Shawhart Draws Childress Fine, 60-Day Jail Term

Lonnie Shawhart was found guilty of possession of liquor for purpose of sale and assessed a fine of $500 and a 60-day jail term last Thursday in Childress. Shawhart's attorney immediately filed a notice for appeal and Shawhart is at liberty under $1,000 bond until the state court of criminal appeals hears the case. Shawhart was arrested following a raid at his home in the northwestern part of Childress county where officers said on the stand that they confiscated 416 pints of whiskey. Details of the raid were given by Childress County Sheriff K. M. Waters and Deputy Paul Griffin and Hall County Sheriff E. S. Morrison. County Judge M. O. Goodpasture testified as a state witness that Shawhart had previously been found guilty of a similar charge in Hall County and had entered a plea of guilty to a second charge. A hearing of the case by the appeals court is not anticipated for several months.

P. F. BRIDGEWATER

Rotary Governor To Visit Here Monday, Tuesday

The Rotary Club of Memphis Monday and Tuesday will be host to P. F. Bridgewater, Governor of the 183rd District of Rotary International who is making his annual official visit to each of the 37 Rotary Clubs in the West Texas District.

He will confer with President Byron Baldwin, Secretary Adrian Odum and other local officers on Rotary administration and service activities. Bridgewater is Secretary and Treasurer of Midland Federal Savings and Loan Association in Midland, and is a member of the Rotary Club of Midland. He is one of 203 Rotary District Governors supervising the activities of some 7,300 Rotary Clubs which have a membership of 350,000 business and professional executives in 83 counties and geographical regions throughout the world. Wherever Rotary Clubs are located, their activities are similar to those of the Rotary Club of Memphis because they are based on the same general objective—developing better understanding and fellowship among business and professional men, promoting community-betterment undertakings, raising the standard for business and professions, and fostering the advancement of good will, understanding and peace among all the peoples of the world.

Each year, this world-wide service organization continues to grow in numbers and in strength. During the last fiscal year, for example, 257 new Rotary Clubs were organized in 35 countries of North, South and Central America, Europe, Asia, Africa, and the Islands of the Pacific.

CLAUDE'S COMMENTS

By J. C. W.

Livingston, Mont. Aug. 29—Leaving home evening of August 25, Mrs. Wells and I rode the Zephyr to Denver on our way toward the Pacific Northwest. We had dreamed about such a trip for years, and finally decided to at least start toward the northwest. We were on familiar ground to Denver. From there on it was an undiscovered region insofar as we were concerned. If we had not had tickets to the northwest and return, we probably would have gone into some summer camp near Denver.

We left Denver by bus Sunday morning for Cheyenne, Wyo. where people from all over the world go to see the annual rodeo—an event second to none in the U. S. A. We were still undecided after seeing Cheyenne. But the advice of Greely to "go west" prevailed, and about 1:30 Monday morning we boarded the Northern Pacific train which was to take us nearly to Seattle. However, we decided to ride by day and stop over somewhere at night. This would give us opportunity to re-examine the country traveled. We might as well have traveled some of Southeastern Wyoming at night, the country being so rough rocky and desolate looking. During this part of the trip we wondered if we had made a serious error—so uninteresting and unpromising the scenery. Later, we decided we had chosen (Continued on Page 10)

Hall County Jury Sentences Rapist For 25 Years

A Hall County jury late Wednesday returned a verdict of guilty against Jim Vassar, 51, of Hall County on a Grand Jury indictment charge of rape against a 13-year-old girl and sentenced him to 25 years in the state penitentiary.

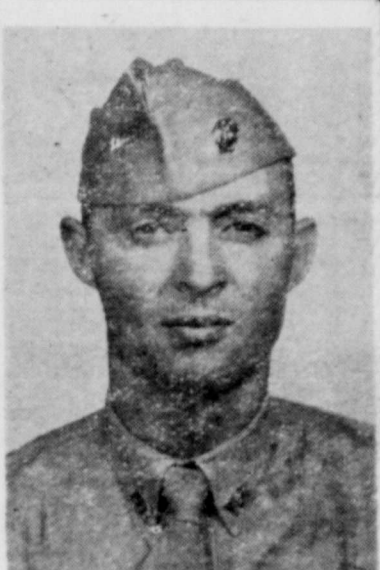

Judge Luther Gribble heard the case in District court.

The alleged attack took place June 3 on a country road several miles west of Memphis in Hall County.

The 13-year-old girl testified before District Attorney Allen Harp of Childress that the defendant attacked her twice while driving her home that afternoon.

Vassar made no defense except a plea of not guilty and the state appointed Attorney William B. Teague to represent him. The defense introduced no witnesses.

Vassar, arraigned under $5,000 was unable to make bond and has (Continued on Page 10)

PROPOSES 100% AGRICULTURE SUBSIDY PLAN

Walter Rogers, congressman from the 18th District, Tuesday night told Hall county farmers, business men and friends that the cotton prices were too low and that if farmers were not going to get 100 per cent parity then the agriculture program ought to be re-vamped to enable the cotton growers to get a fair return for their crops.

