Anesthesiologists And Pathologists Are Important Medical Specialists

The duties and responsibilities of two medical specialists, the anesthesiologist and the pathologist, may not be well understood by the average person.

The anesthesiologist, who with the surgeon shares the responsibility for the patient's safety during surgery, has the following specific functions to perform:

1. To review the patient's record and confer with the attending physician to find out the patient's general condition before surgery in preparation for giving the anesthetic.

2. To decide, in conference with the surgeon, the anesthetic and method of anesthesia, also the drugs (if they are to be used) to be given beforehand to relieve fear and tension and make the anesthetic easier and more comfortable for the patient.

3. To keep a constant watch on the patient's condition during surgery by counting the pulse and respiration, measuring the blood pressure, watching the patient's color and general appearance, and other similar measures.

4. To report at intervals on the patient's progress to the surgeon, who, although perhaps he has to concentrate chiefly on the details of the surgical technique nevertheless is deeply interested in this vital information.

5. To see that the patient's condition remains good throughout surgery by giving blood transfusions, injections of fluids by vein, and other drugs as needed.

6. To keep an accurate written record of all important data about the operation. 7. To return the patient to his bed, to see that a nurse or attendant stays with him as long as needed, and in consultation with the surgeon to leave instructions for the patient's care after surgery.

The usual domain of the anesthesiologist is the operating room; that of the pathologist is the hospital's laboratory. The pathologist is a physician who limits his practice to laboratory medicine, which is basically concerned with the nature and causes of disease. His tools are the microscope, incubator, centrifuge, and other equipment commonly found in the medical laboratory.

The field of duties of the pathologist is vast; his examination usually contributes greatly toward diagnosis. As examples, he performs and interprets special tests, examines tissue removed at operation or autopsy, studies bacteria—helpful and harmful, and studies blood and problems of blood transfusion.

By his diagnosis the pathologist also influences directly or indirectly the course of treatment. A pathological report on tissue examined during operation may determine whether surgery is to be conservative or radical; the establishment of diagnosis of diabetes through specific tests may determine whether or not insulin therapy is to be used.

The pathologist counsels interns and residents in the skillful use of laboratory procedures and teaches them how to select tests that will cover the requirements of a given bedside problem at the least cost of money and time. He confers with the attending physician as a consultant to work out any laboratory problems that arise and joins other doctors in staff meetings and discussions for the purpose of improving the quality of medical care given patients in the hospital. Finally, he trains medical technicians who work with him, supervises their work, and interprets the results of tests they perform, as well as those he does.

Poppy Sales Here Saturday Total About $150

Poppy sales here Saturday totaled approximately $150, according to Estelle Guthrie, immediate past president of the American Legion Auxiliary here. Auxiliary members sponsored the event, with Mrs. J. J. McMicken as chairman.

Part of the money goes to disabled veterans in Veterans Hospitals in the United States, who made the poppies. The remainder is kept by the Auxiliary members to help in child welfare or in other matters, which may be selected. Last spring, money from the previous year's sale of poppies was used to send Johnnie McDaniel to Girls' State at Austin, Mrs. Guthrie said.

Report From Washington

By Walter Rogers
Congressman, 18th District

WASHINGTON SOCIAL OFFICIALLY OPEN. The White House was the official opening of the social season. The dinner at which was entertained 72 guests was referred to as the "White House Dinner," and is to be one of the more state banquets of the season. The Supreme Court, November 15; Vice President's dinner, December 15; House Speaker's dinner, January 12 for the officials, February 18. State receptions will be held on November 10 for the cabinet, December 1 for the military, and February 18 for the legislative branch.

food at the White House, I am equally sure that he would have preferred beef as the main meat course.

THE RECENT ELECTIONS: Washington has been agog and a-twit about the recent elections in the East. There has been much conjecture as to the meaning of these elections, at which the Democrats gained many offices, including the Governorship of New Jersey and a House seat in New Jersey that had always been occupied by a Republican. The observations of many alleged political intellectuals have been very interesting. Many — including some of the leading Republicans — analyzed the situation as a repudiation of the present administration, saying that it is the result of the failure of the present administration to carry out many campaign promises. Others attribute the upheaval as an indication that the people have not been fully informed and advised as to what is going on. Frankly, I cannot subscribe to either analysis. My observation is that many of the so-called leading politicians generally underestimate the knowledge and understanding of the American people. For many years there has been a tendency on the part of many groups inside of political parties to feel that once their party gets in power, they are endowed with the right to concessions, grants, rights and prerogatives to which other citizens are not entitled and by which the so-called select few can control the American people; that the exercise of these rights is a matter solely within the discretion of those who happen to have the power of majority — a therapy that unless you belong to the party in power, you are entitled to little, if any, consideration.

