HOOSER WINS SAFETY AWARD

County Agent W. B. Hooser, whose careful guidance has been responsible for many Hall County youths receiving state and national safety awards, learned yesterday that he had been chosen by the Farm and Ranch Section of the Texas Safety Council to receive the 1951 award for merit in recognition of his safety practices and instructions.

The award is to be presented at the Council's 13th annual Safety Conference in Dallas on March 25. J. O. Musick, general manager of the safety organization, in a letter to Hooser said, "We appreciate your many fine contributions to the cause of safety."

Those "contributions" extend back over the years, for his 4-H safety awards. In 1944, Jim Hutchins, a Hall County 4-H Club member, won first place in both the state and national safety contests. Besides an all-expense trip to Chicago, he received a $200.00 scholarship.

Dr. Clark Taken To Dallas Clinic; Hospital Closed

Clark Hospital remains closed indefinitely due to the illness of Dr. Clark. Dr. Clark was taken to a Dallas hospital Monday for further treatment. An announcement of the closing of the hospital was published last week in The Democrat.

Hoover Replaces Conrad Lohoefer As News Editor

Bill Hoover, of Mount Calm, Hill County, Tex., assumed the duties Monday as news editor of The Democrat. He replaces Conrad Lohoefer who resigned three weeks ago to accept a position with the Pampa Daily News.

CULTURE DEPT. LIFTS BAN ON TURNING BURRS TO LAND

The Department of Agriculture lifted the ban on turning burrs to the land in Hall County and 41 other West Texas counties. The announcement was made by Agricultural Commissioner C. White. In regulation under which burrs had been burned as "gin poison" White stated that the cotton burrs had been discovered.

Spotty Rain Gives Some Relief Here

Life-giving rain fell on Hall County over the week-end, bringing some relief from the prolonged drought. The last substantial rain for this area fell on Sept. 12 when Weather Recorder John McMicken reported 1.34 inches. Sunday's rains were spotty in this county with some sections in the northern and northwestern portions reporting up to 2 inches, while other areas were less fortunate.

The communities of Lakeview, Brice, Lesley and Deeplake reported good, soaking rains with terraces standing deep in water. Last year's total rainfall was 18.51 or about 3 inches below average.

County Agent W. B. Hooser said the rain would help the wheat crop, but that it was too spotted to be helpful to the whole area. The rain where it fell in good quantities, would add moisture to the soil, he said. But, he added, it is too long until planting time to be able to tell just how beneficial was the rainfall.

Within three days after the rains came, the topsoil had apparently become dry again. As the cool northwesterly winds increased in velocity toward the middle of the week, the red dust was again flying through the air.

Weldon Massey Begins Duties At Fowlers Drug

Old friends will be glad to know that Weldon Massey, former Memphian, is living here again. He began his duties Tuesday as front, displayman, and camera specialist in Fowlers Drug Store. Massey, his wife, the former Reba Akins of Van Buren, Ark., and their ten-year-old son, Gene Clayton, moved here recently from Odessa. They are making their home at 701 North Ninth St. He is the son of Mrs. Pearl Massey.

Massey is an experienced drug store man, having worked in the same business for 20 years. He had worked in Odessa for a year and a half before coming here. Before that he had worked at Midland for eight years. Serving as a photographic specialist in the air force, Massey was in service 3 1/2 years. He served in Africa and England. He says his air force experience taught him just about everything about cameras. He's also a good photographer.

The new Fowler Drug employee was born in Memphis, and was graduated from the high school here. While in school he participated in basketball and track. A broken collar bone kept him off the football team.

By unanimous vote of my readers—all five of them—I will keep the above unlikeness of myself going a few weeks longer. Some say it flatters me, while others are kinder and say it does not do me justice—whatever that means.

While trying to find somebody who reads Comments this week, the only ones I found were Mrs. R. V. Messer at Lindsey Tailors, who was kind enough to admit she and her daughter consistently look forward to getting The Democrat so they can read the comments, and three other women who phoned they were readers and for me to continue using the head. LAKEVIEW BOY TAKES SEVENTH IN STOCK SHOW

Jake Hancock, Lakeview 4-H youth, took seventh place last week at the Amarillo Exposition and Fat Stock Show with his show animal in the junior heifer division. His entry competed in the open show with the pick of the finest from all over the Panhandle and neighboring states.

Just two weeks ago Hancock was the consignor of the grand champion Hereford heifer in the Hall County 4-H and F. F. A. Livestock Show held here.

County Agent W. B. Hooser said he was pleased with the placing of the Hall County youth's animal. He and his 4-H members and the FFA boys have been concentrating on raising fine breeding animals.

Eligible Farmers Urged To Sign For Conservation Pay

Lynn L. McKown, Hall County P.M.A. officer, announced this week that applications for payments under the 1951 conservation are ready for signature. More than $115,000.00 will be paid to the operators of the 354 farms eligible. About 50 have signed up, he said.

Farmers are requested to come by the P.M.A. office at the Courthouse to sign the applications. McKown said that most of the money was paid out when the work was completed by contractors last year. The signatures are merely routine in clearing up the Agricultural Conservation Program's books.

Most of the actual cash yet to be paid is for poisoning mesquites last spring. In most cases, the farmer did his own work in clearing out mesquites.

