

Cyclones Win Second District Contest From Canadian, 14-6

The Memphis Cyclones racked up their second straight conference win in Cyclone Stadium Friday night when they outscored the Canadian Wildcats, 14-6. It was a rip-roaring game which could have gone either way right up to the end.

All of the scoring occurred in the first quarter, with Memphis counting first on a 59-yard gallop by Duke Frisbie, Cyclone quarterback. The Wildcats came right back to tally on the next play when Dean Hoover, Canadian fullback, took the kickoff on his 10-yard line and made a sensational 90-yard return to cross the Cyclone goal line. Memphis added their second touchdown late in the quarter, on a pass from Jimmie Davis, left half, to Carrol Gardenhire, left end.

Canadian nearly scored on three different occasions. The first time, Hoover fumbled the ball and the Cyclones recovered on their 1-yard stripe, as the first half ended. It would have been Memphis' ball, anyway, as the Wildcats had run out of first downs. Late in the third period, Ray Ramirez, Wildcat quarterback, pulled in a Cyclone punt on his 25-yard line and ran for a touchdown but the ball was called back and Canadian penalized 15 yards for a personal foul.

As the game came to a close, the visitors drove to the Cyclone 4 yard line on a handoff to Hoover. Both sides did some vicious tackling and also threw a considerable amount of good blocks.

The contest was marred by a number of fumbles but tackling probably played a part in this.

Frisbie played good ball, kicking and punting well most of the evening, and also getting off a number of good runs, among them his scoring jaunt. His team mates' blocking was a major factor in the touchdown and other runs.

Ramirez, Hoover, Pat Tipps right half, and Clyde Cain, right end, lent valuable aid to Canadian's offensive play.

The Wildcats led in first downs, 8 to 4. The Cyclones kicked off to the visitors, to open the contest, but Memphis recovered the ball on the Canadian 23, after Charles Vinson, quarterback, returned from his 5.

Memphis could not go, however, and it was Canadian's ball on their 20, after a punt went into their end zone.

Canadian made a first down on their 31, but was forced to punt from the 33, on fourth down, and it was the Cyclones' ball on their 41.

Then came some of the most exciting play, seen during the evening.

Frisbie took the ball, and behind some fine blocking, swept around left end, and scampered all the way to chalk up 6 points for his team. Clyde Tamplen made the score secure when he powered over for the extra point.

Memphis' fans had hardly recovered from Frisbie's beautiful run when Hoover took the kickoff from the Cyclones and carried the ball 90 yards over his opponents' goal line. Tipps attempt to rush the ball across failed, and the score stood: Memphis 7—Canadian 6.

After Davis returned the kickoff from the 15 to his 45, a series of plays carried the ball to the Canadian 34, netting two first downs en route.

On the following play, Davis passed to Gardenhire, on the Wildcats' 10, and he took the ball into the end zone. Tamplen took a handoff and crashed through for the point, to boost the count to 14-6, and close scoring for the evening.

In the second quarter, Canadian put together a drive which moved the ball from the Cyclones' 46 on down toward the Memphis' goal. A recovery of a Willcat fumble on the 1-yard line as the first half closed, broke up the surge.

Most of the third quarter was played between the 30-yard lines, except for Ramirez' 75-yard touchdown sweep, which was nullified by a personal foul by Canadian.

In the opening moments of the final quarter, the Wildcats pushed to the Cyclone 17-yard stripe, where the ball went over on downs.

Memphis made a first down on the 27, and on the next series was forced to punt, Ramirez returning to the 50.

A few plays later, the Cyclones took the ball on the 50 but penalties and losses left the ball on Memphis' 14, forcing a punt.

Ramirez fielded the ball on the Cyclone 42 and returned to the 40. From there, the visitors pushed the ball to the Memphis 4, as the contest ended.

Motorists Urged Not To Postpone Auto Inspections

Automobile Safety inspection stations in this area are going to be jammed unless motorists begin having their vehicles inspected within the next few weeks.

This warning was issued last week in Austin by G. C. Morris, executive director of the Highway Safety Council. He said a cross-section survey of inspection stations, including those in this area indicated only four cars of every hundred had been inspected.

The inspection period, under the new law, began Sept. 15 and will end April 15.

There are more than 3,000,000 vehicles to be inspected, and during the first 30 days of the seven-month period only a fraction of that number, roughly 125,000, were checked, Morris said. The proportion of cars inspected in this area is about the same as statewide, he said.

"There is almost certain to be a last-minute rush unless there is a speed-up in inspections," he said, urging motorists in this section to avoid the rush by having their cars examined now.

Morris said there was also safety precaution to be considered. "Most cars have not been inspected in more than a year and may have developed some mechanical defect," he said.

"You may be gambling with your life if you are operating a mechanically unsound vehicle. Accident figures show that one traffic death in every ten in Texas is caused by faulty mechanism."

The new law, Morris said, calls for the inspection of brakes, lighting equipment, horns, rear view mirror and windshield wipers.

He urged motorists, however, to request that steering parts be also included in this inspection.

Safety experts agree that automobiles should be inspected at least once a year as insurance against mechanical defects. Morris said that if motorists wait until near the spring deadline to have their cars examined, it will mean that many cars will not have been inspected for 18 months or three times longer than practical.

