Lee Grabel Show Tickets May Be Bought From J-C's

Ever see a pin-up girl come to life? The baffling mystery is but one of the amazing mysteries that illusionist Lee Grabel brings to the stage of the Memphis High School auditorium on Friday, March 6, according to members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Only a limited number of tickets for the mystery show are now available. Pres. Joyce Webster stated. They may be obtained from any Jaycee member, although a large quantity has already been sold.

Grabel is now on a transcontinental tour of America after a successful Broadway run that brought him praise from the critics, Webster said.

"For a memorial evening make it a point to see this famous review when it plays here," he added. "You will say it is the most fascinating evening of entertainment you have ever enjoyed."

In keeping with the goals of the City Federation of Women's Clubs, a Texas Day Pageant, "WE ARE TEXAS," will be presented in the cafeteria of the William B. Travis Elementary School on Monday evening, March 2, at 7:30.

Co-operating in this patriotic endeavor are the eleven women's clubs of Memphis: Little Theatre, Harmony, Delphian, Pathfinder, Culture, 1913 Study Club, Atalantean, American Legion Auxiliary, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Business and Professional Women, and the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

The program will begin with "The Eyes of Texas Are Upon You," led by Richard Highfill. Reverend T. T. Posey, secretary (Continued on page 7.)

MONDAY'S SNOW GIVES HALF INCH OF MOISTURE

Snow, which measured to a depth of five inches, gave Hall County exactly half an inch of moisture Monday night, J. J. McMickin, local weather recorder, stated this morning.

The snow, which started falling about 8 p. m. in the form of large flakes, quickly covered the ground. It continued until midnight, McMickin said.

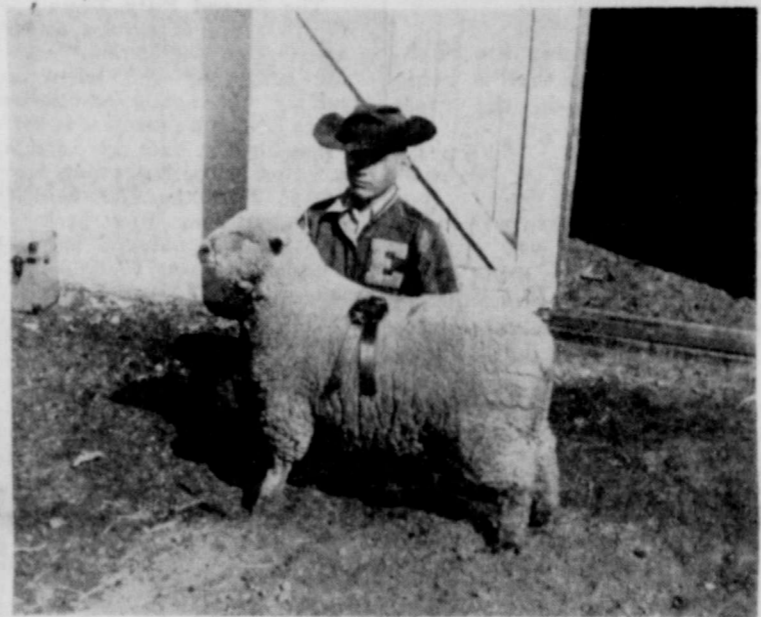

This was the first moisture recorded here since Feb. 6. On that date .06 of an inch was recorded.

The humorous farce begins when Cynthia Darling, portrayed by Johnnie McDaniel, becomes perturbed because Aunt Agatha, a comely young widow played by Nancy Brewer, lavishes expensive gifts upon the Darling children, which spoils them terribly. Cynthia decides to eliminate this problem by marrying Agatha off to her boss, Appleton Crabb, an irascible old bachelor characterized by Jimmy West.

However, Agatha is romantical-

Lee Chitwood Charged With Assault On Wife

A charge of assault with intent to murder was filed against Lee Chitwood Monday afternoon by Justice of the Peace J. S. Grimes, and bond was set at $5,000. The charge resulted from a hammer attack by Chitwood on his wife, Mattie Chitwood, 59 years of age. Chitwood, 67, is still in the county jail according to Deputy Sheriff Bill Baten.

