Memphis Grain Storage Shed Is Hanger for Troubled Pilot

A road between two railroad tracks east of the Memphis depot was the landing field selected by Marvin F. Baldwin, 18, of Plainview, when his plane ran out of gas at 7:15 Sunday night. In attempting to set the ship down, Baldwin hit the elevator of the Milam Grain & Coal Co., struck the top of an automobile, and ended up inside a storage building across Noel street, also owned by Milam. Baldwin left his wrecked plane under his own power with only a few cuts and bruises. The flyer, who lives at Plainview, was on the last leg of a training flight which had taken him to Woodward, Okla., Wichita, Kans., and Oklahoma City. He was flying a three-place Cub. ### WEATHER

Rain measuring .80-inch fell in Memphis Tuesday night breaking a three and one-half months "dry spell." J. J. McMickin, weather recorder, reported this morning. Precipitation too light to register in the gauge fell Wednesday. It was estimated that the last heavy rain fell in this area around June 24, although no definite record was available. Hedley citizens reported a good rain Wednesday. Very light showers were reported over most of Hall County, with nearly half an inch in a few spots southwest of Memphis.

Sheriff's Office Has Hectic Time Over Week-End

Sheriff Earl Hill's department started with a busy week-end Saturday night which lasted until Wednesday. During the period, five men were arrested for bootlegging, three burglaries were investigated, and one cutting scrape between two negroes was brought to a profitable (for the county) conclusion. One man was arrested in Memphis Saturday night, three in Turkey Tuesday, and one in Memphis Wednesday. All were charged with selling liquor. Four of the men are out of jail on bond, and will be tried in county court October 14. The fifth entered a (Continued on Page 8)

Funeral Services For Rev. Jeffries Held October 7

Funeral services for Rev. J. H. Jeffries, who died Sunday in an Amarillo hospital, were conducted in the First Baptist Church in Memphis Tuesday at 3 p. m. with Bro. Weldon Lewis officiating. Interment was in the Fairview Cemetery with local arrangements under the direction of the Murphy-Spicer-Estes Funeral Home. Rev. Jeffries was born in Taylor County, Fla., in April, 1868. He moved to Texas in January, 1880, and in 1895 was married to Miss Sallie Platt of Freestone County, who preceded him in death in 1924. Four children of this union also preceded him in death. In June, 1937, he was married to Mrs. Julia Jones of Memphis. Rev. Jeffries was licensed to preach in the Baptist church in 1902 in Cherokee County, Texas, and ordained in Tiberly County. He had been pastor of a number of churches throughout the state, and had devoted much time thru (Continued on Page 8)

Winners of cash awards offered by local business institutions in the Future Farmers of America contest were: Memphis, first; Quail, second; Turkey, third; and Estelline, fourth. The awards were for $100 for first place, $75 for second, $50 for third, and $25 for fourth, and given by the Memphis Compress, First National Bank, First State Bank, and The Memphis Democrat. Seven clubs of the district competed with striking and pertinent displays at the high school gymnasium. Other clubs competing were Clarendon, Hedley, and Childress. Mr. Hepperly, agricultural agent of the Fort Worth & Denver railroad, assisted by Ronald Davis of Estelline, judged the show. Better crops, better farming and better livestock were featured by the exhibits. The Memphis club had for its main theme "Better wheat for better bread," and advocated planting Westar, Wichita, and Comanche wheat, because of their high quality. They advocated that Black Hull, Chief Kan, and Red Chief be left off, because the millers are penalizing those brands in dollars and cents. Quail's main theme was "Feed the soil and it will feed you." By the use of fertilizer and legumes soil may be built up to produce more and better crops. Turkey showed the many steps necessary in hog production, feeding and taking care of the animals all the way from the pig to the finished product. Estelline had an excellent exhibit. Cotton production was shown in seven steps, and because of the fact that these seven steps could not instantly be taken in by the eye, the judges placed the exhibit fourth, but complimented the club for carrying out the cotton carnival theme. The Clarendon club stressed control and eradication of insects that bother livestock, and by so doing better stock could be produced and marketed. The Childress club showed the value of using only good breeding stock in dairy herds. Hedley had a striking exhibit. It showed the phases of terracing to hold the soil and produce more and better crops, and dollar and cents value of terracing. The judges commended the exhibits very highly, and said it had been a difficult matter to superintend of the FFA exhibits. Weldon McCreary was superintendent of the FFA exhibits.

Parade Marshal Thanks Citizens For Cooperation

Frank Monzingo, parade marshal of the Cotton Carnival, this week extended his appreciation and the thanks of the board of directors of the chamber of commerce for the help of individuals and firms in making the Saturday attraction a definite success. "I want to thank every member of my committee, others who worked with us in handling the different units, as well as all persons who contributed in any way in making the 'Parade of West Texas' the grand show it was," Monzingo said Wednesday. "We also wish to thank all firms and organizations who placed floats in the parade. Praises are still coming in from all over West Texas, and all of us are indeed grateful for the cooperation we received which made this part of the program possible."

