TEMPERATURES RANGE FROM 54 TO TORRID 103

A minimum of 54 was recorded Tuesday in the northern part of the city, a prolonged hot spell. Maximum for the week was registered Saturday when the mercury rose to a torrid 103. Temperatures over the remainder of the long Fourth of July weekend were as warm as the celebrations with recordings of 100 Friday and 101 Sunday.

A shower accompanying the cool weather Monday night brought welcome moisture to the area. A total of .19 inches was recorded in Memphis.

Bigger and Better Dollar Days Planned

Members of the Memphis Chamber of Commerce board of directors met Tuesday morning for a breakfast meeting at Willeford's Drive-In to lay plans for bigger and better Dollar Days in Memphis. Dollar Day is observed on the first Monday of each month when special bargains are offered by merchants to induce more home patronage.

J. W. Coppedge, president of the board, appointed H. J. Howell and John Fowler to work with Chamber of Commerce Manager Clifford Farmer in creating more interest for Dollar Day among local merchants.

Dollar Day is participated in now by only a few merchants. Efforts are now being made to make the bargain day a successful enterprise with all merchants actively supporting it. Farmer said that Memphis is lagging far behind some other towns in this area in programs to attract local trade.

Last Day in July Is Deadline for Transfer Filing

July 31 is the deadline for filing applications to transfer students from one school district to another for the coming school year, Miss Mary Foreman, county school superintendent, announced this week. She said that parents must file the applications with her office.

Also protests by the district trustees over such transfers must be in her possession not later than Aug. 1, she added. If there is no protest, then the transfer is automatically allowed.

In case of a protest, the case is reviewed by the Hall County School Board. Members of the board are: T. B. Rogers, Memphis; Hulen Clifton, Estelline; T. R. Fuston, Jr., Turkey; T. W. Luttrell, Lakeview; and Arthur Giddens, member-at-large from the Memphis district.

If a transfer is not authorized, the school receiving the student cannot receive compensation from State funds, Miss Foreman said. Also, the school district losing the pupil cannot receive State support even though the student may be listed on the scholastic census rolls. School funds are allocated she said, according to average daily attendance.

Chief of Police T. D. Weatherly this week said that his department would start "cracking down more and more" on motorists running stop signs at intersections on Front St.

Two persons were arrested for not having operator's license, two for speeding and 23 for running the stop signs. Fines ranged all the way from $5.00 plus costs to $34.00 plus costs.

Weatherly warned that a policeman is on duty at all times and that all traffic offenders will be dealt with. He said that his department has been trying to find persons responsible for running down and destroying stop signs on the street.

The police chief also warned all dog owners to have their animals vaccinated and tagged. He said that several persons had complained of biting dogs running loose in town. Dogs without vaccination and city tags are subject to being killed, he added.

Regulation Change Permits Returning Burrs to the Soil

Hall County farmers, starting with this year's crop, may carry cotton burrs back to the farm without treatment and return them to the soil, according to W. B. Hooser, county agent.

Hooser, this week received a directive from John C. White, Texas agriculture commissioner, which stated the burrs may be carried to the farm without treatment until March 31 of the following year on the condition that the burrs are immediately distributed on the soil.

The directive was an amendment of the pink bollworm quarantine regulations which has been in effect in this county for several years. Heretofore, burrs have been burned at the gin to comply with the regulations.

Among other counties in this area that were affected by the regulations are:

Man Wanted for Turkey Burglary Caught by F. B. I.

Sheriff E. S. "Peck" Morrison will leave this weekend for San Francisco where he will pick up a prisoner to be returned here for trial.

California authorities telephoned the local sheriff Monday that they had arrested Levi Owens in a suburb of San Francisco. F.B.I. agents made the arrest.

Owens is wanted here for burglary of a store in Turkey shortly before Christmas. He was indicted by a grand jury in February.

He is an alleged partner of Cecil Edwards, former Turkey man who was convicted for his part in the crime in a trial here late in the spring. Edwards was arrested about two months ago by police at Plainview. After being sentenced to three years each on two counts of burglary in his trial here, he was taken to Briscoe County. His sentence here amounted to two three-year terms to run consecutively. He was given four years in the Briscoe County trial, and is now at Huntsville.

Owens will face trial sometime in August during the next session of the district court, Morrison said.

SPINE HAS VITAL ROLE IN BODY'S INTRICATE COMMUNICATION SYSTEM

The spinal column of the body looks like a swarm of butterflies flying in formation. These butterflies are still in their cocoons, however, cocoons which are stacked up, one on top of the other, from the nape of the neck to the tailbone.

There are 31 of these cocoons in all, shell-shaped bones called vertebral disks. Inside these, in butterfly form, are wing-spread shapes. Like the tips of the butterfly wings, both on top and the bottom of the wings, the spinal nerves spread out from this cocoon and reach into all parts of the body.

If the brain can be visualized as a big butterfly with its wings folded around its body, then the spinal column is a series of smaller butterflies with their wings spread out. Right in the middle of the spinal-column-butterflies is a small hole through which the fluid of the brain, the cerebrospinal fluid, drips. Surrounding that is the butterfly shape of pithy grey material. And around that is a solid white material of the vertebral disk.

There are three wrappings to the spinal cord, wrappings continuous with the meninges of the brain; they are called pia mater, arachnoid and dura mater, thin membranes which form coats for this column.

As in all parts of the body, the spinal column has some incoming tracks and some outgoing tracks as well as switch tracks. These tracks (called tracks in medicine) lie in the white material of the column with most of the incoming or descending tracks on the left side of the column, the outgoing or ascending tracks on the right, and the switches around the butterfly-ish middle of the disk.