The attack occurred early Saturday morning, but was not discovered until in the afternoon, Baten said. Chief of Police T. D. Weatherby was the first officer to appear upon the scene of the blood-spattered Chitwood home. He called in Sheriff E. S. Morrison.

Mrs. Chitwood was found to be in a very critical condition, and Chitwood suffered a slashed wrist. Both persons were found (Continued on page 6)

Lakeview School Sets Observance For Next Week

Administrators, teachers and patrons of the Lakeview Independent School District have set aside Wednesday, March 4, as "School Day," and have announced plans for the occasion.

According to plans outlined by school patrons, the special day has been set aside primarily for the parents, and the entire schedule has been rearranged.

Classes will begin at 4 p. m., it was pointed out, instead of 9 a. m. Then at 6 p. m. a special luncheon will be served to the group.

Highlight of the "School Day" program will be the assembly at 7:30 in the auditorium, which will be attended by both students and patrons. Guest speaker will be Min. Paul Thompson.

"We urge the entire citizenship of our community to attend school on Wednesday, March 4," community leaders urged. "March 1-7 has been proclaimed as Texas Public School Week, and this day has been set aside for us to evaluate the benefits we are receiving from this institution."

Estelline Ready For Observance Of School Week

Supt. C. O. Gregory of the Estelline School this week announced plans for observance of Public School Week March 1-7, in that community, and urged all patrons to visit the classrooms.

On Monday, March 1, parents of the first and second grades children are invited to attend a special meeting with the teachers. This meeting will start at 2:30 p. m. A special PTA meeting will be held Tuesday afternoon beginning at 2:30 o'clock. Pupils of the third and fourth grades will present the program.

Following the auditorium program, teachers and parents will hold conferences, Gregory stated.

During the week the public speaking class of the high school will present a short program over the Childress radio station.

"All patrons are urged to visit the school at any time during the week," Gregory stated. "Special arrangements have been made for those who wish to visit the school cafeteria at noon."

Widening the Highway to Health

At the end of February, medical, farm and community leaders from all parts of the country will meet in Roanoke, Virginia. The conference, which is sponsored by the Council on Rural Health of the American Medical Association, will deal with such rural health problems as providing adequate medical care and financing the cost. Reports of successful community projects will be presented. The role of dental care in the rural health program will be discussed. Speakers will include doctors, representatives of the Farm Bureau Federation, state granges, the Virginia Polytechnic Institute agricultural extension service, and others.

The movement for improved health is not a new development. It received its greatest impetus in June, 1945, when the AMA's Council was established. A series of conferences have been held since, and each has resulted in marked progress toward the goal.

The approach to the rural health problem is a refreshing one—it is based on the principle that people should be encouraged to help themselves. Special stress is laid on the establishment of community health councils, through which all segments of the community can work together to improve conditions. It is recognized that physicians must take the lead in health planning but the Council is convinced that programs will be far more successful if they have community-wide understanding and support from civic, professional, religious, labor, agricultural and all other groups.

The theme for this year's meeting is "Widening the Highway to Health." It is symbolic of the progress that is being made in bettering medical care everywhere—in the great cities, the little towns, and on the farm.

The Finest Thing

A man serving over seas in the war area of Korea was asked what could be done for the fighting men in the way of gifts. He replied in no uncertain terms that "the finest thing to be done is the maintenance of a politically and economically sound home front." He said further that, "With a reasonable degree of integrity on the part of most people, that will be brought about."

To do the things necessary to assure men on the war fronts that there will be such an America to return to is not too much to demand of every American on the home front.

MORE EDUCATION FOR THE MASSES

Press Paragraphs—
QUOTING OUR NEIGHBORS

The Second Fifty Years
"Fifty years of service to the motorists and the nation," came to an auspicious end when the American Automobile Association held its Golden Jubilee convention in Washington late in September. How motoring times have changed! When the AAA held its first convention, way back in 1902, the total national automobile population was 23,000—compared with 43,000,000 private passenger cars today.

The AAA has undergone somewhat of a change itself. Its first representatives of nine small automobile clubs, while at its fiftieth convention more than 1,000 delegates spoke for 3,600,000 organized motorists in 750 affiliated clubs and branches. In stature and prestige, the AAA, between its first and fiftieth convention, has risen from an upstart to a great national institution.

