Records Prove Plan Of Cotton Program

Cotton will be planted in 226 counties in Texas this year. Indications are that the acreage planned will be stepped up greatly because of reductions in flax, sorghum, vegetable and small grain acreages. These reductions are due largely to adverse weather during last fall and winter.

F. E. Elliott, who is cotton specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says farmers have shown a big interest in varieties of cotton adapted to the use of machine strippers and pickers.

Our records show that definite progress is being made in the 7-Step Cotton Program, Elliott states.

Seven Steps

He lists the seven steps in the program as (1) fit cotton into balanced farming, (2) take care of your soil, (3) act together on the best variety, (4) make your labor count, (5) control cotton insects and diseases, (6) pick and gin for higher grade, and (7) sell for grade, staple and variety value.

In 1948, the program assisted in fitting cotton into balanced farming on 28,043 farms in Texas. This number was increased to 31,115 in 1949, and to 48,181 last year.

Although little increase in soil improvement practices occurred during the past two years, over the 1948 figures, Elliott says farmers have indicated that they will fertilize about 20 per cent of the cotton acreage in 1951. Eleven percent is the most that has ever fertilized in the past.

Picking

The number of spindle type cotton picking machines increased from 92 in 1948 to 335 in 1949. Due to reduced cotton acreage, there was a reduction of machine pickers in 1950. However, Elliott says farmers have indicated that they want to buy 586 new pickers this year.

From a total of 4,732 in 1948 the number of stripper type harvesting machines increased to 7,003 in 1949. Little increase occurred in 1950. This year, farmers want to buy 7,491 new stripers—if they are available. If these new ones are bought, there will be more than 14,000 stripers on farms in Texas in 1951.

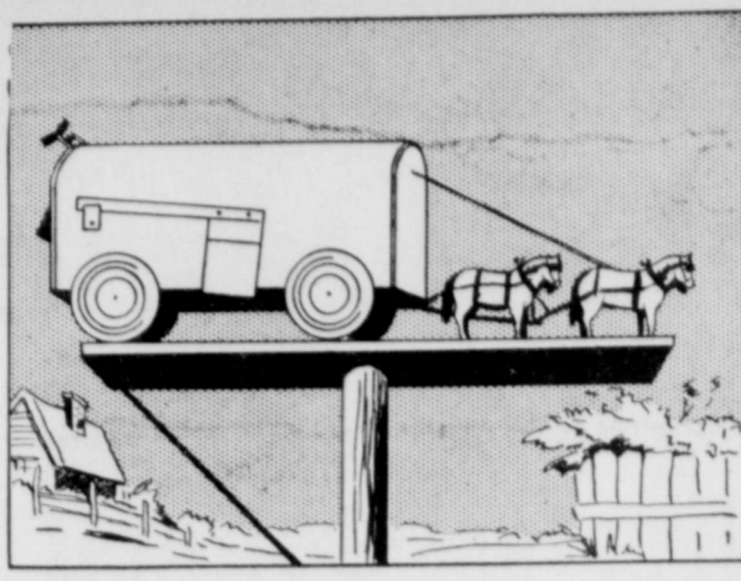

Elliott reports that machine strippers were used in 84 counties last year, while machine pickers were used in 63 counties. He says that machine harvesting is bringing about an increase in the number of one variety cotton communities.

Rotary

The number of rotary hoe equipped tractors increased from 6,966 in 81 counties in 1949 to 10,004 in 97 counties last year. Elliott points out that the use of the rotary hoe cuts the hone bill by 60 to 65 per cent.

Thirty-three million pounds of insecticide were used on cotton in 1948. An increase of about 50 percent occurred the next year with 49,563,948 pounds being used in 1949. Last year, about 60 percent of the cotton acreage was treated for insect control. On nearly five and a quarter million acres of cotton, 97,708,044 pounds of dust and 3,091,123 gallons of spray were applied.

Better Planning May Be Answer For Farm Crops

To combat the high costs of living and production and to reduce chances of financial loss, Texas farmers should produce at the highest possible levels in 1951, says C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist of Texas A. & M. College.

Indications are that domestic and foreign demands for raw materials may set all-time records, and this in turn assures farmers of a strong market for their products, he adds.

He points out that our land labor and machinery resources are ed practices under the 7-Step cotton program, says Elliott, have resulted in increased yields per acre, more efficient production, higher quality cotton, better ginning and more income for the farmer.

about the same as during World War II but adds that farmers do have more "know-how", higher yielding varieties of crops, more effective insecticides and machinery for doing many of the jobs on the farm.

The manner in which these advantages and resources are used says Bates, will greatly affect farm profits in 1951.

Maximum

Here are his suggestions for getting maximum production and profits in 1951. First plan for the maximum acreage of high-value crops, that is, the maximum acreage that is in keeping with good farm management practices.

He doesn't recommend plowing up high yielding pastures and returning this acreage to other crops unless it is a part of the rotation system on the farm.

He says to use the best seed obtainable for cheap seen may prove to be the most expensive. Good planting seed should be free of weed seed and other seed mixtures and should have a high germination test.

High yields are generally produced only from good stands. The correct methods of seed bed preparation and chemically treating all planting seed help to insure good stands.

Fertilizer

He recommends the liberal use of fertilizers in the sections of the state where they are adapted. Soil tests, research findings and the results from fertilizer use demonstrations should be used as the basis for determining the kinds and amounts of fertilizers to be applied, says Bates.

A planned program for controlling insects and diseases should be followed on the farm, and crops should be harvested and

Sanitation May Prevent Disease This Spring

Millions of flies help to cause illness and death of thousands of children and adults each year in the United States. Hundreds of these casualties may be in Texas this year if residents fail in their responsibility for developing the best possible sanitation measures in the area where they reside.

Typhoid fever, summer complaint and other intestinal disease can be traced to the common housefly as the carrier of the infection.

Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer recently said, "Be sure that windows and doors are tightly screened so that stray flies are kept away from food, drink and utensils used in the preparations of food. Make sure, if you live in rural districts, that outside privy vaults are tightly covered so as not to permit the entrance of flies."

"Infections from this course can be picked up and spread to human beings through contact with food, drink and utensils. Keep all garbage covered until collected or buried. Eliminate all breeding places for flies and you will be helping your community in its work of controlling communicable diseases and preventing unnecessary illness."

Now is the time to do away with the winter's accumulation of trash. Clean up and stay clean is a good slogan for communities and individual citizens.

marketed when their quality is at the highest stage.

Bates suggests that farmers make a study of their routine operations such as feeding the farm's livestock, the milking job on the dairy farm or the many other chores that must be performed daily. Study them, he says, for the purpose of eliminating needless steps and improving the efficiency of the operation. Often as much as one-fifth less time is required to do a job when labor-saving methods are used.

