Publisher's Advice Concerning Control of Polio Given by Doctor

Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer, has issued the following recommendations and suggestions concerning the control and prevention of poliomyelitis which is now spreading in certain sections of the state.

It is now believed that poliomyelitis may be another of several gastrointestinal infections. Therefore, control measures must include clean-up campaigns and improvements in sanitation.

Strict sanitary measures must be observed in all communities. Efforts should be made to eliminate the house-fly and to destroy its breeding places.

Every effort should be made to institute approved garbage collection systems immediately. Safe water supplies must be assured.

nance of proper chlorine level. Where such standards are not maintained, those pools should be closed immediately.

All raw foods and vegetables should be washed thoroughly before use and protected from flies, fish, and insects.

Food handling establishments should adhere strictly to the state law concerning the sterilization of dishes and utensils.

Every effort should be made to secure approved milk. Rats and mice should be eliminated.

Over-exertion in children should be avoided. Children should not visit homes where there is illness.

Early symptoms of infantile paralysis are headache, fever, vomiting, drowsiness, followed by stiffness in the neck and back.

When suspicious symptoms appear, a physician should be called immediately.

ODD FELLOWS TO HAVE PICNIC

The Odd Fellows lodge of Memphis will have a picnic at the city park Friday night, June 28, commencing at 7:30 o'clock.

TRY THIS BISCUIT RECIPE

Many housewives these days are faced with the problem of making a quick bread for breakfast when they are unable to buy bread for the usual toast.

A biscuit mix which can be stored in the refrigerator and quickly made into biscuits or muffins is Miss Lawrence's answer.

For roll biscuit, combine about 2-3 cup milk (enough to make a soft dough) with 2 cups of mix.

For drop biscuit: Combine about 3-4 cup milk (enough to make a little softer dough than above) with 2 cups of mix.

For muffins: Combine 1 slightly beaten egg, 1 cup milk, and 2 tablespoons sugar.

For drop biscuits: Combine about 3-4 cup milk (enough to make a little softer dough than above) with 2 cups of mix.

This recipe makes about 1 gallon of mix which will keep in the refrigerator at least a month.

Workshop Set Up To Aid Crippled

A sheltered workshop, where handicapped young people of Texas can learn crafts and trades that will make them self-sustaining, has been established in Dallas, according to an announcement by Dr. Sam H. Whitely of Commerce, president of the Texas society for crippled children.

In the sheltered workshop, children and young people will weave, make wood carvings, costume jewelry and other handicrafts.

Hedley Takes Lead In Softball Play Of City League

Hedley took undisputed lead in the city softball league Tuesday night when they rapped the Estelline team 16 to 2 to give them a rank of three games won and none lost.

Texaco rests in second place with two wins and none lost. Lesley and Southside Barber shop are tied for third, each having won two and lost one.

Friday night's games will feature Posey's team meeting Magnolia in the first encounter; and Lakeview playing Parnell in the second game.

The all-family night, which was scheduled to be held next week, has been postponed for a short time.

Weather Favoring Boll Weevil Return

Weather conditions in most parts of the state continue to favor boll weevils and there is reason to believe that the emergence from winter quarters is likely to be heavier than average during the next two weeks.

Federal entomologists state that it appears now most of the older cotton in the lower Rio Grande Valley will set a good crop before there is any appreciable build-up of the injurious insects.

Thrips are causing considerable damage to some fields in the backland area of Central and North Texas probably due to the fact that the growth of cotton has been retarded because of wet soils.

The flea hopper situation appears uncertain. At present, they occur in comparatively small numbers where they have been found.

INDIAN CHIEF... Wab-Sha-Mi-Tas-Ha, Indian woman proprietor of a large cattle ranch near Fairfax, Okla., has been named to the Osage Tribal council, the first woman to hold this honor in more than 100 years history of the tribe.

Mr. and Mrs. Pruitt Hardy of Phoenix, Ariz., came June 13 to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Hardy and her mother, Mrs. May Sone and family at Clarkston.

