Winning 4-H Essay

Editor's Note: This is the 13th in a series of winning 4-H essays from the contest conducted in the county recently. David Francis of Estelline wrote the following paper on "Diversified Farming."

To show the value of rotation of crops I am going to tell a true story of two men whom my father knew. For convenience we will call them Mr. A and Mr. B.

Mr. A owned 160 acres of land, most of it in cultivation. He bought a tractor on time. He planted every acre in cotton. He bought milk, meat, eggs, and vegetables for his family. He had two small children, his wife and himself. His grocery bill was high. His children did not have the proper food. They were sickly and the services of the doctor were needed often. He made a fair cotton crop the first year, but labor was high and he didn't really clear very much from his cotton crop. However, he paid his grocery bill and some on the tractor.

The next year King Cotton was his only crop. He had to mortgage his 160 acres to borrow enough money to run him during the year. A poor crop and low prices made it impossible to meet all the mortgage on his land, but he still clung to cotton. He finally lost his land and sold his tractor for enough money to buy an old car in which to hunt for work. Now he is dragging his family around looking for work and eating out of paper sacks.

Mr. B, too, had 160 acres of fairly good land. He too bought a tractor on time. He also borrowed enough money to buy two good milk cows, 250 chickens, and a good brood sow. He rotated his crops in such a way as to make his land more valuable. He planted 75 acres in cotton each year. On the remaining 85 acres he made feed, hay, and a garden besides his pasture. He sold his roosters and paid for all his chickens. His pullets helped him feed his family. His cows fed themselves and helped to feed the chickens and pigs, besides furnishing the family with good wholesome food. One calf was a male. He fed it well for eight months, butchered it, put half of it in his locker and sold the other half for a profit. He kept the heifer and soon had three cows instead of two.

At the end of the year he owed very little for groceries, thanks to his chickens and cows. His pigs were ready to butcher and put away for meat for winter. With his cotton crop he was able to pay for his cows and sow, and some on his tractor. He kept enough to buy groceries with the help of his hens and cows. He borrowed enough to buy a fifteen-acre plot to even up his land. Each year he has diversified and each year he has made a little more. He now owns a 400-acre plot of land, has a number of good cows, sells pigs every year and makes his chickens pay. He has improved his premises and his children are healthy and happy.

Both of these men worked hard, but one failed to treat his land right and lost. The other diversified and made good.

Mr. and Mrs. Claud Johnson have as guests Mrs. Johnson's sister, Mrs. S. A. Tidwell and daughter Jeanette of Stephenville. Two other sisters, Mrs. Guy Wright and Mrs. D. J. McClellan of Lubbock, were also visitors in the Johnson home from Friday until Monday. Sunday the group visited in Pampa in the home of another sister, Mrs. F. A. Howard. Miss Betty Howard returned home with them Sunday night and accompanied her aunts to Lubbock Monday.

O'Brien Flails Home Team for 19 Runs Tuesday

O'Brien took an early lead and followed through behind the consistent and controlled hurling of Pitman to win 19-2 over a weak Memphis team Tuesday night. The scoring was aided considerably by Memphis infield errors.

Aside from a three-hit, three run spurt in the second inning it was an even game up to the sixth inning, Memphis pulling slowly up with three hits, two runs.

In the fourth Stewart got a single to left, was followed on base by Berryman and Keller singles, to load the bases. McKnight, Davis, and Barnes struck out in succession, although Stewart had managed to sneak in home as the catcher missed a throw. In the fifth inning Dennis came in for the second score on a wild throw to third.

Pitman, the O'Brien hurler, fanned 11 while holding Memphis to six hits. Parker fanned 7 and allowed 7 hits. He was relieved in the first of the eighth by Stewart, who fanned 1, allowing 8 hits which were good for 12 runs.

Six-Inch Sermon

† REV. ROBERT H. HARPER †
Sound Advice Against Strong Drink (Temperance Lesson).

Lesson for August 17: Proverbs 20:1; 23:19-21; 29:35; Ecclesiastes 10:17.

Memory Selection: Ephesians 5:18.

The whole of the lesson is a warning against the deceitfulness of strong drink and against "moderate drinking." But few ever succeed in drinking in moderation, for beverage alcohol is habit-forming. In time it develops a depraved appetite that cries out to be satisfied. How can any man promise himself that he will never drink to excess?

