Vernon Lions easily whip Pampa Harvesters, 41-0

VERNON — The Pampa Harvesters, in keeping with Harvester Coach Heath Parker's theory of playing the best teams possible, took on the Vernon Lions Friday night. And the Lions exceeded expectations, soundly defeating Pampa 41-0. Prior to Friday, the Lions were averaging 50 points a game while their defense was allowing just 8. Despite this reputation, the Harvester's defense controlled the Lions during the first several possessions of Friday night's contest. However, three straight turnovers by the Harvesters and an errant punt led to 27 straight unanswered, first half points by Vernon. In spurts, the Harvesters did produce some first half offense of their own, with Sammy Smith getting long runs of 18 and 25 yards, and Ryan Smith adding another 40 yards in rushing yards. And defensively, Harvesters Kyler Allen and Taylor Woods shined for the Pampa defense. At half, Vernon had a 27-0 lead. While the first half was a game of turnovers, the Harvester defense came alive in the second half, shutting down the high powered Lions offense, not allowing a point to be scored in the third quarter. Contributing to this success was an acrobatic interception by Pampa's Chris Howard, and hard hitting by Harvesters Shelton Reeve and Chris Rivera. But offense was a problem for Pampa, and the third quarter ended like the first half, with no score for the Harvesters. Meanwhile, Vernon tacked on two additional touchdowns. The loss puts the Harvesters record at 1-3 for the season. Next week, Pampa will host Canadian.

Every year Travis Elementary has a program for Veterans Day. This year's program is scheduled for Friday, November 9, at M.K. Brown. The theme for this year is "Hand in Hand With Our Veterans." Travis students and VFW members made flags that will be used as part of the decorations for this year's program. Six flags were made -- one by each grade at Travis. The students' handprints are the stripes on the flags; the VFW members' handprints are the stars on the flags. Top photo: Kindergartener Emma Perry being assisted by volunteer Sarah Hollis. Commissioners on Monday will also consider paying bills and salaries approved by the county auditor; and consider officially declaring a 1993 three-quarter ton 5 speed Chevrolet pickup and 1975 Ford F600 2 ton dump truck Precinct 1 property surplus. Commissioners will then consider the Precinct 3 Commissioners request to replace an employee, the tax assessor's request to replace an employee, and allowing each commissioner the authority to negotiate caliche prices in their respective districts.

Donna Jo Evans

Donna Jo Evans peacefully departed this world on August 20, 2012 after an extended stay at a nursing home in Ennis, Montana. DJ was born on May 30, 1922 in Electra, Texas to Joe and Josie Berry. They later moved to Pampa, Texas, where DJ grew up around the oil refineries that her father managed.

She met Clinton Evans, the love of her life, in Pampa and they were married in 1941, shortly before the start of World War II. While Clinton was away serving in the Army Air Corps in North Africa, DJ became very active in many projects supporting the war effort.

DJ and Clinton settled in Pampa after the war. They were active in the First Methodist Church, and DJ was active in volunteer and social organizations where she developed a wide range of life-long friends. After Clinton retired, they moved to Scottsdale, Arizona where DJ again became active in volunteer and social organizations, such as the McCormick Ranch Women's Club. Later, DJ and Clinton moved to Bozeman, Montana to be closer to their daughter and son-in-law. DJ always loved being with friends, traveling, playing golf, playing bridge, and cooking.

Donna Jo was preceded in death by her parents, her husband, an infant son Robert, and her sister Evonne Palmer. She is survived by her son Dean Evans and wife Patti of San Antonio, Texas as well as daughter Berkeley Hudson and husband Jon of Bozeman, Montana. DJ also leaves behind grandson Scott Evans and wife Kelly of Houston, Texas as well as granddaughter Stephanie Hester and husband Greg of Houston, Texas. In addition, she leaves behind seven great-grandchildren: Abby, Davis, Grace, and Matthew Evans as well as Kate, Callie, and Maggie Hester.

Graveside services will be conducted in Pampa at a later date.