Mizpah Guild Meets In Home Of Mrs. Mack Wilson

The members of The Mizpah Guild of The First Presbyterian Church gathered in their second meeting of the month at the home of Mrs. E. M. Wilson, Monday evening, October 19.

The meeting was called to order by the President, Mrs. Bill Leslie. Mrs. O. M. Helm gave a most interesting account of the untiring work of a Presbyterian missionary, and his family in an Alaskan mission outpost. There, through kindness and persuasion, Missionary was able to convert his primitive Indian congregation to a Christian way of thinking and behavior.

The text for the Bible study was taken from Colossians 3:12-4:6, pertaining to "Your Christian Clothing." Mrs. H. A. Finch, as leader for the lesson, admonished her listeners to put off ungodly apparel of sin and worldly-living and attire themselves in the righteous raiment of humility, devotion, moral uprightness, and prayerful thinking.

During the business portion of the meeting, plans were made for a joint gathering of the men and women of the church in a work-night session to do some needed renovation. Also, a thank-you letter from the Wilhelms at The Children's Home in Amarillo was read in which appreciation for our regular monthly contribution of foods and needed articles was expressed.

Sixteen members answered roll call and enjoyed the tasty refreshment plate served by the hostess. Following the meeting, the guests lingered for a visiting fest but finally departed for their several homes to meet again November the second.

Methodist WSCS Plan To Observe Week Of Prayer

The Women's Society of Church Service of the First Methodist Church here met in regular session Monday afternoon in the church annex.

The program opened with the hymn, "Faith of Our Fathers," followed by a short business session. Mrs. Mac Tarver, president, was in charge.

During the meeting, it was announced that a week of prayer will be observed, starting Monday night at 7 o'clock, in the church annex. The Monday night meeting will include a joint covered dish supper and program with the Guild of the church.

Each morning next week, there will be a prayer group in the church parlor at 9:30 o'clock. Next Saturday, which is United Nations Day, will be observed by special prayers.

Mrs. Tarver announced that a district meeting will be held in Vernon, Nov. 12.

Mrs. George Payne was leader of the program, during which the rural mission of the church was emphasized.

Mrs. Charles Webster, Mrs. C. T. Vickers and Mrs. N. A. Hightower assisted Mrs. Payne with reports on rural work in nations around the world.

Afterwards, Mrs. Payne gave a short meditation. A prayer by Mrs. Lloyd Hamilton concluded the program.

Texas Hunters Sending Bands To State Game And Fish Commission

AUSTIN—Hunter cooperation through forwarding bands from game they harvest is being manifested in specimens reaching Game and Fish Commission Headquarters.

W. C. Glazener, Director of Wildlife Restoration for the Commission, said bands have been received from mourning doves taken in the north zone where the season opened September 1, and from the white-winged dove season opening in the Rio Grande Valley, September 11.

The first band received at headquarters was forwarded by a policeman. He is Patrolman H. H. Frye of the Johnson City force. The bird was banded by Game Warden Travis Glibreath as a nestling on July 23 this year about four miles northeast of Johnson City. It was harvested on season about five miles southwest of Johnson City.

The first white-winged dove band was sent in by Wayne Frost of Edinburg. The bird was bagged September 13 in Hidalgo County in which it was tagged May 29, 1949, thus being more than four years old.

One strange incident in connection with the first batch of mourning dove bands was reported by A. S. Jackson, Wildlife Biologist stationed at Canadian. Three banded doves were found dead under a fence on the Benton Farm in Gray County, apparently having been killed by reckless flying. The dead birds were found near the place where they were banded.

Jackson's letter of transmittal explained: "In the late summer, doves are prone to fly recklessly from the tree grove and collide with fences, limbs, etc. I have found two with crops cut open from locust thorns."

Bands from wildlife are needed by Game and Fish Commission biologists to help piece together the habits of game, such as determining migration, life span, feeding and nesting routine.

Glazener said the band receipts will include those from doves in the South Zone, which began October 1, waterfowl, deer, antelope wild turkey and the like. Persons forwarding the bands receive a formal acknowledgement from the Commission, including a "case history" of the specimen involved.

Evaporative Cooler Humidity Eliminated

AUSTIN—University of Texas engineers have removed the "swamp" from the "swamp machine," as present-day evaporative coolers are sometimes called jokingly.

Most evaporative machines now in use cool air by drawing it through a water-soaked mat with a fan or other type of blower. That greatly increases the air's humidity, producing a clammy or sticky atmosphere.

Working under a Navy contract, University engineers have conquered the humidity problem by having air drawn through aluminum tubes. The tubes, which have walls only 40,000th of an inch thick, pass through a forced draft, water-spray cooling tower. The water's cooling effects transfer through the aluminum tubing but the air itself remains dry.

The cooler is portable and very simply constructed, avoiding costly, time-consuming maintenance.

Texas Farm Income Under 1952 Figure

AUSTIN, Texas — Texas farm income for the first eight months of 1953 fell 19 per cent below the comparable 1952 figure, University of Texas Bureau of Business Research estimates indicate.

