

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association
AUSTIN, TEXAS—Teachers are in the limelight again.

This time they are petitioning Sen. A. M. Aikin, Jr., to run for governor come 1954.

Aikin co-authored the Gilmer-Aikin school bill two years ago and led the fight in the recent legislature for the teacher's pay-raise bill. The bill passed both houses, then died because there was not enough state revenue incoming to pay the salary increases.

Teachers are miffed over Governor Shivers' stand on the pay-raise measure; and the current petition is undoubtedly the result of widespread comment relative to the governor's plans to run for re-election.

Aikin says: "I'm not running for or from anything."

Should Aikin run it would be the first time that the school teachers as a group have entered the political field with a candidate and a platform of educational improvement and teacher-pay-raises.

Speaking of candidates, the Rev. T. E. Womack of Austin, a campaigner for the office of Lieutenant Governor in 1952, now has the police searching for two men who robbed him of $255.

Hijackers held up the 61-year-old negro preacher on a lonely road outside the capitol city. They helped him start his stalled car then pulled a pistol on him.

Dr. Geo. W. Cox is calling upon the public to aid health officials in improving sanitary conditions in public eating places.

Public reaction could be one of the most forceful influences in effecting adherence to health regulations, the state health officer contends.

Cox asks that the public observe unsanitary practices and express unfavorable reaction to restaurants and cafes which do not measure up to standards.

He calls particular attention to the serving of milk in other than the original container, prevalence of flies, cleanliness of walls, floors and counters, as well as the appearance of the waiters and waitresses.

Governor Allan Shivers got quick reaction to his accusation that the FBI is violating State's rights by secret snooping in some civil liberties cases.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover commented that he was "amazed you could be so misinformed."

Such investigations are made by the FBI only when so ordered by the Department of Justice, Hoover said, and the head of the state institution concerned is always told about it. Hoover asked Shivers for more details.

In response, the governor said his remarks were in line "with the general discussion at the last three National Governors' Conferences." He invited Hoover to look at the minutes.

Into the hassle came State Representative William H. Kugle of Galveston, who asserted that Shivers had shown "a complete misconception of the problems of law enforcement and the protection of civil liberties."

Somebody, Kugle thought, should send the governor a seventh grade textbook on government.

Law enforcement is a matter of local option according to Shivers' position, Kugle declared, and because of that policy Galveston County "has provided a haven for hoodlums for many years."

Defense testimony began in a hearing to develop evidence for the State Supreme Court as to whether District Judge C. Woodrow Laughlin of Alice should be ousted from his job.

Prosecutors, meanwhile, had produced witnesses who testified that strong-arm tactics and economic pressure were brought against them when they opposed George Parr, Duval County political boss who helped Laughlin in his race for judge last year.

Donato Serna, San Diego drug store operator, said Parr and others tried to drive customers away from a drug store operated by Serna's brother.

Serna testified that when he began taking pictures of the scene he was arrested and taken to jail, where Parr hit him a hard blow over the head with a flashlight.

Serna was but one of many witnesses whose testimony, in bits and pieces, will fit together to provide a picture, not only of Laughlin's administration, but of South Texas politics generally.

Attorneys for Benny Binion, Las Vegas, Nevada gambler, are scheduled to appear in federal court here September 4.

They will argue a motion for continuance of the case against Binion, who is charged with evasion of $674,394 in income taxes during the year 1945 through 1948.

September 14 is the date set for beginning the trial. Binion claims he has not had time to prepare his defense.

U. S. District Attorney Charles Herring says he will oppose Binion's motion for a continuance.

Before moving to Las Vegas in 1946, Binion lived in Dallas, where a gambling charge is still pending against him.

Mrs. Gil Wilkerson and son Kenneth have returned to their home in Las Angeles, Calif., after spending the past two months here with their parents and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Oren.

Texas Tech Opens Football Training

LUBBOCK—Texas Tech launched its 29th football season when workouts began, Tuesday.

Coach DeWitt Weaver expected about 100 candidates, 32 of them returning lettermen. They'll face some rugged sessions, since the Red Raiders meet a traditional rival in neighboring West Texas State here Sept. 19.

Weaver's Raiders, seeking their second Border Conference championship in his three seasons here, once more will run from the explosive split-T formation. Tech is hoping to rebound from a disappointing 3-7-1 mark of last season in which they still managed to finish second in conference standings.