Governor Jester arrived one day early to launch the carnival program. Met in Clarendon by a host of greeters of Memphis and Clarendon, he was escorted to where he praised the area for inaugurating a celebration to exploit the natural and industrial resources of West Texas. He pledged his full cooperation and support to future development of such a program. ploitation, launched into a lengthy tirade against the New Deal in Washington. Spectators marveled at the parade. Scores of floats, including the block-long cotton trailers loaded with queens of the region, plus the colorful Will Rogers Range Riders of Amarillo, cowboys, cowgirls, lodge and organization units and several bands brought rounds of applause. ### Loan on Alfalfa Seed Available

Farmers having alfalfa seed were assured of a government price support loan of 17 cents per pound, Lynn McKown, administrative officer of the Hall County ACA office announced this week. Full details of the loan procedure have not been received by the local AAA office, but are expected soon. Alfalfa seed must be 98 per cent pure to qualify for the government loan according to available information. McKown said details pertaining to the handling of the loan papers are not known at this time, and that they may be handled similar to the cotton price support loan. There are thousands of acres of alfalfa in this area this year, and many farmers passed up a hay crop in order to harvest the seed. The notice of government support price will assure them of at least 17 cents per pound.

Old Tack is Weather Predictor Deluxe

Old Tack predicted by remote control that the weather would be fine for the Cotton Carnival and no adverse weather in sight for five days. He cut it fine, for it started raining at the end of the fifth day. Old tack is back from the world series and his prognostication for the future is awaited with interest.

Goodrich Pictures Prove Educational And Interesting

One of the educational features of the cotton carnival in regard to better farming and more production was the technicolor moving pictures thrown on the screen at the high school auditorium during the two days of the affair and at night on the front of the Memphis Tire & Supply Company store, was the B. F. Goodrich farm movie, "Rubber Lends a Hand." While it advertised Goodrich rubber, it also showed the many ways rubber is used in the development of farming and stock raising, and also how more and better crops and livestock can be raised. Various up-to-the-minute farm machines were shown and the use to which they are put, combined with tips that make for faster and more economical production, made the film interesting. Many hundreds of people saw the picture that gave them ideas and dreams of increasing production and thereby increasing incomes. Among the 167 fast moving scenes were: Cowboys on pure-bred quarter horses cutting out yearlings on a huge Texas cattle ranch; selective pollination for better hybrid seed corn with new detasseling (Continued on Page 8)

Jester Attends Memphis Carnival

By NORTON SPAYDE
Amarillo Times Staff Writer
MEMPHIS.—Governor Beauford Jester proclaimed the carnival here as depicting one of the greatest gestures in Texas in showing the people what can be done with the natural resources of the area.

In a brief talk from the court house square Friday afternoon, he put much emphasis on the utilization of science in the development of agricultural area such as this. He said: "God and nature have done more for us than we have done in return. We must utilize science such as chemurgy to develop our natural resources and improve our way of living. It is a fine thing when a community has the foresight to recognize the need for science and to put that message across to the people through this kind of a celebration. As chief executive of your state, I promise every encouragement my office can give."

West Texas was on display Friday at the first annual Cotton Carnival. An around the clock celebration started Thursday night with a rodeo and will wind up at midnight Saturday with the crowning of the Maid of West Texas.

The governor attended the second performance of the rodeo Friday afternoon. The governor was conducted on a tour of the exhibits by Max Bentley of Abilene, activities director of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce; Henry Teubel of Tulia, representing the Legion; and Carroll Smyers of Lubbock, representing the VFW.

The governor received many gifts as he viewed the exhibits depicting the treasures of West Texas production. The last straw was a bushel of onions and a bushel of potatoes thrown into the 1947 Lincoln convertible by J. B. Elliston of Hereford.

One of the largest displays of agricultural products on display here is from the Hereford area.

Memphis' big show got off to a flying start Thursday night with the initial performance of a Jones Brothers Rodeo in which such top flight rodeo stars as Bill Towns, Leonard Stroud, and the Kromer Brothers thrilled the fans. The second performance was scheduled for Friday afternoon and two more shows will be presented Saturday afternoon and evening.

With no letup in the schedule the crowds moved uptown for a vaudeville show and parading of the candidates for Maid of West Texas on the theater stage.

The bathing suit clad candidates introduced from the stage by James Self of Childress were Beverley Besancon of Seminole; Gloria Holmes of Shamrock; Wanda Johnson of Childress; Jerry Ryan of Clarendon; Laverne Lacy of Turkey; Patsy Miller of Pampa; Jean Watson of Borger; Marjorie Alderson of Hereford; Neeta Vee Ball of Wellington; Wynell Lunn of Canadian; Jean Stanfield of Plainview; Patsy Holman of KCTX in Childress; Naoma Hancock of McLean; Nan Nolte of Tulia; Billie Jean Price of Estelline; Joyce Neeley of Quail; and Johnnie Faye Klapper of Kirkland.

Other girls in the show but not eligible to be candidates because they live in Memphis or Hall County are Peggy Lawrence, Leota Sturdevant, Jo Fowler, Mary Drew McCollum, Juanella Young, and June Meridith.

Almost continuous entertainment is scheduled for the square. The only time the music stops is during an event in another part of the city.

All downtown features will be halted during the Memphis-McLean football game Friday night and during the rodeos. Street dancing to the tunes of the Sons of the West of Amarillo and the Panhandle Cowboys of Childress continued far into the night.

Governor Jester left Memphis about 4 p. m. Friday just an hour before the arrival of W. Lee O'Daniel. Pappy will attend the Saturday afternoon rodeo.

Crowds Jam Into Memphis For Carnival

By PHIL NORTH
Star-Telegram Staff Writer

MEMPHIS, Oct. 3.—Governor Jester, Senator O'Daniel and several thousand West Texas citizens jammed into Memphis Friday in the midst of continuous 24-hour entertainment at the first annual West Texas Cotton, Chemurgic, and Ceramics Carnival to be held by this near-Panhandle town to put its resources on the map.

