Sea Delegations Take Part In Bridge Opening

McLEAN MEETS LONG TIGER WEN FRIDAY

A dream of many people for a quarter century became a reality Friday when dedication ceremonies marked the opening of a new bridge that links two transcontinental highways.

The bridge, which cost $193,000, is a concrete and steel span over the Prairie Dog Town Fork of Red River 25 miles west of Memphis and 25 miles south of Clarendon, on Highways 70 and 256. Highway 70 is a Canada-to-Mexico route and Highway 256 extends from Buffalo, N. Y. to the West Coast. At present, Briscoe County is paving from the Cap Rock toward the bridge, which when completed will leave a stretch of about six miles unpaved road—only part of the cross-continent highway not hard-surfaced. And from Turkey north toward the bridge is a stretch of some 15 miles unpaved, but which in time will be a continuation from Canada to Mexico.

More than 250 persons representing some twelve Panhandle towns attended the dedication ceremonies. Delegations were present from Perryton, Pampa, Hedley, Clarendon, Memphis, Lakeview, Brice, Turkey, Quitaque, Flomot and Matador. Clifford Farmer manager of the Memphis chamber of commerce, was master of ceremonies.

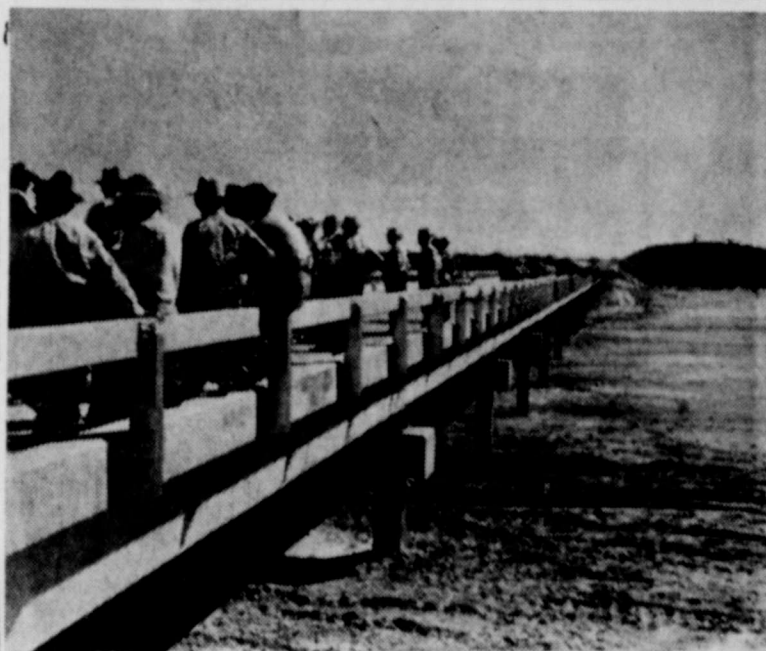

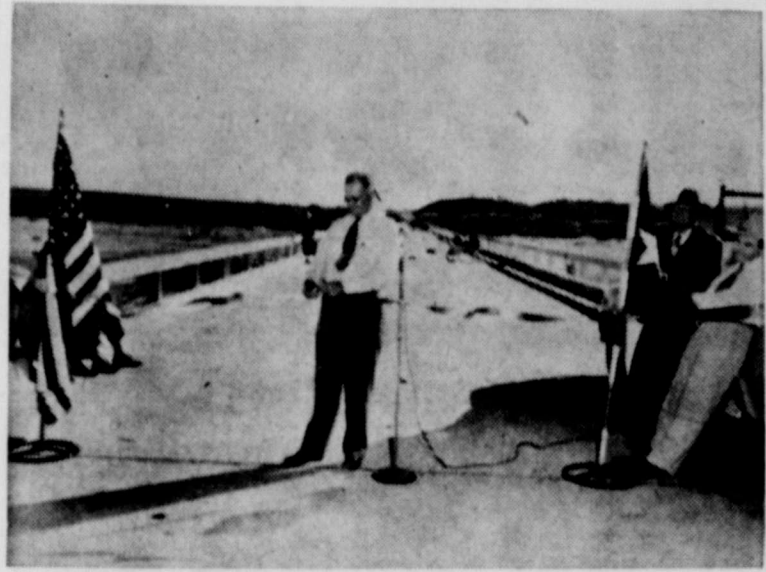

Speakers included Judge Lyons of Briscoe County; John Mayfield manager of the Perryton chamber of commerce; J. B. Maguire, county-judge-elect of Gray County; Albert Rattan, representing Motley County; Judge M. O. Goodpasture of Hall County; Jimmy Faulkner, manager of the Clarendon chamber of commerce, and Palmer Massey, Childress, district highway engineer for the Texas Highway Department.

Massey stated that the new bridge is 1232 feet long, 24 feet wide and constructed of reinforced concrete. Due to the steel shortage at time construction started, he said, the structure contains only a minimum amount of steel—only 400,000 pounds.

Judge Goodpasture reviewed the 30-year campaign by the southeastern Panhandle civic groups which resulted in construction of (Continued on page 5)

He referred the Tiger stalwarts who scales around 225 each, expecting a tough Childress said. Employment Official Says More Laborers Due Soon

Group To Organize Junior Chamber Of Commerce Tonight

The critical labor situation for harvesting the 1952 cotton crop in Hall County should be alleviated within the next 12 to 15 days. This is the opinion of G. Basoco, farm placement interviewer with the Texas Employment Commission, who is working out of the Childress office. Basoco has worked here for the past four years, and feels that he is familiar with local farmers' harvest problems.

Most of the migratory workers are still gathering cotton in the lower one-half of the state, Basoco said. Rains retarded the harvest in the southern and eastern part of Texas where normal yields are being made. In areas near Bryan, crews will be finishing within the next week or two, he said.

"Very little cotton is being produced this side of Waco," he stated. "There are isolated fields, but in general, crops are considered as failures. The areas in this section and the irrigated counties on the Plains will receive the transient workers next."

It was pointed out that hundreds of field hands are now finishing up their work in the northern and central states. These workers should be driving back south shortly. Thousands of these South Texans go up to these states in April where they harvest field and orchard crops.

"Several crews are arriving in Memphis," Basoco said. "They look around, then load up and drive on to some other section where yields are better. Prices and good yields are the primary attractions to migratory workers. Also, the kind of living quarters obtainable and such things as (Continued on page 5)

FIVE RELIGIOUS LEADERS RECEIVE NEW GIFT BIBLES

Five religious leaders of Memphis were honored Tuesday evening for outstanding church services, and were presented with Revised Standard Versions of the Bible. The gifts were handed out at a special thanksgiving and instruction meeting of local churches at the First Baptist Church in Memphis. The meeting was held in observance of the publication of the revised version of the Bible.

The gift Bibles were presented to Rev. Roy Shahan, pastor of the First Baptist Church; E. E. Roberts, for his churchmanship with the First Christian Church; Mrs. Robert Duncan, who is Sunday school superintendent of the Nazarene; Mrs. Hester Bownds, superintendent of the children's department of the Methodist Church; and O. V. Alexander, Sunday school superintendent of the Presbyterian Church.