There is, however, one sense in which the AAA has not changed. Its reason for being continues to be a dedication to represent the man behind the wheel. Thus, while we cannot foresee the shape of motoring things to come, it is safe to predict that the next fifty years will see the association continuing to render a significant service to the motorists of the nation.—The Munday Times.

A Lie Costs

Is a lie expensive? Yes, more ways than one, according to the following from the December Science Digest.

Q.—Does telling a lie have a physical affect on you?

—It very definitely does. And the bigger the lie, the more severe is the physical reaction. The entire nervous system is affected when we tell an untruth. So are the processes of metabolism, the pulse rate, the blood pressure, the respiration. Medical authorities agree that lying can, and frequently does, have a damaging affect on the general health. Studies show that physical and emotional tensions produced by lying can seriously interfere with the proper function of vital organs.

The extent to which a man can inflict damage on himself by practicing falsehood and deceit is almost incalculable. For, in addition to affecting our bodily well-being, lying produces inner conflict which can seriously affect our mental health.

Lie about your income tax, and you may think there's no penalty involved unless you get caught. You're wrong. Says Dr. Stanley R. Dean, a member of the American Psychiatric Society. "Cheating on income tax returns can well pave the way for a nervous breakdown. For every $100 a man saves by fraud, he may spend $1,000 on mental and nervous health. I have seen it happen time and time again."—The Bow-ling News.

Sound Currency

Our national problem is to restore a sound currency. Inflation does more than levy a tax on every housewife's food basket; it eats away at every undertaking of the nation and in the extremity will sap the economic strength upon which . . . our real defense rests. We have had 20 years of a slowly depreciating currency and seven years of a rapidly rotating currency. The new President has no greater task than to choose a man who can, and who will give the country once more a sound money.—Denver (Colo.) Mining Record.

Access To Facts

It makes sense to have strong security measures in operation where military secrets or secrets concerning foreign policy are involved. . . . But there are many government departments whose work is only vaguely connected with the defense effort and the heads of these departments now have the same right to withhold information as is held by military agencies. Freedom of the press is a well established part of American rights. Free access to information about the work of government is different, but almost as important.—Cuero (Tex.) Record.

Bill Cowan, who is serving with the U. S. Navy in San Diego, Calif., is in Memphis on leave visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Cowan, and other friends here.

The Dark Can Kill You

America's millionth traffic victim has been dead a year. Yet auto wrecks go right on changing our country crossroads into killer corners.

Where's the villain?

Some say "more cars on the road these days." Some point to "reckless youths" . . . "lax laws" . . . "drunken driving" . . . "speeding."

But something else may be more to blame for auto accidents than any of these. Darkness. Plain old darkness.

Look at one case. In a Connecticut area 182 pedestrians were killed at night in two years—179 on poorly lighted streets.

Busy traffic centers are waking up fast, lighting their death-trap streets. Salt Lake City cut night deaths 92% in one area, Grand Rapids 78%, Bridgeport 93%.

Some small communities have been first to pick up the newest in lighting equipment. Oakwood, Ohio, has the largest installation of fluorescent street lamps in the country. And there's a broad-daylight look in Lyndonville, Vermont, even late at night. Fluorescent lighting as developed by General Electric has now been extended to street lighting.