State Health Officer Recommends House Cleaning to Lessen Disease

A good old-fashioned spring house cleaning in every city and community in Texas would do a great deal toward furthering good health in this state, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer, who said in Austin this week.

A general clean-up program of state-wide proportions with the objective of bettering health conditions for our citizenship should include surface cleaning, drainage, the graving of streets and alleys, the cleaning of all parks and playgrounds and the clearing of weeds and rubbish off of vacant lots.

"The destruction of mosquito breeding places and rat harborage, the proper disposal of garbage and trash and the general cleaning up of all premises will be of inestimable value in helping to keep down summer health hazards such as dysentery, typhoid, and poliomyelitis.

When soil is hungry, the people who are supported from that soil become starved also.

Dr. Cox stressed the fact that many dangerous diseases are fifth-borne, and the only possible way to control them is to eliminate the insanitary conditions responsible for their spread.

wards Offered to 4-H Girls for Canning Projects

More home canning will result in more food for starving millions abroad.

That is the motto of thousands of rural girls participating in the national 4-H canning activity. The activity is conducted under the direction of the extension service.

By increasing their canning of home and other home-raised products, the girls will render a twofold service. They will establish a larger variety of nutritious foods for their families; and, secondly, they will help reduce cash expenditures for foodstuffs, and help relieve more commercial stocks of surplus goods for famine relief overseas.

Awards for outstanding records are offered by Mrs. Ruth W. Young for the 18th consecutive year for the county winners. The girls and the state champion will be a guest at the national club congress in Chicago. National winners will receive $100 college scholarships.

County extension agents will furnish information and suggestions on home-canning to 4-H club members.

Letters from men in the Service

The following letter was written by Corporal Ted Swift of the USMC to his mother, Mrs. Theo Swift:

Fukuoka, Japan,
26 May, 1946.
Dearest Mother:
Well, I am in another outfit now. It seems that I sure am getting around in the Marine Corps. But I can say one thing—this is the first lay home. The reason that I have been transferred is that I am a west coast man. They took all the west coast men and put them in the 6th Marines, and the rest of them in the 2nd Marine Division which is east coast men. We will start home in June. Still some more waiting, but we do know that I have started.

I have been promoted, not in rank, but in jobs. I am now regimental change sheet clerk. That is one of the best jobs in the Marine Corps. And I am telling the truth when I say that the material that I write, I have five men working under me. And you should see the office that I have. I am on the third floor of a very modern building, have a very fine desk, and am looking over the capital of Kyushu. I live downtown and can go and come when I please. In the streets below, street cars are running and it looks almost like a large city of the states. Cars are honking and moving of people are going both ways. Here they have all kinds of night clubs and across the street we have a large Red Cross which is called the Rainbow room. There we can get coffee and doughnuts. Yes, I am quite the business man.

I guess that we can set the date of my coming home sometime in July. I hate to think of it being that long, but there isn't much that we can do about it. We sure had a long ride up here. We left Miyazaki about 10 o'clock Saturday and didn't get here until about 3 Sunday. And if you have ever ridden a Nip train you would think that is a life time. I sure was glad to get here.

About the only thing that I don't like about this is that I was split from all my buddies. I sure hated that too. One of them went to the first battalion, one to the "B" company of the first battalion, and myself, the only one that went to regiment. There were only three of us in the office from the west coast. I guess that this is the only thing I have to write now. I will try to write you very often till I start aboard ship. I hope that the railroad strike doesn't stop my letters from getting to you. I am sending you all my love,
Ted.

Winning Essay— DIVERSIFIED FARMING PAYS

(Editor's Note: This is another in a series of essays on the advantages of diversified farming, written by a county 4-H member in the recent contest. This essay is by John Luther Byars.)

When farmers of America use diversified farming there is no excuse for a complete farm failure. The meaning of diversified farming is to plant more than one crop. If you just plant one crop, like cotton or feed, it may fail to make. If you plant more than one crop, not all of them will fail. So, if one fails, another will make, and you can live on the profits.

