GRACE UNDER PRESSURE

Keeping the public safe

Public Safety Telecommunicators Week is April 14-20.

BY ZACHARY GREEN
 zgreen@thepampanews.com

They answer the phone when you dial 911. They remain calm and professional no matter how agitated the caller may be. Though they don't respond to the emergency scenes like police officers and firefighters, they do save lives and their jobs are very stressful. And, unfortunately, their hard work and dedication to the public's safety often goes unnoticed.

To honor these heroes working behind the scenes with their phones and computers, Gov. Rick Perry has proclaimed the week of April 14-20 as Public Safety Telecommunicators Week.

The week of recognition is celebrated nationwide. It was first conceived by Patricia Anderson of the Contra Costa County Sheriff's Office in California in 1981 and was observed only at that agency for three years.

The official name of the week when originally introduced in Congress in 1991 was "National Public Safety Telecommunicators Week." In subsequent years, it has become known by several other names, including "National Public-Safety Telecommunications Week" and "International Public Safety Telecommunicator's Week."

The Pampa News wants to recognize these hard-working people in our city as a kickoff to the week.

Gray County Sheriff's Office
 Lt. Terry Cox with the Gray County Sheriff's Office said that GCSO has one part-time and four full-time dispatchers. He added that GCSO dispatchers handle calls for GCSO, the Texas Department of Public Safety, the Hoover, McLean and Lefors volunteer fire departments and the Lefors ambulance service.

"The Pampa Police Department is the central dispatch for the city and they handle all 911 calls. Sometimes a call is transferred to us if it is outside of Pampa city limits," Cox said.

Trevathan pleads guilty

Former loan officer faces up to 30 years in prison for defrauding employer of nearly $423k.

BY TIMOTHY P. HOWSARE
 thowsare@thepampanews.com

Erin Dawn Trevathan, a Pampa resident who was indicted Feb. 13 by a federal grand jury on one count of bank fraud, pled guilty to that charge during a plea hearing Friday morning at the U.S. District Court in Amarillo.

Erin Dawn Trevathan

Trevathan admitted that she made false entries and loan manipulations while she was employed for two years at Pampa Teachers Federal Credit Union as a loan officer, defrauding the bank of nearly $423,000.

Trevathan faces up to 30 years in prison, a $1 million fine, five years supervised probation after her prison release and will be required to pay restitution to the victim, said Christy Drake, the assistant U.S. Attorney who prosecuted the case.

Drake said Trevathan's sentence will be determined during a sentencing hearing in a couple months. Drake would not comment on the case and Trevathan's defense attorney, Adam PLEA cont. on page 3

County Commission meets Monday

BY SASHA HELLER
 sheller@thepampanews.com

The Gray County Commissioners Court will meet at 9 a.m., Monday at the Gray County Courthouse to consider appointing a new director of the White Deer Land Museum.

The Commission in January began advertising for the museum director position after former Director Anne Davidson passed away. Assistant Kay Lard had filled Davidson's position on an interim basis.

The commissioners will also consider road crossing requests at Boydston and Courts roads. They will also discuss utilizing funds set aside in the McLean ambulance budget for Lefors' ambulance service.

The Commission will hear a presentation on Gray County district attorney Franklin McDonough's 2013 forfeiture budget; the commissioners will also consider supplemental salaries for McDonough's staff.

Other agenda items include consideration of the county's depository contract with Happy State Bank, its COBRA health care plan for 2013 and acceptance of payment for a road base material sale in precinct 2.

The Gray County Courthouse is located at 205 N. Russell St.

Wheat freeze damage topic of ag extension clinic

BY TIMOTHY P. HOWSARE
 thowsare@thepampanews.com

Growing concerns about the wheat crop and the effects of the freezing temperatures this past week will be addressed at a wheat clinic at 8 a.m. on Thursday at the Gray County Annex.

Calvin Trostley, A&M AgriLife extension agronomist, will be at the clinic to discuss soil fertility and the effects of freeze damage on wheat.

Brandon McGinty, Gray County A&M AgriLife extension agent, said anyone who wants their wheat samples examined should bring them to this meeting. Wheat samples will be dissected to determine freeze damage.

He said attendees also should bring information on the fertility of their soil.

Though below-freezing temperatures can damage wheat, McGinty said the more significant cause of wheat damage is how long it stays cold.

For attendees whose questions cannot be answered during the clinic, samples will be sent to the lab for results.

Trostley and McGinty will be focusing on freeze injury, but if you have any wheat-disease issues McGinty will also take those samples during the clinic to send for testing.

There is no cost for this clinic or the testing of samples. For more information, call McGinty at 806-669-8033.

Dispatchers

Kristi Stokes, has been a GCSO dispatcher for about a year and a half. Stokes works 40 hours a week in staggered shifts.

She said her week is comprised of two evening, one day and two night shifts. The day shifts are from 7 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The night shifts are from 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. and the evening shifts are from 3 to 11 p.m. There is only one dispatcher on duty at GCSO on any shift.

Stokes said there is a considerable amount of training to become a dispatcher.

There is TCIC and NCIC training, which is the Texas and National Crime Information centers. Other training comes from CJIS, or the Criminal Justice Information Center.

Stokes said the latter is the same training taken by the FBI. She also said that she has to re-certify every two years.

Stokes provided some details about her daily duties:

"It can be a stressful job. You have to listen to so many things at once. Your main goal is to make sure people are safe.

"You have to remain calm, even if the person on the other end of the line is panicking. You talk calmly to them and try to settle them down as well."

Stokes added that GCSO receives more than 100 calls per day — sometimes that many in a single shift — depending on the day.

What does Stokes like most about her job?

"I like being able to help people. It is very fulfilling to know that you have helped someone. The most important thing is to listen to those that have been here the longest. They have taught me how to remain calm. It's an every day learning process."

Cox said this of the GCSO dispatchers: "They are the first point of contact. They handle situations, answer calls, run the radio contact, run records and warrant checks and handle visitation requests.

"They also keep us safe by checking on us during traffic stops or calls. They are multi-faceted. It is more than just picking up the phone, it's a stressful job."