Income from gain sorghum was down 44 per cent; cotton, 25 per cent; and cottonseed, 31 per cent. However, revenue from oats increased 47 per cent and from flaxseed, 24 per cent.

Paralleling the crop trend cattle revenue decreased 81 per cent. Income from calves was down 18 per cent; from hogs, 8 per cent. Sheep-and-lamb income was up 24 per cent.

Rail shipments of fruits and vegetables remained fairly constant. Such shipments will be subject to wide variation during the remainder of the year, the Bureau reports, because the bulk of the fruit harvest is yet to be marketed.

In a July-August comparison total carload shipments of livestock fell 40 per cent.

RADIOLOGY IS MEDICAL SPECIALTY THAT HAS A MULTIPLICITY OF USES

Radiology, a medical specialty, is a pretty wide field. It is the branch of medical science that deals with the use of radiant energy (such as from x-rays and radium) in the diagnosis and treatment of disease. Roentgenology, a sub-specialty of radiology, is limited to the diagnostic and therapeutic uses of x-rays, being named for Wilhelm Konrad Roentgen, the discoverer of x-rays.

With Roentgen's contribution, made in 1895, and the discovery of radium by the Curies, Marie and Pierre, three years later, medical diagnosis and treatment were given a decided boost. Doctors, working with physicists and other scientists, developed x-ray machinery and radium applicators that were effective, yet safe. With modern x-ray equipment, highly specialized tests for diagnosis and powerful treatment for disease lying deep within the body are possible. Not only radium but other radioactive substances have been harnessed to provide an even larger number of tools for radiation therapy. In the last ten years or so a new field of radiology, the use of elements made radioactive by artificial means (the radioisotopes) has opened up with great potentialities for both diagnosis and treatment.

The clear viewing of internal organs such as the heart, stomach, gallbladder, and kidneys has been made possible not only by better x-ray equipment but also by the development of what are called "contrast media." A contrast medium is a substance which casts a solid shadow on x-ray films and which is taken into the body by mouth, rectum or vein or artery.

Perhaps one of the most interesting uses of a contrast medium is for the study of the female reproductive organs. A substance injected into the genital tract on x-ray films shows the womb (the uterus) and the tubes that lead from the ovaries to the womb (the fallopian tubes). Such a study is known as "hystero-salpingography" and is used mainly to help determine why a woman cannot become pregnant.

X-ray studies also may be made when pregnancy exists. Sometimes the earliest sign of twins may be the seeing of two skeletons on a film made about three and a half months after conception with this knowledge the physician can plan well in advance for their safe delivery. Also, it is important to know the size of the baby's head as compared to that of the mother's pelvis, the bony cage surrounding the mouth of the womb, through which it must pass during a normal delivery. One way of securing this information accurately is through x-ray examination using special equipment and exacting technique. If the head is too large or the pelvic bones have been misshapen by disease or accident, the doctor might avoid possible trouble by planning to remove the baby through the mother's abdomen, an operation referred to as "cesarean section."

Aside from the usefulness of x-rays in diagnosis, they are a part of the radiologist's stock in trade for treatment. The effects of x-ray and radium in treatment are particularly the same, although one may lend itself to the particular problem at hand better than the other. Sometimes they are combined with each other or with surgery for best results.