Rev. Burr Morris, president of the Ministerial alliance, presided at the meeting with Rev. Don Guy, Rev. Roy Shahan, and Rev. Lloyd Hamilton also on the program. Rev. Shahan explained many things about the new translation of the Bible. The offering which was taken was divided with the Memphis Ministerial Alliance keeping 75 per cent and the remaining 25 per cent being sent to the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A., which furnished the gift Bibles.

There were observances of a similar nature all over the English speaking world, commemorating this new translation of the Bible, "the word of life in a living language."

State Takes Over New F-M Road To Harrell Chapel

Hall County's newest farm-to-market road, State Highway No. 1619, was turned over to the state last week by contractors.

Construction of the road project was started about five months ago, according to Bill Hamm, resident engineer of the State Highway Department, and is known as the Harrell Chapel road. The new paved highway is approximately seven miles in length. It intersects U. S. Highway 287 four miles south of Memphis, and ends in the Harrell Chapel community over in Childress County.

The paved highway was built by John F. Buckner, road building contractor with headquarters at Cleburne. Cost of the road was $75,451.73. Buckner was awarded the contract in March by submitting the lowest bid to the highway department.

General Services Held for Ward

Funeral services for J. H. Ward, held, were conducted at the Baptist Church of Memphis, Tuesday, Sept. 30 at 2 p.m. Rev. Roy Shahan, pastor, officiated.

Ward was in the Lakeview nursing home at the direction of Murphy-Altman Home.

Ward was one of the grandsons of John Ward, Robert Fred Crisman, Don Altman and N. W. Altman.

Ward died Sept. 29 in a hospital. He had been brought home from his home in Newlin, where he had been a resident of Hall County for 46 years.

Ward was born May 9, 1872 in Newlin County to John and Mary Ward. He was united in marriage to Miss Luella Green in Fannin County and came to Memphis in 1912. Mr. and Mrs. Ward had been married more than 30 years. He was a member of the Baptist Church, at Lone Grove, in Fannin County.

Ward's survivors include his wife, Mrs. W. A. and Mrs. N. W. Altman of Memphis; Mrs. J. E. Crisman of N. M.; 28 grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Varied Program By B. & F. W. Club Marks Special Occasion

A varied program of events has been featured during the week by the Memphis Business and Professional Women's Club in observance of National Business Women's Week.

This year the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs is celebrating its twenty-fifth anniversary of its organization in 1927. The organization numbers 160,000 members in 2700 clubs in every state and in Hawaii, Alaska and the District of Columbia.

The local club, organized six years ago, now has 31 members. Mrs. Nell Beeson is heading the organization as president this year while other officers include Mollie Carlos, vice-president; Margaret Dayevort, recording secretary; Lucille Burnett, corresponding secretary; Myrtle Gibson, treasurer; and Wilma Leslie, parliamentarian.

Breakfast Tuesday

Designating Tuesday as "Ramparts for Freedom Day," the club marked the occasion with a breakfast in the home of Mrs. Hank Hankins who was assisted by Mrs. W. E. Lesley, Mrs. N. W. Durham and Mrs. Billy Thompson as co-hostesses.

For the meal, members were seated at foursome tables laid with pastel cloths and centered with miniature dolls covered in small gold mums which represented the club members in the United States. Each plate was marked with a small flag of foreign countries in which there are B & F. W. Clubs.

Roselyn Williams gave the invocation.

Mrs. Thompson explained that the theme chosen for this year by President G. Irwin of the National Federation of B & F. W., "The Ramparts We Build," may sound like a big undertaking at first.

"But after all our nation was founded on an ideal," Mrs. Thompson continued. "It was, of course, a fact that the ramparts that were built then to uphold this Republic were the hard and solid virtues of the Ten Commandments and the Gospel.

"Honesty was the basis of virtue at that time, and the rights of property were respected in an age where the individual was honored as a child of God. The ramparts we must build are the ramparts of honesty and human dignity. We must strengthen them (Continued on Page 8)

School Fatality—160 Students Absent

A check of absenteeism in the Memphis schools for the past week shows an average of 160 students did not report for classes.

This list of absentees represents a loss of $19.00 per day to the school district. This loss is computed on basis of teacher salaries.

The report of absences by different schools is as follows:

The first place entries will compete in state-wide contests, the results of which will be announced within the near future.

Democrat Will Take Poll To Sample Sentiment Of Voters

How do you stand on the forthcoming election? Will you check the ballot printed below, and show your preference for either Adlai Stevenson or Ike Eisenhower?

With the general election only a little over four weeks away, almost everyone is guessing on the outcome. Therefore, The Memphis Democrat would like to get a fair sampling of how the sentiment is running in Hall County.

In cooperation with other weeklies and daily newspapers throughout the Panhandle, The Democrat this week begins the first of a four-week poll into political preference of local citizens.

Arrangements have been made with The Amarillo Daily News to serve as clearing house for information gathered by the different newspapers of this section. The poll is to be cumulative, with the totals secured each week being added to the tallies made previously.

Thus by the week end prior to the election, a fair idea as to how the election will go—not only here in Hall County but over the area—can be estimated.

All voters—whether they intend to cast their ballot for Stevenson or Eisenhower—are asked to fill out the "ballot" printed below. Bring or mail it to this newspaper. Totals received here will be forwarded to Amarillo where Hall County figures will be included in the area-wide canvass.

Beginning next week, we'll have not only a local story on sentiment around Memphis, but the area-wide report as well.

Vote only once in the poll. But, if any person should change his or her mind between now and election time, vote again and mark your ballot as "change" from an earlier report.

But—be sure and send in your sentiment by checking your preference on the form printed below!

Last Rites For John F. Murphy Conducted Friday

Funeral services for John Forest Murphy were conducted at 3:00 p.m. Friday, Sept. 26, in the Newlin Baptist Church with Minister Odell Purdy, pastor of the Turkey Church of Christ, officiating.

Interment was in the Newlin Cemetery under the direction of Murphy-Spicer Funeral Home.

Pall bearers were Altman Sims, Alva Anthony, Boots Butler, Jack Nelson, T. E. Anthony, and Ray Altman.

Murphy was born August 8, 1892 in Arkansas. His parents were George L. Murphy and Lavada Isom both of Mississippi. He moved to Hall County 45 years ago. He was a member of the

The completion of Red River bridge and Hall County's part in paving to the county line opens up a new vista of things to come. Briscoe County will soon have the Memphis-Silverton road paved with the exception of about six miles, which will be out in good shape as a dirt road. This will make it possible for travel for the people locally, and also for tourists wanting a scenic route that will make them gasp with awe along up the cap rock near the old Schott's Cap road. There is some hope of paving being done from the bridge south to Turkey, which will open the way for travel from Canada to Mexico. Back about the year 1925, T. R. Garrett, now deceased, advocated and wrote several articles for publication concerning a road from Memphis to Silverton, and described the beauty of the drive up Schott's Cap. We wondered then how long it would be before such a highway would be opened. If one had told us it would be more than a quarter of a century, we would have scoffed at the very idea. But, great things move slowly, and (Continued on Page 8)

Cyclone Takes 27-0 Victory From Lefors

Local Squadmen Make Touchdown During Each Quarter With Drives

Throwing a touchdown each quarter at the fighting Pirates from Lefors, the Memphis High School rolled up their third win of the season last Friday night on the local gridiron.