Farm-to-Market Bill Still Alive In Legislature

The hot potato in the legislature is the farm to market road issue which the lawmakers are trying to dodge and unload on the county commissioners and judges of the separate counties.

They want to repeal the $15,000,000 a year appropriation of the last legislature, but are blocked by the judges and commissioners.

A House substitute would give counties the surplus bond assumption funds, but would leave out about four-fifths of the counties.

The judges and commissioners swooped down on Austin, 400 strong, and scared the life out of the roads and motor committee, which then voted almost unanimously against the substitute.

But that didn't kill the bill. Foes of the rural road plan shunted it to the state affairs committee, hoping to save it.

The judges and commissioners are fighting mad and tried of being pushed around. They asking a fair tax on the billion-dollar annual take of natural gas from Texas to other states by a few New York gas monopolies, and are standing by their guns. That would come from outside of Texas and not cost Texans anything.

There are 1,016 county commissioners and 254 county judges, and only 181 lawmakers, and if the solons let the farmers down, the voters are going to hear all about it, come next year's political campaign.

It boils down to the simple fact that if the legislature kills rural roads, the commissioners of each county will have to tax their own people, or have no roads. That plan was just tried in Tarrant County and a 30c road tax was defeated more than two-to-one.

The legislature can tax the big New York monopolies for the gas they take from Texas, but the commissioners can not. They can only tax their own people, after a favorable popular vote.

A Short Story By Richard Hill Wilkinson

IT SEEMED INCREDIBLE to Michael that after all these years of hopeless hero worship he could be standing within two feet of the lovely Helen Roister. Why, if he reached out his hand he could touch her! Actually, it was like living in a dream. And what was more astounding still, she was smiling at him. She had not acted the least bit cold or distant when, experimentally, he had made that casual remark about the weather. Instead she had agreed: "It is warm, isn't it?" And little electric vibrations had scurried up and down Michael's spinal column.

Impulsively, scarcely recognizing his own voice, he said: "How—suppose we go out somewhere and get an ice?"

"I'd love to!"

You could have bowled him over with a twig. And then before he could quite collect his senses Owen Wheelock had called to her from across the stage. Owen, big, handsome, aloof, was her business manager. There were rumors that he and Helen Roister were engaged.

Michael's heart sank into his boots when she crossed to where Owen stood. Sullenly he watched them. They seemed to be arguing. He saw the color suddenly flood into Owen's cheeks, saw Helen Roister turn away from him.

Looking at her across a table in Shapleigh's ice cream and soda emporium, still with that dazed, spellbound expression in his eyes, Michael poured out his soul in response to her questions.

"I've been stage manager at the Palace for five years," he admitted. "I started as assistant. Six years with Mr. Stein all together." His eyes devoured her hungrily. "And all that time—since your first picture I—I've worshipped you." He when, the next afternoon, Miss Roister invited him to her hotel for tea. "All you've said has interested me so much, Michael. You're a dear boy."

Michael saw Owen Wheelock glaring at them as they went out. It occurred to him that Helen Roister was becoming tired of the big, handsome, dissipated looking devil. Wheelock doubtlessly typified the sort of men to which she was accustomed. Now that she had had a chance to meet a different type a really workaholic, ambitious, well, Michael didn't want to get too high an opinion of himself.

Helen Roister's personal appearance lasted a week. At the end of that time Michael's head was in a whirl with wild ideas and crazy schemes. He had been with the girl of his dreams every afternoon and evening. Her interest, her eagerness in him and his plans were unbelievable. It was only now that he was beginning to grasp, to understand the significance of her attention.

She was in love with him. She was as much in love with him as he was with her. It was only because of her greatness, her popularity, because she had seemed so far above him that he hadn't been able to comprehend. She was tired of bright lights and fame and falsities. She was tired of men like Owen Wheelock.

Michael's story had enthralled her. She wanted him, because he represented simplicity and honesty and sincerity. It was like a chapter from a story book. He had been a fool not to have realized it before.

Watching her from the wings on this the last night of her performance, Michael smiled to himself, confidently, and made his plans.

Mrs. Boyd Rogers
Gives Book Review
At Theatre Meet

Mrs. Boyd Rogers reviewed "With a Feather on My Nose" by Billie Burk at a meeting of the Memphis Little Theatre Wednesday afternoon. The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Joe DeBerry with Mrs. Ray Childress as co-hostess.

Mrs. Rogers presented the review in a most interesting manner. She was attired in the costume of a circus clown, bringing out the theme of the book. She pointed out that Billie Burk's early life was spent in the circus as her father was a clown under the big top.

Facts about Billie Burk's childhood and her rise to fame in the theatrical world were related by the reviewer, who also told many interesting facts about her actual life.

In speaking of her life Miss Burk said that she had an interesting and colorful career but it was after she met and married the wealthy Flo Zaigfield that her life became a fabulous dream-world.

Direction of business was conducted by Mrs. T. M. Harrison, president, followed by committee reports. The next meeting will be March 28 in the home of laboratory with Misses Roselyn Williams and Iris Smith as hostesses.

REPORT FROM WASHINGTON

By CONGRESSMAN WALTER ROGERS

Draft Legislation—The Universal Military Training and draft legislation is bringing many delegations to Washington. Some are organizations of conscientious objectors. Some are bona fide religious and educational organizations, while others are merely using religious and patriotic names. Many of these have talked to me in my office or stopped me in the corridors. Different approaches to the subject are interesting. Without exception they promptly disavow communistic or pink leanings.

It is difficult to separate the grain from the chaff. I tried to cross examine all of them and have gotten some interesting results.

At present the argument that Universal Military Training means that this country will be under military domination. This will never be true as long as Congress holds the purse strings, and the Department of Defense realizes this.

Argument

It was that same argument that kept R.O.T.C. units out of many high schools twenty years ago. The mail indicates strong opposition to the 18-year old draft by a majority of the mothers and fathers. It is favored by many young men's organizations.

Congress, at the present time, seems to be pretty well divided on the question. There will be an answer very shortly. Most Senators and Representatives feel that too much time has already been fritted away, and that it is time to act one way or the other.

More Truck Arrests Indicate Why State Highways Are Poor

More than 17,800 truck arrests were made on Texas Highways during the year ending August 31, according to a recent report released by Kent Odom, Chief License and Weights Division of the Department of Public Safety.

In cases filed in just about every county throughout the State, the operation of vehicles in excess of the 48,000 pound gross load limit and 18,000 pounds weight on truck axle; 3,801 cases charof the Department of Public Safety is composed of only 33 inspectors, who must work in pairs patrolling the 36,840 miles of the Texas Highway System. During the period covered by Chief Odom's report these guardians of the State roads checked more than 72,000 trucks and found one out of every four were violating the law.

