Candidates Chosen High School Queen to Be Named Dec. 11

The queen of Memphis High School will be elected at a pie supper to be held in the high school auditorium Thursday night, December 11, at 7 o'clock according to an announcement released by the school this week.

The election of queen is one of the highlights of the year's school activities and much interest is being shown among the students, with each class supporting their candidate 100 per cent, the report stated.

The general public is urged to come to the pie supper, pick out their favorite and support her, it was reported.

The proceeds from the votes, which will cost a penny each, will go into the fund for publishing the high school annual. The purchaser will bid whatever he wishes and the name of the contestant supported by the buyer will receive the amount paid for the pie.

Also the class will receive two hundred votes for each pie brought to the contest by class members—that is, seniors, juniors, sophomores, freshmen, and pre-freshmen.

Jars have been placed downtown with the name of a candidate and the class to which she belongs. Citizens are urged to donate to the yearbook fund by voting at a penny for each vote and placing the money in the jars, high school officials announced.

A cake will be auctioned off to the high bidder following the pie bidding and each person that bids will get three votes for each penny spent for the queen of his choice.

Sammy Rasco, 6 foot 3 inch center, a letterman from last season, has one more year of eligibility. Bill Davis, forward and letterman, is a senior. He is 5 feet and 11 inches tall and is looking good in workouts, the coach declared.

Leroy Green, letterman, has another year of eligibility after this season. He plays guard and is 5 feet 6 inches tall. Don Morrison is another guard, who also plays forward on occasion. Duane Vickers, guard, was unable to play last year because of a broken leg. Coach McCulloch expects him to do well this season. Also there is Andy Gardenhire who injured his ankle in the Plainview "B" game. He is supposed to be able to appear in uniform during the latter part of the season. ### POSTMASTER SAYS MAIL CHRISTMAS PACKAGES EARLY

With only 17 mailing and shopping days left before Christmas, Postmaster Jim Vallance urges the mailing of packages early.

He said there is actually no limit to the time when people can mail packages to soldiers and friends overseas but that they probably will not get them before Christmas. The weight limit for foreign packages is 70 pounds—the same as it is in the United States, he said.

He called attention to the fact that many people take advantage of the 11-2 cent rate for the mailing of Christmas cards but that if they wish to be certain of delivery they should use the regular first class mail 3-cent stamp. The 11-2 cent rate requires that the card not be sealed (Continued on Page 8)

Improved Paducah Wins 4-A District

The Paducah Dragons whirled into the regional play-off in Matador Thanksgiving Day by roundly outplaying the Matadors in a free scoring bee, 39-18.

Although, tied in conference play for the season with Lockney, this earned the charges of Coach Stormy Davis the right to meet Coach Scott McCall's Irishmen of Shamrock, in the bi-district game between districts 3-A and 4-A. Under conference rules, if two teams are tied for the district championship at the end of the season, if one is victor over the other in conference play (in this case Paducah by virtue of a 7-6 upset over the Longhorns) the winner gets the district nod.

Research has come to the aid of medical practice and today diagnosis and treatment of disease are on a sound scientific basis. ### North Texans Pay Big Income Tax 1st 9 Months 1947

Texas taxpayers poured more than $300,000,000 into Uncle Sam's cash register during the period July 1 through October 31, or 7 per cent more than last year's federal internal revenue collections for the same months, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reported.

Although there is talk of tax reductions effective in 1948, there is no immediate relief expected even with the special session of Congress underway.

Income taxes from corporations and persons not on withholding status slumped 1 per cent below year-ago figures, but employment, withholding, and other taxes brought in increased revenue.

October collections in Texas were 18 per cent above intake during October last year, with all tax sources bringing in returns.

First District (South) federal internal revenue collections totaled $37,565,000 in October, 27 per cent of the October 1946 tax cumulative revenue for year to date, July 1 through October 31, reached $112,125,000 in the South Texas district, 12 per cent gain over months last year.

In the Second District (Texas) collections for 1946 revenue, totaling $751, Federal internal for the period July 1 through October exceeded the month intake in 1946, cent, reaching $144,165,000.

People Are Told To Drink Milk Daily

...of milk a day is a must for people are to keep active, says foods of Texas A. & M. College Extension Service. Men and women in their fifties, sixties, and seventies often overlook milk in their diets, a neglect that denotes a lack of necessary minerals.

...furnish enough calcium, phosphorus for the upkeep of their bodies, and the milk is the minimum of the specialists. A condition of demineralization of the skeleton may come from too little calcium in the diet and often leads to broken bones in later years. Some investigators have suggested that many a fall, which supposedly results in a bone break, is actually due to weakened bones which break and cause the person to fall.