The truth is that the American people are wide awake; they have a full understanding and knowledge of what is going on. They do not believe in political chicanery, 4 to 5 per cent deals, influence peddling, or any other practice that smacks of political favoritism. They fully realize that this age-old political disease is not peculiar to one particular party. They want, and are entitled to, a fair, honest and efficient government, without favoritism to a select few.

Washington social season officially open. One writer at the dinner pointed out that the dinner one lady knew when she could be advised by a waiter of 20 years service since the President did not until after the dinner concluded.

I am sure Mr. Bentley, Secretary of Agriculture, will complain about the

LAFF OF THE WEEK

"This wasn't exactly what I had in mind when I asked you out for a drink, Miss Jarvis."

When that kind of government is not the order of the day, those in power can expect to be repudiated at the polls. This is true whether the election be on a local, state or national level. As was once said by Abraham Lincoln, "You can fool some of the people all of the time, and all of the people some of the time, but you can't fool all of the people all of the time."

PERSONAL SITUATION: Washington is rather quiet, which gives me an opportunity to catch up with the large backlog of work at the office here. Our baby girl, who had the mumps, has recovered and is back in school. So far, there are no indications that the other children will have them. At least, Jean and I are hoping. If they others turn up with them, they will no doubt declare an epidemic prevailing in the Capitol City.

Mrs. Wayne Hutcherson, who is receiving medical treatment in an Amarillo hospital, spent the weekend with her family.

Declining Prices And High Costs Squeeze Farmers

COLLEGE STATION—Texas farms and ranches produce commodities for consumption, but due to declining prices farmers have been caught in a cost-price squeeze.

The purchasing power of farm prices for all products a year ago was 103 per cent of parity. Today, the national average is 92 per cent. With agricultural prices trending downward, C. H. Bates, farm management specialist, says it is more important today than before to avoid costly haphazard methods of production.

It is expected that production outlays including cost of machinery fuel, feed, fertilizer and labor will gradually decline with farm prices, Bates says. But while this adjustment is coming about, he adds, the state's agriculturists are suffering a hardship and less efficient operators feel the pinch more than others. What steps can farmers take to broaden the gap between outlay and production?

First, says Bates, study market reports and livestock information to benefit from wise selling and more profitable marketing.

Use moderate judgement and look for places to cut expenses. Don't overlook the use of machinery to save labor costs, but buy the design of machine suited to specific needs. Wages now are four times as high as in 1941. In comparison, he points out, farm machinery has only doubled in price.

Use credit to the best advantage.

Deer And Turkey Outlook In State Appears Only Fair

AUSTIN—Texas deer and turkey have rallied somewhat from the severe drought period and prospects are for a fair season, according to Howard D. Dodgen, executive secretary of the Game and Fish Commission.

The annual big game hunt under the General State Law opens November 16 and continues through December 31. There are special seasons for larger areas like West of the Pecos, Panhandle and Possum Kingdom, as well as several special dates on the county level. Bag limits and shooting hours likewise vary.

An expected 100,000 hunters will take to the field for the fall classic. The kill on deer usually runs about 40,000 in Texas. The turkey harvest is estimated at close to 6,000. Both deer and turkey suffered from the prolonged drought but rains beginning in the late summer have at least partly relieved the crisis, on the basis of reports to Dodgen.

Even in Deep South Texas the deer have rallied, although there was some dieoff in the heat of the summer. Game Warden Supervisor Herbert Ward of Catarina and Supervisor John E. Hearn of Cotulla agreed that deer were on the upturn although some ranchers in their area will restrict the harvest.

Game Warden Supervisor G. M. Stricklin of Beeville said deer are coming back in his area which embraces the lower coastal plain.

In the Hill Country, game wardens reported a definite pickup in deer prospects and said wild turkey were slowly rallying from three bad hatching seasons.

Dodgen advised hunters to study their Game Law Digests on hunting regulations and to look up the local game wardens for any additional information needed.