There was wrangling, too, about the awarding of the big state tire and tube contract.

It went, by a 2 to 1 vote of the State Board of Control, to General Tire and Rubber Company.

Jack Ritter, distributor for Pennsylvania Tire Company, dropped his suit for an injunction to prevent the Board from awarding the contract to any company other than his.

Pennsylvania's bid was low, but other factors came into consideration in awarding the contract.

James A. Lands, a member of the board, said State Senator Johnnie B. Rogers of Austin, sales manager for Jack Ritter Oil Company, had told him Rogers would make enough money out of the Pennsylvania contract "to pay his expenses through two years of law school."

Rogers retorted that he would have received no commission for the contract, that he has been employed by Ritter for the past year and that he is on a salary.

Surgery Is Relatively New Field Rapid Advancement Has Been Made

be confused and lack insight and initiative. This is why rehabilitation aimed at getting him back to normal life and surroundings is begun early and continued until it is evident that no more improvement can be expected. Patients for psychosurgery should be carefully selected and the method of operation, as well as the kind of rehabilitation which follows it, individualized.

In 1952 a new operation for the relief of a painful twitching of the face known as tic douloureux (tick-doo-loo-roo) was devised. The operation was named for the Danish neurosurgeon who first performed it, Taarnhoj (pronounced Tarnoy). Former methods of surgery for this condition, although they relieved pain, resulted in some degree of numbness of the face and eye. The newest method seems to be effective in making the patient comfortable without causing any undesirable loss of sensation.

Still another disease, sciatica or lumbago, may require relief by neurosurgery, although medical treatment is usually effective. This condition is characterized chiefly by aching or soreness of the lower part of the back and pain in the hip, buttock, thigh, leg, or foot. It often is caused by pressure upon a nerve in the lower part of the back by a bulging or rupture of the "shock absorber" between units of the backbone which are called vertebrae; these shock absorbers are known as "intervertebral disks."

Medical measures for the treatment of sciatica include rest in bed (perhaps with a board under the mattress), heat, massage, pain-relieving drugs, and a fitted back support. If operation is necessary the intervertebral disk is removed in part or altogether. Depending on the patient's condition, it may be replaced by a bone graft, or the two vertebrae that it formerly separated may be fused together.

'Nervous Indigestion' Results From Nerves' Effect On Person's Stomach

You might think your nerves bear the brunt when everything goes wrong—but they sometimes pass the buck to the stomach. Then you speak of having "nervous indigestion."

Quite a few people have this complaint. They report getting sick at the stomach or losing their appetites when they experience worry, anger, fear, or other strong emotions. If the period of strain is prolonged, they reach the point of acute illness.

When they seek a physician's opinion, a thorough examination is in order. The doctor has at his disposal a number of tests which will conclusively reveal or rule out organic disease: gastroscopy (looking at the inside of the stomach through a tube), analysis of the stomach's contents, x-ray examination, and examination of the stool.

If the doctor decides that emotional troubles are at the root of indigestion, he can outline a course of treatment. First, he perhaps will recommend correction of minor defects, such as bad teeth, tonsils, or infected sinuses which may have some bearing. Next, he will emphasize the importance of a regular schedule for meals, elimination, rest, recreation, and so on; the diet will include only easily digested foods. Pleasant surroundings for meals, regular vacations and holidays, and forgetting upsetting incidents as quickly as possible are other positive measures for helping to get rid of indigestion.

One of the conditions the doctor is careful to differentiate from nervous indigestion is that of peptic ulcer. This condition is estimated to affect about 10 per cent of the general population. The most common location for peptic ulcer is in the stomach or duodenum, the part of the small intestine just beyond the stomach, but it may occur in any part of the food tube which is bathed in gastric juice (the stomach's secretions.)

The most characteristic symptom of peptic ulcer is gnawing "hunger pain," which usually is relieved by frequent, small feedings; there also may be nausea with or without vomiting, belching, excessive saliva formation, heartburn, or constipation. Usual treatment with simple measures like diet, rest, and medicine is sufficient, but an operation sometimes is necessary.

Another disease of the gastrointestinal tract (stomach and intestines) which may be serious is cancer of the colon and rectum. Even though it is easy for the doctor to discover and treat this disease early, it is responsible for more deaths than cancer in any other part of the body. Its symptoms are a change in bowel habit (diarrhea, constipation, or alternating periods of each), bleeding loss of weight, or pain.

