Area officials keep eyes peeled for mountain lion

ARNIE AURELLANO editor@thepampanews.com

Carson, Hutchinson and Roberts County officials were looking for a mountain lion today after a 'large cat' reportedly killed several goats this week in Skellytown and a dog in Miami.

Roberts County officials reported a dog was killed and drug off from a residence on the west side of Miami.

Several goats were killed in Skellytown, according to Carson County Sheriff Tam Terry.

Although no one saw the cat,

Terry reported tracks that were bigger than a bobcat's.

Reports of mountain lions are not that uncommon in the Texas Panhandle. Particularly in dry years, such cats have been reported in the area, especially along the Canadian River.

In 2009, Judge Phil Vanderpool reported watching one from his kitchen window on the northeast side of Pampa.

Vanderpool said he looked out the window that early October day and saw a mountain lion sauntering along a draw a couple hundred LION cont. on page 8

THE PAMPA NEWS

As always around this time of year, New Year's resolutions were the talk of the town as 2010 draws to a close.

Some took vows out of guilt, some out thoughtfulness and some in fun.

"Mine is to finish the jobs that I started this past year," said Karan Cross, looking at the stack of papers on her desk.

Rhonda Kidd said hers was to eat healthier and be a better person.

"Exercise more," said Alvin Stokes III.

Lt. Joe B. Hoard of the Sheriff's Department said his was to quit chewing tobacco, 28 years after he'd originally adopted the habit Todd Alvey said his was to be more prepared and focused. "To leave the wild women alone," said Kerry Hodge with a twinkle in his eye.

. Cotton Hargrove said he would lose some weight and save more

Ronnie Terry said his resolution is to read The Pampa News online and be a better person RESOLUTIONS cont. on page 8

Hansford Ousley, 89

Hansford Ousley, 89, died December 29, 2010, in Pampa.

Services will be at 2 p.m. Monday, January 3, 2011, at Carmichael-Whatley Colonial Chapel, with Glen Walton, minister of Bell Ave. Church of Christ of Amarillo, officiating.

Burial will be at Memory Gardens Cemetery with Masonic rites courtesy Pampa Masonic Lodge Ousley #966 AF&AM. Arrangements are under the direction of Carmichael-Whatley Funeral Directors.

Mr. Ousley was born February 21, 1921, in Dickens County. He grew up in Spur, graduating from Spur High School. Hansford married Billie Powell on April 21, 1940, in Spur. She preceded him in death on April 4, 2006. He was a veteran of the U.S. Army, serving during World War II. He worked for over 50 years with Ideal Food Stores, Affiliated Foods, and Wright's Packing in Vernon. He was a member of the Pampa Masonic Lodge

#966 AF&AM, where in 1996, he received his 50-year pen. He was also a member of the El Paso Scottish Rite Consistory, the Khiva Shrine Temple, and was a longtime member of the Pampa Lions Club. He was a longtime member of Mary Ellen & Harvester Church of Christ. Hansford loved the outdoors where he enjoyed hunting, fishing and golfing. He was a blessing to his family and friends.

Survivors include a daughter, Nancy Ramirez and husband Jamie of Tyrone, N.M.; a son, Bobby Ousley of Pampa; brother, Ray Ousley and wife Wanda of Dumas; brother-in-law, Gordon Anderson of Lubbock; two grandsons, Jeffrey Neuburger and wife Shawn of Dallas, and Chad Howie and wife Nikki of Las Vegas, Nev.; a granddaughter, Jennifer Castaneda and husband Jorge of Benicia, Calif.; six great-grandchildren, Taylor Howie and Lexie Howie, both of Las Vegas, Nev., Jaden Neuburger of Dallas, Ria Castaneda, Julia Castaneda and Grace Castaneda, all of Benicia, Calif.; a cousin, Hal Ousley and wife Lynette of Cedar Crest, N.M. Hansford was preceded in death by a daughter, Linda Neuburger; a brother, Joe Ousley, and a sister, Jean Anderson.

Memorials may be made to Shriners International Headquarters, 2900 Rocky Point Drive, Tampa, FL 33607.

BROWNSVILLE, Ky. (AP) - A jury in western Kentucky has ordered a Texas-based natural gas supplier to pay $31.35 million to a group of landowners and investors who claimed they were owed royalty pay-

The ruling against Atmos Energy came at the end of a five-week trial in Edmonson Circuit Court.

The suit was filed last year. The plaintiffs alleged the utility breached a contract that should have paid oneeighth of total royalties of its Park City gas project.

A.V. Conway, a Hartford attorney who represented the landowners, said Atmos had paid only about 1 percent of total royalties on the project.

The jury awarded about $7.7 million to the landowners, and the rest to a company owned by Robert Thorpe, which acted as a third-party producer in the project.

An attorney for Dallas-based Atmos did not respond to a request for comment.

Judge orders halt to waste dump

AUSTIN (AP) - A Texas judge has ordered a temporary halt to plans that could allow three dozen states to dump radioactive waste in far West Texas.

Judge Jon Wisser, siding with environmentalists, signed a temporary restraining order Thursday against the Texas Low-Level Radioactive Waste Disposal Compact

The commission was scheduled to vote Jan. 4 on rules that could expand how much waste could be processed at a dump in remote Andrews County.

The ruling preventing a vote came as environmentalists and critics on the commission accused regulators and a politically connected company of rushing the proposal past Texans who are too focused on the holidays

Oil falls below $90

NEW YORK (AP) - Energy prices dropped Thursday after the government said oil and natural gas supplies fell less than expected last week.

Benchmark crude for February delivery lost $1.94 at $89.18 per-barrel. It was the first time in a week that oil was below the $90 mark.

Oil has been surging for most of December as U.S. petroleum consumption ticked higher and traders looked forward to 2011, when oil is expected to touch $100 per barrel and perhaps go higher.

Rising oil prices have pushed gasoline pump prices higher. They were up again on Thursday. The national average for a gallon of regular hit $3.07, about six cents higher than a week ago and 45 cents more than a year ago. Drivers across the country pay a range of prices at the pump. In California you'll pay about $3.32 a gallon. In New York gas goes for around $3.30 a gallon. The average is $2.91 in Texas and $2.82 in Colorado.

Some analysts think the national average will hit $3.75 by spring.

Houston furloughs to begin

HOUSTON (AP) - Mayor Annise Parker is ordering most Houston city workers to take six unpaid days off over the next six months as she tries to close an estimated $30 million budget shortfall.