Increase

The January monthly report just released by the Public Safety Department indicates an increase in highway truck law violations. It shows a total of .051 arrests.

Many states have found the only effective way to prevent these constant violations of overloaded trucks on State and County roads, is by requiring the overloaded trucks to reduce the excessive weight to the legal limits before proceeding over the roads.

Texas has no such unloading on the spot law. A bill is now pending in the Senate, known as H. B. 11, designed to stop the practice of overloaded trucks continuing on their way after paying a small Justice Court fine. The proposal would also give authority to the Department of Public Safety, the County Sheriff or his deputy to make such arrests.

Farm Incomes Higher in '51

January farm cash income in Texas averaged a 26-per-cent gain over January, 1950, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reports.

Cotton and wheat were lower than in the year-earlier period but oats and corn rose 25 and 22 per cent respectively.

Although the total farm cash income dropped 27 per cent in January, 1951, from December, the livestock market showed strong gains. Income from cattle was up 36 per cent from December; calves were up 42 per cent; hogs, 39 per cent; and sheep and lambs, 23 per cent.

Cattle, the major cash farm product during both months, brought $30,900,000 in January or $8,300,000 more than in December, and more than twice as much as in January, 1950. Cotton brought Texas farmers $10,600,000 during January, 1951, compared to $39,600,000 in December.

Poultry was 64 per cent lower than during the December holiday boom. Egg shipments dropped from 26 carloads in December to two. Total January milk and milk-products income was up 25 per cent from December and up 74 per cent from the year-earlier level.

FHA Supervisor Is Transferred

R. C. Bob Land, for the past 18 years, supervisor of the Farmers Home Administration of Hall County has been transferred to Brownfield where he will be in charge of FHA work in Terry, Gaines and Yokum counties.

Land began work here with the old Resettlement Administration in 1936 and has been with the department since except for two years spent in the navy during World War II.

He helped organize the Memphis Lions Club in 1942 and was elected first president of the group.

Land has already moved to Brownfield but Mrs. Land and children will remain here until after school.

Earl W. Wilson of the Childs FHA office is here temporarily acting county supervisor pending appointment of a permanent supervisor.

Doctors Warn Flu Danger Worse In Cold Weather

Cold weather and influenza go hand in hand, so the proverbial "ounce of prevention" is especially timely.

Influenza has many of the signs and symptoms of a common cold, and may develop from a cold. The popular nickname for the disease is "flu" according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

The common symptoms of "flu" are well known. Fever at the onset, cough, and pains in the head, back and limbs have been experienced by many. This disease, which spreads rapidly, has a crippling effect on the community. Much time lost from school and work; therefore its control is of economic and social as well as medical importance.

Importance

Since permanent immunity is not developed as the result of an attack of the disease, these epidemics continue to appear. Every one is susceptible. The fact that this disease is highly contagious makes isolation and personal cleanliness of utmost importance in its prevention and control.

These suggestions should help: Keep up bodily resistance by eating well balanced meals and getting regular and adequate sleep; practice cleanliness, avoid using cups, dishes, or towels that have been used by anyone else, including family members.

A physician should be called when "flu" symptoms appear. The sick person should be isolated from others with the exception of the person acting as nurse. The "flu" victim should go to bed and stay there until his physician says he can return to usual activity.

Prevent influenza if you can, but if you do get it, take care of yourself and protect others from your germs.

Veterans May Renew College Training

World War II veterans now in active military service, attending school under the GI Bill during their spare time, will be able to resume their courses after the July 25, 1951 training cut-off date, if they are forced to interrupt their studies because of military duties or transfers, Robert W. Sisson, manager of the Veterans Administration regional office, Lubbock, said today.

They will be allowed to continue training within a reasonable period after the release from active duty—even though they do not get out until after the cut-off date.

In fact, Sisson added, when they do re-enter GI Bill training they may step up the part-time training taken while in uniform to full-time courses.

However, Sisson said, a veteran taking a GI Bill correspondence course while in service or otherwise may not after the cut-off date, switch to classroom training regardless of whether it's in the same or any other field of study.

Similar post-deadline procedures apply to veterans who started GI Bill studies as civilians, then interrupted to return to military or naval service, V-A stated. They also may resume training within a reasonable period following their release from service—should they return to civilian life after July 25, 1951, and before July 25, 1956, the wind-up of the program.

Veterans whose training is interrupted by military service must meet three requirements if they expect to return to training after the cut-off date. Conduct and progress in their GI Bill course must have been satisfactory.

The period of training which may be obtained after they get out of uniform will be limited to their remaining GI Bill entitlement.

A course of training may not extend beyond the final deadline of the GI Bill program on July 25, 1956.

Under the law, the July 25, 1951, cut-off date applies to World War II veterans discharged before July 25, 1947. For those few discharged afterwards, the cut-off date is four years from date of discharge.

Donley Jury Rules No Damage in Fitzjarrald Case

CLARENDON, Mar. 7.—A district court jury here this evening ruled that newspaper statements, which allegedly libeled J. O. Fitzjarrald, Amarillo attorney, were not substantially true, but made without malicious intent.

The finding precludes collection of damages.

The jury's action this evening was the outcome of fifth trial of a suit filed by Fitzjarrald against the Times Publishing Company of Amarillo. The plaintiff alleged that certain statements made in news stories published in the paper during April, 1948, were prejudicial to his character and reputation.

First trial of the suit, filed in August, 1948, resulted in a hung jury. A jury in the second trial awarded damages but the judgment was reversed on appeal. The third and fourth trials resulted in hung juries.

The first four trials were held in Hall County. The last hearing was moved to Donley County on a change of venue.

rates next year. That means that business men will have to pay more to buy their insurance than business men here in Memphis, where the fire record is good.

Higher Rates

Communities can benefit up to 25 per cent credit or be penalized as much as 15 per cent.

In other words, if a premium was $100 for a business man, with the 25 per cent good credit on fire losses that Memphis now has, the man would only have to pay $75 for his insurance.

On the other hand if the city does not maintain the fire credit rating and is assessed a penalty the business man will have to pay the full $100 plus the percentage of penalty assessed.

Firemen and councilmen were reluctant to place further debt on the city at this time, but with inadequate fire fighting equipment expenditure at this time may prevent further or additional expenditures later, Mr. Kinard stated.

Other matters of routine city business were transacted by the council. Present were Mayor Hodges, Councilmen Horace Tarver, H. J. Howell, F. E. Monzingo, J. W. Johnson, J. J. Bice, T. W. Harrison, and O. L. Helm.