Pampa Police Department

Officer Stormy McCullar said that PPD has a lot of good dispatchers. "We at PPD are grateful for them," said McCullar, who serves as public information officer. "They are our lifeline while we are out on the streets. It takes a calm and patient person to handle the job."

A lot is going on at once. They are great multitaskers. It takes a special personality to handle this job. They are a great asset to the police department."

Debbie McDonald is dispatch supervisor with PPD and works as a dispatcher herself.

McDonald said her staff handles calls for PPD, Pampa EMS, Pampa Fire Department, Animal Control, City of Pampa emergency channels, Lefors Fire Department and EMS. "Sometimes we get calls from people on I-40 and we have to transfer those to GCSO to handle," McDonald said.

She added that PPD has eight dispatchers who are all full-time employees. The shifts are staggered with day, night and evening shifts much like GCSO. The day shift is from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. The night shift is from 9 p.m. to 7 a.m. and the day evening shift is from 4 p.m. to 2 a.m.

McDonald added that there are usually two dispatchers per shift, but due to the staggered nature of shifts, there may only be one dispatcher on duty for a few hours.

McDonald has worked as a dispatcher with PPD for 11 years.

She said that PPD dispatchers must go through the same training as the GCSO dispatchers.

"The training is a week long for a first time dispatcher and then you must re-certify every two years," McDonald said. "It is very stressful during a major wreck or a structure fire. For fires, we have to call out the utility companies to shut service off sometimes."

Debbie McDonald - Dispatcher

"The most stressful time is during bad weather. We get a lot of calls on wrecks or to ask what road conditions are like during snow and ice storms."

McDonald said it is also stressful when a caller is panicking. "We try to reassure them that help is on the way. Sometimes it's hard to get them to calm down."

McDonald said PPD receives about 30 service calls per day, but if she were to add up every single call they received that number would be more than 100.

"A nice feature we have is a new intercom button," she said. "This is very helpful because we don't have to pick up the phone to transfer a call to GCSO, we can just hit the button and talk directly to them."

McDonald said she enjoys being a dispatcher because she likes people.

"You have to be a people person for this job. It's always something different. Sometimes you can get 30 calls to report the same thing, but you can't dismiss calls after the first one," McDonald said. "Sometimes calls after the first call we receive can help provide more information that is needed. We have to answer every call."

If you know someone who is a dispatcher, please give him or her a pat on the back, not just next week but anytime you see them, to thank them for their service to our community.

Report: Baseball pays for clinic documents

NEW YORK (AP) — Major League Baseball paid a former employee of a Florida anti-aging clinic linked to performance-enhancing drugs for documents,

The New York Times reported Thursday on its website.

The newspaper reported that two unidentified people briefed on the matter said at least one player linked to now-closed Biogenesis of America purchased documents from a former clinic employee in order to destroy them, and that other players made efforts to buy potentially incriminating documents.

In January, the Miami New Times, an alternative weekly newspaper, reported that New York Yankees slugger Alex Rodriguez was among the big leaguers listed in Biogenesis of America's records.

Plea

Tisdell of Amarillo, was out of town and could not be reached for comment.

The case was investigated by the Dallas FBI.

According to the fact sheet provided by the U.S. Attorney's Office, Trevathan was employed by the Pampa Teachers Federal Credit Union as a loan officer from July 2, 2008 to Dec. 8, 2010. During that time, she was the sole loan officer at the credit union. Her job consisted of processing personal and auto loans.

Irregularities were noticed during an audit and it was discovered that Trevathan was changing due dates on loans on credit union members' accounts. She was also posting checks from customer accounts and then reversing the checks in the credit union's system after they cleared. Additionally, non-existent loans were discovered that had been prepared by Trevathan. The customers had no knowledge of these bogus loans.

Other loans Trevathan prepared were discovered that had no accompanying documentation or signatures on the loans agreements, according to court documents.

Also during the investigation, one credit union member told the investigator that she had given Trevathan cash for her loan payment on a monthly basis and later discovered that Trevathan did not always apply the payment to the loan.

On certain loan approvals, Trevathan forged the name of the manager of the credit union in order for the loan to appear as legitimate. When confronted, Trevathan admitted she had been making the false entries and admitted to stealing cash from the credit union's main account for her personal use.

Bouncin' Around Never give up on cure for Parkinson's

April is Parkinson's Awareness Month. In the United States, 50,000 to 60,000 new cases of Parkinson's disease are diagnosed each year, adding to the one million people who currently have PD. The main symptoms of Parkinson's are resting tremor, slowness of movement, rigidity, and balance problems.

JUDITH SMITH

Young Onset Parkinson's is becoming increasingly more common. A diagnosis of Parkinson's disease is not a "death sentence."

The Michael J. Fox Foundation, among others, has been working diligently to find the causes, to find better treatments, and to focus on a cure. The slogan of the Fox Foundation is "Keep Moving!"

They encourage patients to exercise, walk, swim, water walk, dance, ride bikes (or stationary bikes), sing, or take up (or continue with) art. Ten years ago, when my husband was diagnosed at the age of 65, his initial response was, "I will fight this!"

Deep Brain Stimulation surgery (DBS) two years later was discouraged by Ron's neurologist, but he went on to volunteer as a test subject, and had the surgery done with great success.

When we moved to Texas two years ago, Ron's neurologist recommended LSVT "Big and Loud" therapy, which focuses on learning vocal exercises and physical exercises to compensate for the negative symptoms.

A neurologist needs to prescribe the therapy, but they have found that starting the therapy early in the course of the disease and continuing it brings great results.

There are many days when Ron doesn't feel like doing the exercises, but he does them nevertheless, faithfully, and with all the energy he can put into them. He is looking forward to playing golf this summer. His courage in the face of this disease is an inspiration to me and all who know him.

There is a support group here in Pampa for people with Parkinson's. It meets on the second Thursday of each month at 6 p.m. at Accolade Homecare, 1224 N. Hobart St. (Contact Lindsey Been at 806-665-9700 for more information.)

If you have been diagnosed with Parkinson's, or are a relative or caregiver, we encourage you to visit this group.