Parker said police, firefighters, grant-funded positions and workers making less than $24,000 a year would be exempt. Her order, after a request for voluntary furloughs for this month, is expected to save about $5

Parker is winding up her first year of a two-year term. She said Thursday the furloughs were not a solution to the city's budget problems but a tool the narrow the

Court denies stay in EPA case

DALLAS (AP) - A federal appeals court has blocked Texas' effort to stop the Environmental Protection Agency from forcing states to regulate carbon dioxide and other greenhouse gases.

The U.S. Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit on Wednesday declined to issue a stay that would delay the EPA's plans as Texas' lawsuit against the federal agency moves forward. Texas is suing to stop the EPA from implementing a plan to regulate the gases that will start on Jan. 2.

The EPA took the unprecedented step this month of announcing it will directly issue permits to Texas industries after the state openly refused to comply with the regula-

A spokeswoman for Texas Gov. Rick Perry said he was disappointed with the court's ruling but confident that the state will prevail "in the end."

Fund admin pays for advice NEW ORLEANS (AP) The administrator of the $20 billion fund BP set up to compensate Gulf oil spill victims is using money from it to pay for advice from a law professor who backs his assertion that he is independent from the oil giant.

A spokeswoman for the Gulf Coast Claims Facility told The Associated Press on Thursday that fund czar Ken Feinberg has agreed to pay for advice from New York University law school professor Stephen Gillers, who produced a letter that says Feinberg is neutral and not subject to BP's control.

Some victims, lawyers and state officials unhappy with the claims process have questioned Feinberg's independence and suggested he is a pawn in a BP effort to limit its liability.

AUSTIN (AP) Community college enrollment in Texas surged 12.2 percent from 2008 to 2009, a trend officials expect to continue even as educators worry whether funding levels during a state budget crunch can support the growth.

Citing the most recent state-certified statistics, the Austin American-Statesman reported Thursday that the enrollment increase at two-year schools was nearly three times the growth at four-year institutions. Community and technical colleges had 692,845 students compared to 532,226 at public universities, which saw an increase of 4.5 per-

Graduation and retention rates were markedly lower at two-year schools, where nearly half the students were not ready for collegelevel work in one or more areas. State budget problems could mean significant cuts and higher tuition rates for community colleges, where costs are considerably lower than four-year schools.

Texas The Higher Education Coordinating Board expects community college enrollment to continue a rapid rise because of varied academic offerings, open admissions policies and much more palatable tuition rates. But even school leaders acknowledge that financial challenges

A state budget shortfall that could reach $20 billion is forcing agencies, including community college districts, to propose 10 percent cuts in their financial plan-

Austin Community College President Stephen Kinslow said he hopes to avoid layoffs and reductions in student-support services by cutting back on technology and capispending. The college would need voter approval to raise property taxes and isn't planning to pursue that, he said.

"I think it's clear that tuition will have to be increased," Kinslow said.

The six-year graduation rate at public fouryear universities in Texas is almost twice that.

Two-year schools also have a harder time keeping students for the second year. About 67 percent of community college students continue after the first year compared to 88 percent at four-year schools.

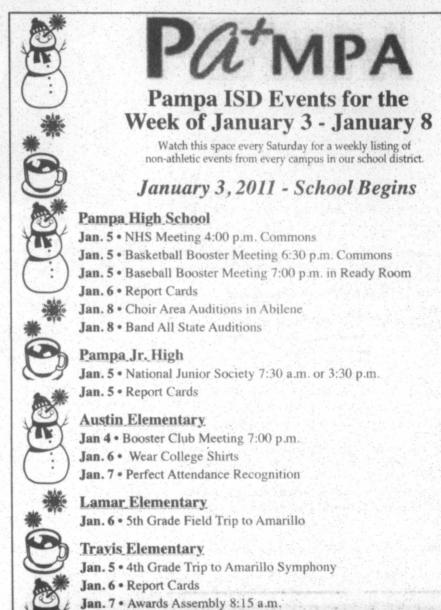

A four-year school not only offers a better statistical shot at earning a degree but also the chance to absorb broader, life-enriching exposure to the arts, economic issues, global affairs and so forth, said Lisa Fielder, executive director of College Forward, an Austin-based nonprofit that helps lowincome students apply to college, obtain financial aid and stay enrolled.

But David Gardner, deputy commissioner of the Higher Education Coordinating Board, said booming enrollment figures at community colleges are a good thing. He said twoyear schools are attractive because of cost and access.

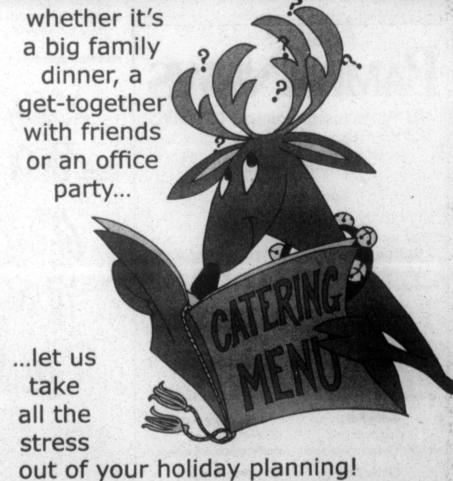

Moreover, community colleges serve a wide demographic, including working adults, students with families and part-time students, he said.

If budget problems persist, though, community colleges could be forced to make painful cuts to faculty and critical support ser-

"We're being asked to do a great deal more with a great deal less," Austin College's Community Kinslow said. "It's not a good recipe for success and for meeting the state's goal of ensuring a qualified work force."

The unemployment rate was 4.2 percent in 1999.

Dot-com stocks were still creating lots of paper mil-

Things were going so well, we had to make up crises, such as Y2K, the Millennium Bug!

Because computerized devices used only two digits to record the date --"99" for "1999" - numerous glitches were expected to occur at exactly 12:01 on Jan. 1, 2000, when at least some of the devices would mistake "00" for "1900.

Senators held press conferences to warn the public to prepare for the worst.

President Clinton told us to keep a lookout for terrorists, who might take advantage of the potential chaos.

Federal bureaucrats even appeared competent.

They established mobile command centers on the National Mall, where thousands of New Year's Eve revelers would celebrate.

They directed police, firemen, FBI agents and CIA operatives to crawl around our nation's capital to thwart anyone looking to pull any funny business.

