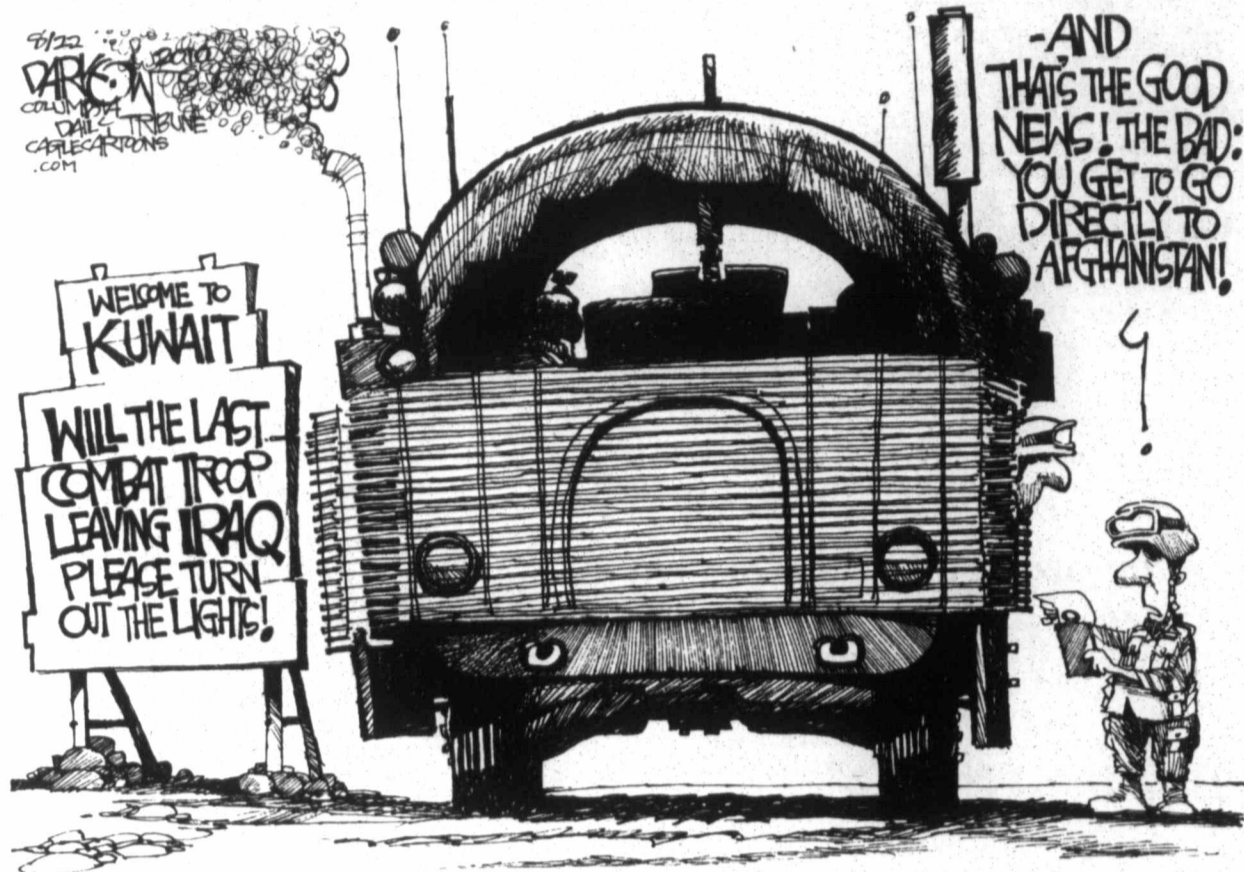

Ten years ago: Verizon (vuh-RY'-zuhn) Communications and unions representing 50,000 workers reached a tentative agreement on a new three-year-contract as a two-week strike neared an end. Tiger Woods won the PGA Championship in a playoff over Bob May, becoming the first player since Ben Hogan in 1953 to win three majors in one year.

Five years ago: Northwest Airlines mechanics went on strike rather than accept pay cuts and layoffs; Northwest hired replacement workers. San Francisco 49ers offensive lineman Thomas Herrion, 23, died of a heart attack shortly after a preseason game against the Denver Broncos. With a deafening boom, the ashes of gonzo journalist Hunter S. Thompson were blown into the sky above Woody Creek, Colo.