Find an online support group for patients and caregivers, and get as much information as you can. Sign up to take part in clinical trials or research. Most important, though, is never, ever give up, and keep moving!

I have no sympathy for the devil

As this column has been reporting, there is a growing movement in America to "reform" the nation's tough laws against drug dealing.

BILL O'REILLY

The pressure is coming primarily from liberal and libertarian groups to another person. Not everyone who uses hard drugs becomes addicted, but millions do.

There is a reason certain substances are categorized as "dangerous drugs."

But to hear the pro-drug people tell it, the pushers are victims because some of them are drug addicted themselves.

I guess when you become an addict you get a get-out-of-jail-free card.

Don't blame drug users for stealing, dealing or mugging. They shouldn't be held accountable for criminal behavior, because they have a disease!

In one of the most absurd things I've seen in a long time, celebrities including Will Smith, Cameron Diaz, Jamie Foxx, Kim Kardashian and Jim Carrey signed a letter to President Obama asking him to "address the increased incarceration rates for nonviolent crimes."

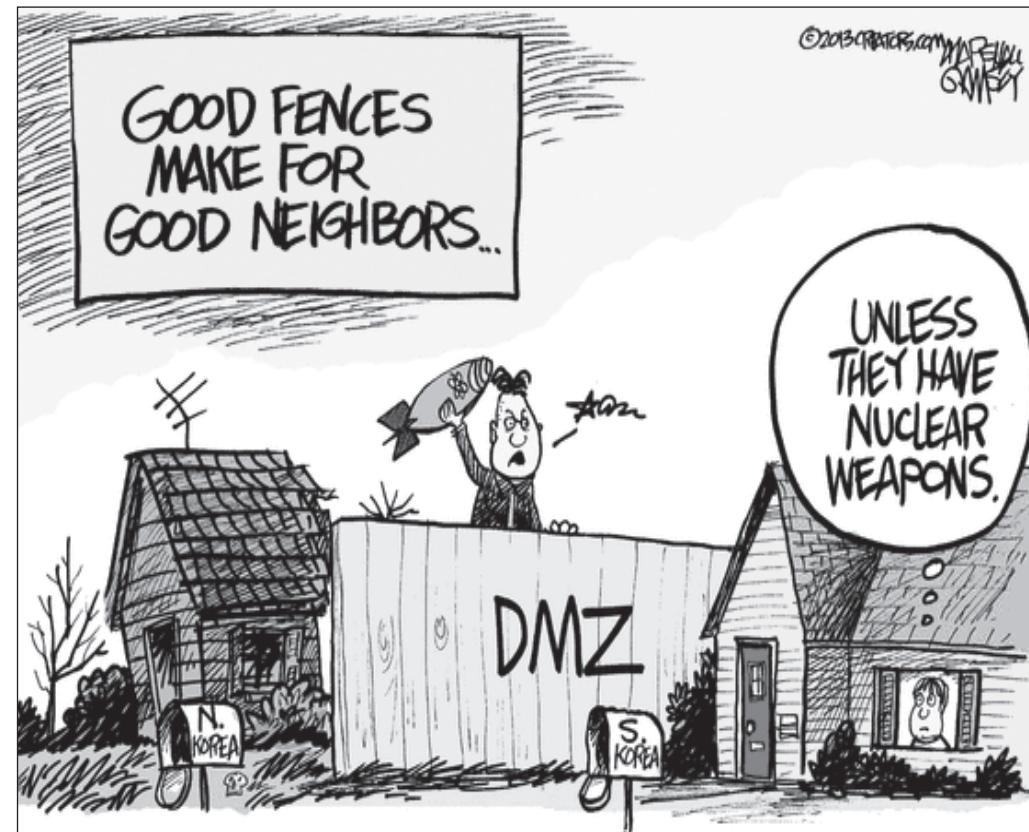

Nonviolent crimes? Are you kidding me? Ask a parent whose son or daughter is in the cemetery because of an overdose whether drug pushers are committing "nonviolent" crimes.

Since the U.S. began sentencing drug dealers to major prison time (circa 1979), the country's violent crime rate has fallen more than 32 percent.

Once vicious crack cocaine traffickers began being sentenced to decades in the slammer, cocaine use dropped 71 percent. But now the Hollywood pinheads and many other Americans want those tough mandatory sentences repealed.

That is sympathy for the devil. But we are living in strange times. Let's hope Kim Kardashian isn't appointed attorney general.

Veteran TV news anchor Bill O'Reilly is host of the Fox News show "The O'Reilly Factor" and author of the book "Pinheads and Patriots: Where You Stand in the Age of Obama."

Five decades of lies help Dems create monolithic black vote

As recently as 1956, nearly 39 percent of blacks voted Republican in that year's presidential election. After the Civil War, Abe Lincoln's Republican Party easily carried the black vote — where blacks were allowed to vote. Unwelcome in the Democratic Party, most blacks voted Republican and continued to do so through the early part of the 20th century. It wasn't until 1948, when 77 percent of the black vote went to Harry Truman, who had desegregated the military, that a majority of blacks identified themselves as Democrats.

LARRY ELDER

Yet, as a percentage of the party, more Republicans voted for the passage of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 than did Democrats. For his key role breaking the Democrats' filibuster and getting the act to pass the stalled Senate, Republican Sen. Everett Dirksen, a conservative from Illinois, landed on the cover of Time magazine. President Lyndon Johnson called Dirksen "the hero of the nation." The Chicago Defender, then the country's largest black daily newspaper, applauded Dirksen's "generalship" for helping to successfully push through the bill.

Older black voters sometimes explain they're opposed to Republicans because of the "racist" Southern strategy.

But Richard Nixon speechwriter Pat Buchanan, credited with inventing the "Southern strategy," considered the Democratic Party the party of the racists. Buchanan said: "We would build our Republican Party on a foundation of states' rights, human rights, small government and a strong national defense, and leave it to the 'party of [Democratic Georgia Gov. Lester] Maddox, [1966 Democratic challenger against Spiro Agnew for Maryland governor George] Mahoney and [Democratic Alabama Gov. George] Wallace to squeeze the last ounces of political juice out of the rotting fruit of racial injustice."