Festivities planned since last May started at midnight Thursday with a main show and the presentation of 17 contestants for the title of Maid of West Texas. The beauties representing as many towns are competing for an all-expense 10-day vacation to any city on the North American continent.

Actually although 103 national exhibitors and a number of state and local firms are showing exhibits at the high school, on the square and in all corners of town, the main event of the carnival started at midnight Thursday and will continue through the finale which will wind up Sunday morning. Delegations headed by a special train of Amarillo citizens and other West Texas towns will move in on this city of 5,500 people Saturday morning for a day and night-long series of parades, one which will feature a 300-foot float made of 72 bales of cotton on which the 17 girls will ride.

Governor Jester arrived here Friday morning flying in from Tyler in an Army C-47, and after speaking in the court house square witnessed the rodeo per-

A Look at the Loan Picture

Last year the banks of the United States made the equivalent of one agricultural loan to every U.S. farm family. These loans totaled $4,195,491,000—and there was over 7½ billion dollars more available at the banks for farm loans if it had been needed.

... to build a better land

Ask almost any Texas farmer. He'll tell you his planning and plowing, his crop rotation and cultivation, are all designed to maintain productivity, to build a better land.

Yes, Texas farmers are natural conservationists. They conserve the soil, just as every Texas citizen, in one way or another, helps to conserve our land, our resources, our heritage of free enterprise.

United Gas has worked for years to conserve the state's natural gas resources. Like the farmer's soil, or the physician's skill, natural gas is of little value to anyone unless it can be used. United is making it available for use by constructing pipe lines to link wells with homes, businesses and industries throughout the area it serves. In this way, United is making a valuable, marketable commodity of gas that might otherwise remain worthless in the ground. That is practical conservation, for it gives value to this finest of fuels, stimulates industrial development, creates jobs, and benefits all the families in Texas.

Surrey and Plane Combined For Unique Feature in Parade

One of the feature attractions in the Cotton Carnival parade was presented by Lewis Foxhall and Katherine Milam depicting the mode of travel of "yesterday and today."

First to appear on the scene was a surrey with fringe on top. Riding in the surrey were Mrs. Milam and her mother, Mrs. J. W. Stokes, dressed in old time costumes of furs and feathers and carrying Mrs. Milam's 51-2 month old granddaughter, Tanga Kay Neel, who was also attired in the long full baby dress of that day. The surrey was driven by a colored driver, Jimmy Graves.

Following the surrey was Lewis Foxhall's new type plane, Cessna 140, carrying placards "The Frenzied Forties" contrasting with the placards on the horse-drawn vehicle, "The Gay Nineties."

The plane wing tips hardly cleared the cars and people on both sides of the street but travel was negotiated very successfully.

The Lakeview Eagles lost their 4th straight game of the season and their second conference game in as many starts as the Kress team defeated them 26-0 last Friday night. The first half was close as the Kress team scored only one touchdown to lead 6-0 at the half; but in the last half, they added 20 points to their total. At the beginning of the second half on a fake hand-off "Snake" Galoway got loose for Lakeview but in four tries, the Lakeview team failed to score. Friday afternoon the Eagles will journey to Flomot for their third conference tussle. Last week-end the Flomot team lost to Happy 12-26.

Girls' Basketball

The girls' basketball team began fall work-outs last week with five returning lettermen reporting for work-outs. The girls who are back to play this year are guards Barbara Lowe, Grozella Hagins, and Lynn Cunningham, and forwards Patsy Byars and Alene Cunningham. The team lost in the district last year in an over-time game with Hedley, playing for third place.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

The following resolutions of respect are submitted by the board of stewards of the First Methodist Church in memory of Mr. W. P. Dial:

Whereas, in the passing of Mr. Dial, Memphis has lost one of its most honored citizens and the Methodist church one of its most loyal Christian gentlemen. He was a member of the board of stewards for 35 years and chairman of the board for about 29 years. Our lives have been made fuller and richer by working side by side with him in our church work. He was a great man and leader. He was always found working for the best interest of the church and community. The thorough, reflective and loyal service he rendered reflects his attitude towards life and people.

While we shall all miss him, we are thankful we were permitted to know him and work with him during his years of service. It will be difficult for any one to fill the place left vacant by the passing of Mr. Dial, because of his exceptional qualifications and outstanding leadership.

Therefore be it resolved that a copy of these resolutions be sent to his daughter, Mrs. W. C. Dickey; that a copy be sent to The Memphis Democrat for publication; that a copy be recorded in the minutes of the board of stewards.

Respectfully submitted,
D. A. Neeley,
F. N. Foxhall,
Tomie M. Potts,
Committee.

Mrs. W. E. Powers and niece Marcene Powers of Corpus Christi visited part of this week with Mrs. A. B. Jones. Mrs. Powers will be remembered as Miss Lillie Stevens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Stevens.

Safety of Prime Importance To General Public

By THOMAS N. BOATE, Director, Special Service Division, National Conservation Bureau

Have you ever faced a single onrushing headlight and uneasily wondered whether the approaching vehicle was a motorcycle or an automobile with one headlight not working? Have you ever frantically stabbed at the horn button in an emergency and received only silence—or jammed on brakes that would not hold, or that spun the car around like a top? Have you ever felt a blow-out drag at the wheel and swerve your car like a clutching hand? If you have, you realize these things cause accidents, and that keeping a motor vehicle in good repair is highly important as a preventive measure.

Defective equipment is reported to be currently the cause of 18 per cent of the nation's traffic accident fatalities. That represents a steady increase in accidents resulting from this cause, beginning with 8 per cent for the last pre-war year.

