CARD OF THANKS

To the Brice Methodist Church: You have my sincere thanks for the gift of flowers; also do I wish to thank Mr. Raggers and Joe and Nora Bunch of Tucson, Ariz., for beautiful gifts of flowers. I highly appreciate the many who visited me at the hospital. It was good to see stout young men of Hall County. Words cannot express my appreciation to them all. Also do I express my gratitude to the different churches for their prayers for my recovery.

How women and girls may get wanted relief from functional periodic pain

Cardui is a liquid medicine which many women say has brought relief from the cramp-like agony and nervous strain of functional periodic distress. Here's how it may help:

- 1 Taken like a tonic, it should stimulate appetite, aid digestion,* thus help build resistance for the "time" to come.
- 2 Started 3 days before "your time", it should help relieve pain due to purely functional periodic causes.

Try Cardui. If it helps, you'll be glad you did.

One of World's Outstanding Rodeo Performers Here

Leonard Stroud, the only man known to have held every championship associated with big-time rodeos, arrived yesterday afternoon with a group from Boy's Ranch that he has been training.

Stroud will give several different demonstrations, including trick riding and roping, and the boys will show their adeptness as twelve team up for a rope-spinning act and other arena artistry learned from their champion tutor.

A list of Stroud's rodeo championships would fill a book. He has been in the business since he was 16, has toured with his own wild west show, and has won the top honors, often several in the same show, at such rodeo arenas as Cheyenne, Fort Worth, and Madison Square Garden.

From 1916 to 1921 he held the world's championship in trick and fancy riding. He held the same championship again in 1922 and in 1923 won the diamond studded belt which he will wear during the four rodeo performances here.

Stroud knows the acts rodeo fans appreciate. From experience gained as he has won state, national, and world-wide championships, he will present top rodeo entertainment for fans of this area.

of the club on matters pertaining to club administration and Rotary service activities. He is one of the 173 district governors of Rotary International who are supervising the activities of some 6,200 Rotary Clubs which have a membership of 305,000 business and professional executives in 78 countries and geographical regions throughout the world.

Wherever Rotary Clubs are located, their activities are similar to those of the Rotary Club of Memphis because they are based on the same general objectives—developing better understanding and fellowship among business and professional men, promoting community-betterment undertakings, raising the standards of businesses and professions, and fostering the advancement of good will, understanding, and peace among all the peoples of the world, it is reported.

Each year, this world-wide service organization continues to grow in numbers and in strength. During the last fiscal year, 418 new Rotary Clubs were organized in 16 countries of North and South America, and in Australia, Belgium, China, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, England, Finland, Iceland, France, Greece, India, Italy, Macao, Malayan Union, the Netherlands, Netherlands Indies, New Zealand, Norway, the Philippines, Portugal, Scotland, Siam, Southern Rhodesia, Sweden, Switzerland, Trieste, Union of South Africa, and Wales, the report stated.

Mrs. J. H. Butler has returned home following a two-week visit with her sister, Mrs. Isaac Kilpatrick of Lanora.

Hall 4-H Clubs --

sist in stamping out the plague of accidents.

July 20-26 has been designated as National Farm Safety Week, and the 4-H Club members of Hall County are making an urgent appeal to every farmer in Hall County to join in a clean-up campaign.

Every member of the family may have a part in this program. Beginning with farm homes, the 4-H Club members ask every farmer to:

1. Collect old papers and magazines, rags and old clothing, and discarded furniture from attics, closets, and the basement and turn them in for salvage. Such materials often are the source of spontaneous ignition and provide perfect tinder for any spark or flame.

2. Help clean the heating plant from fire pot to chimney top. An efficient chimney sweep can be made by wrapping a brick or two in burlap, tying it to a rope, and lowering it up and down the chimney several times. Dirty chimneys reduce the efficiency of the heating plant, and are apt to spew sparks. If the roof is not protected by a fire-resistant material, such as asphalt shingles or a similar fire-resistant material, it may burst into flames. A dirty and defective heating system, plus a flammable roof, accounts for almost one-third of all home fires.

3. Make sure gasoline and kerosene are not stored in the home. If any is found, suggest storing it elsewhere, preferably underground, and not in or near main buildings. Look at the labels on containers of cleaning fluids. If marked "flammable" or "inflammable" get rid of them. Good, non-explosive cleaning fluids are available which are safe to use.

4. Check all electrical equipment. Don't use it if it is not operating properly. Replace frayed extension cords. Clean dust and cobwebs away from fuse boxes.

When the house is in order, the club members urge similar treatment of the barn and other buildings. Make sure they are clean. Then, look at fields and fence rows. Will dead plant growth roar into flame if a match is carelessly dropped or a farm machine backfires? Cut down dead weeds and rake up dried leaves. Burn them on days when there is no wind.

Every 4-H Club member will be the leader in the clean-up campaign at home, and collectively they will be an important factor in ridding the community of similar hazards to life and property, Hooser said.

