Data To Be Used In Campaign For Dam Near Hedley

R. A. Underwood, of the Dallas investment firm of R. A. Underwood & Company, was in Memphis last Friday to gather information on the community, according to Clifford Farmer, chairman of the Hall County board of directors of the Greenbelt Municipal and Industrial Water Association.

Underwood also gathered information about other towns in this area, which have been participating in efforts to get a dam constructed on upper Salt Fork of Red River, Farmer said.

The Dallas firm, which Underwood heads, plans to use the information in determining the feasibility of such an undertaking and in making future moves, leading to realization of a dam and lake on the upper Salt Fork.

While here, Underwood told local water association representatives that he was contacting major gas companies to learn to what extent gas could be made available at the dam site for cheap industrial use.

Underwood spoke here several weeks ago, at a meeting of association representatives from several of the participating towns. At that time, he declared the proximity of gas fields to the proposed dam site would be an inducement in making the construction project attractive to industrialists. He said it was his belief that without outside financial help, it would be almost impossible to carry the project through to a successful conclusion.

Under plans, which have been made by association members, the proposed lake on upper Salt Fork would furnish water for industrial purposes, for domestic needs of the participating communities and possibly for some irrigation. In addition, the lake would provide (Continued on Page 12)

Need Of Strong Farm Bureau Is Emphasized

The necessity of a strong Farm Bureau organization to help farmers accomplish collectively what they cannot accomplish individually was stressed by a Texas Farm Bureau field man, at a meeting of the Hall County Farm Bureau here Monday night.

The session, which launched a county-wide membership campaign was held in the high school auditorium.

The state field man, Sam Allen of Hillsboro, told listeners that farmers must organize to attain and protect their rights, since they represent only 15 per cent of the voting population of the United States.

Allen discussed the accomplishments of county, state and national Farm Bureau organizations.

He said that a bill has been introduced in the Texas legislature which would abolish the 4-cent tractor gasoline refund, in cases where tractors are not used on highways. He added that the Farm Bureau has been the leader in the fight against such bills for the past 10 years. He said defeat of this type of legislation has meant an annual saving of approximately 15 million dollars to farmers (Continued on page 12)

Having mixed up the weather and failing to furnish winter weather during the winter months, Mr. Weatherman decided he had better do something about it. So he sent some winter weather along this week, thinking it is "better late than never." One cold front follows another, and each front furnishes some more of that Golden Spread. A pressure area is forming in the Pacific that has possibilities of bringing about proper conditions for rain. Mr. Weatherman says. Hope he is right.

W. Broome, Pioneer Leader Here, Dies Monday Evening

Charles William Broome, pioneer Memphis civic and church leader, died about 11 p. m. Monday in a local hospital, where he had been a patient for two weeks. He had been in failing health for some time. He was 87 years old.

Funeral services were conducted at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday in the First Methodist Church of Memphis by Rev. Lloyd Hamilton, pastor.

Burial was in Fairview Cemetery, under direction of Murphy-Spicer Funeral Home.

Mr. Broome was born at Centerville, Hickman County, Tenn., July 12, 1866, and came to Cooke County, Tex., with his parents in 1873.

He later moved to Saint Jo, Montague County, where he was married to Miss Ophelia Anthony, May 2, 1900. He was in the mercantile business while living in Cooke and Montague counties.

Mr. and Mrs. Broome moved to the Indian Territory in 1902 and Mr. Broome continued his activities as a merchant and also as a cattleman.

Mr. Broome was said to have been one of the first men to plant and grow cotton in Hall County.

He was a member of the board of trustees of the Memphis public schools for several terms and was board president part of that time.

Mr. Broome served on the board of stewards of the First Methodist Church here for more than 40 years and was steward emeritus of the board at the time of his death.

County Ginnings Total 22,017 Bales

Dutch Vallance Wins Democrat's Annual Cotton-Guessing Contest

Winner of the 1953 Democrat Cotton Guessing Contest is Dutch Vallance of Memphis. Vallance guessed that Hall County would gin 22,000 bales of cotton and data, released this week by the Bureau of the Census of the Department of Commerce, places the 1953 season figure at 22,017 bales.

As first-place winner of the annual contest, Vallance will receive a three-year subscription to The Democrat.

J. I. Capps of Lakeview, will be awarded a one-year subscription to The Democrat, for making the third closest guess. He predicted that 22,055 bales would be ginned in the county during the 1953 season.

As can be seen, the spread between the winning estimates was small. Vallance missed by only 17 bales, Mrs. McBee, by only 28, and Capps, by only 38.

The guesses of a number of persons were fairly close to the actual figure. Mrs. Gene Koeninger of Plaska, guessed 21,970 bales, C. Dunn of Lakeview, 22,075, and Jewell Short of Memphis, 21,983 bales.

whose predictions were in the 21,000-bale range, and 17 persons whose guesses were in the 22,000-bale bracket.

A total of 380 persons submitted entries. Most of them lived in the Memphis area but a number lived in other parts of the state, as well as Kansas, Colorado, Oklahoma, Kentucky and California.

Guesses ranged from a minimum of 9,899 bales to a top of 48,525 bales. Hall County ginned 30,840 bales in the 1952 season. Total ginnings in previous years included: 42,176 in 1947; 42,941 in 1948; 88,214 in 1949; 30,123 in 1950; and 50,542 in 1951.

Drouth Continues As First Quarter Ends

When the first quarter of 1954 closed Wednesday, only .21 of an inch of moisture had been recorded in Memphis, according to Weatherman John McMickin.

In January, .15 of an inch fell, February had no measurable amount, and March had only .06 of an inch, McMickin said.

Weather the past week generally was good and without dust most of the time. Several days were cloudy but no precipitation resulted.

Temperature ranges during the period, as recorded by McMickin, were as follows: Last Thursday 48-73 degrees; Friday 44-52; Saturday 37-79; Sunday 34-87; Monday 47-48; Tuesday 31-50; and Wednesday 27-53. This morning's low was 28 degrees.