Faulty brakes, improper lights, and overworn tires constituted nearly half of the mechanical deficiencies. Recent evidence developed by the National Brake Emphasis Program reveals that 14.3 per cent of vehicles checked had faulty brakes. More thorough brake tests which include equalization, made in connection with periodic inspection programs, usually develop that 40 to 60 per cent of the vehicles have poor brakes.

Greater traffic safety results from frequent inspections. This has been the experience of states and cities having a periodic inspection program. The purpose of periodic motor vehicle inspection is to discover any maladjustments in vehicles that might lead to accidents and, by correcting those maladjustments, to prevent accidents.

There are 10 major benefits resulting from motor vehicle inspection:

Estimated Cost Of Building To Be Given Study

Families planning to build or remodel homes now should do a lot of advanced figuring, warns Mrs. Bernice Claytor, home management specialist of the Texas A. and M. College extension service.

It may seem unnecessary to advise that a careful estimate of all costs should be made before a new house starts going up, says Mrs. Claytor, but the fact remains that many people who have built new homes or had remodeling done have been unhappily surprised at the final total cost.

It is often wise to ask the advice of neighbors who have had such work done, says the home management specialist. And of course lumber dealers and contractors can give help in reaching a fair estimate. To cover unforeseen developments in building costs, adding a small percentage to the final estimate is a wise

- (1) It improves the general standard of vehicle condition.
- (2) It maintains an automobile at a higher value level by lessening depreciation.
- (3) It affords opportunity to check motor and serial numbers actually on the vehicle against registration certificates, and in other ways to assist in the enforcement of motor vehicle laws.
- (4) It improves the quality of garage workmanship in making adjustments and repairs.
- (5) It provides an excellent opportunity to inform drivers about the condition of their cars and their responsibility for driving safely 365 days in the year.
- (6) The psychological effect on the driver is considerable, for the motorist who has been shown that his brakes meet only the minimum requirements will tend to drive more carefully.
- (7) Inspections also help to educate and keep car owners aware that certain parts need periodic attention and that it is less expensive to have the vehicle checked regularly and kept in repair than to wait until a breakdown occurs.
- (8) Rejection of a vehicle usually informs the motorist in a specific way that he is driving an unsafe car, and that as a consequence he is liable to be held as the negligent party in the event of a collision with a car that has been properly maintained.
- (9) The driver who subjects his car to periodic inspection tends to cooperate with enforcement officers and the general public in the observance of traffic rules and regulations.
- (10) Periodic inspection provides for the motorist an inexpensive maintenance service not available elsewhere.

In 1946, police officers of the United States, Canada, and Honolulu, examined nearly 3 million vehicles during a six-week accident prevention program. They found that 32.3 of all vehicles examined—nearly one third—had obvious and hazardous mechanical defects.

A total of 2,860,346 vehicle

Waggoner Estate Buys Seven Bulls From Potts Herd

Tomie M. Potts, local registered Hereford breeder, this week sold seven young bulls to the W. T. Waggoner estate of Vernon. Bob Anderson, manager, was in charge of the transaction, and the purchase from Potts is the first of its kind as the representatives of the estate comb the nation for their annual supply of bulls.

Potts has over 100 head of registered cattle in his herd, and is breeding for a uniform type of animal. He has won many honors in Hereford shows in recent years.

Undertaking a debt right now is, at best, a risky proposition, the home management specialist says, and folks should certainly not go ahead with building plans until they know that any debt taken on now can be managed satisfactorily.

Here is another question that the family should ask itself before building: Will the money invested in a new or better home contribute more to the welfare and happiness of the family than if it were spent in some other way—such as for clothing, a new car, household equipment, education, travel, or entertainment? All these should be balanced against the building program. When it's a farm building being planned the possible increase in family income from the new construction should be considered, says Mrs. Claytor.

If a new home is completely out of the question because of high move, the specialist says.

How much should a family invest in building? Mrs. Claytor suggests this plan in finding an answer to that question: estimate the total income of the family for the next few years—say from 7 to 10—then subtract from that figure the expected living expenses for that period, and add the savings on hand. Allowance should also be made for the increased cost in insurance and taxes that will result from the new building.

The matter of financing a new home is doubtless the foremost problem with most families, says the specialist. She urges prospective builders to give much consideration to the question of whether to build now or wait until building costs drop.

checks were made. Of this number, 922,775 had one or more defects. The total number of defects reported by types was 1,231,161—almost one dangerous defect for every two cars examined.

In the United States, 2,718,076 vehicles were checked: 872,290 or 32.1 per cent had defects. In Canada police checked 128,814 vehicles, 44,107, or 34.2 per cent of which were defective.

In the state of New Jersey, during the first motor vehicle inspection year, there were 413 fewer fatalities, or a reduction of 30 per cent, as compared with the preceding year. Total reportable accidents and non-fatal injuries also decreased 13 per cent. This substantial reduction has been consistently sustained through the years.

Motor vehicle inspections in the United States have been recognized as an accident prevention medium since 1927, when several eastern states developed "Save a Life" campaigns.

There has been steady development to a pre-war total of 8,500,000 motor vehicles being regularly inspected from one to four times each year in 17 states and 15 cities.

Now, two years after V-J Day, this nationwide program has been 100 per cent resumed with at least 2 states added to the list and 10 additional ones giving serious consideration to legislation requiring periodic motor vehicle inspection in the interest of accident prevention.