At the same time, the local eleven held their opponents scoreless, and ended the night's session with a tally of 27-0.

Noted early in the game was the stubborn defense which the Memphis line threw at the Lefors backs. This same opposition clicked for four quarters with the exception on only a few times when vicious blocks opened holes. The Pirates mixed aerials with their ground play, and encountered trouble throughout the game.

Most of the Memphis yardage was made on the ground. Several passes were attempted, but they failed to pay off with the Lefors six-man defense working perfectly in their own backfield.

Pegalties dogged the Cyclone in every quarter. Officials assessed a total of 130 aydras against Coach Childress' team during the game. They also fumbled three times and lost the ball on two of them.

First touchdown came in the first quarter when Harvey Kennedy galloped nine yards through left tackle, then kicked for the extra point. The Cyclone rolled up four first downs during this period, and held their opponents to an advancement of only two yards.

In the second quarter, Duane Miller drove over from the two for the second touchdown. Again Kennedy centered the uprights for the extra point.

Davey Corley scratched pay dirt in the third when he slipped

Showing unusual drive in the last quarter, the Cyclone again applied their running attack which ended with another touchdown. This tally was credited to Miller, who again rammmed over guard for two yards. The ball was brought downfield for a total of 80 yards for this final score. Kennedy's toe again annexed an extra point

Modernization Can Be Fun
ROOM modernization can be a pleasure. With the right materials and sound planning, one can completely transform a room at a cost that is surprisingly low.

Look at the neat, spacious wardrobe in the corner. There's another just like it at the other side of the room. Each was made of Presdwood. Incidentally, this is a room for twins—with two of everything including even a two-seater desk.

A convenient sun-seat, the bed shelf for a small radio and books, the twin beds and the paneled ceiling are other features of this modernized room. It's really amazing what a transformation can be made with good materials, ordinary carpentry tools and some time, energy and ingenuity!

The first few days were spent on giving the boys ideas of a satisfactory supervised farming program. Individual types of projects were discussed so as to give each boy an idea as to what he could have as a supervised farming program, which is one of the requirements to qualify in Voc. Agri. The projects can consist of either livestock or crop enterprises.

Memphis Students Eligible to Compete For Science Award

Next Spring, some lucky student at Memphis High School should be eligible to compete for one of three Science Scholarships sponsored by the Bausch & Lomb Optical Co., at the University of Rochester.

At graduation, the school presents to the outstanding science student the Bausch & Lomb Honorary Science Award. This Award is used in thousands of schools throughout America to stimulate the interest of students in the study of science and to recognize high scholastic accomplishment. Only winners of the Honorary Science Award can compete for the Bausch & Lomb Science Scholarships.

To be eligible to compete, the Science Award winner should be selected and notified early in the year. If interested, the student should immediately obtain application blanks from the Director of Admissions, Morey Hall, River Campus, University of Rochester, Rochester 3, New York. Applications must be filled out and returned on or before March 10.

During the following month, the University Scholarship Committee reviews all applications. Basing their judgment on the information contained, they select several of the most promising as finalists. These are notified of their selection late in March. Finalists are invited to Rochester for two days, with all expenses paid, for interviews and competitive tests.

Each of the three Scholarships has a cash value of $3,200.00. The University of Rochester also offers other Scholarships of equivalent value. Several of these Scholarships usually are awarded to runners-up in the Bausch & Lomb competition. Up to the present time, 38 students have been enrolled at the University under Bausch & Lomb Science Scholarships and 46 more have received other Scholarships, or a total of 84.

Any student who stands near the top of their class in science studies should check with the head of the Science Department early in 1953, to determine their eligibility for the Science Scholarship competition.

Farm Fires Cause Nation Heavy Loss

Farm fires last year took thousands of lives and destroyed $100,000,000 worth of property, much of it badly-needed food supplies, the National Board of Fire Underwriters reported today and warned that this was a "matter of growing concern" to the nation.

The swift advance of science and technology have brought many new hazards to the farm, it pointed out.

"The farm today," NBFU observed "has all the hazards of a machine shop, a factory, gasoline station and a paint shop, combined with buildings frequently holding tons of some of the most combustible substance known to man—hay and straw."

In warning farmers that the loss of food supplies, vital to the country's welfare and that of free nations abroad, are mostly the result of individual carelessness and faulty building construction, the NBFU called for year-round support of community efforts for greater fire safety everywhere.

In its Fire Prevention Week statement, NBFU pointed out that farm fires in general result in almost total loss. "Unlike buildings in urban areas where fire protection and water supplies are adequate, those in farm areas are often completely destroyed when they catch fire," it said.

In telling of the causes of farm fires, the NBFU said that increased use of gasoline-burning farm machinery and electrical equipment have created many new fire hazards and advised farmers to store large quantities of gasoline in underground tanks equipped with standard pumps.

"Smaller supplies should never be kept in barns, but should be stored in metal drums in well-ventilated sheds at least 400 feet from all buildings," it said.

"Electrical machinery," it added, "should be installed where there is no danger that hay and grain dust may be ignited by a spark and all machinery should be cleaned and oiled regularly to prevent overheating."

Other advice to farmers is to make certain that heavy electrical appliances have separate power circuits; that electric lights in barns are equipped with guards; that no person carelessly uses matches lighted cigarettes, pipes or cigars.

In conclusion, the NBFU noted that lightning is a leading menace to farms in many parts of the country, causing one out of every three farm fires. To offset this menace, it advised complete protection by proper installation of lightning rods.

Other causes of farm fires are defective chimneys and flues. These, the NBFU declared, should be cleaned each fall and inspected for cracks and other defects.

College Men Must Ask Draft Boards For Deferments

AUSTIN—State draft headquarters today warned college students who want educational deferments that they must ask for them in writing if they expect to get consideration.

Briz Gen. L. Wakefield, state Selective Service director, said that a student who intends to take the draft qualification test must ask his board for deferment.

"Application to take the test does not constitute an application for deferment," General Wakefield said. "The test score serves the purpose of added information for the draft board to consider."

General Wakefield also pointed out that it is not the responsibility of colleges and universities to ask for educational deferments. He emphasized that it is the responsibility of the individual student.

"The student who intends to ask his draft board for a deferment should sit down and write his board a letter when he definitely makes up his mind to request the deferment," the state director said.