Report From Washington

By Walter Rogers

Congressman, 18th District

The Danger of Another Dust Bowl
Representatives from Southwestern Colorado, New Mexico, Kansas, Oklahoma, and the Texas Panhandle have been in Washington recently urging some immediate action to prevent recurrence of the dust bowl days of the 1930's. Cooperation and coordination between the state and federal governments and the respective landowners will be essential to an early and effective blocking of a recurrence of that plight. People who have never suffered through one of the plagues of mankind, can not remotely appreciate what it does to the land and to the men on the land. As one spokesman put it, "It eats at the very souls of men." Another describes it as completely closing you in and leaving you with a feeling of utter despair. He said that it creates an inner nervous tension that stays with you for days, to be renewed by another duster just as you feel that you have about shaken it off.

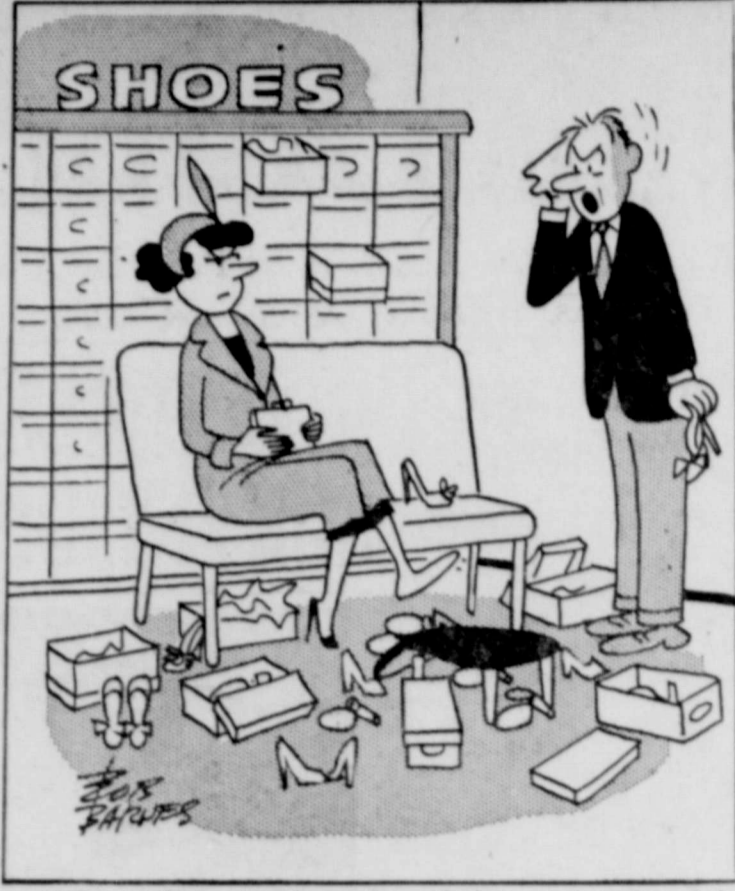

The blowing of the land in the great Southwest is one of the No. 1 problems of this nation today. Unless it is attacked immediately, it will spread like a cancerous growth and eventually cost untold millions in damage to be repaired, to say nothing of the loss of productivity of the land it affects. Aldon Bell, of Perryton, was in the office the other day and told me that this dust was settling on the grass in our section and that many ranchers were having trouble getting their cattle to eat the grass. Most of the blowing seems to be in Southwestern Colorado at the present time, and we hope that it does not spread further. Several of us met with the representatives from that section and representatives from the several departments having jurisdiction of this type of problem. Some headway has been made, and it appears that some immediate action will be taken to cope with the problem in Southwestern Colorado. Although it will cost several million dollars to carry out an effective program, this cost could multiply many times if this blowing is allowed to continue.

The New Housing Bill

The Housing Bill is scheduled to be before the House just about the time many of you will be reading this letter. This bill is not much different from the housing bills that we have had in the past. That is, the basic policies are not substantially changed. Speaking of housing, a rather amusing situation has developed. It will be remembered that during the latter part of the Truman administration, Mr. Truman requested 125,000 public housing units to be authorized. The Bureau of the Budget cut this down to 75,000, and the committees in Congress cut it to 35,000. The bill then came before the entire House of Representatives for a vote, and the 35,000 was cut down to 5,000. The present Administration is asking for 140,000 which is 15,000 more than Truman asked for. The fate of this request, when it is presented to the Congress, is going to be most amusing, because many of those who are presently supporting the 140,000 public housing unit request were the very ones who called 125,000 units socialism at its worst. Chances are the authorization will be about 20,000. I can't, for the life of me, see how the socialistic features of such a program can be erased by such a 15,000 more public housing units. Perhaps I just don't understand higher mathematics. I was one of those who worked and voted to cut down the public housing authorizations in the Truman administration, because I did not believe that they were to the best interest of the country. The many socialistic features of such a program, coupled with the fact that they are most costly to the taxpayers, just don't add up to me to be good government, whether it is under a Truman administration or an Eisenhower administration. I find it most difficult to understand why public housing is socialistic in 1952 and free enterprise in 1953 and '54. The truth about it is that it is "politics," pure and unvarnished, in all three years.

LAFF OF THE WEEK

"Yes, we have one pair you haven't tried on yet, madam—but unfortunately I don't have a buttonhook."

Miscellaneous

The day of the Puerto Rican shooting two of my good friends got stuck in the cloakroom doorway to dodge the bullets. They were Martin Dies, of Texas, and Frank Boykin, of Alabama. Both weigh well over two hundred pounds. After the smoke had all died down, Martin Dies was heard to comment that the security most needed for the House of Representatives was "more doors." One newspaperman quoted Frank Boykin as saying he was going after his gun. The newspaperman asked him where his gun was, and Frank replied it was in Alabama. One member commented the other day that the price of coffee is getting so high that he just can't afford shoes for his children. I was having dinner with a visitor from the Panhandle a few weeks ago in a local hotel. He looked at the menu and saw Sirloin Steak — $4.50. He remarked "That sure didn't come off of any animal I sold."