But before that, another pivotal event occurred that helped the GOP-as-racist meme. In 1960, during the presidential campaign, Martin Luther King Jr. was arrested following a sit-in at a segregated lunch counter in Atlanta. Hundreds of other protesters were released, but King was jailed on a trumped-up probation violation for failing to have a Georgia driver's license.

King's aides reached out to then-Vice President and Republican presidential candidate Richard Nixon. They also reached out to the Democratic nominee, John F. Kennedy. Bobby Kennedy called the Atlanta judge handling the case. Shortly after that call, the judge released King. Nixon, according to Harry Belafonte, a King supporter, "did nothing." Is that true?

Nixon, it turns out, had a much closer relationship with King than did Kennedy. In the Nixon Presidential Library in Yorba Linda, Calif., records show considerable handwritten notes and correspondence between Nixon and King. This includes a 1957 letter from King acknowledging their previous meetings, which thanked Nixon for his "assiduous labor and dauntless courage in seeking to make the Civil Rights Bill a reality," and praised him for his "devotion to the highest mandates of the moral law."

But in 1960, on the eve of the election, Nixon was in a tough spot. Nixon's public silence might be misconstrued as acceptance of King's arrest. On the other hand, as a candidate for his boss's job, Nixon worried about the political costs of appearing ungrateful if he chastised President Dwight Eisenhower for not taking stronger action.

Eisenhower, however, was content to let the Justice Department handle the matter.

According to historian and presidential biographer Stephen Ambrose, while Nixon made no public comments, he telephoned Attorney General William Rogers to find out if King's constitutional rights were being infringed, thus opening the door for federal involvement.

Nixon, a lawyer, was concerned about the ethics of calling a judge to get him to release someone.

Nixon, writes Ambrose, told his press secretary: "I think Dr. King is getting a bum rap. But despite my strong feelings in this respect, it would be completely improper for me or any other lawyer to call the judge. And Robert Kennedy should have known better than to do so." That Bobby Kennedy, also a lawyer, nevertheless made a phone call to the judge did not alter the issue of whether it was appropriate. In retrospect, an easy call, but not at the time.

Keeping blacks ignorant of history remains crucial to this caricature of the Republican Party — and to the monolithic Democratic black vote. Not so black and white, is it?

2nd man arrested in probe of prison chief's death

ASSOCIATED PRESS

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Both of the suspected white supremacist prison gang members whose names surfaced during an investigation into the slaying of Colorado's prisons chief are now behind bars. Colorado Springs authorities arrested Thomas Guolee, 31, around 5:30 p.m. Thursday in Colorado Springs, according to El Paso County sheriff's officials. They didn't immediately release circumstances or details of his arrest. He was being held without bond for a parole violation, sheriff's officials said.

The arrest came nearly a week after another alleged member of the 211 Crew, James Lohr, in Colorado Springs after a short chase. Lohr, 47, is now being held on charges including vehicular eluding. His bond has been set at $250,000.

Investigators say the two aren't suspects in the shooting death of Colorado Department of Corrections head Tom Clements, but their names came up during the investigation. Authorities last week told law-enforcement officers to look out for both men, who had outstanding warrants unrelated to Clements' death.

Court records show Guolee was arrested in 2001 after a member of the Crips gang told Colorado Springs police he was jumped by Guolee and another gang member because they believed he was a member of a rival gang. The witness told police Guolee and the other gang member punched and kicked him in the face and left him bleeding.

In 2007, Guolee was charged with assault and intimidating a witness while in the El Paso County jail after an inmate said he was assaulted by three men, including Guolee, because they thought he was going to testify against a suspect in another case. Authorities said the man was beaten so badly he could have been permanently disfigured.

The outcome of some of those cases was unclear. Authorities also have not released the subject of Guolee's warrant.

Guolee's mother, Debbie Eck, has said that her son called her husband last month — before he was named a person of interest — asking for help turning himself in for what she believed was a parole violation. But she said they never heard back from him.

She told KUSA-TV that she's relieved now that he's in custody.

"Thank God. It was way overdue. I just want him to get things taken care of so he can be part of his daughter's life. My heart's been hurting," she said.

Parolee Evan Ebel is the only suspect that has been named in the killing of Clements, who was shot when he answered his front door March 19, and of Nathan Leon, a father of three who was shot March 17 while working as a pizza deliveryman. Ebel was later killed in a shootout with Texas authorities.

The gun he used to fire at authorities there is the same one used to kill Clements.

A pizza uniform and pizza carrier were also found in Ebel's car. Investigators are trying to determine whether Leon was killed for his uniform with the intent of persuading Clements to open his front door.

Authorities haven't specified how Guolee and Lohr came up in the investigation into Clements' death, but they believe Lohr was in contact with Ebel days before the killings. Prison records say that Ebel was a 211 member and the El Paso County Sheriff's Office say both Guolee and Lohr are members.

GA school indicted in prostitution scheme

DULUTH, Ga. (AP) — Metro Atlanta English language school administrators have been indicted on charges of issuing fraudulent immigration documents to women who worked as prostitutes, authorities said. College Prep Academy CEO Dong Seok Yi, 52, conspired with the school's academic coordinator, Sook An Kil, 41, to obtain fraudulent documents for women they claimed were students, said U.S. Attorney's office spokesman Bob Page.

The women were working as prostitutes in Korean bars, Page said, and as many as half of the school's approximately 100 students were living in the country on fraudulent student visas.

Yi filed an application with the U.S. Department of Homeland Security and was granted approval for the school to enroll foreign-born students and issue I-20 forms — which allow foreign students to live in America.

The school's academic director, Chang Seon Song, 51, referred the women to Sang Houn Kim, 53, of Diamond Bar, Calif., who is accused of manufacturing fake documents the women used to support their applications for student visas, Page said. Kim charged the women thousands for the fraudulent documents, Page said.

"From manufacturing false documents, to charging thousands of dollars in tuition payments to maintain the immigrants on their rolls, the defendants are charged with subverting the purpose of the student VISA program for profit," U.S. Attorney Sally Quillian Yates said in a statement.