Some tracks don't go all the way down the spinal column. They go just part way, edge over toward the butterfly, and then start back up. Others go farther down. But down about the 20th disk, in the midback region known as the lumbar area, there is no more direct descending of the nerve tracks; those below the area only ascend, all coming together at the first lumbar junction and then all descending together to many parts of the body, outside of the spinal column.

Those tracks going down, called the descending tracts, are the motor nerve tracks of the spinal column, the ones that create action and motion. Those tracks coming up, the ascending tracts, are the sensory nerve tracks of the spinal cord, the ones that create feelings of cold and hot, pain and such.

Through an involved, intricate communication system, therefore, when something stirs the big butterfly wings in the brain, the message is sent down through the spinal cord to the particular butterfly that is supposed to send the message on out to the part of the body that needs to respond. While that message is being sent to some part of the body, the butterfly also flutters his other receiving wing, and the message is sent back up the spinal column to the brain. When the part of the body responds to the action that the brain sent it, the brain has received its message and can record the feeling associated with the action.

That sort of thing is going on all the time to all different parts of the body.

When more action is required, more messages are sent, messages in the form of a stimulating substance for that part of the body. When less action is required, the brain sends messages that will slow down the action, sedative substances for that part of the body.

From the eyes, ears, nose and mouth the brain picks up the clues as to the needs for all parts of the body. All the internal organs of the body also send messages to the brain as to their needs. And the spinal column with its nerves fulfills the job of getting the messages to the different parts of the body, messages which muscles act upon.

Texas Hunter, 96, Remembers Days When Bag Limits Weren't Necessary

Howard Walker of Lufkin is an active hunter and is the subject of the forthcoming issue of Game and Fish magazine.

Has Bagged 96 Deer

is a native Texan and remembers the early days when deer was so abundant that there were no seasons or bag limits.

He bagged his 96th deer last fall and estimated that:

"All the ducks I have killed couldn't be pulled by a team of horses."

The article states: Uncle George, as he is known by everyone around Lufkin, was particularly sharp at hunting wild turkey. His popular box call is considered one of the deadliest in the county.

"You had to call them close," he explained. "Did in my day, because black powder was expensive to miss. Got them up close, so we could shoot their heads off."

"Uncle George still lives close to nature and spends an occasional night camping out on the Neches river with his fishing partner, his grandson, David Walker, 20."

Made 76 Crops 'Between Handles'

The elder Howard likes to regale the present generation with descriptions of how he "made 76 crops all between the plow handles" and that he never bought a sack of livestock feed in his life.

He doubts that game will ever be restored to the status when antelope populated the ranges like "waving grass" but he thinks present restoration work will be effective and that there will always be something to hunt.

Fresh, Cool Water Vital to Chickens In Sultry Weather

COLLEGE STATION—Chickens are not unlike humans during the hot days of summer. They like to be comfortable and a mighty important part of comfort, says Professor E. D. Parnell, poultry husbandry department of Texas A. & M. College, is having plenty of cool fresh water to drink.

Water is usually plentiful on most farms but many flock owners fail, during the summer time, to provide their chickens this very important item. Parnell isn't guessing about failure because he annually observes management practices used by many flock owners in Texas. Water is generally a pretty cheap item in the form but when it is not provided in sufficient quantities, chickens just don't do well, says Parnell.

He urges every poultryman to take another look at the poultry house equipment. Spot the things that are wrong. Study the flock

122 Counties Growing Castor Beans On 16,800 Acres Under CCC Program

COLLEGE STATION — Most young Texans will not be interested in a report which has just been compiled covering castorbean plantings in the state. Up to June 25, 75,148 acres had been planted in 122 counties under the Commodity Credit Corporation program. In addition, the Baker Castor Oil Company has some 16,800 acres under contract in north and northwest Texas.

According to W. I. Ross, assistant agronomist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, castorbean production is new to a majority of the counties. The beans, says Ross, have been planted on many types of soils from light sands to creek bottoms and in many instances on land too low in fertility to make a fair return on any kind of crop. Ross adds that producers no doubt will be disappointed when the returns from the beans have been planted on the low fertility soils. He says 11,884 acres are under irrigation and the remaining 63,263 acres under the CCC Program are on non irrigated lands.

He says on dry land acreage and where the Conner variety has been planted, the plants should be spaced from 24 to 30 inches in the drill. The Baker variety on irrigated land should be spaced not less than 12 inches apart in the drill. If the plants are left too thick in the drill, the specialist says the plants will be small and the size of the seed spikes reduced.

He offers this word of advice to producers, especially, in the counties where harvesting will soon be starting. Timing and correct harvesting methods are very important. Spikes should not be cut from the plant because the stems contain excess moisture and this may cause the beans to mold. Do not harvest the beans, he says until they have turned brown and white lengthwise cracks appear in the capsule wall. Timing the beginning of harvest is especially important with the first or summer spikes. When hand harvesting the beans, strip the capsules from the spike and protect the bands by wearing leather gloves, advises Ross. Growers are warned not to begin harvesting operations too soon and to keep foreign matter out of the beans at harvest

Teachers To Ask For Salary Hike At Next Session

AUSTIN—A minimum beginning salary of $3,000 instead of the present $2,403 for public school teachers will be asked of the next legislature by the Texas State Teachers Association.

