Your Senator Reports

By LYNDON B. JOHNSON

RE-STATEMENT: As the tempo of congressional activity increases, I would like to state again my idea of the proper role of the Democratic minority in this Congress.

It is the right and responsibility of the majority to present a legislative program. It is the right and responsibility of the minority to point out the weak and the strong points of this program. Both opposition and support must be based on principle—not on partisanship.

FARM PROGRAM: This means that in considering farm legislation, for example, now the subject of committee hearings in both Senate and House, we must work for a program which will protect our farm economy without being unfair to other groups in our national life.

I oppose the sliding scale price support system—not for the sake of opposition, but because I know farmers already are in trouble and I don't want to see them pushed farther down the economic ladder. We can't get away from the record of history, which shows that the lower farm prices go—the higher farm surpluses rise.

TAXES: This concept of the minority's rightful role means that in considering tax reduction, to take another example, our purpose—during this period of "economic readjustment"—should be to seek the fairest means by which to increase consumer purchasing power.

That is why I favor increasing the personal income tax exemption. A $200 per year increase would mean an annual saving of about $160 for a married man with two children. Every family would have proportionately that much more money to spend for goods.

TREATY POWERS: Debate and voting on the Bricker Amendment was almost wholly along nonpartisan lines. The amendment reported by the Senate Judiciary Committee never came to the floor for a vote. After voting for several provisions designed to close the constitutional loophole with respect to treaty-making powers, I urged Senator George to introduce a substitute amendment that would attain the basic objectives of Bricker Amendment supporters.

He did so. His amendment was supported by Senator Bricker and others among the sponsors of the original amendment. We lost by just one vote.

Nevertheless, a valuable purpose has been served. Americans have been alerted to the need for action to protect the constitutional rights of the States and of the people generally. The issue will be with us again, and I predict that some such measure as proposed

Hill Country Men Get Big Fines For Game Violations

A group of Hill Country men who sold deer and the ones who bought them, have been rounded up, according to Earl Sprott, director of law enforcement for the Texas Game and Fish Commission.

The cases, resulting from the recent big game hunting season, involved 16 defendants in all. Approximately $2000 in fines and court costs were levied on charges made before San Saba Justice of Peace Joe S. Clark.

Charges were filed against participants in San Saba, Abilene, Jacksboro and Bastrop. The specific complaints included selling deer, buying deer, exceeding the bag limit on deer, possession of deer bearing illegal tags, and offering deer for sale.

The largest individual fine was against a San Saba resident. He paid $675 in fines plus costs for selling deer, exceeding the bag limit on deer and possessing deer with illegal tags or without any tags at all.

The roundup was aided, according to the Director, by the two-way radios with which most wardens' cars are now equipped. Officers aiding in the case were what's worse, innocent people frequently lose their lives in the bargain."

Col. Tilley also had a word for reckless pedestrians. He said that while there are few traffic laws governing pedestrian conduct there are safety rules, and pedestrians who don't observe them are their own worst enemies.

He especially warned walkers not to cross the street in mid-block or against traffic lights. He also urged parents to instruct their children in traffic safety rules and to see that the youngsters do not play in the street.

Motorists Warned Against Gambling When Behind Wheel

"Don't gamble when you drive!" This warning was issued to Texas motorists recently by Col. E. B. Tilley of Houston, President of the Texas Safety Association.

He was speaking on behalf of the Know and Obey Traffic laws program being conducted by the Texas Safety Association and the Texas Department of Public Safety.

"The man or woman who flaunts traffic laws, even in minor matters, is flirting with death," Col. Tilley said.

"Proof of the truth of this statement," he said, "can be found in accident records. These records show that in almost all traffic accidents one or more traffic laws are violated by motorists or pedestrians or both."

According to Col. Tilley, the standard of law observance practiced by too many drivers is, "Can I get away with it?" If they think they can, such drivers will break the law every time.