Additional Names Listed In School Of Champions

Following the publication of the roster of students enrolled in Memphis schools in last week's issue of The Democrat, a list of 36 additional names has been submitted.

As announced last week, classroom teachers had made every effort to include all students. In the compilation of around one thousand names, the following were unintentionally omitted: Don Galley, work on time; Leslie Helm, reading; Tommy Hodges good attitude; Loyd Pruitt, cheer (Continued on Page 4)

J. E. Roper left early Tuesday morning for Sattillo, Miss., after receiving a message of the sudden death of his brother, A. E. Roper. The brother was found dead in bed early Tuesday. He had lived in Mississippi all of his life.

Roper will stay until after the funeral. His wife did not accompany him because of illness.

Renovations Being Made At Memphis Country Club

Considerable work has been done on the Memphis Country Club golf course and club house basement, Rufus W. Grisham, president, reported this week.

"We are planting about 30 Chinese elms on the course. A terrace has been built between holes 3 and 4, and we plan to seed it with Bermuda grass," he said. All the trees will be planted in the rough so that they won't interfere with play on the fairways, he added.

Other improvements on the course include doubling the size of all the tee boxes. The boxes will be seeded with Bent and Bermuda grass. New double tee markers for the boxes will be installed.

The putting green is being rebuilt and seeded with Bent grass.

Hall Countian Wins Fifth In Amarillo Spelling Bee Meet

Sandy Smith, sixth grader in the Memphis schools, won fifth place in the 41-county Amarillo Globe-News Spelling Bee Saturday afternoon in the Amarillo High School auditorium. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Smith.

Saturday's competition marked the second year for Sandy to attend the Amarillo meet. He has represented Hall County for the past two years and has two more years of eligibility left. The contest is open to students up to the eighth grade.

Hall County's first representative to the Amarillo contest was Rebecca Smith from Estelline. She won the Globe-News contest in 1950 and went on to compete in the national spelling bee held in Washington, D. C.

Baby Chick Sees The World Through Rose-Colored Eyes

Ever see a red-eyed, albino baby chick? Well, Alvin Vallance brought just such a rare creature into The Democrat office Tuesday. The chick, of the New Hampshire breed, was hatched that same day at the Lawrence Hatchery.

Douglas Lawrence, who has been in the hatchery business for several years, said that was the first time he'd ever seen a bird of that description. Normally, New Hampshire baby chicks are brownish in hue and have dark blue eyes. This particular bird was white with fiery red eyes.

Vallance, who works at the hatchery, said they were going to keep the bird to raise.

ROY COLEMAN—For fifteen years of faithful and efficient service, Roy Coleman, above, received a commendation last week from a grateful Memphis school board. He resigned recently. During his long tenure of public service, Coleman served in the offices of president and secretary of the board.

Lewis Foxhall, Memphis, was elected president of the newly organized Hall County Weather Improvement Association at a meeting Saturday afternoon at the Courthouse. It was learned at the meeting that the county's goal of $6,000.00 had been oversubscribed by $232.39.

Other officers elected were: Vice-president, Hulen Clifton, Estelline; secretary-treasurer, Clifford Farmer, Memphis; and three directors, George Ray, Turkey; Paul Montgomery, Memphis; and Edward Hillis, Lakeview.

The directors will represent Hall County on the board of directors of the Red River Weather Improvement Association, which includes Childress, Donley, and Collingsworth counties in Texas and five counties in Oklahoma.

Farmer, head of the Memphis Chamber of Commerce, said that the two largest land-owners in the county donated $3,800.00 or more than half of the $6,232.39 total received by Saturday. Mill Iron Ranch, which covers 120 sections, contributed $2,400.00, and J. W. Lewis, Jr., who owns 70 sections in the western part of the county, gave $1,400.00. These figures represent an assessment of $20 per section.

165 Behind Organization Though only about 25 farmers and county leaders were present at Saturday's meeting, at least 165 farmers in the county are behind the organization, Farmer said.

When all the counties in the greater Red River Weather Improvement have reached their quotas, that organization will sign a contract with the Water Resources Development Corporation of Denver which is headed by Dr. Irvin P. Krick. Farmer said that it is hoped that the first silver iodide generators will be in operation by April 1.

Heated to 2500 Degrees The generators are to be turned on when moisture-laden clouds invade this drought-stricken area. The minute particles of silver iodide float upward after being heated at 2500 degrees Fahrenheit. If the temperature in the clouds is below freezing, tiny droplets of moisture will collect on the iodine crystals forming raindrops. Krick doesn't claim to be able to make rain, just increase it—if conditions are right.

Potts Re-Elected As President Of Hereford Assoc.

Tomie M. Potts was re-elected president of the Panhandle Hereford Breeders' Association at the annual banquet of that organization March 4 at the Herring Hotel in Amarillo.

Potts was one of the star exhibitors at the Amarillo Exposition and Fat Stock Show held last week in Amarillo. Besides winning first place in the Grand Champion Female division, Potts was also consignor of the best pair of females of the open show. He took second place in the Get of Sire division in which four animals from the same sire are judged, and third place in the Summer Heifer Calves division.

The Exposition, this year was "probably the best we've ever had," Potts said. This was the forty-second annual show.

CYCLONE BOOSTERS SET GOAL AT 200 NEW MEMBERS, SAYS PRESIDENT

Members of the Memphis Cyclone Booster Club have begun their intensive membership drive announced today. Srygley said the club hopes to bring in about 200 new members.