One year ago: The only man convicted of the bombing of Pan Am Flight 103 returned home to Libya after his release from a Scottish prison. (Abdel Baset al-Megrahi, said to have only months to live because of prostate cancer, was freed on compassionate grounds.) Afghans voted for a president for the second time ever, but Taliban threats dampened turnout in the militant south. Reality TV ex-contestant Ryan Jenkins was charged with murdering former wife Jasmine Fiore in California (Jenkins was later found dead, an apparent suicide). One-time Super Bowl star Plaxico Burress accepted a plea bargain with a two-year prison sentence for accidentally shooting himself in the thigh at a Manhattan nightclub.

Thought for Today: "If a thing is absolutely true, how can it not also be a lie? An absolute must contain its opposite." - Charlotte Painter, American writer and educator.

This column ruined my concert experience

I was enjoying a meal with the publisher of this paper and his wife immediately before the "Friends of Fogelberg" concert in Amarillo this week.

He suddenly grabbed for his phone, read the message, and showed it to me. It was from the editor: "Remind Joe that he has a column due." Pretty cheeky for a guy who puts in his newspaper a huge bobblehead picture of me holding a chicken! I spent most of the concert composing a column in my head, and couldn't enjoy it at all. (That's not quite true, but I want Arnie to feel guilty!)

I was a little surprised that I didn't see anyone I knew at the concert, especially considering that (a) the concert was in Amarillo, the "community center of the Panhandle"; (b) it honored a performer whose greatest popularity was in the 1970s, and (c) the crowd's composition was at least 90 percent people whose age was within seven years of my own. Of course, there may have been a lot of people I went to high school and college with—but I couldn't recognize them with short hair, gray hair, no hair, or no facial hair...not to mention pot bellies. Get some of them to exchange their island shirts and loafers for leisure suits and platform shoes or tie-died tees and dingo boots, and I might have recognized them!

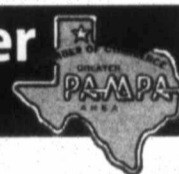

The whole community—maybe the whole world, according to the ads—is getting ready for back-to-school, so there's not much happening at the Chamber... with one exception which I'll get to in a minute. Time for me to reflect a little on the "music" part of the column.

Is it just me, or has country music gone to... well... heck? I realize that tastes change—I'm not crazy about my daddy's country music—but the stuff they play now is indistinguishable from rock. There are a few songs they play that I can bear to listen to, and every once in a while one I really enjoy, but for the most part, I spend my radio time punching buttons. (And when I DO like one, they play it so much that I'm sick of it in two days!) Thank goodness for Pandora radio and MP3 where I can hear what I want to!

Somewhere along the way I think we forgot to mention a new member: Della Moyer Photography. Della is quite versatile, shooting cars, motorcycles, unusual signs, intriguing landscapes...and reunions. If you attended a class reunion in Pampa in the last few years, I'll betcha that Della was there snapping away. A few days ago she brought me a beautiful poster of PAMPA signs taken around the area (she has them for sale). You can check out her work at www.dellamoyer.com.

And now for the sad news... Holly Neill, the bright shining face at the front desk, and typically the cheery voice on the other end of the line, is taking a position with the District Attorney's office beginning September 1. I can't think of anyone I have enjoyed working with more than Holly. We discovered early on that we both have a quirky sense of humor, which is really helpful in this business—provided you understand each other. Case in point: On my first day I told her that I am prone to weird humor, but not mean-spirited or malicious, and that if I said something to offend her, I didn't mean it. She told me she had a weird sense of humor as well.

A day or two later, she was adjusting the thermostat and I asked if she was turning it down. (I was hoping so, as the room had become stuffy.) She turned and said, "Yes. I'm sorry, I'm hot." Without thinking, I commented, "Don't flatter yourself!" She turned on her heel to face me and I said "That's what I mean by a weird sense of humor."

I got a new cell phone a few days later and she volunteered to program her number into it. I agreed, but was shocked when I later saw how she had listed it. Of course, the first time after that I saw my wife (who was still living in Tulia), I told her the story, in case she ever happened to be using my phone and noticed a contact named "Hot Holly".

I would say we are seeking her replacement, but that person doesn't exist. We are, however, seeking to fill the position and will be working through the Workforce office (665-0938) at 1327 N. Hobart. (The job will not be posted until Monday.)