Every club member is urged to remind his parents of the importance of fire-resistant construction when remodeling or planning new buildings.

The principal safeguards which should be included in remodeling and repair plans include: fire-resistant roofing, properly installed wiring, and a good chimney soundly constructed.

All defective electrical equipment should be repaired and rags, papers, and boxes cleaned out of every building on the farm. The chimney should be cleaned to prevent sparks from billowing into the air, perhaps to set a flammable wood shingle roof afire, Hooser concluded.

and Pauline Derrick. Sunday Stevenson went to the Derrick home in an effort to persuade her to come back with him and when she refused, he went into the house, got the knife and stabbed and slashed her on the left arm and the left side of the body, according to the Derricks. Derrick and his wife ran out of the house, yelling for help, and Stevenson fled.

Two negroes, Mitchel Golbreath and George Jones, passing by in a pick-up, stopped and carried the woman to Memphis, but she was dead long before reaching a doctor.

The two negroes reported the slaying to the sheriff's office and Sheriff Earl Hill, Deputy Grant Evans, highway patrolman Noel D. Caloway, police chief W. P. Baten, Jim Wooten, Gerald McDaniel, along with the negroes who reported the killing, left immediately for the search.

They trailed Stevenson to the home of a negro identified as "Baldy." Baldy said the fleeing negro had stopped there, telling him what had happened, and that he was threatened. Baldy is reported to have taken a shot at Stevenson after being threatened.

The negro was trailed until about 1:30 in the morning. The group resumed their search at 4 a. m., and found Stevenson sleeping in a pasture on the Allen Monzingo farm about 18 miles southwest of Memphis.

Helen Wesley was originally from Paris, Texas, and Stevenson from DeKalb, it is reported.

Carson County Is Added To 100th District

One county, Carson, will be added to the 100th Judicial District on August 1, Judge Luther Gribble, judge of the 100th district court and presiding judge of the 9th Administrative Judicial District, has announced.

The 100th Judicial District now includes Hall, Collingsworth, Childress, Carson, and Donley counties.

This change was made because the 84th district was overcrowded, having five counties, including Hutchinson. Due to the heavy docket in the latter, it was necessary to reduce that district to three counties, Hutchinson, Sherman, and Ochiltree, according to the report.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Hickey spent last week in Turkey visiting with his sister, Mrs. J. M. Hale. Mr. and Mrs. Hale returned home with them for an indefinite visit.

WEATHER
 Clouding skies cooled things off but also threatened the parade and beginning rodeo activities. Rainfall in Memphis last night was .27-inch, according to a report by J. J. Mickin, local weather recorder. Brice and Lakeview areas had showers yesterday. Last Thursday 22-inch of rain fell in Memphis, and good rains were reported in the area west and south of Lakeview.
 The high temperatures for the week were 106 degrees Friday and 103 degrees Sunday, with most days around 90 degrees, Saturday being the low with 86 degrees. Near records for this time of year were recorded with 62 degrees Tuesday night, and 63 degrees both Saturday and Sunday nights.

Vocational Group Meets At Potts Farm Thursday
 Fifty-eight veterans of three Turkey vocational classes met last Thursday afternoon at the Tommie M. Potts livestock farm near Estelline to inspect the Potts herd and to examine his program.
 The students were accompanied by instructors C. W. Vineyard, J. L. Hicks, and William E. Helms. County Agent W. B. Hooser met with the group and explained the breeding program in operation at the farm. After an inspection of the registered cattle, a discussion on pedigree was held. The successful spraying program and fly elimination on the Potts farm was also spotlighted. It was brought out that a real liking for cattle was a major factor in the successful operation of a livestock farm.

 concentrated publicity campaign to acquaint people of West Texas of such advantages and ask their petition to such major colleges to take over the Childress Army Air Field.
 One must remember the air field was constructed as an emergency by tax payers of the entire United States. It becomes reasonable therefore that people of the United States are entitled to profit from its continued operation in wheat-never service is elected. No one desires to see the field sold out to private enterprise in piece-meal lots. It would be far better to utilize the plant for students, farmers, 4-H Clubs, and other public service units.