But use it wisely. Don't operate your farm with too much labor and machinery. All too often lower unit costs can be gained by handling more land or keeping the maximum number of livestock that can be handled. Take advantage of price supports where they are available. Keep a complete set of records. Farming is a business and deserves the best managerial practices, Bates says.

"And, don't be afraid to make changes," Bates concludes. "Don't be the last to accept new and improved agricultural practices."

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Currin, Mrs. Thomas Hudspeth and Miss Betty Paschall visited relatives in Dallas over the weekend.

PUZZLE Who got the hundred million dollars?

He walked into our office seven years ago, sat down. We knew the customer. And a wonderful credit rating he had, too.

Said he wanted airplane engines. By that time blueprints were scattered all over the place.

He was taking no chances. Not one engine would he accept without testing first, stripping apart, building up again, and testing once more. Hmm!

And more. Every engine he bought would be overhauled after 15 running hours.

He didn't say so, but he must have known we would have ideas, too. (Lights burn all night when engineers at our place see ways to improve things we make.)

The climax was last August. The customer announced that he would allow 1,200 hours flying time from these G-E engines before an overhaul.

In other words, 80 times as many hours without overhaul as seven years ago. And today only every tenth engine is tested twice before delivery because of what has been referred to as the "perfection rate" of G-E jet engines.

Oh, yes. The hundred million dollars. With General Electric engines now giving extended service, not so many are needed. Improvements have saved the customer that much in five years.

P. S. Who's the customer? The U. S. Air Force. And what was the engine? The J-47 jet engine.

And who got the hundred million dollar saving? Who profits from more Air Force per dollar? The taxpayer, everybody. This story is one more example of what happens where research men and engineers are at work. Products gain in efficiency, do more. New products emerge, and the public is always the gainer.

You can put your confidence in— GENERAL ELECTRIC

Texas Tech Play To Be Presented Here, Sat., Nov 21

Members of the Texas Tech speech department will present Moliere's play, "The Miser," Saturday night, Nov. 21, in the high school auditorium here. Curtain time is 7:30 o'clock.

Reserved seats will be $1. General admission will be 75 cents for adults and 50 cents for students. Part of the proceeds will go to the speech department of the local high school.

Ronald Schulz, instructor in speech at Tech, directs the 17th century comedy.

Harried Henderson stars as Elise, Harpagon's daughter, and Fritz Stanley plays Harpagon, the miser whose distorted sense of values makes the play one of the early days' funniest.

The student production will go on a week's tour, starting Nov. 16, after six performances in Lubbock for the Tech student body.

G. DeBerry, the following program was given: Pledge to the flags and U. D. C. Ritual by group. Mrs. O. R. Goodall read an interesting article from the U. D. C. magazine, "Ministers, Priests and Chaplains of the Confederacy."

"Historic Churches of the South" was given by Mrs. Bray Cook.

During the social hour, the hostess, Mrs. Baskerville, served delicious refreshments to Meses. J. H. Norman, J. A. Odom, L. G. DeBerry, Frank Wright, Bray Cook, O. R. Goodall and Herlie Moreman.

The purchasing power of farm prices for all products a year ago was 103 per cent of parity. Today the national average is about 92 per cent thus the cost-price squeeze becomes even tighter for agricultural producers.

B TEAM DEFEATS WELLINGTON AND LOSES TO CHILDRESS PAST WEEK

The Memphis B football squad won one game and lost another during the past week. Last Thursday night, the local team defeated the Wellington B squad, 32-13, in a contest played in Cyclone Stadium. Tuesday night of this week, the Memphis boys went to Childress, where they were outscored by that city's B team, 31-12.

This gives the Memphis team a season record of four wins and four losses, according to Nolan Potset, B squad coach.

Local players came through the Wellington game with no injuries of consequence.

The game was played in mud and cold temperatures, which handicapped members of both squads.

Memphis tallied in every quarter. Wellington scored once in the first quarter and once in the third quarter.

Potset said the Childress team was bigger and more powerful and had some fast backs that Memphis players could not bring down. He said this represented the difference in the squads.

Several of the Memphis boys were injured slightly in the game but will be ready for the contest with the Clarendon B team, which is to be played in Cyclone Stadium, next Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Robert Hodges, fullback, was knocked out and had his neck injured. Kenneth Taylor, halfback also suffered a neck injury, and Don Davis, halfback, had his right arm hurt.