DEMANDS ON OUR WATER SUPPLY

Water is our most precious resource. It is an indispensable part of our living. But in terms of future needs, it is alarmingly scarce.

As the population increases, the demand for water increases. In the past year, water consumption records are set at a high one month, only to be broken and surpassed the next month. It is a sobering fact that our available supply is being used up more quickly than it is being replaced by nature.

According to W. P. Webb, author of "More Water For Texas," the population is doubling every 25 years. If the consumption per capita remains unchanged, the demand will double in 25 years.

Webb points out, as a standard of living rises, as people move from the rural areas to the urban ones, consumption of water per capita will increase enormously.

For example, Texas in 1953 was consuming 34 times as much water as it did in 1890, although the population has increased only 2.5 times. Texans were consuming 15 times the amount in 1950 as they did in 1940. Though the population in that decade increased by only one-fourth.

In other words, each Texan is consuming 10 times the amount of water he did in 1890 and 20 times the amount of 1940. The ever-expanding industries of the state also are accounting for a terrific amount of our water—and will in years to come, say the many thousands of acre-foot of water.

An acre-foot of water equals an acre of land covered to a depth of 12 inches, or 43,560 cubic feet, or 325,800 gallons. Industry can make 22 tons of Chlorine from one acre-foot, or 40 tons of sulphur, 36 tons of synthetic chemicals or 15 tons of rubber.

A surprising fact is that it takes 325,800 gallons of water to produce 200 pounds of beef or veal, or to grow 10,000 oranges or to raise only 200 pounds of cotton.

The estimated population of the nation by the year 2,000 A. D. is expected to be some 227 million persons, as compared with 151 million in 1950. It is obvious that a vast water conservation project is needed if our water supply is to meet the demand.

Texas Farm Land Values Dip Slightly Since Peak In 1952

COLLEGE STATION — Farm land values in Texas show moderate declines from postwar peaks established in 1952.

This decline coincides with a nationwide trend, says John G. McHaney, assistant extension economist, and is a reflection toward slightly lower farm real estate values.

Value of farm land in the state declined four per cent last year, but is still 145 per cent over the 1935-39 average, says McHaney.

Declines of two per cent or more were recorded in all but three states, and 10 states had drops of five per cent or more. Sharpest land value decreases were evident in Kentucky and Tennessee westward to Utah an area including most of the states where drought was a major factor in reducing farm incomes.

First apparent during the spring and summer of 1953, a mild decrease in land values continued in most of the country and now effects current developments in the farm real estate market, he says.

Farm real estate dealers and economists over the nation were asked recently whether they thought prices for rural real estate would increase, remain stable or decrease further.

Only four per cent of the reporters expected an increase in price while 40 per cent thought prices would continue to lower. The remaining group, more than half the total, believe prices will not change.

Most reporters expect greater price drops for poor farms than for good farms.

Spring Good Time To Commence Fire Safety Program

Spring is one of the best times of the year to start a practical year-around fire safety program on the farm, County Agent W. B. Hooser says.

In getting ready for spring and summer operations, farmers will find that they can, at the same time, correct many of the worst fire hazards around the farm, according to the county agent.

Many of these chores usually come under the heading of spring clean-up and all clean-up work definitely lessens the danger of fire. However, the United States Department of Agriculture and the National Fire Protection Association list five cleaning recommendations as being of top fire safety importance.

They are: Removing old magazines, newspapers, clothing, rags, mattresses, and broken and discarded furniture and the like, from attics, closets, basements and barns and out-buildings; cleaning up rubbish in the farm yard and cutting down dead vegetation around buildings, along fences, and in fields; cleaning up the machine shop and the work bench, including safe disposal of shavings, oily rags, and old paints and oils; cleaning up all electrical equipment and power machinery; and cleaning up the heating plant, chimney, stoves, brooders and heaters of all types.

Drouth-depleted ranges, under good management, will make a satisfactory recovery if as much as 15 per cent of the native, key grasses are still on the range. Re-seeding in some cases may be necessary but deferred grazing and proper stocking are cheaper methods of recovery. Adequate rainfall is needed in any case.

The air strength of the United States Air Force is now approximately 12,000 planes.

William J. Bragg Seeking Office Of County Attorney

William J. Bragg has authorized The Democrat to announce his candidacy for the office of County Attorney. In releasing his announcement, Mr. Bragg issued the following statement:

"To the Citizens of Hall County, Texas:

"After receiving suggestions from many friends and after thinking the matter over carefully, I am now making my announcement for the office of County Attorney of Hall County, Texas, subject to action of the Democratic primaries this year.

"It is my feeling that any one serving you as your county attorney should devote his entire time to the work of the office; that he should seek to fairly and justly enforce the law as it is written in the statutes of Texas and that the general welfare should be promoted in every possible way and manner.

"With proper co-operation between law enforcement officers and the good citizens of our county this can be accomplished. But no single officer can hope to do his full duty without full co-operation of other officers and citizens as well.

"As most of you already know, I have several years of experience in this line of work, which I have tried to do without fear or favor; with no partiality to any one. Of course we all know that every person who is charged with an offense must be treated as innocent until guilt is proven beyond reasonable doubt.

"I thank one and all for consideration in all past elections in which I have tendered my services to the people and I hereby solicit your full and fair consideration; I will to the best of my ability render the people of this county an honest, efficient and courteous administration in the County Attorney's office; and if elected I pledge to do my very best in doing a good service for all.

"Your vote and influence is earnestly solicited and will be appreciated.

Respectfully submitted,
WILLIAM J. (Bill) BRAGG"

Old Refrigerators Can Be Death Traps

Residents of this area are being urged by the Memphis Junior Chamber of Commerce to fix old, unused refrigerators and ice boxes so they will not become death traps for children.

In order to render the boxes harmless, doors, locks and hinges should be removed.

Persons who do not wish to go to this trouble are asked to call Homer Jones at 181 and he will see that the refrigerators are taken care of. Jones is first vice-president of the Jaycees.

