WOMEN WORK

By INEZ BAKER

During the month of August the women of all churches in the United States will pack Christmas boxes for the people of Europe and the Philippine Islands.

The Plaska women sent in last week 110 items for the soldiers' hospitals. Included were: 3 bedside bags, 68 bandages, 3 pillow ticks, 4 bedpan covers, 10 chair cushions, 8 fracture pillow covers and 13 pair of knitted socks.

Mrs. Murry Dodson extends her thanks for this work being done and stated: "This is a work that must go on. New patients are coming into the hospitals each day, and many more will come. The least we can do is to try and add to their comfort."

There is plenty of sock yarn at the Red Cross rooms. We also have yarn for mufflers and wristlets. Many have been asking about yarn for these things, since some do not knit socks.

Now we have plenty and the rooms will be open each Friday and Tuesday. Or call your reporter.

R. Ellis Plans To Buy Farm Just Far Away As He Can Get From Salt Water, When He Gets Out of the Navy

Jessie Raymond Ellis, his two close escapes. Off Iwo E. Ellis of Newlin, has enemy shells started to explode pretty close scrapes off around his ammunition-laden LCM. He quickly flipped the boat around and headed straight to sea. A bomb exploded about 30 feet astern where the boat had been.

It's not much fun to think of what would have happened if I hadn't moved," he said. And then there was another time when the Japs started firing machine guns into the water at the small boats. He got out of this one again by heading for sea—out of range of the guns.

He worked for the Amarillo Garage and Storage and later for Pantex Ordnance Company before entering the Navy on Jan. 6, 1944. He has served overseas now for 15 months and is waiting anxiously for the duty rotation program to send him back to the States.

About the postwar era, Ellis is planning to buy a farm and set the down just as far as he can get from salt water. As usual when two people from Amarillo get into a conversation, sports drift in sooner or later. Ellis said that his oldest son, Leroy Raymond, 10 years old, is playing on one of the Junior League baseball teams in Amarillo.

His wife, Thelma Lucille Ellis, and their three children, Leroy, Autry Dean, 6, and Garry Milton, 3, live at 1500 East Tenth in Amarillo. His father, M. E. Ellis, resides at Newlin.

Childress Field Had Open House On Airforce Day

On August 1, 1907—just 38 years ago—there was established an Aeronautical Division "to study the flying machine and the possibility of adopting it to military purposes."

That humble beginning sowed the seeds of the gigantic Army Air Force which observed Army Air Force Day Wednesday, August 1. On Childress Army Air Field and at AAF installations throughout the nation, as well as in the minds of American's fighting flyers across the breadth and length of the Pacific battle front, the dawn of August is particularly associated with the branch of service which has arrived at awe-inspiring maturity in World War II.

To celebrate the 38th Anniversary of the Army Air Force, Childress Army Air Field observed a gala program which spread not only to the various departments of the Air Base, but to the town of Childress and surrounding territory as well.

At the Air Base there was open house for all who desired to see how an American airman is trained. The program started with an inspection tour at 9 a. m., followed with Protestant and Catholic services at the Post Chapels. In the afternoon there were combat flying formations by AT 11's, stunt flying as a part of the students' training, vast pyrotechnic display, and the men of Childress Army Air Field marching in review. The visitor was entitled to see any department he desired including the messing facilities, Post Exchange, Ground School, flight line, and various other points of interest which go to make up an air base. There were B-17's and B-24's on display, the bombers which reeked havoc with the enemy in the European war.

Behind the training at Childress Army Air Field and the other fields of the Army Air Force Training Command lies an imposing record. In 1939 only 696 students were graduated from the various air crew schools. In 1944, 98,969 air crewmen were trained. The Air Force has grown. It has grown much in the 38 years of its existence, and certainly does deserve a Day of its own.

The Governor of a State is the only one who has the authority to call out the national guard.

How women and girls
may get wanted relief
from functional periodic pain

Cardui is a liquid medicine which many women say has brought relief from the cramp-like agony and nervous strain of functional periodic distress. Here's how it may help:

- 1 Taken like a tonic, it should stimulate appetite, aid digestion, thus help build resistance for the "time" to come.
- 2 Started 3 days before "your time", it should help relieve pain due to purely functional periodic causes.