Pope and his wife resided in Memphis several years in the early 1900s, and were identified with business while here. They were here the past week-end to see his brother-in-law, L. E. Marked improvement in wheat conditions since last week's rain is reported by a number of farmers of this area. Some wheat has been plowed under, getting the land ready for high-priced cotton crops. The good rains (I hope) coming next week ought to make wheat prospects extra good.

T. M. Luttrell of near Lakeview reports the recent rains helped his wheat and Austra peas, as well as put the land in fine shape for plowing. He has 160 acres of the peas which he planted last fall, and the vines have grown and covered the ground. He will plow the vines under right away. The idea is to build up the soil. The vines would make peas if left long enough, but will make soil feed if turned under now.

J. R. Mitchell Jr. brought some twigs of apricots to town Wednesday that were full of buds and a few blooms. These twigs were pulled from a tree in a shelter belt near Lakeview, he said. Old Man Winter may step in and stop any fruit from being made.

Ag Students Start New Broiler Project

The Lakeview, Estelle, and other Vocational Agricultural projects, assisted by the Memphis Chamber of Commerce, start the second broiler project and contest last Saturday.

This project, in its second year, is intended to be an annual fair. The purpose of the project and contest is to give the boys an opportunity to learn the business of broiler raising in a rapidly increasing industry.

The project is carried on as a contest so the boys can compare their work with others. The contest is set up with the following determining factors:

Division 1, Total number of pounds produced, 30 points.
Division 2, Cost of feed per pound of gain 30 points.
Division 3, Results of show, 30 points.
Division 4, Neatness and accuracy of records, 10 points.

The total number of pounds produced will be based on a unit of 25 chicks regardless of number of chicks fed. Rate of gain in percent chicks raised will be a sub-factor that determines winners in this division.

Division 2-Cost of feed per pound of gain will be figured on total number pounds produced divided into total feed cost. Reasonable values of home grown feeds will be decided by a committee from each of the three schools.

Division 3- will be decided by a Broiler Show to be held at the Memphis Vocational Agriculture Department at the end of the project, approximately 10 to 12 week from now. Each boy will select his best 5 broilers and bring to the show. The judging will decide high individual broilers and best pen of 5.

The Chamber of Commerce will award plaques to high five boys in each division and to the first five boys in the entire contest.

As a means of stimulating interest and further the learning of the broiler business the Chamber of Commerce is also sponsoring a trip through a broiler marketing center in Lubbock, high lighted by a chicken dinner, for all participants. This trip will take place sometime in April.

After the competition of the project and show, the boy may keep his broilers for home consumption or sell at the regular market.

The chicks for this project were obtained through Mr. Ira Lawrence, local hatchman, and are a special broiled strain of the New Hampshire breed. Fifteen hundred chicks were ordered.

The following boys are taking part in this project: Don Lee, John Guthrie, Vance Adams, Larry Gillispie, Jimmy Gibson, Troy Ferguson, Delbert Hightower, Taylor, Kenneth Cheek, Oscar Charles Hartman, Duane Miller, and Jimmy Morrison.

ORANGE PICKING CHAMP REPEATS . . . Frank Davis, who won world's orange picking title in 1950, rests on his laurels as he is presented with the 1951 trophy. Dutch Holstein, Orlando (Fla.) high school senior, queen of the contest, makes the presentation. At right is Micky McCormick, one of the ladies in waiting. Davis picked better than an orange a second to win.

"Cracked Nutts" To Be Given Mon.

"Cracked Nutts," is being presented Monday, March 12, in the Memphis High School Auditorium. The play is a farce in 3 acts.

The first act opens as Miss Drusilla Nutt, a self-made woman of 35, is about to leave for the Hinkledine Health Sanatorium. Miss Nutt, portrayed by Beryl Davis, is the old maid aunt of Peggy and Ginger.

She definitely disapproves of boys in her home or with Peggy and Ginger. Peggy and Ginger, played by Nancy Stanford and Patsy Combs, respectively, are two college girls who are trying to make some extra money by taking in roomers while their aunt is away.

Mrs. Garfinkle, is played most effectively by Ann Spoon. She is the housekeeper known to Peggy and Ginger as "Gloomy Gussie" who is put to sleep by a hypnotic record bought by Pete and Billy Beamish.

Pete is played by Jack Spry and Billy is portrayed by Roddy Stargel. They are two clever boys who all but get caught by Mrs. Garfinkle while they are at Peggy and Ginger's.

Delicious Appleby the negro maid is done cleverly by Eudine Gable, Confusion Jones, a negro handy man is portrayed exquisitely by Allen Pierce. The two colored people are "all for" Peggy and Ginger and do they ever get into trouble.

Magnolia Langsford, a magnolia from the Sunny South is played by Patsy Hays. Magnolia is chasing her "ever beloved Billy-boy" who is portrayed by Eddie Harrel. Eddie, rather Professor Beamish, turns out to be the long lost love of Miss Drusilla Nutt.

Adelbert De Wees is featured by Alvin Bishop. He's the "fortunate hunting finance" of Miss Nutt.

Mrs. Dewayne De Weese, is ritzier mama of Adelbert and is portrayed by Pat Adcock.

Miss Hightower and Coach York are the sponsors and directors of the Senior play.

Admission will be 35c for grade school, 60c for High school students and adults and $1.00 for reserved seats.

Physics Students Study Electricity

A little knowledge of electricity can be a dangerous thing but practical knowledge can be most useful. This is the main reason that the physics class is studying electricity. This unit will continue the remainder of the school year.

The study thus far has been limited to experiments and visual instruction films. There experiments consisted of study the electroscope, which is a device for determining the kinds of electricity, and the facts about attraction and repulsion.

In the study of static electricity attracting and lightening rods were studied. It was found that lightning apparently striking down is really attracted from the earth itself. The explanation is that the lower part of clouds are charged positive and the earth is charged both positive and negative with the negative being attracted to surface.

Since positive charges remain on the negative charge is attracted toward the clouds. This results in lightening.

Lightening rods act in manner which as a spillway for a dam in that it lets the negative charge stream off slowly from the rods and thus reduces the lightning force. The physics class is the starting point for our electrical engineers and researchers.

Carnis Durham To Attend Girls' State

Carnis Durham was chosen from the Junior Class to represent Memphis High School at "The Bluebonnet Girls' State" which will be held in Austin from June 25 to July 1.

Patsy Jarrell and Margaret Massey were chosen as alternates. Qualifications from which Carnis was selected were: 1. Leadership 2. Courage 3. Character 4. Honesty 5. Scholarship 6. Cooperativeness.