He greeted the crowd as "fellow boll-pullers" and told them critics of the "high farm subsidies" forget the crop failures, the bad prices farmers get sometimes and the high prices they pay.

Rogers coupled his words on the farm subsidies with a report to these people that the nation is embarking on a permanent defense program.

The Pampa Congressman told the estimated crowd of 1200 persons that the cost of continuing the national defense will be high, but at any cost would be lower than the cost in blood once fighting began.

He told people that the national defense expenditures of 55 billion dollars is a starting point on a budget condition which must be continued to provide a "weapon for world peace."

Rogers, Tuesday night, repeated his blast against the increasing number of appointed federal bureaus and stated the increased power of these bureaus have forced the little man to give up his day in court.

Rogers urged that action be launched to return the power of the court over such bureaus.

He told friends here that he is working on legislation that will someday have effect on these bureaus. Also, Rogers told the crowd that he is working to prevent the discrimination against farmers.

"The level of subsidies and prices on cotton and other farm crops have lagged while other fields of merchandising have sent their price levels whirling in an inflationary spiral.

Touching on the child labor problem which is of vital concern to residents in this area, Rogers said he is continuing the fight to allow school workers to go into the field during school hours.

He explained his amendment and said that some action may have to be taken on state levels before a satisfactory solution is reached.

Rogers explained his strong stand favoring expanding war veteran pensions and his refusal to support a measure for sending grain to India.

He urged co-operation of voters in efforts to slash government red tape and shackle administrative power. He strongly urged the people to write to him of their problems and difficulties in combating overlapping functions of (Continued on Page 10)

Cotton Guessing Contest To Open Friday Morning

With Hall County's first baling of 1951 cotton already ginned many people have started estimating what the total crop for the entire year will be.

You might make your guess along this line pay off with a three-year subscription to The Democrat if you enter our annual Cotton Guessing Contest and, of course, your guess is the nearest correct.

There are also prizes for the second and third nearest guesses—a two and a one-year subscription to the paper, respectively.

This annual contest—which always draws a large number of entries—will officially open tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock. Entries will be accepted from then until 5 p. m. September 22, 1951. You can enter by merely coming to The Democrat office and making your prediction or by sending us a card or letter with your guess. If you write, be sure and include your name and address.

No entries will be taken by phone. The Democrat will select the winners in the contest when the final figures are released on the total 1951 crop by the Bureau of Census of the U. S. Department of Interior.

The contest is not restricted to residents of this county or of this state. However, the cotton must be ginned in Hall County to be counted in the final crop figures which will be used to judge the contest.

For information of readers not living in this area, the prediction should be somewhat higher than 1950 figures, although that is a point argued by many persons. Total bales produced last year were 30,123, less than the 1949 production of 88,214.

Mrs. H. B. Estes won the 1950 contest as she within 65 bales of the total production, Mrs. G. D. Worthington of Lakeview and Mrs. W. H. Monzingo of Menzingo tied for second place last year and Bill Kinslow won third place.

Other past crop histories in this county show that 42,941 bales were ginned in 1948 while the figure for 1947 was 42,176.

The total for 1951? Well, if you think you know, come in and make your guess. It may win you a three-year subscription to The Democrat. And don't forget—the contest closes at 5 p. m. September 22.

These speed limits and stop signs are for the public's own protection and to adequately protect the public these laws must be obeyed," Weatherby continued.

HANSARD NAMES STARTING MEN FOR TULIA CLASH FRIDAY NIGHT

John Hansard's 1951 team of the Memphis Cyclones launch the new grid season tomorrow night at Tulia against the Hornets as they wind up their practice sessions this afternoon. "We are going to play like the way these boys worked during the few weeks we have had," Hansard said. "Although we may make a lot of mistakes tomorrow night, I am sure they are ready to play ball."

year and all new plays have been adopted by the squad. Commenting on the game tomorrow night, Hansard said, "I believe our defense will be pretty rugged. The boys have had a lot of good hard tackling and blocking. Our offense also should be fair, for these boys have really worked during these two weeks of practice."

The Tulia squad boasts a starting line averaging 178 pounds and a backfield averaging 170. The Cyclones line will average about 160 and the backfield 140 Hansard said.

Tulia lost only two regulars from last year's team and are picked to win the district this year. Hansard and Coach Blair said all boys had been working out would make the trip. They will leave here at 1:30 Friday afternoon.

At quarterback will be either Harvey Kennedy or Ronnie Smith. Left half will be Carl Lee, right half, Davey Corley and at full back either Clyde Tamplin or Duane Miller.

"Win or lose, Friday night's game will be a good experience for us," Hansard. "We intend to learn a lot of things besides play a lot of football," he continued.

MAYOR McGUP By John Jarvis

-Notes- About Memphis, Hall County

Texas Driver's license increase in fees of licenses goes into effect tomorrow, Friday, Sept. 7.