Relatively little is known of the nutritional needs of the older age group, the specialists report, and state experiment stations are making studies aimed at correct dietary recommendations. Recent studies do show that older people have not lost their ability to store calcium and other minerals and that their diets should include milk.

Drouth Affects Texas Tech-A&M Wheat Experiment

Extended drouths this fall are expected to slow down research of causes of cattle deaths resulting from grazing winter wheat being conducted on the Pan-Tech farm near Amarillo, according to W. L. Stangel, dean of agriculture at Texas Technological College, who is farm director.

Pan-Tech farm is the official name given to 8,500 acres of the former Pantex ordnance plant, where Texas Technological College and Texas A. & M. College are conducting cooperative research on winter wheat poisoning. President W. M. Whyburn of Texas Tech signed a use permit from the War Assets Administration last July authorizing the college to use the land for seven years.

It had been anticipated that about 6,000 acres of wheat would be planted this year, Dean Stangel stated, but because of extremely dry weather, wheat was not seeded at the proper time and it is doubtful if much wheat will be available during the ensuing crop year.

Because cattle develop ill effects from grazing wheat more frequently during luxuriant grazing seasons, Dean Stangel predicted that little would be learned from cattle on the farm during the necessarily restricted grazing periods this year.

The veterinarian may be able to make some observations on animals grazing elsewhere in the area, Stangel said, although he will not be in position to make as careful a study as if he had the cattle on Pan-Tech which has been set up as a research station.

Some further information is expected to come from a one-acre irrigated plot where a check test is being carried on with rabbits, he added, explaining that since rabbits, like cattle, live on grazing vegetation the research workers consider it possible that rabbits may be poisoned as well as livestock.

WEATHER

There was a .95-inch of rain in this vicinity yesterday, according to the report of J. J. McMickin, local weather observer.

The rain was welcomed since the cotton crop is about 90 per cent gathered with an unofficial estimate of 36,000 bales, local observers said. The local bus station reported quite a few cotton pickers leaving during the past few days. Men in touch with the cotton movement in Memphis indicated that they expected more than 40,000 bales this season. And with the weather showing clear again today they hoped to get the picking begun again soon.

The temperature for this morning was 38 degrees low; for Wednesday 52 and 58; Tuesday 42 and 58; Monday 28 and 52; Sunday 28 and 40; Saturday, 28 and 62; Friday, 28 and 40.

The size of the original capital building of the United States was 332 feet 4 inches in length and 229 feet in depth. It was built of Aquia, Va., sandstone, secured from quarries the United States owned.

Influenza May Hurt Hogs, States Foundation Warning

Swine influenza may cause new, record-breaking financial losses in the next few weeks and months, the American Foundation for Animal Health stated recently.

"This disease is a danger to swine, just as it is to people, in cold weather," the foundation declared. "This year, in view of high prices and food-shortages, widespread outbreaks would be a major disaster."

A five-point plan to prevent swine influenza losses was recommended:

"Keep hogs away from old straw stacks, manure piles, and contaminated lots, where they may pick up the virus of influenza."

"Provide clean, draft-free quarters, with ample bedding."

"Keep clean, fresh drinking water before the hogs all the time."

"Combat internal parasites. One species—the lungworm—is known to harbor the virus of swine flu."

"Watch for the symptoms of flu: jerky breathing, coughing, loss of appetite, and fever. At the first sign of disease, obtain a veterinary diagnosis and start the proper treatment."

Swine flu poses a double threat, the foundation warned. "Although affected animals usually recover, the disease causes loss of weight and lowered vitality. And in brood sows, it frequently causes stillbirths—or sickly litters with a poor chance to survive."

Hazards Can Be Stopped By Air Spraying Machines

of fires in cotton gins reduced to a great extent by the use of a humidifying agent to treat air throughout the ginning process, according to L. E. Parsons, head of the Texas Technological College textile engineering department.

Creating air throughout the ginning process by utilizing compressed air, or jets constructed in connection with fans be used to moisten. Some ginners practical to direct steam into the area.

gin buildings that are not tight, it would be more practical to inject moisture into cotton early in the ginning process, rather than attempting to maintain moisture in the air throughout the plant, Parsons said. Some gins are equipped with dryers of a type that can be utilized in applying a wetting agent directly and effectively to the cotton. Properly conditioned cotton can be ginned with minimum damage to the fibers and will produce a better sample.

The recent outbreak of gin fires in this area has been blamed by some people on static electricity. Parsons, however, expressed some doubt as to whether or not static electricity alone would cause combustion.

Without stating positively that static electricity could not cause a fire in this case, Parsons pointed out that the Texas Tech physics and textile departments conducted experiments several years ago during which they were unable to ignite dry cotton with sizeable static sparks.