If sufficient funds are raised the club plans to erect a scoreboard and electric clock at Cyclone Stadium. At a meeting of the club Friday night in Srygley's Barber Shop it was decided to try to pay for the clock by selling a giant ad to go with the clock. He said that sealed bids for the ad may be submitted to him.

If it is impossible to raise money for the clock by selling one large ad, then bids for several smaller ads will be considered. It was planned to sell the large ad for five years with an option to renew or discontinue it at the end of that period.

Booster Club members Friday night were assigned individual districts to canvass in the drive so that some citizens might not be collared twice. Also at the meeting it was announced that 53 new members have been signed up in the current campaign. Membership fees are $5.00 per year.

Land of Leprecauns

From the jagged hills of Donegal, across meager field sand peat bog, to the downs of Tipperary stretches the Emerald Isle, so dear to the hearts of its countrymen. Land of shamrocks and "shillelaghs", of O'learys and Ma haffertys, where Irish eyes are smiling and the river Shanon flows.

Land of enchantment, privation, legend and enchantment, it is too. Where the peasant huts, like so many baby chicks, snuggle in the shade of some massive castle's wings; where the "lilt of Irish laughter" ripples the lakes of old Killarney and leprecauns dance in the moonlight. Is it any wonder that wherever they may roam, the sons and daughters of Old Erin, are bound by magic ties of love to their island home?

Besides a host of devoted sons and daughters, Ireland is inhabited by myriads of "little people" who bedevil the lives of human beings and bring them good or ill luck according to the behavior of their victims.

Be they pixies, elves, imps, or sprite Playing mischievous pranks Or dancing at night . . . in fairy rings . . . When the moon is bright?

Who knows whence they came or what brought them? Whether they hailed from the realms of Avalon or the bizarre half-world of Glocca Mora is not known but, for all good Irishmen, they do exist and must be dealt with carefully. Indeed, much of the charm of Ireland derives from the folklore and legend interwoven with the history of the country.

In the story and legend, the fires of enchantment are kindled by a band of vagabond musicians and story-tellers who roam the countryside at will. Descendants of the Irish bard and minstrels, like "lost wisps of medieval times" these wandering troubadours beguile their listeners with folk tales and music in exchange for a crust of bread or a night's lodging.

The Irish have a special name for these minstrel men. "It is these "shanachie" who tell of the low mounds of earth where dwell "the little people", the leprecauns, and the people of Sidhe who leave fairy rings of wishes to be discovered and wished upon; whose silver bullets cause humans to disappear altogether. Some "little people" are mischievous like elves or pixies and their victims are said to be "pixilated".

Be they nymphs of the forest or gremlins of air, Dwelling in caves or mountains? Of earthly origin or ethereal lairs, These dear "little folks" mean no harm Though they tamper with human affairs.

Nevertheless, anyone behaving in an unusual manner is thought to be under the spell of the "little people" and while one doesn't always believe in such things . . . still it could be and who dares to deny it!

Will you believe it, Only this past winter, Irish folk of Donegal torn between tradition and cold weather invoked the anger of the "little people". For centuries, no matter how short the fuel supply, folks have never dared to cut the "fairy thorn" (legendary hute of the "wee ones"). However, many a son of St. Patric flaunted superstition by bundling and storing the thorn bushes for fuel tempting misfortune by the doing. After all, it is to be hoped

The "wee ones" do good so far as they ken. They really intend to please. As they go skipping over hill and glen

So the scientists went after the upper regions of radio space, the antartic known as Ultra-High Frequency (U.H.F.) — and they uncovered a rich lode. Seventy channels which could handle UHF telecasts! Together with VHF this would provide enough room for everybody!

The bulk of this intensive research campaign was handled by scientists and engineers of the Radio Corporation of America, and its affiliate, the National Broadcasting Company. Even before the war, they had worked on transmissions in the UHF range, and by late 1949 they were ready to begin regular field tests.

Does grass-roots America want television? In the opinion of Dr. Jolliffe, it wants it just as much as anyone else. "Make no mistake," he says, "Main Street is just as anxious for television as Broadway — perhaps more so. For Broadway has its shows and its light. But for the living presence to be brought to the sitting room in a lonely farmhouse miles from the nearest city — that is truly pushing back the horizons of entertainment and education."

programs will come forth on home screens with the same picture fidelity and clarity as in the established television centers of the nation. For there can be enough stations to bring a full strength video signal within range of nearly every one.

The Frequency-Allocation plan for this dramatic expansion was developed by the Federal Communications Commission, which is the government's regulatory agency for all wireless services. It tentatively pinpointed the location for each of nearly 2,000 stations as a first step toward offering TV stations licenses to these communities.

Behind this government action is a colorful tale of pioneering exploration by the scientist and engineers of a privately owned American industry. For years they probed into the mysterious upper regions of the radio spectrum — some scientists call it the "antartic" of the air waves — and they determined that television signals could be transmitted successfully through this untapped region.

This was their answer to the fear that has haunted the industry and the government ever since television began its post war expansion — the fear of overcrowding the air waves.

For television, like radio and other wireless services, requires channels in the air waves. If two stations using the same channels are near one another, their signals will conflict. That's why the FCC decided in 1948 to halt new station construction until more channels were available.