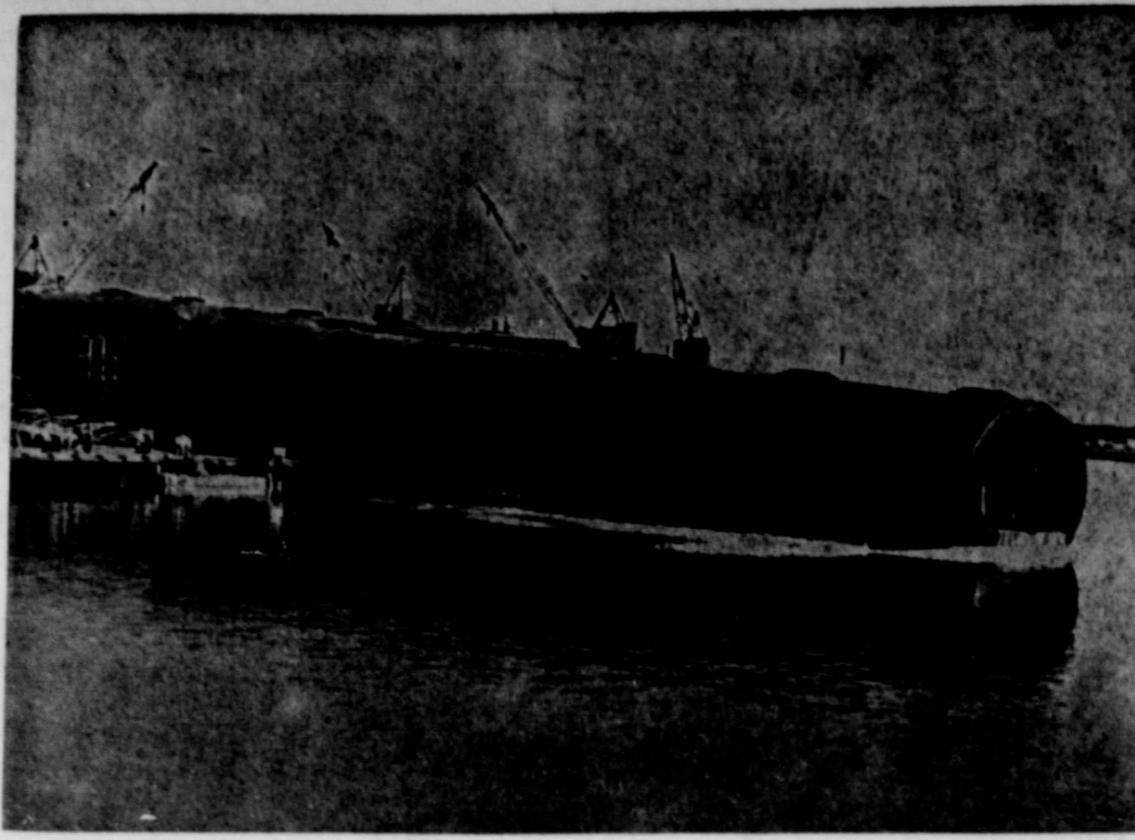

Radium comes in several forms, including cylinders and needles that can be inserted into a growth or slipped into a body cavity such as the mouth or nose. The gas that escapes from radium, called "radon," has been collected and used to great advantage in some conditions.

To cite only one example of the widespread usefulness of radiotherapy, x-ray and radium are employed in the treatment of more than eighty skin diseases. Radiotherapy is especially valuable in severe cases of acne, boils and carbuncles, certain birthmarks, keloids (excessive scar growth), skin cancer, warts and fungus infections of the skin. Its specific effects are (1) to fight infection or inflammation, (2) to destroy tissue, or (3) to relieve pain.

Hallowe'en Party In Hi School Gym Tuesday Evening

A Hallowe'en party, to which everyone in Memphis and vicinity is invited, will be staged in the high school gymnasium here, beginning at 7 p. m. Tuesday. The senior class is sponsoring the frolic, which will include crowning of a queen.

Candidates for queen are: Elizabeth Grundy, senior class; Ann May, junior; Bobbie Joe Welch, sophomore; Betty Lou Wells, freshman; Sue Weddel, pre-freshman; and Cynthia Combest, seventh grade.

Admission will be 25 cents for couples or single.

There are to be a number of contests, including ones for the best dancers, tackiest couple, costumed couple, and apple bobbing. Other contests include popcorn eating, cracker eating and whistling, carrying potato in a spoon, couple chewing string, and balloon bursting.

Altman Is Inducted Into Armed Forces

Weldon Ward Altman of Memphis was one of a group of registrants who were inducted into the armed forces Tuesday. The group was registered with the Childless Selective Service Board.

Others in the same group with Altman, were Wayne Douglas Payne, Sannorwood; Jack Skinner, Tell; Jerol D. Morris and Clois Leo Seely, Wellington; and Bennie Bradford, Paducah.

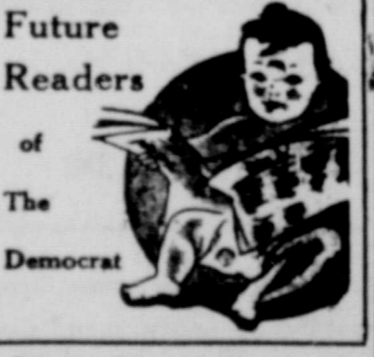

The Childless board office has received a call for 10 registrants for physical examinations on Nov. 4, and for six registrants for induction on Nov. 16.

PREVENTING INSECT DAMAGE THROUGH RESEARCH

Killing insects is a lot like a marriage proposal. A little thought beforehand may prevent a pack of grief afterwards.

A fellow rarely has the chance to repeat his pre-marital mistakes. But fortunately, we can profit from our previous errors in insect control. And Texas Department of Agriculture entomologists are under pressure now for some quick answers to our pest problems.

Biological control is very promising. Milky disease has reduced the ravages of the Japanese beetle in the U. S. but we are always looking for ways to breed and distribute more natural enemies of destructive insects. Such research involves a world-wide search for insect predators, parasites and diseases of the pests we want to control.

The more we know about the causes of the rise and fall in numbers of an insect, the better we can forecast and prevent these epidemics and the resultant damage. It is essential that our techniques of survey and identification be rapid, sure, and inexpensive.

Losses caused by insects surpass those due to fire in many parts of the world. Some years, our national loss from the cotton boll weevil exceeds 500 million dollars. Other insects that have caused losses exceeding 100 million dollars in a single year include grasshoppers, cattle grubs, corn earworms, greenbugs, bollworms and European corn borers.

In the past 10 years, more than a score of new organic-type insecticides have been tested and marketed. There are hundreds more awaiting further study. Results, thus far, of entomological research have been a big factor in increasing crop yields, yet the above losses demonstrate the need to discover even better control procedures.

Results of research, when applied on farm, ranch, forest, and in the home, will prevent waste and suffering by controlling more than 600 major destructive insects as well as the pests that transmit diseases of plants, livestock and man.