Waggoner Estate Buys Seven Bulls From Potts Herd

Then there's the matter of location and arranging. The specialist points out that far too many folks fail to remember that home improvement should be done with the idea of making work easier and "life more interesting." For the family in particular, new building or remodeling should result in arrangements by which the family can get more work done in a given period of time.

Undertaking a debt right now is, at best, a risky proposition, the home management specialist says, and folks should certainly not go ahead with building plans until they know that any debt taken on now can be managed satisfactorily.

It's a Big Temptation BUT...

SOMETIMES, when a farmer comes in waving his check book and pleads, almost with tears in his eyes, for a Massey-Harris Tractor, Combine, or other machine—it's an awful temptation not to take all that the law allows.

But our policy has been . . . and will be to sell only at the established price, plus, of course, reasonable service and handling charges.

Nor will we ask or have we asked any prospect to make a deposit on a machine unless there is a fair chance of making delivery within a reasonable time. And remember, for your protection, new Massey-Harris products are sold only through authorized Massey-Harris service dealers.

We believe that these policies are sound. Only by being fair with our customers can we hope to establish, build, and maintain a permanent business and merit the confidence and respect of the farmers of this community whom we want as friends as well as customers.

Yours for more of those good Massey-Harris products at a fair price.

Nuptial Vows in Knox City Unite Miss Yvonne Jamison and Thomas Harrison

Dignity and simplicity characterized the nuptial rites performed Sunday, October 5, to unite Miss Yvonne Jamison of Dallas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Jamison of Colorado Springs, Colo., and granddaughter of the late Judge and Mrs. S. A. Bryant of Memphis, and Thomas Robert Harrison of Dallas, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Harrison of Memphis. Their marriage took place at the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. E. O. Jamison, in Knox City with Rev. N. E. McGuire, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiating at the single ring service.

Decorations of unusual beauty were arranged for the ceremony to place emphasis upon a combination of white and pink flowers and candles with greenery. White and pink gladioli and white pom-pom chrysanthemums were featured in floral arrangement on the mantel flanked by white tapers burning in pyramid candelabra. Garlands of salal were festooned in front of the candelabra.

Music for the wedding was provided by Mrs. E. L. Warren who played "Indian Love Call," "At Dawning" and the traditional wedding marches.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in an original model gown of hammered satin and chiffon with chapel length train. The draped V-shaped neckline falling over the shoulders formed an unusual headress, fastened with tiny sprays of lily of the valley from the bride's bouquet. The bride completed her costume by carrying a bouquet composed of a single white orchid surrounded by lily of the valley from which white satin ribbon were showered to be knotted with stephanotis.

Mrs. Foster Watkins of Quanah attended the bride as matron of honor. She wore a chaste formal of faille and carried a bouquet of pink gladioli.

Suzanne Rogers of Decatur was flower girl and J. C. Turner of Mrs. Jamison, the bride's mother, wore a blue crepe floor-length gown with rhinestone trim. Her corsage was of yellow talisman roses. Mrs. Harrison, mother of the groom, was wearing a floor-length gown of black crepe complemented by a corsage of red rosebuds.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the Jamison home for members of the bridal party and guests.

In the dining room, the bride's cake was cut and served with other refreshments by Mrs. Zeb Moore Jr., Miss Mayme Shaver, and Mrs. Foster Watkins.

Decorations in the reception rooms were unusually handsome arrangements of flowers and greenery. The refreshment table was particularly lovely laid with a normandy lace cloth and centered with white candles in sterling silver candelabra. One extremity of the table held the punch bowl while the three-tiered cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, was at the other end.

Following the reception, the bride and groom departed for a honeymoon, the former traveling in a victorian green duvayne model in the new figure molding silhouette with accents of gold in checker and buttons. She wore a velour felt hat in matching color and other accessories of black.

After the trip, the couple will re-

For serving of the delicious 5-course meal, the guests were seated at a table covered with a lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of pink asters flanked by tapers in heirloom dresden china candelabra. Place cards in matching dresden place card holders marked covers for the guests. Place settings were also in dresden china.

During the dinner, the hostess group presented the honorees with a breakfast set of franciscan pottery in the desert rosebud design.

WEDDING BREAKFAST

The home of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Carpenter was the scene for a wedding breakfast Sunday morning. Assisting Mrs. Carpenter with hostess duties were Mrs. T. P. Frizzell Jr., Mrs. H. M. Jones, Mrs. W. E. Benedict, and Mrs. Jack Spikes.

Dainty place cards fashioned of lily of the valley, satin ribbon and miniature wedding rings marked places for members of the bridal party.

The hostess group presented the couple with crystal in the desert rose pattern matching the breakfast set.

Guests attending the dinner and breakfast included the honorees, Mr. and Mrs. Zeb Moore, Mrs. Foster Watkins, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Jamison, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Warren, Rev. and Mrs. N. E. McGuire, and Mrs. E. O. Jamison and hostesses.

AUTOS MUST BE SAFE

It is an indisputable fact that over 90 per cent of the traffic accidents which annually take the lives of some 33,500 persons could have been avoided. The human foibles of in-attention and deliberate risk-taking are the main causes of the slaughter on our streets and highways.

Pure mechanical failure, according to some safety experts,
accounts for less than one per cent of automobile accidents.
It is true in many fatal accidents, mechanical failure was a contributing cause—brakes failed to grab, lights went out, steering apparatus didn't respond properly. But these cases were not pure mechanical failure, because human carelessness was the underlying cause. The owners and drivers of the accident vehicles had failed to keep their automobiles in safe condition, and in many cases they had imprudently driven the automobiles when they knew that they were mechanically defective. In short, the drivers were either not attentive or they deliberately took a chance.