All the stations functioning today are confined to a relatively narrow band of the spectrum known as the Very High Frequency Range (V.H.F.) It has only twelve channels for telecasts, not enough to provide blanket coverage.

So the scientists went after the upper regions of radio space, the antartic known as Ultra-High Frequency (U.H.F.) — and they uncovered a rich lode. Seventy channels which could handle UHF telecasts! Together with VHF this would provide enough room for everybody!

Their selection of a site for the experiment was Bridgeport, Conn., 55 miles from New York City, a city with a population of just over 200,000. It is in the reception area for television stations broadcasting out of New York. A UHF station here with special receiving antennas could pick up regular telecasts from station WNBT in New York and rebroadcast them to UHF sets in scattered homes in the area. Since the countryside is hilly, it produces the most difficult possible conditions for commercial broadcasting.

It was for these reasons that the first and only UHF station in the country now operating on a regular basis, KC2XAK, was located on a hill in Stratford, Conn., just outside of Bridgeport. Designed and built by RCA, it started broadcasting Dec. 30, 1949, under the supervision of O. B. Hanson, NBC's vice president in charge of engineering. RCA built UHF receivers and UHF converters for present VHF sets and they were placed in 80 homes in the Bridgeport area. Reports, graphs and charts on performance were compiled and forwarded to the FCC and made available to the entire industry.

Basic Findings Finally, after conclusive studies of UHF, the teams announced these findings: 1. Properly used and properly allocated, television reception on UHF can be just as clear and stable as on VHF. In some instances it is even better, for UHF pictures are not bothered by nearby x-ray equipment, auto ignitions, neon signs, or home appliances, which have been known to play hob with VHF pictures.

2. Present television sets can be readily adapted to receive both UHF and VHF telecasts. (RCA has already demonstrated a small, simple UHF converter which can be easily attached to present sets.) 3. Color television can be broadcast on UHF frequencies. The FCC based its UHF plan largely on knowledge garnered from the field tests conducted at Bridgeport.

UHF is a new symbol of America's pioneering spirit. It is a key to a new era, an era when all of America will be bound together closer than ever before through a visual medium that brings people and events to life.

Does grass-roots America want television? In the opinion of Dr. Jolliffe, it wants it just as much as anyone else. "Make no mistake," he says, "Main Street is just as anxious for television as Broadway — perhaps more so. For Broadway has its shows and its light. But for the living presence to be brought to the sitting room in a lonely farmhouse miles from the nearest city — that is truly pushing back the horizons of entertainment and education."

Ready for Field Tests The bulk of this intensive research campaign was handled by scientists and engineers of the Radio Corporation of America, and its affiliate, the National Broadcasting Company. Even before the war, they had worked on transmissions in the UHF range, and by late 1949 they were ready to begin regular field tests.

Now you can have your washing machine do double duty — re-dye, as well as wash, your clothing and home decorations. The washer's ideal for tinting bulky wearables, curtains, bedspreads, drapes, shag rugs and bath mats. It does most of the work for you. All you need do, according to Tintex Home Economics Bureau, is dissolve dye in quart jar or pitcher of hot water, as above. Pour dye into washer when filled with hottest water you can get, then run machine through regular wash cycle and set to last rinse. Cleaning's easy, too. Just run clean hot water through machine, using small amount of soap. Full directions, in leaflet form, are available at all-fabric dye counters.

Mrs. G. W. Kesterson, Mrs. Dick Watson, and Mrs. T. D. Weatherby. Now you know who are my five readers. They probably felt sorry for me, and wanted to keep me from having to live in Knot Hole.

Parts of the county had sufficient moisture for the present, but a lot of the county had just enough to keep wheat growing a while longer, and enough to soften the fields so the farmers can finish their spring plowing. Everyone has his hopes built high on this being a year when sufficient moisture will be received to insure good crops.

All the clouds needed the other day was just a little help from chemicals used in seeding clouds. The clouds looked like a balloon, ready to be punctured. A slight rip would have started a stream that wouldn't have stopped short of plenty of moisture all over this section of country, in the way one man expressed it.

This has been a week of contradictions. The first few days everything looked just lovely. Moisture in the ground, and weather nice and cool gave a bright aspect to everything. But, alas and alack, Wednesday morning we waked to find a real 1934 duststorm raging, and instead of declining soon, it kept real estate on the move far into the night. And this certainly lengthened a lot of physoga.

Bill Hoover, who arrived Sunday from the Heart of Texas to be news editor of The Democrat, says he hasn't seen a dust storm since 1934, and thinks the Wednesday's caper was about the worst ever. "However when visibility down my way gets to less than two miles, we think it is something bad, and when it doesn't rain down there at least every other week, we think we are having a drought." Bill believes he is being sufficiently, completely and overpoweringly initiated into the atmosphere of West Texas.

Bob Ayers was stopped on the street Wednesday morning while the dust was blowing. "Did you cause this, Bob?" he was asked. "Yes." "Well, all I have to say is, you rainmakers have sure played h...l."

A dwelling house was moved last week from lots just west of Funk's store. It had stood on this spot for many years, and housed many different families. Some two-score years ago, Dr. Fitzjarrald and family lived there. During the summer the doctor slept out in the yard. One night, a fellow trying to get away from officers ran through the yard and came near running over the doctor. "Get out of my bedroom," Fitzjarrald yelled. And the fellow got.