Something that is hard to understand! If counties in Texas want to be dry counties and against liquor sales...

Now to pleasanter things—while strolling through town this week one thing you can't miss, the back to school atmosphere that seems to be everywhere.

And speaking of school, the supplies they have for students now are something. Everything from a fancy high priced zipper notebooks to new plastic rulers and brightly colored pencils.

Manufacturers found out long ago that brightly colored items like red pencils, green rulers and flashy colored fountain pens and notebooks and everything, sells to students and kids much faster and better than ordinary plain colored supplies.

Take the newly decorated schools. Several years ago inside rooms of all schools usually were painted white with hard wood floors, usually oiled to keep down the dust.

You hear varying reports around town as to how business is. For several weeks now the farmers have been discouraged by the lack of rain, and when the farmers are discouraged most of the business men in town also are downcast somewhat.

Then I also heard another business man remark that business wasn't so bad if a guy just got out and worked a little!

But regardless of business being good or bad, remember it certainly isn't as bad as it has been or could be!

Most reformers are satisfied with themselves!

"Excuse me, but I'm in a hurry! You've had that phone 20 minutes and haven't said a word."

The Cyclones first football game is tomorrow night over in Tulla. Haven't heard what kind of a team the Hornets are fielding this year, but I'll bet with a little determination and a whole lot of fight the Cyclones can win their first game.

It's true they have a lot of handicaps. New coaches, only 10 days of actual workouts before their first game, but then nothing worthwhile was ever gained without a fight.

Understand that last week some of the boys out for football tried to put something over on Coach Hansard. Also understand they didn't and that they are still running laps.

A dining-room table, with children's eager, hungry faces around it, ceases to be a mere dining-room table and becomes an altar.

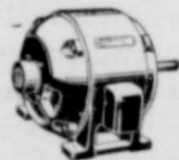

Hope you attended the Walter Rogers program at the Park Tuesday. It isn't often you get to hear your Congressman speak.

Well in closing, remember, Cyclones, and Coaches Blair and Hansard, win or lose, Memphis is behind you but we think you can win! We're on your side!

That's 30.

Can you answer these questions about our own Schools?

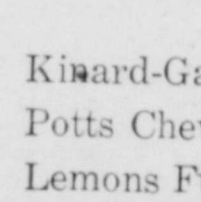

- 1. How many pupils are there per teacher?
2. What courses do our schools offer—and how do they relate to the goals we think are important?
3. Are our present school textbooks up-to-date?
4. What percentage of students drop out before graduation? Why?
5. What vocational guidance do our schools offer?
6. How do our teachers' salaries compare with those in similar communities?
7. How many children of school age will there be in our district five years from now?
8. Are our present school buildings adequate now—will they be adequate five years from now?

Even with the best of intentions, no one can be of real help in solving school problems unless he takes the trouble to inform himself about the basic facts of the situation—unless he knows the questions to ask—and where to get the answers.

You will find a whole check-list of questions and answers in a new booklet called "How Can We Help Get Better Schools?" Send for your copy right now.

If you really want to help most effectively, work with the community groups and educators who are already trying to solve our school problems—and who will welcome your help.

TRAIL BLAZER—with plenty on the ball

How long since you lifted the hood of a car, and took a good look at what's beneath? We like to have folks do that with a Buick. You'll find that broad bonnet isn't put there for show. It's packed with horsepower—high, wide and handsome—more horsepower than normal drivers will ever use in full. And—if you're up to date on modern features—you'll find that this bonnet is packed with these too. Do you know, for example, that every new engine introduced or previewed in recent years is built on the valve-in-head principle? Score one for Buick. No Buick engine has ever been built in any other way. Do you know what it takes to make full use of high compression? A valve-in-head engine!

Score two: Buick has been stepping up compression ratios for years. But Buick has blazed one trail which other engines still haven't followed—don't ask us why. Every Buick has a Fireball Engine which, as we've said before, is like having a string of comets by the tail. Fact is, in every flame-packed cylinder there is a comet—rolled into a swirling ball by a special turbo-top piston—touched off by a flashing spark every 5 inches you travel in a Buick. That's why we're proud to show folks that Buicks have a Fireball Engine—and prouder still to have them take one of these thrilling performers out on the road. Want to try it? Come in and see us soon.

cented the fullness. The tight sleeves ended in petal points over the hands. The bride wore a Juliet cap of seed pearls and rhinestones, to which was attached a veil of French illusion.

For something old, the bride wore a bracelet her maternal great-grandmother had worn on her wedding day; something new was her wedding ensemble; something borrowed, a handkerchief belonging to Mrs. M. F. Dagley, something blue, a garter, and she wore a penny in her shoe, which was given to her by her maid of honor, Miss Junelle Witt of Plainview.

Miss Witt was dressed in a ballerina length dress of brown tulle designed with strapless bodice. She wore matching stole and mitts. Her headdress was a small face veil with brown velvet and rhinestone trim. She carried a cascade arrangement of yellow chrysanthemums.