Girls' State is being sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary as their "Youth Conservation Program" according to information received this week by Mrs. Glenn Thompson, President of the Memphis Post 174.

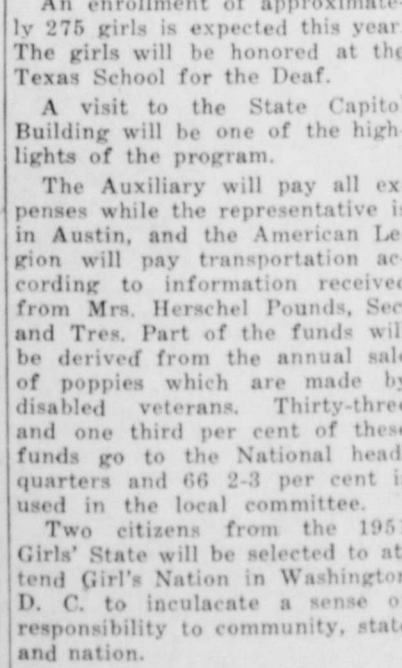

The purpose of the Girls' State is to educate our young women in the duties, privileges, rights, and responsibilities of American citizenship.

An enrollment of approximately 275 girls is expected this year. The girls will be honored at the Texas School for the Deaf.

A visit to the State Capitol Building will be one of the highlights of the program.

The Auxiliary will pay all expenses while the representative is in Austin, and the American Legion will pay transportation according to information received from Mrs. Herschel Pounds, Sec. and Tres. Part of the funds will be derived from the annual sale of poppies which are made by disabled veterans. Thirty-three and one third per cent of these funds go to the National headquarters and 66 2-3 per cent is used in the local committee.

Two citizens from the 1951 Girls' State will be selected to attend Girls' Nation in Washington D. C. to inculcate a sense of responsibility to community, state and nation.

GIRLS PLAY SOFTBALL

The girls' athletic department of MHS has been making progress in softball and volleyball. Nearly all the girls are so stiff from the varied calisthenics that they can scarcely drag themselves and their books through the halls and up and down the stairs.

Mrs. Srygley and Mrs. Irons have demonstrated these exercises.

There are approximately 35 students working out for volleyball and 40 playing softball. These activities will be entered in the Interscholastic District Competition.

Members that have served on the annual staff are: Scotty Grundy, editor-in-chief; Frank Norman, assistant editor; Ann Spoon, art editor; Tommy Messer, sports editor; Beryl Davis, society editor; Troyace Rhudy, photographer; Lee Bloom, business manager; Patsy Hays, secretary; and Patsy Combs treasurer.

Brother Litton Speaks on Program

Bro. Litton, minister of the Church of Christ, brought the weekly chapel program to the student body this week. His message, "Where are you going on the voyage of life?" was illustrated with poems such as Cook's "How did you die?" and scripture, Matthew 24:13, Revelation 2-10 and Timothy 1:5.

"What is your purpose in life?" This challenging question was asked by Bro. Litton. He stated that if one intended to successfully complete this journey of life he must: beware of false guides, uphold true Ideals; and remember that the things are unable to buy are more often the greatest.

Your starting place is unimportant, so long as you start now you have hope of attaining the eternal goal," he said.

Make-up Director Here Next Friday

Hal Rodman will present "Portraits In Make-Up" March 16 in the high school auditorium, at 9:15 a. m. The public is cordially invited. Admission is 10c.

Being a member of the theatrical family, Mr. Rodman spent most of his time, when he wasn't attending school, on the professional stage.

One day, while still in his teens, he was cast to play the part of a grizzled old mountaineer. This was the beginning of interest in make-up. He selects his subjects from the audience.

Meet The Seniors

This week Alvin Bishop, Barbara Castner, and Patsy Combs are interviewed in "Meet the Seniors."

Alvin, the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Bishop, was born March 24, 1934. More than any thing else, Alvin likes to read and eat.

This 16 year old blue-eyed blond chooses physics and algebra as his favorite subjects. He prefers Tech in the college line, and engineering as his major.

Alvin, as the vice-president of the Senior Class will appear in the Senior play.

Barbara "Babs" to all her friends, is the 17 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Castner. This brown eyed dark haired girl was born February 22, 1934.

Barbara collects pictures and plays basketball in her spare time. She likes shorthand above the rest of her subjects, and plans to major in business in T.S.C.W.

Barbara was queen of her class in '49 and is a very popular senior girl.

Patsy, the head twirler of the M.H.S. band, is the 16 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Combs. Pat has proven her ability in twirling, her favorite pastime, when she won superior in the University Interscholastic League Competition. She is also a member of the All-State Band.

VET PROBLEMS AND ANSWERS

Q. I saw a house I'd like to buy with a GI loan, but the selling price is a good deal higher than VA's appraisal of reasonable value. Will I be able to get a GI loan anyhow?

A. No. The law prohibits GI loans being made on property where the selling price is higher than the VA appraisal.

Q. While in service during peacetime, I was disabled as a result of an aircraft accident. At the time of the accident, I was on duty as a flight engineer on the plane that crashed. If I am awarded disability compensation by VA, will the pay be at wartime or peacetime rates?

A. The answer to this question depends upon the conditions under which you were serving at the time. Wartime rates apply to all service-connected disabilities resulting from conditions simulating war or extrahazardous conditions. Peacetime rates if these conditions are not met.

Q. I was awarded disability compensation a year and half ago, and only recently someone told me he thought I should be getting more. Is it too late to appeal my disability rating?

A. Yes. Ratings must be appealed within one year after they were determined by VA. However you may file a new application for increased compensation.

Estelline won the grass contest. The Memphis team did not place in the high five, but placed above average. There were 97 teams in the two contest. Teams were present from the Panhandle and parts of New Mexico and Oklahoma.

The Livestock contest consisted of judging six classes, two each of swine, sheep and beef cattle with ten questions of three of the classes. The grass contest consisted of the identifying and giving the characteristics of 25 of our most common grasses in this region.

The grass team consisted of Wayne Wiggins, Wayne Jenkins and Cletus Lewis, with Troy Phillips and Johnny Freelin as alternates.

The members of the Livestock team were Coy Smith, Don Beasley and Raymond Whitten, with Roddy Stargel and Kenneth Wesson as alternates.

Two Good Organizations

Last month the Future Farmers of America observed their national week and the 4-H Clubs of America are observing their national week. We think there is something significant in these two organizations.

Significant because in the future, these youngsters who are participating in these programs will be the persons running our town, our community and our country.

And it would be inhuman to hope or wish that they not do a better job than we are doing.