The Bookshelf
 The 1946 Panhandle Historical Review was mailed out last week. In this issue are the papers of the winners of the first and second prizes in the Vandale Historical Essay contest. Ernest R. Archambeau of Amarillo won first prize, a cash award of $100. Virginia Morton of Tucumcari, N. M., was second with a cash award of $75. Carroll Doshier of Canyon received $50 for the third place award, and Mrs. Herschel Jennings of Canyon was fourth and received $25. There were nine entrants in this contest in 1946. The contest was established in 1945 by Earl Vandale of Amarillo, and others, for the purpose of encouraging research and writing in the history of the plains region.
 Several short biographical sketches of West Texas pioneers are also presented in the Review. Much of the early history of West Texas is woven around the lives of these early settlers. The editors say they will continue the practice of presenting these brief sketches of pioneers. According to the editorial foreword, "... These men and women are to West Texas what the Austins, the Houstons, the Bells, the Burlesons and scores of others were to East Texas. They deserve a prominent place in the recorded history of West Texas."
 A new feature of the Review is the inclusion of short historical sketches by prominent Western authors: "The Goodnight Trail," by Evetts Haley; "The Western Trail," by Col. Jack Potter, Clayton, N. M.; "The Fort Smith-Santa Fe Trail," by H. Bailey Carroll; "The National Trail," by Floyd Benjamin Streeter; "The Rath Trail," by Evetts Haley; "The Tascosa-Dodge City Trail," by John L. McCarty; "The Old Santa Fe Trail," by Stanley Vestal; and "Arkansas River Route," by LeRoy Hafen.

According to a release from A. and M. Harry L. Kidd Jr., assistant professor of English at the college, is nearing completion of his first novel, "The Long Lane." Set in the off fields of the Southwest, it portrays the struggle of a middle-class American to find a working philosophy of living which can give him spiritual satisfaction in today's materialistic and confused age.
 During the nine months of the regular school year, Kidd writes the radio script for the Texas School of the Air program, which is carried over the Texas Quality Network. He has had several short stories published in such magazines as "Argosy," "The New Republic," "Field and Stream," and "Southwest Review."
 Thomas Y. Crowell and Company, New York City, will publish the book soon after completion of the manuscript in January, 1948.

Paved Road Mileage Has Quadrupled

Reviewing the activities of the Texas Highway Department now entering its 30th year as the state's road building agency, Commission Chairman John S. Redditt reported paved mileage on the state system had more than quadrupled since it was first accurately measured in 1929.

The endless struggle to build new roads as fast as traffic demand increased has shoved the 1929 paved mileage of 6,061 up to 25,734 miles on July 1, with more being added every day.

"This still isn't enough," Redditt declared. "The blight of congestion and hazards to safety on many sections of these paved roads render them inadequate to handle the heavy traffic using them."

He expressed confidence that the commission's recent expanded policy for building farm-to-market roads on a cooperative basis with counties, together with the current federal aid program, would result in substantial improvements to the state's farm transportation problem.

The total investment in the state road network stood at $934,197,811.55 on July 1, Redditt announced. This includes all expenditures made under the supervision of the Texas Highway Department since it was created 30 years ago.

"It has been a good investment," he said. "I doubt if any other similar expenditure of public funds has done so much good for as many people."

The chairman paid tribute to the thousands of employees who had built the organization into one of the top road building agencies of the nation. "Of the 7,663 employees on the payroll today, 2,278 have been with us for ten years or more, while 100 have served the department 25 years or more. Only one has completed 30 years of service, but two others are approaching the 30 year mark."

"This organization has made it possible for Texas to maintain its place at the top among the states of the nation in carrying out a vast postwar construction program. Today work is progressing on contracts in excess of $77,000,000, a volume that has never before been reached in the department's history."

KEEP FAITH WITH YOU

THE FUTURE belongs to the boys and girls of today. They are aware that it will be a competitive world which they inherit and they are eager for more education to prepare themselves for the problems of a more complex life. We must keep faith with them and raise the standards of education in this area. We must make it possible for every boy and girl to secure college training. The Childress Army Air Field is a 'ready-made' Junior College. It is worth half-a-million dollars, and can become a permanent asset to the seven counties of this area.

TALK — WORK — SUPPORT

This great opportunity will soon pass. We cannot afford to consider petty jealousies of counties and communities. We owe it to the boys and girls who seek more education to become a community of counties; to talk, work and support the movement to secure a lower Panhandle Junior College. Students will remain at home, yet secure training superior to many senior colleges, at a cost so small any boy or girl can attend. Modern busses will serve the entire area daily. The cost to tax-payers will be 20c per $100 (county valuation) or less. If you have property valued at $5,000 for taxation, it will cost only $10 per year. If your property is valued at $2,000 your annual cost will be $4.

Trim Childress Tuesday 4 to 2

A hard-playing and errorless Memphis team trimmed Childress 4-2 Tuesday night, holding the league "heavy hitters" to five scattered hits.
 Pitcher Keller struck out 4, walking 2, while for Childress J. Mills and Hoover struck out 3 and walked 3.
 In the first inning, McKnight singled to deep center, Berryman doubled, and they were rapped home by a Gibson hit.
 The same play was repeated in the third, when McKnight walked, Berryman doubled, and they were again hit in when Gibson connected with a triple to left field, almost good for a home run as he was tagged out at the plate.
 After Hoover took over the Childress mound in the fifth, the Memphis nine got but one hit for the four innings.

MR. AND MRS. HENRY LEE S. SOLOMON

Mitchell-Solomon Nuptials Read In Impressive Church Ceremony

The First Methodist Church of Memphis was the scene for the impressive wedding ceremony Sunday morning, July 20, when Miss Betty Jo Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse R. Mitchell of Salisbury, became the bride of Henry Lee Solomon, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Solomon, also of the Salisbury community.