"But very often they don't get away with it," he said. "The law catches up with them, or their recklessness brings about an accident. Either way they lose. And will finally be enacted. FOR TAXES: I believe Texans generally feel, as I do, that all of us are Americans before we are members of any political party. As your Senator, I want to act in the best interests of Texas and of America. I have no higher ambition.

Half-ton beauty with a two-ton punch

THIS new '54 GMC light-duty wasn't born just to win beauty contests.

Sure, its sleek lines, full-width grille and panoramic windshield are handsomely un-trucklike.

There's the same dashing air about the inside, too. Two-tone color scheme. Harmonizing, supple-leather upholstery. Smart instrument panel, with dials clustered for instant reading.

But mister—take another look!

A burly, brawny brute of an engine—a real truck engine—makes you think of a Miss America who also can bend horseshoes. 125 horsepower says that this beauty can heft a top load with ease and dash.

That's more power than some makers pack into their two-ton models. That's more usable power than in any other 6-cylinder engine in its class!

And its wide, deep box holds at least 8 cubic feet more than the roomy '53 model. That tail gate is grain-tight—and sand-tight.

Finally, it offers Truck Hydra-Matic Drive* that saves you, saves your cash, saves your time.

(Note to the luxury-minded: there's a DE LUXE model at extra cost, with chrome grille and trim, two-tone paint, curved rear corner windows—the works!)

Come in and drive this great GMC. It will do all its own selling!

In most cars, each front wheel has a kingpin pivot for turning right and left and two hinge-like joints for moving up and down over rough spots in the road.

In the 1954 Ford you won't find either the kingpin or the hinge-like joints which most cars have. In their place are two sealed ball joints about which each front wheel moves both up and down and right and left. This completely new suspension not only makes the car easier to steer but permits greater total up-and-down front wheel travel for a smoother ride.

These new ball joints pivot in specially shaped seats so that wheels will turn more easily and are far less likely to get "out-of-line." This new ball joint system eliminates 12 points of wear.

Here's how Ford's new Ball-Joint Suspension works

It's just one of the "dividends" you get in a '54 Ford which make it worth more when you buy it, worth more when you sell it!

1913 Study Club Hears Book Review By Mrs. Harrison

"Sironia Texas" by Madison Cooper was reviewed in a most entertaining manner by Mrs. T. M. Harrison as the Texas Day program when the 1913 Study Club met in regular session on Wednesday afternoon, March 3, at the Country Club. Mrs. Mills Roberts was hostess.

As an introduction to the book Mrs. Harrison said, "Sironia Texas" is a giant novel about a small town in Texas and the forces that made it what it is. While Sironia is a very special place it might be any town or city in America. The characters are your neighbors. Some you will hate, all of them you will come to understand as the story progresses.

"The author says Texas isn't all cattle and oil wells for Sironia lies in a rolling farm country and like Rome is built on hills with a society so closely knit that everybody knows everybody else and so stratified that everybody knows his place.

"The three Hill families, old southern aristocrats, all descended from the town's founder, Jule Sironia, with an unwavering belief in their own divine belief. Then there are poor relatives, on the edge of greatness and the negro world lying in the shadow of the white world.

"This is a story of floods, fires, suicides, murders, countless seductions and one of the most lurid lurchings ever portrayed in fiction." Mrs. Harrison pointed out.

"Among other things Mr. Cooper is portraying the death of the old South, which he knows is a fable but seems loath to let it go. The story never lacks action but carries the reader ahead possibly to keep the reader from lingering over the novel's faults, which are many. The novel covers a period of 20 years beginning in 1900 and ending in 1921." Mrs. Harrison concluded.

Mrs. Frank Foxhall, president, conducted the business session. An interesting report on the Seventh District workshop held recently in Childress was given by Mrs. Boyd Rogers.

Mrs. S. C. Hindman was welcomed into the club, as a new member.