"Texas must annually have nearly 5,000 new teachers either as replacements or to take care of the rapidly increasing enrollment," Charles H. Tennyson, executive secretary of the association, said in making the announcement here today.

"The profession must be made more attractive and Texas faces a critical situation in its schools unless that can be accomplished, Tennyson declared.

The executive secretary of the 52,000 member teacher group which was a big factor in the school system revision campaign three years ago, also recently pointed out that more of the state tax dollar must be allocated to public schools for additional classrooms if children are to continue to get a good education.

"Despite the increase in the pay for teachers granted by the voters and legislature three years ago, the profession is not attractive to young people because the pay is less than the national average for all workers," Tennyson pointed out.

Tennyson presented figures to show that pay of teachers since World War II has not kept pace with that of other employed persons.

In 1939 teachers' salaries averaged $1,420 and that of all employed persons, including laborers, was $1,269. Teachers were 12 percent above the average.

But this year Texas public school professional personnel averages $3,185 and all employed people in the country $3,390. Thus the Texas group is 6 percent under the national average for workers and the classroom teachers are 12 percent below the national group.

Since 1939, Tennyson said the average person has had an increase of 167 percent in his pay, while the Texas teachers have had a 124 percent hike. If teachers' salaries had increased as much as others, the present average would be up by $615.

That is approximately what the TSTA will ask as a minimum salary increase.

Tennyson spotlighted the teach-will buy only as much as $2.00 bought in 1935-39. Thus, the teacher has only 40 percent in purchasing power in 1959 dollars.

"We must make it more attractive for young people to enter the teaching profession. It takes four years of college for them to qualify and colleges are not turning out 3,500 teachers who need to be placed those who retire, abandon the profession each year along the 1,000 or more will need yearly to take care of the some 37,500 increase in enrollment forecast annually for 1959-60.

"We should at least pay the profession on the basis of pay with the average employed person in the United States including laborers."

Author Addresses Texas Bar

Erle Stanley Gardner, lawyer turned writer, addressed the members of the famous "Court of Last Resort" at the annual convention of the Bar of Texas, held in Houston July 2-5. Bar president, E. Burney announced arrangements for the annual banquet on the 4th. Gardner's address was the first of a series of talks at the convention. Gardner, author of the "Court of Last Resort" series, is a well-known figure in the legal profession. He has written over 70 books and has a large following. Gardner's frequent crusade on behalf of the underdog led to the creation of Argosy magazine's "Court of Last Resort." Noticing that the author often championed the cause of innocent but destitute men wrongfully convicted of serious crimes, the publishers offered to donate space to acquaint their readers with the facts about such cases, insisting that the real court of last resort is the public. They hired investigators and enlisted the aid of Snyder, Schindler and Gregory, who donate their skills to appraise each appeal reaching the panel.

With a supply of energy characterized by one biographer as equivalent to that of a bursting dam, and a technical skill second to none, Gardner appears to be hands down champion of all authors in total number of volumes sold. His 70 books had reached the amazing sales record of more than 56,000,000 copies in the United States and Canada alone according to a survey made about a year ago. Translated into various foreign languages, a multitude of additional copies have been sold in other countries.

Gardner's frequent crusade on behalf of the underdog led to the creation of Argosy magazine's now well-known program, the "Court of Last Resort." Noticing that the author often championed

Deadline for Adjusting Ceiling Prices for Cafes Extended by OPS

The Office of Price Stabilization has extended until August 1 the deadline for restaurants and other eating and drinking establishments to adjust their ceiling prices if they can qualify for adjustments. Announcement of the action, along with other price regulation changes, was made this week by the OPS office.

Restaurants had been given until June 1 to make the adjustment (CPR 134) which became effective early in April, froze at the level prevailing during the week of February 3 to 9, 1952, but permitted adjustments by operators who were charging prices during that week lower than were permitted under the old restaurant regulation.

and post new ceiling prices. The deadline was extended, however, because many operators were unable to determine their eligibility for an adjustment by the June 1 date and many applications which had been filed with OPS had not been processed in time. Other recent action included authorization for manufacturers of ready-mixed concrete in increases ceiling prices by four cents. The agency also announced that exemption from price control has been ordered for ice. The exemption of ice became effective June 27. The agency said that selling prices for ice have been relatively stable for the last 20 years, that declining demand and availability of mechanical refrigeration operate to prevent price advance above ceiling levels, and that the burden on the industry and the agency of continuing controls would far out-weigh the advantage to price stabilization. There are 378 large waterfalls in Brazil.

Billie W. Fowler Pulls 'Hank Snow' On Korean Mountain-Climbing Tour

Airman second class Billie W. Fowler writes from Korea about a humorous experience while mountain climbing near Taegu, scene of some of the bitterest battles of the earliest stages of the war there.

Fowler, who is stationed with the Air and Airways Communications System, is slated to come home soon. Excerpts from his letters are reprinted below:

"Dear Friends: I will tell you a tale of my mountain climbing exploits.

"Today one of my buddies and I went out to a mountain about five miles from town (Taegu). We didn't ride, just pulled on a pair of 'clod-hoppers' and hit the road. We worked our way up the mountain, rifles on our shoulder, and finally found a rock made to order for our purpose.

"All we were interested in was blowing off a few rounds of ammo, but we ended up with ants in our pants and a friendly argument with a snake.

"Here's how it happened: We sat on the big rock and began shooting. Getting up a few minutes later to re-load, I felt something crawling up my leg. Both of us were covered with big black ants. So we pulled a fast strip while several nearby G.I.'s looked on and laughed. By that time, we were beginning to get angry—so we pulled a 'Hank Snow.'