At last, City Park is to have good water for cooking, eating and drinking purposes. So says the Community Public Service Co. officials. Heretofore, people picnicking in the park, had to carry water from town or their homes, for the well in the park furnishes only 877 water. For 13 years, I have been hoping the water company would pipe water to this playground for all people.

Judge W. E. Gee died at his home in Amarillo last week. At one time he taught school in Hall County. It must have been in the '90's. Later, he practiced law and then became judge in Amarillo. Can any of you readers remember where and when he taught in this county?

Federal, state and local governments will spend this fiscal year at least $90 billion, which is about one-third of the total national income. Believe it or not, the sum is more than the entire population spends for food.

The political primary and "beauty contest" held in New Hampshire Tuesday caused a lot of political prognosticators to look back at their hole cards to see where they had made mistakes in their guessing before the election. Taft has been claiming Ikenhower didn't have a ghost of a chance to be nominated by the Repubs, and Trumanites believed HST was the only man who could beat Taft. The N. H. voters didn't hold to those opinions. They gave Ikenhower the Repubs delegate votes and Kefauver the Demos delegate votes over HST. Also, in the popularity (beauty) voting the above two men led the others by thousands of votes. Perhaps, political leaders will do some serious thinking before they try to cram certain men down the throats of a disgusted populace.

March 9. This was a regular meeting for the nomination of officers.

In an address before the group, Armstrong stressed the ideals for which the VFW stands. He stated that he wanted to impress upon the minds of the people as well as the members of the VFW that the main standards are freedom, religion, service not only as veterans but as citizens of the community.

"One of the main things we overlook in our organization and in our country today is religion in our work and in our daily lives," Armstrong said. "I want to ask each member to remember that the VFW is not a pleasure organization but a service organization for the citizens of the community and the veterans."

Attending the meeting were Carl Kulp, John McCauley, Jack Gilbert, Claude Ferrel, the Rev. Bedford Smith, Lynn Jones, L. F. Jones, Joe Bradley, J. C. Henry, Varion Hoggatt, Armstrong and Clark.

Two Annual Farm Ownership Meets Set For County

Two annual farm ownership meetings were held for Hall County borrowers of the Farmers Home Administration last week according to J. J. Roan, Jr., county supervisor.

The first meeting was held at the high school auditorium in Lakeview today, beginning at 10 a. m. Lunch was served at noon at the school cafeteria.

The second meeting started at 10 a. m. in the veteran's classroom at Turkey.

All farm ownership borrowers and families who have been financed in the past by the FHA attend these annual meetings. Also, all paid-up borrowers have received invitations.

"Hall County farm ownership borrowers have averaged 1.6 annual payments during the past year," Roan stated. "Their goal should be at least two payments each year."

John Henry Nanney, died Thursday in Fort Worth, was buried March 9, in Rowe cemetery, Hedley. He was 83 years of age. Funeral services were held in the Hedley Church of Christ. The cotton burrs to the land in West Texas does not mean that the quarantine itself is lifted, the commissioner pointed out. All other quarantine regulations will remain in effect. It does mean, he added, that since there is little likelihood that it will cause pink bollworm infestation to spread at this time, the grower can put the burrs to profitable use on his land.

"The growers of West Texas have been anxious to return the burrs to the soil for its important organic and fertilizing effect," White said. "During the drought the burrs also will help prevent soil erosion."

Cotton yields of this area were annually getting lower, it was pointed out. At the same time, the area occupies a high place in the nation's cotton production, and the Department of Agriculture felt that measures should be taken to balance control regulations with the economic situation of the area.

The burrs are released from ginning time in 1952 until March 31, 1953.

Counties released from the bar include Hall, Gray, Childress, Donley, Collingsworth, Wheeler, Hardeman, Foard, Wilbarger, Wichita, Motley, Cottle, Floyd, Lamb, Bailey, Cochran, Hockley, Lubbock, Crosby, Dickens, Kent, Knox, Baylor, Archer, Yoakum and Terry.

Also Lynn, Garza, Stonewall, Haskell, Throckmorton, Young, Gaines, Dawson, Scurry, Fisher, Jones, Shackelford and Stephens.

state safety contest the next year. This award was for a county-wide program in which the various clubs encouraged the ranchers and farmers to plow six-foot fireguards around their land.

Also in 1945, Harold Rampy, Hall County, took first place in the state safety contest. Billy Hancock won the event the next year, and John Luther Byars capped the contest in 1947.

The national safety contest was won by a Hall County team for the second time in 1948 when Bennie West received his all-expense trip to Chicago and a $200 scholarship. He also had placed first in the state competition.

Archie Martin, Hall County, got first place in the state contest in 1949. Lloyd West won the third national award to be presented to a Hall County team in 1950. He, too, got the trip to Chicago and the scholarship.

Last year Hall County received the first place award in state safety contest for the outstanding county in the state-wide program.

More Americans are killed in traffic accidents than have ever been killed in any way in our history.

From its original ten employees in 1917, the Highway Department has grown to include 9,000 Texans.

More than half of Texas' primary highways has passed the mid-way mark in their 20-year life expectancy.