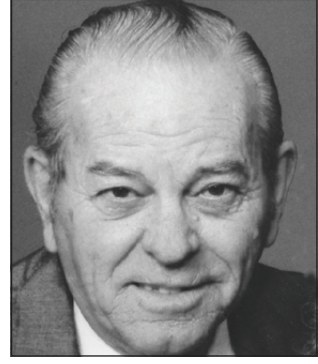

In lieu of flowers or other remembrances, the family recommends a contribution to the Madison County Nursing Homes Foundation (a 501(c)3 non-profit organization) at PO Box 997, Ennis, MT 59729 in recognition of the wonderful care DJ and Clinton received at Madison Valley Manor.

Mary Louise Campbell Terry

AUSTIN — Mary Louise Campbell Terry, 84, peacefully went home to be with her Lord and Savior on Wednesday, September 26, 2012.

Services will be at 2:00 PM Monday, October 1, 2012, at Central Church of Christ in Amarillo, with Bob Crass, senior adult minister, officiating.

Burial will follow in Memorial Park Cemetery in Amarillo, under the direction of Carmichael-Whitley Funeral Directors of Pampa.

Mary was born on August 22, 1928 in Shamrock, the daughter of Matt and Martha Campbell, and sister to five brothers and four sisters. She adored her parents and her siblings. Mary's mother was full blood Creek Indian which made she and her siblings half Creek Indian. They were a very close knit family that had their roots in the Texas panhandle with the parents struggling to raise and provide for ten children during the Great Depression. The family had very little in the way of monetary things but an abundance of love, joy, and devotion to each other that has remained strong to this day with now only two of those children remaining.

Mary met the man of her dreams when she was 14 years old. She married George Windell Terry on October 29, 1943 in Shamrock, and remained married to him until his death in 2003.

Mary had the gift of gab and a wicked sense of humor. She was known by many in the family as "the Queen" and she most definitely lived up to that moniker until the very end! She will be severely missed by all!

Mary lived in Austin for the last eight years with her daughter and son-in-law, Gail and Tom Glass. Recently, she spent four months living in Pampa, residing with her son and daughter-in-law, Bill and Jenni Terry.

For the last two years, Mary had struggled with heart and lung disease. She wrestled with it in the only way she knew which was with bravado, gusto, hope, and a great deal of frustration. She loved life and had faith that she could overcome each new obstacle her illness presented to the bitter end.

Mary is survived by her children: Gail Terry Glass and husband Tom of Austin, and Bill Terry and wife Jenni of Pampa; one step-son: Jimmy Terry of Paris, France; eight grandchildren, five step-grandchildren, six great-grandchildren, two step great grandchildren, and three great, great grandchildren; her brother: Bob Campbell of Amarillo; and her sister: Mrs. Jane Campbell Long of Odessa; along with many nieces and nephews.

Mary was preceded in death by her mother and father, seven siblings, her daughter: Ann Terry Dunham; and one step-son: Jackie Terry.

The family will receive friends 6:00-7:30 PM Sunday, September 30, 2012, at Carmichael-Whitley Funeral Home in Pampa.

L. Brent Bozell: Al Gore versus '2016'

L. BRENT BOZELL III
 Columnist

Two weeks ago, Dinesh D'Souza's documentary "2016: Obama's America" passed Al Gore's "An Inconvenient Truth" for second place on the all-time box-office money list for political documentaries. It now has a box office gross of more than $32 million. But if you're an independent or a liberal who's unplugged from conservative websites and talk radio, you'd never know.

You didn't see D'Souza on CBS or NBC (although he showed up on ABC's "Nightline" in late night). There were no cover stories in Time or Newsweek. The film opened on just one screen in Houston when it premiered on July 13, and then spread to 10, and eventually to 1,000 theaters in August, and 2,000 theaters in September. A cultural sensation, yes -- but somehow not newsworthy.