The major purposes of both of these organizations are to develop individual ability, leadership, encourage cooperation, promote good citizenship, teach sound methods of farming and inspire patriotism among the members.

These purposes, while somewhat similar, do not mean that these two organizations are the same, far from it. But it does mean to you, to me, that they are both good organizations and are doing good for our future citizens.

Therefore we would like to take this means of congratulating the leaders of these organizations and at the same time to say thank you, for what you are teaching these children. Also we would include in that congratulation all the members of these organizations, both past and present, and we would wish the best of success for these children.

Road Bonds

The story that recently appeared in this paper concerning the taxes that Hall County would have to add if the present road bond bill in Austin was passed has evidently done some good.

Reports are that many persons have written Austin concerning this bill.

The bill hasn't been passed into law yet. It was sidetracked by the backers when so much attention was given to it. However, the committee to which it was sent will soon bring it to the floor again.

Judge M. O. Goodpasture is in Austin this week for additional hearings concerning this bill.

We still have a fight on our hands to kill this bill and additional letters may still be needed to spur the fight before we do win.

Eggs

The British government recently admitted that its poultry project started a few years ago in West Africa has finally "laid an egg."

However, not the type that Britains were expecting. After pouring millions of dollars into this project which was to furnish the British Isles with poultry products and ease the strain of the already deflated pound, the government finally admitted that it was a total flop!

Another example of the socialistic trend which did not work for the English.

And, in spite of this and other examples, there are still people in America who advocate giving more power to socialistic organizations in our own government.

Someday the day will come when all these subsidies and price supports and something-or-nothing items in our government will have to be paid for by us.

How big will the debt be before we realize this?

A SUCKER NATION

We have long heard that America has played the sucker role in her world affairs, but Congressman Robert B. C. Chipfield of Illinois, writing for the New Republic magazine this month has the facts and figures to show that the United States has armed Russia.

The Congressman declares that it was American dollars, and American industrial know-how which enabled Russia to build her present powerful military for aggression. Over the last ten years the tremendous industrial capacity of the U. S. has been the principal source of supply for the "Iron Curtain" arsenal. In 1945 the Russian orbit embraced 200 million people. Today it embraces 740 million or more population or about one-third of the entire world.

We began with $12 billions in lend-lease gifts to Russia in the year 1943-1946. Next, we contributed almost $2 billion more to Kremlin assistance between 1945 and 1947 through the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration. Then, in April, 1948, was launched the Marshall Plan.

Although Russia was excluded from direct participation in the $14 billion Marshall Plan distribution, she was aided immeasurably by direct trade with the 16 Marshall Plan countries. Through September 1950, the ruble area had received from Marshall Plan countries about $2 1-2 billions in raw materials, tools, and critical machinery.

The Office of International Trade Department of Commerce estimates U. S. contributions, direct and indirect, commercial and government, to the Kremlin war machine at roundly $16 billions since 1941, or an average of about $1,600,000,000 a year over the decade.

Atom bomb secrets were high among the military items exported free to Stalin's arsenal. The House Committee on Un-American Activities reported in January this year, "The Soviet Union received on one occasion a shipment of 200 pounds of uranium nitrate. On another occasion, the Soviet Union received a shipment of 468 pounds of uranium oxide, and 1,000 pounds of uranium nitrate and 25 pounds of uranium metal."

After the war, we permitted Russian agents to photograph and transmit to Moscow more than 13,000 American inventions as registered in the U. S. Patent office. At the same time we opened to Russia all the industrial secrets gathered by our occupation forces in Germany and Japan.

Since the "Cold War" became hotter and the Korean War became so intense, about the only evidences we can see of a toughening of our policy toward Russia is slapping an embargo on Russian crab meat.

Whether it is stupidity or "business as usual," it amounts to the same thing—we are playing to perfection the "sucker role" for Joe Stalin. —Ochiltree Herald

THE LAST RAILROAD STRIKE

The latest railroad strike, that of the yardmen, ended some time ago. But the significance of that strike remains as a live and vital issue.

Everyone knows what the strike did. Freight and mail were embargoed. Armies of men were thrown out of work when factories could no longer obtain supplies. Shipments needed by our troops abroad were delayed. Boxcars which should have been performing maximum service sat by the thousands on sidings.

What everyone should know is that this strike was a violation of a settlement between railroad management and labor which was signed at the White House just before Christmas and which gave the men substantial pay increases retroactive to October 1. The President of the United States denounced the strike. Union heads asked the men to return to work without avail. Not till the Army ordered the men back did the strike end.

If one unauthorized strike of this nature can be called, so can a dozen more in the future. The collective bargaining, which is so necessary to the interests of labor, management and the public, might as well be forgotten. The very essence of collective bargaining is that each side appoint responsible representatives to negotiate an agreement. If, after that, either side repudiates what has been agreed to, collective bargaining becomes a meaningless mockery. A relatively few willful men can paralyze great and essential industries, directly undermine the defense effort, and throw millions of other men out of work.

The record is a sorry one. The nation can only hope that no segment of labor will again abandon its agreements and repudiate its obligations and responsibilities. —Childress Reporter

"THE LOWEST OPERATING COST IN 12 YEARS in the Yellow Cab business—that's what we got when we changed to new Conoco Super Motor Oil," reports J. O. Jackson, Owner-Manager, Tyler, Texas. "Our operations are day and night the year around—a tough job for a motor oil. I recommend Conoco Super."

"50,000 MILES—NO WEAR!"—PROVED HERE:
 After a punishing 50,000-mile road test, with proper crankcase drains and regular care, engines lubricated with new Conoco Super Motor Oil showed no wear of any consequence . . . in fact, an average of less than one one-thousandth inch on cylinders and crankshafts.

AND gasoline mileage for the last 5,000 miles was actually 99.77% as good as for the first 5,000! This test proved that new Conoco Super, with OIL-PLATING, can make your car last longer, use less gasoline and oil.

DAVID F. HOUSTON

The man who first saw the true mission of the A. and M. College of Texas as a major technological institution and raised the scholarship level of the faculty and entrance requirements for students to real college level was Dr. David Franklin Houston, president of the college from 1902 until 1905. In his short time as president, Dr. Houston changed the entire course of the college's history. In 1905 he left Texas A. and M. to become the president of the University of Texas, and later became president of the University of Maryland. During the administration of Woodrow Wilson he served with distinction first as Secretary of Agriculture and later as Secretary of the Treasury.

Texas Scholarship Now Available

Three or four $50 scholarships for the 1951-52 school year at the University of Texas will be available to worthy Jewish students from the Jonas and Dora Silberstein fund.