Remember, school starts this week. School zones will be in effect, so watch for kids and put down that phone!

Joe Weaver is the Executive Director of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce.

Concerts

"We are really excited about two performances this year," Goode said. "The Dallas Brass will be holding a master class with the Pampa High School Band and then they are going to include the band in their performance. We are really excited about that."

"Jason Kramer will have a 45 minute program for the middle or elementary students. We have had several programs like this in the past and the kids have really enjoyed it."

Goode noted that supporters of the association, through ticket sales, make such "extras" possible.

"We are trying to expose our students to the arts," she explained, "and provide a positive musical experience for them in Pampa."

"We cannot do this without the support of our season ticket holders."

The concert association series also adds to cultural opportunities right here in Pampa.

As Good said, "When new businesses are looking to come to Pampa, one of the first things they ask is, 'What is there for our employees to do?' It is important that we keep offering things like this in Pampa."

Residents may also attend single concerts and purchase tickets at the door of the MK Brown Center for $20 (children accompanied by an adult are free). Tickets for high school students without an adult are $5. Brochures with ticket and concert information are available at the Pampa Chamber of Commerce.

Among the offerings this year from the Pampa Community Concert Association are (clockwise from top) Barbra and Frank, Dallas Brass, USAF Band of the Southwest, and Buddy Jewell.

A taste of the season.....

In the Las Vegas Hit show, "Barbra and Frank", the rapport of these two 20th century icons is immediately prevalent. As good as the music is, the banter between the stars is equally memorable. "The Concert That Never Was..." includes segments in which Streisand and Sinatra create masterful duets of "Somewhere", "Something Stupid" and "New York New York."

After being crowned the winner of the televised music competition Nashville Star in 2003, Arkansas native Buddy Jewell took the world of country music by storm with his tender, heartfelt voice that gained him millions of fans nationwide.

Since its founding in 1983 by Michael Levine, the Dallas Brass has become one of America's foremost musical ensembles. The group has established a unique blend of traditional brass instruments with a full complement of drums and percussion, which creates a performing entity of extraordinary range and musical challenges. The Dallas Brass' repertoire includes classical masterpieces, Dixieland, swing, Broadway, Hollywood and patriotic music.

Jason Floyd Coleman was born in Nashville, Tennessee on April 2, 1985. Blessed with talent inherited from his maternal grandfather, legendary keyboardist Floyd Cramer, he has played the piano since he was barely able to reach the keys. Over time, Jason's playing style has progressed and matured into an uncanny reflection of the signature stylings of his grandad, and he currently enjoys entertaining audiences by giving new life to Floyd's beloved music.

Dear Abby...

By Pauline & Jeanne Phillips

DEAR ABBY: My father is having an affair — another one. It is not the first time I have found evidence of it. I was using his computer to work on my grandmother's memorial and an IM popped up from a woman telling him to meet her at a family event my mother was not supposed to attend. Her message to Dad was extremely sexual and very upsetting.

The "other woman" is an old high school friend of my parents' and a friend of the family. I have confronted my father in the past, even threatened to end my relationship with him if it didn't stop.

My heart breaks for Mama, but she loves Dad so much she will stand by him through anything. Somehow, I always manage to get stuck in the middle of their marital problems, and I was even blamed for their separation five years ago.

This has affected my relationship with my boyfriend because I have extreme trust issues. I find myself hating my father more and more each day. Please help me before I lose my sanity. — DAUGHTER OF A CHEATER

DEAR DAUGHTER: For your own emotional well-being you must remove yourself from the drama and dysfunction in your parents' marriage. You cannot fix what's wrong with it; your father doesn't want to and your mother appears to have made peace — if you can call it that — with his infidelities.

Not all men are like your father. Many men respect women and are capable of having loving, monogamous marriages. You need professional help, and with good reason, and I urge you to get it. If you don't, your hatred of your father may color the way you regard all men, and it will always be a problem.

DEAR ABBY: We have some longtime friends, the "Gotrocks," who frequently come over for dinner. When they do, they bring "house gifts" — commercially made cakes, Danish, etc. that are well past their expiration dates — then brag about how much they saved on the food.

My wife and I limit our intake of sugar, high-fat and processed foods, and the Gotrocks are aware of it because we have told them, but they persist. I am offended that they would offer low-quality food that I wouldn't serve an animal.