The chances for good results from treatment are increased considerably if the patient reports as soon as he notices any of these symptoms or, better still, if he is treated even before they appear. A rectal examination will cause very little discomfort and may yield dividends by prolonging life and preventing pain. In the examination the physician will use an instrument which allows him to observe the inside of the rectal canal and lower end of the colon (the sigmoid). X-ray examination also may be needed.

A disease which affects an estimated one-third of the adult population is hemorrhoids. Also called piles, this condition amounts to varicose veins either inside or outside the rectum; sometimes there may be a combination of external and internal hemorrhoids.

Treatment of hemorrhoids may be by conservative methods, such as ice packs followed by hot, wet packs, and sitting in hot water; however, surgery is usually more satisfactory from the standpoint of more lasting results. Usually hemorrhoids are completely removed. Internal hemorrhoids, that is, those occurring in the rectal canal, can be relieved at least temporarily by the injection of an irritating chemical into the tissue surrounding the varicose veins. Scar tissue which forms shrinks these tissues, usually destroying the hemorrhoids.

CHECK TITLE WHEN PURCHASING HOME

A real estate title is a claim of ownership, or your right to land you have purchased. Most of us have little or no idea of the possible pitfalls in acquiring a good title when we buy a home. Many prospective home buyers' title difficulties result from commonly held misconceptions of the significance of certain kinds of real estate papers.

If you can prove your title against all the world, it is a good title. If in addition, the evidence of your claim of ownership is contained in proper public records it is a good record title. Ordinarily only a good record title is salable.

How do you know if you are receiving a good title to property you plan to purchase? The safest method is to have a title examination made—that is, a careful study of the abstract and other title evidence.

Here are a few of the common sources of trouble in real estate transactions to show why the minor expense of a title examination is justified.

Many persons sign "earnest money contracts" believing that they are mere receipts with no serious implications. In reality they may specify, among other things, the kind of title you must accept.

A "warranty deed" from a responsible seller is comforting to have but it is a poor substitute for a careful title examination. A warranty deed does not guarantee a marketable title.

Moreover, serious title defects may not come to light until long after the seller on a warranty deed is dead, has moved to an unknown address, or is bankrupt. Even if he is available a good title is much better than a law suit.

The fact that the seller has possession of an "abstract" does not mean that he owns the property. An abstract is only a history of a title. Possession of an abstract no more indicates ownership of land than possession of the history of Texas means that you own the state.

Some purchasers of land feel safe because the title is being examined at the time of purchase by an attorney for the mortgage lenders. This seems logical but is a dangerous theory. Mortgage lenders are sometimes willing to accept less than good record title as security. This is sound business for them because, among other reasons, the chances are that the mortgage will be paid off so that no expense in perfecting the title would ever need be incurred. It is risky business for you when you are putting your life savings into the purchase.

These are a few of the reasons why a title examination is an important safeguard to you. When it is completed, the attorney gives you a written opinion stating his conclusions as to who owns the land, the defects in or charges against such ownership, and the requirements to be met if any, to make good record title.

Off-hand this may seem a simple operation. In fact it is not. It requires the interpretation of numerous deeds, mortgages, wills, court decrees and other instruments; the consideration of the order in which transactions and events affecting the title occur.

red; and the application of statutes and court decisions to the various situations disclosed in the abstract.

Public Can Help Improve Sanitation In Eating Places

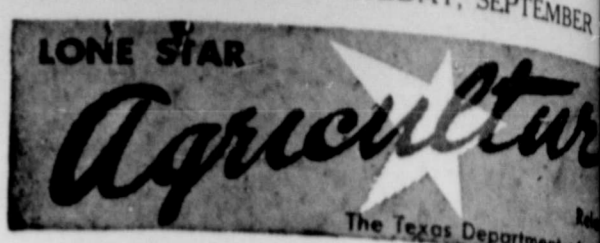

AUSTIN—Texas health officials are making every effort to improve the sanitary conditions of public eating places, and in addition schools are conducted to instruct foodhandlers. Moreover there are laws, rules and regulations requiring the uses of approved equipment and methods in such establishments. Nevertheless one of the most forceful influences for sanitation is not being used and this is the public's unfavorable reaction toward dirty and insanitary places," states Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

"The public cannot do the job entirely, nor can health departments bring about desirable and essential practices without the help of the public. As for hygienic practices, persons serving food and drink should be clean; should not cough and sneeze over the utensils and material served should keep their hands away from their mouth and nose, hair and face; should handle all utensils by the outside instead of putting their fingers on the inside of service utensils. These are conditions a person can see, and unless these safeguards are practiced, disease may result."