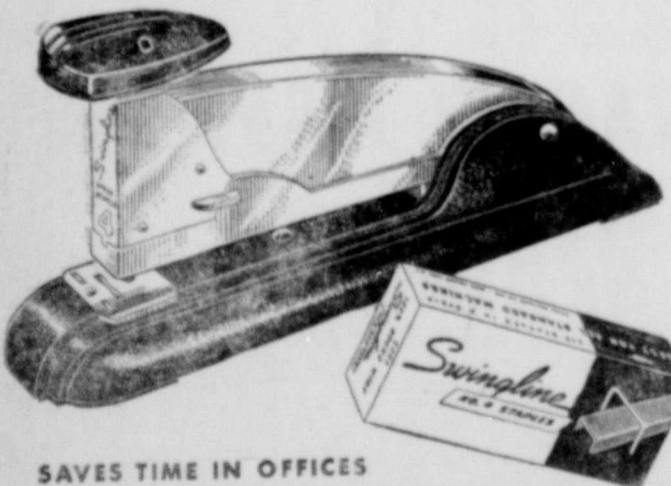

Colleges and universities are not required to send class standing of a student to a board unless the individual student requests his school to do it.

Survey Shows Severest Drouth In State To Exist At Present Time

FORT WORTH, Sept. 30.—The Soil Conservation Service regional office this week announced results of a four-state study of drouth conditions and reported that the drouth in Texas, from the standpoint of area involved, duration, effect on land cover, persistent high temperatures and in the scantiness of effective rainfall, exceeds all previous ones in severity.

Neighboring Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana, though hit hard in some areas by months of dry weather in the growing season, are generally in less critical condition. In dry areas of these states crop yields, especially corn, have been greatly reduced but most range and pasture lands are in condition to make fairly quick recovery.

Reports from 440 field offices—230 in Texas—were summarized by the regional SCS office in its study.

The survey showed that conditions in the Lubbock area have improved materially since April and considerable relief has come to the Marfa-Fort Davis country in southwestern Texas. The recent heavy rains in the Colorado River watershed may be the forerunner of a break in the drouth in that area. Still, it may only be a duplication of heavy storms at Alice in 1951 and near Dublin in 1952, both of which interrupted the going drouth only briefly.

East Texas has suffered from hot, dry summer but that area still has fair to good cover although it is generally dry. However, 81 counties in western and southern Texas and parts of 68 others are still suffering extreme drouth with respect to both cover and moisture. Twenty-two counties and parts of 40 others west of the blacklands have fair cover but are extremely dry.

The reports to Regional Director, Louis P. Merrill of SCS showed that in many of the drouth-ridden western, southwestern and southern portions of the state crops have been a complete failure. In ranching areas range cover, except where good management practices have given protection, has largely disappeared. Stockmen have sold or moved out large percentages of the normal live-stock populations of their counties.

Stock water conditions generally are not yet critical although ponds in some areas have dried up and water wells are failing. In some sections stockmen have been hauling water for their animals for months.

Plant cover and crop residue important in the practice of conservation farming and ranching, no longer exists in some drouth areas. In many sections work on most conservation practices is at a standstill, although in other areas farmers are taking a greater interest in water-conserving practices.

Planting of grasses and summer legumes was passed over during the summer as the land remained too dry. However, in many soil conservation districts farmers now have supplies of winter grain and legume seed ready for planting when moisture conditions are better.

Extent of damage from the drouth in Texas range areas cannot be measured immediately, Merrill pointed out. Forage losses can be determined only after enough rainfall has occurred to bring surviving plants back into growing condition. Recent rains in a few drouth-hit areas show that ranges on which conservation management has been practiced have come through the dry weather in best condition.

The Soil Conservation Service recommends careful use of range lands after they begin recovery following rains. A year's light use is advised for range in good condition, and two or three years' light use of ranges in fair condition, with rest for grass during several summers. Poor condition range should have three to five years of summer rest with light winter use until the forage has improved to fair condition.

In comparing the current drouth with those of 1916-18 and 1933-36, Merrill said the present drouth has prevailed for an average of nearly 27 months at key locations in the area. The drouth of 1916-18, using the same yardstick, ran 24 months and the 1933-36 spell lasted 24.4 months.

The 1933-36 drouth did not cover as large an area of Texas for as long a period as did the 1916-18 drouth and the present one. It was most severe in the High Plains, the Edwards Plateau and the Trans-Pecos areas. For the United States, though, it was the worst in history. In the Great Plains states, including Texas and Oklahoma, 1203 counties were affected. Over 8 million head of cattle were bought by the U. S. Government at an average of $13.47 a head.

Comments—

A dream of many Panhandle folks is to see a highway starting at Red River bridge and going toward Canyon traversing the entire length of the wonderful and beautiful Palo Duro Canyon. Some day this dream will materialize into reality. I hope it will not take 25 years.

Every movement for improvement in community or county, must have its leaders. Hall County roads have had the attention and tireless work of many leaders who have put in a lot of time and effort and at some financial cost to lead movements to bring about better highway conditions. They have been followed by other civic-minded leaders who are carrying on in a good way.

It is claimed that three-fourths of the newspapers over the U. S. are supporting Ike for president. A commentator says, "In spite of this fact, Ike may win." That's one for the observance of National Newspaper week this week.

Speaking of Newspaper Week the reason for its observance is to impress upon people of America the priceless freedom they have in a free press. Dr. Alberto Paz, former publisher of the Argentine, S. A. newspaper, closed by Dictator Peron, says this concerning a free press: "Only the dictatorial governments deny, openly or secretly, the human right of knowing the truth about facts and events which concern men and affect the community in which they live. It is the duty of every citizen to watch carefully and preserve this right to know the truth—a right belonging to every citizen."

a continuation of September and about four months before that, except the nights are becoming cool and sleep-producing.

Two needed improvements noted in town: hand-rails for the postoffice steps will save many persons getting hurt when the steps are covered with ice, and they serve as elevators in assisting one's climb each time he goes to the post office; and south upstairs porch at the Country Club being glassed in and the porch partitioned into three good-sized rooms for the benefit of members who want to entertain a small party of guests or visitors. Other improvements badly needed: Youth Center where the young folks may gather and enjoy themselves, chaperoned properly, and an adult center where the elderly folks might have the use of facilities for resting, reading or playing games when they come to town. It makes one wonder if we are being hard-hearted in not providing such places for the pleasure of others. A number of men walk up two flights of stairs when they want to play a game of dominoes with friends. In case of the youths, they have to go to other towns for entertainment.

The following essay on cotton was clipped from a trade magazine by Doc Messick:

Cotton is the overcoat of a seed that is planted and grown in the Southern states to keep the producer broke and the buyer crazy. The fiber varies in color and weight, and the man who can guess the nearest length of the fibre is called a cotton man by the public, and a poor business man by his banker. The Price of Cotton is determined in New York and goes up when you have sold and down when you have bought. A buyer working for a group of mills was sent to New York to watch the cotton market, and after a few days' deliberation, he wired to this effect: "Some say it will go up and some think it will go down. I do, too. Whatever you do will be wrong—Act at once." Cotton is planted in the spring, mortgaged in the summer and left in the field in the winter.

clock the club sponsored a 15-minute radio program over the Children's station. President Nell Beeson and Hattie Dem Thompson were interviewed by announcer Steve Cowan. Mrs. Beeson stated in her interview that the main purpose of the B & PW Club is to promote the interest of business and professional women; to stimulate local co-operation among these women and to help create better working conditions for men and women by study of all the ramparts — spiritual, economic, military, diplomatic, cultural, and political.

Luncheon Thursday

The club featured guest day on Thursday and each member invited a prospective member to the regular noon luncheon. Mable Lavender gave the invocation.