Memphis has been very fortunate in this respect so far, as no youngsters have died in this way, but residents should take necessary precautions to see that none die in the future.

Jones pointed out that more than 150 children died from suffocation in abandoned refrigerators in the United States last year.

Although Texans produce a little of everything, their chances for helping solve the present coffee squeeze are remote. The coffee tree just doesn't adapt itself to the climatic conditions of Texas.

Local FFA Teams At Clarendon Meet

Two teams of FFA boys from Memphis High School competed in district judging contests at Clarendon, Saturday, according to Hershel Potts, vocational agriculture teacher here.

The dairy cattle judging team, composed of Robert Hodges, Terry Monzingo and Keithie McWhorter, placed second in a field of 10 teams, Potts said.

McWhorter was the second highest individual among the group of 30 competitors.

The local poultry judging team, made up of Calvin Todd, Charles Guthrie and Herman Stinnett, won fourth place among seven teams.

Todd ranked second in individual competition, in a field of 21 boys.

On April 10, the dairy cattle judging team plans to compete in a show at Plainview. Teams from a wide area are expected to participate in show events.

On April 24, the dairy, poultry, livestock and cotton judging teams expect to participate in contests, to be held at Lubbock.

BOYS WILL BE GIRLS . . . Boys of Princeton University's Triangle Club tour the country in satirical comedy "Malice in Wonderland." They have lots of fun, and draw good audiences.

Six top 4-H cotton growers on the basis of their 1937 production have been named to receive college scholarships. They are: Teddy Joe Saye, Victoria Lee Walker, Walker County; Michael Neu, Cooke County; Victor Kainer, Wharton; and Harry O. Robbins, Baylor county.

Cotton producers may receive copies of two recent Extension Service publications, "Growth Controlling Cotton Insects in Texas" and "Ways to Fight Pink Bollworm," from local agents or the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas.

Plants Sometimes Short Of Minerals Because Soils Lack Nutrients

STATION — Many plants are deficient in vital nutrients and, accordingly, plants produced upon such soil contain inadequate levels of minerals needed by livestock. On the other hand, doubled yields from pastures and are not uncommon until fertilization and management. Trew, extension pasture says, says cattle that upon deficient pastures might not make profitable for the producer, and may bring and breeding trouble.

Warm season permanent pastures such as Dallis or Bermudagrass may be fertilized in the fall or winter upon renovation or cultivation. They also may be treated in the early spring before summer plants commence growth.

The pasture specialist says additional treatments of nitrogen in the spring and summer will pay off by stimulating growth and increasing the protein content of forage plants. He recommends an application of 30 pounds of actual nitrogen each time the pasture is grazed down. That is, he says, if soil moisture is adequate.

Temporary pastures containing grasses like sudan are best treated with mixed fertilizers before or at planting. Again, additional nitrogen stimulates growth and boosts protein levels if sufficient moisture is present.

Cool season temporary pastures, as oats and vetch, should be fertilized before or upon planting and more nitrogen may be added as growth commences.

Many small grains used for grazing need top-dressing about this time, Trew says, especially if the plants are yellow to light green in color.

A dollar for fertilizer is a hard investment to turn down, Trew concludes. Depending upon the crop, water and management, every dollar put into fertilizer generally returns $2 to $10 in increased production.

Warm weather brings new problems for the dairyman. The use of strict milking and sanitation practices will help hold down milk bacteria counts. Flies can be controlled by eliminating their breeding and by using insecticides.

Baptist S. S. Meet Here Monday Night Explorer Scouts Meet Wednesday

Baptist Sunday school workers and members will participate in a Panhandle Association Sunday School Conference, to be held in the First Baptist Church here, Monday night. The session is scheduled to commence at 7:30 o'clock. Making the announcement of the meeting was T. H. Harmonson of Clarendon, Panhandle Sunday School superintendent.

All pastors, general superintendents, department superintendents, class teachers and officers, and members are urged to attend the meeting.

Ector Anthony Hurt In Auto Accident

Ector Anthony of Memphis suffered minor injuries early Sunday morning in a two-car collision on State Highway 256 at Eli, according to highway patrolmen. He received treatment for bruises later in the day.

Anthony's automobile was in a rear-end collision with one driven by Vinson Davis, also of Memphis, patrolmen said. Both vehicles were headed west.

The car, driven by Anthony, turned over once and wound up on the south shoulder of the highway. Davis' car stopped on the north shoulder of the road.

Anthony is 25 years old, and Davis is 40.

The accident occurred about 5:30 a. m. Sunday, according to patrolmen.

at the time the request for pre-measurement is filed.

"The premeasurement is purely optional, and is offered as a service to growers who prefer to have an official measurement to use as a planting guide," McKown said. "All cotton acreage in the county will be measured as soon as possible after the cotton comes up to determine compliance with the acreage allotment-marketing quota program. When the compliance is checked the farm will be considered to be within the farm acreage allotment if the crop is planted within the premeasured area."

ACP Meeting Slated Friday Afternoon

Recommendations for the 1954 Agricultural Conservation Practices program will be made during a county-wide meeting which will be held here Friday. The session will be held in the county courtroom, starting at 2 p. m., according to Lynn L. McKown, manager of the Hall County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office here.

Representatives of all of the agricultural agencies in the county are expected to be present.

R. A. Eddleman of Estelline, chairman of the county ASC committee, called the meeting.

Everyone interested in agriculture, is welcome to attend.

A drop in the use of animal by-products and higher costs of processing and delivery to the consumer are given as important reasons why beef prices haven't dropped as much in over the counter sales as was expected with lower prices for live animals.

A new bulletin, B-175, How to Freeze, How to Cook Frozen Foods has been released by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and copies may be obtained from county extension offices or from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station.

The economic cost to the nation of accidents is estimated at nine billion dollars. Last year accidents took some 95,000 lives—38,000 died in traffic accidents.

In most areas of the state, it is time to plant sudan or a sudan cowpea mixture for summer grazing. Plant at least one acre per cow and use plenty of fertilizer, if recommended for the area. A reminder—July pastures depend upon action taken in April or May.

