Infall Gives KO 101-Day Drouth

A dry spell lasting 101 days in this area has received its end as rain began to fall at 8:00 of an inch on October 7, and .32 of an inch Tuesday of this week, and .05 according to J. J. weather recorder. The rains have ranged from .1 to .91 degrees high as follows: Friday, .4; Saturday, .62-91; Sunday, .55-80; Tuesday, .32; Wednesday, .56-77. The rain has enabled the farmers to get up with ginning to start. Before the rain, the gins could not run long lines of cotton to wait their turn. The rains would be an improvement in trade, as well as in the harvesting of the crop. The gins were opened earlier and than in former years. The weather that prevailed last week. Many farmers defoliate their crops and sledging machines in gathering the crop.

Weed Too Small To Chop Shown At Cotton Carnival

A weed 12-1-2 feet high was on display at Raymond Ballew's store during the cotton carnival. Saunders & Davis garage at Hedley brought the weed to show that the soil in this section of country can produce weeds as well as cotton. One of the Hedley men remarked, "This is just one of the weeds in the cotton patch that was too small to cut." It was of that variety known as "careless," because they just don't care where they grow.

Five Are Injured In Car Crashes Near Hedley

Five persons were injured Tuesday night during a blinding rainstorm in two collisions involving four cars and a truck on the highway west of Hedley. Highway patrolmen said the first crash occurred about 9 p. m. when L. T. Lee of Wichita Falls apparently lost control of his car in a blinding rainstorm and collided almost head-on with an east-bound car driven by T. F. Ward of Lawton, Okla., near a narrow bridge.

Mrs. J. T. Seright of Hollis, Okla., a passenger in the Lee car, suffered minor bruises. Passenger in the Ward car who were bruised but escaped serious injury were Mrs. Netta Mae Ward Thomas of Lawton and Mrs. Mize of Oklahoma City.

The second crash occurred as highway patrolmen and Sheriff Wright and his deputies worked in the rain to flag down traffic until the wrecked cars could be removed. Halted by the side of the road, Dr. Roy C. Snodgrass's car was struck from the rear by a truck driven by A. W. Weiner of Dallas, and was pushed into the rear of another parked car owned by P. A. Alexander of Borger, Dr. Snodgrass, who lives in Amarillo, was bruised and shaken up, but apparently escaped serious injury.

Werner pled guilty to charges of driving at an unreasonable speed and was fined $10 and cost (Continued on Page 8)

COTTON BALANCE IS LOWER THAN LAST YEAR

The cotton balance for the nation is 3,600,000 bales less than the Sept. 1 balance a year ago, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research, in a report to newspapers today.

The cotton balance sheet for the United States showed a September balance of 13,630,000 running bales. The August 1 carry-over of 2,521,000 bales was the lowest since the 20's, and the September 1 balance dropped 10,000,000 bales below the 1942-43 figure.

In spite of this shortage, the price is about five cents a pound lower, according to Dr. A. B. Cox, professor of cotton marketing at the university. Since the dollar is substantially cheaper now and the price index for all commodities is about 160 compared with 127 in late September last year, the question is why are cotton prices lower.

Dr. Cox pointed out several outstanding factors in the demand-supply situation which bear on the question. Most important are the 145,000 bale reduction in consumption during August 1947 as compared with August 1946 and the reduction of exports during August of this year in the amount of 364,000 bales.

"The demand outlook is destined to improve from now to January at least," Dr. Cox continued, "since both consumption and exports are destined to increase relative to August. In spite of the improvement in the basic outlook, prices may even sag a little further, because mills tend to over-wait a situation like this in making their purchases to cover the goods being sold."

The cotton supply situation in the United States is fairly stabilized. Some differences of opinion still exist as to the final outcome of this crop, but they are not significant.

Foxhall To Head Memphis Country Club for New Year

Frank Foxhall was elected president of the Memphis Country Club in a board of directors meeting Thursday of last week when that group met to lay plans for the coming year and to name new officers. Foxhall succeeds O. L. Helm. The new vice president is Russell McClure, who replaces Lyman Davenport of Lakeview. D. L. C. Kinard was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

In a recent membership meeting, the following men were elected directors: F. N. Foxhall, T. H. Deaver, A. O. Costanzo, Frank Foxhall, Russell McClure, H. H. Montgomery, and O. L. Helm.

Among the plans made by the directors Thursday evening will be extensive repairs to the club house and grounds. The restoration of weekly bridge parties for club members was discussed, and details of these will be worked out in the immediate future by the new officers. Golf tournament plans for 1948 were also discussed, and this part of the club program will be announced at a later date, officers stated.

General Manager of Waples-Platter Co. Dies in Fort Worth

Ottie Jones, manager of the Memphis Waples-Platter wholesale house, left on the noon train Wednesday to attend the funeral.

Mr. McKinney worked up from clerk in a hardware store to the position he held at the time of his death. He was in the Air Corps of the U. S. Army during World War I, and following the war became a banking official. In 1934 he was named vice president and general manager of the then 62-year-old Waples-Platter Company now celebrating 75 (Continued on Page 8)

"Home-Town Boy Makes Good" JOHNSON WRITES DUSTBOWL STORY Is National Figure in Journalism

Vance Johnson, an old Memphis boy, makes good in the authorship field. A copy of his recent book, "Heaven's Tableland," the Dust Bowl story, has been received by The Democrat.

The book deals with the dust-bowl era of the thirties in the Plains section of Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado, and New Mexico. It tells of man's unrelenting and unremitting struggle against this ancient and implacable enemy, the weather, in this history of the Great Southern Plains of the United States. It is a story told in terms of the combatants in this great epic fight.

Heaven's Tableland gives a vivid picture of the fight between man and the elements, man's struggle to hold onto his farm and his helplessness when he weakly pitied his puny strength against dust-laden winds and dry atmosphere. The author pulled no punches in the portrayal of conditions, and wisely points the way toward prevention of a recurrence of another dust bowl.