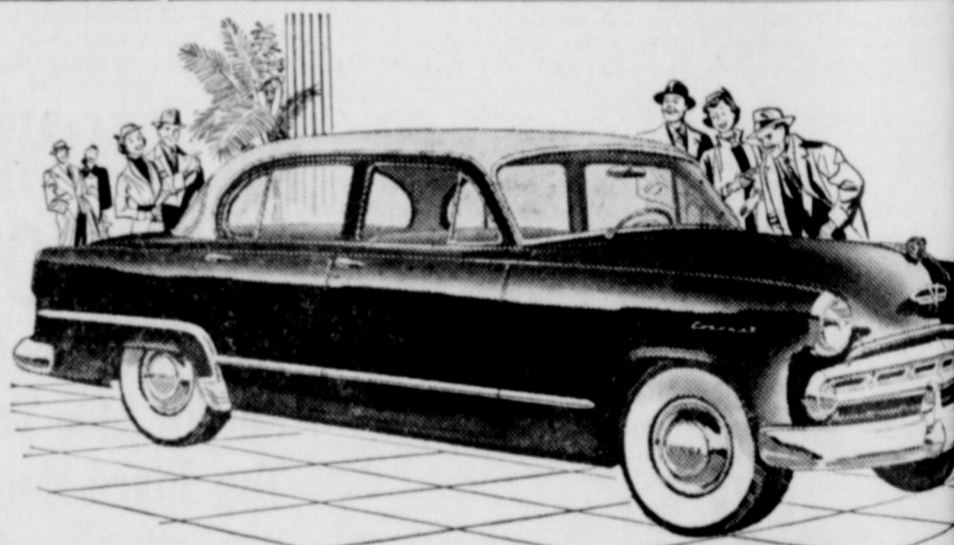

Good street lighting has been a pet project of ours for years. General Electric engineers work with local officials on other community problems, too—traffic control, water shortage, waste disposal, farm and home modernization—wherever electricity can help progress. For progress is our most important product. General Electric Company, Department 2-123, Schenectady, N. Y.

Second Annual Hall County Fair Decidedly Successful—The second annual meeting of the Hall County Fair has been everything its best wishers could have asked. The quantity and quality of the exhibits leaves no doubt regarding the fine crops and general prosperity of this immediate section.

The weather, except for the shower of rain at the very last hour, was ideal. The increased number of exhibits, more than doubling those of last year in many departments, and the increased attendance and the interest manifested insures the perpetuation of this institution. It is in possibilities for the up-building of Hall County.

The good order, absence of accidents, and freedom from rowdiness and lawlessness, which have been pronounced at recent gatherings at other places, are reasons for congratulation and exceedingly pleased to Hall County people, particularly so to the management and to the many who have labored so hard to make the fair the success it has proved.

Women's Auxiliary Wins Prize—The Women's Auxiliary to the American Legion won the prize on their float in the fair parade last Thursday. The Auxiliary also conducted a stand on the fair grounds from which they cleared a nice amount.

Rita Dean Harmon Becomes Bride Of G. D. Hall In Lakeview Rites

In a double ring ceremony performed Saturday, February 14, at 4 p. m. in the First Baptist Church of Lakeview, Miss Rita Dean Harmon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Harmon of Baytown and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Dunn of Lakeview, became the bride of G. D. Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Hall, also of Lakeview.

Rev. F. N. Allen, pastor, read the marriage service as they stood in a nuptial space decorated with baskets of white gladioli and a background of greenery.

Miss Sue Hall, vocalist, sang "Because" accompanied by Mrs. H. W. Spear at the piano who also played the traditional wedding marches for the processional and recessional.

Miss Pat Davenport, maid-of-honor, was attired in a street-length dress of pink faille designed with flared skirt and bead-trimmed bodice accented with a bolero jacket. She wore a matching shell-pink hat and other accessories of beige. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Gerald Payne served the groom as best man.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length dress of chalk-white nylon shantung. The frock was fashioned with a fitted bodice, full skirt and bolero jacket which had a standing collar and three-quarter length sleeves.

Her fingertip length veil fell from a fitted cap of nylon shantung trimmed with self-covered buttons. She carried a white Bible topped with a bouquet of white carnations and stephanotis.

The bride observed the traditional custom of wearing "something old, something new, something borrowed and something blue." The something old was a single strand of pearls belonging to her mother; the something borrowed, a pair of pearl ear screws belonging to Pat Davenport and the something blue, a pair of blue capers given to her by the groom's mother. She also wore a lucky six pence in her shoe given to her by Miss Shirley Nabers.

Mrs. C. Dunn, grandmother of the bride, wore a dress of Navy Crepe Romaine and Mrs. A. L. Hall, mother of the groom, was attired in a dress of brown nylon with matching accessories. Both wore corsages of pink carnations. Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's grandparents. Mr. and Mrs. Dunn, with whom she had made her home since early childhood.

Laid with a lace cloth, the refreshment table was centered with an arrangement of white gladioli, blue iris and fern. The three-tiered decorated cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom standing underneath the wedding bell. Blue and white napkins were inscribed in gold to read "Rita and G. D." Miss Flora Hall served the cake while Mrs. K. N. Nabers presided at the punch service. Mrs. Conrad Cochran, sister of the groom presided at the bride's book.