We need research—and plenty of it.

LOCAL OFFICERS AT FIVE-STATE LAW MEETING

Sheriff E. S. Morrison and Chief of Police T. D. Weatherby were in Spearman Wednesday to attend the fall convention of the Five-State Peace Officers Association. Around 200 officers and about 40 visitors were present, including persons from points as distant as St. Louis, Mo.

There was an outstanding program and a fine barbecue on noon, according to Weatherby.

The gathering was held in the Spearman community building with John Cooke of Spearman, Hansford County sheriff, presiding. Cooke was outgoing president of the association.

IT'S BEEN A ROUGH YEAR

Anyway you look at it, this has been a tough year for farmers and business people of this area, primarily because this has been one of the roughest, weather-wise, that we've ever had.

It is a custom for old-timers to declare without reservation that such and such a year had more or less of this or that but we don't believe any of the old-timers around here can come up with a year that can beat the present one. And it isn't over yet.

1953 started off dry and moisture continued to be a problem for most farmers and town people on through the summer and into the fall.

It was a fight all the way for the majority of farmers to get crops started and to keep them growing. But in spite of extremely unfavorable conditions, a lot of farmers had fair to good cotton. Fortunately, a considerable number still have.

But some others—many of whom had already begun harvesting operations—took another blow from the weather last week when driving rain and hail damaged their crops severely. Whether they will be able to save very much—and if they can, whether there will be any profit in it for them—remains to be seen.

This latest blow was bound to have been hard to take, especially as it came just they were ready to reap the benefits of their efforts.

Maybe things will turn out better than it now appears they may. We hope so.

But whether they do or not, we bet these farmers will be in there trying next year, because reverses are nothing new to folks who have lived in this section very long. That goes for town and country people alike, because most or all have seen short years.

Perhaps we don't always have as much as people in some other parts of the country but we'll wager folks in this area are as rugged and can take as much as any you can find anywhere.

KNOWLEDGE EXPANDS HORIZONS

When television was in its infancy, a great many educators seemed to be worried for fear it would interfere with young peoples' studies and learning.

But maybe their fears were groundless, according to a recent story in the Dallas News.

The story quotes a library consultant to the effect that television has increased home reading by Dallas public school children, going on to say that they read comic books only because adults do not provide them with better literature.

This statement was made by Miss Mattie Ruth Moore, library service consultant for Dallas schools.

Continued Miss Moore: "Today's children's books are informative, challenging and stimulating. They cover a wide range of subjects and children are finding pleasure in reading books directly related to the subjects they study in school."

Miss Moore was not so enthusiastic about comic books.

"You find them everywhere," she declared, "in grocery stores, railroad terminals, and drug stores."

"Our problem is to make good books as easy to get hold of as comic books. If only parents would have enough regard for what children are reading to pay a little more and buy them good books."

Miss Moore emphasized that it isn't the number of books children read that is important, but the quality of books selected—and how much the young people read them.

We wouldn't deny youngsters the pleasure of reading "the funnies" and some comic books. But, like almost anything else, we think this can be carried to an extreme.

Beyond question, children should acquire a taste for serious, thought-provoking reading, the greater the variety the better.

It will help them to grow into more mature, more understanding men and women whose horizons will expand the more they read and ponder.

Man's ability to achieve is only limited by his ability to think and put his thoughts into action.

And good reading can increase his capacity for thinking immeasurably.

Press Paragraphs—

TRADE AT HOME TO GROW
The Herald makes no apologies for "harping" about home patronage every once in a while—not when further observance of the golden rule in this means so much to the growth and prosperity of every citizen who calls Hamlin home.

We realize that every time we bring up the subject, some people will remind us under their breath that "it's nobody's business if I want to spend my money in Abilene and Fort Worth." But is that assertion true? Is it anybody else's rightful concern where the money received by such a person making the statement goes?

Let's do a little analyzing before we reach a definite agreement with the assertion. If the loyalty of others were the same as that of the person making the statement, how long would that person have a job or have a business? How long would there be a town here, churches and schools, police and fire protection? Who would pay the taxes to provide these community facilities?

Yes, every citizen, wage-earner and business man and his family alike, has a very definite obligation of loyalty to the community that serves him. If he makes his livelihood here, he owes the reciprocal support of the community's enterprises both to himself and his fellow citizens.

If the car dealer sells his cars to the local groceryman, dry goods merchant, hardware dealer, printing establishment, doctor and druggists, then he is duty-bound to buy his food, clothes, hardware, printing, drugs and professional services at home. If the local doctor is supported by the local citizenship, then he and his family need to buy their supplies and services here. If the banker makes his living from local accounts and interest, then he and his family have an obligation to fulfill in their home town with their patronage. And that goes for the printer, too, mind you!

The wage-earner who is provided a job in Hamlin, who sends his children to schools made possible by business taxes, also has the home town loyalty obligation to discharge.

As money spent at home helps to make the future of the merchant and employee more secure the golden rule of local spending is truly a responsibility of us all.—Hamlin Herald

SOLVING WORLD PROBLEMS

We were fortunate to have the privilege of listening in on a conversation the other day between men who are in position to know much more than we have learned. One man asserted that the world can never recover from its ills until a strong man or woman arises who has the power to control world affairs.