Individual responsibility can stop this menace. Every member of the American public must take it upon himself to accept the responsibility of observing the rules of safety and the road.

At the same time, the police and administrative officials of our states have the responsibility of minimizing the hazards caused by those careless people who fail or refuse to obey the rules.
Every state should require periodic and rigid inspection of all autos to see that they are kept in safe driving condition.
A recent check of nearly three million vehicles, made by the International Association of Chiefs of Police, showed that out of every three vehicles has a mechanical defect which makes it a menace in traffic. These defects are not in the construction of the automobile, but rather in things like lights and brakes which the drivers should keep in safe working condition.

If thousands of persons are to be saved from needless death this coming year and in the years to follow, periodic required motor vehicle inspection by all states would seem to be an important prerequisite.

Press Paragraphs—

QUOTING OUR NEIGHBORS

Petition to City Council

A petition which has been circulated in Childress addressed to the city council and having as its purpose the amending of the city charter in order to make the office of the chief of police an elective one has been signed, according to reports, by 343 qualified voters. In order to cause an election under this procedure the petition must be signed by at least 10 per cent of the qualified voters.—Childress Reporter.

Greatness

If men were measured by their words instead of their deeds, greatness would be so common that the supply would destroy the demand.—Douglas Meador in The Matador Tribune.

Installment Buying

Installment buying controls are scheduled to be taken off No-member I. Used car dealers and others who sell on deferred payments, are preparing for a rush of business. The requirement of at least a third down and the balance within fifteen months, set up by the government, it is claimed, had the effect of slowing down installment buying.—Foard County News.

Cotton Pickers Needed

Approximately 1,000 laborers are needed in Cottle County, at this time, to gather the cotton crop, County Agent G. J. Lane, stated this week.

Cotton fields are white with the harvest, and farmers here are desperately in need of help, with approximately a dozen farmers on the heels of every Latin-American, who has arrived at the Labor Center.

Quite a few of the Latin-Americans have arrived in Paducah, but many have passed on, with promises of bonuses and higher wages, elsewhere.

A check with the six Paducah
gins late Wednesday revealed 1,134 bales had been ginned to that time.—The Paducah Post.

Ministers Form Alliance

Turkey Ministerial Alliance was formed last Monday morning September 22, when ministers of the city met at the Methodist church at 10 o'clock for organization.

Rev. P. A. Powell, pastor of the First Baptist Church, was elected chairman of the group with Rev.
C. H. Browning, pastor of the Assembly of God Church, named as secretary.—Turkey Enterprise.

Remember they told us consumers that if the government would just remove the controls
we would have lots of houses for the veterans and plenty of meat and an abundance of new cars
and of course the newspapers would have all the paper they needed—also that prices would level off?

Hans Christian Anderson isn't
the only one who could make up fairy tales.

It's time that some of the old sayings which are foolish were exposed—for example, "What you don't know won't hurt you." It isn't so. If there was a fire and you grabbed up a bucket to throw the contents on the flames, you not knowing that it held gasoline, would there be an explosion? If a gun was loaded and you didn't know it and you pointed it at yourself and pulled the trigger, would it hurt you? All you have to do is read the papers and you'll see what "unloaded" guns
do. The truth is pretty much the opposite of the old saying—when you know, you are on your guard against danger.—Frequently, it's what you don't know that does harm you.

At the recent Palo Pinto County old settlers' reunion, I met

Sam Savage who, when a boy,
was carried off by the Indians and lived with them about a year before being freed.

Also at the reunion was Gib
Abernathy, veteran peace officer.
One day, while I was a reporter
on the Fort Worth Star-Telegram and Abernathy was a Texas Ranger, he walked into the office and asked for me. Told it would be several hours before I reported for duty, he declined all efforts to get him to talk but just said,
"Tell Boyce to get in touch with me." I did—and obtained a "scoop," in fact a double one. A hermit who lived in a tent had been murdered and Gib not only told me about that but he also had the slayer under arrest—a quick cleanup of a mystery.

This Week in WASHINGTON

PRESIDENT TRUMAN was at least more diplomatic than Sen.
Robert Taft on the question of food conservation to drive prices down and help build up a stock pile which might be sent overseas to starving Europeans.

Where Senator Taft urged the people to "eat less," President Truman in his first step in the war against high prices urges the people to "waste less" food and he named a committee of top flight business people to conduct a nation-wide campaign against waste and purchase of more food than essential.
So whether or not this campaign will bear fruit depends upon the voluntary action of the people. President Truman believes Americans will tighten their belts and really try to get along on less food if they are really sold on the fact that to do so is essential if we are to play our part in our humanitarian role of preventing starvation in Europe.

Are the American people wasting food? This question is answered by leaders in retail food organizations who declare that in some food commodities as much as 25 percent is wasted.
Bakers declare that enough bread is wasted annually in the United States to make up for 70,000,000 bushels of wheat.

In the meantime, no one has come up with answers to the questions . . .
How about a special session of congress? . . . What about exports of foodstuffs as an influence on high domestic food prices? . . . What can be done to bring prices down? and
. . . How is cost of American participation in the Marshall plan to be financed—through direct congressional appropriations and taxes or through a bond issue?

If the question of lower prices all along the line of living is left to the voluntary action of business and industry, most experts in Washington,
in and out of government, agree that we have not seen the peak in living costs and that prices will continue to rise probably until next Spring.