They made detailed preparations -- cots, blankets, bottled water, canned goods, shelter, portable lighting -- to respond to any and every contingency. But nothing happened.

When the clock struck midnight that New Year's Eve, there were few glitches, no chaos and zero mass hysteria of any kind.

Y2K, wrote The Wall Street Journal, was, essentially, a giant hoax.

That was the downside of America then. We were at our best in preparing for crises that weren't real.

We lived in a fiction of our own creation -- fake wealth, fake security, fake spending promises at the local, state and federal levels that we'd never be able to afford.

Boy, would the realities of the next decade be a

A worried Federal Reserve would begin a series of interest-rate cuts to pump "easy money" into the economy.

That easy money, combined with bad government policies to both create (Citizens Reinvestment Act) and buy (Fannie Mae and freddie Mac) bundles of risky subprime home loans, would fuel a housing bubble.

The housing bubble would burst in 2008, wiping out trillions in wealth and kicking off the worst recession since the Great Depression.

Voters would kick Republicans out of office. Democrats, controlling the presidency and both houses of Congress, would make more fake promises we will never keep and would spend, by New Year's Eve 2010, nearly $4 trillion more than we had.

And all these woes would seem small compared to the $100 trillion in unfunded liabilities that generous politicians saddled our country with -- liabilities we may never be able to pay for.

To be sure, our reckoning has finally arrived.

As bad as the past decade has been, the next decade will be plenty worse -unless we embrace the difficult, painful business of getting our house in order

Sunday in History

Today is Sunday, Jan. 2, the second day of 2011. There are 363 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:

On Jan. 2, 1811, Sen. Timothy Pickering, a Federalist from Massachusetts, became the first member of the U.S. Senate to be censured.

On this date:

In 1788, Georgia became the fourth state to ratify the U.S. Constitution.

In 1900, Secretary of State John Hay announced the "Open Door Policy" to facilitate trade with

In 1935, Bruno Hauptmann went on trial in Flemington, N.J., on charges of kidnapping and murdering the 20-month-old son of Charles and Anne Lindbergh. (Hauptmann was found guilty, and executed.)

In 1942, the Philippine capital of Manila was captured by Japanese forces during World War II.

In 1959, the Soviet Union launched its space probe Luna 1, the first manmade object to fly past the moon, its apparent intended target.

In 1981, police in Sheffield, England, arrested Peter Sutcliffe, who confessed to being the serial killer known as the "Yorkshire Ripper" who had slain 13 women.

Ten years ago: President-elect George W. Bush tapped Democrat Norman Y. Mineta to be his Secretary of Transportation, Spencer Abraham to be Secretary of Energy and Linda Chavez to be Secretary of Labor. (However, Chavez ended up withdrawing after it was disclosed she had given money and shelter to an illegal immigrant who once did chores around Chavez's house.)

Five years ago: A methane gas explosion at the Sago Mine in West Virginia claimed the lives of 12 miners, but one miner, Randal McCloy, Jr., was eventually rescued.

One year ago: President Barack Obama, in his weekly Internet and radio address, said an al-Qaida affiliate in Yemen apparently ordered the failed Christmas Day bombing plot against a U.S. airliner.

Benefits drop sharply

(AP) - The number of people applying for unemployment benefits fell to its lowest point in nearly two and a half years, a sign that the job market is slowly improving.

Applications dropped by 34,000 to 388,000, the fewest since July 2008, the Labor Department said Thursday. The number of applications has either fallen or remained unchanged in five of the past six weeks. Fewer than 425,000 people seeking unemployment benefits signals modest job growth. But economists say applications need to fall consistently to 375,000 or below to bring down the unemployment rate. Applications for unemployment benefits peaked during the recession at 651,000 in March 2009.

The latest report, which covers the week with the Christmas holiday, is considered by some economists to be less reliable than most. One reason is that many state offices close for at least one day. Other seasonal factors make the report more volatile.

Still, a department analyst said there were no unusual factors affecting the report. The department takes into consideration the impact of the holiday.

Analysts said what matters most is the downward trend.

Let go of what holds you back

You know what the beginning of another year is good for, don't you? It is only to remind us that we are getting older.

I use to think that time passed so slowly. I didn't think I would ever reach 16 and be old enough to drive. Then I plodded my way through the years until I became a Senior in high school. (Thought it would never happen!). College came. Time began speeding up. Married. Mid-twenties. When did that happen? Children. I think I remember them once being small. And time flies. My, how it now flies. Someone wrote this test to see just how old you are getting: · Everything hurts and what doesn't hurt, doesn't work.

· Your knees buckle, but your belt won't. You think being gay means someone is happy and vivacious.

· Your little black book contains a lot of phone numbers but they all end in M.D. You get tired calling long distance.

· You sink your teeth into a nice, juicy steak, and they stay there.

 The gleam in your eye is just the sun reflecting off your bifocals.

You stop to think and can't get started again. · You no longer need an alarm clock to get Your back goes out more often than you do. You sit in your socking chair, but can't get it going.

· Finally, you get it all together, but then can't remember where you put it.

Well, it happens. You turn around twice and your kids are grown; you look in the mirror and swear you see your father. Time flies.

2011 will be gone before we know it. Maybe we had better get a handle on it before it rolls right past us.

The beginning of each new year offers a built-in, natural opportunity to start over. God allows new beginnings, second chances. For that, I am extremely grateful.

The Apostle Paul pens what might be the Best Advice for the beginning of a new year. In Philippians 3:12-14 he condenses his life aim to a couple of terse thoughts. He says, "Not that I have already attained, or am already perfected; but I press on, that I may lay hold of that for which Christ Jesus has also laid hold of me. Brethren, I do not count myself to have apprehended; but one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind and reaching forward to those things which are ahead. I press toward the goal for the prize of the upward call of God in Christ Jesus.'

Here Paul speaks of this "one thing I do." He lets go of those things in his past that would prevent him from moving forward. He turns his head toward the future and all that God has in store for him and he releases all weights, burdens, guilt, failures, unforgiveness, etc., that would keep him from attaining all that his tomorrows

Maybe you and I ought to do that, too.