The hostess served delicious refreshments to the following members: Meses. L. G. DeBerry, S. C. Hindman, T. J. Dunbar, H. A. Finch, Frank Foxhall, Rufus

Graham, R. S. Greene, Allen Grundy, O. L. Helm, Joe Montgomery, Paul Montgomery, Boyd Rogers, Brown Smith, M. G. Tarver, R. C. Walker, E. M. Wilson, T. M. Harrison, Herschel Combs and Floyd Derek.

Report From Washington

By Walter Rogers

Congressman, 18th District

Under Fire (Literally) House of Representatives at high noon March 11 was offered by the Braskamp, Chaplain, business was disposed of as commenced on whether the House would amend the so-called Labor Bill. The plan had consider and dispose of a piece of legislation. Business proceeded as Members working behind their offices in committee rooms, meeting numerous commitments and the debate as it moved. The Speaker counted and put the question to the Resolution. A was demanded and the called upon to stand. I eye and remained until the entire count concluded. Just as the finished the count, and sat down, the usual over the House, wait- to call upon the noes. precise time the House was filled with sharp reports that resembled a of firecrackers be- set off at once. Everyone Speaker to the page taken by complete sur- began to search for the noise from where I located it immediately the corner of the gallery. A foreign looking was firing a gun above and was flanked by two foreign looking men who were firing straight to the House Floor. There appeared to be another man leaving the House gallery through the door at that particular moment. Just as I saw what was going on, the woman unfurled a flag. She was screaming something in a foreign accent, shooting and unfurling the flag at the same time. I immediately recognized the flag as Puerto Rican. I knew then that this was no publicity scheme, and immediately fell to the Floor behind a row of seats. Many of the Members thought that they were shooting blanks. I discounted this theory immediately when I saw one of them go through the ceiling. The cracking of the guns stopped, and I stood up again. The woman ran out the gallery door and left the two men standing there. One of them had a long-barreled revolver that resembled a Luger, and the other had a shorter pistol that looked to be fully automatic. They were both trying to reload their guns when a spectator in an adjacent section of the gallery who turned out to be Frank Wise displayed the greatest courage of the entire incident. He ran across the section in which the men were located and grabbed the smaller man, pinning his arms to his side. However, the Puerto Rican had both hands on the gun and was still trying to reload it. It was right in the stomach of the spectator. Had the gunman been able to get a shell in the chamber, the spectator would, no doubt, have been killed. The gunman was whirled around by this brave man and shoved out the gallery door. While this was going on, the other gunman was trying to reload his gun and had it pointed right at the base of the spine of Frank Wise. Obviously, he was unable to get a shell in the chamber, and Frank Wise is still alive today. In short, this courageous spectator missed death twice by a split second, within a split second. He is certainly entitled to the highest acclaim and commendation of all of the people of this country for his brilliant display of unselfish courage, in the face of what could have been immediate death. I did not realize that anyone had been hit until the assassins were out of the House gallery. I then glanced two seats in front of me and saw my good friend