The co-conspirators were indicted by a grand jury March 5 and federal agents Thursday executed a search warrant at the school.

A bank account associated with the school was seized by federal authorities.

The indictment charges them with conspiracy and making false statements. It is unclear if they have attorneys and a call to the school was not answered.

Officials have consulted with the U.S. Department of State-Consular Affairs Section to assist the school's remaining students.

They'll have the option of transferring to another accredited school or returning to their home countries, Page said.

Store owner fends off gunmen

CHICAGO (AP) — Bail is set at $750,000 for one of two men facing charges in the shooting of a Chicago shop owner whose resistance with a baseball bat was captured by a security camera.

Fifty-three-year-old Cornell Mack was charged Thursday with attempted murder and armed robbery. Police are searching for the second suspect.

A videotape shows Luis Quizhpe on Tuesday clobbering one of the robbers, who was holding a gun to the owner's brother-in-law.

The gunman fired multiple shots at the owner of the store, hitting him in the leg. But the wound didn't stop Quizhpe's vigorous counterassault. Quizhpe's brother-in-law is also seen fighting off a robber.

Mack is hospitalized with a gunshot to the chest. Cook County Assistant State's Attorney Erin Antonietti says Mack was shot by his accomplice.

Hymnal that dates to 1640 could fetch $30M

NEW YORK (AP) — A tiny hymnal from 1640 believed to be the first book ever printed in what is now the United States is going up for auction, and it could sell for as much as $30 million.

Only 11 copies of the Bay Psalm Book survive in varying degrees of completeness. Members of Boston's Old South Church have authorized the sale of one of its two copies at Sotheby's Nov. 26.

"It's a spectacular book, arguably one of the most important books in this nation's history," said the Rev. Nancy Taylor, senior minister and CEO of the church, which was established in 1669. Samuel Adams was a member and Benjamin Franklin was baptized there.

At one time, the church owned five copies of the 6-by-5-inch hymnal. One is now at the Library of Congress, another at Yale University and a third at Brown University.

Taylor says the church voted to sell one of its two remaining copies — both in "excellent condition" — to increase its grants, ministries and "strengthen our voice in general as a progressive Christian church."

The book was published in Cambridge, Mass., by the Puritan leaders of the Massachusetts Bay Colony. It came just 20 years after the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth.

The hymnal was supposed to be a faithful translation into English of the original Hebrew psalms — puritans believed selected paraphrases would compromise their salvation. The 1,700 copies were printed on a press shipped over from London.

A yellowed title page, adorned with decorative flourishes, reads: "The Whole Booke of Psalmes, Faithfully Translated into English Metre." At the bottom, it says: "Imprinted 1640."

Historians believe an almanac may have come off the press before the Bay Psalm Book. But Mark Dimunation, chief of rare books and special collections at the Library of Congress, says the almanac was more of a pamphlet or a broadsheet rather than a book. No copy of the almanac exists today. He notes that in the Americas, in general, books were printed in what is now Mexico as early as 1539.

The Bay Psalm Book is "an iconic piece. It's the beginning of literature in America," said Dimunation. "American poetry, American spirituality and the printed page all kind of combine and find themselves located in a single volume."

"But there's also something much more modest and humble about this piece, which makes its survival all the most extraordinary," he said, noting that the hymnals were utilitarian books that were subjected to a lot of wear and tear.

The last time a copy came on the auction block in 1947, it sold for a record auction price of $151,000. At the time, it surpassed auction prices for the Gutenberg Bible, Shakespeare's First Folio and John James Audubon's "Birds of America."

HAPPY BIRTHDAY for Monday, April 15, 2013:

This year you often express your views and communicate intellectually; however, there are times when you swing from being logical to being more emotional and conflicted. Do not let co-workers, acquaintances or those you don't deeply trust see these swings. You will change after this year. If you are single, you'll meet someone very important to your life and well-being after June. Enjoy it! If you are attached, the two of you need to plan special mini-trips alone as a couple. CANCER sometimes irritates you to no end.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
★★★★ Before you attempt to change a pattern, know that your efforts might need to be repeated. Plan your activities appropriately. You will be busy communicating with others -- remember to keep it light. Avoid signing any important papers today. Tonight: Happily head home for a chat.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
★★★ Look at your finances. Are they balanced? Study alternatives before making a decision. You usually think there is only one right way, but know that there are many different paths. Involve yourself in work that you are passionate about. Tonight: Catch up on news over the phone.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
★★★★ You have strong feelings, and you communicate them to others. Sometimes you go overboard in making your points. A male friend could be extremely assertive; let go and see what happens. Get a close friend's opinion. Tonight: Spend your money wisely!

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
★★★★ You need some time away from others. Seclude yourself if possible; otherwise, you could find yourself in a difficult situation where your grumpiness will emerge. The power to prevent this outcome from happening is in your hands. Tonight: Whatever knocks your socks off.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
★★★★ You might want to understand more of what is going on behind someone's strong statement. When you hear this person's message, be sure to ask questions in order to find out where the or she is coming from. Be as clear as possible. Tonight: Take a much-needed break.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
★★★★ The possibility of an eye-opening experience appears on the horizon. You might want to jump on this opportunity within the next few days. For some of you, a foreigner will enter your life who shares your vision and goals. Tonight: Catch up on a good friend's news.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)
★★★★ You could be overwhelmed by everything that is happening around you. Do not minimize the importance of a loved one. Open up to new possibilities through discussions on a one-on-one level with a key person. A partner could be grumpy. Tonight: Say "yes" to living.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)
★★★★ Your emotional side dominates right now. What you want will take time, but it will allow you to do certain things differently. Listen to your inner voice. Try to detach from knee-jerk responses. You'll be able to get a better sense of direction as a result. Tonight: Rent a movie.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)
★★★★ You have get-up-and-go. Do not minimize your energy or your creativity. You find answers and solutions out of the blue. Be more in contact with your basic needs, and honor them. You often give up your power. Resist the urge to do so now. Tonight: With a favorite person.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
★★★★ Know what is happening around you. Stop and observe. You understand the position of a very detached person, even if you feel triggered. Articulate your feelings and intellectual view clearly, and others will respond in kind. Tonight: Return calls before you decide.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)
★★★★ Your ingenuity comes out in a discussion, and others understand your opinions. A loved one might choose to test your limits. Be careful with your temper during the next few days, as you could say something you'll regret later. Tonight: Don't overthink a situation.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)
★★★★ A domestic matter dominates right now. You could be feeling off-kilter regarding a problem within your household. Know that you will do whatever it takes to clear up this issue, though the cost might be more than you expect. Center yourself and relax. Tonight: Enjoy the moment.