Teamwork Bags An Industry

Many cities and towns in the Southwest which had little or no industry a few years ago, now have such enterprises to add to their incomes and increase the stability of their economies.

Hugo, Okla., is one of the towns which is soon to have a new industry to pour money into its trade streams and add to its prosperity.

Since Memphis could use some industry as a counterbalance to conditions, such as we are experiencing now, we thought it might prove interesting and beneficial to citizens to outline how Hugo residents went about bringing a good-sized industrial establishment to their community.

According to the Oklahoma City Times, the people of Hugo have carried on, and are about to bring to a successful conclusion, a campaign which has resulted in obtaining an industry that will employ more than 100 persons.

Hugo citizens went into high gear, after representatives of that city were told by officials of a glove company that a factory would be constructed there if a suitable building were provided.

The Hugo Chamber of Commerce and the daily newspaper spearheaded the campaign, and it was not long before residents were out "beating the bushes" to get the necessary money.

More than $100,000 in cash and cashable pledges had been raised sometime ago, with more money coming in every day.

Just how much of a community-wide project it was is shown by the fact that people on the street, in the homes, and in the surrounding country, as well as owners and operators of banks, wholesale houses, utilities, department stores, and other business and professional firms, made contributions.

Civic clubs, social groups, church societies, lodges, 4-H and FFA groups, school organizations, women's demonstration clubs, sewing circles and farm organizations all pitched in to do what they could.

There were auctions, rummage sales, and all kinds of benefit parties. More money was forthcoming from portions of the daily receipts of theaters, coffee shops, service stations, shoe shops, candy counters and barber shops.

With that kind of spirit how could a community fail? Something was bound to pan out when people were that determined, that willing.

We think Memphis can do the same thing, if all of us are willing to do what we can. Memphis is not as large as Hugo, we know, and may be in worse shape financially right now, but we believe some industry could be persuaded to locate here, if an all-out effort were made.

There are some who might be able to give little or nothing to a fund, to be used to attract industry here. On the other hand, there are others who could contribute sizeable amounts, if they would. The important thing is that everyone give what he could.

There are buildings here which could likely be remodeled without too much cost, to suit the needs of various industries. A mainline railroad and motor freight lines provide good transportation outlets, and gas and power facilities are ample for establishing industry here.

Water is usually mentioned as one of the necessities for industrial development. No one needs to be told that our water supplies are limited, although usually enough for our present needs.

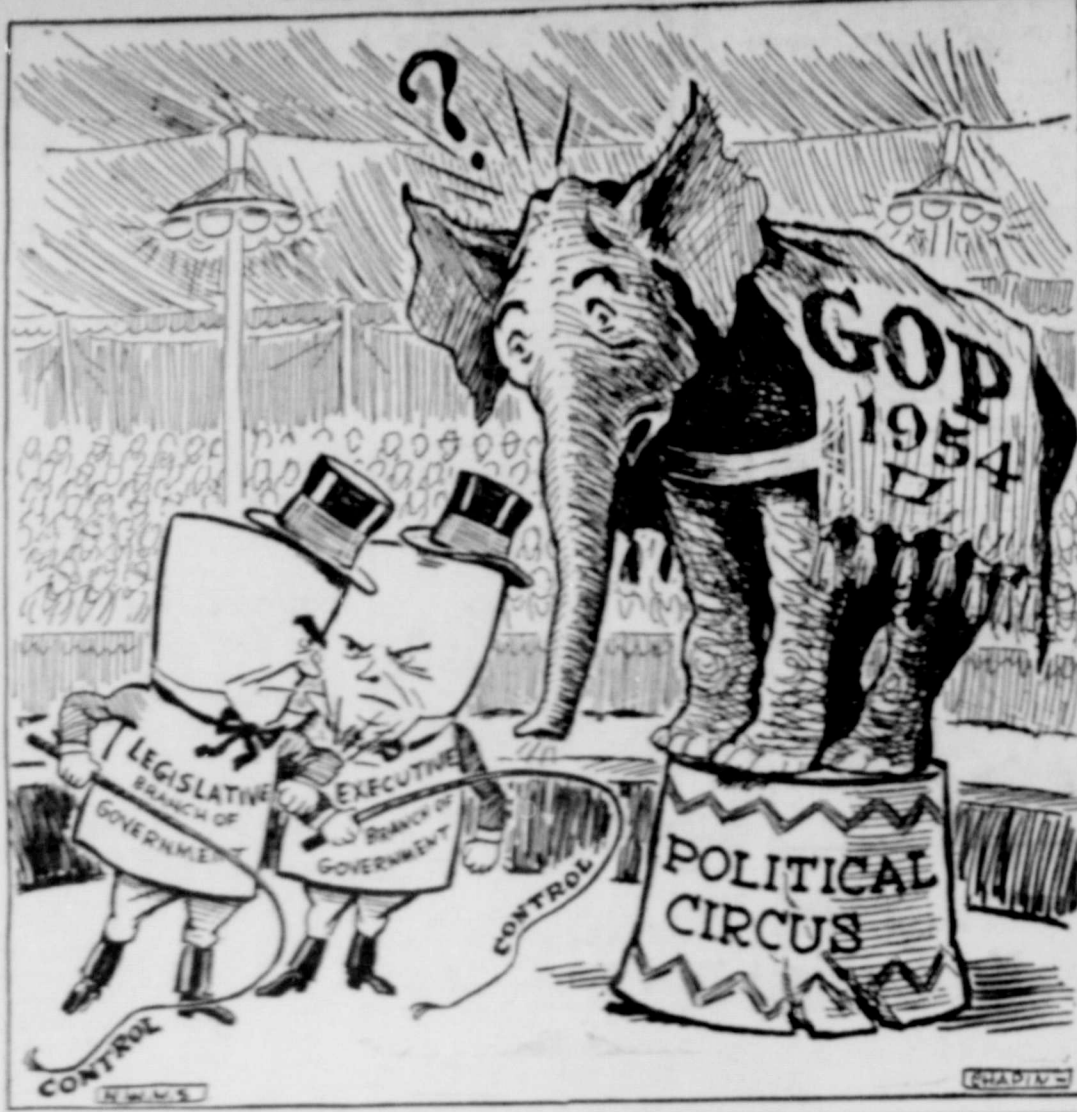

On the other hand, it is our understanding, that there are industries which do not require large quantities of water for their operations. So this shortage should not be an insurmountable obstacle.