Based on records of 1951, it is predicted that during 1952 at least 2,500 Texans will be killed in traffic accidents, and another 70,000 injured. Economic loss expected to pass $100 million. Advertise in the Democrat.

REPORT FROM WASHINGTON

Congressman, 18th District

By Walter Rogers

WHAT HAPPENED TO THE UNIVERSAL MILITARY TRAINING BILL: Many people are wondering just what did happen to the Universal Military Training bill. Here is the exact story:

The bill was brought before the House for consideration from the Armed Services Committee. When the House is considering a piece of legislation and attempting to perfect it by amendments, the proceedings are not before the House of Representatives, but are before all of the members of the House sitting as a Committee of The Whole. This committee is not presided over by the Speaker, but by some member of Congress who is acting as chairman. The UMT bill was a highly controversial measure and was not acceptable to the majority of the members in its original version. The first amendment that offered came from the chairman of the Armed Services Committee, Honorable Carl Vinson of Georgia. This amendment provided two things:

(1) The UMT would not start until the drafting of boys under Selective Service had stopped.
(2) The life of the UMT program would be terminated in 1958 unless Congress at that time extended it. This amendment made the bill acceptable to many members who had originally opposed it. The amendment was adopted and was referred to as the Vinson amendment. Another amendment was then offered by Congressman Omar Burlison, of Texas. The Burlison amendment provided that the proposed training program would take place in the junior colleges, colleges and universities, in connection with the civilian education of young men. It also provided certain vocational training programs to be set up in the institutions of higher learning to take care of those young men who would not wish to attend college but who would require to take the military training. Since this amendment changed a substantial part of the original bill, it was introduced as a substitute for the original bill, and amounted to a law within itself.

While the debate was proceeding on the Burlison substitute, Congressman Brownson of Indiana offered an amendment to the Burlison substitute, which was also a complete law in itself and therefore became a substitute for the Burlison substitute. The Brownson substitute provided for the military training to be coordinated with the last two years of high school and made provision to take care of those boys who did not finish high school. The purpose of both the Burlison substitute and the Brownson substitute was to provide the military training and at the same time keep the boys at home, or as nearly at home as possible. Both of these amendments had substantial support. Under parliamentary law, the voting was on the Brownson substitute, which started the training in high school. Had the Brownson substitute failed, the next voting would have been on the Burlison substitute, but the Brownson substitute passed by a vote of 150 to 145, which meant that the Burlison substitute was killed and the Brownson substitute took its place. As soon as this was done, the rules required that the Committee of The Whole cease to function and report back to the House of Representatives, with the Speaker presiding, for further action on the bill.

This was done and a vote was then taken on the Brownson bill, the members voting as members of the House of Representatives and not as members of the Committee of The Whole. On this vote the Brownson substitute failed. The reason it failed was because there was no chance to amend it. It had to be accepted as it was written with no amendments whatever. This the House refused to do because there were several imprecisions in the bill that did not meet the House approval. When the Brownson bill was defeated by the House of Representatives, the result was that the original UMT bill was back before the House in its original form, with no amendments, not even the Vinson amendment which had already been agreed to. Since the bill was not acceptable to a majority of the membership without the Vinson amendment, a motion was made to recommit the bill to the Armed Services Committee for further study and perfection. This motion to recommit prevailed and the bill was returned to the Committee.

This means that the Committee can study the bill further, make amendments to it and bring it back to the House for considera-

OPS Men To Make Business Survey

Several members of the Lubbock district office of the Office of Price Stabilization are in training and preparing to assist in a nation-wide business survey to get under way later this month. The survey is to be a study of percentage markups in use by wholesale and retail grocers on products bought and sold in the period immediately preceding the outbreak of war in Korea, according to district OPS officials.

The nation-wide survey, which will be conducted by the OPS in cooperation with the Bureau of Labor Statistics, will be used to determine how the markups used in the agency's wholesale and retail grocery ceiling price regulations compare with the markups resulting from the markups used in the period, May 24—June 30, 1941.

tion. The chairman of that committee has stated that this will not be done. Unless it is done, the UMT bill that is pending in the House of Representatives is dead as far as this session of Congress is concerned.

Actually there never was a vote in the House for or against Universal Military Training, and there is no way to tell what would have happened to the bill had it been up for vote on final passage. As I told you in a previous news letter, the question of segregation was a major issue and would undoubtedly have been the subject of heated debate and high tempers. However, segregation amendments were never reached in the discussion because of the course that the bill took, as hereinbefore outlined. From this history of the bill you can get a good idea of what is meant by parliamentary maneuvering.

Call out the Reserves with a touch of your toe!

Most cars lead a double life.

A good part of the time, they're running errands, taking children to school, taking women to stores, taking men to work, taking family and friends to clubs and social functions.

It doesn't call for a very great output of horsepower for duties like these.

But there are times when you want a car that can do vastly more, and these are the times when you'll want what this year's ROADMASTER has to offer.

Beneath its proud hood, there's a Fireball 8
Engine—a valve-in-head that can let loose 170 lively horsepower when needed.

And—alongside this engine—there's also an Airpower carburetor which thriftily-feeds fuel and air through two smaller-than-usual barrels for normal driving—which means that you now use less gas at 40 than you'd formerly use at 30.

But there are two barrels in reserve—waiting for you to call them into action—and they let loose a soaring rush of power that sinks your shoulders back into the seat cushion, swoops you past a truck—out of a tight spot—up a hill —sets your speedometer needle to registering added miles more than twice as fast as your watch can tick off the seconds.