Farrar, Strauss & Co., Inc., 53 East 34th street, New York City, published the book, and the price per copy is $3.

Vance Johnson was born in 1910 in MEMPHIS, TEXAS, where his maternal grandparents were among the pioneer settlers of the community.

He tried unsuccessfully to work his way through Texas Technological College, but he had picked the wrong time. The cotton crops were bad that year, and there (Continued on page 8)

Farmers Plan Large Scale Use of Cotton Defoliant

FINES AMOUNTING TO $1200.00 ASSESSED IN COUNTY COURT

Four fines, amounting to $1200.00, were set by Judge John Russell in county court Tuesday and Wednesday, a check of court records reveal.

Tuesday Dilly Price paid a fine of $500.00 and cost of suit after a jury found him guilty of selling liquor. This was the first jury trial in county court since 1942, J. O. Fitzjarrald, county attorney, stated.

When Bert Byrd was charged with the same offense, he entered a plea of guilty, and Judge John Russell set his fine at $500.00 and cost.

Another trial in county court Tuesday was that of Mary Hardage, who was charged with drunken driving. She pled guilty to the charge, and paid a fine of $100.00 and cost of suit.

On Wednesday, Prince Cheatham, colored, was arraigned before Judge Russell on a charge of possession of wine for the purpose of sale. He entered a plea of guilty and his fine was also $100.00 and cost of suit.

Sunday morning county officers were called to the C. L. Sloan farm west of Estelline when a report reached here of a fight between two negroes. Upon investigation (Continued on Page 8)

Irishmen Trounce Cyclone 27 to 0

The Memphis Cyclone went down in a 27-0 game at Shamrock against the Irishmen Friday night, which gave the Shamrock team two district 3-A victories.

Bobby Close led the Irish scoring with 15 points. He scored on a 15-yard end run in the second quarter and flitted 60 yards to a touchdown on the opening play of the second half.

Bill Davis was the chief threat for Memphis, and due to the absence from the game of three of (Continued on Page 8)

Watermelons Grow Without Rainfall

As proof that Hall County soil will produce things without rain, Robert Hanvy brought two watermelons to The Democrat office Monday. The melons were large, weighing around 50 pounds each, and were fine flavored.

Mr. Hanvy planted the seed July 4 and no rain fell during the growing season. If melons will grow that large without rain, what would they do with plenty of moisture, is the question several asked when they saw the melons.

Details of Support Price for Alfalfa Seed Explained

Complete details were received this week by Lynn McKown, administrative officer of the Hall County ACA, regarding government support price for alfalfa seed. An estimate for this county has been given at 280,000 pounds.

Under the plan, the government will make a purchase agreement with the farmer who produces alfalfa seed, whereby the government guarantees to buy the seed in May, 1948, at the support price of 17 cents per pound.

McKown stated that the farmer is under no obligation to the government in regard to selling the seed. He may sell it any time between now and the last of May for any price he may be offered. He may store the seed on his farm, can sell all or any part at his convenience. The purchase agreement merely gives the farmer the privilege to sell his seed to the Commodity Credit Corporation next May, and is assured of receiving at least 17 cents.

It was explained that alfalfa seed must be bagged, cleaned, and labeled before they are delivered to the government. The nearest certified dealers for alfalfa seed are at Hollis, Okla., and at Vernon.

County farmers have until March 1, 1948, to sign the purchase agreements at the local AAA office.

To date county farmers have reported 195,843 pounds of alfalfa seed to the AAA office, which is estimated to be about 70 per cent of the seed crop.

With the arrival of 60,000 pounds of cotton defoliant in Memphis Thursday night, farmers of this area will enter into a large scale harvesting experiment. The chemical, bearing the trade name of "Aero Defoliant," is being furnished by the American Cyanamid Corporation, which had one of the most discussed displays at the high school during the recent Cotton Carnival.

Dozens of farmers have already engaged most of the shipment, Lloyd Phillips, manager of the Farmers Union Gin, stated. The gin is the Hall County agent of the Cyanamid Corporation. The remainder of the shipment will be turned over to the first applicants, and Phillips stated that it was doubtful if another large shipment could be obtained.

A few farmers in recent years have used chemicals to defoliate cotton. The theory behind its use is that the leaves will fall from the plants within 10 to 12 days after application, and the remainder of the bolls will mature in a much shorter time. Where mechanical cotton strippers are used, defoliation is the only means of obtaining an early harvest.

The defoliant will sell for $4.45 per hundred, Phillips said. Twenty to thirty pounds per acre should be dusted upon the cotton, depending upon its size, the company recommended. Mechanical dusters have been bought by many farmers during recent months, and are capable of dusting eight rows at a time. The dusting will be applied at night, or during the daytime provided the foliage is covered with dew. Flyers are calling here offering their services. When planes are used, they fly as close to the ground as possible, and can dust a large acreage in one night's time. The charge for plane dusting has been given at 3 cents per pound of defoliant dropped.

The defoliant is manufactured in Ontario, Canada, H. H. Phillips, southwestern representative of the American Cyanamid Corporation, said while in Memphis during the Cotton Carnival. Carloads of the chemical is used by cotton farmers in several sections of the cotton belt, but the shipment which arrived Thursday morning is the first large amount for use in Hall County.

Causes of Fires On Farms Given By Extensionists

National observance of Fire Prevention Week has brought out the fact that 100 farm fires occur in the United States each day, statisticians of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service say. Out of each 100 fires, ten farmers are killed.

The extension service is co-operating with the U. S. Department of Agriculture in an attempt to cut down this loss of life on farms, and is urging farm people to guard themselves and their farms against fire.

The most dangerous causes of fires on farms as listed are as follows:

The careless smoker still is Public Enemy No. 1, on the strength of his smoking in bed and in the barn and discarding lighted cigarettes and matches.