What should I do? Accept the garbage gracefully, not serve it and deep-six it after they leave, or tell them to stop bringing it?

Incidentally, money isn't an issue here; they proudly admit they are cheap. — OFFENDED IN PENNSYLVANIA

DEAR OFFENDED: Having been put on notice that you and your wife do not consume sugary, high-fat and processed foods, the Gotrocks already know they are bringing an inappropriate house gift. Here's how I'd handle it: The next time they come, make a point of serving their gift to THEM for dessert — while you and your wife enjoy a healthy portion of fresh fruit. If they enjoy it — fine. If they look askance, you will have made your point. Waste not, want not.

DEAR ABBY: How do you respond to an overweight person who says she's fat? Or a short person who says she's short? Or to anyone else who points out a true physical flaw that goes against today's ridiculous standard of beauty? I am in a sorority and this happens all the time.

Please don't tell me to say that their personalities are beautiful — even if it's true — because what these girls want to hear is that they are physically beautiful. — THE UGLY TRUTH FAIRY

DEAR UGLY TRUTH FAIRY: Don't lie. But if you're socially adept, you'll find something nice to say — unless you want to be as welcome as a skunk at a picnic. The girl with the weight problem may have beautiful skin or a fabulous head of hair. And the short girl may have such beautiful posture that people regard her as graceful. Get it?

Trials and tests part of His plan

Someone once commented, "We are either currently facing a problem, just coming out of one, or about to enter into one." I think he may be correct.

It seems at times, there is no let-up. As soon as one thing gets fixed, something else breaks. As soon as one problem is solved, another two or three are spun across our path. Why is this? I thought the Christian life was to be about "abundant living, lots of joy, and supreme peace." There's just not a great deal of joy and peace in problems and trials. In fact, I don't think I have ever met anyone who would choose to walk through trials.

But it cannot be denied, trials are a part of both the human existence and the spiritual experience. Therefore, as long as we are alive on this earth, we must learn how to deal with trials, tribulations, and testings of all kinds. We must learn how to get through them without constantly running from them or being crushed under their weight.

One passage gives us two helpful truths that can get us through the tough times. The passage is 1 Peter 1:6-9. In Verse 6 we find two little phrases that we can hold onto in any trial: "for a little while" and "if need be."

"For a little while" speaks to the temporary nature of our trial. "For a little while" promises that just as there was a beginning of suffering, there will be an end. "For a little while" assures us that God our Father is watching, closely monitoring, keeping tabs on the heavenly clock and when the time

limit He has set is up, the trial will end.

"If need be" is another wonderful little truth that promises that trials will not come into our lives without purpose and meaning. "If need be" tells us that God sees a reason for the trial—He is using the trial for a holy end. "If need be" guarantees us that once the trial has served its purpose—once the lesson has been learned, the trial will end.

Someone once said, "During trials, God keeps His Hand on the Thermostat and His Eye on the Clock." With His hand on the thermostat, He regulates the temperature of the trial and with His eye on the clock, He regulates the time.

So let's not forget this blessed encouragement from Peter: "Trials are allowed by God to accomplish His purposes." Therefore, we can trust Him. We can know that He is working all things for the good.

May God's Steadfast and Holy Hand lead you in the coming days.

Dr. Johnny Funderburg is the pastor of the First Baptist Church of Pampa.

CHURCH SPOTLIGHT

Mary Ellen and Harvester Church of Christ seeks youth minister

ANDREW GLOVER
aglover@thepampanews.com

Mary Ellen and Harvester Church of Christ is looking for a youth pastor. The church also recently held a backpack outreach.

Minister Mark Lance said their youth minister stepped down in May and have been interviewing candidates.

"We've interviewed two guys from Mesquite and Lubbock," Lance said. "We have someone coming in from Cypress next week. We are hoping to have someone in place by next month."

Even without a youth minister, the church youth went on a mission trip to McAllen from June 18 - 26.

"They worked with a guy who does construction," Lance said. "In the morning they worked on a house and in the afternoon they did VBS."

The youth also made visits to Fiesta Texas, the drive-in movie theatre in Amarillo and an Amarillo Dillas baseball game.

On August 17, the church passed out 103 backpacks with school supplies to families with children in kindergarten to fifth grade. Lance said it is the ninth year of this outreach and it's grown each year.