Bridesmaids were Misses Marcia Shafer and Mary Catherine Cole. They wore identical dresses of green tulle, brown veils and carried cascades of bronze pom-pom chrysanthemums. Junior bridesmaids were Miss Jimmy Kay Norman of Matador, cousin of the bridegroom, and Aba Nette Dagley sister of the bride. They wore dresses of champagne tulle and carried cascades of yellow pom-pom chrysanthemums.

Roddy Stargel of Memphis served as best man. Ushers were Bob Newell and Donald Neese of Amarillo, both cousins of the bridegroom.

A reception was given in the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony. Fall colors were carried out in decorations throughout the house. Centering the bride's table was a three-tiered wedding cake, decorated with yellow roses.

Following a wedding trip to Ruidoso and other points in New Mexico, the bride and bridegroom will be at home in Jacksonville, Fla.

For traveling the bride wore a gray suit with orange accents. Lizard accessories and brown velvet hat.

Both are 1951 graduates of Lubbock High School, where the bridegroom played on the Western football team. He is now serving in the Navy having taken his basic training at San Diego, Calif.

At present, he is stationed at Jacksonville, Fla., to attend school.

Mrs. Raymond Shelton of Federal, Tex., has been visiting Miss Verna Phillips and Grady and family here and also a sister, Miss Lee Moore of Bryant Lake.

Miss Shirley Foster, Bride Elect, Is Complimented With Pre-Nuptial Shower

Miss Shirley Foster, attractive bride-elect of Jim Hansard, was complimented with a lovely pre-nuptial shower in the home of Mrs. W. W. Dunn on Thursday evening between the hours of 7:30 and 9:30 o'clock.

The hostess greeted the guests and presented them to the receiving line composed of the honoree, her mother, Mrs. Ira Foster and the groom-to-be's mother, Mrs. Cleat Hansard.

Carrying out the bride-elect's chosen colors of pink and white the entertaining rooms were decorated with floral arrangements in those colors.

In the dining room, the refreshment table was covered with a hand-drawn white linen cloth over pink. Centering the table was an arrangement of white and pink gladioli and greenery. Pink and white mints, decorated cookies and nuts were served with iced punch. Miss Pat Snell presided at the punch service, assisted by Miss Frankye Lynn Strygley.

In another room in the party suite an array of gifts presented to the honoree by her friends were on display.

The hostess group included Mmes. Wilma Davis, Rex Snell Floyd Liner, Harry Aspgrren, Gerald Aspgrren, Dick Spoon, C.

It's That Time Again

Today, tomorrow, or perhaps it occurred last week, those youngsters in your household will go through the process of registering for another year at school.

It is so commonplace, every September the same thing happens, perhaps we don't really realize how fortunate we and our children are to enjoy such privilege as the free education available in this country.

Education is one of those priceless virtues which most people don't appreciate until it is too late for us to get it the easy way inschool. Of course in America, one's education never stops. Each day, we only have to try and we further our education. But for most of us, our real education was gained in classrooms of grade schools, high schools and for a few in college.

Education is the one gift that men want to insure for their children. They want the children that follow them to have more than they did; they want them to get all the education possible; and in this country, that is limited only by the initiative of the individual student.

Education isn't as serious a business as you might believe. Learning isn't all work and no play. To become what we call educated, a student must do other things besides study books, and attend classes.

To be educated, one must learn not only what the books and classes offer, but must learn the art of association, of friendship, of fair play, the battle of give and take, the ability to give and forgive and a numerous list of other virtues.

Perhaps some of our children already have the basic elements of these virtues, but in school their horizons widen and they expand their capacities for knowledge of all kinds and types.

It is in this manner that we as parents and friends must guide them into sorting, sifting and eliminating the undesirable facts and ideas in learning.

To best do this we can rely on the example of better living. At home, at work and at play.

We haven't stopped our own education have we? Then let us resolve that while helping our youngsters get the utmost benefit from their educations, we also will remain alert and help ourselves in each way possible.

In such a manner we not only help ourselves, our children, but our friends, our community and our country as well.

Thus as this fall term of 1931 begins we welcome all students to the schools and we thank the teachers who will help and guide them through the term and we are deeply grateful that our community does possess such high quality schools, teachers and students.

We wish you all a year of success and of learning.

THE CHILD LABOR LAW IS STILL ON THE FARMERS

Cotton farmers who last year found themselves face to face with a stringent Child Labor Law will confront this same law again when they start to pull their cotton. Efforts of southern congressmen and farm leaders, including a number from surrounding counties, has not brought about relaxation of the law.

Growers in this section understand the law, and three school districts, by their traditional practice of dismissing for cotton picking automatically take care of the situation, but there are still a large number of farmers who will be affected. Strict enforcement of the law is promised by William J. Rogers, regional director of the Wage-Hour and Public Controls Division of the U. S. Department of Labor in Dallas.