The creature is called a Fiddler Crab, named so because of the one large fiddle-looking pincher. Because this one pincher is much larger than the crab's whole body, when its enemy—predator goes to capture it, more often than not, the large pincher is what the enemy

The significance of this fact is that the Fiddler Crab has the unique ability to release this overgrown arm. It can just let it go. Thus, when the predator seizes its prey, and begins to pull the little crab from its hiding place, suddenly the crab darts off. Leaving the predator, much to his dismay, only the "big fiddle" as its bounty. The little crab escapes, avoiding certain death by simply letting go of what its predator has

There are many things in our lives that our enemy-predator has hold of in our lives. Roaming around like a roaring lion, seeking whom he may devour (1 Peter 5:8), our enemy has an insatiable appetite for us. However, if we can learn to release that part of our lives, to which Satan is clinging, we can press on, reach

May you and I be willing to trust God enough to release into His ultimate control all those things that threaten to "hold us back this year," so that we can move on, focused on attaining, "the goal for the prize of the upward call of God

KIDS talk about GOD

At the Last Supper, the apostle Peter initially objected to the Lord washing his feet. Taking on the role of a servant is so contrary to the way we think, but it's the way Jesus said people would know his disciples. People will know you're a disciple "by the way you act," says Faith, 9. "It's what's inside. More like your attitude. If you have a bad attitude, people aren't going to think about you being a Christian.

You can't fake it. "A merry heart makes a cheerful countenance," says the Proverb (15:13). Every face needs grace. Even a beautiful or handsome face can appear ugly if the heart is agitated or depressed.

Memorize this truth: "Greater love has no one than this, than to lay down one's life for his friends." (John 15:13)

Ask this question: Would anyone accuse you of being a disciple of Christ?

Dear Abby...

By Pauline & Jeanne Phillips

DEAR ABBY: I just lost my 15-year-old sister to bullying and the school here is not doing is generous and sweet, anything about it. There but her incessant chathave been a number of ter diminishes any good suicides due to this behavior. I want schools to Even when we're eating realize they need to take in a restaurant, she never action before else gets hurt.

Bullying isn't a harmless prank and it should be taken seriously. I have heard of a bullying law in some schools. but it needs to be in ALL schools. I should not have to bury my sister at such a young age.

Abby, can you please get a message out to schools and their students about bullying? Thank you. - GRIEF-STRICKEN SISTER IN MICHIGAN GRIEF-DEAR STRICKEN SISTER: Please accept my deepest sympathy not only for the untimely loss of your sister, but also the tragic circumstances surrounding her death. Although bullying is something that has gone on for generations, in recent years school boards have only begun to realize what a serious and pervasive problem it truly is and have instituted zero tolerance policies. In many schools where student suicides have occurred, the administration has provided grief counseling and programs to sensitize students and faculty in order to prevent it from happening. If that isn't being done in your community, the parents should be very worried. DEAR ABBY: What do you say to a person who never stops talking? A friend does it, and I don't want to hurt her feelings. It has reached the point where I avoid her because her nonstop babbling irritates me. I have made clear to her I don't use my phone much and prefer e-mail, but it hasn't stopped her from calling anyway sometimes late at night. I let the machine pick up, but my sleep is still interrupted and, once again, I am irritated.

Abby, this woman has a heart of gold. She feelings I have for her. stops to come up for air How can I politely let her know her never-ending blather is getting on my nerves? - CAN'T GET A WORD IN, IN NORTH CAROLINA

DEAR CAN'T GET A WORD IN: Your friend is a compulsive talker. She may do it out of insecurity, or because the sound of silence makes her uncomfortable. She may do it because she thinks she's entertaining. But hogging the conversation is rude. And calling someone in the late evening, after being told that the person does not want calls after a certain hour, is also rude. Much as you might like to, I doubt anything you say politely will change her. So accept her, warts and all, or move on.

DEAR ABBY: When a man meets a woman wearing a low-cut dress or blouse, is it rude to momentarily glance down (not stare) at her cleavage? Most men find this a natural, unavoidable impulse. - DOIN' WHAT COMES NATU-RALLY

DEAR DOIN': It may be a "natural, unavoidable impulse," but gentlemen have learned to control their impulses. And that's what I recommend you do -unless you want to offend the woman you're with or the woman you're meeting. I'm surprised you haven't heard the phrase, "My eyes are up HERE."

DEAR READERS: From the bottom of my heart, I wish all of you a happy, healthy and prosperous 2011. And please, if you will be driving tonight, don't drink; and if you're drinking tonight, don't drive. Stay safe, everyone! - Love, ABBY

Hawks' hot shooting night ends Pampa's tourney run

ANDREW GLOVER aglover@thepampanews.com

There are some nights where you just have to shake the opponents' hands and say, "good job." Unfortunately for the Harvesters, Thursday night's was one of those games, as they lost the championship to the Wall Hawks 93-67 at Lubbock Christian's Rip Griffin Center in the Caprock Fibermax Classic.

The Hawks made 14 of 20 three-pointers including 11 of 12 in the first half. Head coach Dustin Miller said the Hawks shot "amazing" and thought his team competed well.

"They were shooting one-foot fade shots going out of bounds and weren't hitting rim," Miller said. "We told our guys surely they can't keep this up all night. We won the second half."

Junior guard Latigo Collins said there wasn't much they could do.

"They were incredible," Collins said. "They shot better than we did at Randall. We came out and won the second half but they are a good shooting team."

Unlike the previous games of the tournament, the Harvesters got off to a slow start. Wall scored the first seven points of the game and reached 20 points before Pampa scored 10. The Hawks made three three-pointers and seven field goals. The Harvesters trailed 26-14 after the first.

Senior forward Garrett Ericson said the Harvesters came out cold.

"I couldn't hit a thing," Ericson said. "They were hot and we were cold and that's how the first half went. If we would have hit some shots maybe it would be a closer game."

In the second quarter, the Hawks continued where they left off. Wall converted eight three-pointers and had runs of eight and 10. The Hawks nearly doubled their lead within the first two minutes of the game. Jared Schooley made five three-pointers and scored 23 points in the first half. Collins led Pampa with eight points in the first half. The Harvesters were outscored 31-12 in the second and trailed 57-26 at halftime.

* Pampa played evenly in the second half, outscoring the Hawks 41-36. Collins scored 13 points in the second half and senior forward Garrett Ericson scored 10.

Collins led the Harvesters in scoring with 17. Ericson followed with 15. Justin Walling led the team in scoring with 29 points and Schooley followed with 25.

Wall won all of their games by at least 24 points including 3A schools Andrews and Lubbock Cooper.