If your land has gullies running through it, you can build terraces to carry the water that it doesn't hold, to a pasture. If your land is sandy and blows, you can plant sudan or grass on it. You can plant a shelterbelt around your farm to catch the soil. The shelterbelt will break hard winds that blow cotton out on the ground. When cotton is covered up with dirt, then it doesn't bring good prices. The shelterbelt is protection to feed that would otherwise blow down, making it impossible to cut with a binder or combine. Feed is too valuable to waste, for it is feed for cows, hogs, and chickens.

To help hold the soil and to provide winter grazing, farmers can profit from planting wheat or barley. Cows on green pasture maintain higher milk production. After cows have grazed wheat, it is advantageous to turn hogs on the pasture to eat the roots. Hogs will root up the soil, making it easy to plow or break.

You should rotate your crops. You should plant cotton where you had maize or corn last year. Plant corn where you had cotton or maize last year. If you plant the same thing on the same ground every year, it will soon take all the mineral out of the soil that it takes to grow that crop. If you rotate your crops, some of the minerals will stay in the ground. Hegari takes lots of minerals out of the soil. Cotton doesn't take many minerals out of the soil. So, when you rotate crops, most of the minerals stay in the soil. Fertilize the fields with manure from cow lots and chicken pens. Cotton burs make a good fertilizer. When the grass is all gone, the cows will eat some of the burs. If the season is damp and rainy, you can raise alfalfa for hogs, cows, chickens, and turkeys to run on.

You can raise a garden and an orchard to produce part of the food for your family. Your family can can vegetables from the garden and fruit from the orchard for the winter. Your chickens will produce enough for your family and maybe a surplus to sell. Your cows will produce milk and butter for your family and a little to sell. Your hogs will produce meat for your family and some to sell.

There is no excuse for a farmer not being fed well.

Mr. and Mrs. Regnal Greenhaw of Amarillo spent the week-end in Memphis with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Greenhaw.

That Nagging Backache

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become overtaxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up at night, leg pains, swelling—feel constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

DOAN'S PILLS

MR. FARMER:

For Planting Wheat Stubble ... Use The JEOFFROY "Soil Control Cultivator"

WE HAVE THEM ON HAND

The Jeoffroy "Soil Control Cultivator" is so designed that it will perform practically all the work required on a well operated farm. Its chisel-type cultivator combats soil erosion by wind and water. It conserves moisture as and where it falls. The Soil Control Cultivator does not pulverize the ground, but cultivates Nature's way by breaking up the topsoil and opening the way for moisture to go into the subsoil for storage. The Soil Control Cultivator is ideal for breaking stubble land after harvest, maintaining summer fallow ground, or, with sweeps, for killing vegetation.

- * Plows and cultivates the natural way.
- * Conserves moisture.
- * Prevents blowing.
- * Stops erosion.
- * Cuts plowing cost in half.
- * Constructed to last a lifetime.
- * Pre-war prices.
- * Made in 4 sizes to fit your power: 7 ft. - 10 ft. - 13 ft. - 16 ft.

This Plow Sells for Less Than Other Plows of Similar Type. It Is Heavy and Will Perform to Any Farmer's Satisfaction.

Life With the Japanese

MISS CUNNINGHAM WRITES OF HER LIFE IN TOKYO

ADDITION FOR THE WHITE HOUSE . . . The famous old structure known as the state, war and navy building during the early days of Washington. The building will soon be taken over by the White House to be used as an annex for the executive offices. The ginger bread architecture has made it a curio and a landmark for years.

