The work of the Chamber of Commerce will be emphasized at a special program before the Rotary Club Tuesday. Farmer spoke at the Lions Club luncheon yesterday and pointed out the importance of the organization's work.

During the week, the membership committee will be very active, Chairman H. J. Howell said. Individual membership in the organization now stands at 212 and the committee will try to increase this total by 50 members.

Serving on this committee with Howell are Gray Carter, Elmont Branigan, Whitey Middleton, W. H. Monzingo and Del Wells.

Farmer said this particular week has been designated official Chamber of Commerce Week because it coincides with the date of the first organization.

"Few persons realize the fact that the Chamber of Commerce is actually older than the Constitution of this country," he told the Lions Club yesterday.

He pointed out that the first chamber was organized in New York in 1768 and that others soon followed in Charleston and Boston.

Today, and every day, thousands upon thousands of shoppers will come home with some purchase, delighted over the fact that they made "a good buy." It may be a hat, a household appliance, a dozen glasses or any one of a limitless number of things. In each case, the buyer found what he wanted at a price he considered right.

In this country, with its superb retail organizations, we take that "good buy" for granted. It is always available. And the reason we have it is that we live in a free economy in which competition is intense, and the awards go to the merchant who gives us the lowest price, or the best service, or the most appealing advertising, or some other business-building inducement. Here is the reason why a national chain-store system was a tiny, one-man operation fifty years ago. And here is the reason why that little store on the corner may be a merchandising behemoth fifty years from now.

Visitors from abroad, where retailing, like all other business, is usually wound tight in governmental red tape and obsolete practices, are amazed when they see American stores. They can hardly believe that such abundance exists, and that anyone can buy what he wants without a ration card. What they are seeing, whether they realize it or not, is one of the has done for the farmer in a rebest examples of free enterprise at work.

The Sunday School, of whatever denomination, is one antidote to this particular kind of disease. The principals upon which Sunday School teaching is based are as old as civilization. They represent the values of honor, courage, integrity, faith-values whose worth and lustre can never dim.

The nation will be as strong 20 years from now as the parents today want it to besunday school is designed to help build moral strength for the future and should be encouraged as a permanent practice.

The speech will be the first in a series of grassroots and "whistle stop" speeches the President will make prior to the congressional elections in November, Just how the President is going to handle this campaign is a question being asked here in Washington, for there is little question that the 81st congress has made just as poor a record as a "do-nothing congress" as the 80th, which the President castigated from coast to coast for not carrying out his Fair Deal program.

The opinion has been expressed budget. that one reason for this early speech of the President may be to stir-up this congress, nominally Democratic, but controlled by a coalition of southern Democrats and Republicans. Even so, these observers point out, it will be pretty late for any very outstanding action before adjournment which is expected along about July 1.

. . . Even though this congress under the Truman whip has failed to pass the Fair Deal program, the concensus is that it will do nothing to hurt business, that it is a "safe" congress. On the horizon and likely of enaction are two measures. One would set up a plan whereby small business could get insured loans, up to $15,-000, under much the same plan as FHA housing loans; the other would regulate the sick and ailing coal industry and end the monopolistic control over the industry by John L. ever, there is still much grumbling among farm folk over the present provisions of the act. Farm income is on the downward grade although farm prices are still supported at the highest parity prices in history. Overproduction and surpluses are 'he cause and these cannot be cured without rigid acreage and production controls.

. . . First reports from the work of the house appropriations committee on the single appropriation bill indicate a step in the right direction, a slash of $1,385,377,504 in the President's budget for the same items, or about 5 per cent below the amount requested for the 1951

The committee approved a cash outlay of $27,266,403,664 for the fiscal year, plus contract authorities of $1,778,626,-500. These outlays do not include appropriations for debt interest and other perennial items which by law receive gress. Neither do they include funds for foreign aid which are to be proposed in a later bill.

Incidentally, the senate committee on expenditures has issued a report showing that more than 301,. 000 government workers have been dropped from the federal payroll since January 1, 1947. The number of persons on the federal payroll dropped from a postwar peak of 2,262,625 on that date to 1,961,029 on January 1, 1950, the report said. Independent agencies showed a decrease of 119,000 in personnel.