He pointed out again today that the law applies directly to farmers whose crops or products, either directly or indirectly, go into interstate of foreign commerce. He illustrated the matter with the case of a farmer who sends his product outside the state or delivers his product to a ginner, processor, canner, or dealer who will send it outside the state—either in its original form or as part of another product.

The law does not apply to a farmer's own children under 16 years working on their parent's farm, he said. But if farmers hire other under-age children during school hours, the farmers themselves are responsible, he declared.

By "school hours" is meant the hours when school is in session for the district where the employed children under 16 currently are living, he explained. That includes children hired either as individual or as part of a family group directed by labor contractors, processors, or others. It includes both citizens and alien children.

The Federal law sets no minimum age for the employment of children in agriculture before or after school hours on any school day, or at any time on school holidays, or during school vacation. But most states have attendance laws which ever statute, Federal or states, sets the higher standard governs the matter in any given state, he says.

Any person who willfully violates the child-labor provisions of the Federal law is subject to a maximum fine of $10,000, or after a second conviction for a similar offense, a maximum fine of $10,000 or imprisonment for as much as six months or both, he said.

Although the law works a definite hardship on many—both the cotton grower and the family of the child, which often times must depend on his help in seasonal labor to keep them off relief rolls during some portion of the year—they are saddled with it, and until some action can be gotten at Washington, agriculture is going to have to make the best of it.

"Our government may topple because you and I have neglected our Ship of State. Directly and indirectly we are sabotaging that sleek, swift vessel designed by the former of the Constitution to gracefully and successfully take the lead among world governments in the race for a better world. have rigged her with ignorance and manned her with incompetence." —Morrison, Ill., News

"The construction cost of our own Economic Planners' Arizona irrigation project, together with its so-called 'multi-purpose' trimmings, is to be $708,780,000. But that's just the beginning of what the American taxpayers would have to pay. The Interior Department itself admits that actual cost to the taxpayers, counting interest on the borrowed money necessary to build it, would be $2,784,509,000. That's almost 10 times the total value of all farm lands and buildings in the whole State of Arizona as recorded by the U. S. Census Bureau. Yes, planning by government economic planners comes high!"

"Through June 30, 1931, overseas assistance in all forms since the end of the war has amounted to $55 billion. In other words, 'post-war' rehabilitation and reconstruction abroad has cost the American taxpayers more than arms assistance during the war."

"Our engines sit idle for many hours and then are driven at high speed," says Alex Barnes, Ass't Chief, Volunteer Fire Department, Santa Fe, N. M. "That's why we use Conoco Super. Any oil that takes that kind of punishment must be 'super'."

"50,000 Miles-No Wear!" Proved Here:
After a punishing 50,000-mile road test, with proper drains and regular care, engines lubricated with new Conoco Super Motor Oil showed no wear of any consequence; in fact, an average of less than one one-thousandth inch on cylinders and crankshafts. Lobby WITH RED, NATIONALIST GROUPS BIASED AS FOREIGN AGENTS

Walter A. Sneed is the second of two articles in the proposed investigation of the activities of the China Lobby.

Chinese organizations representing the two main groups, the Red China Lobby and the Nationalist China Lobby, are the most commonly referred to as the "China Lobby."

The American-Chinese Export Association of New York, headed by Fredrick Vanderlip, recently jailed for conspiracy with the bonds of the convicted Communist leader, is the largest distributing agency in this country, and in New York City, the Communist Bank of China Nationalist side.

The Nationalist China government gave the organization $100,000.

The American headquarters of the Kuomintang, listing 3,285 members with headquarters in San Francisco, New York, San Antonio, Chicago and Portland.

The Universal Trading Corporation owned by the Nationalist government to promote trade between the U. Dr. Shou-Ch'un Mong, paid $500 a month to report on U. Then there is T. V. Soong, brother-in-law of Chiang, an official of the Bank of China in New York, reputed to be one of the world's wealthiest men. Also most likely to enter into the probe is the association of various law firms including the firm of John L. Sullivan, former secretary of the navy in Washington, and the West Virginia law firm headed by Former Secretary of Defense Johnson.

And looming in the background accused by Nationalists of having Red sympathies, is the much publicized Institute of Pacific Relations, whose officials include Gerard Swope, honorary president of General Electric, and Dr. Robert B. Sproul, president of University of California.

Texas Retail Sales Down This Summer

Sales volume in Texas retail stores has dropped slightly in recent weeks, Dr. A. Hamilton Chute, University of Texas professor of retailing reports.

Sales levels have been closely related to merchants' selective buying and planned promotion. Dr. Chute, who writes a monthly analysis of Texas retail trade, points out.

Total Texas retail sales in June fell 4 per cent from May and 3 per cent from June, 1950. Durable-goods sales dropped 9 per cent from June, 1950, but non-durable-goods sales rose 3 per cent.