Christians should take an unequivocal stand against any use whatsoever of alcohol as a beverage, and set an example of abstinence that will give the ring of sincerity to their voices when they speak against strong drink, as speak they should. Cooperative opposition to the liquor traffic is needed at the present, when multiplied persons of both sexes, young and old, have acquired and are acquiring the drink habit.

The deceitfulness of strong drink, its terrible effects, and the utter temporal and spiritual ruin it often brings to those who indulge are all set forth in the lesson text. If drinking wine in Solomon's day brought ruin to wine-bibers, what would he think, if he were living today, of the distilled liquors of heavy alcoholic content?

The lesson closes with a picture of the land in which the princes and nobles are free from gluttony and drunkenness. How often are our own public men addicted to strong drink! Public men should set an example of sobriety, and our people should be resolutely set against the growing sale and use of strong drink.

Will Conduct Hall Irrigation Tests

At least one irrigational experiment will be conducted in Hall County within the near future to determine commercial possibilities.

Frank Q. Ward of Borger has notified the Memphis chamber of commerce and Hall County board of development of such intentions and has asked for names of well drilling contractors who have brought in wells in the vicinity.

Edwin Thompson of Memphis has proven the merits of irrigation this summer at his truck farm near the city limits, having produced bumper crops of vegetables, it is reported.

Ninety-five pounds of ground wheat or 99 pounds of un-ground wheat is equal to about 100 pounds of No. 2 shelled corn in a hog ration. Wheat is lacking in vitamins A and D, however, which can be made up with alfalfa meal or hay, or green grazing.

office was in the post office. It will be the second week of September before he returns for another two days, it was announced.

Some of the information given by the recruiter, Chief Quartermaster M. E. Pierce, should be of value to all navy veterans and to those men who are contemplating enlisting or re-enlisting.

Of interest to all was the announcement that his office in Amarillo is issuing medals to all qualified navy veterans. The World War II victory medal is issued to those presenting their original discharge and notice of separation, NAVPERS form 553. Men holding under honorable conditions discharges may receive the medal as well as those with an honorable discharge. Men who served in the navy prior to "Pearl Harbor" may receive the American defense medal by presenting the same documents.

Men thinking of re-enlisting will be interested to know that in some cases they may now enlist up to as high as second class petty officer. In most instances a drop of one pay grade will be effected except for chief and third class petty officers. Many of the third class men retain their rating, but chief petty officers will have to drop to second class.

Other pertinent facts regarding navy recruiting at this time are the shore enlistments and the new pay scale. It is now possible for men to enlist for three, four, or six years. Under the pay scale adopted in July 1946, an apprentice seaman, the lowest navy rate, receives $75 per month and this is graduated proportionately up to $115 per month for second class petty officer, the highest rate in which a navy veteran may now enlist.

Full particulars on any question regarding the navy may be obtained by writing or by personal contact with the navy recruiting station, post office building, Amarillo.

City May Get Hostess Service

Leo Ehrle, manager of the Childress City Hostess Service, was in Memphis this week planning to install a similar service through local merchants, and seeking a city hostess for Memphis.

Ehrle operated a service in Childress four years before entering the army in World War II and has reopened his business there during the past year with 17 Childress merchants offering the courtesy service.

Purpose of the hostess service, according to Ehrle, is to welcome new comers to the city and extend invitations from participating firms. The book of invitations usually offers welcome gifts and pertinent facts about the city and trade area, he added.

Turkey Tuesday to tell them about Carnival plans. Several of the candidates for Miss Memphis accompanied the local delegation. Turkey is holding a contest of its own to select its queen candidate and according to Turkey Lions that region intends to storm Memphis with everything they have for the October occasion.

Decorators representatives will be here this week to discuss plans in decorating the city for the carnival dates.

Technicians from the Joan Frank Productions will arrive here next week to discuss plans and make arrangements for the stage show.

Many other representatives of large manufacturing firms have written their intention of being here by September 10 to lay out display booths, arrange for street locations, lights, power, water, and other items necessary to properly display their products.

Camera news reel men will be here in early September to complete plans for camera locations and outline highlights of the carnival program suitable for screening.

Amarillo has completed plans for the special train which will bring hundreds of delegates, the Will Rogers Range Riders, Sandies band, and the Amarillo College band among others, it was announced.