Rev. Wilfrid Jones, life-long friend of the groom and pastor of the Methodist church of Hollis, read the double-ring service at 8:30 o'clock.

The church decorations featured an arch entwined with pink and white carnations and gypsophila nestling among greenery, backed by fern and palms and lighted candles extending the length of the altar rail. Basket arrangements of gladioli and candelabra bearing white tapers flanked the altar and completed the decorative setting.

Nuptial selections included the singing of "Because" and "I Love You Truly" by Miss Norma Lee White of Lubbock, classmate of the bride in nursing school, accompanied by Miss Mary Foreman, Miss Foreman, at the organ, also played the Lohengrin wedding march and Mendelssohn's wedding march for the processional and recessional and background music during the exchange of vows.

Misses Dora and Peggy Mitchell, sisters of the bride, lighted the candles. They wore identical corsages of white and pink carnations.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a two-piece white embroidered faille dress with a halo of pink carnations. She carried a white Bible topped with an orchid corsage. The Bible, with names imprinted in gold, was a gift from Mrs. N. A. Hightower, who is Sunday School teacher of the couple. She carried out the traditional custom of wearing "something old, new, borrowed, and blue."

Mrs. W. E. Moss, sister of the bride and matron-of-honor, was attired in a fall-styled nut brown crepe dress with white lace trimming. She wore white accessories and a corsage of white gladioli.

Miss Betty Jean Solomon, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid. She wore an aqua dress complemented by white accessories and a corsage of pink and white carnations.

The bride's brother, J. R. Mitchell Jr., attended the groom as best man and Scott Shepherd was groomsmen.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Mitchell chose a black dress with black accessories, and Mrs. Solomon, mother of the bridegroom, wore a black dress complemented by white accessories. Both had corsages of white gladioli.

Immediately following the ceremony, the bridal party was honored at a reception in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Moss. The bride's table was laid with a lace cloth and centered with a floral arrangement of pink and white carnations. Punch and a three-tiered wedding cake, decorated in white and pink and topped with a miniature bride and groom, was served by Miss White and Mrs. Ben Moss. Miss Sue Lynn Guthrie registered the guests.

The bride is a graduate of the Memphis High School and Lubbock Memorial Hospital Nursing School, having received her diploma in May. The groom is also a graduate of the Memphis High School. After completing high school he attended Texas Tech at Lubbock.

Following a honeymoon trip to points of interest in Colorado and New Mexico, the couple will be at home near Herford where the groom owns and operates a wheat farm.

REHEARSAL PARTY

On Friday evening of last week Mr. and Mrs. Jesse R. Mitchell entertained with a ranch style picnic at the city park honoring the couple. In attendance were the families of the bride and groom and members of the wedding party.

for all those born from the date of the county organization, 1890, to 1910, to be present.

The rodeo performances will start at 8:30 each night, and at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, visiting pilots are to be guests for the afternoon performance as they gather from over the area at the local airport.

Wednesday an outstanding attraction was added to the collection of rodeo performers when the Rotary Club announced that Leonard Stroud, a world champion roper, and a group of 12 boys from Boy's Ranch would perform.

Some of the nation's top arena contestants will vie for the $1,500 prizes in calf roping, bulldogging, steer riding, and bronc riding, and to this amount will be added the entrance fees.

The VFW, sponsors of the rodeo, invite everyone to attend the dances held each night after the rodeo performances, to be held over the McDaniel Implement Company across the street from the Memphis Hotel.

Admission for the dance will be $1 per person, plus tax.

Picnic at City Park Culminates Contest Held by Victory S. S. C.

Culminating a contest which began several weeks ago between members of the Victory Sunday School Class of the First Methodist Church, R. C. Lemons, leader of the losing team, and his group entertained members of the winning team with a picnic at the city park Tuesday evening.

Slogan for the contest was "Winners Eat Fried Chicken and Losers Beans." The losers not to be outdone had arranged an evening of gala entertainment for the winning team, which was led by Red Spradlin.

When the winning team arrived at the park they noted spread on a long table a feast of fried chicken and all the trimmings, while a short distance away stood a chuck wagon and preparations being made to serve a real western feed, including beans. Those who attended

Clarendon 12 to 11 In Upset

Clarendon tucked away a field fly hit by Putman in the ninth inning to win 12 to 11 over Memphis Sunday afternoon.

Memphis 8, Clarendon 6 after the first of the eighth, Memphis ran in 4 more in the second frame for what looked like a comfortable margin until Clarendon brought in five men in the ninth, leaving Meador on second as Putman came to bat. Had Gibson muffed the long fly the Sunday game would probably have turned into the biggest upset of the season.

Sport-Scope

Game Schedule
 No game Saturday night; Sunday, Quannah here for a double-header.