Also milk served can be appraised by the patron. Texas law requires that a milk bottle cap state grade of milk and whether it is raw or pasteurized. However, if milk is brought to a patron in a glass, he cannot know whether it is from a graded supply or whether it is raw or pasteurized, but if served properly in its original container, with covered cap and legal label, the patron can secure from the label the information he should have before ever being willing to drink strange milk.

The patron should note sanitation conditions in food establishments. Are the floors, walls, ceiling clean? Are tables and counters clean? Are pies and other ready-to-serve foods protected from dust dirt, and flies? Are flies prevalent?

"Be assured that what can be seen as a patron at the table or counter usually will be many times better, cleaner, and safer than conditions in the kitchen and other places out of sight of the patron," Dr. Cox warns.

PRESERVING THE SOIL FERTILITY LOSS TREND
Our Texas soils are being built up and torn down at the same time.

The use of crop residues, manure, fertilizers and other good management practices builds up our soil productivity. But leaching erosion, crop removal and oxidation of organic material, in too many cases, are depleting soil fertility faster than it is being built up. Reversing this trend will involve the development of soil management methods for all parts of the state.

The red or brown water of our Texas rivers, the increasing seriousness of flash floods, eroded hillsides and frequent dust storms are evidences of lost soil. While these situations are serious, the destruction of the productivity of our land is the real tragedy.

Productivity loss is not easy to see with the naked eye, and it is not reflected in data on crop yields. New technology, such as high-yielding, disease-resistant crop varieties and new chemicals for insects control have temporarily prevented a downward trend in yield. And our crop yields have often been maintained by using up "capital reserves"—depleting our basic soil resources.

Soils are produced by a vast number of combinations of climatic, geological and biological forces. Each of our thousands of soil

Man Charged In Connection With Theft Saturday

W. W. Moore, about 57 years old, of Childress, was placed in county jail here Monday morning after he was charged with theft over $50. The charge was filed in connection with the disappearance of a sum of money from a rooming house here Saturday night.

According to Chief of Police T. D. Weatherby, Moore is alleged to have entered the room of C. M. Smith and taken money, set by Smith at $140. Moore also had a room at the rooming house.

Moore is alleged to have slipped a pocketbook, containing the cash, from under a pillow on the bed on which Smith was asleep. Weatherby said, Smith told officers the wallet had a $100 bill, a $20 bill and two $10 bills in it. Smith discovered the loss when he awoke Sunday morning and notified the local police department.

Smith's empty pocketbook was found under a mattress in Moore's room but Moore was gone, Weatherby said.

A motorist reported seeing a man, answering Moore's description, standing on the highway at Estelline, Sunday morning. Weatherby notified Childress authorities and they arrested Moore soon afterwards. When arrested, he had only a nickel on him, according to Weatherby.

After some questioning, he told officers he gave a $100 bill to a sister who lives in Childress. Officers went to the woman's house and told her what Moore had said, after which she returned the bill to them. None of the other money which Smith reported he lost, had been found Monday afternoon.

Smith was returned here Sunday afternoon by Weatherby and remained in city jail until being transferred to the county jail Monday morning.

MAKING SCHOOL COUNT

It's school time again for youngsters here and across the nation.

Some young people are putting aside vacation activities and pleasures, others are quitting summertime jobs, to resume studies—studies which it probably seems to many were interrupted only yesterday. Still another sizable number will be going to school for the first time.

But whatever their ages and whatever their grades — they all will laying foundations for their futures in the business, home, social and civic lives of their nation and their communities.

Some are too young, yet to be interested in any great extent in such things but older students should have begun giving some thought to what they someday would like to be. If they have not, it seems to us, that parents would be wise to go into a huddle with them and help them get started in that direction.

Naturally, young people like to spend a lot of time with their friends, having parties, going places and doing other things to expend some of their boundless energy. That's part of the fun of being young.

But they will never regret it if they devote some of their time to pursuits which will help them when they are adults.

For instance, students should acquire—if they have not already—a taste for reading of many kinds, reading of a serious nature—reading which may tax their brains sometimes—but which will increase their ability to think, to understand and to act.