This is an experience you certainly should know firsthand.

You should also know how Buick's Power Steering* provides a helping hand in slow-motion maneuvers—lets you keep the "feel" of the car in straightaway driving.

And just for good measure, this '52
ROADMASTER also has the biggest brakes of any postwar Buick—the greatest trunk space since spare tires moved off the front fenders—a warning light that glows when the parking brake is set—and to top it all, the smartest interior fabrics that Buick has ever offered.

When are you coming in to look this distinguished performer over? We urge you to make it soon.

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice.

52 Nash Goes On Display Friday Hall County Farmers Supply

1952 Nash—The first of the Golden Anniversary models produced by Nash will be on display Friday in the showroom of the Hall County Farmers' Supply Company, 221 Seventh St., Memphis. Mechanical changes include Dual-Range Hydra-Matic, increased horsepower, and a new type independent front-end "Airflex Suspension." The cars were styled by Pinin Farina, World renowned body designer.

greenish-blue tinted glass reduces road glare and heat rays.

The new models feature Nash-pioneered "Airflyte" unitized-type body construction, found also in modern planes and trains. It combines body and frame into a single welded unit of greater torsional strength, offering improved riding comfort, lifelong quietness and maximum safety to passengers, Anthony said.

A new type of independent front-end suspension, called "Airflex Suspension," is a feature of both models. Vertical coil springs, extra long and flexible, are located above heavy steering knuckles which take direct vertical loads. Unsprung weight is reduced, providing superior riding and handling qualities. Four direct acting airplane-type shock absorbers control low frequency spring action.

The completely redesigned instrument panel has Vinyl leather over an obstruction free section running almost the full width of the new panel in custom models. Instruments, rearranged, are protected from glare in a recessed sun-shield extension of the cowl line. Dials and numerals are painted on a one-piece plastic panel with the entire panel edge-lighted.

Passenger comfort has been greatly improved by moving the passenger compartment forward in relation to the wheel centers resulting in increased front and rear seat width, headroom and legroom. Larger front and rear door openings are positioned for easy entry.

Combined "airliner reclining seat" and convertible twin beds are available as optional equipment on all 1952 Ambassador and Statesman models.

Numerous mechanical improvements have been made in the new 1952 Nash Ambassador and Statesman Golden Airflytes.

Dual-Range Hydra-Matic is available as optional equipment on both models. This new automatic transmission has two driving ranges adaptable to various conditions. One range has the conventional first, second, third and fourth Hydra-Matic gear speeds for highway driving. The other has a new first, second and third gear range for traffic and mountainous driving. In addition, Nash also offers as optional equipment automatic overdrive, with four forward speeds. Syncromesh transmission is standard on both cars. The new Ambassador has an improved overhead-valve "Super Jetfire" engine with horsepower increased from 115 to 120, and bore enlarged to 3-1/2 inches, increasing total displacement to 252.6 cubic inches.

Power plant of the 1952 Statesman is a six-cylinder L-head engine, with horsepower increased from 85 to 88. Engine stroke is increased to 4-1/4 inches, raising total displacement to 195.6 cubic inches for improved performance.

Improved visibility is an outstanding feature of the new Nash models. Glass area has been vastly increased on all sides, in the four-door sedan almost 25 percent.

Offered for the first time as optional equipment on all Nash cars is tinted "Solex" safety glass, Anthony said. The new

Benefits Paid To Vets Are Tax-Free

Payments to veterans for benefits administered by the Veterans Administration are tax-free and need not be considered in computing Federal income tax, VA reminded veterans today.

Also, VA added, dividends which veterans have received on their GI insurance policies are exempt from taxation, and need not be reported.

Among the tax-exempt VA payments are the following:

Subsistence allowances for veterans in schools, on farms and on-the-job under the GI Bill and Public Law 16 (for the disabled).

Payments by VA to be applied to veterans' GI loans. Under the GI Bill, VA pays the lender an amount equivalent to four percent of the guaranteed portion of the loan, which is credited to the veteran's account.

Disability compensation and pensions paid to veterans for both service-connected and non-service-connected disabilities.

Grants for seriously disabled veterans for homes designed for wheelchair living.

World War I emergency officers' retirement pay.

Death benefits to families of deceased veterans are also exempt from taxation, VA said. These include compensation, pension and all GI insurance payments.

Your Support Is Needed

Texans have been outraged at the ethical facts of the tidelands—the attempted Federal grab of properties long considered to be the sole properties of the state.

On ethical grounds, Texans rightfully would have been incensed had the attempted grab involved but a dollar which by law belonged to Texas.

It is time that all Texans began to look the economic facts of the tidelands full in the face. The oil industry is a depleting industry—every gallon of oil removed from Texas soil is gone forever.

Our state was blessed by nature with a tremendous source of petroleum deposits, a seemingly inexhaustible supply. A bountiful Providence has perhaps blinded us to the fact that our petroleum resources are exhaustible, that in due time the petroleum revenue from our public lands will cease to flow into the permanent school fund.

Wise legislators long ago dedicated the revenues from Texas public lands a permanent school fund. This fund is invested and the revenues from such investment supports our schools; these are revenues that would otherwise have to be provided from other tax sources.