Plainview has announced half of that Hale County capital will move to Memphis for the occasion as has Childress, Pampa, Perryton, Spearman, Tulla, Canyon, Clarendon, Quanah, and Vernon, Flynn said.

Each day's mail brings new announcements of people to come to Memphis for the Carnival.

Carnival highlights, street shows, street dances, football games, wrestling matches, stage musical revues, concerts, midnight matinees, concessions, and exhibits are filling the menu of entertainment for Memphis.

Queen candidates of West Texas will be judged from midnight, October 2 through midnight October 4. The winner will be officially known as "Maid of West Texas Cotton." She will be awarded a handsome vacation trip to a glamorous city of her choice.

Committees pertinent to the carnival plans will be called into meetings, within the next week, Flynn has announced.

The invitation, display, concessions, special events, housing, steering, and finance committees are now functioning, it was added.

Herbert Estes, chairman of the housing committee, said today he was assured every spare room within the city would be pledged for our guests.

All in all it now appears Memphis will be host to the largest crowd in the history of the region. Everyone is asked to cooperate in making the city worthy of the honors due it from the thousands coming here to make the Carnival worthy of representing West Texas and its future.

Three Members—

named for participation in final discussion groups that afternoon, Hooser said.

Discussion panels of adult leaders will also be held.

4-H Encampment Termed Success

Sixteen Hall County 4-H Club boys returned Saturday from a three-day encampment at Perkins Boy Scout Camp, 14 miles north of Wichita Falls, and what District Supervisor J. M. Potts termed "one of the most successful 4-H camps yet held in the state."

W. B. Hooser, county agent, said the Hall boys were among the most active participants in rifle matches, softball, horse shoe pitching, swimming, and other activities which included educational discussions led by specialists.

The Hall County boys, participating as a group, won third place in the rifle matches with a score of 557, above the 543 core which qualified one team to participate in matches at College Station. It was pointed out that the Hall County group was not selected for the College Station rifle matches because they were not affiliated with a rifle association. The Haskell group won first place in the shooting events.

Reports from the camp indicate that the program, under the direction of W. B. Hooser, was warmly approved by 4-H members and adult leaders alike.

Reserve Officers Will Meet Friday

The organizational meeting of the district chapter of the Reserve Officers Association will be held at 8 o'clock Friday night, August 15, in the district court room of the Childress County court house, it was announced by Charles Damon this week.

This chapter will include both ground force and air force reserve officers in Childress, Hardeeman, Foard, Cottle, Hall, and Collingsworth counties.

Major Huddleston W. Wright, instructor of the Amarillo chapter, will be present to assist in the organization.

All reserve officers are urged to be present for this initial meeting, Damon said.

that flowers will grow and do well if given proper attention.

Now, that one celebration is over it is time to get ready for the greatest of celebrations due here October 3 and 4. A lot of publicity, both locally and far and near, has already been given the Cotton, Chemurgic, and Ceramics Carnival to be staged here at that time. A lot more will be given during the next two months. Frankly, folks, it is an amazing thing when one visualizes just what the carnival will mean to West Texas and Hall County, and just how many folks will likely attend the affair. There will not be room in the business section of Memphis to take care of the various exhibits that have already been promised. When ex-governor Lee O'Daniel visited Memphis during a celebration here some years ago, the square was full of people. When the carnival is held here, the whole town will overflow with humanity. So get ready to hold your breath and be amazed beyond comprehension.

A general clean-up of the whole town should be made between now and October 3. Let's make war on weeds, filth, and the general unsightly appearance of the town, for visitors will be on hand by the thousands. Let's show them the town is clean physically, if not morally. Many vacant lots in town are so full of weeds, they could be safe hiding places for wild varmints, etc. Also, something should be done about the City Park. Old settlers and visitors at the reunion were not too favorably impressed with the knee-high grass and weeds all over this playground of the community.

very serious, but could have been, he said. The cause was excess shrubbery growing up at the corner. He reported other places in Memphis in the same condition, and believes something should be done about it, both by owners and city officials.

Miller could have reported tree limbs hanging so low they menace the eyes of pedestrians as they walk along the sidewalks in just a few blocks of the square, as well as a lot of weed-patches on vacant lots near nice residences that show up like Lottie's black eye. Let's all get a little more civic pride and do a little manual labor in cleaning up these eyesores and life and health men-

Speaking of weeds, Lloyd Phillips brought a stalk of "hog weed" to The Democrat office Monday that sure takes the cake. The weed is between six and seven feet in height and measured across the lower branches more than eight feet. It grew on the Farmers Union gin lot and demonstrates the productiveness of Hall County soil.