Mrs. Beeson, president, welcomed the guests and then explained what the local club is doing and its aims and purposes. She pointed out that the B & PW Club is the only civic club in Memphis for women. "For that reason we feel that we are an important part of any plan in our local community for civic improvement and enlargement because we have learned to work and plan together," she stated.

Continuing, Mrs. Beeson said, "The B & PW Club program covers every phase of life in America and any woman can find a field of service in which she is interested as a member of our organization. Our devotion is first given to promoting the best interest of employed women always."

Mrs. Beeson then introduced Mrs. Wilma Leslie who in turn introduced the guest speaker for the day, Mrs. Roy Guthrie, a charter member of the original B & PW Club in Memphis some 20 years ago.

Speaking on the theme "The Ramparts We Build," Mrs. Guthrie gave special emphasis to the thought "Freedom of Speech."

Introducing her remarks with this quotation of Voltaire, "I disapprove of what you say, but I will defend to the death your right to say it," Mrs. Guthrie pointed out that the thought is one to remember.

"Actually American women are not escapist," Mrs. Guthrie said, "They are realists. They want to do the best job they can in the role in which they are cast. They want to be good wives and mothers—to run the home well—to do a good job of bringing up their children. But they want their children to enjoy the same freedoms that we now enjoy and to be good citizens. They can best do so by being a part of an organization which has for its goal

"The Freedoms' and how to keep them."

Miss Janice Smith entertained with several piano selections. "We want to thank Mayor Carl Harrison for issuing the proclamation declaring this week Business Women's Week and to others who have helped make this week a success, Mrs. Beeson stated.

Posters depicting business and professional women voting and emphasizing world-wide friendship have been displayed in business windows of the city throughout the week.

Stephen Austin PTA Committees Listed for Year

The Stephen F. Austin Parent-Teacher Association met for their first session of the year Sept. 23 at 7:30 p.m. in the school library. Mrs. John W. Smith, president, called the meeting to order. O. L. Helm led the group in singing "The More We Get Together." The invocation was given by Supt. W. C. Davis.

In her message, Mrs. John Smith welcomed the old and new members to the parent-teacher organization. She said there is magic in the word "welcome" that makes one forget the word "stranger". Mrs. Smith stressed the fact that parent-teacher groups are organized for the constructive cooperation of parents and teachers. She stated that misunderstandings and differences of opinions between parents and teachers are largely eliminated through the opportunity for acquaintance and mutual understanding offered by the parent teacher organization.

Mrs. Smith continued, "One should be glad to belong to Parent Teacher Association that is national in scope because it is national—it is American. It is concerned with the child as a child and not because he is a Southern child, or a Catholic child, or a Chinese child, or a millennial's child. It alone can give you, whether you are a parent in Maine, in California or in Texas, the American point of view about what our schools must be and do if our children are to be trained to live the American life worthily and happily."

Officers and committees for the local unit for the coming year were introduced. They are: Mrs. John W. Smith, president; Mrs. N. D. Calloway, 1st vice-president; Mrs. Worth Howard, 2nd vice-president; Mrs. Carl Kulp, secretary; Mrs. O. L. Helm, treasurer; Mrs. Leo Fields, reporter; Mrs. R. C. Lemons, parliamentarian and Mrs. Henry Foster, historian. Mrs. N. W. Durham is goals chairman.

Committees are as follows with the chairman of each listed first: Program: Mrs. N. D. Calloway; Mrs. Ace Galley, Miss Zady Belle Walker; Membership: Mrs. Worth Howard, Mrs. Carl Kulp, O. L. Helm; Social and Hospitality: Mrs. Jess Roden, Mrs. Lewis Edwards; Mrs. Roy Coleman, Mrs. Odie Stilwell, Mrs. Arvin Orr, Mrs. Leo Koening; Civic and Finance: Mrs. O. L. Helm, Mrs. Lynn McKown, Mrs. J. C. Callahan, Ace Galley; Publicity: Mrs. Leo Fields; Mrs. Johnny Hancock, Mrs. Joyce Webster; Yearbook: Mrs. William Lavender, Mrs. Robert Breedlove, Mrs. Jack Baldwin, Mrs. Clarence Morris; Health: Mrs. Edwin A. Smith, Jr., Mrs. Temple Deaver, Mrs. Bob Queener, Miss Clara Pyeatt; Safety: Mrs. Hank Hankins, Mrs. Ruby Collins, Mrs. Eugene Noah; By-Laws: Mrs. Lloyd Phillips, Mrs. N. Dunn, Mrs. E. L. Kilgore; Study Group: Mrs. Henry Foster, Mrs. Billy Thompson, Mrs. Ed Monzingo; Congress Publications: Mrs. Ed Hutcherson, Mrs. Robert Duncan, Mrs. L. A. Stilwell.

As the guest speaker of the evening, Rev. Lloyd V. Hamilton delivered a message entitled "Appreciating Our Neighbor." Different types of neighbors were discussed and as a concluding thought Rev. Hamilton said the fact that one may become so deeply interested in one's neighbors that he misses the opportunity to help with the spiritual as well as the educational life of one's children.

The membership committee was featured during the evening and plans were announced for a membership drive to be sponsored by the association. Awards will be given to each room in school who has 100 per cent parent teacher enrollment.

The group accepted the recommendations of the executive committee to sponsor a Halloween Carnival jointly with the William B. Travis Elementary School. Mrs. Worth Howard, Mrs. Hank Hankins, Mrs. Edwin A. Smith, Jr., Mrs. Henry Foster and Mrs. Clarence Morris make up the committee appointed to work with a similar committee from the Travis school on this project.

Laree Hewett Becomes Bride Of Cecil R. Short

Miss Laree Hewett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Noel Hewett of Clarendon became the bride of Cecil Ray Short, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Short of Memphis, in a double-ring ceremony performed at 3 p.m. Sunday, September 28, in the home of the bride's parents in Clarendon.

Rev. Scott, pastor of the First Baptist Church of that city, read the marriage service before a nuptial space decorated with bouquets of white carnations and greenery.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a navy suit with rhinestone trim buttons. Her corsage was of tuberose and carnations.

Janice Hewett was her sister's only attendant and Vernon Wallace served the groom as best man.

Upon their return, the newlyweds will be at home in Clarendon where the groom is employed.

FHA Concludes Summer Activities With Coke Party

An informal "Coke" party given Tuesday, Sept. 2, in the Home-making department concluded the summer activities of the Memphis Home Economic Department. The party was given by the Sophomore Homemakers, honoring freshmen who were enrolling in home-making this year.

As an invitation to homemaking, the girls were given pamphlets containing recipe aids to good grooming, sewing notions, household hints, and patterns for parties and other entertaining. After one or two get acquainted games the girls were shown the department. Refreshments of cokes, chocolate chip cookies, cheese and olive sandwiches and mints were served to approximately 50 girls.

SUMMER ACTIVITIES

In July the entire Future Homemakers of America Club enjoyed a three-day camping trip to the Wichita Mountains, near Lawton, Okla. Swimming at Medicine Park and Lake Jed Johnson, skating and electric auto races at Craterville Park, boat riding on Lake Lawtonka, taking turns on kitchen police and sleeping under the stars made the trip an enjoyable outing for the girls.