The first quarter was scoreless. Both teams tallied in the second quarter but failed to add the extra point, making the half-time score, 6-6.

In the third quarter, Childress scored twice and Memphis once all tries for extra point being unsuccessful.

Childress crossed the Memphis goal line again in the fourth quarter and plunged over for the extra point.

Mrs. Foster Holds Childress P-TA Class

Mrs. Henry Foster, vice-president of the Eighth District of the Texas Parent-Teachers Association, conducted a Parent-Teachers Association school of instruction in Childress last Thursday.

The City Council, three Childress P-TA units, and the Kirkland P-TA participated in the school. Considerable interest and enthusiasm was shown in the work.

Mrs. Jim Vallance accompanied Mrs. Foster to Childress.

YOUNG PEOPLE TO BE PROUD OF

At a time when more and more is being heard across the nation about the alarming rise in juvenile delinquency, we of Memphis and vicinity can be extremely proud of our young people.

This contrasts with communities all over the United States that are having ever increasing trouble with their youth.

It is to be expected that youthful spirits will get out of bounds occasionally. As long as it amounts to only minor high jinks, few or no people will become too aroused.

But when boys and girls begin doing things which are criminal, that is something else entirely.

Innocent fun which actually hurts nobody and causes no material damage is one thing but maliciousness which culminates in theft, destruction of property, robbery, beatings, gang fights—and even murder—is something to make any right-minded person stop and think.

The latest Newsweek tells of 25 girls from 13 to 17 years of age who went in for shoplifting in Washington State, and of 7-and-9-year-old brothers who slipped out of bed and looted a service station while their parents were nightclubbing.

The Newsweek article also cites the case of a 14-year-old Utah gun moll who swapped shots with policemen, then complained, "I hate cops; I wish I had got me one."

The age of youthful offenders has been descending and crimes committed have become more and more violent and senseless, according to Newsweek.

At one time city slums were given the major blame for juvenile delinquency but this is no longer true, as this condition now reaches into white-collar and well-to-do families.

One officer, New Orleans Police Captain William A. Walker, Sr., in charge of juveniles, declared: "You can take most . . . poor kids, fix them up with a ball game, give them a little equipment, and they are happy as larks. Most of the defiance, the insolence, and downright viciousness is exhibited by kids from well-to-do families, or those in moderate circumstances."

Contributing to juvenile delinquency, according to an FBI report, are poor home conditions, lack of religion, lack of healthy, organized recreation, inadequate school systems, availability of salacious literature and entertainment glorifying crime, and physical and mental defects.

It is our belief that the key to the entire problem is the home. If parents have taught their children to respect them—and have deserved that respect—and to be respectful and courteous to others, we have a feeling that not many of these children will intentionally do things which will hurt their elders.

If records of juvenile delinquents could be studied, it likely would be found that the youths had never known real parental love and guidance, and in other words that their elders had failed to provide the things which the youngsters wanted and needed most.

Since the young people of Memphis and vicinity are respectful and well-behaved, it follows that their parents have loved and cared for them to the best of their ability.

This area is fortunate in having such families.

QUOTING OUR NEIGHBORS

Press Paragraphs—

STORES NEED REMODELING

Panhandle stores are in great need of remodeling. Our store fronts and fixtures are not in keeping with 1953 shopping conditions.

If the 1953 automobile dealer were to offer you a brief 1628 model car, you would scoff at him. Yet, there are Panhandle stores that have not changed a bit in front or fixtures in 25 years.

Efficient retail stores fight for a large volume of business with as low a margin of profit as possible in order to contribute to our high standard of living.

America has made tremendous strides in production. Retail outlets need to do everything possible to make sales quickly and conveniently.

SCHOOL ZONE DRIVING

School days are here again, and the need of being careful in school zones is once again being brought to the attention of the motorists, as well as the law regarding school buses. Most drivers know that they are supposed to come to a full stop when overtaking a school bus that has stopped, and then proceed at a prudent speed not to exceed 10 miles an hour. But what a lot of Texans do not seem to know is that the law says that you shall do the same thing when meeting a school bus that has stopped.

In spite of the information contained above, I have seen motorists pass stopped school buses at 30, 40 and 60 miles an hour. And from now on I intend to start turning them in to the Highway Patrol if I can read the number. It might be a good idea for other people to do the same thing.