Another one said that he could not believe the first declaration that the job was for one man dictatorship. He did not believe that a dictator could ever get control of a nation like America. That the only reason Russia was such a powerful nation today, if it really is, hidden behind the iron curtain, was the mistakes of America in giving Russia so much control over such a valuable territory.

A third man settled the argument with the declaration that Christianity was the only solution of the ills of the world. That he could not conceive of a God who would give the people all of the benefits of the world and then go away to allow the mistakes of mankind to wreck the whole creation. He believes that in spite of the cussedness of man right now that a strong religious tendency would soon sweep the world to settle the differences between man and nations.

We remained quiet because we have no solution to the problems of the day. We are in a terrible mess, the best that we can see.—Canyon News

MEMPHIS WILL SEND BOOSTER BUNCH TO PLAINVIEW MEETING—Memphis businessmen will send representatives to the meeting of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce at Plainview next week. This will be done because the businessmen recognize the need for a strong and influential body to look after and protect interests of this section, particularly in regard to freight rates on farm products.

Some good results have been obtained through cooperation with both the Panhandle Chamber of Commerce and the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

COURT ORDERS ROAD BOND ELECTION ON SATURDAY JUNE 17—In compliance with a petition signed by 495 Hall County voters and presented to the commissioners court last Saturday an election on a $500,000 road bond issue has been set for June 17 by the court.

The law makes the calling of such an election mandatory upon the court when a petition with 50 or more signers is presented.

N. M. Lindsey's To Observe 40th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Lindsey who have made Memphis their home for the past 30 years, will observe their 40th wedding anniversary quietly at their home, 521 North 14th Street, Friday, October 23.

Although the Lindseys are not planning a celebration, Mr. Lindsey said they would be happy to have any of their friends drop in for a visit on that day.

Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey were married in Fannin County, Texas on October 23, 1913, where they lived until moving to Memphis in 1923. Soon after coming to Memphis, Mr. Lindsey was employed as caretaker of the Fairview Cemetery, a job which he held until last year when he was forced to resign due to ill health.

Mr. Lindsey has sold monuments and maintained a small nursery, selling various kinds of shrubs and plants throughout the years.

Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey are members of the First Baptist Church. The Lindseys have three children, and 6 grandchildren. None of the children will be able to be here on Friday. The children are Mrs. Thelma Anderson of Roosevelt, Minn., Mrs. J. C. Baker of Roswell, N. M. and E. H. Lindsey of Amarillo.

Mrs. Ora Carter of Fort Worth arrived in Memphis Monday to visit with her sister, Mrs. Orville Goodpasture and family.

Fares Are Reduced On Educational Trips

Reduced round trip coach fares will be available during the current school year for student groups making specified types of educational trips, according to John McMicken, agent here for the Fort Worth & Denver Railway.

Trips, on which students will be entitled to lower fares, include those to visit art institutes, museums, educational institutions, public buildings, historical sites, and other places of interest.

Fares will vary according to the size of groups and parties with as few as 15 in them, will be eligible. Further information may be obtained at the railroad station here.

Malcolm Martin and Don Paul Howell, who are attending Allen Military Academy, visited with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Martin and Mr. and Mrs. Haskell Howell, over the weekend. The Martins went for the boys on Saturday and the Howells carried them back to school on Monday.

RUSSIA AND THE HYDROGEN BOMB: Much has been said and written in the past several weeks about Russia and the development of the Hydrogen bomb. That Russia has developed near future perfect such a bomb, should not come as a surprise to anyone. Least of all to those who are charged primarily with the defense of this country. In the first place, history will reflect that all newly designed or conceived weapons of warfare do not remain secret as between nations for any lengthy period of time. Scientific minds in all countries are constantly devoted to research in an effort to discover some new and novel means for man to destroy man. No one nation has a monopoly on brains. Therefore, this age-old mad race will continue until an ever increasing tempo until man someday awakens to the fact that the dedication of the effort to peaceful pursuits will bring much greater rewards and benefits to mankind everywhere. Until that time comes, this country has no choice other than to meet the challenges of those who subscribe to the policy of world domination. Russia knows full well our capabilities in this field. She knows that the United States could not be destroyed by any kind of bomb or explosive she could invent or devise. She knows also that should she be foolish enough to drop a bomb on this country, it would be only a matter of minutes before Russia would be subjected to the most devastating retaliation ever witnessed by man. We have bases so located strategically that it would be much less possible for Russia to defend against that retaliation than it would for us to defend against her act of aggression in bringing the bomb to our shores. As crazy as Russian thinking seems to be, I do not think she is yet ready to commit suicide.

Loss Of Sleep Detrimental To Life And Health

AUSTIN—Sleep is a necessity of life and health, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, and habitual loss of sleep will tend to retard the body's recovery from the fatigue of the day's activities.

"We may be able to go without sleep for a night or two, but too little sleep for a prolonged length of time will undermine the health of a rugged person and turn a cheerful individual into a cross, irritable one," Dr. Cox said. "When good health can be maintained to such a large degree by merely sleeping and thus allowing overtaxed bodies and minds to regain a proper balance, it is hard to understand why so many persons are heedless of this necessary requirement of a balanced program of life."