For traveling, the bride chose a beige suit of wool gabardine accented by brown accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Both the bride and groom are graduates of the Lakeview High School with the class of 1952. For the past few months the groom has been employed with the Texas Highway Department.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall will be at home in Baytown upon the return from their honeymoon trip.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Cochran of Odessa, and Don Harmon of Baytown, father of the bride.

Report From Washington

By Walter Rogers
Congressman, 18th District

HISTORY OF GOVERNMENT RECEIPTS AND EXPENDITURES SINCE 1945: The 1945 fiscal year, which was the last year of World War II, recorded receipts of 44.8 billion dollars with expenditures of 98.7 billion dollars, resulting in a deficit of 53.9 billion dollars. In 1948 the receipts were 42.2 billion dollars, and expenditures only 33.8 billion, leaving a surplus of 8.4 billion. However, in 1949 the expenditures were 40 billions, while the receipts were only 38.2 billion, leaving a deficit of 1.8 billion. In 1950 the expenditures again reached 40.1 billion dollars, while the receipts were only 37 billion, leaving another deficit of 3.1 billion. This was the year in which the Korean War began. However, 1951 showed a surplus of 3.5 billion, the expenditures in 1951 being 44.6 billion, while the receipts were 48.1 billion dollars.

The effects of the Korean War began showing up in 1952, when the deficit increased to approximately 8.2 billion, the expenditures being fixed that year at 70.9 billion, the receipts at 62.7 billion. In 1953 it was estimated that the deficit would increase to 14.4 billion as the expenditures were estimated at 85.4 billion, while the receipts were estimated at approximately 71 billion. Numerous cuts in the 1953 budget reduced the proposed expenditures to approximately 79 billion and it is estimated that only approximately ten billion dollars.

The new budget will, of course, be the source of many headaches. As I pointed out in a previous newsletter, approximately 85% of the expenditures went for past wars, present wars and preparedness for future wars. This figure includes not only present military expenses, but the international program, the interest on the public debt, and the veterans program, the interest on the public debt alone being in excess of six billion dollars. The biggest headache is to create a budget that is not in excess of receipts. If this is done, it will mean that approximately ten billion dollars must be cut off of present expenditures. When this ten billion dollars has been cut off, the result will be a balanced budget. In other words, the expenditures will be equal to the current receipts. This simply means that a ten billion dollar cut standing alone will not leave any surplus for payment on the principal of the public debt nor for present tax relief.

In order to make some appreciable payment on the principal of the public debt and also give some slight relief to the taxpayer, it will be necessary that a cut of approximately 20 billion dollars be effected. If such cut is made, and is in turn absorbed by the divisions of the government on the same percentage as these divisions are presently spending money, it will mean that 17 billion dollars must be absorbed by the military and approximately 3 billion dollars by the general government. It has been my thought for a long time that some legislation should be enacted requiring some percentage of each year's receipts to be applied to the payment of the principal of the public debt. It is only by such method that the public debt can be measurably reduced in the next ten to fifteen years.

So the People May Know

Laws of the State of Texas provide that many county, city, and other officials must publish in the newspapers certain information about their finances and operations.

The lawmakers passed these rules because of their belief in the fundamental principles of democracy that a people can properly govern themselves only when they are adequately informed.

There have been violations of these publication laws.

These have been violations of omission: That is, some officials have neglected to publish information as required by state law.

The people are entitled to know what information their local officials are required to publish.

This newspaper, therefore, will print a series of articles, prepared by the Texas Press Association—presenting in plain language pertinent facts in regard to the publication laws.

Are you, as a citizen, getting through your newspaper all of the information that law says you should have—concerning the operation of your local government?

Find out by following this series of articles in your newspaper.

We must by some means widen the area between the public debt and the national income. The national income is a fluctuating item, while the national debt is a fixed sum which must be paid dollar for dollar, regardless of the value of the dollar. Unless we reduce this debt to some degree by payment of dollars under their present value, we may well find ourselves in a few years paying 50-cent dollars in return for the use of 50-cent dollars. This certainly would not be good business and would be a tremendous burden on the taxpayer.