The thoughtless housewife ranks second on the list, by continuing to stack papers, magazines, old clothing, broken toys, and discarded furniture away in the attic, closets, basement, the barn and other buildings.

Dangerous storage of gasoline and kerosene, and the use of flammable cleaning fluids take a high toll of life and property.

Children playing with matches cause 26,000 fires annually.

Dirty and improperly operating lanterns are a big threat, as well as the dust and cobwebs around motors, appliances and frayed electric cords.

The extension service is asking farm people to remember this: that every tenth fire that breaks out on a farm results in a death.

The Invisible Man Is Out, Garrison Says

By COL. HOMER GARRISON
Director
Department of Public Safety

Fix your lights so that you can be seen by the other fellow and your brakes so that you can stop, and you'll be all right under the new traffic law, which went into effect September 5.

You must have two burning headlamps and a burning red tail light. The only thing which every motorist has to have after January 1, which he may not have now is a little white light over the rear license plate. Formerly, reflectors were enough on trailers of all kinds, but after January 1 a burning red tail light is required for any vehicle whatsoever on the road. Trucks and busses under 80 inches wide must have in addition to other lights a stop light and two red reflectors on the rear.

Trucks or busses over 80 inches wide or having an actual or registered gross weight in excess of 3,000 pounds must have the following lights besides the headlamps, tail light, license plate light, and two red reflectors: amber clearance light at front outermost top corner on each side, red clearance light at back outermost top corner on each side, red side marker near rear on each side, amber side marker near front on each side, amber side lamp near front on each side, and red side lamp near back on each side.

When disabled upon the highway, all types of trucks, busses, and trailers must have three properly warning devices such as pot flares, electric lanterns, etc. All brakes must be capable of stopping the vehicle going 20 miles per hour within a distance of 30 feet on a smooth, level surface and must be maintained in good working order so as to be applied evenly on all wheels. Any type trailer having an actual or registered gross weight in excess of 3,000 pounds must have a separate set of brakes thereon.

Grain Supplies Must Be Sought, Feeders Are Told

Note: This is the first of a series of articles on "Feed Supplies," to be published in the next few issues of the Democrat. Other articles will appear in future issues.)

South and Southwest face special livestock feeding problems this season, which will be stressed in these articles. The Cotton Belt has greatly improved and expanded its livestock production during recent years. Compared with Corn Belt states, the southern region has relatively small production of feed grains and has been shipping in grain from surplus areas to supply local needs in many states.

On the other hand, livestock producers of the South and Southwest have certain advantages which are of special importance when grain is scarce. Mild winter weather and a longer growing season encourage pasture production and make it possible for grazing to provide a large proportion of livestock feed requirements. A larger 1947 cotton crop than in other recent years will make available larger supplies of protein concentrates, the key to balanced rations for livestock. Used to supplement available grains, pastures, and roughages, this protein concentrate, cottonseed meal or cake, will reduce grain requirements and increase the efficiency of all feeds used in rations.

Specific methods by which livestock of the Cotton South can offset their disadvantages, and make full use of their advantages for efficient, economical livestock production will be the subject for future articles.

ESTELLINE YOUTH SERVING ON ATTACK TRANSPORT

J. L. Moore, boatswain's mate, second class, USN, son of May M. Power of Estelline, is serving aboard the attack transport USS Bronx, holding ship exercises out of the harbor at San Diego in preparation for amphibious operations to be held on Southern California beaches in November.

The Bronx's exercises include seamanship, damage control, engineering, communications, gunnery, and amphibious landings. Fire, man overboard, collision, abandon ship, and battle station drills help keep the ship and its crew members at peak efficiency.

An attack transport is the primary troop carrier for an amphibious operation. The Bronx is capable of landing 1,500 troops and their equipment. This is accomplished by using 26 landing craft which are standard equipment for all attack transports.

Mrs. A. L. Gailey Reviews Book At 1913 Club Meeting

Mrs. A. L. Gailey gave a comprehensive and understanding review of "East River" by Sholem Asch Wednesday afternoon when members of the 1913 Study Club met in the home of Mrs. Wendell Harrison.

In "East River" the author devotes a long and loving report on the Jewish faith of his fathers as it confronted the New York east side tenement in the early 1900's. In his book Asch develops three powerful themes, namely: the Jewish family disrupted by Americanization; the disasters of religious dogmatism which, whether Jew or Catholic, wreck the children who love outside the church or synagogue; and the cruel economics of the sweat shops which result in Jew enslaving Jew so that some may get rich.

Members present were Mesdames Joe DeBerry, Allen Dunbar, T. J. Dunbar, A. L. Gailey, Gayle Greene, T. M. Harrison, L. C. Kinard, L. W. Don Wright, O. E. Don Ezell, was also present. "Public Affairs" program theme at the 5 meeting in the home of Joe DeBerry.

Twilight Ceremony Unites Pate and Edward R. Pate, Jr.

A twilight ceremony was held Saturday evening in the First Baptist Church, Memphis, Miss., when Edward R. Pate, Jr. and Mrs. E. T. Prater were united in marriage.

Pre-nuptial music was furnished by Mrs. R. L. Rouse, organist, and T. E. Noel, vocalist. The latter sang "Because" with accompaniment by Mrs. Rouse who also played the processional, gave a muted interpretation of "Ave Maria" during the ceremony, and concluded her offerings with the recessional by Mendelssohn.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in an afternoon dress of rust wool jersey fashioned with fitted bodice, cape, and long sleeves. She wore a brown feather calotte and carried a colonial bouquet of bronze and yellow mums showered with gold satin ribbon. She carried out the traditional custom of wearing something old, new, borrowed, and blue. The something old was an heirloom 'chafelaine' pin belonging to her great aunt.

Mrs. Coy Davis, sister of the bride and matron-of-honor, wore a plum colored dressmakers suit with black accessories. She carried a bouquet of white mums tied with white ribbon.