The Harvesters (10-6) advanced to the championship by beating White Deer 47-33 at Frenship High School earlier Thursday.

Miller said his team respected White Deer this time and knew what to expect after playing them in the River Road Tournament earlier this month.

"I don't think we respected them the first time," Miller said. "We just looked at them as White Deer. Today we knew what to expect and played four solid quarters."

The Harvesters started strong and scored the first 10 points of the game, leading 12-4 after the first. Collins scored 8 of those points and Ericson scored four. Pampa's defense only allowed eight points in the second quarter and led 22-12 at halftime.

In the second half Pampa didn't allow the Bucks to get closer than 10.

Collins led the Harvesters in scoring with 23. Ericson followed with 17. Only four players scored for Pampa. Seth Furgason led the Bucks in scoring with 10.

Nathan Story followed with eight.

Coach Miller said overall they accomplished what they wanted to in the tournament.

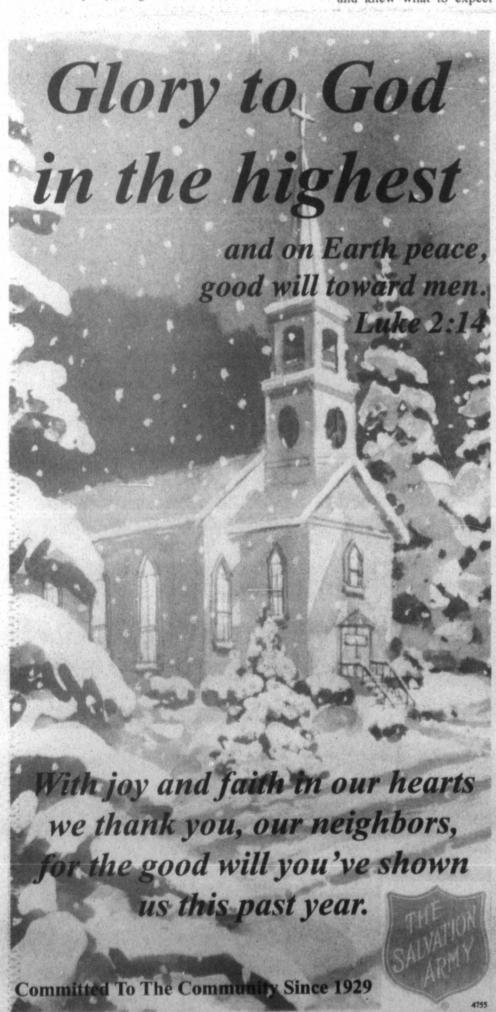

"I told them it was a great playoff atmosphere," Miller said. "Hopefully, this will help down the line in district."

Lady Harvesters take consolation title with clutch shots

ANDREW GLOVER aglover@thepampanews.com

The Lady Harvesters entered the third quarter down by nine. Head coach Gene Valentine told his team that they weren't going to lose this game. With some clutch shooting, the Lady Harvesters won the Caprock Classic consolation championship 49-48 against the Borger Lady Bulldogs at Lubbock Trinity.

Valentine said he was hoping the game wouldn't have the intensity of a district game but was proud of his team.

"I told before the game to play like it was any other game," Valentine said. "When it got closer to the end and got tighter it turned into really wanting to win the game. They stepped up.

Junior guard Kirsten Kuhn, who hit the game-winning free throw said they were hoping to draw a foul at the end of the game

"I realized we didn't have much time left and we needed to get a foul," Kuhn said. "I drive in and threw up a shot and luckily it went in.'

The game started as a defensive struggle. Both teams were held under double digits in the first quarter. The Lady Harvesters didn't lead but had two ties at two and four. Borger led by as many as four and led 8-7 after the first.

The second quarter was back-and-forth. The Lady Bulldogs increased their lead to four at the beginning of the quarter. Pampa scored the next six points and took their first lead at 15-13. The Lady Bulldogs closed the quarter on a 7-1 run and led 20-16 at halftime.

The Lady Bulldogs opened up their lead in the third and scored the first five points of the quarter. The Lady-Harvesters didn't get closer than five points and were outscored 19-9 and trailed 39-30 after three.

The Lady Harvesters (3-14) rallied in the fourth. Kuhn hit a three to cut Borger's lead to six. Pampa trailed 46-42 with two minutes left. Sophomore Taylor Morgan hit a three-pointer and tied the game at 46. Borger led 48-46 with 13 seconds left. Kuhn dribbled up the court and with five seconds left penetrated and threw the ball up when she was fouled. The Pampa sideline erupted when the shot went in. Kuhn made the free throw easily creating more excitement on the Lady Harvester sideline.

Valentine said he didn't realize how much time was left when Kuhn made the shot.

"I know how much time there was when the possession started," Valentine said. "I didn't realize there was that much time left when (Kuhn) made the free throw. She made a big free throw.

Kuhn led the Lady Harvesters in scoring with 17. Morgan followed with 11. Emma Wood led Borger in scoring with 13. J'Cee Pool followed with eight.

Valentine said they accomplished their goals in the tour-

"We learned from Tuesday's game," Valentine said. "It helped us get together and realize we need to believe in each other. It paid off in the last two games.'

Beginning of new era for PHS football, volleyball, tennis teams

ANDREW GLOVER aglover@thepampanews.com

This week, The Pampa News is taking a look back ut the sports events from 2010. Pampa Harvester and Lady Harvester sports began a new era last fall, playing in 3A for the first time. Here's a look back at the 2010 volleyball, tennis and football seasons.

The Pampa Lady Harvesters volleyball team entered the 2010 season coming off of consecutive seasons of missing the playoffs by a game. The season got the Lady Harvesters were 6-6 after 12 games. Pampa would turn things around going 13-5 in the second half on non-district. In district-play, Pampa was unstoppable as they made it through unde-Feated on the court and won Pampa's first district title since the early 1990s. The Lady Harvesters were ranked as high as 10th in the state and advanced to the regional quarterfinals. Pampa finished the season ranked 13th.

Senior Taryn Eubank became the first Lady Harvester to earn all-state since 1964. Eubank also was selected academic allstate, won district MVP, first team all-district and won the team most valuable player. Eubank University in Arkansas.