"We had some families with five or six kids," Lance said. "It can get expensive when you buy supplies and clothes. It's grown steadily each year. Last year we handed out 90 backpacks."

Lance said the adult ministry completed a three month series over the life of Jesus according to Luke's gospel.

"We held the series Wednesday night and had different members of the congregation and three different Church of Christ ministers speak," Lance said.

Future events for the church include Warren Baldwin from Euless, Kan., speaking on matters from the heart from October 24-26. During the week of Thanksgiving (November 22-26) the church will hand out baskets with a turkey dinner. In December, the church will hold their traditional Christmas dinner for anyone in Pampa, which they've done for 25-26 years. Also, the church will deliver the Christmas dinner to Meals on Wheels recipients.

Blessing of the backpacks planned at United Methodist

A "blessing of the backpacks" will be held during Sunday worship services (10:30 a.m.) at First United Methodist Church.

Pastors Blossom and Nick Mathews invited school children of all ages to bring their own bookbag or backpack.

'Cornerstone Kids' organized

"Cornerstone Kids" is a new group formed for children from 4 years of age through 5th grade at Cornerstone Baptist Church.

A kick-off part is planned for Sunday, Aug. 29. For more information, call 669-6509 or Maryoln Topper at 669-9539.

Pirates middle of the road after second scrimmage

The Lefors Pirates were hoping to build on the success of their scrimmage last week before their regular season game at Hedley next week. Unfortunately Lefors got off to a sluggish start and finished with an average scrimmage against Miami and Amarillo San Jacinto Thursday in Lefors. Head coach Joey Czubinski said his team didn't come out with the intensity he desired.

"It took 10 plays for our defense to warm up (against Miami) and that can't happen," Czubinski said. "(Tory) Peet was signaling the stuff and they weren't doing it. It wasn't all us completely. Miami and San Jac were playing good. Our guys just seemed they weren't in it and that's disappointing."

Junior Seth Scully said they came out too timid against Miami.

"We should have fired out a lot more," Scully said. "We were mainly keying on one guy and were focusing too much on him."

Lefors scrimmaged Amarillo San Jacinto a couple of times, who they face October 1 in Lefors. On the first series of the game Lefors defense allowed a large run by their running back. The Pirates were able to get good runs from Colten Helfer and Joey Johnson. Johnson said they picked up the running game.

"We started picking up our blocks better," Johnson said. "We were able to hold them and allowed them to get to the hole."

Groom was also at the scrimmage but Lefors didn't scrimmage them

Czubinski said they emphasized the running game in practice last week. "Last year we were able to throw well and run well," Czubinski said. "That's what we are trying to get to this year. If we are throwing the ball then I want to go with a running play. We need to do it with the same intensity and execution as a throwing play."

The Pirates open the season at Hedley August 27. Scully said he thinks they are better than what people think they were going to be.

"Next week is going to be a test of how good we are against Hedley," Scully said.

Johnson said he thinks they are right where they need to be before the season opener.

"We just need to improve a little bit," Johnson said. Czubinski said he wishes his team stood better but thinks they will improve over the non-district schedule.

"On a scale of 10, we're sitting at five," Czubinski said. "What we did better in this area we didn't do good in this area. So it's leveling itself out. We're sitting at the middle of the road which is where you don't want to be after your second scrimmage. That's why we have seven non-district games."

Warriors confident heading into next week's opener

ANDREW GLOVER
aglover@thepampanews.com

The Miami Warriors are wanting to give multiple people the ball this season. In Thursday's scrimmage at Lefors, Miami had several ball handlers gain quality yards and put them in good position for their season opener August 28.

Junior quarterback Cole Booze said last year only a core group of players touched the ball.

"This year we are trying to spread it more and make it tougher for people to cover."

Junior running back Ian Smith said they looked pretty good but need to work on some things.

"I don't think we performed as well as we should have," Smith said. "Of course we have expectations that are set high. We didn't quite reach (expectations). It was ok but wasn't satisfactory in some places."

Head coach Jack Graves said they did a little bit better this week and was pleased with how his second team performed.

"It was good," Graves said. "We got the second group in. It was nice to see some of those younger guys get action on offense and defense."

The Warriors opened the scrimmage against their district rival, Lefors. On their first offensive series Miami drove the ball downfield and scored. Smith said they came out firing against Lefors.