Mrs. Max Silberstein of Austin gave $1,000 in 1945 to establish the scholarship fund in accordance with the wishes of the late Mrs. Dora Silberstein. Income from the fund is now sufficient to offer the scholarships for the first time.

Applications should be made to Max Fichtenbaum, University associate registrar.

huge shade tree and countless entwining hearts have been carved in the bark as lovers loitered in the shadows. It was "under a spreading chestnut tree" that Longfellow's village smithy stood for feathery beauty. The pepper trees of California are a lovely ornamental variety.

But, perhaps, the most beautiful of the flowering trees are of the magnolia family. There are 25 species, all mainly decorative, with large leaves and magnificent, fragrant blooms. Doubtless the most ancient and enormous shade tree of all time is the Santa Maria del Tule sycamore. This mammoth cypress, shading the church yard of the little village is thought to be 10,000 year old and measures more than 114 feet around. The largest of the giant redwoods of California is only 101 feet in circumference. Not so old or large but important as shade trees in this part of the country are the hackberry and cottonwoods for shade and bird sanctuaries.

A story is told of a wedding that took place beneath a great apple tree where a couple had taken shelter from a thunder storm. A clergyman, one Johnathan Swift (author of Gulliver's Travels) also sought refuge from the deluge and, before the storm subsided, the couple were pronounced man and wife and Swift signed a marriage certificate that read: "Under a tree in stormy weather, I married this man and woman together. Let none but Him who rules the thunder sever this man and woman asunder."

Very soon now, the bare twigs will be edged with a lacy green. The month of February was considered the most propitious time for budding, grafting, and pruning trees. Remember, however there's a difference between pruning and mutilating. Nor does one need be a tree surgeon to avoid injury to the "patient" when trimming a tree. Each spring most of the farm journals publish directions for pruning and cultivation of trees. So before you go hacking the limbs off unmercifully, see if you can't learn how it should be done and bear in mind that, "only God can make a tree."

God's Creation
Of all God's creative handiwork, perhaps the most useful to us as well as the most decorative to his surroundings are the many varieties of trees scattered over the face of the earth. Through years of trail and selection, man has learned what woods are best suited to a particular job, how to cultivate and care for the more valuable species and how to make most of their fruits, nuts, oils, and resins.
How deeply trees are rooted in our hearts.
How strongly beamed and timbered in our past;
How mothering cradle when the young life starts.
The black enclosing cradle at the last.
(Don Blanding)
Long before the Spanish Conquistadores landed on American soil, the crafty Indians had learned many things about the use of woods of the forest. Birch bark made the best canoes but for birch paddles and bows, they used bright red flexible yew tree. The early pioneers made linden and cradles for their babies but oak wagons and ox yokes were made of oak and their cabins of logs. Tutored by their English fathers, they could recite, handle, and cure the best woods. It was common knowledge to them that oak burned with an aromatic fragrance and burned quickly but gave warmth; that sycamore and maple were not so good as firewood but that the planetree was the best. Also, they knew that tree wood was a favorite because of the pleasant smell and "yule log," according to legend, must be of oak, ash, apple, or pine to make a beautiful and proper Christmas

CIVIL DEFENSE

Small Communities Will Care For Evacuees of Bombed City

By Walter A. Shead

(This is the second in a series of five articles on the all-important subject of civil defense.)

IF YOU WERE ONE of those directly beneath the explosion of an atomic bomb over your home town tonight, there would be practically no hope of your survival. Even if you lived anywhere within a half-mile of the center of the explosion, your chances of living to tell the tale would be about one in ten. From a half-mile to a mile away, you would have about a 50-50 chance, and farther away than that your chances would be pretty good that you would be able to help your less fortunate neighbors.

And of course within these areas your chances of injury would be even greater. But your chances of recovery from radioactivity or other injuries would be good.

And if you have a few minutes warning of an impending air raid, these chances are vastly improved. What should you do, even if you have only a few seconds warning? The first thing to remember is to fall flat on your face. If you have time to pick a spot to fall, choose first to flatten out against a cellar wall, or even an inside wall, or beneath a sturdy table or bench. Or if you are outside, drop beside the base of a building, or fall into a ditch or gutter. And when you fall, cover your face in the crook of your arm, and cover any exposed skin with whatever is handy and hold it for several seconds after the explosion to prevent flash burns.

To you folks in the home towns of the nation and in the rural areas there is little danger of a direct atomic bomb overhead, for the enemy would most certainly aim at one or more of some 18 strategic target areas in large cities and industrial areas. But your neighbors in your nearest large city might suffer as follows: A surprise daylight attack on an average city would produce about 120,000 casualties. Of this total, approximately 40,000 would be killed outright or die the first day. An additional 20,000 would die in the following five or six weeks. Of the 80,000 remainder, about 48,000 might be suffering from burns, 40,000 from mechanical injuries and 16,000 from radiation injuries. This total of over 100 per cent arises from the fact that a large number of casualties would be suffering from two or more types of injuries. To top this staggering total, there follows the complex and difficult job of evacuation, either after the bomb drop, or of course, if there is warning, preferably before the drop.

And here is where folks in strictly rural communities and the small towns of the country can play a tremendously important role in their state's civil defense set-up.

If your town and your county is chosen as an evacuation site, plans may be made beforehand to care for several thousands or even a million or more evacuees from a stricken city in the following order: (1) school age children; (2) children under six years, accompanied by mothers or escorts; (3) pregnant women; (4) the aged, infirm; (5) inmates of institutions, hospitals, homes and state or county institutions; and (6) all others except those serving in essential capacities such as industry.

Your town or your county must be organized to care for these people to help provide transportation, health service, sanitation, police, fire protection, water supply, food, housing, hospitalization, morgue services, and a dozen other essentials, including welfare service.

Your state civilian defense administration and his entire staff running down into the cities, towns and counties, should be trained to meet every contingency of such a catastrophe. This requires weeks and months of organizational work and intense planning and entails the draft or volunteer of thousands of individuals, both men and women, who should be trained and educated, simply, as Gov. Millard Caldwell, director of the national civilian defense administration said; to save their own lives and to assist in saving the lives of their neighbors.

Here are a few musts in preparing your house after an air-raid warning: Don't let trash pile up; shut doors, windows and pull down blinds; throw your electric switch; if you burn coal, close draft doors; keep a flash-light handy; don't light a match; have a radio, first-aid equipment and a supply of canned goods; don't eat open food; don't rush outside after a bombing; drink only bottled water or other bottled liquid; don't start rumors and use the telephone only for emergency.

There is little danger of radioactive clouds after the first two minutes after the bomb burst.

These American Junior Red Cross volunteers are about to cook breakfast for flood victims at a Red Cross disaster shelter. They and other members of their group are also trained in home nursing, life-saving, and first aid.