APPRECIATION

Recently the County Wide News has received several letters expressing the appreciation of the writers for some small favors done them in the course of publishing this family journal.

Of course we always appreciate someone taking the time to say "thank you," but that is not what prompted this item.

We wonder how many of us realize how good a feeling such things leave with the recipient. Sort of a "flowers for the living" idea. It takes so little to make some people happy, and one of the easiest ways to spread a bit of joy is to tell someone "thanks."

That one little word goes a long long way. Try it sometime.

TURNING IN NEWS

The newspaper appreciates its friends and readers who tell us or phone the news about themselves, their families and their friends. News about people is a newspaper's stock in trade. Most of it the newspaper gets free of charge and it is appreciated.

Of course there are editors and reporters and typesetters and makeup men and pressmen and those who mail out the paper; there are bookkeepers and circulation managers and advertising managers and salesmen; it takes all of these to write and get the news into the paper and out to the readers.

POLITICAL POT* BOILING

Texas' governor continues to be in the limelight as the political pot boils, particularly as regards relations between Texans and the hierarchy in the national Democratic organization. It can be taken for granted, we think, that the governor and those who think the way he does, are not going to be happy in their relations with the national group until it becomes apparent that Mr. Truman is not running the show. Texas' leading political figure simply cannot go along with the Truman philosophy. Which is a Democrat and which is not, according to the idea of the majority of Texans, will be the question decided when the smoke of the battles has cleared away. —Floyd County Hesperian

The 1928 total comes as a distinct surprise to many who are familiar with local conditions. Estimates had ranged from 60,000 to 85,000 bales. Scores believed the 1926 figure of 72,020 would not be reached.

America's Meaning Told State-Winning Essay

America Means To Me
SUE MILLER

Member of the year 1690, the Mayflower anchored off the coast of North America. On board this tiny group of people had come of a new way of life. They did not expect great riches, but they expected a law unto themselves. They were in search of the rights of every American today: freedom of the press, freedom of religion, and freedom of thought.

When they went ashore, the leaders persuaded forty men to sign an alliance to set up a government that would be just and equal laws. This was the beginning of the greatest democracy in the world: The United States. Later, the four freedoms were guaranteed to every man in a contract between the government and the people. This document is the foundation of the United States. It gave us independence and freedom under the lucky circumstances that those who opposed us were embroiled in wars in Europe. We had to defend a population of savage white Europeans who landed on these shores to build a new nation across the Atlantic to the Pacific. It entailed adventure and blood; it built a new nation.

At its beginnings, we were possessed of such leadership as it has been the good fortune to have. Independence

Everyone's Duty To Help Prevent Spread Of Disease

AUSTIN—Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, says that it is the duty of every citizen, young and old, to help in preventing the spread of disease. Every man, woman and child in Texas has a personal obligation to keep as well as possible, and to do all they can to protect others from illness. Even a child in kindergarten can be taught to cover a cough or sneeze and thus help in preventing the spread of colds or other diseases that start with the symptoms of a cold.

Dr. Cox emphasizes the fact that the local health officer can do little to break the chain of communicable disease in the community if he does not have the whole-hearted support of the people. Every case of illness that looks suspicious of being a communicable disease should be promptly reported to the health officer. Physicians report to the county or city health officer the cases of communicable diseases they diagnose, but parents often fail in this duty. The local health officer cannot start control measures unless he is informed of cases or suspected cases of communicable diseases.

Some signs and symptoms which often accompany communicable disease are: running nose, coughing and sneezing, dizziness or faintness, swelling about the neck, sore throat, unusual paleness, ear ache or running ears, feverish appearance, rash, nausea, vomiting or diarrhea and irritability or other change in normal behavior and appearance.

Help to prevent the spread of communicable disease in your neighborhood by observing correct health practices and reporting promptly and appearance of suspicious symptoms.

Mrs. Eunice Stovall and daughter and Mrs. J. C. Shields of Lelia Lake visited here Tuesday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. May.

What we defend this faith.

America is a democracy based upon sound principles that have nothing to do with ideology. It is a society both individualistic and co-operative. Americans are patriotic, but not nationalist in the imperial sense, and their patriotism is least expressed in flag waving and oratory. The oath to the flag is every American's sincere wish for "Liberty and Justice for all."

America not only has the world's highest standard of living, but the most human standard of life and relationship: pulling people up instead of pushing them down. It means belonging to a nation of friends, and doing as one would be done by. Americans have the greatest opportunities, because people are willing to do any kind of honest work. No true citizen thinks any worthwhile task is degrading.