Their reading should include history, philosophy, biography philosophy, psychology, books about various parts of the world and its peoples, books on the world as it is today, books on the world as it is today.

They will find, as time passes, that reading matter which may have been a task at first, gradually has become easier and more enjoyable, and that their thirst for knowledge has increased.

They may find, too, that they have become "bigger" people. If in the past, they have been prone to be overly critical of others, they may discover that their reading has broadened their viewpoint, making them aware of their own shortcomings and more tolerant toward others.

They probably will discover, too, that their horizons have expanded, that they are interested in more things than they ever were before, and that life has added zest for them.

Persons who never stop learning are persons who never stop growing—and living.

Press Paragraphs— QUOTING OUR NEIGHBORS

NEGROES AMERICANS, TOO

World War II changed many things and, not least among them was the attitude of people in this area toward the Negro race. Less than a decade ago Negroes were afraid to come into the community, even for a period of a few hours. People still talked about a few years further back when Negroes were dynamited out of their homes and forcefully driven from the community.

No one will deny the change of thinking apparent in the community. This change is due, in a large measure, to extension of racial equality within the armed forces. Today, Negroes serve side by side with Caucasians in the Army, Navy and Marines. They eat at the same tables, play on the same teams, and fight beside each other at the front. When the Air Force band from Amarillo field played recently in Hereford Negroes appeared scattered along the tables at the banquet. Ten years ago such a thing would have ended in open violence.

Some people, of course, still protest the appearance of the Negro in the community. Generally speaking, however, thinking on this subject seems to have done a complete about-face. Most people are willing to grant that the Negro, when called upon to pay taxes and subjected to service in the armed forces, should also share the rights of education and freedom with other Americans.

ERRORS IN PAPERS

Not too many readers are concerned about mistakes that get into the paper, or how they happen, unless the mistake concerns them, but all readers may be interested in the seven reasons recently given by a Kansas newspaper for error.

In the course of printing enough reading matter each issue to fill a popular novel, here's how mistakes are made:

1. Person giving information suffers a slip of the tongue.
2. Reporter taking information has his or her mind on love, the weather or last night's party.
3. Copy editor needs new glasses.

KU KLUX CATCH FIRST VICTIM HERE LAST SATURDAY NIGHT—A band of seven white-robed and hooded men entered a local restaurant Saturday night and seized Carlos Cox, a well-known character, took him out of town and gave him a severe whipping, later releasing him near the school house.

A letter reportedly sent to Cox before the whipping, read in part as follows: . . . "Characters of your type are a nuisance to the general atmosphere of our town."

" . . . We are giving you this notice as final demand that you leave town by Thursday night March 23rd, and do not return."

Cox has been repeatedly jailed here on charges of vagrancy, gambling and other offenses.

SENTIMENT FOR PAVING SEEMS TO BE ALMOST UNANIMOUS—Consensus of a meeting of Memphis citizens at the City Hall Tuesday night seemed to be overwhelmingly in favor of submitting a bond election for the purpose of paving the business district.

Opinion seemed to favor leaving selection of streets to be paved, to the discretion of the city council.

A suggestion that present city alderman be re-elected in next week's city election was approved by standing vote. The alderman are: R. C. Walker, J. G. Gardner, S. L. Seago and J. H. McKelvy.

Upon hearing this, one of the men made a break to escape of the officers, J. M. Hampton fired a shot to stop the man when he kept going, put a slug closer to the man, and stopped him.

Both men were taken to courthouse, where they said that the car which they were had been stolen at Wichita Falls.

Government Bureau Divides Texas Into Four Parts For Water Study

LYNDON B. JOHNSON
U. S. Senator

A logical division of Texas into four water supply problem areas is made in the Bureau of Reclamation's appraisal of the State's water situation. These are the High Plains area, the Pecos Valley-Trans Pecos area, the Central area, and the Gulf Coast area.

The High Plains and Gulf Coast area and the Red Bed portion of the Central area have major water supply problems, as defined by the Bureau.

In the High Plains, the Canadian River Project holds the answer to the problem of supplying sufficient municipal and industrial water — combined, of course, with effective use of available ground waters. A conflict between State and Federal laws is at present holding up this project. It is of the greatest importance that the conflict be resolved as soon as possible.