It is our firm belief, therefore, that if we want to get some industry here and help ourselves, our community and our area, we can do it, if we are willing to roll up our sleeves and go after it.

Press Paragraphs—

BENEFICIAL WEATHER

The weather experts continue to baffle us. Here we had always thought that dust in the air was a complete liability—annoying, possibly unhealthful, productive of no good whatever.

We have never been able to distinguish between types of dust except for color perhaps density.

Now the meteorologists say that dust can be quite beneficial, if it is of the right kind. They say it can even be the means of bringing about large-scale rainfall.

The kind of dust on which they base their prediction is cosmic dust, a great cloud of which seems to be swirling in outer space. This dust usually is called sunspots and the weathermen have observed that the presence or lack of sunspot activity has a lot to do with the plenitude or scarcity of rain on the earth.

If this proves true, we will be able to take a much more kindly attitude toward dust storms—provided, of course, they are outer space dust storms which stay in their place and set diligently about their chore of producing rain.

EXPENSIVE KOREAN PEACE

Secretary of State Dulles report to top congressional leaders on the recent four power conference throws grave doubts on the wisdom of the Korean truce and has a rather fearful tone of apprehension.

Dulles said the agreement to sit down with Chinese Reds at the Geneva conference was forced upon him in order to stall Red conquest of Indo China.

He flatly laid a Red victory there would start World War III. Red victory in Indo China is a direct possibility due to heavy stepping up of Red Chinese forces freed for action by the Korean truce.

If we accepted a cessation of action on even terms or where some advantage lay with our forces in Korea, to run the risk of being plunged in all-out war a few months later, we seem to have stepped out of the frying pan into the fire.

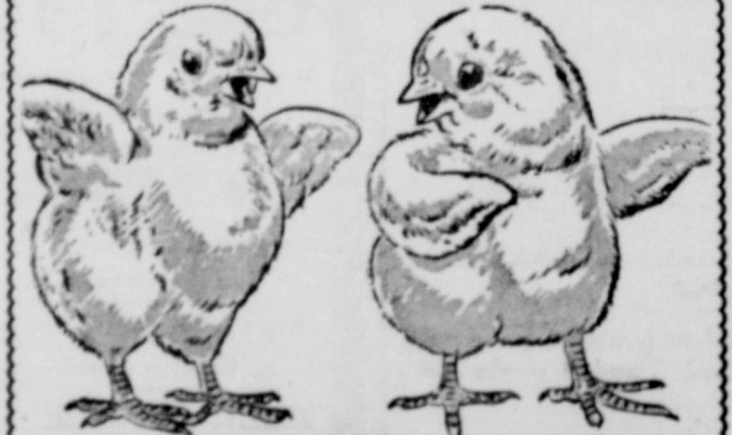

For the first time, too, Dulles refused to categorically deny that we would ever recognize the Red China government or permit it to become a UN member. This indicates that events have caused a grave weakening in our foreign policy for such an action would be almost complete victory for the Reds.

Questions Made On Best Kinds Of Insecticides For Use In Area Gardens

another in a series of garden hints to the home gardener. They are Dr. George Elle, horticulturist at Texas A&M University, who says that insecticide should be used with some caution and wash the vegetables before eating.

Two of the most difficult insects to fight are with us now — the flea beetle and the aphid, or plantlouse. The flea beetle will eat or shred a good stand of seedling radish, mustard, spinach, and similar crops. It is about the size of a period (.), is shiny black, and will hop like a flea if disturbed. Dust with Rotenone as soon as damage is spotted and repeat a week later, if necessary.

The aphid can give birth to living young every 90 minutes, and the little rascals are all females. When you note them beginning to colonize on your vegetables, dust immediately with Rotenone. Don't fail to check a week later.

Here at Texas Tech, our gardens—planted March 1, are all up to excellent stands, despite some of the coldest and most miserable weather we have had all winter. We have had no damage from blowing sand because we keep the soil surface rough. We have shifted our transplant tomatoes, cabbage and broccoli to growing flats to give more room to the plants.

WILLIAM B. TEAGUE

County Attorney William B. Teague Asks Re-Election

William B. Teague this week gave The Democrat the authority to announce his candidacy for County Attorney of Hall County. His statement, accompanying the announcement, was as follows: "To the Citizens of Hall County: It is with gratitude and thanks for the fine co-operation the people of Hall County have given me in the operation of the office of County Attorney during my present term, that I announce my candidacy for re-election for a second term as your County Attorney."

"I have enjoyed serving you and earnestly solicit your vote and your support during the coming election. It has been my aim and purpose during the present term, and if re-elected it will continue to be my aim and purpose, to render to all the people of Hall County the very best service that I can. I will continue to co-operate with local and state officials, and with the people of this county, to give you efficient public service. As in the past, I will vigorously and to the extent of my ability, prosecute all offenses committed within my jurisdiction, impartially and without favor, striving ever to protect the people and render justice to everyone."

"I hope that I shall be able to see all the people of Hall County before the election and discuss my candidacy with you, but if I fail to see you, will you please consider my candidacy. Your vote and support are sincerely solicited. Respectfully submitted, Wm. B. TEAGUE, Candidate for County Attorney, subject to action in the Democratic Primary."

School Financing Is Different Now, TU Historian Says

AUSTIN—The frontier endowed Texas' public school system with public lands, but now that the frontier is gone money must be substituted for land, Dr. Walter Prescott Webb, University of Texas historian, declared.

Dr. Webb addressed College of Education students and faculty at the second in a series of four meetings marking the centennial of Texas public education, being observed this year throughout the state.