Lewis Nordyke, who conducts a column in the Amarillo News, has issued a challenge, and before the forthcoming October celebration I expect to show him it can be done. In fact, we have been saving some extra big type for the event and I betcha he will see the whole name in one line. Here is his comment:

Waddy Week, Dogie Week, Top O' Texas and things like that, and then Memphis, down in Hall, comes along with a jawbreaker that sounds as if it might have something to do with socialized medicine or a tax program for co-ops. It comes October 3 and 4 and is called the Memphis West Texas Cotton, Chemurgic, and Ceramics Carnival. We know what they mean by "cotton" and "carnival," but it's entirely too hot to bother about "chemurgic" and "ceramics." By October we may have more of a laboratory urge. Meanwhile, we want to see The Memphis Democrat get the whole name of the show in one headline.

The more I study the Childress Junior College question, the more I believe the tax payers of Hall County do not want to saddle themselves with a bond issue to support the college when it should be a state-supported and state-bought institution. People already pay school taxes in various ways, and these should be used instead of voting more for that purpose. A small percentage of the high school graduates would attend the Junior college, but most of them, when they go to college, want it to be away from home, and not attended by bus as was the case during their high school years. The amount of money Hall County would have to pay for the junior college each year could be used in adding two years to the high school curriculum.

There seems to be a mix-up in the claims of the junior college proponents. When the subject was first announced, it was agreed that a small percentage of the voters could petition for an election to be held, and then should the majority in the several counties in the proposed district vote in favor, the county that voted against would still have to go along, like in the case of county schools. Later, proponents state the law has been changed so that any county in the proposed district would not be included unless the majority of voters of that county were for the tax. Now, to mix it up again, Douglas Meador of the Matorador Tribune, who has been engaged by the Childress leaders to furnish publicity, in an editorial last week said, "Tax-payers and voters should have been acquainted with the fact that the 20c per $100 county valuation levy cannot be raised unless it is voted by the majority of the people in the four counties."

Does Hall County have to go into the district against the wishes of the majority of the voters? Voters have been confused over the question ever since the first agitation. The leaders—should clear up the matter so the voters can vote on the proposition intelligently when the election is held.

I am not the only one who is mixed up. The following letter from an Estelline friend indicates that Malone Hagan, a former Memphian and now a Childress resident, is in the same condition:

Estelline, August 7, 1947. Dear Editor Wells: Did you hear what Malone Hagan said over the Childress radio station this afternoon? He quoted Editor Wells of The Memphis Democrat as being favorable to the establishment of the junior college down there, and if you are then I have really misunderstood your editorials. I am fully in accord with your sentiments as I understand them and feel that Mr. Hagan is misinformed. I'd like to see your editorial this week published in the Childress Reporter—on the first page. (Signed.)

I have no control over the Childress Reporter. So suppose the editorial will not appear therein.

I am taking the liberty of lifting a news letter from The Wellington Leader written by Duard Scott, a hardware merchant and leading business man of Dodson, a former Democrat printer:

I see in last week's Leader where some unidentified "Sponsors of better education" have raised around twenty bucks to put an advertisement in your paper telling us Collingsworth County folks what a wonderful opportunity we now have to vote some more taxes to help them support a Junior College over at Childress.

At first glance, the plans the Childress chamber of commerce have made to spend our money look pretty good. There is considerable appeal to the idea of having our kids stay at home while they go to college. Unfortunately, like many other dreams, everything isn't exactly like it seems at first though.

How much time would a child have at home after riding a bus from two to six hours every day, and spending a full day at school? How many of us would have the time to take our children to Wellington, or some point on the bus line, and go get them in the afternoon? These college buses couldn't come to our doorstep after them like the school buses do unless we happen to live on the Childress-Wellington highway.

Nobody I ever heard of could get by in college without a lot of hours of home work. Add this time to regular school time, time getting to and from the bus, and time on the bus. You won't have much left for eating and sleeping. I just don't believe it's worth all that time and trouble and expense and wear-and-tear on our kids to give them a couple of years in a second-rate college; not even when we consider also how nice and profitable it would be for Childress to have this school on their doorstep.