Some individuals need more sleep than others, the Doctor said, and the most valuable experiments in this line are the ones each person makes on himself. We must take into consideration in this experiment, however, that how well we sleep is as important as how long we sleep. A "good night's rest" means a sufficient number of hours spent in sleep to enable each individual to feel well and efficient work, and to keep a cheerful humor the next day.

"Some exercise out of doors each day will help us to sleep soundly at night. We must also have fresh air in our sleeping quarters. Give as much consideration as possible to the comfort of your bed and bedclothes. Do not mull over your problems and ideas after you have gone to bed. Make your plans early in the evening for a good night's rest by slowing down from the physical and mental work of your daily life. When you arise each morning rested and with a feeling of general well-being, you will be amply repaid for your thought in planning a good-night's sleep."

If they are not, then there should be a re-evaluation of what we are doing in the over-all government programs both civil and military, with the thought in mind of rearranging, reassigning and reallocating funds to the end that the objectives can be attained with available revenue. If such funds then appear to be insufficient, the American taxpayer should be given the plain simple facts about the deficiency and the need. The result will be that the people of this country will rise to the occasion as they have so many times in the past, and the needs for adequate defense will be provided. People do not mind being taxed when they know that

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas

LAWS ON CHANGE OF NAME EXPLAINED

Tired of your name? Perhaps you can change it. To most of us our name is too much an integral part of our everyday life to want to change it. There are occasions, however, when a legal change of name is desired, and Texas law contains provisions for changing the names of individuals, business firms and corporations.

Being tired of a name is not sufficient in itself to warrant a legal change. There are occasions, however, when a change of name may be of sufficient benefit to a person to justify a change under the statutes. For example, a name may be so long and cumbersome or so difficult to pronounce as to become a business or social handicap.

A legal change of an individual's name in this state involves a procedure in District Court. The person desiring a change must file an application in proper form in District Court of the county of his residence, setting forth the reasons for his desire for a new name. If the Judge is convinced that it is for the interest or benefit of the applicant to change his name, he may decree that the adopted name of the person shall be substituted for his original name.

In addition to the provisions for change of name in ordinary cases, our laws permit the court in entering a divorce decree to include an order changing the name of either party especially petitioning for such a change in proper manner during the proceedings.

Provisions for changing the name of a minor are the same as for an adult, except that the application for change must be filed by his guardian or "next friend." By this latter term is meant a parent or some other person who is looking after the interests of the minor.

A change of name will not be allowed to injure third persons under our laws. The change does not operate to release the applicant from any responsibility which he may have incurred under his original name. Nor will it defect or destroy any rights or property or causes of action which the person may have had or held in his original name.

Any person transacting business in Texas under any name other than his real name is required to file in the County Clerk's office in each county in which he conducts his business an "assumed name certificate," giving the name of the business and the true full name and post office address of each person carrying on the business. Whenever there is a change in ownership or in the name of the business, a new certificate is required to be filed setting out the facts.

Whenever the name of a corporation is changed, Texas law requires that its corporate charter must be amended and the amendment filed with the Secretary of State.

(This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform—not advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts because the facts may change the application of the law.)

"Bigger pies, not smaller slices"

We ran across a new word the other day... "demographer." That's a research man who studies statistics on births, deaths, populations.

Well, it seems the United States will have 20 million more people aboard by 1960, or thereabouts. Logical enough. We gained 20 million people in the forties.

Bigger pies are the order of the day. In the electrical industry, for instance, men with sharp pencils have figured that demand for electric power will have doubled during the decade ending in 1960. More power equipment is therefore needed. More electrical machinery for industry.

And better pies. Americans insist on better products, year by year. Somebody has to pioneer things. Looking ahead for five, ten, fifteen years—creating new and better products and improving old ones—that is the business of General Electric. For seventy-five years progress has been our most important product.

The babies who come into the world today won't want smaller slices of the world's goods and opportunities. Or even the same slice. They'll want more. Wait and see. Nothing less is worth planning for by the people who must organize for the future. It's no job for pessimists.

You can put your confidence in—

Sammy Kaye's Band To Be At Wellington

Sammy Kaye and his orchestra with their famous feature, "So You Want to Lead A Band," make their only dance stop in the Panhandle Thursday night, October 29, when they play at the community building in Wellington sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post.

This is the latest of many famous name bands brought to Wellington by the VFW, whose dances are so well known to the people of Memphis.

Four full hours of entertainment are offered, beginning at 9:00 p. m. Russell Yates, entertainment chairman of the VFW announced. Kaye's only other stop in the Panhandle is a concert engagement.

Advance tickets are on sale and may be secured by writing Mr. Yates at Wellington.

Sammy Kaye's famous audience-participation stunt, "So You Want to Lead A Band," will highlight the evening. Two men and two women are chosen at random from the audience to lead the band. Each receive as "Swing and Sway" baton.

"If you've always wanted—consciously or subconsciously—to lead a band, your chance is as good as anyone's," Yates assured. The Wellington community building has ample seating arrangements for those who prefer listening to dancing.