Al Gore, naturally, had every advantage of a beloved liberal almost-president. When it hit theaters in May of 2006, Time magazine wrote, "The movie got raves at the Sundance Film Festival ... In Los Angeles theaters, the trailers have been getting ovations." On NBC, Katie Couric sat down in the outdoors with Gore and told him that in the movie, "you're funny, vulnerable, disarming, self-effacing." On CBS, anchor Harry Smith gushed, "The box office receipts would indicate that it's an action movie -- you did better per screening than almost anything that's come out this week."

Even after Gore's slideshow lecture/film eventually sputtered out at the Cineplex, several more rounds of fawning followed: an Academy Award and a Nobel Peace Prize, and in between the gushing lines came the idea that Gore might (or should) run again for president. The "Goracle" gush was so heavy that Time collected it all together. He was "Al Gore -- the improbably charismatic, Academy Award-winning, Nobel Prize-nominated environmental prophet with an army of followers and huge reserves of political and cultural capital at his command."

And yet, D'Souza's film was the Little Engine That Could -- the film that could surpass Gore at the box office. He didn't need MSNBC to put him on, although in August, he slammed them as cowardly: "You could watch that channel and not even know we have a film out -- unless you saw a commercial that we're running for our film. You look at Lawrence O'Donnell, you look at Rachel Maddow, you look at Chris Matthews. I mean, look at those cowards! ... I would love to cross swords with those guys, but I think they're all hiding under the desk."

Whatever media elite notice D'Souza received began trickling in once it made the top ten of the weekend box-office hits in late August ... and it wasn't positive at all.

A Washington Post critic scoffed on August 24: "It is doomed to win precious few converts. It's a textbook example of preaching to the choir. It has the air of a 'Nightmare on Elm Street' sequel, pandering to the franchise's hardcore fans, while boring everyone else."

And "An Inconvenient Truth" was different?

On August 29, ABC's David Wright told D'Souza his film was "disingenuous" in suggesting Obama wanted to downsize America's power and influence, and complained "D'Souza spins out the conspiracy theory" of America in dramatic economic and geopolitical collapse by 2016. The screen read "Conspirator-in-Chief."

NPR weekend anchor Guy Raz took a few rhetorical swings at D'Souza in a September 1 interview. "Dinesh D'Souza, if you wanted to criticize or attack President Obama, why bend the truth? Why not just offer a policy critique rather than conjecture, and in many cases in this film, conspiracy?"

But what dominated Al Gore's documentary if not a gloomy conjecture about the destruction of the planet through global warming? Wasn't Gore a "Conspirator-in-Chief" that some people deny the "truth" of impending planetary doom for nefarious political ends? Gore's film ridiculously claimed a 20-foot rise in sea level that would flood Manhattan.

The media weren't negative about that conjecture. ABC's story on Gore's movie was summed up with the words "The Comeback Kid? Al Gore Takes On The World."

Reporter Claire Shipman hailed "Gore's personal journey toward environmental evangelism." On NPR, anchor Robert Siegel hailed the film's success, and began with a "quibble" and moved on: "Our science correspondent had only a couple of quibbles on claims about the melting snows of Kilimanjaro or the increasing power of hurricanes." Gore quickly shot that down as unworthy. And The Washington Post reviewer (Desson Thomson) raved: "We're pressure-cooking the planet to death -- and Al Gore has the flow charts to prove it. We know what you're thinking, but as this surprisingly absorbing film shows, Gore's lectures are anything but dull."

D'Souza's movie was comparable to an over-the-top horror movie. Al Gore has proven we're all about to bake and/or drown, and all that can be said about that spooky spectacle is it is "surprisingly absorbing." Their arrogance knows no bounds.

Poverty, the New American Nobility

The summer's political conventions celebrated hardship. Ann Romney's grandfather worked in coal mines. Michelle Obama's disabled dad managed a pump. Speakers turned the art of name-dropping upside down, engaging in one-upmanship for the just-plain-folks. Workers are nobility; rich people are suspect, especially if they didn't clean toilets before striking gold.

Yet, it is success and good fortune that drive economies forward and result in homes, jobs and food on the table.