The club plans to make the summer camping trip an annual affair and a goal for money-earning activities throughout the year. The club also sends two club members to the State Rally with all expenses paid.

Mrs. Mary Sue Beasley, Home-making teacher, stated a number of girls completed their summer projects, thereby earning one-half credit in summer homemaker projects.

Mrs. Beasley attended the state conference for homemaker teachers in San Antonio on August 10-15.

New furniture styles for every room in the house will be shown in stores from coast to coast during Home Fashion Time, Sept. 18-27. To meet the architectural trend toward smaller homes and apartments most of the new units are styled along trim, tailored lines. Metal legs for rich, wood table tops are employed cleverly to achieve the light look so important to small rooms yet without sacrificing the strength and durability of more massive furniture. The Modern tables shown above are mahogany in a light blond finish that emphasizes the natural grain of this fine cabinet wood. The hairpin legs are of black wrought iron. The end table has an unusual look-through glass top section. In the coffee table there's a handy drawer-tray for reading matter you want at your finger-tip, but out of sight. The thick glass top slides so you may easily reach either of the two deep sections. The keynote of all new furniture designs—regardless of the style or period—is functional practicality.

Laura Mai Hightower, Bride-elect Is Complimented With Autumn Tea

Complimenting her niece, Miss Laura Mai Hightower, popular bride-elect of Tucker Lilly, Mrs. N. A. Hightower entertained with an autumn tea at her home, 603 South Sixth, Monday afternoon. Monday's courtesy was one of a series of pre-nuptial parties planned for the bride-to-be.

Guests arriving at 5 o'clock were greeted by the hostess, the honoree, Miss Hightower, and her Mother, Mrs. W. T. Hightower.

After the guests registered, they were invited into the guest bedroom where iced punch was served from a table laid with a linen cut-work cloth. Mrs. Louise Goffinet presided at the cut glass punch bowl which belonged to the honoree's grandmother, the late Mrs. Mai Hightower. Also featured in the room was a quilt made by the honoree's grandmother that made an attractive cover for the bed.

Mrs. Carl Smith entertained with an appropriate group of piano numbers as the guests assembled and during the tea hour.

As the program, Miss Margaret Davenport gave an arrangement of her mother's poetry fashioned to follow the theme "Stardust"—complimenting the bride-to-be. The poems were read from an unpublished book, "Love Songs for Lisa," and were as follows: "Lovers' Love," "If I Were King," "Trapping a Star," "My Thoughts are Flowers," "When We Went Up to Amarillo," "The Hour Slipped By," "A Rover Am I," "Remembering," "Where Is My Heart," "He Is Coming," "There Must Have Been a Time," "The Dress," and "Masquerade."

The continuity of a romance was maintained with music, played by Mrs. Davenport, and a sort of poetic patter that bound the varying moods of the poems together. Throughout the reading ran the theme of memories woven from the "Stardust" of a song. Against the beautiful background of candle light and flowers the mood of the verse blended with the theme suggested by the music.

The entertaining rooms were attractively decorated with autumn flowers featuring dahlias, zinnias, and other seasonal flowers.

After the program refreshments were served from a beautifully appointed tea table covered with an exquisite linen and lace cloth made in Okinawa. Centering the table was a wedding-ring arrangement which featured a sterling silver candelabra amid a floral circle of dahlias interspersed with greenery. Mrs. C. R. Webster presided at the silver coffee service.

On the buffet, which served as a background for the table setting, was an attractive arrangement of flowers similar to table centerpiece in console set.

Approximately forty friends of the honoree were included in the invitation list.

Make Mo' Molasses Cookies

Soft molasses cookies have been fist-hugged ever since they were first offered to children. This claim to fame lies in the distinctive flavor of unsulphured molasses which is both mellow and aromatic.

Round, crinkly-surfaced molasses cookies are excellent just as they come from the oven, or you can make a confectioners' sugar and water icing to guild them for special effect.

Molasses will always win favor admirers if people are introduced to the old-fashioned, sweet kind. This unsulphured type, the concentrated juice of sugar cane, is also a delicious syrup for pancakes or flavor of milk drinks.

Soft Molasses Cookies

1 cup shortening
1 1/2 cups unsulphured molasses
3/4 cup sugar
4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
2 teaspoons baking soda
2 teaspoons cinnamon
1 1/2 teaspoons ginger
1 teaspoon cloves
1 egg

Melt shortening in saucepan large enough for mixing cookies. Stir in molasses and sugar; cool. Sift together flour, salt, soda, cinnamon, ginger and cloves. Mix in small amount of flour; beat in egg. Add remaining flour, blending until smooth. Chill dough about 2 hours. Shape into 1 1/4-inch balls. Place on cookie sheets about 2-inches apart to allow cookies to spread during baking. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) 15 minutes. While warm spread half the cookies with confectioners' sugar glaze. Store in closely covered container.

YIELD: 4 dozen cookies.

Q—I believe I am eligible for training under the new Korean GI Bill. Can you tell me how to apply?

A—You can obtain an application form at any VA office. Fill out the first five sections completely—be sure to include your program of training—and send application, along with a photostatic copy of your discharge, to your VA Regional Office. If VA approves the application, it will send you a "Certificate For Education and Training," which you present at your school when you enroll.

Q—I know that I may change the beneficiaries of my National Service Life Insurance at any time, but may I also change the method of payment of the insurance?

A—Yes. You may change any previously selected optional set-ment to any other—and you may do so without the beneficiary's knowledge or consent.

Q—When I went on active duty, I made arrangements to pay a smaller amount on my house, which I bought with a GI loan. Now that I have been released, I find that I am unable to resume my regular payments. In fact, I can't pay back the payments that accumulated during my service. Can anything be done to help me out?

A—Probably yes. It's possible that the payments may be reduced by extending the maturity of your loan. Talk the matter over with your lender.

November Draft Quota Calls For 2,336 from State

AUSTIN, Tex.—The state draft call for November dropped below the October quota, although the national call for the two months is identical, Brig. Gen. Jaul L. Wakefield, state Selective Service director, pointed out last week.

State Selective Service headquarters Wednesday received a November quota of 2,336 men. The October quota for the state, previously announced, is 2,733. The national call for both months is 47,000.

The Texas share of the November national quota is 4.97 per cent while the state share of the October quota for the nation is 5.81 per cent.

"Such factors as enlistments credited to the state and the number of men in various age and classification groups have an effect on the way we share in the national quota," General Wakefield said.

A comparison with November 1951 shows how draft calls have risen this fall. The state call for induction in November 1951 was only 665 men. In November 1950 shortly after the beginning of the Korean conflict, the state quota was 3,400.

General Wakefield said draft headquarters expected to issue local board quotas for November about October 6. Only men 20 years old and up will be inducted, with exception of volunteers and delinquents, who can be younger.

pressed the boys that I am sure the Navy would have about a dozen recruits for submarine service if it hadn't been for age limitations.