1, 1940, most of which has been in gifts. Before congress now is an omnibus bill in which Nationalist China (Formosa) would share $555,000,000 in military aid and $265,500,000 in economic aid. Last year the congress voted China $75,000,000 in military assistance, about $100,000,000 in appropriated but unused economic aid, specified as three per cent of all ECA money.

Out right gifts from the United States include $6,000,000 in government money spent by the American Red Cross; $187,000,000 in ECA funds during 1948, 1949 and 1950; a relief program voted by congress in 1947 amounting to $44,000,000 under United Nations relief and rehabilitation; $121,000,000 in military aid in 1948 in cash, goods and services; $4,000,000 for Chinese students in the U. S. in 1949; $500,000,000 voted by congress in 1942 to help China stabilize its currency and something like $1,637,000,000 in war time lend-lease.

In addition to all this, loans such as $16,000,000 from the maritime commission which holds mortgages on merchant ships; $20,000,000 from the army in surplus military property; $153,000,000 in direct loans from the export-import bank and other smaller loans.

Senator Morse pointed out that there were possibly millions of Chinese dollars on deposit in United States banks and in foreign countries, suggesting to some a "closed circuit of American dollars flowing from congress to the Nationalists and back again in the form of lobbying activities for still more money for Chiang."

Said Senator Morse: "I am of the opinion that all foreign lobbies should be investigated, including not only the China lobby, if one exists, but a Communist lobby, Chinese, Russian or any other Communist stripe, and the lobbies of any other foreign government, be it Great Britain, France, the Netherlands, Spain, Israel, or any other countries which may be seeking to use lobbying tactics in influencing American foreign policy."

Farm Science Improve Rural Productiveness

Each U. S. farm worker must—and does—raise enough food today to feed 14 other Americans besides himself; in 1910 he produced not quite enough to feed seven others besides himself, reports the family economics bureau of Northwestern National Life Insurance company. In 1910 it took 12 million farmers and farm helpers to feed a U. S. population of 92 million. In 1950 an average of approximately 10 1/2 million persons working on farms fed a U. S. population of 151 1/2 million. In 1951 a still smaller agricultural employment force that may average around 10 million for the year is feeding a U. S. population estimated at 154 million as of July 1, with excellent prospects that there will be enough food supplies left over to create new crop problems by late autumn.

This production miracle has been accomplished, the bureau says, through the American farmer's use of science and mechanization.

Science has contributed improved seed, fertilizer, breeding stock and cultivation methods. As to mechanization, the horse and mule population on U. S. farms fell from 24 million in 1910 to seven and a half million in 1950.

The 16 1/2 million discarded horses and mules have been replaced by four million tractors, over two million motor trucks, and six million automobiles. Meanwhile over five million of our approximately 6.4 million farms have been electrified.

Citrus Punch Keeps Hostess Cool Too!

Summer months are great party months — for brides, for family gatherings and visitors. The problem of what to serve is simple today, thanks to the goodness of Florida citrus juices in cans, already to be mixed into refreshing punch and long tall drinks in a jiffy. Set up your table, put a last dab of powder on your nose, and then just before you're ready to serve, mix the chilled juices. Here's a recipe refreshing to the budget as well as to your guests:

Basic Florida Party Punch

2 46-ounce cans Florida grapefruit juice	1 No. 2 can Florida orange juice
1 pint golden gingerale	1 Florida lime, sliced
2 No. 2 cans Florida tangerine juice

Chill grapefruit, gingerale and tangerine juice. Remove label from orange juice and place in freezing compartment of refrigerator; freeze until firm. Pour citrus juices and gingerale into punch bowl. Remove both ends from can of frozen juice; push out; add to punch. Put in lime slices.
YIELD: 40 half-cup servings.

up in 1946, his full name was chiseled on his grave marker. There are several who are called Mary Christmas and Fish Hook lives in Pike County, Ill. The people who are given first names intended to complement their surnames are legion.

Joking about names is a common pastime and some of them are funny all right except for the one who must bear the stigma throughout a natural life time. Some folks, humiliated by the peculiarity of their name, arranged to have it changed by law; others capitulate on the oddity of their identifying title. There is the story of the father of six children who named his last set of twins Eenie and Meenie because he didn't want any Moe. Then there was Elizabeth Bird who was born near Paris, Kentucky. Not being satisfied with being just a winged creature she married a Mr. Martin. Her second husband was Edward Crow and, when she next changed nests, it was after marriage with a widower, David Buzzard, certainly about as low as she could get in the bird world.

Indeed, it is amazing, almost criminal, the names given defenseless babies by their well meaning but misguided parents. Children are named for everything under the sun and, for no reason at all, are 'saddled' with some gosh-awful name which continues to be a source of humiliation and ridicule the rest of life. Even an odd family name may stand up nicely until the parents try to be funny with the given name, by commemorating a great event or making the child a political monument as in the case of the late czar of baseball, Judge Kennesaw Mountain Landis. Having been born shortly after the Battle of Kennesaw Mountain in the Civil War, he always considered himself lucky not to have arrived at the Battle of Bull Run.