Junior Kirsten Kuhn won defensive MVP, first team all-district and won the team defensive player of the year award. Junior Kailyn Troxell was selected to first team alldistrict and won the team to first team. Seniors Juan offensive player of the year award. Junior Ramie Hutto was selected to first team all-district. Juniors Caitlin Sieck, Delaney Clendening and Alanna Stephens were selected to second team all-district. tennis team had a solid Junior McKinlee Stokes was an honorable men- five at four of their tourtion. Other team awards went to freshman Kylee Metts (upcoming freshman), junior Stephanie Allen (Heart Award) and Sieck (Hustling Lady Harvester).

The Pampa Harvesters football team got off to one of the roughest starts a team can. Not only did they lose their first three games but had three key players get injured in the season opener. Junior quarterback Reid Miller only missed one game, but senior linebacker Trent Carter and senior center Reid Bradley missed most of non-district. The Harvesters were able to overcome those injuries and beat Wichita Falls Hirschi, Vernon and Perryton. For the second straight season, Pampa signed to play with Hardin made the playoffs where they lost to Lubbock Cooper.

> Miller was a unanimous selection for first team all-district. Senior receiver Garrett Ericson and junior receiver Latigo Collins also were selected Martinez, Milo Carlson, Trent Carter and juniors Trevor Smith and Trace Carter were selected to the second team.

The Pampa Harvesters spring, finishing in the top naments. Then-seniors Myles Sammi Finney finished second in mixed doubles at district and got to compete in regionals in San Angelo.

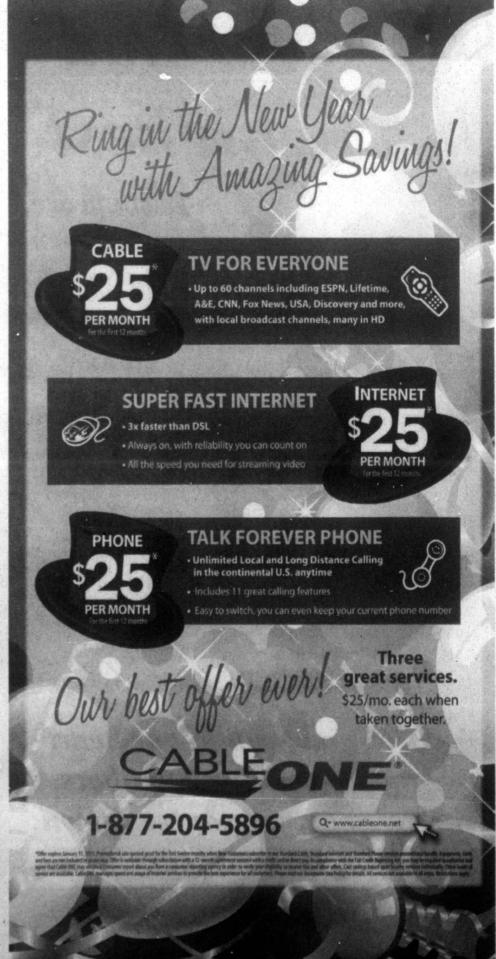

In the fall, the Harvesters dramatically improved from last season and went 9-3, almost twice as many wins as last season. Pampa closed the fall portion of team tennis on a fourgame winning streak. The Harvesters beat two of their district foes, Borger and Perryton in nondistrict matches. Senior Holly Gage went undefeated in singles. Junior David Moore was solid in singles. Sophomores Nick Nelson and Makayla Hampton were also tough to beat in singles. The Harvesters begin district in the spring.

Select the proper type of rope for the job

Dear Pat: I need to buy some rope for various home improvement and landscaping projects around my house. It seems like I mostly find the yellow plastic stuff. What types of rope are Lest for which jobs? - Kathy M.

Dear Kathy: People often think rope is just rope, but this is an oversimplification. There are many different types of rope, and some function significantly better for various tasks than others. Keep in mind if a rope breaks when supporting a heavy object, serious injury can occur. Also, the prices of various types of rope vary significantly.

As you noted, most rope you find at hardware and home center stores is made of three-strand twisted yellow plastic. The type of plastic is actually polypropylene. It is inexpensive, but really not the best type of rope for most applications.

Three important factors to consider when selecting the proper type of rope for a job are its relative strength, elasticity and knot-forming characteristics. No one type of rope is best in all these factors, so it is best to have several types of rope from which to select.

Yellow polypropylene rope has medium strength and low elasticity. This makes it fine for holding light loads. It is made of plastic, so it is not harmed by moisture and can be stored anywhere without concern for rot. It is commonly used on boats and around swimming pools because it is the only common type of rope that floats on water.

One drawback of polypropylene rope is it is stiff and difficult to tie into a knot.

Polypropylene plastic is often used for lifting hinges, so it has a memory. If you try to tie it into a knot, it usually springs back and unties itself. When polypropylene rope gets old, it has an unpleasant prickly feel when handling it.

White polyester rope is better to use for supporting items because it is relatively strong and has very low elasticity. The combination of its stiffness and strength make it particularly good when lifting heavy items. It costs slightly more than $1 per foot for typical 5/8-inch-diameter rope.

If you have to make knots with polyester rope to tie something down, select a soft-laid type, which is more flexible. For straight lifting and strength, a hard-laid type is best. Being made of plastic, it is rot resistant and can be stored and used in damp locations.

Nylon rope costs about the same as polyester rope and has similar properties. The major difference is nylon rope is much more elastic. This makes it less applicable to lifting and tying heavy loads, but much better for a safety rope. If you fall and are supported by nylon rope, its elasticity will ease and absorb some of the shock. This is also a benefit when pulling out a car that is stuck in mud.

The other two less-expensive types of rope are made from natural materials. Manila rope is moderately strong and good for pulley applications because it does not stretch much and is stiff. It is often coated with oil so it resists rot. Natural sisal fiber rope is the most inexpensive and is a good general-purpose rope for packaging and bundling yard waste. It is compost pile.

colleges and universities across Oklahoma participated in the Oklahoma Scholar-Leadership Enrichment Program seminar "Predicting Politics," held Nov. 10 through 14 at the University of Central Oklahoma

The aim of the seminar was to help students examine the development offorecasting U.S. national elections and evaluate the success of models used in recent elections, including the 2008 presidential election and the 2010 midterm congressional elections.

Among those attending was Tanna Jo Stowers, a senior at the University of Oklahoma.