The sailor kept apologizing that the craft was not as clean as it should be. Frankly, I was impressed with the thorough cleanliness, as was Mrs. Rogers. We spent about two hours on this project, and there wasn't a wasted second during the period. We feared that at least one or two of our crew would try to stow away, but we safely gathered them together and took our departure. I can assure everyone that submarines are not only very interesting, but they are definitely well constructed.

The proof of this lies in the fact that this craft was still in operating order after our crew came back ashore.

DAY WITH THE FAMILY: of their jobs. One of them remained topside while the other conducted us into the mysteries below. To say that the revelations were fascinating would be a major understatement. In the first place, it is inconceivable that so much can be packed into so little space.

If governmental operations could be conducted with the same efficiency exhibited in the construction and operation of a submarine, there would, no doubt, be substantial relief for the taxpayer. The boys were especially interested, as I am sure you can appreciate, in the fore and aft torpedo tubes and how they were operated. I thought their many questions would overcome the sailor who was conducting the tour. However, he handled the situation so well that I was sure he must have some children of his own. Although he assured me that he was not a family man, I am convinced that he is possessed of excellent qualifications in the question-answering field. He could set a good example for many fathers, including yours truly. His complete knowledge of all of the levers, buttons, switches, lights, charts, controls, gauges, wires, and many other gadgets was most impressive. This particular craft has a complement of seventy-five men, and we were advised that everyone of these was required to know the entire story from the bow to the stern and be able to take over any station on a second's notice. I have definite proof that the young man with us certainly knew the entire story. The boys didn't overlook one of the gadgets, nor did they fail to ask several questions as to each one. The questions were answered fully and without hesitation, from the battery compartments below to the tip of the periscope, which incidentally, has a radar attachment.

A Healthy Change

It hasn't been but two or three years since compulsory health insurance was the issue which was causing much concern among persons who were combatting socialism, and trends to the left. At the time, the whole weight of the administration was thrown behind it. Personnel in interested government bureaus were grinding out reams of propaganda in its behalf. At the time there seemed to be a fair chance that Congress would pass some kind of legislation setting up the compulsory insurance program.

Today very little is heard from this "cure-all" scheme. By no means is dead, but might be described as having gone into hibernation.

It is interesting to note that the national Republican party adopted a campaign plank strongly condemning it, and the Democratic party's platform ignores it. Neither of the two presidential candidates are showing any taste for it. The recent session of Congress gave it the old-time "pigeon-hole" treatment.

What is the cause of so drastic a change in the past few years? We think the Americans are showing a hearty distaste for socialism in any form. Officeholders, who are closer to the people back home than some bureaucrats realize, know it.

One fact stands out from all the controversy: The people of this nation want better medical service. And, another fact appears: These same people are convinced that the way to get it is through orderly progress of free medicine and the various voluntary insurance plans. They do not want to turn over their health problems to power-hungry bureaucrats, nor be forced to raise more billions in federal taxes to pay the bill. A recent publication, American Economic Security, notes that more than 85,000,000 Americans have insured themselves against hospital bills.

One editorial writer puts it this way: "That's one of the healthiest developments we've seen in a very long time."

of medical doctors in rural areas. That doctors need to be tolled to smaller communities, we all agree. But we doubt that legislation of any kind is the answer to this problem. We doubt, too, that any doctor worthy of his practice would submit to such state control.

We doubt that much would result from defeat of both these proposed amendments. However, it would be much more American and Democratic if they killed or adopted because a majority of Texans wanted it so rather than because a minority of voters cast a wild vote with no thought behind it.

Our muddled constitutions and laws are the result of public apathy towards our governments, local, state and national. Sometimes we get laughs over absurd laws that appear on our books. But we wonder if we are not responsible for these absurd laws as much as those who wrote them.

Bits O' Business
If you plan to die some day you might like the macabre idea of buying your funeral in advance (installation-plan if you like) offered by a Pennsylvania establishment. . . . If there were a sizeable volcano in America someone could follow enterprising Italians who have harnessed volcano power to cut coal and oil imports. . . . Scotch whiskey has been reduced 28 cents a gallon, but tipplers won't benefit from the cut for seven years when the whiskey is aged. . . . The ban on building structures for amusements (skating rinks, theatres, etc) will be lifted April 1.

News around the County Capitol—Attention has been called before in this department to numerous matter found in the supposedly dry and matter-of-fact mortgage records in the County Clerk's office; and here, we think is one that is entitled to the premium: "STATE OF TEXAS: COUNTY OF HALL: "Know all men by these presents: That I, John Doe, of said county and state, in consideration of the sum of Ten Dollars ($10) to me in hand paid by the Blankety Blank Bank, of Memphis, Texas, of county of Hall, state of Texas, the receipt of which is hereby acknowledged, do by these presents bargain, sell and convey unto the said bank, its heirs and assigns, the following described property, to wit: "1 bay horse, 12 years old, 16 hands high, no brands; 1 wagon; 2 registered Poland-China sows; 1 brown, milky cow (half Durham and half Jersey) 8 years old; Located on North seventh street in Richard Roe's house. Said property is owned by me and I agree to hold same secure in its present location free from all liens etc."

The above is an exact copy of a mortgage now appearing on record, with the exception of a substitution of fictitious names for parties concerned, and the location.

Auto-top boats and lightweight trailers have been in the spotlight the last few years, but they have cast no permanent shadow on collapsible boats. Let's review this type of boat.

Canvas folding boats: Folding canvas and rowboat types are the most common. They are strong in proportion to weight, and regrettably, models are not suggested for waterways filled with stumps.

Boating expert, Willard Cranford, says these boats are much more difficult to puncture under conditions than many other types. Once afloat they are just as stable and will ride the waves as well as a solid boat the same size and of the same design.

Propane-type craft: These are low, slim folding craft also of fabric, with solid frame.

Because of the length, narrow beam and light weight, they are highly maneuverable and very stable with the paddles. As a result, an expert has the paddle pretty rough water can be paddled. They are much like a kayak, but often longer and with more deck. It's this decking that water out in waves and the low sides practical. In low sides and of course the sitting position, help offset lack of stability that goes with any narrow boat. Outboard models are wider, particularly at the stern, and so are steadier than the double-ended type.

Pneumatic boats: Surplus rubber boats are old now, and generally unavailable. Like a tire, all these fabric-and-rubber craft have a limited life whether used or not. Sportsmen's models (unlike most surplus ones) are generally of synthetic rubber, which means they withstand oil and grease better. These inflatable boats, because they adapt their shape to that of any wave they meet, are remarkably seaworthy. The familiar doughnut type is very slow and sluggish—still this means its seaworthiness is always there. Sportsmen's rubber boats that have the shape of a solid craft act more like a regular boat and are somewhat faster than other rubber craft. As with kayak types, many long-hour fishermen find the low sitting position uncomfortable.

Other craft: Sectional rowboats no longer are being manufactured, but plans are available. Sectional canoes, primarily for trips to wilderness by air, are being made in Canada. These generally are made ready for water in less time than most folding craft and of course can be built strong and rugged and are suitable for a small out-board.