Educator serves as state president of teachers' organization

SUBMITTED

Nancy Houston, Levelland, has been serving as state president for 2012-13 term for Kappa Kappa Iota, the oldest teachers' organization in the United States.

The organization was formed to promote the advancement of education by providing an effective network for the exchange of education and teaching practices by educators.

The goals are promoted through the meetings by professional programs, philanthropic projects and scholarships.

Her sister, Marsha Coffee of Pampa, is currently serving as President of Gamma Chapter in Pampa.

Beta Chapter in Lubbock, of which Houston is a member, has been recognized in the National Kappa Journal for their participation in National Make a Difference Day when members collected paper products for the Ronald McDonald House.

Other philanthropic projects include donations to the Women's Protective Service, the local food bank, Food 2 Kids and wrapping toys and clothes for the Lubbock State School at Christmas time. During the National Convention each year, Books and Bears are donated for local children's projects. Cell phones are also recycled for the Battered Women's Shelter.

Houston and Coffee's mother, Pat Southerland, was state president in 1984, and National President in 2001.

Daughters of the American Revolution met March 4

SUBMITTED

Regent Mary Cantrell led the DAR ritual. Those attending were Betty White, Nancy Coffee, Mary Cantrell, Shirley Williamson, Omajean Lewis and Donna Burger. Lewis was acting as secretary for Kay Slate. Burger read articles on Constitutional Minutes and a flag fact — such as never allowing the flag to touch the ground or floor. Shirley Williamson read The General's Report Breakthrough and World's Health Day.

Two invitations were received this month — one is to a chapter dinner in Canadian to celebrate the 40th Anniversary of The Comancheria Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. The second invitation is to a 60-year celebration for the honoring of General Levi Casey, Chapter NEDAR, the marking of General

Levi Casey's grave.

He is buried in the Congressional Cemetery, Washington, D.C.. General Levi Casey was born in 1752 and died Feb. 3, 1807. The DAR honors events that have happened in the month of the meeting. An event happening on April 10, 1963 was the deadliest sub disaster in US history. One hundred twenty nine Navy crew members and civilian technicians lost their lives on the USS Thresher. The Oklahoma City bombing was also discussed happening on April 19, 1963. The bombing took 168 lives and injured 680 people. Donna Burger read an "Indian Legend of The Three Sisters," who stood for vegetables, corn, beans and squash. Each sister's vegetable protected and covered each other to grow strong and multiply. The pamphlet was sent by the St. Labre Indian School.

The program was given by Coffee in the absence of Fran Gross. The program told of how George W. Washington signed a confession that could have ruined his career. Lewis was the hostess. Ham and chicken sandwiches with pickled okra, two kinds of chips, coconut cake, candy, tea and coffee were served.

PHS Harvesters halt Wildcat rally in its tracks

zgreen@thepampanews.com

The Pampa Harvester varsity baseball team hosted River Road on Thursday night in hopes to avenge an early district loss to the Wildcats. The game was originally slated for Tuesday, but was rescheduled due to inclement weather.

The Harvesters wasted no time in getting on base as Cade Engle singled to short to lead off the bottom of the first.

Jordan Lemons then continued his tear as he ripped a double into center that plated Engle. Dating back to the Perryton game last Saturday, Lemons is now four for his last four at-bats.

Ethan Hunt singled to center to score Lemons. Pampa led 2-0 after the first inning.

Both teams remained scoreless until the bottom of the third. Ryan Powell single to short to start off the inning. James Thompson followed with a single to the pitcher. Lemons came up and once again smashed a double to left that scored Powell and Thompson. Lemons is now five for his last five at-bats.

Next up was Hunt who walked. Tyler Powell then hit a sacrifice bunt to advance the runners.

Pitcher, Brody Gaines was up next and helped his cause by crushing a single to right that scored Lemons and Hunt. Pampa would now lead 6-0 after three full innings.

River Road would score their lone run in the top of the fifth. Pampa answered that run with two of their own in the bottom of the fifth.

Hunt hit a home run over the left field wall to lead things off. Tyler Powell then doubled to center.

Gaines hit a sacrifice bunt, but was able to reach on the error. Riley Douglas came in to courtesy run for Gaines.

Coach Kaleb Snelgrooves then called for a double steal. The catcher threw to second to try and get Douglas out, and Tyler Powell then ran home from third. Both runners were safe on the successful double steal. Pampa led 8-1 after five.

River Road thought they would try and make things interesting in the top of the seventh by scoring a couple of runs, but Pampa would have none of it as the game would end with the Harvesters on top. The final score was Pampa 8, River Road 3.

“Brody Gaines has pitched very well for us all year. He has a lot of innings with us. He pounds the strike zone and keeps us in ball games. He does a great job,” said Snelgrooves. “The defense played well behind him and our offense put some runs up. I am very pleased with our effort.”