MAYOR McGUP By John Jarvis

Congressman Cliff Davis, of Tennessee, with a bullet hole in his leg. Everyone was trying to help the wounded and find out how many had been struck. Cliff was very calm and remained seated until medical aid came. This was certainly in his best interest. Congressman Bentley, of Michigan, who was the hardest hit of the group, was lying in the well of the House, just to the west of the Speaker's stand. One look at the man left no doubt that he had been hit and hit bad. Congressman Ken Roberts, of Alabama, was lying on the other side of the Chamber and near the east door. He had been struck by a bullet above the knee and was bleeding profusely. Quick-thinking Percy Priest, of Tennessee, made a tourniquet out of his tie, using a fountain pen for pressure, and stopped the flow of blood. Ken was hit pretty bad and had all of us worried for awhile, but he seems to be getting along a little better as this letter is being written. Congressman Ben Jensen, of Iowa, was struck just as he was trying to leave the Chamber after the firing started. He was very fortunate that his wound was not a great deal more serious, as he were seated on the same row with me. Directly behind us was Frank Wilson, of Dallas, Wingate Lucas, of Fort Worth, and several others. John Lyle was standing just behind the rail with John Riley, of South Carolina. They ducked down just in time to dodge a bullet that splattered into the panneling at the back of the Chamber. The same thing happened to Albert Thomas, of Houston, and Wright Patman, of Texarkana. They were standing near the rear of the Chamber and were missed by a fraction of an inch. They were in direct line with a bullet that imbedded itself in the panneling just behind the pages' bench. Two page boys were on the bench and had just bent over. Had they been sitting up, the bullet would probably be in the head of one of them. Time and space will not permit me to tell many more interesting things that happened, but I did want you to have a first-hand report on this event. The office of the Honorable Antonio Fernos-Isern, Resident Commissioner of the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, is numbered 1710. Mine is 1712. He is just two doors from me. There has been a constant guard in front of his office since the shooting in the House Chamber. The Commissioner is a splendid fellow, as is Governor MunozMarin. Why anyone would want to kill them is more than I can understand. Visitors in the office this week included Mr. and Mrs. Asa Willis, of Texline, Mr. and Mrs. John Bookout, of Hartley, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Elliott, Jr., of Dalhart, J. W. Coppedge, of Memphis, and Bill Fleniken, formerly of Amarillo, but now living in Denver, Colorado, accompanied by Lucien Cullen, of Houston. The fur take in continental U. S. in recent years has averaged around 25-30 million pelts per year. Muskrats alone usually total 18-20 million and raccoon, opossum, skunk range around 1 or 2 million each.

Doctor Should Be Seen On Possible Heart Ailments

Far too many people worry over symptoms they believe to indicate heart trouble and their fear keeps them from seeing the family physician, says Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. This is unfortunate because many times an examination would reveal that they do not have heart disease. Persons whose examination shows heart impairment have a much better chance to live a happy, constructive life, if they follow their physicians' advice.

If one has heart disease, his doctor will advise that he do all things in moderation, if necessary outline vitamin deficiency needs, tell him to eat sensibly and if overweight tell him how to reduce in order to take some of the strain off his heart.

It is a protection to your heart if you have all the rest you need. When you rest give your heart a chance to slow down and get the rest it needs. So keep reasonable hours, especially on work days.

Refuse to let yourself be rushed. If you think something must be done on the run, change that attitude to allow yourself more time. This applies also to driving a car. Aside from the danger of sudden death in a high speed accident, fast driving at any time makes your nerves taut, raises your blood pressure and burdens your heart. Also, refuse to worry, be afraid or to become angry. If you allow yourself to indulge in these wasteful emotions, your own heart is being punished.

Dr. Cox has one last word of advice. If you have heart disease, cooperate with your physician. The physician's objective is for the patients to realize the maximum of their capabilities within the limits of their disabilities.

Official Highway Map For 1954 Now Ready, Greer Says

AUSTIN—Publication of the Official Highway Travel Map for 1954 was announced in Austin last week by D. C. Greer, State Highway Engineer. It is now available for free distribution.

Incorporating many changes and new features, it is believed that this is one of the best travel maps the Highway Department has published, Greer stated. For the first time this year type has been used for all names and symbols appearing on the map, instead of the hand lettering previously used. This greatly improves legibility of all names.

A different size and type face was selected for the various categories of names that appear on the map; counties appear in one type, cities of similar population density will have the same size type; mountains will have their own lettering style, while rivers will appear in still another size and type face, Greer stated. In all, thirty-three different styles and sizes of type were ordered for

Over 1300 villages, towns, and cities are to be shown on the new guide. Each of these falls into one of the five population categories—towns of less than 1,000 persons, towns up to 5,000 those with 25,000, and cities with populations up to 100,000. After a city's population passes this mark, Greer said, it will be shown as a stippled outline of the city limits. Thirteen insets of Texas' largest towns showing highway routes through these towns are continuing in the margins of the map again this year.

All items that render service to the traveling public are clearly designated including roadside parks, historical points of interest, state and national parks, and tourist information bureaus. A mileage index, which shows the distance between principal cities in Texas, is also compiled for the users assistance.