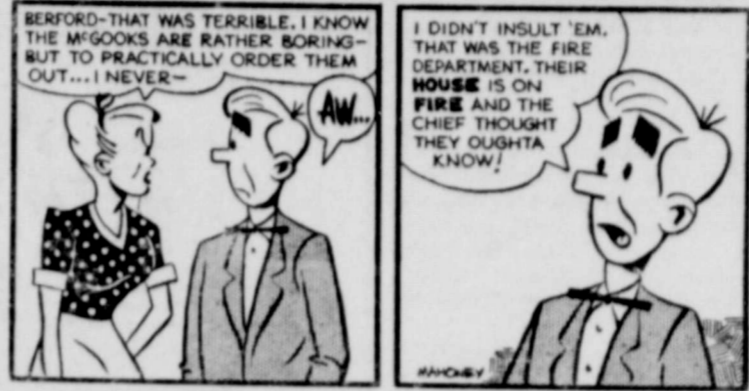

"It is to be hoped that the people will do as well by the public free schools as the frontier did when it was young and rich," Dr. Webb told his audience. By giving public lands, some 19th Century Texans saw the opportunity to endow the state's educational system without resorting to taxes, the famed historian of the frontier explained. But in 1898 it was discovered that the supply of unappropriated lands of the public domain had been exhausted, leaving the Permanent School Fund with a shortage of 5,728,023 acres.

"The state had written a hot check on the frontier, and an era in public education had come to an end," Dr. Webb said. He explained the "check" was made good with other lands and a real check for $17,180.

In considering the frontier's contributions to public education in Texas, Dr. Webb asserted:

"In my opinion we would have had some form of public education without the frontier, but the system in the nation and in the state would not have been established early, and it would not be nearly as well developed or as generally accepted or as well endowed as it is."

Information On Heart Disease Given By State Health Officer George Cox

AUSTIN—Heart disease is the number one killer in Texas. "What kind of a heart do you have?" asks Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. The periodic check-up with your physician will tell you. The Tuberculosis X-Ray Survey in the state conducted by the Texas State Department of Health has brought to light many non-tuberculosis abnormalities, some of these have been heart conditions.

The three present major forms of heart trouble are: rheumatic heart disease, high blood pressure and coronary heart disease. Rheumatic heart disease, the most common type in early life, occurs as the result of one or more attacks of rheumatic fever. It is a public health problem for which very little has been done, yet with early diagnosis and proper medical care during the acute and convalescent stages, children who develop rheumatic fever can be largely spared from rheumatic heart disease in later life.

Another major cause of heart trouble is high blood pressure or hypertension. This is the most common heart disease, but we do know that it is most common in people who are overweight, and that it is associated with long, continuous nervous strain, high tension and constant worry. Treatment of high blood pressure is fairly successful in the majority of cases.

Coronary heart disease is a disease of the arteries which supply the heart muscle itself with blood. A majority of persons survive the first attack, and with good medical care, rest and common sense precautions, may even live a normal life span. Syphilitic heart disease can be prevented by early and adequate care of the systemic disease, a problem which has been simplified by the use of penicillin. Research in the medical sciences is constantly improving the outlook for the cardiac patient, yet each individual must assume the responsibility for obtaining the benefits of this knowledge from his physician for himself and family.

Surveys made last fall indicate that grasshoppers may be numerous enough in the Texas Panhandle to cause heavy damage to crops and pasture land this year. However, weather and other natural conditions may change the situation. Farmers and ranch operators should be on the alert for these pests.

Processed poultry offal with fat and water removed, may soon be utilized by Texas broiler producers as a source of high content protein feed. It is now being tested by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. The processed offal contains approximately 63 per cent protein, and amino acid about equal to that of fish meal.

O. V. Robinson In Iwo Jima Maneuvers

O. V. Robinson, husband of Mrs. Freda L. Robinson of Turkey, participated in "Operation Flag Hoist" recently, while serving aboard the landing ship dock USS Colonial. The project was an amphibious training exercise on the island of Iwo Jima.

Robinson is a machinist's mate third class in the United States Navy.

The operation involved several thousand Navy and Marine Corps personnel and was designed to promote combat efficiency of all participating units. It provided training in planning and executing an amphibious landing under realistic combat conditions.

Prevention is the best control for wood boring insects—borers—which attack trees and other ornamentals. Healthy trees are seldom attacked. Proper pruning, water and fertilizer will help keep trees healthy.

1954 Crisis Year For Wild Turkeys On Etext Preserve

PALESTINE—The year 1954 will be one of crisis for wild turkeys transplanted in Anderson and Henderson Counties in East Texas, particularly within the management area, according to E. G. Marsh, biologist for the Gus Engeling Wildlife Management Area.

Marsh reported that only "about a dozen" wild turkeys remain of as many as one hundred of the big game birds that ranged the refuge in the winter of 1951-52. The original stock in this area, as brought here from South Texas, comprised 68 hens and 60 gobblers released over 60,000 acres in Anderson and Henderson Counties.

The biologist explained that the Engeling project paralleled the wild turkey restocking failures encountered in East Texas during the last 10 years.

He said cause of the negative results has not been definitely determined but contended that predation or illegal harvest were not primary factors. He said technicians still are trying to determine the actual reason but meanwhile suspect that the drought, worst in the area within fifty years, was the primary drawback.

"We have not raised any young turkeys for two years," said the Biologist. "We are inclined to blame the drought, since it upsets so many conditions including the food supply. All ground nesting birds require a certain amount of moisture for hatching their eggs. It is likely that the hot sun kept the moisture in the sandy soil below the minimum required." The biologist said the 10,000 acre Engeling project, in the face of the bad turkey luck, now provides an ideal setting "to try to pin down the problem. We are making special efforts on this particular subject to spot the factors related to the turkey failure."

Staggered plantings of Sudan grass will stretch the summer grazing program. Such plantings enable the livestock produced to rest drought-stunted permanent pastures, yet have plenty of grazing so long as moisture is available.