Try Cardui. If it helps, you'll be glad you did.

Try Hot Water For Acute Distress Pain After Eating

NEUTRACID is not a laxative, soothing and comforting to the membranes and very agreeable to the stomach.

GOVERNMENT MEDICINE NO ANSWER

The United States had the largest group of thoroughly trained medical specialists in its entire history at the beginning of World War II. In war service their professional competence, plus the aid of new drugs and modern methods, were largely responsible for the fact that 96.1 percent of the 1,375,000 wounded in the European theatre were saved.

The nation wishes its citizens and soldiers to have the best possible medical service. In connection with doing this, there are powerful advocates of a compulsory national medical program which would tax wage earners and employers at high rates for funds to support it, regardless of whether or not they desired state medical service.

Those who regard freedom of opportunity as one of the precious assets of America today, deny that government control of medicine is the conclusive answer. Voluntary health insurance plans to provide prepayment for medical service, are already underway and are not a drag on the country's medical proficiency or brilliant progress and research.

"By expanding and improving our public health service, by supporting various groups and community systems, and by encouraging private insurance companies to add to the usefulness of their services, the country should find that Federal control of medicine is not necessary to insure a healthy nation," says the Index, quarterly publication of the New York Trust company. "Historically the experience of foreign countries provide no evidence to the contrary."

A POOR SOLUTION

In Paris the lights may soon be dimmed. In the huge textile mills of Lyons, the spindles are idle. In Belgium the great steel mills in Liege, Charloir and La Louviere are shut, and in many European villages there is ample food, but n way to get it to the hungry citizens, says Time Magazine.

Why is the economy of Western Europe still paralyzed? It has a coal famine. Like a wagon without horses, it lacks the power to start. Until the coal shortage is solved, there is little chance that Europe's shattered economy can be rebuilt or that any sizable trade with the United States can be revived, says Time.

The only remedy that France suggests is to nationalize its coal mines. It seems to have the idea that state socialism of industry, such as the Hitler government established, will in some miraculous manner encourage increased production, even though it destroys the incentive that flows from individual opportunity.

According to the latest figures, this fuel year will see the United States 37 million tons short of its coal needs. We tried temporary socialization of the coal mines as a remedy for coal strikes. The result was not surplus coal but continued shortages.

One gloomy official in the European area, says: "If the people don't get coal, you can count on chaos and revolution." That would mean less coal and more freezing. We had the modern revolution—strikes—in the United States mines when our country faced its greatest war danger. And the result was less coal. It takes more than revolution and government seizure of property to get production. Until the people learn this, they must expect suffering.

Press Paragraphs

SELECTED FROM THE
DEMOCRAT'S EXCHANGE

We have been told by the professional counsels of discontent that there can be "no return to a free economy" after the war.

We are being promised "a guaranteed future," presumably through "economic planning."

There have been all sorts of proposals to achieve "full employment"—a highly desirable goal, if we can agree on what "full employment" means!

Everyone wants to see a post-war America with the highest possible level of the best possible jobs. It is a good, much-to-be-desired objective.

Management agrees to the objectives—but it is understandably dubious of the government-spending methods prescribed for reaching the objective. It is up to management, therefore, to show the people—and particularly congress—how the goal can be achieved by concentrating their planning on helping the private enterprise system function effectively in the public interest.

As a basis it is certain that a government-controlled economy—at the taxpayers' expense—will never satisfy the American urge for honest-to-god, open jobs!—Ochiltree County Herald.

We run into new ones every week. Last week a woman selling advertisements on a "folder" to be printed somewhere, came in and asked for a copy of the paper. Then she asked if The News would be interested in buying an ad on the "folder." We said we were not interested, and reminded her that a "thank you" is not pay for a copy of The News. Then she said, "Oh, in that case I don't want the paper. I sold an ad to a customer who said I could get a copy of his advertisement here. I'll just go back and have him write one."

Any time a solicitor of "advertising" cannot spend as much as a nickel in town, we don't care for fame. Maybe it could be said that The News is entitled to buy "donation advertising" as well as anyone, and we will gladly do so when the donation goes to a worthy cause. The merchant who distributes the "advertising" will get a break that is far in excess of the others. And on the other hand, The News could furnish "folders" for a fraction of the sum accumulated by selling ads to everyone.—McLean News.