Millions camped out to buy the new iPhone 5 this past weekend. Not because the late Steve Jobs used to cash in soda bottles to buy food. It's because Jobs enriched us. Hard-working and creative Apple millionaires, carrying on the Jobs legacy, built the new iPhone to improve our lives. By creating wealth, they generated work and will further spread their wealth with investments, donations and purchases of food, shelter, clothing and entertainment. Let's hope the offspring of an Apple engineer speaks to a future political convention and proudly confesses something like this: "My mother designed state-of-the-art products that helped fellow Americans. This made our family rich."

The iPhone waiting lines should remind us of the late Michael Jackson's album releases. His hard work, talents and creativity improved lives. Jackson was rich because he created and spread wealth.

As some on the left ridiculed the Romneys for too many Cadillacs, the couple donated nearly 30 percent of their 2011 income to charity. Reuters reports that Ann and Mitt Romney declined full write-offs for donations, which means they chose a higher tax rate for themselves in order to spend more on government. Over a 20-year period, the Romneys have spent nearly 40 percent of their income on charity and taxes. Yet, the irrational political climate forces them to boast of struggles more than prosperity.

Few successful Americans bury their cash out back. They spread the wealth when they create, invest, consume and donate. So, it was of little surprise to learn that a multi-billion-dollar corporation -- Home Depot -- amassed about 400 company volunteers from around the country to help build houses for military veterans in Colorado Springs. Gazette Side Streets columnist Bill Vogrin explained how Home Depot volunteers will team with Christian ministry Habitat for Humanity to build three foundations, frame the walls for three other houses and erect 1,000 feet of fence and 20 sheds on a vacant lot in Fountain. Shovel ready.

Home Depot spent $30 million in just 18 months on homes for veterans and plans to devote at least $50 million more. The company employs about 35,000 veterans.

Success is the only source of revenue for government entitlements that politicians distribute as manna. It is the only source of revenue for jobs. If your parents mopped floors in a store, take pride. Celebrate no less if they owned the store and employed everyone in it.

Bill O'Reilly: Caught in the net

BILL O'REILLY
 Columnist

When I was a kid back in the Paleolithic Age, we used to play sandlot football after school. My group of thug friends chose sides, and the mayhem began. We played tackle without equipment, accompanied by bloody noses, bruised knees and bumps on the head. It was a blast.

If you do that today, the law firm of Greed, Deceit and Extortion will be on the sidelines eagerly waiting to sue the municipal locale, the property owner and the parents. So after school these days, many playing fields are largely unused, the children kept safely away from any dose of reality. And where are the urchins parked? In front of the computer, that's where.

It's all so easy. No sweating, no losing, no angst. Just clicking. Presto! There's your fantasy world. Why face uncertainty outside when you can idle away your time in the climate-controlled electronic world of your choosing?

The world's growing addiction to high tech is doing two pernicious things: sapping ambition and fostering escapism. When I suggest to my children that we explore a nature trail, they look as if I am ordering them to a gulag. A nature trail? Why? It's dirty, and there are bugs. I can look at nature on my PC anytime I want.

The escape scenario is even worse. Surveys show that for the first time ever, more Americans turn on the PC than the TV when they come home from work or school. At least on television you can watch a news program. On the Internet, there are headlines, but most of the reportage is shallow and slanted. When The Huffington Post becomes your primary newsagent, you're in trouble.

I submit that's why President Obama is running ahead of Mitt Romney right now. Many voters simply have no idea what's going on. In this brutal economy, Obama should be running way behind. But he's not. His mixture of charisma and confidence is keeping him competitive because many voters don't know a deficit from a donut. They do know, however, how to play an Xbox.

You can tie many of the nation's problems into the tech age. Obesity is certainly driven by sitting around looking at various screens. Your fingers may be in great shape, but your butt is threatening to visit your ankles.

And how about speaking the language? LOL! R U kidding me? OMG! If you don't know what those letters mean, say a prayer of thanks. Many Americans today have trouble putting two grammatically correct sentences together, and that's not a laughing matter.