The Department usually receives about one-half million requests each year for a copy of the travel map. Copies may be obtained free of charge from any of the district

Snow Brings Smiles

The snow we had last week didn't amount to much but it sure changed the expressions on peoples' faces. It just goes to show how quickly folks in these parts can perk up after a long, dry spell, if even a little moisture comes.

When light snow started falling last Thursday morning, everyone brightened up and began pointing to the flakes and telling one another, "Look! Snow! Isn't it wonderful! Boy-o-boy!" or other joyful exclamations similar to that.

We have been here quite a while so no one has to tell us that we are going to have considerably more moisture than fell last week, if we make a crop. But it was a welcome change from the dry windy weather which had clogged the air with dust recently and started residents of the region talking about the "dust bowl" days of the mid-thirties.

By the time you read this, we may have had some more precipitation—maybe a lot of it—or we may have had some more wind and dust.

If we haven't had any more moisture in the meantime, we believe—perhaps we shouldn't say this, because we are certainly not newcomers—we will have before long.

It's just getting to that time of the year, for one thing. On top of that, forecasters say it looks like there's wet weather ahead for us. There seems to be a difference of opinion as to just when it will begin, some saying it will be this month while others pick April.

However, all seem agreed that abundant amounts of moisture are definitely on the way.

If your roof leaks when the skies open up, don't say we didn't warn you.

In case you don't believe us, ask any old-timer. Surely, some of them have seen rain.

High School Graduates

A lot is being heard today on the pros and cons of modern-day education, with opinions seeming to range all the way from general approval to almost complete disapproval, depending on what the critic expects from education and the schools he has in mind.

In view of this situation, some recent findings of the Family Economics Bureau of the Northwestern National Life Insurance Company at Minneapolis, Minn., might shed some light on how well today's schools are preparing students to fit into the business world, which, of course, will be the ultimate destination of many students.

According to the insurance company, employers rate present-day high school graduates considerably higher in alertness, learning ability, self-confidence and maturity, as compared with those of 10 or 20 years ago. This conclusion is based on a survey of employment agencies in 44 cities.

However, the statement goes on to say graduates of today have not developed and applied these potentialities to the extent that older graduates have, although there are exceptions. The employment agencies declared that a great many of the current crop of graduates can't spell or punctuate, or work percentages or other simple arithmetic.

Further, the agencies reported too many of the young people are unreliable and have no interest in doing a good day's work. In addition, a great many feel they should start to work at fat salaries.

Among present day graduates' strong points, as reported to the insurance firm, were: Poise, assurance, aggressiveness, adaptability, ease in meeting strangers, ability to get along with others and mature knowledge of the world.

Annoying characteristics included instability and irresponsibility, characterized by tardiness, loafing, staying away from work without excuse, and quitting without notice.

The survey was conducted in only some of the larger cities of the United States, so we would not dare to say whether it paints a fairly true picture of the situation throughout the nation, although we have read or heard complaints like, or similar to, those listed, before.

Perhaps, our systems of education are to blame for some of this, but in the final analysis, it is our belief, that the individual student can determine to a great extent how much benefit he gets from his studies.

After he enters the business world, he will find that his future still will depend primarily on his own efforts.

If he is willing to work, learn all he can about his job or profession, takes things as they come and makes the best of them, his chances of success are good.

For the diligent and the determined, America still is the Land of Opportunity.

Press Paragraphs—

ADULTS CAN LEARN

The general doctrine "You can't teach an old dog new tricks" has long outworn any usefulness it may have had and should be tossed into the wastebasket.

Old dogs can learn new tricks. The erroneous belief that they can't creates a sense of futility, a defeatism in the individual and has prevented many a person from striving to better himself.

Habits of long standing can be overcome. Personality is made up of habits. When they are changed, for better or for worse, a new personality emerges. The individual gains a new outlook on life.

Through cultivating constructive habits, habits that put one more in harmony with his fellowmen and give an incentive to achievement, the individual becomes literally a new creature.