The double-header with Quannah here Sunday will be the most important games of the season for both teams. Last week Memphis trailed second-place Quannah Sunday Quannah, paced by the pitching of P. W. Flowers and Adrian Johnson, defeated Wellington 7-4 for the top position as Mobeetie, leading all season, added the toppling defeat Sunday when they lost to Childress 8 to 7.

Since Memphis won the Clarendon game, this leaves Memphis still in third slot, Childress fourth, Quannah and Mobeetie changing positions.

Should Memphis win both games Sunday the local nine would either take over top place in the league, or tie Mobeetie for first, as that would give 10 games won for three lost, while Quannah would have other possibilities, ranging down to a tie for fourth place, depending upon the outcome of the games played by Mobeetie and Childress.

The Shaughnessy play-off starts August 10 between Quannah, Mobeetie, Memphis, and Childress.

Edge Mobeetie Saturday 6 to 5

Memphis won a 6-5 game from Mobeetie here Saturday night in a contest almost as close as the 1-0 affair at the previous meeting of the two teams.

Mobeetie brought in four runs in the first inning, to put them out in front for most of the game. Gibson and McKnight tallied in the fourth for the first two Memphis runs. Gibson, who was on base by a shortstop error in the sixth, scored on a wild throw.

Moyer, Coppedge, and Berryman scored in the ninth to give the one point edge that won the game.

Keller hurled six strikeouts, as did the Dorman-Stephens combination.

Price Motor Service Changes Location

Dave Price announces that after this week the Price Motor Service will have a new location.

A complete parts, sales, and repair service is being installed at 216 North 6th street, at the location formerly occupied by the Scott Tin Shop, Price says.

The new location will offer more room, and the six skylights will improve working conditions considerably. Price invites those in need of repair service to come by and see him at his new location.

Timely Tips

that will help you water your lawn more economically

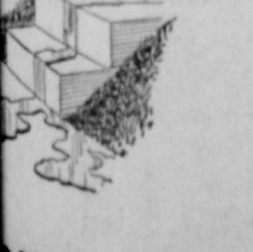

Water for irrigation is cheap, but not if it is wasted. Follow the suggestions below and you'll do a better job of watering your lawn and do it more economically.

USE A CANVAS SOIL SOAKER instead of a spray that throws water high into the air in a fine mist. Water from a soil soaker seeps slowly into the ground and none is wasted through evaporation. Grass roots grow deeper and the grass is better able to withstand hot weather.

WATER IN THE EVENING or early morning instead of during the heat of the day. The sun and hot daytime winds evaporate much of the water that should go into the soil, especially if a fine mist spray is used. Watering in the evening lessens this evaporation and prevents waste.

DO NOT WATER FASTER than soil can soak it up. Water that falls to the ground faster than soil can soak it up simply runs off and is wasted. Do not turn water on full force and do not leave sprinkler or soil soaker too long in one location.

INSISTIVE, CONTINUOUS EFFORT AIDED TO SLOW TRAFFIC DEATHS

MAJOR GENERAL
CLIP B. FLEMING

Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and General Counsel of the President's Highway Safety Conference. In the first four or five months of last year, people were being killed in such staggering numbers that it was confidently predicted the fatality list would exceed that for 1941. So when I say that the record for 1946 was "pretty good," what I mean is that it might have been much worse, that the rising curve of fatalities was turned downward, and that the number killed in proportion to miles driven was substantially less than in the year before. The improvement seems to be continuing into 1947.

It is significant that the tide turned last year following the President's Highway Safety Conference held in Washington early in May. Alarmed by the senseless and inexorable slaughter, President Truman called together the governors of the states, mayors of the larger cities, legislators, engineers, judges, educators, and other outstanding citizens to see if some means could not be devised to put an end to it.

The conference adopted an action program which contained recommendations of experts on various phases of the problem. Engineers, for example, showed how safer highways could be built. Lawyers stressed the importance of uniform traffic regulations. Judges and police officials drew up a list of the best techniques for traffic law enforcement. Educators drafted a program for teaching safety in the schools.

The 2,000 delegates to the conference took the action program to their home communities, determined to put it into effect among their own friends and neighbors. Some 20 of the governors called safety conferences of their own to supplement the President's conference. So did the mayors of some of the larger cities.

Everywhere it was agreed that brief "spasm" campaigns for traffic safety, which run for a few weeks and are then forgotten, bring no lasting benefits. Rather, the need is for intensive effort on the part of police, judges, educators, engineers, and the general public every day of the year.

Each one of us, as driver or pedestrian, must not only support the efforts of our public officials, but we must accept in good faith our own individual responsibility. Each man, woman, and child must accept in his own conscience, as before the law, the responsibility for the consequences of his own acts.

Where the action program has been put into effect and backed up by intensive effort, you will find traffic fatalities declining. Where public officials are conducting only occasional "spasm" crusades and the public is indifferent, you will find such fatalities rising.