It's safe to say we are living in a rapidly changing world where a few folks will rule and many others will sit passively by not even watching as crucial events unfold. There's simply too much going on in "Techland," where achievement and face-to-face human interaction don't really matter.

OMG, indeed. Veteran TV news anchor Bill O'Reilly is host of the Fox News show "The O'Reilly Factor" and author of the book "Pinheads and Patriots: Where You Stand in the Age of Obama." Performance—

PRESENTED BY PAMPA COMMUNITY CONCERT ASSOCIATION

Where: M K Brown Auditorium

When: Thursday, October 11, 2012

Time: 7:30pm

Season tickets are $40 that include five Pampa shows, four Borger shows and five Plainview shows.

Single tickets at the door are $20

Corporate memberships are available, contact 665-9432 for information.

Why is Pampa Community Concert Association important to Pampa?

Since 1944 PCCA has provided a series of live professional concerts, everything from world renowned classical pianists, to a Beatles tribute, Country music stars, Jazz bands, and more!

Each year we provide free Outreach programs to the PISD system for the students to have an opportunity to interact with professional entertainers, and students have even performed with the artists for the evening performance. PCCA is a positive addition to our “cultural” credentials when personnel and businesses are considering relocating to Pampa.

We provide free admission to various groups, including the Pampa Sheltered Workshop for special needs clients and the Salvation Army.

M K Brown Auditorium is valued asset to Pampa and it is important to have the community utilize this asset.

The first concert was Sunday, September 23, 2012 with Daniel Rodriguez, a wonderful tenor that gave a fabulous performance with a jazz trio. You may recognize him as the “the singing policeman”—from NY that sang during 911. Had communications error, and didn’t get info to the paper for the performance. (Our error, not yours)

The Next concert in Pampa is January 24, 2013.

Freshmen roll over the Childress Bobcats, 28-0

GAYDEN HAYS
ghays@thepampanews.com

The Pampa Harvester Freshmen completely dominated the Childress Bobcats in a 28-0, Thursday, win at Harvester Field.

The defense causing turnovers and outstanding tackling held the Bobcats without a score, leading the defensive charge were Francisco Salazar, Tyler Beller, and Cameron Beesley.

On the offensive side of the ball quarterback Sergio Santos threw two touchdowns, the first to Joseph Radke and second to Colton Thompson. Santos also helped the harvesters with a 15 yard scramble for a touchdown in the first half.

Also adding to the Harvester scoring was Erik Vizcaino, scoring on a quarterback sneak right before half time and with an extra point by Santos the score at half stood at 20-0.

The Harvesters added another touchdown in the second half to beat the Bobcats 28-0.

The Freshmen will play next Thursday at 5:00 p.m. against Canadian, in another away game.

Harvester JV moves to 4-1 beating Vernon

Harvester JV steamrolls the Vernon Lions

GAYDEN HAYS
ghays@thepampanews.com

The Harvester Junior Varsity team rolled over the Vernon 28 -20 despite a late comeback by the Lions.

The opening kickoff was taken by Pampa, and after long runs by Kody Maddox and Adrian "Noodle" Elam, the Harvesters were forced to punt.

Vernon runs a "Split -T" offense that keys on running the ball first and then passing second, very different from any offense the Harvesters have seen all year.

Despite this new look, the Pampa defense rose to the occasion all night. Max Lopez, Zach Stephenson, Jeremiah Bivins, and Elam harassed the Lions' offense consistently by rushing the quarterback and making hard tackles.

The offense, led by Tyler Hooper, pushed the ball up and down the field consistently all night. Hooper scored once for the Harvesters on a second Half quarterback sneak.

Offensively, Maddox with return yardage, rushing, and passes caught had over 150 all-purpose yards.

However, leading all players on both sides of the field was Elam, with 285 yards of rushing and three touchdowns.

This victory has the harvester Junior Varsity with an impressive 4-1 record, with their only loss a blown call by the officials in Iowa Park.

Next opponent for the Harvester JV will be Canadian next Thursday in Canadian at 7 p.m., following the Freshman team, which plays at 5 p.m.