"About half way down the mountain, my buddy stepped on a fiendish-looking bright green snake. We stopped in our tracks and began running and stumbling down the hill once more.

"Upon reaching our area, we had a soft drink, and settled down to safer pastime of reading. I'll bet one thing—we won't be taking any more mountain-climbing tours just to shoot a gun."

"Respectfully yours,

$200,000,000 Lost by Auto Underwriters During Five Year Period, 1946-1951

COLUMBIA, S.C.—Stock insurance companies alone suffered net underwriting losses of more than $200,000,000 on their automobile liability insurance business from 1946 through 1951, Thomas O. Carlson, actuary of the National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters, declared recently.

Addressing a meeting of the South Carolina Association of Insurance Agents, the National Bureau actuary said that the net underwriting losses suffered by the stock companies on automobile liability coverages for the single year 1951 are estimated at more than $100,000,000, making that year the most adverse one ever experienced for automobile liability insurance by the stock companies.

The basic reason for the present situation of a continuously increasing uptrend in automobile liability loss costs, Mr. Carlson pointed out, lies in the apathy of the people of this country toward the entire problem of automobile accident costs and the more underlying problem of the automobile as an instrument of death, bodily injury and property destruction.

Mrs. Blanche Palmer of Santa Ana, Calif., visited Mrs. Anna Dickson and other friends here last week. Mrs. Palmer was before her marriage Miss Blanche Temple, daughter of a physician here in the early days.

OPS Order Would Allow Horsemeat To Be Added To Certain Products

By TED GOULDY
Fort Worth—Horse meat has been very much in the news in the past couple of years as various shady characters made the headlines by palming off various cuts from Ol' Dobbin as beef steak, sirloins and hamburger.

The latest ripple is the caustic comment coming from the American Meat Institute concerning Amendment 1, CPR 129, the OPS May 14th release pertaining to changes in ceiling prices for horse meat products.

The AMI says that OPS authorization permitting addition to sausage of horse meat is an open invitation to crooks and chiselers who have already been selling horse meat as beef. "It is possible, by analysis, to determine whether raw meat is horse meat, but if this should be mixed with beef in a cooked meat product, it would be impossible to detect the substitution. For their own protection, we urge consumers to insist on getting sausage from makers of known integrity," the AMI statement says.

Texas authorities have already pointed out that it is a violation of the law to add horse meat to products from human consumption in this State, but admittedly there is the chance.

Oh, well, after all, it may boost the price of Ol' Dobbin! But on the other hand, we can't help wondering what Big Brain wrote that regulation?

PETROLEUM COFFEE BAGS
Now the petroleum industry has come to the aid of the coffee-drinker. The newest thing is individual coffee bags, packaged in saran film—a petroleum-derived plastic. The coffee bags are similar to tea bags, and are said to eliminate waste and to assure that each cup is fresh and brewed to individual taste.

State Health Department Outlines Little Plan Against Rampaging Polio

STIN. A long-range battle against rampaging polio was Wednesday by the State Department of Health.

Health Officer Geo. W. recommended these eight points of action in combating the disease which this year is striking in Texas more than at any other part of the nation:

1. Provide a properly operated sewerage system, and get rid of all surface toilets. Dr. Cox believes surface toilets constitute one of the major health hazards facing Texas.
2. Provide a source of pure water.
3. Protect food supplies in wholesale business houses, retail shops and in private homes.
4. Make regular inspections of all premises to see that no possibility exists for fly breeding. If you have flies, somebody is maintaining a breeding spot.
5. Garbage should be placed in fly tight garbage cans until time of disposal. Tubs, boxes, lidless garbage cans, etc., are of no value.
6. He urged each home owner to assume responsibility for keeping his property clean inside and out. This will help to protect you and your neighbor. More people have been struck down by polio this year than ever before.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kestig

You often hear that spinning is a foolproof method of casting. Nevertheless, as many fisherman will tell you, you can get into trouble with a spinning outfit. Most such troubles, according to Joe Bates, one of this country's first spinning enthusiasts, have to do with the selection and handling of spinning lines.

First, be sure that the line is put on the reel spool properly. Make a slip noose in the end of the line; slip it over the reel spool and pull it tight. Wind the line directly on the reel by turning the reel handle, taking it off the unrolling spool. Then pay out all the line and reel it in again, allowing it to slide through the forefinger and thumb of the right hand. This will remove the twist and give proper tension.

RECOMMENDED BY THE NATIONAL FOUNDATION FOR INFANTILE PARALYSIS:

Seven-year-old Karen Blecha enacts 1952 polio precautions recommended by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. When polio is around, the National Foundation cautions parents to watch for these signs: headache, fever, sore throat, upset stomach, tenderness and stiffness of neck and back. A person showing such symptoms should be put to bed at once, away from others. Then, call your doctor and follow his advice. If polio is diagnosed, call your local chapter of the March of Dimes for advice and assistance, including needed financial help.

the spool to the lip—and to the lip only. A spool filled too full often causes snarls, and at the very least, makes the line difficult to handle. A spool filled not full enough shortens the distance of the cast.

Use as light a line as possible. Lighter lines mean longer casts and they are less noticeable to fish. Lines in the three or four pound strength range are strong enough for all normal inland fishing, the way the lure is tied on is very important too. Of the several good strong knots suitable, my preference is the half barrel knot using at least six turns around the line. If the lure happens to have a turned-down eye the turtle knot is best.