This is the first of a series of articles dealing with the subject of traffic safety. Other articles to follow in The Democrat by authoritative spokesmen in the safety field, will show concretely how accidents are caused, how they can be prevented, what they cost in property damage as well as in lives lost, and what you, as a citizen, can do about them.

The average American farmer is in the best financial condition he's ever been in before.

the war when gasoline rationing drastically curtailed driving. After Japan surrendered and gasoline rationing was abandoned, fatal accidents shot upward. In the first four or five months of last year, people were being killed in such staggering numbers that it was confidently predicted the fatality list would exceed that for 1941. So when I say that the record for 1946 was "pretty good," what I mean is that it might have been much worse, that the rising curve of fatalities was turned downward, and that the number killed in proportion to miles driven was substantially less than in the year before. The improvement seems to be continuing into 1947.

It is significant that the tide turned last year following the President's Highway Safety Conference held in Washington early in May. Alarmed by the senseless and inexorable slaughter, President Truman called together the governors of the states, mayors of the larger cities, legislators, engineers, judges, educators, and other outstanding citizens to see if some means could not be devised to put an end to it.

The conference adopted an action program which contained recommendations of experts on various phases of the problem. Engineers, for example, showed how safer highways could be built. Lawyers stressed the importance of uniform traffic regulations. Judges and police officials drew up a list of the best techniques for traffic law enforcement. Educators drafted a program for teaching safety in the schools.

The 2,000 delegates to the conference took the action program to their home communities, determined to put it into effect among their own friends and neighbors. Some 20 of the governors called safety conferences of their own to supplement the President's conference. So did the mayors of some of the larger cities.

Everywhere it was agreed that brief "spasm" campaigns for traffic safety, which run for a few weeks and are then forgotten, bring no lasting benefits. Rather, the need is for intensive effort on the part of police, judges, educators, engineers, and the general public every day of the year.

Each one of us, as driver or pedestrian, must not only support the efforts of our public officials, but we must accept in good faith our own individual responsibility. Each man, woman, and child must accept in his own conscience, as before the law, the responsibility for the consequences of his own acts.

Where the action program has been put into effect and backed up by intensive effort, you will find traffic fatalities declining. Where public officials are conducting only occasional "spasm" crusades and the public is indifferent, you will find such fatalities rising.

This is the first of a series of articles dealing with the subject of traffic safety. Other articles to follow in The Democrat by authoritative spokesmen in the safety field, will show concretely how accidents are caused, how they can be prevented, what they cost in property damage as well as in lives lost, and what you, as a citizen, can do about them.

The average American farmer is in the best financial condition he's ever been in before.

The driver of one of these cars was in the act of passing another motorist just as he neared the crest of a hill. He collided head-on with a driver coming over the brow of the hill, and with the terrific impact the lighter car was crushed under the heavy one. The lawbreaker in this accident was killed—so was the other driver, and a passenger was seriously injured. Passing on blind curves and on hills is simply gambling with death. Improper passing accounted for more than 35,000 highway deaths and injuries in 1946, according to the National Conservation Bureau.

FOR YOUR SAFETY

Every known facility for safe operation and control of an automobile is built into it. These safety features have been given gruelling tests, they have been proved and perfected by years of the finest engineering experience. But their maintenance and handling are up to you. Safe driving depends upon the efficient operation of these factors.

Watch your steering gear for excessive play—keep your brakes in trim, inspect tires for weaknesses that may result in blowouts. Be sure all lights are working, "one-eyed" cars are dangerous. Check your mirror for clear rear-vision. Be sure your horn works—but don't abuse its use. Do your windshield wipers wipe?

Remember, no matter how good the safety features of your car—they are only as good as your ability to control them. If you are overtired from driving strain—stop, rest, drink a cup of coffee. If you are mentally or nervously upset, let someone else drive. If you've been drinking, stay off the road.

Keep your car—and yourself—always in condition for safe motoring.

NEW RENT CONTROL RULINGS AND VOLUNTARY LEASE ARE EXPLAINED

Editor's Note: In response to a number of inquiries from the Memphis area, the Childress rent control office has forwarded the following article, which is a summary compiled by Associated Press Washington correspondent, James Marlow.

Here's an ABC on the new rent control law which started July 1 and ends next March 1. Remember: No landlord can force you to pay higher rent than you were paying June 30, 1947, unless: the rent control director in your area—for some reason—gives your particular landlord permission to raise your rent. If your landlord—for any reason at all—tries to force you into paying higher rent, go see your rent control director.

So, unless the director tells you so, you don't have to pay any higher rent under the new law than you were paying June 30, 1947. But isn't there some way in which a landlord now can raise your rent through a deal between you and him? Yes, but only if you voluntarily agree. That agreement must be a written lease. It can't be verbal. The landlord can't force you into it. If you voluntarily agree to a lease which includes a rent raise, how much can he raise you? Not more than 15 per cent above what you were paying June 30, 1947. It can be less, but not more.