A good part of the advantage in a college education is the prestige of it, anyway. And I never heard anybody bragging about being a graduate of some two-bit junior college.

From a purely practical standpoint, I claim that if we're going to vote some more school taxes, let's use the money on our present schools. Every school in this county has a struggle to get by financially. If more money is to be spent, they ought to have it. Every one could do a better job with a little more money. Any child would be better off with good high school training and no college at all than with short-weight high school and a chamber of commerce college diploma.

I'm for using our money to improve our county high schools and either let Childress finance their own school, or just get along without the business and the ego-tickling advantages of a college. D. E. Scott.

Miss Martha Lynn Godfrey Is Married To Tom Smith In Pretty Home Service

MR. AND MRS. JOHN SMITH (Photo By Wise Studio)

In a pretty home ceremony Sunday morning, July 27, at 9 o'clock, Martha Lynn Godfrey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Godfrey became the bride of Tom John Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Smith of Carona, N. M. Rev. C. R. Tension, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Memphis, read the impressive single-ring ceremony.

For the exchange of vows the couple stood at an improvised altar arranged before the fire place. Centering the mantelpiece was a low graceful arrangement of white gladioli and baby breath. Tall candelabras bearing graduated candles completed the decorations for the nuptial setting, which was reflected in a large wall mirror over the mantel. Preceding the ceremony Miss Gayle Stilwell, accompanied by Miss Gladys Bownds, sang "I Love You Truly" Miss Bownds played the traditional wedding march. "Always" was played softly during the exchange of vows.

Attending the bride as maid-of-honor, Miss Maria Baskerville was attired in a moss green crepe dress. She wore a corsage of pink and white carnations.

John Molesworth of Clarendon was best man and Bengy Godfrey, brother of the bride, lighted the tapers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a white crepe dress fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and drape skirt, with matching accessories. She carried a cascade bouquet of white gladioli and tube roses. For something old she wore her mother's diamond ear screws and, for something borrowed, a diamond ring belonging to Maria Baskerville.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Godfrey chose a white dress complimented with a corsage of carnations. Mrs. Pollard, grandmother of the bride, wore a black dress with a white corsage.

Following the ceremony, the bridal party was honored at a reception. The appointed bride's table, draped with a lace cloth, bore the white wedding cake, topped with three wedding bells and pink rose buds. The centerpiece for the table was a low cut bowl with pink asters and white snowballs. The crystal punch bowl was at the extreme end of the table. Misses Minerva Baskerville and Gayle Stilwell presided at the refreshment table.

After the reception the bride and groom left for points of interest in Colorado. They plan to establish their home on a ranch near Carona. For travel the bride chose a dress maker suit of gray gabardine with black and white accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Memphis High School with the class of '47. She was a member of the Sub-Deb Club. The groom is a graduate of Childress High School and served two years in the armed service.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were John Molesworth, Freddy Molesworth, Patty

It is a modern detergent (self-cleaning), oxidation-inhibiting type. Lessons learned in developing heavy-duty lubricants for Army tanks and trucks, the experience of others who have developed detergent-type oils, and demands of engine manufacturers for higher-speed, higher-pressure engines, have been taken into consideration.

These stocks from the Oklahoma fields, which are now recognized as among the finest in the world, are another contributing feature of this great oil.

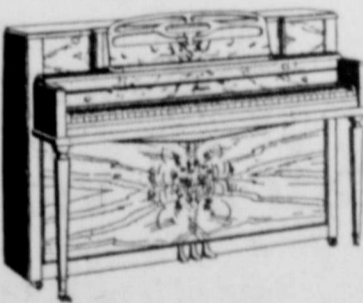

Phillips 66 Premium Motor Oil is now available at all Phillips 66 Dealers. We urge you to equip your car with our finer, newer automotive

Second Mat Card Will Open Here Tomorrow Night At 8:30

Clean and Fast Wrestling To Be Featured Friday

The second-double-header main event of wrestling slated for Friday night in the high school gymnasium, promises to be one of variety at least.

Starting promptly at 8:30 o'clock, Dory Detton, popular 185-pounder of Amarillo, clashes with Billy Weidner, 186 pounds, of Boston, Mass. These wrestlers are clean, fast, and exponents of wrestling holds rather than brute strength or slugging.