Awww ... Pink OUT!! Le Pink! Ze Chic!

FROM STAFF REPORTS

PAMPA — Both the Pampa High School student council and cheerleaders are expressing tremendous excitement about this year's approach to "Pink Out" t-shirt sale.

The council has already started selling the pink t-shirts and will continue through Oct. 10. The cost is $15 and the shirts are — of course — pink. The group is embracing a popular slogan for this year's campaign, "Keep Calm and Carry On." Student Council chose this slogan for this year's theme with a slight change, "Keep Calm and FIGHT On," and this will be a message displayed on the fantastic Pink Out shirts, according to a news release from the school.

Anyone who would like to order a shirt, please contact Pampa High School @ 669-4800, ext. 1128. The "Pink Out" community pep rally is set for Thursday, October 11 at 7 p.m. in McNeely Gym. There will be free hamburgers from 5:30 p.m. to 7 p.m. in the commons before the pep rally and will be sponsored by Carter Sand & Gravel.

The "Pink Out" game will be Friday, October 12. Student Council, along with Pampa Regional Medical Center will have lots of free "pink" giveaways, so everyone is urged to make plans now to attend the activities.

'TWEEN 12 & 20

DR. ROBERT WALLACE
Columnist

Take Pictures of the Bride's Dress

DR. WALLACE: My husband and I are both 21. We have been married for more than a year. I love him with all of my being. He is the greatest gift I could ever have. Yesterday, I opened my newspaper and in the family section was a picture of my ex-boyfriend and his fiancée.

My girlfriend called me and asked if I saw Bill's wedding announcement in the newspaper. I said I did. She then said that in today's mail she received a wedding invitation with a note saying that she should tell me that I was also invited.

I like Bill as a person, but I don't see why I would attend his wedding. I didn't invite him to mine. My girlfriend is pressuring me to go with her to the ceremony. What do I say? I'd like to see the bride's dress, but that is the only interest I have in this event. - Katie, Orlando, Fla.

KATIE: If Bill and his bride-to-be had wanted you to attend the wedding, an invitation should have been sent to you and your husband, not a note to a friend telling her to invite you.

There is no way that you should be considering going to the wedding. Tell your friend to take some pictures of the bride so you can see what her dress looked like. Don't allow "peer pressure" to cloud your decision. Even if a wedding invitation had been sent to your husband and you, you were not obligated to attend the wedding.

Include Boyfriend in Family Gathering

DR. WALLACE: Our daughter is 16 and has her first "serious" boyfriend. We have met him several times. He seems like an OK kid, but my husband and I wonder what she sees in him. If I could give him a letter grade, he would be a C+. That's not bad, but I would feel much better if the boy she is dating would be at least a B or an A-

We have several family functions coming up in the coming two months and our daughter wants to bring him with us. My husband and I are not sure this would be proper. One function is our 25th wedding anniversary where many friends and family will be in attendance. The next affair will be our son's wedding. How should we handle this situation? -- Mom, New York, N.Y.

MOM: The better you get to know this boy, the sooner you will be able to give him the proper letter grade evaluation. You must make an extra effort to include the boyfriend in family gatherings. He presently plays an important role in your daughter's life. Let's hope your daughter doesn't have the opportunity to read this column today.

Our Trip to Big Bear was Wonderful

DR. WALLACE: Last week my friend was given a car for her 18th birthday. Yesterday she called me and wanted to go for a ride in her birthday present, so we drove up to Big Bear for lunch and then drove back to Newport Beach.

The only problem was that we are both in the 12th grade at Newport Beach High School, and the school called my mom on Friday and asked why I wasn't in school.

My mom said she thought that I was in school, so when I got home, I was in big trouble.

My mom really got upset and grounded me till the holiday break, which is about two months away.

I'll admit that I shouldn't have skipped school (it was my first time) but being grounded for two months is, in my opinion, a bit too harsh. Your help will be appreciated.

P.S.: Our trip to Big Bear was a wonderful experience. -- Nameless, Newport Beach, Calif.