Safety Award For Texas Is Won By County 4-H Clubs

Hall County has been selected as the champion Texas county in the 4-H Farm and Home Safety Awards program, according to information received here by County Agent W. B. Hooser. The State Judging Committee of the Texas Extension Service made the selection. A plaque is to be sent here in recognition of outstanding safety work done by 4-H Club members in the county.

County club members have won the award several times previously.

Sunday night, another .50 of moisture was recorded here. Rain Tuesday night added 1.10 inches, and .07 more fell Wednesday night.

The Tuesday night precipitation apparently was heavier in the Newlin-Estelline section, and approaches to a culvert on the road leading from Highway 287 into Newlin, were undermined by torrents of water in the bar ditch. County crews repaired the damage early Wednesday morning.

Rain, 3 miles southeast of Memphis Sunday night, amounted to about one inch, and rain fell west of town.

A total of 1.50 inches was recorded Tuesday night, southeast of here. Clarendon and Hedley had about an inch each, Lakeview and Parnell reported about the same amounts, and fall at Turkey was reported to have been half an inch. North of Lakeview, rains, totaling as much as 4 inches, were reported.

Temperature extremes here during the past week, according to McMicken, were as follows last Thursday 52-79 degrees; Friday 57-82; Saturday 58-82; Sunday 56-81; Monday 58-81; Tuesday 60-74; Wednesday 56-77. Low last night was 54 degrees.

peared early in the 19th century. The 50 shops, mills, houses, churches, tavern and general store are arranged in a 200-acre meadow, woodland and river shore. Of these, 30 are used for extensive displays of early objects ranging from crude farm implements to delicate household furnishings. After spending several hours at this very interesting place, the Grazianis took us to their beautiful home where we spent a soul-gratifying two hours recalling Memphis memories.

Tuesday, we left Worcester for Providence, R. I. This city, unlike most other cities, has its showiest places centering around the R. R. station. The state capitol buildings and grounds on one side, sky scrapers and fine hotel on the other.

From Providence, we had a shoreline ride to New York, passing through New London and New Haven, Conn. Ocean going steamers—passenger and freight—were frequently seen near at hand. Also factories of all kinds along the line. Very few farms were noted, and but few milk cows and chickens. It seems all the inhabitants work in town or in factories.

Our next stop was in Washington, D. C. where we spent two days viewing the changes made since 1934, when I was pro-reader at the Government Printing Office for seven months. There are a good many old friends who would have enjoyed seeing but due to time limit did not get to see but a few. Among that number were Vance Johnson, who started on his successful career as reporter for The Democrat, and is now Washington correspondent for the San Francisco Examiner and the other two were Mr. and Mrs. Nugent E. (Zeke) Brown, who also were with The Democrat four years ago.

Here is something for Robert Ripley's Believe It or Not column: When we left home three weeks ago we were informed that our nephew, Orville Wells, of Wellington who has been with the Internal Revenue Bureau in Washington for 17 years, was being transferred to Omaha, Neb., Oct. 5. Because of this information we did not try to contact him. Get this: On the afternoon of our last day in Washington, we started across Pennsylvania Avenue, and in the center of a half stop we met Orville face to face, and in the center of a half a million population city. He had changed his mind about going to Omaha.

To make a long story short, we went with him to his home over in Virginia and spent a happy evening with him, his charming wife and two sweet little daughters.

The next day we traveled to Greensboro, N. C. From there we came through the scenic Smoky and Blue ranges into Asheville. From here we go by Knoxville and Memphis, Tenn. Then our last lap will be by way of McLean to Memphis, Texas. See you next week!

The present motor fuel tax refund for non-highway uses should be maintained.

That we reaffirm the Farm Bureau stand in supporting the REA, that where electric and telephone services are not available to farmers and ranchers, at a reasonable rate, the REA Program should be expanded to permit these services. Where adequate generation facilities and transmission lines are not available, the right to build these cooperatively must be maintained.

take-home pay than before, he declared.

The congressman warned of the danger of spending more building up our armed forces than is necessary.

"We are willing to pay the price for national security in material goods, because God forbid that we ever have to pay it in blood again.

"But what we need to do, is to find out how large each military service—the Army, the Air Force and the Navy—should be to best guarantee our national security."

Rogers said that near the close of the last session of Congress, President Eisenhower asked that the national debt limit be raised from 275 billion dollars to 290 billions.

"Many sincere people wanted this but I was against it and I voted against it," Rogers said.

The congressman explained that he did this because there were 3 billions to go before the debt limit was reached, and in addition another 8.9 billions in cash balances.

"Why shouldn't that be used to pay bills?" he asked, adding that although it was the government's money, the government was receiving no interest on it.

He said a proposal was made to appropriate 5 billions in government securities to meet expenses but the move was defeated.

This meant a saving of from 150 to 180 million dollars yearly to citizens, since that would have been the amount of interest that would have had to be paid on the securities, he said.

Ace Gailey, president of the local Lions Club, introduced Rogers.

Before this, Rufus Gribham, president of the Rotary Club, recognized guests.

The program opened with group singing, led by Clyde Greene, followed by the invocation by W. D. Young.