A pastor writing of his experience in christenings, says that the matter of naming an infant is no time for undue hurry or carelessness and certainly no for practical jesting. Puritan parents often chose names by opening the family Bible at random. Whatever name the father's broad thumb first touched was bestowed upon the new arrival.

If family relationships demand that an odd name be handed on to the baby, bury it in the middle so that, in later years, he can hide it by using an initial. Don't pick a name haphazardly or from the headlines of the newspaper, admonishes the prelate, but choose for your child an attractive, euphonious given name, one you yourself would like to bear. From the cradle to the grave by their names as well as their deeds, ye shall know them.

There exists a definite tendency to associate personality traits with names and out of this has grown the belief that certain names mean special things. By this token, Felice means 'happy', Beatrice means 'fair and pure', Martin means 'distressed, tearful', Rosemary for 'remembrance' and Finis means 'the end.'

Helping Families Rebuild Is Red Cross' Main Flood Task

A Central Missouri homeowner shows a Red Cross disaster worker how Missouri River flood waters tore out walls inside his home. He and his wife managed to save only a few pieces of bedclothing. Throughout the Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma and Illinois flood area 425 trained Red Cross disaster workers assisted by hundreds of chapter volunteers are engaged in the Red Cross' biggest part of its disaster job, helping more than 25,000 families back to normal restoring homes, furniture, livelihoods for those without means to help themselves. All help is given outright, not lent. Flood relief contributions to local Red Cross chapters will finance this help, now costing almost double the original $5,000,000 Red Cross estimate. Odd Names

Until 1465 when Edward II of England issued an edict declaring that everyone must choose a surname for himself and family, a given name was sufficient means of identification for most English speaking people. After that, folks got busy selecting and improvising last names for themselves. While many chose a surname according to their occupation or line of work e. g., Cutler (maker of knives) Shearer (sheep shearer) Wagner (wagon driver) others demonstrated a sense of humor or a flair for practical joking in the selection of a last name. The results were oftentimes laughable.

For instance, could the "crooked man who walked a crooked mile and found a crooked sixpence upon a crooked stile" have been the inspiration for the name of 'Cruikshanks' (crooked shanks)? There actually was a Molly Ticklepiter of Turnip Ridge, Tenn. and a resident of Hood River, Ore. was named Asad Experience Wilson. When Asad was killed in an automobile smash-

REPORT FROM WASHINGTON

By Walter Rogers
Congressman, 18th District

Week I give you the following from the Hungarian Observer published by the Hungarian Council, 339 East 52nd New York 22, New York.

RUSSIANS REQUISITION CHILDREN IN HUNGARY

At times the Ottoman Empire used to kidnap children from occupied countries, take them to Turkey, and there train them as Janissaries in the service of the sultan. These boys, as ruthless warriors, graduated from their mother tongue, nationality and even their religion. By the time they grew up, they would not have recognized their own parents, so completely they changed, and Mohammedanism.

What Communists are doing in Soviet-occupied territory in Central Europe, they first tried the system in Greece. There Communist bands kidnaped Greek children to Communist states, seeking to make them forget their origin and train them to become fanatic Communists.

"SOCIALIZATION" OF CHILDREN: According to latest reports this method has been extended to Hungary. The Times of London was first to report that the course of the Budapest deportations in many cases children are taken from their parents in order that they shall receive an education in Communist Hungary (Hungarian papers reported that children were snatched from deportees and taken to staterun orphanages and apprentice homes.

which are simply institutions for the training of Janissaries. People who try to flee the country with their children are arrested. Their children are taken from them and "socialized."

THE WEEKLY DIGEST OF NEWS FROM HUNGARY (issued by the Hungarian Research Division of the National Committee for a free Europe) further informs us that:

"In mid-June new rumors spread like wildfire among the evictees: the segregation of children under 14 years of age, and the transporting of certain groups to the Soviet Union. It is a fact that children who cannot be used for factory work are mostly separated from their parents and put into lower grade technical training schools controlled by the Communist authorities.—The conception of the family will become a thing unknown."

A report has also been received from SERVICE LIBRE "Rideau De Fer" (Iron Curtain Free Press Service, a Paris news agency run by Hungarian emigrants) to the effect that passers-by have come across a 2 and a 4-year old child wandering in the streets of Budapest. They had tags around their necks with text like the following: "I shall never see these children again. I have just packed my bundle and am waiting for them to take me away." Signed: "The grandmother of these two little ones."

LITTLE LOUIS IS BOUGHT FOR 2000 FORINTS: This is the background of the tale of horrors, imparted by Samed-Soir of Paris, in whose columns Mrs. Stephen Nagy, nee Julia Kovacs, a rightly. It is not my intention to report the trip blow by blow, but just give some of the highlights. Many of the readers of this column have made this trip and will therefore not be interested. And all the readers have my consent to not read a line of this.