With export controls now exercised by the department of commerce ending next February it is presumed that one of the first acts of the next session of congress . . .

tion of these controls . . .

Also present was a troop of Boy Scouts representing the Adobe Walls Council.

Notable float was that of the Southwestern Associated Telephone Company on which a comedy operetta was giving numbers to a couple of equally comic patrons.

The float of the First State Bank of Memphis depicted a pint-sized pickaninny leisurely pulling bolls from tall cotton stalks.

One of the most beautiful floats was one from Childress, attractively covered in colors of blue, white, and yellow, on which several pretty girls sat while one or two others stood under archways.

Still another beautiful float was that of the Hightower greenhouse which was covered with a profusion of vari-colored flowers.

The float of the Womack Funeral Home was a thought-provoking depiction of a highway tragedy. Two badly wrecked cars were jammed against each other. On the front fender of one a young boy lay motionless. Another youth was slumped against a steering wheel.

A surry, driven by a Negro and carrying several ladies dressed in the styles of the Gay Nineties was outstanding.

Another cotton-pulling demonstration was depicted by the float of Moss Motor Company. This time the puller was a tall broad-shouldered Negro youth who pulled a boll when he felt like it but mostly spent his time languidly gazing around.

Bringing up the rear in the parade of floats was that of the Huckaby Plumbing Company with

Besides the Memphis and Amarillo groups, bands from the following high schools marched in the parade: Plainview, Childress, Wellington, Shamrock, McLean, Clarendon, Hereford, Canadian, and Estelline.

The Clarendon Band, which lost its uniforms in a fire last year and has not received new ones, was dressed in a variety of cowboy regalia which were attractive in their uniqueness.

The Quail School Choral Club was another musical organization in the line of march. Several groups of farm equipment were displayed by various dealers and one airplane was towed along the parade route.

During the parade a group of airplanes flew overhead.

The Memphis Square Dancers, a group which does square dances on horseback, brought up the rear of the mile-long parade and marched off the square onto West Noel street at 11:20 o'clock, 30 minutes after the start of the event.

In his speech, Senator O'Daniel made a stinging denunciation of the now defunct OPA, Austin and Washington politicians, the New Deal, labor leaders and labor racketeering, high taxes, government spending and the sending of huge sums of money, food and materials to foreign countries.

Two years after the war, he said the country is faced with the worst depression in its history if these conditions are not remedied.

He charged this had been planned deliberately by the New Deal

Pioneer Clarendon Attorney Passes

Joe Whaley Enjoys Cotton Carnival

If any one had a better time during the cotton carnival than Joe Whaley, it has not yet been made known.

Joe had friends who saw to it that he and his station wagon were placed at the proper places during the two-day celebration, and the following letter of appreciation shows he is indeed grateful for all the courtesies extended to him:

To my good friend Pat Flynn; the officers, directors, and members of the Memphis chamber of commerce; all city and county officials:

I wish to thank you for the many courtesies and the special consideration shown me at all the different events I attended during your wonderful Cotton, Ceramic, and Ceramics Carnival. I thoroughly enjoyed the festivities.

Thanks also to my many old friends and all my new acquaintances for their many kind deeds and assistance that made it possible for me to attend the carnival. Having friends that you know you can call on makes things lots easier.

In case I don't get a chance to thank you one and all personally let this express my heartfelt appreciation.

Sincerely,
Joe Whaley.

TIGERS DEFEAT CYCLONE CONFERENCE TILT 26-14

CAMPBELL

McLean eleven went out last Friday at the Cyclone stadium and outclassed and a surprisingly one of the more stators who were the first annual Chemurgic, rival could have after a hectic saw the Tigers Cyclone once, favor of the visan. The game A tilt, the first the Cyclone, and ence victory for which had pre- Wheeler 51 o went around right end to make the score 13 to 6. Davis converted to run the score to 13 to 7. In the final quarter, the Tigers took over on the Cyclone 35 after receiving a punt. Six yards were picked up running, and then Boston passed to Griffith to put the ball on the 22-yard line. Griffith carried the ball to the 15, Jimmy Newton on a line-pull-out play went to the 7. Another trial on the same play carried the ball to the 5, from which point Griffith went through the line and ever standing up. Bruner plunged through for the extra point to make the score McLean 20, Memphis 7. The Cyclone came right back, and on a series of plays they worked the ball from their own 37 to the Tiger 12-yard line and a first down, with Davis doing most of the power work. From the 12, Davis went through the Tiger line for the second Cyclone touchdown. He then proceeded to kick the extra point to make the score 20 to 14, and give the Cyclone a good fighting chance to come back. But the best run of the evening was yet to come. The Cyclone kicked off to the Tigers, and the McLean gridsters returned it to the 45. Boston picked up two yards. From the 47, Griffith went through a gaping hole made for him by the Tiger line, evaded a couple of line-backers, and raced 53 yards for a fourth Tiger tally. Little Billy Frank Harlin, manager for the Tigers, attempted to drop kick for the extra point, but failed, and the score stood at 26 to 14. The game ended shortly after Morrison returned the McLean kickoff to the Cyclone 30.

Cotton Carnival Is Praised By Governor Jester

By Staff Writer, Amarillo News

MEMPHIS, Oct. 3.—Gov. Beauford Jester came here today from Tyler and opened the first annual Memphis Cotton Carnival. Yesterday he gave the state's official blessing to the Tyler Rose Festival, and he went from here to Dallas to appear at the State Fair. The governor flew to Clarendon, where he was met by a large delegation of Clarendon and Memphis folks and the bands of the two high schools. He then continued to Memphis in a motorcade headed by the highway patrol.