As an American, I gratefully realize that I am heir to a vast material and spiritual inheritance. Nature itself endowed this land as few nations have ever been blessed. It is rich in soil, timber, and mineral resources; superb in the beauty of its landscape and variety of its climate; imposing in its cities and industries built by hardworking and God-fearing forefathers. There is a security here that exists nowhere else, for Americans have confidence in their government, in their fellow Americans, and in themselves. I am not confident that there will be no reverses in my life or that I shall ever enjoy wealth and luxury, but I am confident that there always will be some kind of opening for my willing and competent hands and head. I am confident that I shall be surrounded by good will and that life in America with its ups and downs, setbacks and frustrations, will be a rewarding adventure.

God Bless America!

Scientists at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station near Sonora report that the control of the common gnat may be the answer to the successful control of bluetongue disease in sheep in Texas.

Three new small grain varieties—Bowie and Travis wheat and Newturk flax—have been developed by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and the USDA for planting in Central and South Texas. Growers should be able to obtain seed of the new flax from certified seed growers for plantings in the fall of 1954 and wheat seed for farmer plantings should be available in the fall of 1955.

November 14 is National 4-H Achievement Day in America and her more than two million 4-H members will join with their local leaders and county extension service agents in the observance.

The big game season will soon be open in Texas and hunters are urged to use common-sense when they are in the field or woods. Hunting accidents can be held to a minimum if the rules of safety and good sportsmanship are followed. Be careful; don't become a hunting accident victim.

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas

CITIZEN'S RIGHTS IN COURT EXPLAINED

Unless you have a close relative who is a lawyer, your opinion of our courts probably is a mixture of hearsay, rumor, mystery and awe.

Most criminals have a good idea of their rights in court, but the average citizen, confronted with a traffic ticket or court summons, has little knowledge of the protections provided for him.

Probably the most fundamental and important right is summarized in the well-known adage, "Every man is innocent until proved guilty."

Another important protection is the right to have a witness whose testimony you may need subpoenaed to appear in court and testify.

It is the duty of every citizen to testify if he has information important to a law suit and is called upon to do so.

Certain other safeguards are valuable to you. A person may refuse to testify in any proceeding if he has a reasonable belief that his testimony could be used as a basis of a criminal proceeding against him.

Our courts provide many safeguards for the innocent against false accusations of crime. But many of these rights would be valueless without the assistance of a lawyer, who has been schooled in legal principles and rules of statute or decision involved.

Every person charged with an infringement of the law has the right to consult counsel before making any plea.

The courts are open to you any time one of your legal rights has been denied or any of your property has been unlawfully taken.

(This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform — not advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts, because the facts may change the application of the law.)

Care Should Be Taken In Purchasing Garments, Clothing Specialist Says

COLLEGE STATION—Are you shopping for a coat or suit? To get your money's worth buy a garment that will keep its looks and provide warmth and wearability for more than one season.

The specialist says once you know the qualities that go into a finely made coat or suit, you have a guide to better buying.

Check for a fabric that will wear well, stand a number of cleanings be color fast, and have a strong weave but a soft texture.

A wise buyer reads the tags provided by the manufacturer and asks additional questions of the salesperson to find out if the fabric is all wool or a mixture, and the quality of the wool.

Feel of the fabric can indicate ability to keep its shape during wear. An indication of good quality wool is a feeling of aliveness and springiness as you crumple the fabric in your hand. If the fiber is a blend, find out what percentage is wool and what the other fibers are.

Consider the lining for it takes real wear in a suit or coat. A practical lining is of medium weight and should match or harmonize the color of the suit.

Fit is an important consideration, for to look well on you, a suit must fit perfectly from shoulder to hemline. Does the jacket hang evenly? Does the skirt fit well without hugging?

In a coat, if it is a free-swinging coat, check to see if it is loose enough at the armholes to give plenty of room for ease of movement. Hunch your shoulders to see if there is strain across the back — button the coat and take a short hike across the room to determine walkability.

DUCK HUNTING IN THIS STATE SHOULD BE GOOD

AUSTIN—Thanks to recent rains a fairly good distribution of duck and goose flights over Texas appears likely, according to Howard D. Dodgen, executive secretary of the Game and Fish Commission.