"However, it is known that dry cotton may be ignited during the ginning process by sparks struck from small rocks or metallic objects. Another danger is that cotton pickers sometimes even lose matches in their cotton sacks. In any event, weather conditions that create static charges are ideal for fires from any cause," he explained.

Static electricity is most in evidence during cold, windy dry days, Parsons stated. When the atmosphere is relatively damp, static charges flow off objects to the ground, but they tend to collect in larger charges when the relative humidity is as low as 10 to 12 per cent.

Rayford Harris of Borger transacted business in Memphis Monday of this week.

50 Per Cent Of Texas Families Offer "Grace"

A recent state-wide poll showed that five out of 10 Texas families say "grace" or a blessing before each meal. A national organization polled families in the United States on this and other religious habits not long ago. The percentage of families in the country as a whole that say grace before each meal is four out of 10. Mrs. Eloise T. Johnson, extension family life education specialist for Texas A. & M. College, says that families tend to do in their own homes what they learned as children. One-half of the people who do not offer thanks before meals said that the custom had not been observed in their homes when they were children, while 84 out of 100 Texans who offer thanks reported that this was a family custom as they grew up. Grace before each meal does more than give spiritual satisfaction, Mrs. Johnson says. The beauty and dignity of the blessing adds as much to the atmosphere of the meal as flowers, colorful linen, or attractive china. The few moments of quiet before eating calms emotions and consequently the digestive system is in much better working order. This is particularly true for small children, but adults also benefit from the short respite from worry, haste, or excitement. It's an old-fashioned custom, perhaps, but it still fits in the modern picture of family life.

THE AMERICAN FARMER'S ROLE

The recent meeting of Hall County farmers at the courthouse on conservation brought out that the program next year would be considerably lowered from the 1947 figure because of financial curtailment. And this at a time when the farmer is playing such a vital role in the world food crisis.

During November, news stories told of a trainload of business tycoons visiting towns in West Texas and the Panhandle in interest of "food production", which they averred must come out of this old earth that had been tilled and tilled until the inroads of erosion had to be fought with all the knowledge that man could gain in order to continue the fight for existence—not only for himself but to reach out to the downtrodden of Europe and into the orient of China . . .

At the same time government figures showed what the farmer already knew—that the cotton yield this year was about three times more than last and all the crop not gathered.

The report of Mr. McKown to the farmers revealed that the farmer could get aid for only 13 projects as against 18 for last year. In summing up last year his figures showed that 798 miles of terracing were placed on 201 participating farms; 58,868 acres of contour farming with 309 farms participating; and 9,360 acres, at 192 farms, leaving sorghum grain stalks in the fields. These were a few of the 18 projects completed for 1947, a mighty fine record. But if this land needed these things in 1947 why not in 1948, 1949 and so on, ad infinitum?

With these figures and facts, the American Farmer faces a big task in the future. The Marshall plan for European economic recovery depends on America's production of food during the next 4 or 5 years. The farmer's part is set out before him and he has never shirked his important role in the scheme of things.

"Reluctant Santa Claus"

It has been eight years since your columnist went to Hollywood to help a little in the making of "Boom Town"—but like Irvin S. Cobb concerning his operation, I like to talk about it. Recently, the film was re-issued and has been going the rounds again.

One night, in Austin, I attended a motion picture in technicolor, showing the twinkling lights of Hollywood seen from a height. Next day, I received a telegram asking me to come out and be technical adviser on "Boom Town"—and two nights after seeing the twinkling lights of Hollywood in a movie, I was looking at those lights myself.

At the first story conference, which was a get-acquainted affair, Sam Zimbalist, the producer, said, "We are going to spend a million dollars"—this was when a million dollars was some money —"to make this picture; we want you to feel that it is your picture and if you have any ideas, it doesn't matter what they are, don't hesitate to speak at any time."

My friends will not need the assurance that I did not hesitate to speak.

However, I had a dilemma at the very next session, which was when we got down to discussing the story. Zimbalist said, "We will suppose that a well comes in, making 50,000 gallons of oil a day." I didn't know whether I was supposed to be one of those Hollywood "yes men" I'd heard about and nod my head in agreement or point out that, in oil circles, the production of a well is expressed in "barrels" and not "gallons."

I decided if I was going to take their money, I ought to try to earn it by keeping the expressions technically correct, so I remarked that an oil man would speak of such a producer as about a thousand-barrel well (a barrel is, of course, 42 gallons). Zimbalist said, "All right," and went on.

It was several years later that John Lee Mahin, the principal writer on the script, visited Fort Worth and he told me that Zimbalist knew very well what the correct term was; he had wanted to see if I knew.