In the Red Bed portion of the Central area, the Bureau reports that while the problem is serious municipal and industrial water supplies can be provided by multi-city developments using a common water source. Such developments are seen as being well within the capabilities of local or State financing. Although water resources are limited, they are said to be adequate to supply foreseeable municipal and industrial requirements.

It is the Gulf Coast area that has the greatest water supply problem. The problem involves municipalities, industries, and irrigation projects. Its solution, according to the Bureau's appraisal, will require an integrated, inter-basin project of great magnitude. This project would be designed to supply all water requirements of the entire area from common facilities.

Under the Bureau's plans, about 12 million acre-feet of reservoir space ultimately would be provided on Gulf Coast streams. The program would call for the movement of water, through the system of reservoirs and distribution facilities, from the eastern section of the area — which has a marked water deficiency.

Now, this is, of course, a long-range program. The Bureau suggests that the development be carried on by stages over many years, units of the overall plan being installed as they become needed.

It is a program that would require close cooperation between the State and Federal levels of government.

It is a program that would recognize water supply rather than flood control — important as that is — as the basic water problem of Texas. The program calls not only for far-sighted planning but also for new concepts of planning.

Clearly, the proper use of our water resources deserves to receive the most careful consideration. We cannot escape the fact that per capita income in Texas is still below the national average. It is considerably below that of the Western States which have utilized their available water resources to bring about tremendous industrial and agricultural expansion.

Time continues to pass away — and 85 per cent of our potential water supply, year after year, runs off into the Gulf and is lost to us. That is the condition we must change. Our economic future depends on our success in solving our water problem.

Local Schools Lose 2 Teachers Since Last Year

The Memphis schools have lost two teachers since last year, representing a salary loss of around $6,000, according to Supt. W. C. Davis.

Davis explained that if attendance had averaged one child less the system would have lost a third teacher.

Under the Gilmer-Aikin law teacher salary aid from the state is based on average attendance in classes.

Davis emphasized the importance of parents' help in keeping this figure as high as possible.

"It's a co-operative enterprise," declared he school head, "in which every parent should make every effort to see that their children attend classes regularly and keep absenteeism at a minimum."

Report From Washington

By Walter Rogers

Congressman, 18th District

UNITED STATES AND TRADE: The problems of world trade are fast becoming acute. These are problems that affect only a few countries. They affect all of the countries of the world and especially the United States of America. The basic reason being that the United States has long led the world in its production capacity. It has supplied the vast majority of the goods with which God blesses the world.

Material	Pound	Percent of Imports
Chromium	1,915	100
Manganese	950	93
Nickel	520	99
Tin	100	100
Bauxite	6,512	65
Copper	1,418	42

Multiply those and similar figures by the thousands of tanks, planes, ships, guns and other items our defense program needs and one can see how our economy relies on imports. Many of our peace-time needs, too, are dependent on imports. One needs only to cite such foodstuffs as coffee, tea, cocoa and bananas to realize the extent of our dependence upon other countries.

The American Telephone and Telegraph Company reports that 48 imports from 18 countries go into each telephone. Of the 184 materials necessary to produce an automobile, 38 are largely imported. The same might be cited for many articles in every-day use: pots and pans, paints, ingredients for medicines, cosmetics, and many other items.

Over one-half of today's imports are minerals and other materials for use by American industry—things like copper, lead, tin, zinc, natural rubber, fuel oils, fibres for strings and ropes, industrial diamonds, etc.

For some essential materials substitutes could probably be found within our borders, but substitutes are usually more expensive and are less satisfactory.

United States imports by major commodity groups indicate why this country would find great difficulty in isolating itself from the world. The imports for 1952 show that the United States relied upon foreign sources for products valued at $10,714,000,000. More than 50 per cent of this total was crude materials and foodstuffs.

Many Students Are Covered By Social Security

Summer will soon be over and that means millions of children throughout the land are returning to school. Many of these students have held jobs during the summer and may have earned as many as two quarters of coverage under social security.

A quarter of coverage is a calendar quarter, ending March 31st, June 30th, September 30th or December 31st, in which a person has earned as much as $50. A student who was paid $50 or more in June, in work covered by social security, will get social security credit for that quarter. If he continued to work in July and August he will get credit for another quarter. The amount earned during the summer will be added to any previous wages shown on his social security account. If he continues to work part time after school begins, he will continue to earn a quarter of coverage for each quarter in which he is paid $50 or more.