If, in saying that this country does not want any territory, President Truman meant that it would waive its claim to the mandated islands in the Pacific, he was taking an unrealistic stand, and one out of keeping with his country's thought and interest. He may not have intended that his words apply to the Pacific islands formerly under Japanese mandate, but interested parties are likely to place that construction on what he said.

The American people do not want any more colonies, in the accepted sense of the term. They do not want any additional terterritory, merely as territory. They do want their government to retain such of the islands won by American valor as will definitely be useful for airfields and as bastions for defense. It will be necessary to possess some other islands, not actually needed for these purposes, in order to prevent their being occupied by nations whose interests might conflict with our own.

The American policy in such matters must be not only realistic, but even hard-boiled. So far from being inconsistent with the hopes for a lasting peace, the American attitude supports and furthers those hopes.—Wichita Falls Record-News.

It may be caused by disorder of kidney function that permits poisonous waste to accumulate. For truly many people feel tired, weak and miserable when the kidneys fail to remove excess acids and other waste matter from the blood.
You may suffer nagging backache, rheumatic pains, migraines, dizziness, getting up nights, or pains, swelling. Sometimes frequent and scanty urination with smarting and burning is another sign that something is wrong with the kidneys or bladder.

(From Wheeler Times)
I have a friend who has a law whose cousin's sons of a good school superintendent looking for a good job, contact a member of local school board for needs to employ a superintendent as quickly as possible. I have employed three superintendents in the past few months but most everything has happened since F. M. Shawver, who has had of the Kellerville school for the past few years, was employed, but after several months in the school he advised him to resign. Upon resignation, C. M. Puckett of was employed but died a few days later following an operation. Last week H. H. Risinger was accepted the superintendent of the school and his job is to teach in the grades. Superintendents are scarce here. Dodson board promptly raised his school head's salary six hundred bucks per year would stay with them. Wheeler needs a superintendent.

James N. Hutchins Finishes Pre-Flight Course for Navy

Naval Aviation Cadet James N. Hutchins, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Hutchins of Estelline has successfully completed the course at the U. S. Navy Pre-Flight School at Chapel Hill, N. C. He has been transferred to the Naval Air Station at Bunker Hill, Indiana for primary flight training. Texas Bankers Are Seeking Small Town Factories

The recent report of the U. S. Department of Commerce, pointing out that "there is not a village or hamlet in the entire South too small for a small processing plant," has added enthusiasm to the efforts of Texas bankers who are launching an advertising campaign to induce manufacturing plants to locate in Texas towns.

Realizing that Texas has more opportunity to gain from the decentralization of national manufacturing than any other state in the union, banks in all parts of Texas are joining this co-operative advertising campaign. Advertisements will appear in national publications read by manufacturing executives throughout the north and east.

Inquiries, as a result of this advertising, will be received and forwarded to all co-operating banks by the Bankers Digest, a Texas bank newspaper.

Already some advertising has been done, the publisher of Bankers Digest states, and among the most recent inquiries from manufacturers interested in moving their plants to Texas towns are two that employ 100 and 200 people respectively. These inquiries have been forwarded to the participating banks for their further follow up.

Farmers Urged to Make War on Flies

Farmers were given another reason for a war on flies this summer in a report issued today by livestock health authorities. Flies, the report states, have been found to be carriers of the deadly cattle disease, anaplasmosis, which is causing heavy cattle losses in a number of Western states.

"Recent tests show that horse flies which suck the blood of cattle carrying this disease, can readily transmit it to healthy cattle," says the report released here today by the American Foundation for Animal Health. "Anaplasmosis is caused by a minute parasite which attacks the blood cells of cattle, causing severe anemia. Cattle which contract the disease remain carriers, and during the horsefly and hornfly season such 'carrier' animals can endanger all healthy cattle in the locality. Persons not familiar with proper sanitary and disinfection practices in vaccinating may also spread the disease. There is no known cure, so rigid preventive measures are doubly important. A vigorous campaign against biting flies at this time should be especially helpful."

If the earth did not rotate on its axis the sun would rise and set but once during the year.