In 1906 he, with his two sons, moved to Memphis and in 1917 he was married to Mrs. Gracie Clark. To this union two daughters were born, Ira Ellen and Lillian.

For nine years Mr. Huckaby was employed as Road Foreman of Hall County. Afterwards, he owned and operated cafes and a home dining room. In 1945 he retired and with Mrs. Huckaby moved to California where he lived until his death.

Furniture Fashions

No item of furniture delights the young boy quite as much as the bunk bed. It is rugged and masculine in design and lends itself admirably to a he-man decor. Mother likes it, too, for its space-saving advantages.

It provides an appropriate background for baseball mitts, footballs, tennis rackets, fishing gear and all sports paraphernalia; for cowboy prints and scenes of great adventure. If there are two boys in the family—or an occasional overnight guest—it is indeed the answer to a Mother's prayer. Summer cottagers, especially, find it of great convenience.

There are a variety of models on the market—in maple, oak and pine. The boy's room shown above is a complete pine group, consisting of the bunk bed with ladder, a five-drawer chest, a student's desk, a captain's chair and a desk lamp. Furniture manufacturers today are catering to the men of the family as well as to the ladies of the household and make it possible for a guy to establish his own private sanctum, strictly male style.

50th Birthday Of Gray County To Be Celebrated

Street parade, style show, beauty contest, and many other features will highlight the Gray County 50th Birthday Celebration at Pampa Oct. 12-14. In out-lining the program of festivities, E. O. Wedgeworth, secretary, issued a cordial invitation to Hall County citizens to attend.

On Sunday, Oct. 12 old timers of Gray County will hold a kick-off program. On Monday, "the fun begins," according to Wedgeworth.

There will be among other events, a style show, street parade, beauty contest, dedication of Le-fors Field Old Timers' barbecue, unveiling and dedication of Gray County Pioneer Memorial, fireworks display and a dance both Monday and Tuesday evenings with music by Hal McIntyre.

"Gray County's 50th Birthday means a great deal to us," Wedgeworth stated. "We would like for you to consider this your personal invitation to share in the festivities."

Mrs. H. Cooley Receives Praise As 'Book Surgeon'

Of interest to friends of the Hugh Colleys, former Hall County residents, is an article which appeared in a recent issue of The Austin Statesman, featuring Mrs. Cooley's occupation as a bibliotrician, a "doctor and surgeon of books."

For the past seven years, Mrs. Cooley's skillful care has been devoted to the books of the Rare Books Collection of the University of Texas. Among some of the "book doctor's" most famous patients are Spencers Works (printed in 1679); Gouverneur El-yot (1539); Milton Defensio (16-51); and the Mayflower Bible (1588). The feature article, which is captioned "Mrs. Hugh Cooley 'Surgeon' for Books," explains the details which are involved in her work, and tells of her ability and love for such work.

The article, written by Bess Harris Jones, was accompanied by a picture of Mrs. Cooley and Supreme Court Justice, Will Wilson examining the original Mayflower Bible.

Mr. and Mrs. Cooley taught school in Hall County for a number of years, at Lesley, Pleasant Valley, Webster and Lakeview. Their two daughters, Mary Hugh, 18, and Jane, 12, were born in Memphis. Mary Hugh is a student at the University and Jane attends Junior High School at the present time. Mr. Cooley has worked for the Texas Employment Service in Austin for the past ten years.

Mrs. Clarence Barclay of Plainview and Mrs. Grant Barclay of Adrian visited their aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Thompson, Sunday.

Oil Business

The demand for oil increases every year.

Americans need more oil for more automobiles, for more airplanes, more ships, more high speed locomotives and more of many things besides.

And just as one merchant competes with another for your business, oil companies compete for it, too—for the gallons of gasoline and quarts of motor oil you buy; to supply the ships, the locomotives, the industries, the airplanes.

The competition is intense, and it spreads throughout the industry. Oil companies compete with each other to find and produce more oil. Pipe line companies vie with each other to develop low cost transportation. Refineries compete to supply more and better oil products. Salesmen compete on the basis of quality products and the service rendered.

It's a good thing, this competition, a healthy thing. It is the life of the oil business; it keeps the industry vigorous, progressive, enterprising.

But its chief benefit is to you and other Americans. Competition within the oil industry discovers and develops a natural resource necessary not only to modern living but to national defense. It supplies you and the country with continuously improved petroleum products; today, two gallons of gasoline do work that required three in 1925, but the gasoline costs no more than it did then.

Navy Opens Flight Training Program To College Men

Men between 18 and 27 who have completed at least two years college are needed immediately to apply for the Navy's Flight Training Program, it was learned today from representatives of the Dallas Naval Air Station.

According to the U. S. Navy Recruiting Sub-Station, Amarillo, Texas, and members of the Dallas Procurement team, the Naval Aviation Cadet Program is again "wide open" after having been closed for more than a year.

The NavCad Procurement team said that continuing need exists to interest college students, particularly graduating seniors, in Naval Aviation. For those who expect to have Selective Service obligations to fulfill shortly, Flight Training offers an alternative to ordinary enlisted service, with immediate active duty available.

Pre-flight, basic and advanced training is conducted at Pensacola, Florida, and Corpus Christi, Texas. Those who successfully complete the 18-month period of training are commissioned as Ensigns U. S. Naval Reserve, or 2nd Lieutenants, U. S. Marine Corps Reserve. Pay and allowances upon commissioning amounts to $385 per month without dependents, or $470 with dependents.

Men desiring further information on the program may write to the Recruiting Officer, U. S. Naval Air Station, Dallas, Texas, or call or visit U. S. Navy Recruiting Sub-Station located on the second floor of the Post Office Building, Amarillo, Texas. The Navy will pay transportation costs to Dallas for applicants who wish to take the qualifying physical and mental examinations.

Rheumatic Fever Disables More

Rheumatic fever and its complications, rheumatic heart disease probably disable more school age children than any other cause except accidents, declared Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

Rheumatic fever is a well known enemy of children, still physicians do not know exactly what causes it. It usually appears about two weeks after an infection caused by germs of the streptococcus such as tonsillitis, scarlet fever or sore throat. Some children appear more susceptible than others and this trait seems to run in families. Rheumatic fever can occur in any surroundings, but it is most common among children living in poor and crowded homes, and among children who do not get enough of what is called the protective foods such as milk, eggs, meat, butter, fresh fruits, vegetables and the like.

Rheumatic fever actually has no symptoms that are all its own. A few of the group of symptoms the doctor looks for are: persistent fever, poor appetite, tiredness, failure to gain weight, paleness, repeated nosebleed and especially pain and inflammation that moves from joint to joint.

Rheumatic fever is a disease that may affect any part of the body—skin, joints, blood vessels, heart or brain—but unsally it is the heart that is most seriously affected. Unless they are prevented by good management, the acute attacks may have a tendency to come back again and again. When this happens, the valves of the heart are usually affected. Sometimes so slightly that the child is not handicapped; sometimes so seriously that the child dies. The present day treatment of rheumatic fever is directed at two things. First, reducing the risk of heart damage from an acute attack by bed rest and appropriate treatment with drugs. Second, doing everything possible to prevent another attack after recovery from the first.