Many students, who have earned as many as six such quarters, are already "insured" by social security. A modest insurance payment would be made in case of their untimely death.

A representative from the Amarillo Social Security office will be in Memphis, Tuesday, in the commissioners courtroom, starting at 10 a. m.

Who will get Johnny to school the first day?

All hands will be on deck to speed Johnny off to his exciting new world. And no hands will be busier than Mother's. That is unless you count Reddy Kilowatt's helping hands, which help Mother at every turn.

Reddy helps wash Johnny's socks, iron his shirt, cook his breakfast, and even heats the water to scrub behind his ears. And later Reddy will help him get his lessons by making study easy on his eyes.

As a matter of fact, the older Johnny grows the more ways Reddy can help him . . . and Reddy's help is just about the biggest bargain in the family budget today.

Funeral Services Conducted Friday At Lakeview For Mrs. R. S. Wansley

Funeral services for Mrs. R. S. Wansley, who had been a Hall County resident since the early 1900's, were conducted at 4 p. m. Friday in the Church of Christ at Lakeview.

Paul Thompson, minister, and Rev. Bernard F. Seay, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Lakeview, officiated.

Burial was in the Odd Fellows Cemetery, Lakeview, under direction of Murphy-Spicer Funeral Home.

Mrs. Wansley died last Thursday morning at a neighbor's home, where she had gone for aid, after suffering a heart attack at her home in Lakeview. She had been in ill health for several years. She was 70 years old.

One of Mrs. Wansley's greatest pleasures was her church, in which she was very active. She became a member in her early childhood and was affiliated with the Church of Christ at Lakeview at the time of her death.

She also enjoyed her home and raising flowers and never tired of visiting with her friends.

A native of Tarrant County, Mrs. Wansley was born Jan. 13, 1883, and came to Hall County in the early 1900's with her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Tom Billington.

She was Miss Jennie Lee Billington until her marriage to R. S. Wansley at Eli, March 10, 1908. Mrs. Wansley engaged in farming.

He died at Lakeview, Aug. 30, 1929.

Mrs. Wansley moved into Lakeview last year, after living there for many years.

Among survivors are: a son, R. S. Wansley, Jr., Lakeview; three daughters, Mrs. H. D. Payne, Lakeview, Mrs. Paul Smith, Memphis and Mrs. H. A. Bennett, Dallas; a step-son, John Wansley, Amarillo; a step-daughter, Mrs. Ruth Brown, Snyder; a sister, Mrs. E. E. Lane, Memphis; and a brother, Clarence Billington, Fort Lyon, Colo.

Other survivors are: five half brothers, Bill Billington, Memphis, Harry Billington, Stamford, Wayne Billington, Petersburg, Roy Billington, Amarillo, and Hayden Billington, Lubbock; a half-sister, Mrs. Lara Buckner Leckney; and seven grandchildren, seven step-grandchildren and a great-grandson. Three children preceded her in death.

Beach also is a former Memphis resident.

Mrs. Wells was employed in the post office in the Gulf Coast city.

She was a member of the Methodist Church.

Also surviving is a son, Rob Wells of Corpus Christi.

Early Puritans celebrated Christmas about the middle of the 19th century.

MAKES MATCH CHURCH... Alexander E. Brooks, Jr., of Capital Heights, Md., patient at Mt. Wilson Sanitarium, used three months and thousands of matches to build this model church.

4-H Achievement

Hooser will be awarded a certificate in recognition of his work in the farm and ranch division.

The outstanding 4-H boy will be awarded a gold watch by Brangan Jewelry, with Elmont Brangan making the presentation.

The firm has been making the award for the past five years.

Cyclone Boosters Set Tuesday Night Meeting At School

A Cyclone Booster Club meeting and get-together will be held in the high school cafeteria at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night, Louis Saied, president, announced this week.

All members of the local high school football team are expected to give fans an opportunity of meeting them.

Booster Club members also will outline plans for fall activities. Everyone is welcome to attend according to Saied, who declared he would like to see a big turnout.

During the evening, refreshments will be served.

until spring to start such improvement, it will again be put off to 1955. Keep this in mind, and be ready for 1954.

A test water well has been put down on the Memphis Country Club golf course. The driller announces the well, if properly finished, will furnish more than 200 gallons of water per minute. Most of the members favor the move believing the club property could be greatly improved in looks by the use of more water, provided funds can be raised for the initial cost.