Is there any time limit on when such a lease, providing for a rent increase must be signed? Yes, not later than December 31, 1947. If it contains a rent increase it can't end before December 31, 1948, whether you sign it today, next week, next month, or as late as December 31, 1947. Why make December 31, 1948, the earliest date for ending a lease which contains a rent increase?

Example of Protection
It protects you from more than a 15 per cent increase for at least a year. Example: It protects you a year if you sign it as late as December 31, 1947. It protects you about 18 months if you sign now. Is it a good idea to sign such a lease? You'll have to decide. It's a gamble for you and the landlord. This is why: As noted: this new rent control law ends March 1, 1948. If congress does not extend it beyond then, government rent control will end March 1. If that happens—and unless there's a state law to stop him—a landlord then will be free to boost your rent sky high.

This is your gamble: Suppose you refuse to sign a lease giving the landlord a rent raise. Suppose further that rent controls are continued as they are now through 1948. Then you win. If you sign a lease giving the landlord a 15 per cent increase and all rent controls end March 1, your rent can't be raised further in 1948. This may mean a saving to you if rents generally—provided all controls end—go up more than 15 per cent in 1948.

And the Landlords
This is the landlord's gamble: If all controls end March 1, your landlord can raise you any amount. He can win on that because he can raise you enough to be sure of winning. If state controls stop him or congress renews rent controls beyond March 1, then he'll still be ahead on the deal with you since he'll have been getting from you for at least all of 1948 that 15 per cent increase you agreed to, if you sign a lease permitting the increase. He'll lose if you don't agree to an increase and rent controls remain as they are all through 1948.

Can a landlord put you out if you don't agree to let him raise your rent under the new rent law? No. Except for these reasons: (1) Failure to pay your regular rent; (2) Outlandish action that makes you a bad tenant, like destroying the landlord's property; (3) Committing a nuisance, like using the property for immoral or illegal purposes; (4) Using the property for something else besides living quarters; (5) The landlord himself wants to live in the property. He can't put you out just so some relative or friend can move in; (6) He's arranged (in writing) to sell the property to some one who wants to live in it himself. It must be for himself, not for a relative or friend; (7) The landlord wants to make some necessary—improvements or replace the property with some new building. (And such improvement cannot practically be done with tenant in occupancy.)

Must Go to Court
Those causes just given are the only ones for which a landlord can put you out. But, before he can put you out, he must go to a local court and state his case. Then it's up to the judge—in keeping with state laws—to decide whether you have to get out at all. Suppose the judge decides for the landlord and against you? When do you have to get out? That depends on the state in which you are living. State laws on this vary. You may have to get out in a few days or maybe not for 30 or more. If the judge says you have to get out, that's final. You can't protest to the government's rent control area director. But this new rent control law, which started July 1, ends March 1, 1948, unless congress extends it, knocked off some rent controls.

These are the controls wiped out by the new law: (1) All motor courts. (2) All tourist homes serving transient guests exclusively. (3) New dwellings completed after February 1, 1947, except for certain ones built under the Veterans Emergency Housing program. (4) Dwelling units not rented between February 1, 1945, and January 31, 1947. (5) All hotel rooms. This means hotel rooms which have the usually understood hotel service such as maid service, laundering of linen, and so on. This last—No. 5—means that permanent guests in hotels, guests who have had special rates for being permanent, now can be charged daily rates like any other hotel guests. (The landlord must file report in order to be decontrolled.)

Admiral McIntire Named Director Of ARC Program

Vice Admiral Ross T. McIntire, wartime surgeon general of the U. S. Navy, and formerly White House physician, has been named director of the new National Blood Program of the American Red Cross. The appointment was announced today by Basil O'Connor, the organization's president.

Recently approved as a Red Cross activity by its board of governors, the long-range program contemplates the provision of blood and its derivatives, without charge for the products, to the entire nation. Dr. McIntire will have supervision of the most far-reaching health program in the peacetime history of the Red Cross. O'Connor said. It is being undertaken, he pointed out, in direct response to the urgent need of the medical profession for blood in saving of life as well as in treatment and prevention of disease.

At the program's peak an estimated 3,700,000 blood donations will be required annually. O'Connor said this would necessitate establishment of strategically located centers where procurement of blood can be carried on under scientifically controlled conditions.

A cow helps a farmer very much. If the farmer has a cow, he does not have to buy milk, butter, cheese, or meats. A cow will help pay the grocery bill by furnishing milk and butter for the family and some extra to sell. A sow helps a farmer very much. If the farmer has a sow he doesn't have to buy meat because a sow gives him bacon, pork, ham, shoulder, and many other meats. He may want to use the fat of a sow for lard. If he keeps his sow, she might bring him some little pigs. And he can sell some of the pigs when they are old enough. Then he wants to take the rest of the pigs and fatten them for meat for the family use. The farmer may not have to buy feed for his sow. Sows like weeds, grass, roots, and corn. He may grow corn and have some to mix with the small grain for the balanced ration for the sow. The sow likes vegetables too. The farmer can build a shelter and it does not take much money to raise a sow because he can raise most of his feed and the sow will consume the waste. He can then sell her pigs and it will pay him back.