Edward R. Pate Sr. attended his son as best man. Ushers were Coy Davis and J. H. Barbee Jr.

The bride is a graduate of the Memphis High School and T. C. U. She belonged to several college clubs and sororities and was a member of the Progettes. Since completing her college work she has been employed by the Veterans Administration in Waco.

The groom is a graduate of Brownwood High School and a veteran of the Naval Air Corps, with 2 1/2 years of service. After his release from the armed forces he resumed his studies at the University of Texas.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Prater chose a black suit with a blue feather hat, and the groom's mother was wearing a black and white printed crepe dress with black accessories. Both wore corsages of white gladioli.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents for members of the bridal party and guests. Guests were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Prater and the bride and groom.

Yellow and white mums were used to decorate the party rooms. The refreshment table was attractively laid and centered with an arrangement of yellow and bronze mums flanked by white candles in crystal holders. Miss Maxine Shaw of Brownwood, college friend and roommate of the bride, served the four-tiered wedding cake and punch was served from a crystal punch bowl by Miss Billie Jo Prater, sister of the bride.

After the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Pate left for a honeymoon trip to Ruidoso, N. M., and other points of interest. They will make their home in San Angelo.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding and reception were Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Pate Sr. of Brownwood, Miss Maxine Shaw of Brownwood, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Martindale of Childress, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bowden of Hedley, Miss Ila Sue Davis of Fort Worth, Mrs. Hubert Maddox of Anton, and J. J. Simon of Amarillo.

Members of the bridal party were entertained with a rehearsal dinner Friday evening in the lovely country home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. J. U. Dennis.

Foursome tables were laid with white linen cloths and centered with tall crystal bud vases of red verbenas. The dinner was served buffet style.

The guest list included Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Prater, Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Pate Sr., T. E. Noel, Miss Maxine Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. Coy Davis, J. H. Barbee Jr., Miss Billie Jo Prater, Miss Genevieve Prater, and Edward R. Pate Jr.

Miss Woodington, Former Memphian Marries in Vernon

Miss Billie Merle Woodington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben J. Woodington of Vernon and former Memphis residents, became the bride of Jack Barnard Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grady Johnson, also of Vernon, Saturday evening in a double ring ceremony at the First Methodist Church in Vernon.

Dr. E. A. Reed, pastor of the church, officiated at the ceremony which was performed before a satin covered kneeling rail with a large white satin bow with the bride's chosen colors of orchid and gold nested in, topping the arm rest. The choir and chancel rails were also draped in white satin and a huge white arch flanked by white candles formed a gateway to the altar. White gladioli and white chrysanthums in crystal vases and woodwardia fern trees completed the background for the marriage ceremony. The isles leading to the altar were decorated with lighted candles and white satin bows.

Mrs. Guy Puckett, organist, played "Berceuse" (Jocelyn) by Godard and "Traumerel" by Schumann as pre-nuptial music and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Baxter Ross, who sang "O Promise Me" and "Because."

A graduate of Vernon High School, the bride is employed as a teller at the First State Bank in Vernon and is a member of the Business and Professional Women's Club.

March" by Mendelssohn was used as the recessional.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose an ivory satin gown designed with a sweetheart neckline, long fitted bodice with a full skirt and a short train and long tight sleeves pointed at the wrist and fastened with satin covered buttons. Her veil of French illusion was finger-tip length gathered to a band of artificial lilies of the valley. For the traditional something old, she wore a gold locket belonging to her mother; for something new, a watch which was a gift from the bridegroom; and for something blue, a pair of blue garters. For good luck the bride wore in her shoe a sixpence which the bridegroom brought from England.

The bride carried a satin covered Bible belonging to her nephew topped with an orchid with vanda orchids on streamers. Miss Teddy Woodington, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a pale yellow taffeta dress with a portrait neckline, fitted bodice and flared skirt and carried a nosegay of Peruvian lilies and wore a halo of mums and flowers.

The best man was Bill Gibson of Vernon. Ushers were James Skinner, Lakeview, Texas, cousin of the bride, and E. R. Broom, Vernon, cousin of the groom. Isle carpets were laid by Arnold Schulz and Robert Henry, Vernon.

The bride's mother and the bridegroom's mother both selected black crepe dresses with corsages of white gardenias.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Vernon High School and Tyler Commercial College. He is a member of the Masonic Lodge and American Legion and spent four years in the service, one year overseas in the European theater. He is employed as head of the service department at

Mrs. Hodges welcomed the guests and presented Mrs. Clarence Stroehle who introduced Mrs. Erdman, mother of the speaker, and Miss Erdman.

Using "Writing a Novel" as a subject, Miss Erdman, in an interesting, clever and charming manner, answered some of the many questions asked concerning her newly published prize novel, "The Years of the Locust." She explained her choice of subject, her characters, and her purpose in writing the story. The lives of ordinary human beings are more interesting to the author than those of maladjusted people, and furnish the ideas and materials for her stories. She challenged club members with the thought that trashy stories will be popular and in great demand only so long as there are trashy minds to read them, and that as study clubs the reading of decent literature can be fostered.

The lace covered, candle-lighted service table was beautifully centered with an arrangement of chrysanthemums and autumn leaves. Mrs. J. L. Barnes and Mrs. R. H. Wherry poured tea for the guests and club members.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Widener and Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Richards Jr. were business visitors in Amarillo Tuesday.

The reception was held in the Buckner home and several hundred guests called between the hours of 3 and 5 o'clock.

For the past several weeks Mrs. Kinard has appeared as guest speaker at numerous federated club meetings in the Seventh District and has been honored at various parties given by clubs. Last week she was in Wheeler where she was a guest at the Wednesday Club of that city.