My contract with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer was for a minimum of two weeks and I figured that that would be the maximum, too, because they'd find out how little I knew by that time. Instead, I was there four months (until all the writing had been completed); I was there so long I got scared I'd lose by Texas citizenship.

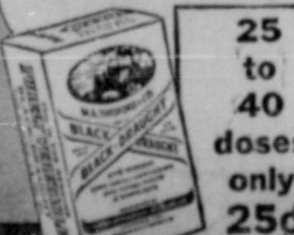

At the first story conference, I happened to mention that I noticed a world's champion was going to fight in Los Angeles next night—so an hour afterward, the secretary of Producer Jack Conway phoned me that if I would call at the box office of the fight club, there would be two ringside seats for me.

Sure enough, there were—$6.00 a piece was what they cost the generous Conway. I had two tickets to a world's championship bout—and didn't know a soul in the city. Looking around, I noticed a well-dressed man off to one side, so I said, "I'll be glad to give you a ticket to the fight." He didn't even grunt—just turned and walked off.

So I went in by myself and sat in one of the seats for half the program, then moved over and sat in the other seat for the rest of the evening.

Folks out there on the street are so distrustful of strangers you can hardly get one to give you street directions. I had been out there some little time and was waiting for a bus when someone slapped me on the back. I looked around and the man said, "I'm sorry; I mistook you for a friend of mine." I said, "All right but don't let it happen again."

If I had stayed out there much longer, I'd been as bad as the rest of them.

This Week in WASHINGTON

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE WASHINGTON scene include the deliberations of the special session of congress on stop-gap aid to Europe and what to do to curb the high cost of living; the machinations of General Bennett Meyers being brought out in the senate war investigations committee; the results of the Geneva Tariff conferences; General Marshall's tough speech against Russian policy and his departure for the conference of foreign ministers . . . down to the attempt of Congressman Clare Hoffman of Michigan to force newspaper reporters to reveal their news sources on stories about congressional committees.

WITH THE SENATE foreign relations committee reporting out the 597 million dollar emergency aid to France, Italy and Austria without a dissenting vote, some optimistic senators believed passage as a Thanksgiving present was possible. Others were afraid the opposition would cause a delayed debate on the question. Both house and senate committees were having full hearings on the President's recommendations to halt inflation and depression and while Senator Taft's joint economic committee was by-passing two of the most controversial recommendations in the President's message, that of ration and price control of a few specific basic commodities, Senator Tobey of New Hampshire, on the senate banking committee, said he would be willing to go all the way with the President if the situation gets "out of hand." Congressman Jesse P. Wolcott of Michigan, chairman of the house banking committee said he was "not ruling anything out" so his hearings will include the two presidential recommendations.

SEN. RALPH FLANDERS of Vermont, a member of Senator Taft's joint economic committee and chairman of a sub-committee which held extensive hearings on prices and housing in the east, has filed a report in which he suggests a three-point program to stop high prices—(1) voluntary savings, (2) allocation at the production and distributing level and as a last resort, price controls and rationing. "We have not," he said, "found any alternative to some measure of controls at least on the basic item of food."

THE HOFFMAN Michigan congressman before him and grilling editorial entitled "disloyal men." Then he called for a Washington Post, a member of the house education committee, and attempted to reveal source of a labor department hearing at Michigan. ### Denton Eagles Take Lone Star Conference Crown

The Denton Eagles of North Texas State Teachers College wound up their regular 1947 football schedule Thanksgiving Day by defeating the Chattanooga College of Tennessee on their home state grounds by a decisive score.

The Eagles completed a successful season to win the Lone Star Conference championship in good style without losing a conference contest. In fact their only loss was a contest with the Southwestern conference powerful Hogs of Arkansas University, the score being only by two touchdowns.

Mrs. Pat King and son Mike and Mrs. Warren Adams of Amarillo spent Thursday in the home of their parents and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Paschall.

VFW Sponsors Radio Program December 7

The sixth anniversary of one of the darkest days in the proud history of the world's most powerful nation—the sneak attack by the Japanese on Pearl Harbor—will be the occasion for a statewide broadcast that should serve as a warning that another "Pearl Harbor" not only is possible but that such a disaster is entirely probable, it was announced in Austin this week.

Sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Department of Texas, this momentous broadcast will be featured by addresses by Gov. Beauford H. Jester; by high ranking army, navy, and air force officers; by Ray Brannaman, Denver, commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and by Roger Q. Evans, commander of the VFW in Texas. The broadcast will be from 2 to 2:30 p. m. Sunday.

That Nagging Backache

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strains on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—feel constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor.