Detton defeated Weidner seven years ago for the 175-pound title and as both have grown heavier in intervening years and widely separated over the nation, have not met since that date. Weidner said this week he "welcomed the chance of meeting Detton again" and expressed hopes of evening the score in Memphis.

In the second main event of the evening the story will probably be different. Tex Watkins, one of the toughest 196 pound sailors in the business, meets Walter Stratton, 186 pound strong man of Youngstown, Ohio. Watkins, who originally hailed from Post, Texas, won about every title the U. S. Navy offered in wrestling and while friends and foes agree Tex is one of the

BILLY WEIDNER

TEX WATKINS

Billy Weidner and Dory Detton will meet tomorrow night as a result of Weidner winning over Al Getz here two weeks ago. Detton challenged the winner of that contest. The other main attraction will be a contest between Tex Watkins and Walter Stratton.

top-notch grapplers of the era, he prefers to mix it up with fighting. He is known as the villain-meanie of the ring today.

Stratton started his career as a weight-lifter, won many championships with his strength before turning to the professional ranks of wrestling. He has been listed among the top 10 light-heavyweights since beginning his current profession.

The wrestling matches are sponsored by the chamber of commerce as a benefit of the West Texas Cotton, Chemurgic, and Ceramics Carnival to be held here October 3-4.

A new ring has been built this week which should add enjoyment for all fans as well as increasing visibility of the arena action. Ringsiders especially will enjoy the added improvements, officials believe. A new light has been erected over the ring thus insuring a well-lighted view of all holds and slugging.

Advance ticket sales this week have been brisk. Ducats may be secured at the chamber of commerce offices or at Durham's Pharmacy, Tarver's Pharmacy, City Drug Store, Stanford Drug, and J. C. Penney Co.

Admission prices are: Ringside, $1.75; reserved, $1.25; general admission, 85 cents. All prices include taxes.

Fans are cautioned against taking soft drink bottles to their seats at wrestling matches, Commissioner N. W. Durham warned this week. "All drinks must be sold in paper cups to comply with the state law," he said.

High school students are in charge of the concessions at all matches, and ask the cooperation of fans in not asking for drinks in bottles. Wendell Harrison is the official timekeeper for local bouts, and Dr. O. R. Goodall is official physician.

CZAR DURHAM BALKS

N. W. Durham, a Memphis druggist among many other professions including that of commissioner of wrestling, believes The Memphis Democrat is lacking something on the society side of its staff. At least he has threatened a local pastor, the chamber of commerce, and a few assorted individuals this week because The Democrat failed to mention still another chore of his of recent date, that as best man at a wedding.

Czar Durham, as he is known in the wrestling profession, was best man at the wedding of Mrs. Elma Curlin and Pat Flynn the evening of August 1, and, according to the principals, performed his duties with dispatch and thoroughness. In fact, he grudgingly refrained from his magical knowledge when the pastor asked him for the ring. He has been cited accordingly.

Memphis Wins 12 to 6 Saturday From Canyon

Memphis won a 12-6 game from Canyon here Saturday night, establishing an early lead threatened only in the sixth inning, when the visitors ran in five men. Memphis retaliated with five scores in that inning, then added three more in the seventh and eighth.

Moyer, McKnight, and Gibson started the scoring in the first. Berryman and Gibson scoring in the third. The deluge came in the sixth when the Memphis team hit five times, good for five runs as they batted around. The Canyon nine had made five runs the first half of that frame, mostly on four Memphis errors.

Berryman and Watkins were out front with three hits each. Davidson struck out three and held the visitors to five hits.

MEMPHIS CHECKS QUANAH RAILS TO WIN 5 TO 4 SEMI-FINAL SUNDAY

The Memphis nine battled out a close 5-4 game to win at Quannah Sunday and take the first of the semi-finals in the Red River Valley play-offs.

Out front by 5 to 1, the visiting locals were challenged by two Quannah runs in the second of the seventh and a two-base hit by Garner and a couple of Memphis errors brought in Edmondson and Johnson.

A Coppedge three-base hit to left field started scoring in the first inning when Coppedge came in on Berryman's single to the same sector.

In the second inning Davis walked and Barnes singled, both coming in as Moyer hit for three bases. Berryman and Moyer accounted for the other two tallies in the sixth and seventh.