The line can be controlled with the sidecast more easily than the overhead cast. This sidecast is done with an accelerated upswing and is the most valuable cast to learn in spinning. But the greatest secret in casting is finger-tip control. The line is picked up on the tip of the forefinger rather

LONE STAR Agriculture

Released by The Texas Department of Agriculture

CROP SPRAYING

Despite the progress made in modern agricultural methods each year, the farmer is often faced with problems as old as recorded history.

One major obstacle which with Texas farmer will have to contend with this season can be traced as far back as Biblical times—the plague of insects. While insect infestations are not expected to actually reach plague proportions in Texas as they have in other parts of the world in 1952, the problem is still a serious one.

Recent inspections reveal that cotton insects, including the persistent and destructive Pink Bollworm, are more strongly entrenched in Texas fields than at any time in the past 40 years. Comparison records of the Pink Bollworm, alone show that for every one of the worms found in South Texas cotton last year, there are ninety (90) this year. The build up of other harmful insects is almost equally as heavy. As a result, the farmer can expect a higher ratio of crop damage in addition to a greater expenditure on insecticides.

It will be to the Texas farmer's advantage to follow an organized method of spraying crops this season for the best insect control. The best plan will be to get in touch with county agents and study the seven-step spraying program as set up by the Texas Extension Service.

Much of the effectiveness of spraying or dusting is nullified by poor timing. Spraying on a "guess basis" often catches harmful insects in the pupa stage when insecticides and pesticides have little or no effect. It may also do away with some of the useful type insects.

The seven-step program varies over the state but each area has a definite plan set up according to local climate and insect conditions. This type of spraying assures the farmer of getting the most benefit out of money spent for insect control.

The most effective measure yet found against the Pink Bollworm is strict compliance with planting and plow-up deadlines. These measures are already in effect in areas where the heaviest infestation exists. But the extremely large build-up this season is due partly to the mild winter which failed to kill off the usual number of last year's generation.

The Pink Bollworm can't stand "wet feet" but it does carry over well in dry and mild weather. The farmer will have to practice every control measure possible this year to keep down the present insect "plague."

swing it three ways. In other words, Governor Warren holds the destiny of three men in his hands. He can nominate Ike, Taft, or block both of them and a dark horse take the top place.

My prediction is that Ike will be nominated on the third ballot.

All of the Ike delegation of 38 men won seats in the convention last night by a vote of the entire body. The case having been appealed from the credentials committee to the convention body. The high-handed methods of Taft's leaders in Texas and several other states in taking over control of the state conventions where decided majorities were for Ike will be the deciding factor in defeating Taft.

American people, though lax in their citizenship duties, will not stand for being taken on a ride willy-nilly. And that is what Taft forces tried to do in Texas.

Millions of people of America and other countries have been listening in by radio and TV to the hot air being expended by the Republicans in the Chicago meet this week. It made a lot of people here in the Panhandle section wish for TV facilities. Amarillo promises to install a station sometime in the next few months. But that will be too late for our participation in both the political conventions in Chicago this month.

This is clean-up day in Memphis. I wonder how many citizens are participating in this important matter!

Parts of the county had nice showers first of the week, and the rest did without. However, all of us enjoyed the break in the heat wave. Three nights have been fine for sleeping—first in a month

Arched Roof Buildings

SOMETIMES a farmer needs a small building "right away"—a brooder house, hog house, machine shed, milk house or some other shelter.

That's where the sectionally-built structure helps out, as it need only be bolted together. In many parts of the United States, lumber dealers have started making such buildings because they can in that way better serve their farmer customers.

Buildings like the arched roof one illustrated are covered with Masonite tempered hardboard panels, which farmers have found to be especially weather and wear-proof for numerous installations. Farm experts point out several advantages to this design:

1. There is more floor space, due to absence of posts.
2. The building is available in various lengths and widths.
3. It may be moved from one location to another without being damaged, because the hardboard panels make it rigid.
4. High winds and storms do not affect it, since the arched roof has no place for the gale to "take hold."
5. There is ample...

McDaniel Implement Co. Offers Home and Auto Air-Conditioning

It's an old saying that everybody talks about the weather, but no one ever does anything about it. However that's not the case at McDaniel Implement Company which is offering air-conditioning service to make these long hot summer days more-endurable.

Owned and managed by the McDaniel brothers, J. J. and Ira, the firm installs refrigerated air-conditioning units in homes and also in automobiles. The company is the local dealer for Carrier units for rooms and Refrigerair units for cars. Both air-conditioners are of the "refrigerated air" type. McDaniel Implement Company handles installation for both units.

The room air-conditioner is a compact unit that fits in the window. The Refrigerair cooling unit is installed in the trunk of a car with the compressor-type refrigerator attached to the motor. The fingertip controls are on the dash, and the air vents fit on the package tray of the rear seat.

The McDaniel's say the car unit is easily installed and excellent for controlling temperature inside the car.

"You can drive with the windows closed. The air-conditioner keeps out dust, heat and parched summer air, and the cost is nominal," they said.

The two brothers bought out the International-Harvester dealership in October of 1945. In 1950 they moved to the attractively designed building on Highway 287. They became Chrysler and Plymouth dealers last Jan. 1.

Harvester farm equipment and trucks. They also handle International-Harvester refrigerators and Home Freezers. In the repair department skilled factory-trained mechanics handle almost any kind of repair problem. The firm carries a full line of parts and accessories.

In addition to International farm equipment, McDaniel Implement also carries the Graham-Hoeme chisel plow.