One of the most encouraging discoveries of modern science is that new habits can be formed at any time of life, which means that you, no matter what your age, can make decisive improvements in your personality.

INVESTMENT IN SELF

This is the time of the year that many high school seniors and other graduates who may be working are considering going to college next year.

Kiplinger's Changing Time says that "as general principal, however, there probably isn't another investment that will pay off more handsomely than a college student's investment in himself."

Usually a student able to go a semester or two can obtain scholarships, loans and work to make it worth while to continue. Colleges have millions of dollars available for loans to students who demonstrate ability in classroom work.

The importance of good grades in high school too frequently is overlooked. Good grades usually are not the result of inherent brilliance, but due to considerable hard work.

Kiplinger says that a student whose IQ is below 116 is not as a general rule ideal college material. His chances of completing a four-year college course are only one in five. Hence, such a student should be careful in going into debt for a college education.

Reports are that 150,000 high school graduates would like to go to college and do not make the effort because they are afraid to tackle the financial problem. If these figures are correct, then many should make more effort because of the greater opportunities for success.

WT Utilities Files Application To Sell Preferred Stock

Price Campbell, president of West Texas Utilities Company, announced this week that the company is filing an application with the Securities and Exchange Commission for the sale and exchange of 6 million dollars of its preferred stock, through competitive bidding of investment bankers and brokers.

At the present time, the company has outstanding an issue of preferred stock which pays $6 per share. This is considered out of line with present day hire of capital, so the stock will be called or exchanged in accordance with its provisions of $110 per share or for the equivalent in face value of lower interest bearing stock plus some cash to those who desire to exchange.

About 5 million dollars of the funds, received from the sale of the new preferred stock, will be used in the exchange and expense of calling the old preferred stock. The remainder is to be used in the company's construction program for this year.

Details of the new stock issue and exchange offer will be made available to the individual stockholders and the public in the near future.

On Garden Planting Is Given Horticulture Professor At Tech

Following is the second in a series of garden hints to home gardeners on the Plains of Texas, prepared by Dr. George Elle, horticulture professor at Texas Tech.

are better concealed than those of the fall southward journey.

This is because hunting along the southward trail permits harvesting of birds that are banded in the northland nesting grounds. No such movement data is provided by the spring flight.

Down in the Gulf Coast area, J. R. Singleton, wildlife biologist specializing in waterfowl observations, said "apparently a large number of geese have moved out."

Singleton pointed out it is more difficult to check on the spring movements of the waterfowl than on those in the fall. It's simply easier to detect the buildup in the fall as compared to the decline in the spring," he explained.

Singleton's studies of waterfowl gains momentum in August when the first ducks arrive from northern nesting grounds. The bulk of the winter population arrives in late October and early November.

During the peak population last December Singleton and Wildlife Biologist W. S. Jennings estimated that Texas coastal areas harbored 3,218,800 ducks and geese. This compared with 1,888,000 counted in an aerial survey during the preceding year.

Waterfowl Begin Annual Migration To North Country

AUSTIN—The vanguard of millions of waterfowl wintering in Texas has begun the northward migration, according to reports of Howard D. Dodgen, executive secretary of the Game and Fish Commission.