A Bargain is Known by the Company it Keeps

The "medicine man" of the early nineteenth century had small part in our modern habits of living. Little medicine is sold these days from the tailboard of a wagon. The public has learned that the safe procedure, when illness comes, is to see a physician... a licensed M.D. When the pharmacist is chosen, the physician recommends one who is governed by honest methods and ethical principles, not one who deals in "bargain pharmaceuticals" or prescription products of questionable quality. When you bring your prescriptions to us you have the assurance that they will be filled just exactly as the doctor ordered, and with drugs and chemicals of quality unexcelled.

Dairymen Warned To Avoid Coming High-Price Slap

In a very short time, Texas dairymen will be up against winter-time feeding conditions. Realizing what the feed situation is likely to be, many dairymen are looking for ways to avoid the high-price slap that seems to be coming.

Extension dairymen at Texas A. and M. College, looking back over the years they've seen dairy farmers face the same situation, say that a first and wise step will be to see that each pound of feed is used to best advantage. Every dairy herd of any size has some cows that need culling out, because they won't be producing when the feed load is the heaviest.

During the few weeks before frost, there will be the opportunity to put up more hay and silage, and every pound of good roughage will come in handy this winter, the dairymen say. So, between now and frost, a good job of harvesting hay and silage crops is No. 1 on the list of dairy farming chores.

Because of dry weather, it was not possible to get enough small grain pastures planted in early September. This should not, however, cancel all plans for planting winter grains, the dairymen say. The feed situation is such that planting through most of October will be worth the time and expense. With costs as they are, $1 spent for small grain pasture should return more than $16 worth of grazing.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD FOR HARRIS INFANT

Survivors are the parents and a sister, Mary Nell Harris.

WANTED

September 4, 1947, copies of The Democrat. Will pay 25 cents each for the first 5 copies brought to The Democrat office. These papers are needed for the permanent files.

The secret to getting migrant labor to pick your cotton is to furnish them not only with fair pay, but with suitable living quarters and good treatment.

Sprinkler Irrigation System Displayed At Cotton Carnival

One of the interesting displays at the Cotton Carnival in Memphis two weeks ago was that of a sprinkler irrigation system, shown by H. W. Porter, a Seminole truck and tractor dealer.

The idea is overhead sprinkler irrigation. The 20-foot sections of 4-inch pipe weigh 26 pounds per section and can be easily picked up with one hand. An advantage of the system is its quick changing features. An entire string a quarter-mile long can be transferred to another row by one man in less time than is required for several laborers to change syphons and make new sets in ditch irrigation. Mr. Porter claims.

It is estimated that only half the water that is pumped out of an irrigation well still remains in the ditch after the water has flowed one-third of a mile. Evaporation and seepage take care of the rest. Sprinkler irrigation eliminates seepage entirely and greatly reduces evaporation, it is claimed.

Through this system it is believed the entire Southwest may feel a revolution in irrigation farming with more producers, more land in cultivation, more profitable crops, and easier working conditions.

Visitors Praise Local Cemetery Improvement

C. W. Howe and daughter, Mrs. Mary McLeod, both of San Diego, Calif., were visitors here first of the week.

Mr. Howe will be remembered as having published one of the first newspapers in Hall County and one of the real pioneers. He has made several visits to Hall County since 1941 and renewed acquaintance with many of the early settlers.

His daughter had never before been to Hall County, and expressed her pleasure at being able to make the visit with her father.

While in Memphis they visited Fairview Cemetery. Howe, who had seen the cemetery on former visits, when it was in less presentable appearance than now, thinks the citizenship of Memphis, and especially the City Council, deserve a vote of thanks and commendation for waking up and doing something good about a bad situation.

A. B. Wills of Handley, a former Hall County resident, was a visitor in Memphis last week.

Luther May, a former resident of Hall County, now living at Corpus Christi, has been visiting old friends here this week.

Lakeview Eagles Defeated 6-62 In Tilt With Flomot

The Lakeview Eagles were defeated 6-62 in a conference football game last Friday afternoon at Flomot when they met the Flomot team.

The big Flomot squad scored 25 points in the initial half and added the remainder in the second and third periods. The Eagles' only touchdown came at the beginning of the fourth quarter after Williams had passed on successive plays to Driver, Sams, and Adams for numerous completed passes. After driving down to the one-foot line, the Eagle back, Williams, plunged over for the Lakeview counter.

The Eagles will go to Happy for another conference game Friday. Happy is heavily favored over the Eagles, since it has won all conference games played, and Lakeview has lost all played.

Jay Gould Wins In Photo Contest

Jay Gould of Memphis was this week named winner in the amateur photo contest conducted by the Memphis Tire & Supply Company in which several local citizens entered.

Announcement was made by J. M. Ferrel Jr. and E. McMurry, owners, who presented Gould with the prize—a set of four B. F. Goodrich Safety Seal-o-matic tubes. They also announced the winner of the national contest. The winner is Toni McConoghey, St. Louis, Mo.

Both the local and national contests were judged by a professional contest-judging organization in Chicago. As previously announced, all entries became the property of the B. F. Goodrich Company.

Bemis Bag Co. Shows How Cotton Is Processed

In keeping with the theme of the carnival here last week, the Bemis Bag Manufacturing Company showed by moving pictures how cotton is processed from its planting to the finished product.

The picture was shown at the high school auditorium during the two days and at night was given a place on the Goodrich screen.

Every phase of cotton processing was shown step by step. The many who saw it pronounced it to be of valuable interest to every producer and handler of cotton. The planter, cultivator, boll puller or cotton picker, gin, compress, oil mill, spinner, and all concerned were placed on the screen to show each process.

In the final scenes, cloth and then cotton bags were shown. Cotton producing and some phases of chemurgy had a place on the screen.

Canned Tomatoes Coming for Texas School Children

Texas school children soon will have canned tomatoes on their community school lunch menu.

Eight carloads will be received in the state this week and will be supplemented by an additional 12 cars about the middle of November, John J. Slaughter, area field supervisor, Production and Marketing Administration's food distribution branch, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Dallas, has announced.