When we neared Wheatland we began to perk up. Nice farms had strips of land where the wheat had been cut, then a bare strip then another strip of wheat. This strip-cropping is followed for two reasons: to keep land from blowing and to summer fallow to produce more wheat, and we didn't have to be told why, since many farmers at home have adopted the practice on a smaller scale.

Next we followed the North Platte river for miles, going along irrigated valleys for miles, then several miles through gorges and canyons, with water falls and eddies right below us. In the valleys, oat crops were being harvested—most of them the old time way: cut by binder, shocked, and then thrashed. Hay rick after hay rick and more hay being cut. Herd after herd of cattle grazing on the rolling terrain have to be fed some hay during the winter. These cattle are in fine condition now. Small herds of antelope may be seen near cattle herds.

After leaving Casper, which is an oil town, we came to Powder River, a turbulent mountain stream, now being dammed. This dam was to open Sept. 1 after having taken three years to build it. The water from this lake will be used to irrigate may thousand acres of land. Our train went through a tunnel built in the top of the dam. We were told that the dam served three purposes: held water, gave railroad a crossing and the highway a road along the top.

From here on the trip was replete with surprises, scenery thrills etc. We entered a gorge called Wind River Canyon through which Big Horn River flows, cascades, leaps and falls for several miles. The walls of the canyon growing higher and higher above us, the scenery grander and grander and the on-rushing train's noise becoming deafening and, with the river just below us on our right to make us wonder what would happen if the train left the track. Yes, we were wide-eyed and had just a bit of creepy feeling. Such a relief when we left the gorge and entered a beautiful and peaceful valley, where irrigation had full swing. Hay, wheat, oats, alfalfa, clover, vegetables, etc. are the many crops. Sulphur is being brought to the top by means of wells, and many car loads were on the siding awaiting being taken away.

Honey is a big item in this valley. Apiaries on all sides. The hives look like tombstones and are enclosed with barbed wire. A woman in our coach saw one such on the hillside and exclaimed: "Look at the Indian Cemetery." Our tickets called for Billings, Mont. but we stopped at Deaver drove to and stayed Monday night in Cody, Wyo. in the Irma Hotel which was built by "Buffalo Bill" Wm. F. Cody. The story goes that Buffalo Bill loved this wilderness area back in the 1890's and wished to found a town here. He had dreams of a large city midway between Chicago and San Francisco on the Burlington railroad, then being built and scheduled to push on to the west coast. Cody secured the Burlington officials promise to bring the railroad through Cody enroute west should he first show his good faith by establishing five things here, hotel, newspaper, general store, school and church. The result was the Irma Hotel, Cody Enterprise, Cody Trading Co., Episcopal Church and Cody grade school. All still exist. But the Burlington railroad reached its deepest penetration west at Cody depot, end of the line.

Cody is in the foothills and irrigated valleys, and interesting landscapes make it an interesting town. It is known as the Eastern Yellowstone Park gateway—though it is 53 miles to the park entrance. There are no railroads or bus lines into the park, and if one does not have his own car, he must depend upon a bus line that has the park franchise or hire a guide who has his own car. Bus lines operate on a 2 1/2-day schedule. Their charge is $45 and tax per person which includes transportation, lodging and meals. Guides will take one on a one-day, two-day or any length of time desired. We were fortunate in finding a fine fellow, Ray Sandvold, of Cody, who took us on a two-day trip through and all around in the park and landed us at Livingston, on the N. P. 52 miles north of the north gate. Sandvold has driven 250,000 miles in the past five years, and has not had one single accident—not even a scratched fender. He knows every place in the park worth seeing, and takes time to give details. Unlike the buses, we were taken to any place we wanted to see and allowed to stay as long as we liked. His parents came to U. S. from Norway.

The next installment will deal with Yellowstone Park.

Miss Iris Smith, former teacher in Memphis High School, is now teaching in San Antonio College. She visited here for a week with Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Smith and son, returning to San Antonio Tuesday.

bureaus and personnel.

He explained to the public the work of the continental army in Europe and proposed a foreign legion of Europeans in the United States Army as a way of getting economic aid to these countries instead of the outright gift of Marshall Plan aid.

But it was to the farm program and defense that he turned the spotlight of his attention.

"Defense is getting on a solid ground," he said. He noted the progress that is being made on the defense program and stressed that "might is the best answer that we can muster to international gangsters."

The congressman was welcomed by Mayor Carl Harrison and was introduced by Arthur Eddleman. Joyce Webster was master of ceremonies. Joe Montgomery presented Rogers with a pair of handmade cowboy boots in behalf of his Hall county friends.

Tuesday night's speech was the climax of an entire day spent in Hall County by the Congressman. After arrival Tuesday morning he toured the county checking crop conditions and visiting with farmers.

mers. Tuesday noon he held a joint meeting of the Lions and B & P Clubs and guests. State Representative A. J. Rogers of Chicago was Hall County guest and visited with the Congressman.