Before getting into the implement business, J. J. McDaniel was general manager of the Farmers Union gins in this county. He was born March 20, 1908, in Guyton, Okla., but has lived in Hall County since 1916. He finished high school at Plaska in 1926. From

Petry is president of Dimmit County Bar Association, a director of the Texas Good Roads Association, a member of the Texas Highway Commission and a Steward of the Carrizo Springs Methodist Church.

The candidate states that he is in favor of legislation to return the state of Texas to a sound financial and water conservation, an efficient administration, an adequate national defense, and a sound policy which would safeguard the nation from insidious forces within.

Petry also favors strong and effective measures against Communism, the reduction of foreign expenditures, and the early balancing of the federal budget. By accomplishing the former, he believes, the latter will be accomplished.

Opposed to additional taxation, this candidate for the important state and federal post states that he favors the reduction of taxes just as quickly as the establishment of national security permits.

It is the belief of the candidate that the man who occupies a position of public trust, either elected or appointed, should be a man of good moral character, one who enjoys the trust and confidence of the people he is to serve.

His experience as a lawyer and his contacts with men of universal perspective, have brought him the realization, he says, that the nation is in need of legislation that will stamp out organized crime.

Petry pledges himself to work with all other Congressmen from Texas on matters of interest to citizens of the state and to the best interests of the nation.

A life-long resident of Carrizo Springs, Petry is a graduate of Westmoreland College, San Antonio, and the University of Texas Law School, Austin.

He is married to the former

JOHN LEMMON, 12, RECEIVES MAIL FROM PRESIDENT AND TWO QUEENS

John Lemmon, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Lemmon, is becoming quite a "foreign correspondent." Three months ago he received a letter from the new Queen of England thanking him for his letter of consolation after the death of her father, King George VI.

Later he wrote Queen Elizabeth again, this time requesting her autograph. He also wrote to president Truman, Queen Juliana of The Netherlands, Generalissimo Francisco Franco of Spain and King Bedouin of Belgium.

Within the past few weeks he has received replies from three of his "pen pals." From Buckingham Palace in London came a missive engraved with the official crest of the Royal family. The Queen, through her Lady-in-Waiting thanked John for his letter, but said that it "is not possible to accede to . . . the request for an autograph."

Her Majesty the Queen of The Netherlands wrote, through her private secretary,—"one Baron van Heeckeren van Molecaten, thanking the young Memphian for his "very kind letter." The letter was dated, "Soestdijk, June 5th."

Written on the official stationery of the White House was a letter from President Truman's secretary which said: My Dear John: The President has received your letter and wants you to know that your friendliness in writing is appreciated. He asks me to send you his very best wishes.

King Bedouin and Gen. Franco haven't gotten around to writing yet, or at least, no letters have been received from them. However, John is keeping a close watch on each new batch of mail.

JAMES E. (Jimmy) FAULKNER

Jimmy Faulkner Announces for Representative

The following political announcement has been made by James E. "Jimmy" Faulkner, Jr. of Clarendon, a candidate for State Representative from the 88th District which comprises Childress, Donley, Hall and Motley Counties.

Mr. Faulkner said: My name is James Edward Faulkner, Jr. Most of my friends call me "Jimmy". I am asking you, the people of this 88th Representative District which is comprised of Childress, Donley, Hall, and Motley Counties, to let me be "your hired hand" in the State Legislature in Austin for the next term. I am asking that you hire me because I believe I can make you a hand and get the job done as you want it done.

"I have worked for other people most of my life, doing the jobs that they had to do as they wanted them done. I have been in business for a time and had other people working for me. Throughout my entire life I have been associated with the farmer, the wage earner, the rancher, and the small business man. I have known them through the dark days of the thirties and through the lush times of the war years. I know, appreciate, and understand their problems. I fully believe that I am capable of acting for the common good of the people of this district as your representative in Austin."

"To me the job of State Representative is what the name implies—to represent the people in matters pertaining to their state government. I have no personal legislative program that I intend to push through the legislature and I do not intend to change a bunch of things because they do not suit me, personally. After all this is your job, you give the orders as to what you want done and it is the sacred duty of your State Representative to carry out your orders and not to carry on a personal legislative program. I make only one promise and that is this: Let me be your 'hired hand' in Austin during the next term of the Legislature and tell me what you want done, and I will do my utmost to carry out your orders as I have always done in every job I have ever had, because I will be representing you."

Faulkner stated that he moved to Turkey with his parents when he was eight years old and lived there till he entered the army in March of 1942. After serving for a short time, (with the 90th Division) he received a disability discharge. He then went to Amarillo where he was employed by the Pantex Ordnance Plant, (in the Timekeeping and General Auditing Departments), till the end of the war. After the war he was employed by the Texas Employment Commission till June 15, 1951 when he became Manager of the Chamber of Commerce at Clarendon, which position he still holds.

He has been active in civic and service organization work for a number of years. He has been especially active in the American Legion, serving on post, district, state, and national committees. He is a church member and a member of the Clarendon Lions Club.

Faulkner will spend the next fifteen days contacting the people of this four county district; meeting and talking with them. "There will be a number of the more than ten thousand people in this district that I will not be able to meet, but I want them to remember me when they go to the polls and to please consider this as a personal solicitation for their vote if I should fail to meet them," Faulkner concluded.

Finders Not Always Keepers Under Laws on Lost Property

The old rhyme, "Finders keepers—losers weepers," is not always strictly accurate under the law. It is sometimes difficult to define the rights of a finder in court, and much confusion on the subject exists in the mind of the public generally. Confidence men have many times taken advantage of such confusion to "fast talk" unwary individuals out of large sums of money.