Damaged highways, such as the Texas highway shown in this picture, are a hazard to the safe operation of automobiles, farm trucks and other motor vehicles.

It costs three times as much to build roads that will withstand the loads of big trucks now being operated over them than it does for the smaller trucks and automobiles.

Latest records show $115,282,344 was spent on Texas highways for the year ending August 31, 1950.

A bill sponsored by the big truck operators is before the Texas Legislature. This bill proposes . . .

- (1) to increase the load limit from the present 48,000 pounds to 72,000 pounds, and
(2) to increase the maximum truck length from 45 feet to 50 feet.

Recent official highway tests at La Plata, Md., sponsored by the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, the highway departments of eleven states and the District of Columbia, effectively demonstrated that as trucks increased in size and loads, roads cracked up and "died" more quickly.

We need to safeguard our highways for Civilian and Military use. "Increased heavy loading might seriously disrupt the effectiveness of essential routes in the event of an all-out war," according to T. J. Kauer, director of the Ohio Highway Department and Chairman of the La Plata road test committee.

The big truckers want the taxpayers to continue providing expensive highways for them to use as "rights-of-way" for their own, selfish, personal gain.

THIS IS A TUG-OF-WAR BETWEEN THE BIG TRUCKERS AND THE TAXPAYERS OF TEXAS!

Automobiles and small trucks do not require extra strong, extra costly highways. The truth is, that the big truckers are putting the "pinch" on the pocketbooks of the Texas taxpayers.

Get the facts. Mail the coupon below for your copy of "The Case of the One Per Centers," and for a reprint of the article published in TIME, January 22, 1951, about the La Plata highway tests.

Washington, DC (Special) — now living in this city... Senators and Congressmen... celebrated March 2nd, Texas... day, with two big... last Friday, the usual... of ex-students of Texas... being held at the "Ho... and the reception and... of the Texas Society at... Hotel.

Tennessee is a member, made the headlines again the other day with a wisecrack about Kefauver's absence from a meeting of the committee by exclaiming: "Oh, he is out trying to find some craps shooters," referring to the Tennessee's work as head of the crime committee. Later, Senator Tom cracked: "I see where he got some of them."

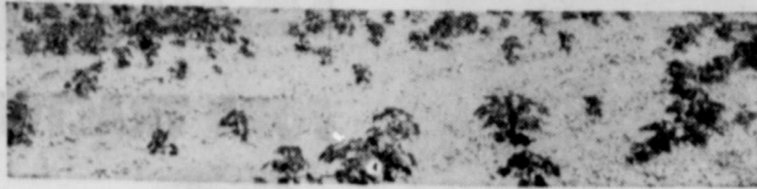

Congressman Clark Fisher of... presided at the ex... program. Tex Easley... Press, had charge of... Senator and Mrs. Annally, Congressman Ed Tom Pickett and others... at the banquet.

Most folks here feel Senator Kefauver is doing a very much worthwhile job that is cleaning up some rotten conditions in the gambling world.

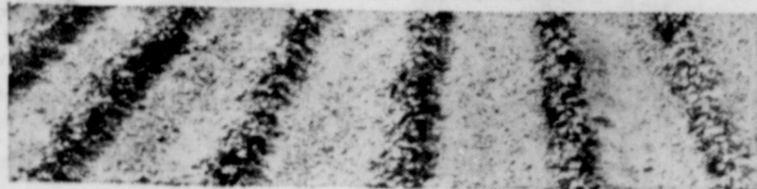

Lady Astor of England, a native of Virginia who has lived in Britain many years where she served in Parliament, is in Washington now on a visit, takes up for politicians, saying "I am tired of criticism of politicians. Of course they are not lilywhite. Who is? I believe the average politician is better than the average man who

MORE and BETTER COTTON

into thriving yields

As a cotton planter, you can expect four-way benefits from one simple operation you can perform on your own farm, or have done for you. It consists of planting seed that has been treated with an organic mercury dust. Its results include:

1. Control of most of the seed rot or decay that reduces your stands before the seeds can sprout.
2. Control of seedling blight caused by bacteria in your soil or seeds that attack the tender seedlings.
3. Control of anthracnose or pink boll disease, another germ-caused ailment that results in smaller crops of poor-grade, spotty cotton.
4. Control of bacterial blight or angular leaf spot that kills your cotton plants or stunts their growth.

Experiment Station figures show yield increases of 5% to 40% as a result of seed treatment. This means up to $12 per acre added to your income. Cost of the chemical amounts to less than 10¢ per acre.

Those who recommend seed treatment stress the fact it should be correctly used—applied to the seed according to directions, and in the right amounts. The cotton planter has too much at stake, they say, to risk cutting corners on the use of less than recommended amounts, or skipping any steps of the fairly simple seed-treating process.

The treatment can be done by many ginners and delinters. Ask your County Agent about the value of seed treatment and where you can get this service in this vicinity.

to fire any of them if he finds they show favoritism.

The General told the group that he was "largely reared" on a farm and now owns a farm "of less than 100 acres and knows what problem it is to get help."

The upshot of the meeting will likely be instructions to local boards to give farm youths every consideration possible in deferments. If his being drafted means closing down the farm, the board should defer him.

We heard an atomic scientist, Dr. Ralph Latt, tell a luncheon group this week that "Russia now has at least 12 or more atomic bombs and could have 100 in two years time, which would be enough to destroy this United States if they can get through and drop them on us."

He warned that one of these bombs can kill 50 to 100 thousand persons in one of our cities and Washington is "no. 1" on the Soviet list!

The group of 200 local business men listened breathlessly to Dr. Latt. He added that comparative safety lies in steel-reinforced concrete buildings, even in the vicinity of the bomb explosion. The main thing is to get inside and behind strong walls.

Australia is the only continent lying entirely south of the Equator.

She went on to pay her respects to the modern-day psychiatrists saying: "I am glad I was born before these psychiatrists got loose. They are a real danger. I heard one of them trace certain people's maladjustments to being unwanted, others frustrations to not having been breastfed. I got up and told her I was the seventh unwanted child out of 11 in my family. And, furthermore, I wasn't breastfed! And I was never frustrated until I lied, stole and cheated my brother. Then I was frustrated and in the VERY SPOT where children should be frustrated."

The writer attended a hearing of the Congressional Agriculture Committee last week when General Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service, was on the stand to answer questions as to why farm boys are being drafted for the service when they are needed to keep the homeplace going.

Congressmen Hope of Kansas, Poage of Texas, Anderson of Minnesota and others sure fired a lot of pointed questions at the General. Hershey pleaded that deferments of farm workers is really up to a local draft board although he admitted he has a right