NAMELESS: Skipping school is a serious "mistake." Many parents, who believed their daughter to be at school, have received a phone call from the police informing them there has been an auto accident or other crime.

You deserved a stiff discipline, but in my opinion, two weeks of restriction should be adequate as long as you promise to never skip school again -- and you keep your promise. A Saturday visit to Big Bear would have given you the same wonderful experience, without being disciplined.

To End Loneliness, be a Joiner

TEENS: Who is lonely? Elderly widows? Divorcees living alone? Bachelors? Some of them, yes. But surprisingly, the loneliest group of all is you -- the teenagers.

Researchers at the University of Nebraska found that high school students are the most troubled by loneliness, with college students next in line. Does this make sense? Can a young, active girl with a family and friends really be lonelier than a retiree living alone?!

Young people, who tend to be idealistic, often want and expect to have many deep, lasting relationships. When things don't turn out quite as they had hoped, the gap between desire and reality makes them feel let down and empty.

Older people, with a lifetime of experience, are more realistic. They know that "perfect" relationships are rare. Since they have different expectations, they aren't dissatisfied as often as teens are.

What often makes things worse for a lonely teen is the fear that "I'm the only one who feels this way." To be lonely is frightening enough, but to look around and find that everyone else appears to be happy and satisfied is depressing.

A sure way to end the loneliness is to be a "joiner." Clubs, teams and other school, church and community activities will put an end to "poor me" and create a happy, active teen. So don't be lonely, join in an activity and meet others with similar interests.

40 Days of Prayer for our Nation!

Central Baptist Church invites you to join in "40 Days of Prayer for our Nation!"

Our nation was founded upon God and His Word and He remains our foundation.

It is time for God's people to pray and surrender to His Lordship over our lives and our nation.

Many significant events in scripture were based on the number 40 and our coming election is significant in turning our nation back to God.

Beginning Friday, September 28, and continuing through November 6, Central's sanctuary will be open from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. for anyone who would like to pray for our nation.

You may come by before work, on your lunch break, or any other time during the day.

"If My people who are called by My name will humble themselves, and pray and seek My face, and turn from their wicked ways, then I will hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin and heal their land."

HAPPY BIRTHDAY for Monday, Oct. 1, 2012:

This year you often will consider your relationships and continually evaluate how much to give. In disagreements, consider that both of you might be right. Sometimes you are very hard on yourself. Release that quality. If you are single, dating will be your favorite game. Do not feel pressure to commit. If you are attached, you will find that you can bring both of you closer together or create more distance between you — the call is yours. TAURUS is a peaceful soul, like you.

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have: 5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
 ★★★ You alternate between optimism and a trancelike state. Some of you might feel beaten down or confused. This ambivalence will even out, given time. Honor your feelings, and understand that they are real when they occur. Tonight: Consider a budget revision.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
 ★★★★★ You could have many ideas, yet isolating the correct path might be more important than you realize. Know that you need to listen to your instincts. You will find the answer quickly and will act accordingly. Unless a project is practical, nix it. Tonight: Your beaming smile draws in many people.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
 ★★★★★ Where you are is where you want to be, for now. Surround yourself with friends and/or associates who offer different perspectives. A meeting could be more important than you realize. You might be worrying a little too much about the outcome of a situation. Tonight: Take some much-needed personal time.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
 ★★★★★ Accept your role as nurturer and leader. You might feel undermined in a creative venture or by a loved one. Mixed messages could be at the core of the problem. Wait until later today or even tomorrow before exploring the issue at hand. Tonight: Find your friends.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
 ★★★★★ Your broad perspective is needed. First, make sure you are not reacting to a personal attack. You could be concerned that miscommunication could throw plans up in the air. Do what you need in order to detach from the situation. Your actions will change the game. Tonight: Burn the candle at both ends.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
 ★★★★★ You tend to interact rather intensely with others. Discussions revolve around a partnership as well as a separate issue involving travel and possibly education. This period favors brainstorming over taking action. Trust your judgment. Tonight: Go for some lightness and good music.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)
 ★★★★★ You might decide to start counting how many complicated people are in your life. Dealing with these individuals is a handful, and you will encounter some of them today. These interactions might have you feeling off-kilter. Honor your feelings, and use your intellect in order to respond effectively. Tonight: A close conversation.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)
 ★★★★★ Recognize your own bias when dealing with someone you generally look up to. You might have mixed feelings, presently. Separate your energy from the immediate issue at hand. Fundamentally, you are not speaking the same language, and this creates a misunderstanding. Tonight: Try dinner and a talk.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)
 ★★★★★ Tap into your creativity rather than absorb someone's negativity and/or fear. You know what the possibilities are, and you'll start to see even more. Dare to make a dream a reality, especially if it involves a domestic issue. Your imagination flows through nearly everything you touch. Tonight: Add in a little friendly warmth.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
 ★★★★★ You might want to understand what a family member expects from you. Real estate and domestic matters could weave together. You might be under more pressure than you realize to maintain a strong presence and deal with a situation at home. Tap into your vision of what you want to happen. Tonight: Let your hair down.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)
 ★★★★★ You express yourself with clarity when addressing a misunderstanding or a difference in viewpoints with an important person in your daily life. Good feelings will prevail between you and a loved one. You consider this person to be part of your family, even if he or she is not. Tonight: Hunker down at your pad.