He said the remaining dozen turkeys are being given extra protection and special rations with the hope that "we may get back some of our seed stock by the winter" and added: "If we can hit the jackpot for a couple of summers we can still win out."

The Engeling Area is one of several key Game and Fish Commission projects in strategic state regions, all designed to aid wildlife restoration. The biologist said other phases of the Engeling project "are working out according to schedule" and that the transplanted deer are thriving.

Your Senator Reports

FIVE MONTHS: Where do you expect April to be? The month that may give answer to that question. Employment is still rising (four million); inventory—sales down; production and freight charges still skidding. It is going to be an up-and-down month. Observers think it will be in April.

INFORMATION: All during my time he drilled into me the importance of my judgment is no better than his information. Each day involves seeing 40 of the eight million in Texas and working with 95 colleagues in the Senate. The last five years traveling all over the country when Congress is in session. It must be on the job in my information about Texas to be accurate. My judgment will be your letters, containing facts and advice and setting forth my views on issues, help you.

YEARS: Just over five years I entered the U. S. Senate. During these years I have tried to serve all the organizations and individuals—Texans who love me and those who did not.

Human, I have made mistakes. I have done my best. I have no ambition to give the Texas the kind of reputation they deserve. My resolution is to establish March 7 of every year as Friendship Day. County Trustee Election Is Likely To Be Quiet One

The Hall County board of trustees election Saturday promises to be a quiet one since only two persons have announced their candidacies and both are incumbents.

Holdover members are: Eugene Lindsey of Memphis, Precinct 1; T. W. Luttrell of Lakeview, Precinct 2; and Brown Smith of Memphis, county trustee-at-large. Trustees serve for two years.

ranch. So there will be no big bull sale at Estelline at $300 per head, and to the amount of from 500 to 700 bulls. The ranch will, in the future, graze and fatten steers. The management announces that there is a good chance for oil on the ranch, and if so would make it hard to grow stock cattle. At least, the optimism expressed in the oil part of it is refreshing to people of this area who have been hoping for many years oil will be found in abundance.

Have you made a donation to the Red Cross? This is the organization that helps you when you are needing help. Now, it's your time to dig up.

There are only 54 less water connections in the city now than there were during the peak times, according to a survey made here recently. This statement may cause many to doubt the figures, knowing that a good many people have moved to other places where they could get jobs. The figures speak for themselves. Perhaps Memphis hasn't lost as many citizens as those remaining here had supposed.

Mother: "What did Mama's little darling learn at school today?" Sonny: "I learned two fellows not to call me mama's little darling."

People of this area are again saddened by the passing of one of its citizens. C. W. Broome, a citizen and business and civic leader for half a century, is the latest to depart from our midst. He was always interested in the development of every phase of community life—church, school, business and social. The City Park at the southern edge of the city will always stand as a monument to their big-heartedness and love for their community. The site was open to the community for many years as a playground. The Broomes saw the possibilities for making it into one of the city's best attractions and sold the ground to the City of Memphis in order that WPA could be used in beautifying it.

History has proven certain fundamental principles are the only safe way for one who wishes to travel through life securely and with deep satisfaction to himself and service to others.

At long last, the secret of the bombing of Pearl Harbor, is told in a book written by Rear Admiral Robert A. Theobald, USN, ret. The U. S. News and World Report obtained serial rights to print in advance of regular book publication. It comes out that Pearl Harbor was unready because FDR's plans required that no word be sent to alert the fleet in Hawaii. It was suggested in the article that FDR wanted something to happen so the American people would help the allies fight Germany. Kimmel and Short, officers at Pearl Harbor, were thrown to the wolves as a sacrifice to the ambition of FDR, is suggested in the story. Pearl Harbor will always be remembered by Americans, as will also Yalta and Potsdam.

Prejudices are rarely overcome by argument; not being founded on reason they cannot be destroyed by logic.

Another of the Hall County early settlers, R. H. Hughes of Lakeview, is added to the list of those who passed away, leaving only a few of the county's pioneers still with us. Mr. Hughes had a part in developing a raw area into one of the finest sections of the Panhandle of Texas.

First Piano Guild Auditions Slated Here In Early May

The first auditions ever to be held here by the National Guild of Piano Teachers are scheduled for May 7-8 and 10-11, according to Miss Gertrude Rasco. Memphis was chosen as an audition center for the Guild recently and Miss Rasco was appointed chairman.

The adjudicator for the local auditions will be Dr. Constance Shirley of Hollywood, Calif. Dr. Shirley has achieved distinction as both a concert pianist and a composer. Miss Rasco said.

The Guild was founded 25 years ago by Dr. Irl Allison and auditions have been held annually since then across the nation. The auditions start in the South at the end of March and are completed in the North the latter part of June.

Pianists, from tiny tots to concert artists, appear before Guild adjudicators, and receive unprejudiced opinions on their performances. Colleges and schools of music work with the Guild in maintaining a high standard.

In the autumn, those who have participated in the spring activities with satisfactory results, may take part in the International Recording Festival for prizes of from $5 to $750, if they wish.

This year, one of the features is the "best-in-the-state high school senior," with an accompanying prize of $50.

A number of new members have been added to the Hall County Farm Bureau within the past week or ten days, indicating the ever increasing interest of farmers in running their own affairs, according to Robert Moss, a county vice-president.

During the current membership drive, workers plan to contact every farmer in the county in order to give him the opportunity to join the Farm Bureau, so he may do his part in carrying on agricultural activities on the county, state and national levels.

Dear Theatre Customers Just as some novels are ten for adult reading, some movies are made for entertainment. This one is one of this type.

Therefore, during the showing of the movie "The Blue," there will be no tickets sold. The quantity arises: How old the child be before I'd want her to see the movie?

Some of the children when they were some are grown when they are 12 or 13. You be the judge.

May I add, though there is nothing wrong with a moralizing, or wrong with a movie "The Moon Is Blue" that the dialogue and the audience appeal of the picture is above that of "The Blue."