"We came out early and hit hard and got a touchdown that first play which is good," Smith said.

The Warriors also scrimmaged Groom. Miami was able to continue their strong running. Graves said the running game did good but they will have to work on the passing game.

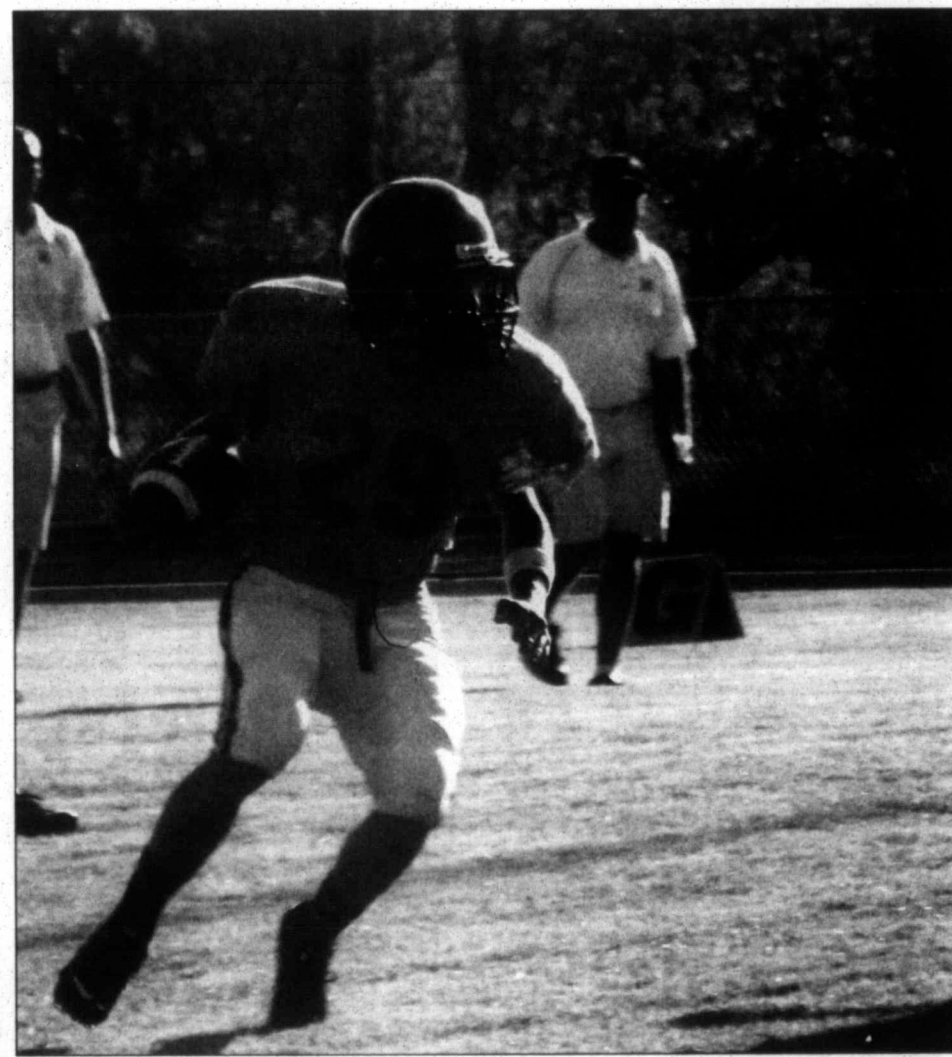

"We got to keep working on the passing game," Graves said. "That's going to be huge. We completed some passes this week that we didn't complete last week. Timing was a little better on offense but hopefully in three to four weeks it will be where it needs to be."

The Warriors open the season August 28 in Jayton against Novice. Smith said he likes where the team stands.

"We feel confident," Smith said. "We feel ready and prepared. We've been doing this for three weeks now. I think the team is prepared as a unit."

Graves said he wants to see his team improve its passing game and put some pressure on opponents.

"That will be our offense and defense goals next week," Graves said. "Pass the ball better. Do play action fakes better, cover the pass better and put more pressure on the quarterback when he is throwing."

Jared Roberts looks to gain yards out of the backfield in Miami's scrimmage against Groom Thursday in Lefors. The Warriors also scrimmaged Lefors and open the season August 28 in Jayton against Novice.