Dear Abby...

By Pauline & Jeanne Phillips

DEAR ABBY: My boyfriend of one year has told me he needs to focus on getting his life together -- getting a better job, concentrating on his career and finding himself. At this point in his life, he knows he can't provide for me and give me what I want, which is to settle down in a few years.

He said he is unsure when he will have his life together and he doesn't want me to wait for him. He feels he needs to be "selfish" now and focus only on himself. We have talked about breaking up, and while he has faith that we will be together again, I can't bring myself to end things with this amazing man. -- AFRAID TO LET GO

DEAR AFRAID: When a man says he wants to focus only on himself and he doesn't want you to wait for him, what he is really saying is, "It's over." While the prospect of moving on after having invested a year in the relationship may be anxiety-provoking, at this point, you really have no choice. And don't expect to "be together again" anytime soon because his road to self-discovery could take a long, long time if it happens at all. Please accept my sympathy for your heartache.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 13-year-old boy. My dad and I have a disagreement. I have been throwing away the lunches my mom packs for school because I don't like them and buying school lunches. I realize this was ungrateful and dishonest, and I regret doing it.

As a punishment, Dad won't let me go to one of my best friends' birthday party. I'm fine with being punished, but I think this punishment is unfair to my friend because he doesn't get to have me at his party. Instead, I think it would be better to be grounded or made to do extra chores. Who's right? -- NORMAL TEEN IN ORINDA, CALIF.

DEAR TEEN: You are a born negotiator. Instead of taking your punishment, you're trying for a plea bargain. I wouldn't be surprised if in the future you become a successful lawyer.

However, regarding your question -- I'm not getting in the middle of this one. And I'm pretty sure that this is a punishment you won't soon forget. Bon appetit!

DEAR ABBY: My aunt has been diagnosed with a progressive form of dementia and has had to be permanently hospitalized. She is no longer able to perform basic life functions and also has violent outbursts. Her prognosis is not good, and she'll likely die within a year.

I'm engaged and getting ready to send out invitations to my wedding. However, I'm unsure how to address the invitation to my uncle.

My aunt will almost certainly be alive at the time of my wedding, but there is no possible way she can attend. It seems wrong to ignore her existence and address the invitation only to "Mr. John Smith." But it feels equally wrong to address it to "Mr. and Mrs. John Smith," knowing she cannot attend. Your advice would be greatly appreciated. -- POLITE BRIDE-TO-BE IN CONNECTICUT

DEAR POLITE BRIDE-TO-BE: Address the invitation to both your aunt and uncle, but when you do, include a sweet note saying you understand that she won't be able to attend, but hope that he will be able to join you on your special day. I'm sure it will be appreciated.