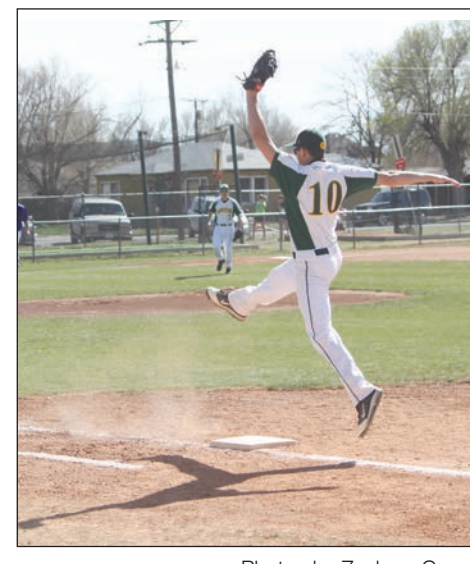

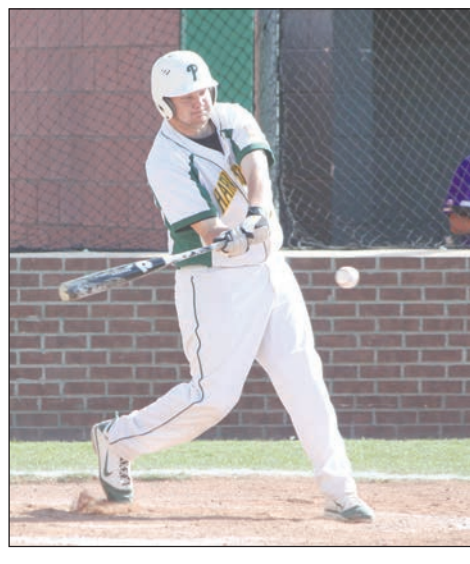

Snelgrooves also said it was a better result than last time the Harvesters played River Road. “We cut out some errors and did some good things. We were able to put runs up early to relax. We played our game today and we were able to come out on top.”

Engle had a single and a run scored. Ryan Powell had a single and a run scored. Thompson was 2-4 with a run scored and a steal. Lemons was 2-4 with three RBIs and two runs scored. Hunt was 2-2 with two walks, two RBIs and two runs scored.

Tyler Powell had a double, a steal and a run scored. Gaines had a single and a run scored. Chris Howard and Douglas had steals in the game.

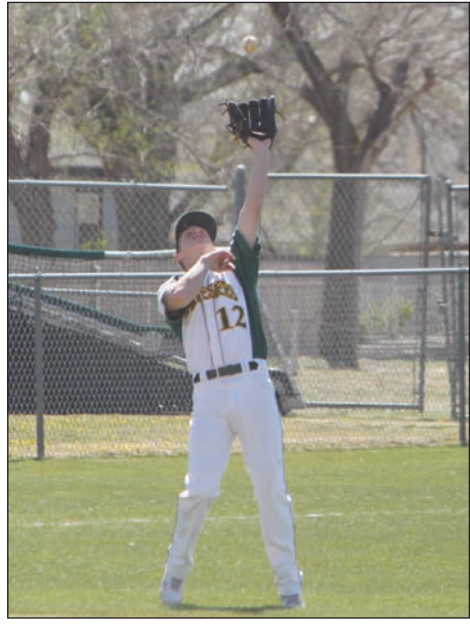

Gaines also pitched six innings and struck out seven batters. He only allowed one run on five hits. Casey Martindale pitched the seventh inning for Pampa.

The Harvesters are now 9-9 overall and 3-2 in district play. They will be back in action at noon, Saturday in Borger for their final road game of the regular season.

Junior varsity Harvesters cruise to 9-1 victory in shortened game

BY ZACHARY GREEN
zgreen@thepampanews.com

The junior varsity Pampa Harvester baseball team hosted River Road on Thursday night.

Bryson Burrell, Jacob Nelson and Ty Hooper all scored in the first after reaching base. Pampa led 3-0 after the first inning.

Burrell and Nelson scored again in the second. Colton Thompson, Brandon Stokes and Ryan Lee also added runs for Pampa in the second. The Harvesters led 8-1 after the second inning.

Zach Hill pinched hit for Burrell in the third inning and scored the final run for Pampa. The umpires called the game due to the lack of light in the bottom of the third after two consecutive Harvesters were hit by pitches.

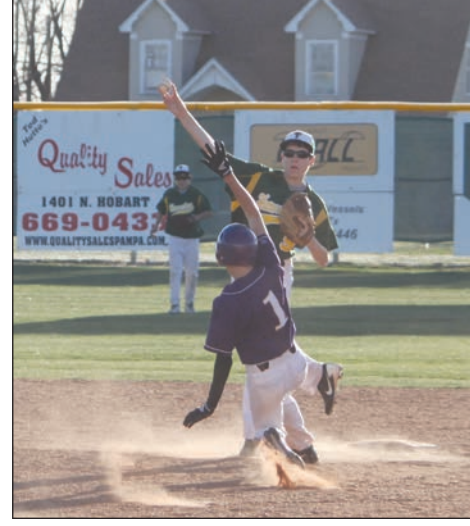

The final score was Pampa 9, River Road 1.

Nathan Furgason had two strikeouts in two innings of work. Lee pitched the third inning for Pampa.

The team is now 5-4 overall and 3-2 in district. They will be back in action at 3 p.m., Saturday, in Borger for their final road game of the season.

Fan meets Bob Seger after awakening from semi-coma

AUBURN HILLS, Mich. (AP) — The first words of a 79-year-old Michigan woman as she emerged from a five-year semi-coma were, "I want to go to a Bob Seger concert." And now her wish has come true.

The Flint Journal reports that Evie Branan cheered, threw her hands in the air and danced during Seger's concert Thursday night at The Palace of Auburn Hills. She also met Seger and his family, talked with crew and band members and received VIP treatment.

Branan is from Flint Township. She called the night "the happiest I've been in a long time."

After suffering a stroke that left Branan unable to speak, move or eat on her own, she became a resident of Willowbrook manor's long-term care unit.

She awoke from the semi-coma on May 7, 2011.

Perry turns to transportation

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Rick Perry is ready to talk traffic after Senate Republicans unveiled a new $3.5 billion plan for crumbling and congested Texas highways.

Perry is scheduled to deliver the keynote address Friday at an Austin transportation summit. The event comes a day after the Senate Finance Committee approved taking $6 billion from the state's Rainy Day Fund for infrastructure projects.

More than half of that money would go toward building and repairing new roads.

Dear Abby...

By Pauline & Jeanne Phillips

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 14-year-old girl. I don't understand why adults tell me to be an independent thinker, to embrace myself, and then put me down for not conforming. Why is it outrageous to come to your own conclusions, speculate, challenge accepted ideas or find your own faith? It would be easier to quietly nod an empty head and smile to please our parents and the adults who influence kids, so they can enjoy superficial satisfaction for how "well" they have raised us.