A hen helps a farmer. If a farmer has a flock of hens, he can make a lot of money or save a lot of money because a hen gives a farmer eggs, and meat. It doesn't take much money for a farmer to raise hens because he can sell eggs and the meat of chickens. This makes the hen pay for her own way. She can rustle for part of her food. Grass and bugs are good for her. She usually cleans up the small grains left by the stock or hogs. Then the farmer who wants to be economical and make everything he plants yield him a profit will plant more than one crop and keep cows, pigs, and chickens to eat up his extra feed.

I have an alfalfa pasture. I have a lot of skimmed milk for the sow. The pasture has running water. If the sow has little pigs I have three stalls. Each stall has electric lights. I have wheat, maize, and plenty of fresh

A NATIONAL HIGHWAY SAFETY CAMPAIGN

Through the combined efforts of thousands of daily and weekly newspapers throughout the United States, a National Highway Safety Program has been launched throughout the nation. Because of its purpose alone, the campaign is one of the most praiseworthy and beneficial public services in recent years.

Any effort to reduce or eliminate the tragic toll of traffic accidents which annually account for thousands of needless deaths is worthy of wholehearted support.

Last year 33,500 persons were accidentally killed on our streets and highways. The staggering total of 1,150,000 were injured and an economic loss of over two billion dollars resulted.

What makes those lost lives, the pain and suffering, and the economic loss more tragic is the realization that, with proper care and precaution, they could have been avoided.

Now, as a result of the President's Highway Safety Conference last year and the second meeting of the Conference recently, an intensive effort is being made to prevent traffic accidents in the future. Much has already been accomplished in the way of traffic enforcement and engineering. The National Highway Safety Program is the newspapers' contribution to the educational phase of accident prevention.

But it has been significantly pointed out by Maj. Gen. Philip B. Fleming, general chairman of the President's Highway Safety Conference, that brief, spasmodic campaigns will not bring lasting results. There is need for intensive effort on the part of every man, woman and child.

"Each one of us, as driver or pedestrian," says General Fleming, "must accept in good faith our own individual responsibility. Each man, woman and child must accept in his own conscience, as before the law, the responsibility for the consequences of his own acts."

That can mean only one thing. We must all, by our own individual efforts, strive constantly for the improvement of the public attitude toward safety. The result will be the sparing of our own lives or those of the ones near and dear to us.

QUOTING OUR NEIGHBORS

More About Wheat

During the pre-harvest summer heat a Jerico wheat farmer went to Colorado for a vacation. He climbed the Pike's Peak, was overcome by the cold, rarified air and was pronounced dead by a physician. Officials wired the relatives and asked instruction for the disposal of the remains and was told to cremate the body and send the ashes back home. The late farmer was placed in the crematory. Hours later, when the attendant returned, he was amazed to find the farmer sitting up and grinning happily. "My goodness!" he told the attendant, mopping the perspiration from his brow. "It's just like home. Another week of this and the wheat'll be ripe."—The Groom News.

Relief Wheat

Nearly a carload of wheat has been contributed by the Ochiltree County wheat growers to the world relief fund sponsored by the Church World Service, reports Ward Gregg county chairman.

The goal for this county was set at 100,000 bushels of wheat which will be processed into special relief cereal and sent to the people in Europe and Asia.—The Ochiltree County Herald.

 QUALITY JOB PRINTING

While in a South Texas town recently, I was told that an argument arose at a ladies' bridge club as to whether when after one cuts the cards before they are dealt, the one making the cut should put the two stacks back together. So (according to the story) they decided to write to a famous bridge expert. He replied that, while there was no actual rule, it was courtesy for the one cutting the cards to put the two stacks together.

With that, the ladies thought the matter closed. But not quite, for at the end of the month here came a bill for $30 from the expert. The club members consulted an attorney in their town to learn whether they had to pay the $30 and he advised them that they did as the man they had consulted was an expert in the field of bridge rules and that such advice was the way he earned his living. So they paid him the $30.

Then at the end of the month came a bill to the club for $10 from the lawyer!

Which reminds me of Mr. Goldberg. His friend, an attorney,

Sentinels of Health
 Don't Neglect Them!
 Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood streams free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure.
 When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer sagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all worn out.
 Frequent, scanty or burning passages are sometimes further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance.
 The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed the country over. Insist on Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

Let us join together and take part in the Rodeo and Old Settlers Reunion. Since the end of World War II this is the first occasion our community has had an opportunity to celebrate in the old-time western manner. It is something we have been looking forward to, and much good can come from affairs such as these. This bank is truly an "old timer" of Hall County, having been established over 46 years ago.