The Quannah team made a final threat in the ninth. Hatcher led off with a two-bagger to left field. Garner and Edmondson fled out to short. Ayers hit to left field to bring in Hatcher, but Ayers was left on base as Keller

That Nagging Backache

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its busy and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—feel constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

LIVES VS. MINUTES

Why, ask those who are shocked by our annual traffic death rate, do motorists weave in and out of traffic lanes? Why do they blast their horns when another auto fails to get away fast when the stop light changes to green? Why do drivers stopping at intersections ease their vehicles over the crosswalks, thus blocking pedestrian lanes?

The answer is no less shameful than it is simple. The motorist just wants to get someplace in a hurry. He is maddened by the potentialities of speed in the powerful machine he drives, he is intoxicated with the idea that this modern age demands haste at all times.

He wants to get someplace in just a little less time than he got there the last time so he can prate and boast of his prowess as a madcap Barney Oldfield. It makes good conservation. But so do funerals. And the average modern driver is contributing equally to both subjects of conversation.

Traffic engineers who designed our streets and highways have done everything in their power to minimize the danger of driving. Enforcement officials are likewise improving and standardizing regulations to take the bugs out of traffic hazards. They are engaged in a life and death race with increasing auto production. One major fault in our modern life deters them. That fault is the irresponsible attitude of the man behind the wheel.

All the education, enforcement and engineering we can muster will be of little avail if the individual driver persists in the attitude that the spectre of accidents will not touch him and he can indulge in excessive speed and reckless driving. In the final analysis, each individual must do his or her part if we are to save the lives of our friends, our families, or ourselves.

Saving lives is infinitely more important than saving minutes.

Poor Quality Wheat

Thirty-five per cent of the wheat produced in Deaf Smith County in the bumper 1947 crop is of such poor milling quality that millers are either refusing to buy it at all or docking the price up to 20 cents a bushel at terminal markets. . . .

Deaf Smith County mill and elevator operators joined the Burrus subsidiary one hundred per cent this week in sponsoring a full-page advertisement in The Brand setting forth the facts and urging local wheat growers to plant better milling varieties of wheat in the future.

Two varieties of wheat, Chief-tan and Red Chief, were responsible for the bulk (34 per cent) of the poor quality wheat produced in this county. Early blackhull, also blacklisted by the millers, accounted for the remaining one per cent.—The Hereford Brand.

Think It Over

There is a difference between smart and wise. Knowledge is from the mind but wisdom comes from the heart.—Groom News.

BOYCE HOUSE

When I was a little boy, I visited Hot Springs, Ark., with my parents and my most vivid recollection was a visit to Happy Hollow. At the name suggests, it was a wooded spot at the foot of mountains and there were burros that a boy could ride. In Happy Hollow, we chanced to meet a lady and her little son from our home town; he was my chum. He and I took a ride on burros and had our picture taken together.

Not long after that, Stewart drowned and his mother asked my mother for the picture, and of course the request was granted.

Recently while in Hot Springs I asked, not very hopefully, if Happy Hollow was still there—and was surprised when told that after more than 40 years, it still was. So Col. Tom Boles, superintendent of Hot Springs National Park, drove by there—and the memories came thronging back. The spot was little changed except there were ponies now and a surrey for hire, "with a fringe on top."

Col. Boles for years was in charge of Carlsbad Cavern and there he met many Texans, so he says he is always especially glad to meet folks from this state. In every crowd that went through the cavern, there were always more from Texas than any other state and so when he called the roll of states, giving the number of visitors from each one, he would skip Texas on purpose and call it last.

The colonel took us—my wife, her mother, and me—for a daylight drive up the winding roads that climb the two big mountains overlooking Hot Springs—a scenic experience. We also took the same drive but at night with Carl Crow, business man, and as you looked down on the lofty towers of the Arlington far below and the innumerable lights of many colors, blinking and twinkling like stars, and then looked up at the real stars while the wind whistled through the pines and their aromatic odor drifted to your nostrils—brother, that's something to remember!

This Week in WASHINGTON

ALTHOUGH RETURNS are not complete on various appropriation bills and neither are totals complete on new commitments of the 80th congress, it seems apparent that whatever slashes have been made in governmental costs will be largely offset by new expenditures.

Chief among these new commitments is, of course, the two billion dollar cost of redeeming terminal leave bonds.