In a short speech in front of the Hall County court house, the governor praised Memphis for putting on the carnival and emphasizing in exhibits the potentialities of agriculture in this section of the state. Memphis claims to be "Cotton's Home Town." After his talk and a handshaking session with the folks, the governor went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Smith for lunch. Mr. Smith is head of the First State Bank at Memphis, president of the Memphis chamber of commerce and one of the directors of the Cotton Carnival. The governor rode in the grand entry to the afternoon rodeo. For the third time this year, he rode Mason King's white horse, Rajah, in a parade. Mr. King hauled the horse to Memphis at the governor's request. Editor Claude Wells of The Memphis Democrat presided at the program at which the governor spoke. Mr. King introduced the governor. There is no political significance to the governor's visit here, and no connection with the later appearance of Sen. W. Lee O'Daniel. Both men were invited to the carnival. The governor could work in the trip only on Friday, and Senator O'Daniel picked Saturday.

In interviews the governor said he wasn't getting around the state for political purposes, that he wasn't running for any office, but trying to serve in the office to which he was elected. "I think that any governor ought to get out into his state and talk with the people at every opportunity," he said, "and that is what I am doing."

The governor was piloted by Maj. Albert Sidney Harwell, a Memphis ace of World War II. The bands from Memphis and Clarendon high schools played as the governor stepped from the plane to be greeted by Mayor C. C. Hodges of Memphis, Mayor C. B. Morris of Clarendon, and Mr. Smith.

The governor presented Mayor Hodges, Mayor Morris, and the majorettes of the two bands, with boxes of roses he brought from Tyler. He congratulated the people of this area for their enterprise, foresightedness and "do something" attitude, in exploiting their resources through the Cotton Carnival.

Radiator Check Cuts Troubles

Adequate anti-freeze, according to Clarence Morris, local Firestone store manager, looms as a bog factor in winter driving, and periodic checking of the radiator with a hydrometer, as shown here, provides a safeguard against freeze-ups.

 support newspapers and press services of the nation have afforded. We hope we have done our bit in acquainting America with future possibilities of this vast region and if we have succeeded in interesting one outside interest we have accomplished our objective."

Smith also paid tribute to the many communities sending bands, delegations, queen candidates, and exhibits as well as to the industrial and manufacturing exhibitors. "These units and these companies made the Carnival a success. Without their assistance the entire idea would have been as nothing. With your assistance we have received compliments from leaders of the agricultural and industrial world for our combined efforts. Memphis and West Texas is most grateful," Smith said.

Special tribute was also paid to the Plainview pilots who swooped low over the parade Saturday morning in an aerial salute to the thousands below.

Radio station, KCTX, Childress, placed its staff on a 24-hour basis to feed highlights of the Carnival to listeners. Steve Cowan and James Self, acting as master of ceremonies and announcers, worked around the clock to assist the committee chairman on all presentations.

Johnny Sissom, Amarillo magician, and Lippencott the Great, master of magic, kept the crowds entertained with their baffling tricks.

Amarillo turned out in full force. In addition to carloads of visitors, a special train bearing 200 business and professional men, the Golden Sandie Band, high school square dance teams, and the Will Rogers Range Riders. Ralph Dykeman, director of the Maverick Club thrilled thousands with his tumblers and trampoline stars. Everyone declared the acts sensational.

In all, agreed spectators and directors, "The West Texas Cotton, Chemurgic, and Ceramics Carnival was a success."

per Cruiser belonging to Claude Hutcherson, Plainview flyer.

According to Baldwin, he ran out of gas shortly after dark and seeing the lighted road between the tracks as the only clear spot he could reach, he attempted to "set down."

Just after the plane hit the dirt a car loomed in front of its path. Baldwin swerved the plane. Its left wing tip struck the side of the Milam elevator breaking out one window glass, the right wing struck the top of the automobile, and the plane jumped the railroad tracks, missed a telegraph pole by about one foot and plunged into the closed door of the grain storage building. It came to a stop with the motor and part of the fuselage inside the building.

Owner of the car was Dr. R. L. Moore, who took Baldwin to the hospital where the pilot was treated for minor cuts and bruises.

Damage to the Milam buildings was estimated at $75. The plane appeared to be completely wrecked.

Young Baldwin is a native of Bartlesville, Okla., but has lived in Plainview for 18 months. He is an ex-service man, and was taking pilot training under the GI program. He received his pilot's license last year, and is working for his commercial license.

He was arrested by county officers Tuesday night and charged with driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor.

The homes of W. D. Isaacs and John George, located approximately three miles east of Memphis, were burglarized Saturday night. Stolen were household goods, canned food, and miscellaneous items. Hill reported identical tracks were found outside both houses, and the officers are working upon the assumption that the same man burglarized both places.

A garage at Estelline was broken into last Sunday night, and a young man was arrested Monday morning in Turkey and charged with the burglary.

Two negroes were arrested Saturday night, and later paid fines for fighting in which knives were used, Sheriff Hill said.

 fact that Estelline is plagued by injuries. However, the Cubs are always ready to stage an upset.

Coach Williams of the Cubs has been forced to juggle his lineup to fill the gaps vacated by injured starters but the morale of the club is high and the boys are hustling hard to make up the losses, according to reports from Estelline.

Against Paducah last week the passing game fizzled largely on the receiving end. This and defensive work as well as timing are being stressed by Williams.

Happy, coached by Peterson of Loyola of New Orleans, runs from the "T" with both seat backs and power drivers.