There are rather some fine distinctions and exceptions to the "finders keepers" maxim that have plagued the courts—and finders—for generations. In the first place, the finder is not entitled to keep property unless the original owner is not known and cannot be located. Neither may he keep it unless the object is truly "lost," and not merely "misplaced."

In general, property is legally "lost" when parted with involuntarily—through accident, neglect, forgetfulness and any other unintentional circumstances. Property is not lost in the legal sense when voluntarily left by the owner, intending to pick it up later—even though he fails to do so. Such property is "misplaced."

Thus, if one loses a watch on the street by having the clasp break, not knowing where it was when it was dropped, it is legally "lost." The same is true of a fountain pen falling through a hole in one's pocket unobserved. In such cases, the finder owns what he has found against all but the true owner.

But when articles are left on a train or bus, in a public hotel room, or even when dropped on a shop floor, under circumstances indicating that the true owner will later return to claim them, such items are not considered lost. The proper custodian to hold them for the owners return would be the proprietor or other person in charge. Remaining unclaimed, the property sometimes goes to this custodian, sometimes to the finder. The distinction here appears to be whether the place it is found is private or semi-private, or a place used by the general public.

Mrs. Paul Brewer and daughter, Glenda, R. L. Brewer and Mrs. L. A. Dickey of Wellington visited here Saturday with Mrs. Roy McClure and Mrs. Herschel Combs and other relatives. Mr. and Mrs. McClure accompanied them to Wellington where they spent the week end.

Momentous Issue Is Foreign, Not Domestic

Not many voters in Dallas or over Texas have stopped to figure it out. But what the winner in this year's race for the presidency thinks—and does—about the rest of the world is the single most important issue before the American people.

That is so because no other question in the long run hits home so close or digs deeper into our pocketbooks.

For defense alone, the House last week agreed upon an appropriation of $46,500,000,000. This is more money than most of us can even imagine—until we start paying for it in income taxes, sales taxes and all the other ways a frantic government is forced to scramble for the money needed to foot the bill.

Given the world today as we find it, there is no other choice. Staggering as the sum is, it adds up to only the minimum of caution. Yet it is more than the total national income of the American people only twenty years ago. It is more than the entire war debt run up in the First World War. It is eighty times what we spent for National Government support in 1900.

There can be no relief from this revolutionary drain upon our pocketbooks until world peace is finally organized. Then, and only then, can we begin to reduce the sums needed for the Army, the Navy, the Air Force and the Marine Corps. We are in a frightful and frightening arms race with the outlaw nations headed by Moscow, and we would be fools to think of parking our guns while these desperados are on the loose.

General Eisenhower may not have the answer. Senator Taft may not have any better solution. A Stevenson, a Russell or a Kefauver might be equally impotent to get some workable world order. But the foreign policy ideas and plans of these gentlemen are of the utmost concern to the mothers and fathers of this land. That is why it is more important that you study their views on world relations than that you rest content on knowing where they stand on farm subsidies, deep freezes and other purely "domestic" issues.

Press Paragraphs—

QUOTING OUR NEIGHBORS

Adlai Stevenson
National politics is getting warm indeed for Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois.

Stevenson, you will recall, is one of the most prominent names mentioned in Democratic circles as the best hope for welding the party and for carrying it through to victory in the fall elections.

To date, the Illinois chief executive has not yielded to pressure put on him by friends in politics. For the record, he is still running for one office and one office only—the gubernatorial spot in Illinois.

His friends—who greatly admire his work in Illinois where he has gained the reputation as being one of the most efficient governors in a long, long time—hope that he can be persuaded to accept a draft from the Democrats.

The prominent feeling is that he will accept such a draft if offered to him.

At the present time, the Democratic party has no one who can pull things alone at convention time. Certainly not Kefauver, who hasn't gotten the full blessing of the northern party bosses.

Russell, is a capable man well-liked by all his colleagues, but he too, lacks the full sanction of the party powers. Right or wrong, he is branded as "sectional."

Averill (forget the W) Harriman has come out hook, line and sinker for the "Fair Deal" program. This will not appeal to many of the Democrats who feel Harry S. Truman has gone overboard.

Definitely, something a little right of Harry's left will be needed—and be found—for the Democratic nomination at their July convention.

A good appealing Democrat will give any Republican—Eisenhower included—a stiff fight because of the labor and farm vote that the Democrats should carry.

A Republican party headed by Robert A. Taft will be buried under an avalanche of votes with a middle-of-the-roader like Stevenson Kefauver and possibly Russell.

Many feel that Harry Truman, in spite of himself, would take the convention nod. If not, he no doubt would have a large say in who the Democrats nominate at Chicago.

Truman likes Stevenson. Stevenson has a good record. He appeals to the east and midwest and the heavy labor vote these areas carry.

The Democrats could do worse.—Hereford Brand

REPORT FROM WASHINGTON

Congressman, 18th District
By Walter Rogers

CLOSING DAYS OF THE SENATE: The drive for adjournment under full steam during the week in June and the first days of July. This meant sessions in both committees and in all committees, especially true in the conferees between the committees between the House and Senate. When a matter passes both houses, the legislation is submitted to a conference committee between the House and Senate to differences between the House and Senate. Since the House and Senate differed on most of the bills this year, the conferees had some tough and long battles.