Perhaps the City Park could get such a well. If so, a lot of beautification could be done.

Now is the time to make guesses as to the number of cotton bales to be ginned in Hall County this fall. Cotton has been making a good comeback the past two weeks, and cooler weather with some moisture and a late frost could change the picture. It is entirely guesswork as to the yield. My guess is 31,234 bales. What's your guess?

The walls of the 100x140 King building are rapidly rising. This building will certainly be an improvement, in looks from our viewpoint at the Democrat office, over the unsightly debris that has been the case since the disastrous fire last June. The other two buildings destroyed at the same time have been practically completed and will be ready for occupancy in a few days.

afternoon. The boys have mostly been taking light workouts to get themselves limbered up during early workouts.

There have been few bruises but there has been some soreness among the boys, so far, Childress said.

Lettermen, who showed up for the first workouts, were: Jack Montgomery and Carrol Gardenhire, ends; Kenneth Cheek and Max McCoy, tackles; Leon Rogers guard; Roy Don Coleman, center; Duke Frisbie, quarterback; and Clyde Tamplen and Jimmy Davis, halfbacks.

Reserve lettermen are: Jerry McQueen, tackle; Jackie Boone guard; Dean Sustaie, halfback; Jimmy Jenkins, fullback.

Others coming out are: Terry Monzingo, James Freeman, Ronald Cawfield, Larry Gillispie, Jimmy Gibson, Wayne Tiner, David Francis, Debs Cofer, James Moss, Denny Davis and Cleve Evans.

Exports of cotton from the United States during the first 10 months of this season total 2.7 million bales. This compares with 5.2 million bales for the same period last season.

with her husband about 60 years ago. The couple was among the first settlers in the county and lived to see it develop into a thriving agricultural area. Mr. Owens died June 6, 1945, at Hedley.

Mrs. Owens had been a member of the Methodist Church since her early childhood.

Survivors include: seven sons, Sam and Otis Owens, Hedley, W. H. Owens, Childress, George and W. T. Owens, Amarillo, Gus Owens of Glendale, Calif., and T. H. Owens, San Bernardino, Calif.; three brothers, Sam W. Smith Plainview, W. A. Smith, Waco, and Roy Smith, Fort Worth; and 21 grandchildren and 24 great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers were Hobart Moffitt, W. W. Wiggins, Charles Rains, A. T. Simmons, W. W. Richards, Barney C. Johnson, Clyde Grimsley and John Nash.

Local 'B' Squad

track teams.

Football workouts are to be held at Cyclone Stadium, from 3 to 5 o'clock each school day afternoon.

"B" squad members will work along with the "A" squad, according to Poteet.

Approximately 30 boys are expected to come out for the "B" team, Poteet said.

The squad will play their first game, Thursday, Sept. 17, when they meet Hollis, at Hollis.

Their first home game will occur the following Thursday, when they tangle with Childress.

The remainder of their schedule, with home games designated as follows: Oct. 1, Wellington; Oct. 8, Shamrock; Oct. 15, Shamrock, here; Oct. 29, Hollis, here; Nov. 5, Wellington, here; and Nov. 12, Childress.

40 Cars Drouth Feed Is Received In County So Far

Forty cars of emergency drouth feed had been received in Hall County by this week, Lynn L. McKown, manager of the PMA office said Monday. The feeds were comprised of cotton seed meal, cotton seed pellets, corn and oats.

Six more cars of oats, one more car of corn, and four cars of cotton seed pellets are scheduled for shipment to the county, according to McKown. McKown said this would likely complete shipments unless the drouth continues.

The 40 cars, received so far were made up of 23 cars of cotton seed pellets, eight cars of oats, six cars of corn and three cars of meal, McKown said.

Construction Work

played on various phases of construction work.

Frank & Wrenfree of Denison bank building and fixture experts were the contractors.

A storage shed is being built at the Memphis Compress Company, bringing to six the number of large sheds which the company will use for storing cotton. The new shed is 240 by 245 feet and is expected to cost around $50,000, including a sprinkler system.

Each shed can house 7,500 bales of cotton. All are sheet iron.

The swimming pool will have taken about two and a half months to build, while work time on the bank, Greene and Baldwin buildings will total about six weeks each, and on the compress shed about two months, according to estimates.