Congress, while making slashes in appropriations, has failed to reduce the extent of government services and as a result, in many cases cost of these services will be transferred back to the states so that in the final analysis the cut in appropriations represents no net saving in taxes.

For instance, if the house cuts stand in the bureau of Indian affairs, 21 states will be forced to expend almost four million dollars more for education if they are to continue to educate Indians in the states.

Another instance where states will be forced to put up the money slashed by congress is in the ground water studies of the geological survey. These studies have been made on a 50-50 basis, the states paying half and the federal government paying half under a long-standing agreement. In Florida, for instance, ground water studies are important to development of the state, and in 15 western states the additional cost to them with federal funds withdrawn will be approximately 600 million dollars.

Another result of drastic cuts in appropriations and failure to cut services at the same time will bring about a more centralized government, which is directly opposite the policy which has been enforced for several years. The trend has been to decentralize government. For instance, drastic cuts in agriculture, in commerce and in the department of the interior will mean the closing of scores of state field offices in these departments and more centralization of the work in Washington.

When the 80th congress convened and even before, Congressman John Taber of New York, chairman of the house appropriations committee, announced that he would definitely "fire" a million government employees. He said the government could get along with that many less employees and not even counting the tremendous reduction in government expenditures as a result of liquidation of thousands of war agencies and the reduction of civilians as a result of the reduction of the military establishment to a peacetime level. Highest figure including all is a reduction of approximately 1,000,000. So Congressmen reached approximately one-half their goal.

Debate in the closing days of congress over the agricultural appropriation bill was particularly long and lengthy with reference to the controversial issues of conservation, school lunches and payments. The house OGP committee had reduced soil conservation payments from 300 million to 150 million dollars, had eliminated 212 million dollars parity payment appropriations had reduced the school program from 75 million dollars to 40 million dollars. The house slashed the budget estimate 140,000 for federal meat inspection almost in half.

The Senate debate for a portion of these items as a pledge to the farmers of the country was led by the Russell of Georgia, Louisiana, Young of North Carolina, Morse of Oregon, Robert Virginia and Hill of Alabama. Said Senator Morse with reference to both the tax reduction and the agricultural appropriation bill, "I think it illustrates the points that need to be emphasized. One deals with the tax program which the senator from Georgia and I opposed there. It illustrates again that the can farmers must appreciate that the type of economy now attempted to be forced upon them takes out of one pocket more dollars than is added to another by way of a tax reduction." "The second point is that the argument about the farmer working so many of 10 for the government, tell the American farmer if this type of a raid on interest is permitted, he that congress will have sold economic interests short. It is American farmer should know what is being done to him congress."

It must be because this great Twentieth Century boon, the motor vehicle, has come upon us faster than we could adapt ourselves to it. Because it has given us a sense of power that has somewhat intoxicated us. Because, with the thrill of going fifty miles while our grandfathers were going ten, we still want to go farther and faster. Because we did not at the start foresee the coming avalanche of motor vehicles and insist from the beginning that each of us must qualify fully before being given the privilege—never a right—to operate a powerful and potentially dangerous machine on our streets and highways.

The driver of this car disregarded a plainly marked warning sign and crossed the tracks directly into the path of a passenger train. His machine was swept up like a leaf and raked over the tracks. The driver and two occupants were killed. Signs, lights and bells are placed at crossings for the protection of motorists. HERE'S HOW- it happens!

Yes, here's how more than 5,500 people died and thousands more were injured last year—because someone took one or two drinks, and then drove.

If you think you can drink and then drive safely you're simply courting suicide—or murder. You're drinking a toast to Death!

Statistics show that one out of every six drivers involved in fatal automobile accidents had been drinking. Drinking drivers are three or four times more likely to be involved in accidents. Tests have proved time and again that a couple of drinks are sufficient to lower a driver's reactions to the danger point. When quick action and alert judgment are demanded, the driver who has been drinking fails.

If it were only the drinking driver himself who paid the penalty, that would be bad enough. But when he cuts short the lives of other innocent people—riders in his car, occupants of other cars, or pedestrians caught by his erratic driving—that's manslaughter!

Don't smile when you read this, Mr. and Mrs. Citizen. The law operates with a heavy hand on drinking drivers. It is going to be even tougher in the future. It's serious business!

When you drink, don't drive. When you drive, don't drink!