Should I deny myself as an individual and be pulled along, or is it better to stay quiet and just be who everyone expects you to be?

— INDEPENDENT THINKER IN FLORIDA

DEAR INDEPENDENT THINKER: Independent thinkers are the people who have contributed the most to society. Our most important scientific discoveries were conceived by individuals who chose not to accept conventional thinking. The same is true for religion — Jesus was an independent thinker.

I'm not sure what kind of conversation you feel the adults in your life are trying to discourage. But people who are deeply committed to their religious faith can feel offended or threatened if their beliefs are challenged. Even though you are an independent thinker, you should be respectful of the beliefs of others.

DEAR ABBY: Around the time of my sister's wedding, she and her fiancé, "Greg," tried to get me and their best man, "Bruce," together. They brought him along when they would visit and encouraged us to date. Not long after the wedding we did start dating.

Bruce is a great guy and I enjoy being with him. My problem is, he's my brother-in-law's nephew even though they are close in age. (Bruce's mom is Greg's half sister.)

Am I dating a family member? Are we committing incest? Should we end this relationship? I don't know what is "right."

— WEIRDED OUT IN WISCONSIN

DEAR WEIRDED OUT: Bruce is not a blood relative; he is related to you by marriage. That is not the same as incest. If you care about each other, the right thing to do is continue the relationship and see where it leads. "Great guys" can make great husbands.

DEAR ABBY: My

husband fathered a child in high school that was placed for adoption. His mother has become very close with the adoptive family and visits often. My husband does not. However, my mother-in-law constantly asks him to go on vacation with her to visit the child. I also found out that she sends the child gifts and signs my husband's name on the cards.

Abby, I feel this is hugely disrespectful not only to me, but also to my husband. He has chosen not to get involved with this child because he doesn't think it's fair to the adoptive family. He also doesn't wish to become attached. We have already told her she is overstepping her boundaries, but it continues to happen. What can we do?

— FRUSTRATED IN THE SOUTH

DEAR FRUSTRATED: Your mother-in-law may have the best of intentions, but forging your husband's name is dishonest. Sooner or later the child will find out the truth, and the result may be painful. However, there is nothing you can do to control your husband's mother's behavior, so accept it and don't take it personally.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY for Sunday, April 14, 2013:

This year others find you exciting and full of surprises. You discover that your social life is demanding but rewarding. You also will do well professionally because of your ability to understand and communicate with others. If you are single, there are many possibilities. What will it take to make you stop and want to get to know someone better? Only you know when the timing is right. If you are attached, the two of you start playing together like two kids in a sandbox. GEMINI makes you smile with his or her sunny ways.

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have: 5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
 ★★★★★ Observe what is going on behind the scenes. You might be confused, as something could be happening that you do not want to see or be a part of. You are a source of ideas and creative solutions. Reach out to a neighbor or relative at a distance. Tonight: Hang out with friends.

This Week: Use Monday and Thursday for communication.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
 ★★★ Your intuition is telling you something very different from what you hear. Listen to news, but keep your inner cynic active. Treat a friend or family member to the movies. A change of pace makes you smile. You are nothing less than lucky. Tonight: Do your own thing.

This Week: Venus enters your sign Monday, which adds to your magnetism.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
 ★★★★★ How you see a situation could change radically as information pours in. You are seeing just the tip of the iceberg. You can handle whatever comes your way. Worry less, and open up to a conversation. You will feel quite upbeat as a result. Tonight: Opportunities keep emerging.

This Week: You are on a roll as the week begins. Watch your spending, please.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
 ★★★ Much is going on behind the scenes. Even if you are not in the middle of what is happening, you sense the undercurrents. Someone is about to reveal more, and you'll want to be an active listener. Tonight: Not to be found. Let others' imaginations wander.

This Week: By Monday evening, you'll feel ready for nearly anything.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
 ★★★★★ Surround yourself with friends and/or family. Whether you're at a ballgame or just out and about, you'll have a great time. Catch up on news from someone you rarely see but feel close to. Good luck surrounds groups and friends in general. Tonight: Why stop enjoying yourself?

This Week: Vanish Tuesday and Wednesday.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
 ★★★ Be willing to take the lead and follow through on what you believe is important. Others like it when you coordinate a get-together. Conversations with a friend encourage you. Tonight: Start thinking about tomorrow.

This Week: Expect to handle a lot, but know that you will do it well.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)
 ★★★★★ Keep reaching out to someone whom you have not spoken to for a while. The best approach is a direct one, though you might not expect what this person brings to the table. You could be relieved once you hear his or her news, but you also might be concerned. Tonight: Veg.

This Week: Reach out to a friend Monday.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)
 ★★★★★ Deal with a partner directly whom you have been avoiding. You might be surprised at how easily the conversation will go. You will feel fortunate that you have this person to relate to on a one-on-one level. Opportunities arise when you're together. Tonight: Togetherness feels natural.

This Week: Speak to a partner Monday. Work as a team in order to launch a new project.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)
 ★★★★★ Others seek you out -- each of them buoyant with news or ideas. You could say "no," but the prospect of relating makes you want to say "yes." Suddenly, you'll discover just how very busy you are. A very special person comes forward. Tonight: A fun dinner with friends.

This Week: Work with others.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
 ★★★ You have been postponing a project long enough. The time to complete it is now. You might have to block some interference from other options that could be more appealing. Can you do them all and feel good about yourself? Tonight: Make it easy.

This Week: Dive into a project Monday. You have a lot to do.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)
 ★★★★★ You might pull the wild card when dealing with money. Know that a risk could go either way. You will want to deal with a changing situation. A new friend could be a lot of fun, and he or she will go along with whatever you want. Tonight: Pretend that tomorrow isn't Monday.

This Week: If you can take Monday off, do.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)
 ★★★★★ You are full of surprises, especially when it comes to your funds. For your well-being, try to tame any wild spending. Evoke more self-discipline, and you will be happier as a result. Focus on your family and home. Reach out to someone at a distance. Tonight: Accept an invitation.

This Week: Tension eases on Tuesday. Tap into your imagination.