Editor's Note: The following is the remainder of the letter written by Louise Cunningham, daughter of Mrs. H. F. Cunningham of Lakeview. Miss Cunningham is with General MacArthur's staff in Tokyo. They all stopped and gaped at the caravan with open mouths as they were the first American women most of them had seen. These women lined the streets by the thousands; of course, there are 70 million people in Japan it is understandable. They travel by means of oxen-pulled carts, bicycles, old broken down trucks, mules; and transport their goods even by poles with two or three men holding each end on their shoulders, but most of them prefer to walk or ride the tram or get in a car if they can get on. I took us about an hour to get to the government formerly known as the Diet area. This area was purged of all military and occupation troops and allied government. We turned a corner and were in a modern downtown business district much as one would find in any industrial city. We passed the Emperor's palace and crossed the moat which runs parallel to the palace what is known as the Old Palace Building, and the driver told us we were home. You can imagine how excited we were—just across the street from Hirohito and the Imperial Palace. The Old Kaijo was formerly an office building and has been converted into a hotel for the girls. It is modern with steam heat and several elevators. The lobby floor furnished attractively. Off to one side as you enter is a huge lounge furnished with comfortable western furniture, divans, chairs, tables, reading lights, etc. Adjoining this is a beauty shop, and across the other side is a florist shop, pressing shop, alterations shop, PX, and an oriental shop. Incidentally, about 30 native boys around 11 or 12 years of age came out to greet us bowing almost to the ground and claimed our luggage. We also have a doorman, numerous girls to bring up messages announcing our dates or callers, and four girls to clean our room. I room with a girl I knew in Honolulu who came over with me on the boat. These little boys shouldered our heavy bags as if they were nothing and led us to our room which had been assigned. We had been told to tip with candy or gum as money is no good to them since there is nothing to buy over here. Too, we were told never to tip more than one candy bar as that is equal to an American dollar. They put our bags down and bowed all the way out, never turning their backs to us. Barbara and I had to sit down and laugh it was so very funny and strange to us, and they were so grateful for the candy and gum. Our girls come into our rooms and get all of our dirty clothes out of our laundry bags and wash, iron, and mend them about every three days. They would do them every day if we would let them. We present them with a candy bar. I gave two of them a couple of old blouses and they were so devoted that they followed me around for days. However, I was reprimanded by the manager and told that this would cause rioting and not to do it again. In the dining room we have so much service that we don't know what to do with it; there are about three girls assigned to tables for four. You hardly have to turn your head before there are three or four girls, dressed in their kimonos, bowing and wanting to wait on you. Never do they let water glasses become empty or our coffee cups less than half full. It is depressing to see a race of people so suppressed and poverty-stricken. You see these people are the poorest and of the seventy million people in Japan, only 50 thousand have money, or had before the war. There was and still is to a certain extent a monopoly on commerce, industry, agriculture, etc., all owned by the war lords and militaristic people. The rest are the peasant class, as no middle class exists in Japan, and this latter class had nothing at all to do with the war; in fact they hated it as badly as we did. I sort of got off the subject. Our room is very comfortably furnished with twin beds, separate closets and dressing tables, two chairs, a mahogany table, and a green carpet on the floor. We have three sets of drapes over our windows; every time Barbara and I looked up the first day we saw about a dozen Japanese coming in with another set of drapes. When we told them we only wanted one set they were so unhappy they almost cried—they wanted us to have the best. And believe it or not, when they got through the effect was lovely, and more important they were happy. The first week-end I went to Atomi, a resort town 80 miles south, and lived just as the Japanese for a couple of days. Our office, the legal section, took over this place just for recreational purposes. It really is beautiful in the Japanese way. It formerly belonged to the president of the Nippon Steel Corporation and is really an estate, the grounds covering one complete block, with a high brick wall all the way around. There are ten bedrooms without a stick of furniture, only the mats from wall to wall and built in drawers and closets. At night mats filled with goose down were spread on the floor and they are very comfortable. All the doors are sliding affairs and can be opened on any side of the room, either partially or all the way, making ventilation very good. This place overlooks an ocean on one side and the mountains on the other. The living room is large with a huge fire place and comfortably furnished, much as any American room, and the dining room is furnished for guests. However, in the rear of the house there are several rooms with the low tables about 16 inches off the floor with mats or cushions and this is where the Japanese always entertain unless the guests were from the West. There are two sulphur baths, and it is customary to have a servant scrub your back, but I didn't! I guess you have heard about their community baths!—where the men and women all bathe together—we did almost everything Japanese do except that; that was too much for even the American men. However, I am told that some of the G. I.'s slip off to the community bathing houses on the sly—I don't know if this is true or not. There are many other places I have been of interest but I haven't the time to tell you right now. Will write more later. This is really some place. The country is green now and very beautiful when you get out into the country away from the bombed areas.