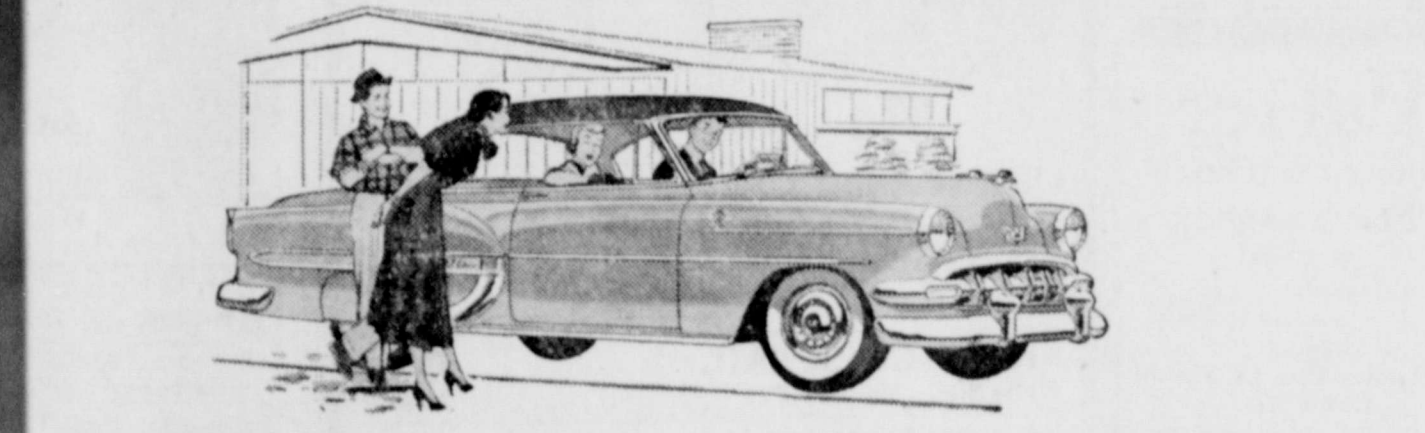

Dodgen said the bulk of the first duck contingents were made up of mainly pintails or sprigs. The executive secretary said recent moderate weather in the north stimulated the start of the migration.

Building Good Citizenship on the Farm!

We Are Glad to Extend Our Sincere Congratulations To the 4-H Club Members Of Hall County

Upon this occasion of National 4-H Club Week, we wish to congratulate each and every 4-H Clubber of this county for the work they are doing. Boys and girls throughout this nation today, under the slogan, "Working Together for World Understanding," are doing their part. They are building good citizenship on our farms as they complete their different projects and develop youth leadership.

We are especially proud of the large number of boys and girls who are enrolled in the different clubs of Hall County. They number 499, and represent a predominant part of our rural youth. Under the guidance of County Agent W. B. Hooser, and the different community adult leaders, they are "learning by doing." This instruction, and the knowledge they gain from actual experience and written records, make them better qualified for their life's work.

This bank has always cooperated with the 4-H Club program of this county, and will continue to lend our support in the future. Our officers welcome the chance to meet these young men and women, and to go over with them any plans they have.

Suspect Charged In Break-In At Lakeview Store

Joe Morris Gambill, 20 years old, of Pampa, was charged with burglary Tuesday morning, in connection with a break-in at the J. B. Duren store at Lakeview. Feb. 13, according to Deputy Sheriff Bill Baten. The Pampa man made a statement, admitting the burglary, Baten said.

Bond of $750 was set by Justice of the Peace J. S. Grimes. Gambill was released from county jail Tuesday night, after the bond was made.

In his statement, Gambill said he did not take anything from the store.

The Pampa man said he drove to Lakeview the day of the burglary to visit his parents but on arriving found they were gone. He said he drove around Lakeview for a while and then decided he needed some oil.

Gambill said he parked near the Duren store and entered a garage, attached to the store, and then the store, itself.

After putting some articles in a box, he decided to get some oil. Before he could carry out his intention, however, he heard a car starting outside and left the building empty-handed, he continued in the statement.

Officers became suspicious of Gambill after they learned that a car, similar to his, had been seen near the store the night of the burglary.

Baten went to Pampa Monday and questioned Gambill, who admitted his guilt. Gambill was returned here Monday night.

No One Injured In Accident Sunday

No injuries occurred Sunday afternoon when an automobile and a truck collided east of Memphis on State Highway 256, according to highway patrolmen. The accident scene was 4.5 miles from town.

John Elroy Vaughn of Reed, Okla., was driver of the car and Ray A. Horner of Wellington, was driving the truck, the patrolmen said.

According to the investigating officers, Vaughn's automobile smashed into the rear of the truck. Vaughn paid a fine, after he was given a ticket for failure to pass to the left in safety, the report showed.