The main movement of ducks and geese is naturally toward the Gulf Coast areas, the executive secretary said, but the filling of reservoirs and tanks, and general restoration of water areas will help scatter the concentrations and thus provide more sport for Texans.

Dodgen said reports from the north indicate that the bulk of the waterfowl are tarrying in their northland feeding areas because of comparatively mild weather.

Reports from the Gulf Coast show that the recent rains broke a long dry spell and brought water to the Coastal Plains where some of the game seek food after the Gulf marshes are stripped of edible growth.

Hunters are advised by the executive secretary to check with their local wardens if they are uncertain about provisions of the water fowl regulations.

"Conservation" was her subject. A film entitled "You're in the Land" was shown. After the film, Miss Hawkins used slides to show and explain the importance of soil and water conservation. She closed with this thought, "If you, your family, or your friends own or operate land, talk conservation, practice conservation—it's a job for every West Texan."

During the social hour refreshments were served to the guest, Miss Eudora Hawkins, and the following members: Mmes. T. E. Adams, Clifford Farmer, Ward Gurley, Jeannette Irons, Burr Morris, Grover Moss Mills Roberts, L. A. Stilwell, Miss Alma Bruce and the hostess, Mrs. W. E. Leslie.

Following the call to order by the president, Mrs. Bill Leslie, the meeting of The Mizpah Guild, in the home of Mrs. H. A. Finch November second, was opened by Miss Gertrude Rasco with a devotional meditation on the evils of excessive alcoholism. Citing astounding statistics and inviting audience participation, Miss Rasco gave an interesting and enlightening paper on the devastating influence of intoxicating liquors.

During the business portion of the evening's program, plans were formulated for a gathering of the Guild gals' and husbands at the church the evening of November sixteenth for a general clean-up and shine-up of the yellow brick sanctuary on the corner of Eighth and Brice Streets.

Mrs. Herbert Sisk and Mrs. Boyd Rogers were named chairmen of "operation clean-up."

Other matters of business, old and new, were dispensed with in good order. The next feature on the program was an amusing and instructive bit of advice in child guidance under the heading "Focusing On The Children," with humorous asides by the reader, Mrs. Richard Highfill.

Nineteen members answered roll call and enjoyed the delicious refreshments served by the hostess, Mrs. Finch. The meeting was adjourned.

Funeral Services For J. D. Shankle's Brother At Petersburg Last Friday

Funeral services for E. B. Shankle of Petersburg, brother of J. D. Shankle of Memphis, were held at 2 p. m. Friday in the Main Street Church of Christ at Petersburg, with B. M. Litton, minister, officiating. Burial was in the Petersburg cemetery.

J. D. Shankle was unable to attend the funeral but three children who were here on a visit, were present. The children are: Fritz Shankle of Los Angeles, Mrs. Bill Gerlach of Cactus, and Mrs. J. R. Stanley of Big Spring.

E. B. Shankle, 88, pioneer farmer-banker at Petersburg, died last Thursday morning at his home. He had been in failing health for some time but became critically ill last Monday, the date of Mr. and Mrs. Shankle's 69th wedding anniversary.

The couple was married Nov. 2, 1884, and moved to Hale County from Altus, Okla., in 1906. They settled on a farm 2 miles south of Petersburg. They had lived in Petersburg the past 30 years.

In 1916, Mr. Shankle helped organize the first bank in Petersburg, the former Bank of Petersburg. The bank continued operations until it was dissolved in 1919.

In 1921, Mr. Shankle participated in the organization of the present First State Bank of Petersburg. He became its first president and remained in this position until 1932 when he was succeeded by his son-in-law, Tom Davis, now president of the board of directors.

Mr. Shankle was commissioner of Precinct 2 in Hale County for three terms from 1917 to 1923.

He had been a member of the Church of Christ since boyhood, and was an elder in the church for more than 40 years.

A native of Arkansas, he was born Jan. 3, 1865, and moved to Oklahoma while a child.

Survivors, other than the wife and brother, include: four daughters, Mrs. A. Higgins, Fort Worth, Mrs. H. H. Roberson, Petersburg, Mrs. Roy G. Smith, Dimmitt, and Mrs. Tom Davis, Petersburg; a son, L. E. Shankle; and 11 grand children.

Once before, a member of the Potts Chevrolet staff won a major prize in a company contest. That was in 1936, when Don Wright was awarded a Chevrolet sedan.