Also expected soon is a small quantity of nonfat dry milk for use in schools where fresh milk is not available. It will be used as a beverage and for cooking purposes. Additional shipments probably will be received before January, Slaughter explained.

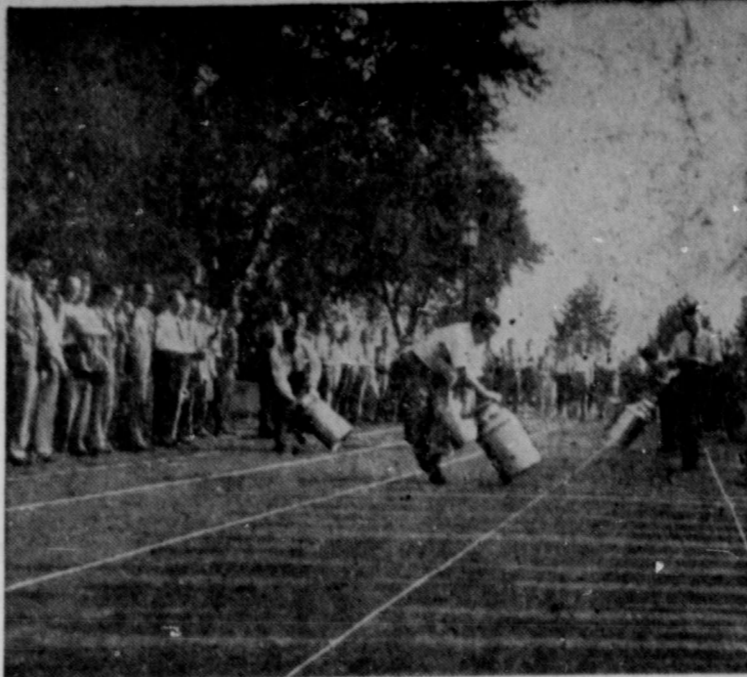

Irish potatoes also continue to move out of cold storage to schools as they need them, he added. Quantity each school receives at any one time depends on the number of children eating lunches daily. This orderly movement of potatoes from storage to schools as they are needed spreads the supply over a longer period, he explained.

The potatoes were purchased from farmers earlier in the season by USDA's Production and Marketing Administration under the price support program. The dry milk and tomatoes were bought by USDA under a special provision of the National School Lunch Act which authorizes purchase of certain foods needed to round out wholesome lunches.

Railway Postal Clerk Exam Open To All Veterans

An examination has been announced by the Civil Service Commission to fill substitute railway postal clerk positions in all states except New York and in Alaska and Puerto Rico. Competition in this examination is restricted to persons entitled to veterans preference. However, under Executive Order 9889, non-veterans serving continuously since August 28, 1947, in the position of substitute railway postal clerk under appointments not limited to one year or less may apply for the examination in order to be considered for a competitive civil service status.

The salary for the first year is $1.14 per hour, which amounts to approximately $2,300 a year for a 40-hour work week. An additional 10 per cent is paid for any night work between the hours of 6 p. m. and 6 a. m. Salary is increased each year by 5 cents an hour, up to a maximum of $1.54 an hour.

To qualify, applicants must pass a written test and be able to meet certain physical requirements. There are no age limits.

Further information and application forms may be obtained from the commission's local secretary, Glynn Thompson, located at the post office, from most first- and second-class post offices, from Civil Service regional offices, or from the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C. Applications must be received in the Commission's Washington office not later than October 28, 1947.

Rights Under Social Security Program Given By Director

Perhaps you know your rights under the social security program, but does your family? This question is being asked daily by representatives of the Social Security Administration.

Many widows who fail to file claims until they have lost payments advise that they were never told about this protection. J. R. Sanderson, manager of the field office of the Social Security Administration in Amarillo, states that monthly payments can be made retroactively for only three months prior to the filing of an application. Upon death, payments which are made monthly to minor children and to widows with such minor children in their care are made without respect to the deceased worker's age.

Most workers in commerce and industry know about their own retirement payments at age 65 or older, but in too many instances family does not know about them in the event the worker dies.

Complete information obtained on this subject by writing to the field office of Social Security Administration, Amarillo.

The double ring ceremony was read before an altar of ferns and white gladioli by Rev. E. H. Costin. Mrs. L. P. Trimble played before and during the ceremony and accompanied Mrs. Hobart Moffett and Mrs. Alva Simmons, who sang, "The Sweetest Story Ever Told" and "I Love You Truly."

Candles in tall candelabra which flanked the altar and outlined the aisles were lighted by Misses Carolyn Reeves and Sarah Rains. They were dressed in pink and blue organdie floor length dresses.

Mrs. Lloyd Vandeventer, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a pink slipper satin formal made with a basque waist and a bustle. Her short veil was attached to a halo of small flowers and she carried a nosegay.

The bridesmaids were Miss Jeanie Duggins and Miss Nelda Messer of Amarillo. They wore identical gowns of pink and blue net and tulle and also carried nosegays. The flower girls were Tula Jean Adamson and Susan Cox who were dressed in floor-length pink and blue organdie dresses. David Moreman, dressed in a white satin blouse and navy blue suit, was the ring bearer.

John Wesley Carson of Fort Worth served his brother as best man. The ushers were Billy Lester, Gene Tate, Bennie Dennis, and Alva Clay.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a bridal gown of ivory slipper satin made with a basque waist and a sweetheart neckline. The sleeves were long tight fitting and came to a point at the wrist and the gathered skirt had a short train.

Her double tiered finger tip veil of imported illusion fell from a halo of small flowers and she carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid and long white streamers. Her only ornament was a strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom.

Mrs. Tate, mother of the bride, wore a grey two-piece dress and a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Ameson, mother of the groom, was dressed in black and also wore a corsage of red roses.

A reception was held in the church parlor immediately following the ceremony. Large bouquets of dahlias decorated the room.