She is the daughter of Dennis and Tonja Stowers

The seminar was led by James E. Campbell, chair of the Department of Political Science at the University at Buffalo of the State University of New York. He serves as president of Pi Sigma Alpha and the National Political Science Honor Society. In addition, he has served as an American Political Science Association Congressional Fellow and a program director at the National Science Foundation, as well as on the editorial boards of six political science journals and the executive councils of seven political science organizations. NEW CROSSWORD BOOK! Send $4.75 (check/m.o.) to

READERS: Welcome to 2011! While the last year has been arduous for many of us, a new one has arrived, bringing with it our chance for a new beginning. Today is the day we discard destructive old habits for healthy new ones, and with that in mind, I will share Dear Abby's often requested list of New Year's Resolutions which were adapted by my mother, Pauline Phillips, from the original credo of

Al-Anon:

JUST FOR TODAY I will live through this day only. I will not brood about yesterday or obsess about tomorrow. I will not set far-reaching goals or try to overcome all of my problems at once.

I know that I can do something for 24 hours that would overwhelm me if I had to keep it up for a lifetime.

JUST FOR TODAY: I will be happy. I will not dwell on thoughts that depress me. If my mind fills with clouds, I will chase them away and fill it with sunshine.

JUST FOR TODAY: I will accept what is. I will face reality. I will correct those things that I can correct and accept those I cannot

JUST FOR TODAY: I will improve my mind. I will read something that requires effort, thought and concentration. I will not be a mental loafer.

JUST FOR TODAY: I will make a conscious effort to be agreeable. I will be kind and courteous to those who cross my path, and I'll not speak ill of others. I will improve my appearance, speak softly, and not interrupt when someone else is talking. Just for today, I will refrain from improving anybody but myself.

JUST FOR TODAY: I will do something positive to improve my health. If I'm a smoker, I'll quit, If I am overweight, I will eat healthfully -- if only just for today. And not only that, I will get off the couch and take a brisk walk, even if it's only around the block.

JUST FOR TODAY: I will gather the courage to do what is right and take responsibility for my own actions.

And now, Dear Readers, I would like to share an item that was sent to me by I.J. Bhatia, a reader who lives in New Delhi, India:

DEAR ABBY: year, no resolutions, only some guidelines. The Holy Vedas say, "Man has subjected himself to thousands of self-inflicted bondages. Wisdom comes to a man who lives according to the true eternal laws of nature.'

The prayer of St. Francis (of which there are several versions) contains a powerful message: "Lord, make me an instrument of your peace:

"where there is hatred, let me sow love, "where there is injury, pardon; "where there is doubt, faith;

"where there is despair, hope; "where there is darkness, light;

"and where there is sadness, joy "O Divine Master, "grant that I may not so much seek to be consoled

as to console;

Life.

'to be understood, as to understand; 'to be loved, as to love;

for it is in giving that we receive. "it is in pardoning that we are pardoned, and it is in dying that we are born to Eternal

And so, Dear Readers, may this new year bring with it good health, peace and joy to all of you. Love, ABBY cels, as you learn far more effective ways of exchanging ideas. You also might be buying new toys for communicating, from in mind. If you are single, you meet people might take a course in how to relate more effectively. As a result, you will be more connected than in the past. SAGFITARIUS understands you better than you understand

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have: 5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult

ARIES (March 21-April 19)

 There is an intuitive quality that. emerges when dealing with others. Reach beyond your normal thoughts and ideas. You could be surprised by the insights you gain. Others reveal much about themselves. Use this information sensitively. Tonight: Walk in someone else's shoes.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)

* A friendship that starts right now or one in your life that gains in importance might play a far more enormous role than you thought possible. Be open to a partner, best friend or loved one. This person's sharing is heartfelt. Spend time with a loved one. Tonight: Forget tomorrow and resolutions. Live now.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)

* Others continue to seek you out in an unprecedented manner. Juggling all the attention could be exhausting. In hindsight, you will often smile when thinking of this moment. You gain a strong insight into a parent or loved one. Tonight: A must appearance.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)

 Somehow, you are always the centerpiece in making parties, situations and anything else work. You might be more involved in helping others relax. Give up the role of chief clean-up person from the recent holidays. Tonight: Just for you.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)

 Many people seem to get your feedback. Make time for a key loved one or several loved ones. Your one-on-one time means more than you realize. Add that light, playful quality others enjoy. Help the year start correctly. Tonight: Still enjoying every

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

 What you see in others, especially a key partner, could be most shocking or surprising. You simply didn't understand this person in this light. Emphasize home, family and loved ones. You don't have to go far from your home. Tonight: Make it easy.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)

* You will continue the New Year rituals, when many people won't today. You seem to remember everyone and have time for a conversation with them all. Your friendly ways might have you reorganizing some plans. You really don't care: Tonight: Where people are.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)

 You might have gone overboard last night and are continuing the theme. Your sign is prone to extremes. Perhaps looking: at this moment in time as a phase might be helpful. If you are single, a double opportunity could appear on the horizon ... which person will you get to know? Tonight: Let the good times roll.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)

* Honor your sense of what you need to do. A close family member or roommate reveals a very interesting side or development. You might be surprised but also delighted. Tonight: Whatever you want seems to work: 10000 100

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)

 You still might feel somewhat reclusive, as if you want to hide out! No such luck. Whether by phone, e-mail or a knock on your door, people seek you out. You hear delightful but unanticipated news. Still, you feel best being quiet. Tonight: Do what works.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)

* Surround yourself with friends, and enjoy every one of them for as long as you can. Whether at a party or at a spontaneous happening, take advantage of the moment, Still, use care with your finances. However, if you feel lucky, get that lottery ticket. Tonight: With friends, of course. PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)

 Others seek you out. You might wonder why you didn't throw a party if you are one of the few Pisces who did not. Others simply want to share and need your feedback. Touch base with an older friend or relative. Tonight: A force to be dealt with.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY for Monday, Jan. 3, 2011:

This year, you decide to take a strong stand in your life. A personal decision or event encourages growth in a new direction. You might be quite delighted with the personal transformation. Many issues will dissolve. If you are single, you attract a whole new type of suitor. Life becomes very exciting. If you are attached, your sweetie will be adjusting to you. Be generous in spirit, as all these changes aren't easy, and it will take time. Know that everything is positive. CAPRICORN can push your buttons.