Dennis became associated with the local automobile firm 14 years ago last August. He has won a number of small prizes but never anything to compare with his latest winning.

"Nothing like this ever happened to me before," Dennis commented quietly Wednesday. "I guess it's something that happens once in a lifetime."

Accompanying Dennis to the Oklahoma City meeting was Dick Shelton, a fellow salesman.

Mud, my friend, is something we had not had for a long time.

A letter from Doc and Mar Rasco at Odessa, enclosing check for the Democrat, states that A. G. Rasco is visiting them until Christmas, and that they enjoy reading the paper very much. He is enjoying meeting old friends here.

Tom Posey, Christian Church minister here, broke down the other day and reluctantly admitted that he is guilty of reading Comments, and was kind enough to say he followed wife and I on our recent trip northeast.

Childress is soon to get up in the city class in so far as telephones are concerned. The Bell Company has announced that a new dial system will be installed there by the middle of 1954. Also, the county judge was attacked Monday by an irate citizen following a heated session of the Commissioners Court over a redistricting issue which was passed by a three to two vote last month for new boundary lines for commissioner precincts.

The Canadian Record's editor, Ben Ezzell, (a former Memphis Democrat editor), quotes this one about Texans as making the rounds in the east. A Boston salesman visited Texas and heard one particular Texan boasting about heroes of the Alamo who, almost alone, held off whole armies. "I'll bet," challenged the Texan, "you never had anybody around Boston as brave as that." "Did you ever hear of Paul Revere?" asked the Bostonian meekly. "Paul Revere," sneered the Texan. "Isn't he the guy who ran for help?"

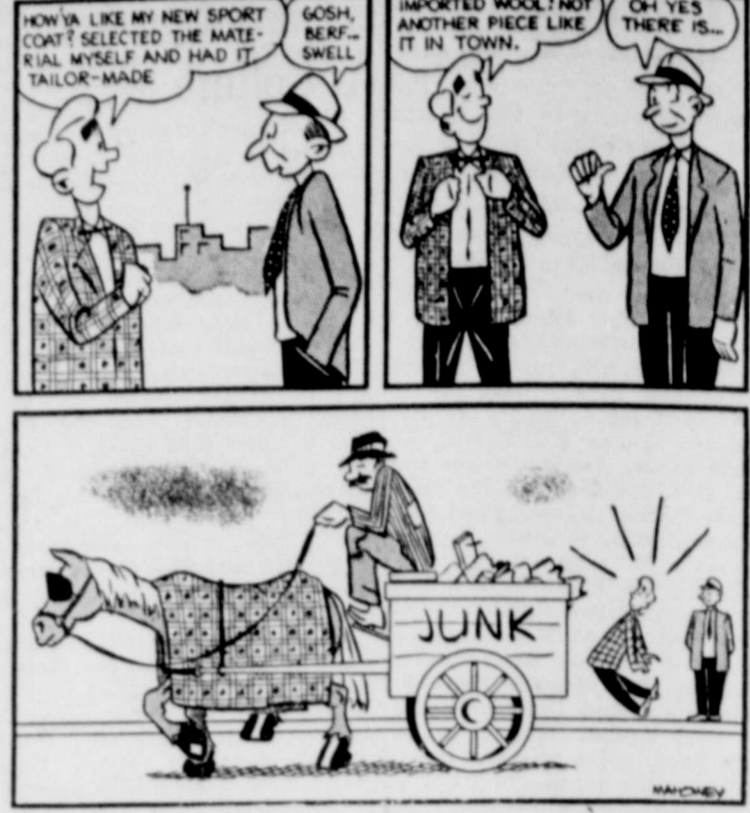

The above story recalled something we heard back east. A lady from Newfoundland told us about going into a cafe in that section of country which advertised the largest hotcakes in the world. When the hot cake was brought to this lady, it was on a platter larger than the dining table, and on it a sign: "Texas has the largest of many things, but we'll be they do not have hotcakes as large as this one."

Mrs. Taylor's car was headed east on Noel Street but was turned around, pointing west, and knocked into a parked car, by the impact, Weatherby said. The third car involved, was parked on the north side of Noel Street, just east of Eighth Street.

Both the Newton and Taylor cars were damaged extensively and had to be towed away.

Newton was fined on for running a stop sign, plead guilty and paid a $5 fine, according to Weatherby.