The table was laid with a white Irish linen cloth with a center piece of pink dahlias. At one end of the table the punch bowl was placed on a reflector and the four-tiered cake topped with a miniature bride and groom adorned the other end. Mrs. Tommy Dean Tate, dressed in a blue formal served the wedding cake and punch was served by Miss Wanda Shaw who wore a pink formal.

The guests were registered by Misses Bobbie Lee Hall and La-Rita Johnson. Misses Joan Ray Moreman and Mary Alice Hunsucker furnished piano music for the reception.

For going away, the bride wore a grey wool garbardine suit with brown accessories. After a short wedding trip to New Mexico, the young couple will be at home in Borger.

Veterans with one year or more of military service are exempt from the first two ROTC years, which comprise the elementary phase of the four-year program, and enter directly into advanced ROTC training. Successful completion of training means a com- mission in the Air Reserve or in National Guard air units; and honor graduates may receive regu- lar commissions, Col. Matthews said.

"BUYER'S MARKET" RETURNING

In a recent issue of Nation's Business, Virgil D. Reed writes vividly on the subject of "Retailers, Get on Your Toes!" Mr. Reed's thesis is simple but important—the buyer's market is rapidly returning, customers are becoming choosier, are thinking in terms of more and better goods and service for their money. Furthermore, he says, "Mass production is inescapably dependent on mass distribution and aggressive selling of more goods at lower prices. The job retailers do will determine largely both the degree of future prosperity we attain and its stability. Soon production will catch up with accumulated need for goods. When it does, the retailer's job will begin in earnest."

The progressive retailers of this country, chain and independent, are well aware of this trend. New innovations in displaying and marketing goods are being planned and tried. Stores are expanding their stocks of merchandise, to make sure that the maximum number of potential buyers will find what they want. Salespeople are being trained once again in traditional standards of courtesy and in good service. Manufacturers' lines are being scanned critically, as buyers search for the best possible quality at the lowest possible price.

On the basis of the last available figures, something like 75 per cent of the retail business of this country is done by independent stores, 21 or 22 per cent by chains and the rest by minor forms of retailing. It is not expected that these proportions will show any particular change. But competition will get keener in all fields—and the merchant who wants his share of the business must get on his toes and stay there. The consumer is boss—and American retailing will spare no effort to see his needs and desires are met.

QUOTING OUR NEIGHBORS

Save the Soil

A knowledge of soil conservation to prevent dust bowls is more important to the average American student than arithmetic, declares Clayton Seagars, New York state superintendent of conservation.

One may dispute the correctness of the statement, but if it manages to call attention to the great need of soil conservation, any inaccuracy may be excused. The soil conservation experts have repeatedly given us facts and figures to demonstrate the loss of rich earth that takes place every year in the United States. The sociologists and economists have pointed out the vital necessity of maintaining soil productivity if a people or a nation expects to be prosperous.

In view of these statements, it seems important to teach students the value of proper methods in connection with the use of soil to produce crops. While the time may not be close, the fact is that persistent depletion of soil resources will eventually put the people of the United States on a starvation diet or else leave them dependent upon other areas for necessary food.—The Shamrock Texan.

Don't Blame Grocer

The grocerymen rightly call attention to the fact that they are not the guilty hound that sucked the eggs. Charges that the food dealer, certainly at the retail level, which is the one we know about, has had something to do with the increased cost of living are all wrong. There are scores of items you find in the stores—fresh fruits and vegetables, canned goods of "practically every kind, are cheaper than they were a year ago. And lard and soap. Perhaps others that we do not now think of. And the grocer's margin is getting closer and closer. And he has been running his meat department at a loss. And this while people who are getting a good deal more than they used to get are sending up a cry of robber. Everybody is hunting for somebody else to be "it." Even the Department of Justice has decided to try to put the bee on several "trusts." Working on the theory, we suppose, that if you take in after the whales the minnows will get scared, too.—Floyd County Hesperian.

Paraphrasing Browning, "Oh, to be in San Antonio now that Autumn's there!"

Most romantic of Texas cities! Herds of bawling cattle once were driven down the dusty main street. Stagecoaches dashed in, with a story of a holup or an Indian attack. Mules, wing jingling little bells, plodded in, loaded with Spanish silver.

Her history is a procession of Spaniards, Mexicans, filibusters, Comanches, cowboys brawling in the saloons, cattle kings betting thousands on the turn of a card. From San Antonio, Jim Bowie set forth to seek the San Saba mine (known to legend, too, now as "the lost Bowie mine"), had an epic fight with redskins and, because of his wounded men, had to turn back.

Roy Bean lived in San Antonio till he left for Langtry to become "the Law West of the Pecos."

San Antonio not only is the scene of the Alamo but here too were fought the Council House fight, the Grass Fight, Salado, Alazan, Medina, Concepcion; and the city was stormed by Texas

TARVER'S PHARMACY

This Week in WASHINGTON

WHILE President Truman's Citizens Food committee went ahead full tilt to achieve a goal of saving 100 million bushels of grain through an "eat less, waste less" program of voluntary rationing by the American people there was considerable pessimism over success of the plan.

Such men as Leon Henderson, former war production chief; Wilson Wyatt, former housing expediter, and Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., all top officials of the Americans for Democratic Action organization, while declaring the President had eloquently described the crisis in Europe and the need for food, said the proposals of voluntary action "fall tragically short of the demands of a world crisis."

The organization is urging an immediate session of congress and declares "the American people, if they are informed of the full facts, will accept whatever controls are needed to preserve domestic stability and arm the democratic peoples of Europe with food and fuel in their battle for survival."

Other observers term the plan merely a postponement of the re-institution of rationing and controls and say that the need in Europe calls for drastic and immediate relief in food and money if collapse of democratic government is to be prevented in France and Italy, which would mean that Russia's Communism would take over those nations.

Economists here declare that the federal government should immediately be given the power to crack down on speculators and profiteers in foods and other commodities, particularly in grains on the grain exchanges in the country, and that no one should be permitted to extract huge profits, through increased prices, out of the needs of starving people or the sacrifice of American families to provide those needs.