1913 Study Club Hears Early American Program

J. Dunbar presented "Lincoln and the War Years" in an interesting manner and Mrs. Herschel Combs highlighted the "Growth in the South and West" bringing to a conclusion another fine program in the year's study of Early America.

Kinard, Clyde Milan, Boyd Rogers, Brown Smith, R. C. Walker, E. M. Rogers Introduces Bill to Change Gilmer-Akin Law

Legislation to relieve one of the primary objections to the Gilmer-Akin laws' "Economic Index" was introduced this week by Senator Andy Rogers of Childress.

The Economic Index is a very intricate part of the Gilmer-Akin School laws which determines how much money each county receives from the State for education purposes. This involves taking a total wealth and income elevation of each school district and county in Texas to find the amount the local areas must combine with the State contribution to meet educational expenses.

At present, the total wealth and income of Texas counties is evaluated every fourth year; this evaluation is used for the four years following to determine how much the local population must contribute.

Senate Bill 163 by Rogers would replace the present every-fourth-year evaluation with a three-year average of county income. This proposal is brought about primarily because of fluctuation in agricultural income.

At present, the Economic Index is based upon each county's economic situation of 1949, which was one of the wealthiest farm years in recent West Texas history. West Texans are still contributing school money in proportion to their 1949 incomes.

"Naturally, the generally good crops and high prices of 1949 were not accurate indications of the amount each county could afford to contribute during 1951 and '52" Rogers said.

"This has thrown an extremely heavy burden on local tax-payers during bad years," he continued. "By placing the Economic Index on a three-year average basis, we hope to arrive at a more sound factor of contribution."

life and death matter . . . When the mercury skids so does your car."

I received a letter this week from Gamma Kappa Chapter of Delta, and publish same because of the information it gave:

"Kappa Gamma, a national honorary society for women teachers, organized by Miss Annie Webb Blanton, has always worked for better schools, and is endorsing and working for the passage of Senate Bill 24—the teachers pay bill. I regret that no concerted action has been taken in our town. With Texas School Week Observation in the near future, would it not be feasible for our citizenry to make a careful study of both the Senate bill and the compromise bill which meets the approval of Governor Shivers, and decide which will better meet the needs of the future Texas Schools?"

"Why, also, can we not have some constructive editorials and comments in our Home Town Paper? Would they not be more fitting than satirical comparisons of our high school graduates with primary children? That point is well-taken. If our teaching staff is inadequate, why not pay for and get a better one? Visit your schools next week. You might learn to do some positive evaluating of them. Children work for the things they believe in and want! (Signed by the Legislative Chairman of the Gamma Kappa Chapter.)"

Since the second paragraph of the letter is directed to me because I last week deplored the poor spelling, writing and phraseology of "SOME high school grads," and since I am asked why I can't give some constructive editorials and comments instead of satirical comparisons, my reply follows:

The satirical comparison spoken of was not made because I oppose more teacher pay. Business men all over town who have to employ young folks in their business during school time, during vacations, and after graduation, frequently express "satirically" the same. Pupils are supposed to be trained in the fundamentals so they can enter life's work with some degree of success. I have, through the years, had a lot of pupils who wanted to learn newspapering. Those who had been given proper tutoring at school made good in this work. Others, not so properly tutored, found they were lacking and dropped out. Other business men have had similar experiences. Somewhere down the line during the children's school life someone failed. Who was that someone?

My quip last week did not brand all grads. It said SOME GRADUATES. Neither do I think ALL teachers are incapable. The great majority of pupils and teachers are to be highly commended.

I have the utmost respect for the teaching profession—one that starts the child on the road to good citizenship—and for many years the teachers had to go poorly paid for the great services they rendered. I was proud they finally, through the Gilmer-Akin Bill, were able to get raises commensurate with the fine work they were doing, and I trust the present legislature will do still more. I have never complained of having to pay school taxes. I think such is the best investment one can make. I realize all teachers are not experts in child tutoring, and the crux of insufficient training lies with the very few unqualified. I like to write things that will not ruffle any one's feelings. The quip last week was meant to be constructive in that it called attention to lax teaching methods by some teachers. And SOME parents are as much to blame as SOME teachers, teaching methods.