Bill for veterans of the World War II hit this snag on one of the major issues and several other bills. The explosive issue was the benefits should be paid to the veteran and his family. He was not permitted to make his visitors and attend to his business and obtain the benefits. A select committee of the House known as the "War II Veterans" committee made a detailed study of the program created by the World War II GI home loan under the Korean bill, merely because he had used his entitlements under the World War II bill. Many of these boys have started in civilian life and had a small equity in their homes. When they were called back in, they had to sell those homes and use the equity to pay up their bills and take care of their families. Had we failed to get this amendment, a great injustice would have been done these boys who have been subjected to double service.

PUBLIC HOUSING: You will remember that the House of Representatives reduced the number of public housing units authorized in the original committee bill from 50,000 to 5,000. This was contained in an appropriation bill. When this bill reached the Senate, the number of public housing units was increased to 45,000. Since there was disagreement a conference committee went into the matter and finally agreed on 35,000 units. When this bill came back to the House for approval, a motion was made to send it back to the committee for further reduction in the housing units. However, as I have pointed out in previous letters, the coalition that was able to reduce the original number from 50,000 to 5,000 failed to coalesce and the result was that the bloc of Southern Democrats were left holding the bag, and the House approved the 35,000 units.

It was just another case of what happened on the controls bill. The House had done away with many of the controls on goods not in short supply. However, when the matter got to the conferees committee, most of these controls were put back on for the ten months period, and the matter came back to the House and was accepted by the House simply because of changed votes.

OTHER MATTERS BEFORE ADJOURNMENT: Almost every member has some bill that he wants to pass before adjournment. There is not supposed to be a filibuster in the House because of limited debate. However, when an attempt is made to bring a controversial bill to the floor, the opposition can easily start delaying tactics by many parliamentary members. One of these is to force quorum calls at every opportunity. It takes about 40 minutes to call the roll of the House. Yesterday the roll was called eleven times. So, you can see what filibustering in the House means.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Dennis spent the 4th of July in Floydada. Mrs. J. H. McManus of Sulphur Springs who has been visiting here accompanied them to Floydada where she remained for a visit.

Massey Writes of Voyage to Europe And Life in Paris

Roy Alvin Massey, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Massey of Memphis, left about a month ago for study in France and travel on the Continent. He is taking art, drama and language courses at Baylor in Paris, an extension of the Waco University where Massey is a junior.

Reprinted below are excerpts from some of his letters home: June 10—Day of Departure New York

Leaving for boat. Am having time of my life. I've spent the two most wonderful days of my life here in New York Aboard S. S. Waterman June 14, Dear Folks, Well, here I am in the middle of the Atlantic. It is a very beautiful day. I never dreamed the ocean could be so blue and clear. You've never seen a more beautiful body of water. It looks just like Mother Nature poured an immense bottle of water in it.

The boat is wonderful. The crew is all Dutch. Some of the stewards are American and some French, the rest are Dutch. The food is also wonderful.

There are about 800 people on the boat besides the officers, sailors, stewards, etc. About 200 of them are adults, the rest (600) are students like us, going over for various reasons. We ate breakfast at 8:30; hot chocolate is served at 10; lunch at 1:30; tea at 4; and dinner at 7:30.

Monday night we are having "Texas Night" on the ship. There are so many of us from Texas that we decided to have a special night.

June 16, We are only two days from Europe—six days out of New York. We should enter the English Channel tomorrow night or Wednesday morning. We will disembark Wednesday morning and go by train from Le Havre to Paris. The Captain's farewell dinner is tonight. They say it will be quite a feast.

You've always heard how clean the Dutch are. They are not only clean, they are spotless! I've never seen people work so hard to keep everything clean in my life. They are always washing or painting something. They don't even paint over the dirt; they wash it off and then put a fresh coat of paint on it. The deck hands who work in the kitchen and scrub the deck all wear wooden shoes.

Wed., June 18 We are in the English Channel. We saw the shores of England last night. This morning, we can see France. Will be into Le Havre about 3 p.m. and will eat dinner in Paris tonight.

June 19, Arrived in Paris last night, had a wonderful dinner, and went to bed. We did see a lot of the city though. It's very old and very beautiful.

Mon., June 23 I am enjoying myself immensely. Paris is very nice.

Some things are very odd. The hotels close at 10 p.m. To get in after that you push a button, the door flies open and a bell rings until you close it. Then you push a button to turn on the stairway light and it stays on until you get upstairs and unlock your door, then it goes off. It is timed. Electricity is very high in France. The street lights are gas. They work just like a Coleman lantern.

I have been to see one play and one opera. Sunday, we are going to visit Fontainebleau. We spent the day at the Louvre where the King once lived, and which is a museum. All of the famous paintings and works of art from all over the world are there. I have been to Notre Dame Cathedral, the Eiffel Tower, the Arch of Triumph, the Sacre Coeur, and many other famous places. The Mitra (subway) is a very easy way to get around on. They have excellent maps for it.

June 25, It's now 2:30 and we are going some place to study Art History. We went to Notre Dame yesterday. We have class from 9-12 and 3-5. We paint in the morning and do the other things in the afternoon. I think I'll go to a movie tonight.

Sat., June 28 The food here is very good, a little cheaper than in the U.S. The clothes are expensive.

I have learned Paris fairly well. I can get on the Mitra and go anywhere I want to.

Cleaning and laundry are very high over here, twice as high as home and three times as high as Waco. Frenchmen never send things to the cleaners. They do them themselves with cleaning fluid, and if pants need pressing they put them between the mattress and sleep on them overnight. The French are very conservative people.

Tonight we are going to another play.