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have: 5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult

ARIES (March 21-April 19)

 Your perceptions might differ from others'. The issue might boil down to who is in charge. Maintain a strong profile and willingness to assume responsibility. Keep adapting to a changing situation. Tonight: Get a good night's sleep.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)

* Allow yourself to transform an opinion as your mental perception opens up. The more willing you are to see, the more open and content you will become. Sometimes you might find it difficult to let go of a rigid position. Tonight: Pretend you are a Vulcan --go for a mind meld.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)

* Realize that in order to relate on an individual level, you need to consider options that revolve around a partnership. Though you most certainly are versatile, you also can benefit from others, especially if they come from a different mind-set. Tonight: Brainstorm away with a close associate.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)

* Defer, and you will remain content and upbeat. You might not have all the answers, and that is quite clear — but neither do others. Don't put them on a pedestal. Think positively. Tonight: Defer to another person.

another person. LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)

 The time has come to get ahead of a situation, clear out a problem and deal with others directly. You might not always have the right solutions, but your energy and charisma convince others that you do. Tonight: Put your feet up.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

★★★ Your dynamic thinking draws many people. You might wonder which way to go with a new friendship, child or creative project. What is sure is that much will change during the next few weeks. Be ready to transform! Tonight: In the whirlwind of fun!

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)

 Anchor in, realizing your limits and knowing what is essential to stay steady. Everyone's domestic life plays into other areas. You are no exception. In fact, you could be a bit more sensitive. Know that times are changing. You cannot stop that. Tonight: Hanging out.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)

 Discuss a major change with a key associate, friend or family member. What you believe is happening might be off. Take a seat in the peanut gallery and watch the story unfold in the next few days and weeks. Tonight: Work on detachment. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)

 Knowing when to put a halt to spending, overeating and other frivolous yet destructive behavior remains critical. The time has come to return to a little self-discipline. Can you do it? Yes. Do you want to do it? That is up to you. Tonight: OK, OK, one last night of being a wild

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)

 Didn't you make a New Year's resolution about going in a new direction after the holidays? Well, the time has come. Tomorrow's Solar Eclipse will put a punctuation mark on that wildness. Why not join forces and be empowered? Tonight: As you like.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)

 Knowing when to pull back is instrumental to your well-being. You could be so tired and have so much to do that you might hesitate to stop. Taking a break or easing up on yourself might improve the situation. You will re-energize given some care. Tonight: Vanish while you can.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)

 You know what to do and when to do it. Follow your instincts in a meeting. Not everything is as you believe. Take your time dealing with someone who might have a somewhat rogue idea. You might be revising your lists of close friends (by choice) soon enough. Tonight: Where the action is.

SUNDAY HOROSCOPE

HAPPY BIRTHDAY for Sunday, Jan. 2, 2011:

This year, many people find that you are more grounded but also more withdrawn. It is true you will tend to keep your own counsel and not be quite so verbal. You have a good sense about money and which risks to take. Listen to that inner voice. Curb a tendency to overthink things and go over the same story again and again. You will tend to make mountains out of molehills. If you are single, check out a new suitor, and date for a while to make sure that he or she is emotionally available. If you are attached, the two of you benefit from weekends away together. SAGIITTARIUS reads you

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have: 5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult

ARIES (March 21-April 19)

★★★★ Keep reaching out for those at a distance who, perhaps, you have not spoken to in the past week. It is never too late to wish others a happy new year. Friends surround you, especially if you're at a game or some other type of entertainment event. Tonight: Follow your instincts.

This Week: You might feel that change is in the wind. Do your best not to create it.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)

★★★★ Be sensitive to what is happening with a parent or older friend. In some cases, key people could make demands that take you aback somewhat. Be aware of where others are coming from. Tonight: Share with a key partner.

This Week: Reach out for new information or an opportunity that allows greater mental growth. Refuse to be denied.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)

* You could be far more of a challenge than you are aware. How you handle a changing situation could vary. Certainly there isn't only one way. Discussions prove to be enlightening, to say the least. Tonight: Follow another person's lead.

This Week: Say "yes" to an offer from a close associate. Detach if triggered.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)

★★★ You have been putting such an enormous effort into the holidays, nurturing those who are less fortunate or less content. Perhaps the time has come to finally take a break. Go where your mind will wander. Tonight: Escape needs to be the theme.

This Week: Others dominate. Go with the flow.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)

★★★★★ You might be right about letting go and simply enjoying yourself with those around you. Someone who is too serious could make you very uncomfortable. You also might be starting to get a clearer vision of another person. Tonight: Someone close knows how to surprise you!

This Week: An opportunity hits, but perhaps you don't see it immediately. Others play an unusually dominant

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

 Stay close to home, and honor your feelings. You might want to stop and do something just for you. A walk by water could be just what the doctor ordered. Others start demanding more attention. Tonight: Let spontaneity rule.

This Week: Your imagination could be cutting off a situation when it doesn't need to be terminated. Try another perspective.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)

* Keep talking and reaching out to others. A long conversation could be inevitable, but it is important. A neighbor has a way of unintentionally messing up your plans. Tonight: The unexpected occurs.

This Week: You cannot sit on a difficult situation anymore. Rather than blowing it off, try acknowledging the matter at hand.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)

 You have a unique quality of being able to put yourself 100 percent into what you are doing. To some, you look overindulgent. Let them think what they want. Go off and enjoy. Tonight: Your treat.

This Week: You could be updating your communicating style in the near future. You might buy a car or perhaps take a seminar in how to effectively communicate your message

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) ★★★★★ You are in your element.

Still, you have a hurdle or two to jump, especially with a friend. Innovative thinking might help. Use your incredible sixth sense. Tonight: Whatever knocks your socks off.

Indulging has Week: ramifications. A little less risk-taking, and you and those who put up with you will be happier.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)

★★★ Assume you don't have all the answers. You listen to someone you respect and discover how much you have to learn and incorporate into your thinking. What is great about you is you see that need. Tonight: Vanish while and if you can.

This Week: Though you might feel a major change isn't for the better, trust

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)

* You are a sign that naturally gravitates toward friends. This Sunday demonstrates just how important your pals are. News from someone might be unclear. Don't worry. Tonight: Accept an invitation, and don't worry about the cost so

This Week: If you want to play the recluse, by all means, do. Wednesday, you might change your tune.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)

 You might be causing a stronger reaction than you intended. In fact, you could be pushing someone away whom you never intended to. Stop and take inventory. Look at your actions. Tonight: Could be late.

This Week: A window of opportunity opens up. No hesitation, please.