So the fact is apparent that the loss of our tidelands hastens the day when our permanent school fund will no longer carry a large share of the economic burden imposed by an educational system adequate to our growing population. When that time comes, a new tax source will have to be found.

A fight now in this tidelands campaign may save future dollars in taxes.

A statewide committee has been formed and all last month was making a drive for funds with which to operate and carry out a national campaign to alert the people of the Nation to the perils of federal success in the tidelands controversy.

Chairman Guy C. Jackson recently said, "The people of America need to know the true facts of the Tidelands Grab and then the Congressman of all states will be called upon to nullify the minority decision of the Supreme Court and clear the title to our submerged lands."

Many contributions have been mailed to the tidelands campaign. Whether you can send money with which to help fight, be sure and promote the fight yourself with letters and wires in support of Texas' tidelands fight.

This is a fight that may reflect on you, your children and their children.

"NO PLACE TO HIDE"

Press Paragraphs—
QUOTING OUR NEIGHBORS

Soldier is Taxpayer

Another Army post has become cost conscious. Gen. Bruce Clark, commanding the First Armored Division at Ft. Hood, Texas, has issued an order to his officers under the thought-provoking heading, "Everyone in Uniform Today is a Taxpayer." The order stresses "supply discipline"—the conservation and protection of materials and equipment—and points out that "all commanders have the absolute responsibility for the vigorous enforcement of supply discipline." After a list of do's and don'ts the officers are told to fold the order and carry it in their pockets. A taxpayer's medal should be struck off for the general. —Washington Report

Consistency

It's funny how some people denounce financial aid to British and, at the same time, denounce our failure to give more dollars to Chiang Kai-shek. —Wavely (Va.) Dispatch.

"Creeping Socialism"

In a world where dangers lurk on all sides, "Creeping Socialism" is one of our most dangerous enemies.

Americans are alert to the menace of Communism even Stalin's stooges know we'll have none of it.

But many of us have been and still can be fooled by socialistic proposals advanced under the so-called "welfare clause" of our Constitution.

It is a fine thing, for instance, to aid the unemployed, but it is something else to pass laws that enable idlers to winter on South- beach while drawing unemployment compensation in the North. To protect the aged is a noble objective, but in doing so we must not discourage all saving for a rainy day. There are many other objectives—good in theory, but in practice leading to "Creeping Socialism."

Let us firmly resolve to detect all such menaces to our liberties and fight to save the nation from them before it is too late.—Texas Tex Journal.

The Highway Department's first project was Texas' portion of U. S. Highway 80, known as the Bankhead Highway, which enters Texas at Marshall and exits at El Paso.

Local Youths
Attend Rally
In Amarillo

There were fifteen youths from the Christian Church, including two from the Hedley Christian Church, in the Memphis party attending a Youth Camp Rally in Amarillo Friday and Saturday of last week. Sessions were held in the West Amarillo Christian Church, host church, to nearly 200 from various Panhandle Christian Churches. The opening meeting was a Western Banquet with a Ranch motif throughout, including the menu and the sermonette by Minister Stanley Letcher of the host church.

Memphis Youth, with Minister Bedford Smith, presiding, put on a fine program at the Saturday noon closing luncheon. Harold Aspreen played a piano solo and led in prayer after the Scripture reading by James Aduddell. Carolyn Kay Smith and Betsy Godfrey sang: "In the Garden", accompanied by Mrs. Smith. Jimmy West made a talk and the meeting closed with a Garden of Prayer Friendship Circle led by Minister Smith. This closing program with the Garden of Gethsemane theme was the last Rally event before leaving old and new friends.

The Rally was in the interest of the Julian Bivins Christian Camp in June. The Senior Camp conducted for all those in the 8th grade on up through High School and College ages will be the third full week in June. The Junior week follows for all in the 4th through the 8th grade. Eighth graders may attend either or both Camps.

Those attending the Rally in the Memphis group besides Minister and Mrs. Smith and Mrs. J. A. Odom as sponsors were: Betsy and Patsy Godfrey, Carolyn Kay and Bedford David Smith, James Aduddell, Harold Aspreen, Jimmy West, Gordon Douglas Maddox, Jerry Hickey, and Jerry Smith from Memphis, and Nancy Stucky and Wanda Penick from Hedley.

Shamrock Plans
Big St. Patrick's Day Celebration

Plans for Shamrock's sixth annual St. Patrick's Day Irish Celebration, scheduled for Monday, March 17, rushed toward completion this week as members of some 20 committees worked feverishly on last-minute details, according to General Chairman Norman Patrick.

"Judging from the enthusiasm and work that has gone into the planning of this year's celebration, visitors will see one of the best rounded shows ever staged," Patrick said.

Street Parade at 11 a. m. Always a headliner, the mammoth street parade starting at 11 a. m. should be the equal of any ever held. Ray Carlton, float chairman, said 25 commercial and five organizational floats are certain with a possibility of as many as 50, including comic entries.

Other attractions include: Pilots Breakfast, Colleen Contest, and Coronation of "Miss Irish Rose," Uncle Hiram's Stage Show, Amarillo Air Force Jamjets, songs by Irish Tenor. Cisco Junior College Quartet and Choir, Khiva Drum and Bugle Corps, world famous Kiltie Band of Oklahoma City, Bill Mack