Farmers' income is staying well ahead of outgo, according to the September release of the bureau of agricultural economics. The report shows that the sharp increases in prices for meat animals, dairy and poultry products and grains lifted the index of prices received by farmers to a new high of 288 per cent of the 1909-1914 average. The increase was 4 per cent over August, the cur oil and gas reserves have dis- appeared, we must still rely on topsoil for food, fiber, and prosper- ity. Unless our farmers and ranchers can secure a fair price for what they produce, they will have little or no purchasing pow- er and will be unable to patronize merchants and other businesses in our communities and towns. If agriculture hits the skids after the swar like it did not too many years ago then the good times which we all want will not be realized. I think all of us remember nickel cotton, six-bit wheat, five-cent beef, breadlines, soup kitchens, etc., and it all started with the collapse of farm prices. Congress is trying its best to avoid a repetition of those conditions, and one of the first steps to take is to avoid another collapse of farm prices.

In a democracy people tell their representative what they want him to know. And what they think, is of the utmost importance to him in the discharge of his duties.

I am therefore requesting that you, whether a businessman, tenant, farmer, rancher, or your own operator, let me know what you think should go into a long range agricultural program which will conserve our soil, and bring about a strong and stable agricultural economy with a minimum of governmental supervision. It is useless to hope for a high standard of living unless agriculture is sound. A postcard or letter addressed to me in Washington expressing your ideas and suggestions will be most welcome.

Historical Society Needs More Funds For Museum Bldg.

All directors of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society have been mailed a new bulletin by Boone McClure, director of the museum. The bulletin was written by H. C. Pipkin, Amarillo, chairman of the building committee, which sponsors the campaign for $50,000 in order to complete the second unit of the museum.

According to information received by Dr. L. F. Sheffy, secretary of the Historical Society, the campaign for funds will get underway in all of the 26 counties of the Panhandle once it is hoped that funds will be raised rapidly, and that the bulk of the money will be in by December 1.

The campaign will be open to every citizen of Hall County. While many citizens have made contributions in the past, this drive is for additional money in order that the second unit of the building may be completed. J. Claude Wells is a member of the board of directors and will receive contributions in Memphis.

When the second unit of the museum is ready for use, it will mark the completion of a project that was begun in 1932, when the museum was first erected. This unit of the museum is enclosed but no work has been done to complete the finishing on the inside. Plastering, floors, installation of lights and heat are needed to complete the unit, it was stated.

During the summer months attendance soared to an all time high, with 5,113 persons visiting in July and 6,336 in August. This brought the total of visitors since the museum opened to 480,160. The total for the year is 35,000.

The use of sheds or protective enclosures this winter is a good way to avoid cold weather diseases in livestock.

How women and girls may get wanted relief from functional periodic pain

Cardui is a liquid medicine which many women say has brought relief from the cramp-like agony and nervous strain of functional periodic distress. Here's how it may help: 1 Taken like a tonic, it should stimulate appetite, aid digestion. Thus help build resistance for the "limer" to come. 2 Started 3 days before "your time", it should help relieve pain due to purely functional periodic causes. Try Cardui. Saturday, Oct. 18 Set as Chemurgic Day at State Fair

Saturday, October 18, will be Chemurgic Day at the State Fair of Texas, it was announced from Austin this week.

Elmore R. Torn, executive vice president of the Texas Chemurgic Council which is sponsoring the day, said it would serve to welcome Victor H. Schoffelmayer, president of the council, back to Texas.

Schoffelmayer, former agricultural editor of the Dallas Morning News, and now science editor emeritus, is expected to return about that time from a three months survey of industrial, agricultural, and chemurgic developments on the Pacific Coast.

During the day the executive committee of the council will meet to name the date for the Valley Conference and to plan the program.

The Texas Chemurgic Council has a booth in the agricultural building at the State Fair and this will be the focal point for the Chemurgic Day's activities.

HERE IS A 4-UNIT DIESEL FREIGHT LOCOMOTIVE NOW OPERATED BY 2 MEN (1 ENGINEER AND 1 FIREMAN)

2 BRAKEMEN AND 1 CONDUCTOR COMPLETE THE CREW OF THIS TRAIN

—BUT THE UNION LEADERS WANT 15 EXTRA "SITTERS" ON THIS TRAIN... 3 ENGINEERS, 3 FIREMEN, 6 BRAKEMEN AND 3 CONDUCTORS... TO GO ALONG FOR THE RIDE AT FULL PAY!

It's to your interest to know about this proposed feather-bedding!

For sheer feather-bedding, this mock work proposal takes the cake. But it is only one of 44 "rules" demands filed by the leaders of the operating unions. If all these demands were granted, they would cost the railroads an added BILLION DOLLARS A YEAR. Increased Wages, Too On top of these "rules" changes, the leaders of the operating unions have filed an additional demand for a wage increase of over 30 per cent. If granted, this would be an added cost to the railroads of $400,000,000 a year. $468,000,000 To Non-Operating Employees In addition to this, an Arbitration Board has just granted a wage increase of 15 1/2 cents an hour to the million employees represented by the 17 non-operating unions. This will cost the railroads $468,000,000 a year. Where Will The Money Come From? Where will all the money come from to pay these increases? They total several times as much as the railroads made in 1946 or will make in 1947. In July, the railroads filed an application for increased freight rates to close the gap which then existed between wage and material costs, and railroad revenues. Since then it has been necessary, because of further increases in wages and material costs, to supplement that petition and to ask for an additional freight rate increase. No other course is available. Railroads Do Not Run For Employees Alone Railroads are operated for the benefit of not one, but several groups: shippers, passengers, employees, and the general public. The interest of all must be served, and that cannot be done unless the railroads can operate efficiently and economically, and unless they are able to earn sufficient revenue to pay the kind of transportation services the country MUST HAVE.
