Clouds Promising But Don't Pay Off

It looked promising several times the past week but clouds never got to the point where they paid off in this area. It was cloudy toward the end of last week and again the first part of this week. Everyone was hoping for some "wet stuff" but nothing happened, with the exception of some isolated light showers in the area Tuesday afternoon. None of them measured more than a few hundredths of an inch.

Skies were overcast again this morning but the weather bureau at Amarillo pushed scattered showers and colder weather originally scheduled Thursday afternoon or evening, to Friday. However, the forecasters, like the rest of us, are not always right, so maybe we will have some moisture today, anyhow.

Temperatures have been summerish the past week. Extremes, according to Weatherman John McMickin, were as follows: last Thursday 55-82 degrees; Friday 51-90; Saturday 57-89; Sunday 61-87; Monday 57-82; Tuesday 61-87; and Wednesday 57-83. Minimum this morning was 54 degrees.

"We were very proud of Miss Sturdevant," said A. L. Gailey, president of the Memphis Lions Club, "as she was selected as one of the 10 finalists, out of 47 candidates entered in the queen contest." The young lady, who was the candidate of the Littlefield club, was chosen queen.

Lions attending from Memphis, were: Gailey, Robert Spicer, Bob Ayers, Homer Tucker, Bill Leslie, Clifford Farmer, Herschel Combs, M. O. Goodpasture, M. D. Gunstream and J. W. Coppedge.

Richard Highfill Resigns As Music Director Here

Richard Highfill, who has been director of music in Memphis High School for the past two years, tendered his resignation Wednesday, to accept a position as band director in the Jacksboro public school system. The resignation will become effective at the end of the present school year.

Highfill's resignation to Supt. W. C. Davis was accompanied by the following statement:

"It is with deep regret that I tender my resignation in order to accept the position of band director in the Jacksboro public schools.

"This move has been prompted for several reasons: (1) The climate of the Memphis area has not been conducive to the health of my family; (2) The Jacksboro position offers promotional opportunities.

"During my two years tenure as band director in Memphis, my family and I have made many friends, and we are loathe to leave them, and the town. I feel that our lives have been immeasurably enriched by the acquaintances that we have made here.

"To the school board, Mr. Davis, Mr. McCreary, and other faculty members, I want to express my heartfelt appreciation for the wonderful cooperation you have given my department.

"To the school board, faculty, and town, I would like to say that you are indeed fortunate to have the superintendent that heads your educational program. He not only ranks among the highest as an educator, but he is one of the finest Christian gentlemen that I have ever been my pleasure to know.

"I feel that my teaching experience here will enable me to become a better teacher.

"I would like to wish you continued success in your teaching program."

Highfill is married and has two children, Patricia Ann, 3 years old, and Timothy Richard, 8 months old.

Mr. and Mrs. Highfill and children plan to move to Jacksboro or that vicinity after school is out here.

Jaycee Officers Installed At Annual Dinner Last Thursday

Officers and directors for 1954-55 assumed their positions last Thursday night, at the annual installation banquet of the Memphis Junior Chamber of Commerce. The dinner was held at the Cyclone Drive Inn, with Douglas Lawrence, outgoing president, serving as toastmaster.

Taking office were: Joyce Webster, president; Homer Jones, first vice-president; Coy Don Taylor, second vice-president; Don Carmen, treasurer; and Mark Stuart, secretary. This is Webster's second time to serve as president of the organization.

Going in as directors were: F. D. Saxon, one-year; and Charles E. Galloway and Melvin Blum, two-year. Royce Frisbie, a holdover director, has one more year to serve.

Lawrence became a state director in the Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce upon retiring as president of the local group.

Jack Allen, a prominent young Perryton attorney and a state Jaycee vice-president, installed the officers and directors, and outlined their responsibilities in carrying on operations of the Memphis club the coming year.

C. A. Cryer, president of Frank Phillips College and superintendent of schools at Borger, the speaker of the evening, discussed the importance of good leadership in a community and town. In doing so, he contrasted the difference between towns where there was little or no civic leadership and those with alert and forward-looking leaders.

Cryer pointed out that communities that lack proper leadership frequently fail to have good churches, schools and industry.

He then went on to compare this with towns that possess capabilities. (Continued on Page 12)

Mrs. W. W. Wasson Is Injured In Accident Near Here Monday Afternoon

Mrs. W. W. Wasson of Estelline suffered injuries not believed serious, in the rear-end collision of two automobiles Monday afternoon. The accident occurred on Highway 287, about four miles southeast of Memphis.

Mr. Wasson, who was driving the car in which his wife was a passenger, was not hurt. Neither was the driver of the other auto, Robert Eugene Pouk, of Temple, Pouk was alone.

Mrs. Wasson was brought to a local hospital by Deputy Sheriff Bill Baten. Her injuries were listed by the attending physician as a fractured rib and multiple bruises. The impact of the collision threw Mrs. Wasson into the back seat of the family automobile, according to the deputy sheriff.

Mrs. Wasson was released from the hospital Tuesday.

Pouk's automobile struck the rear of the one, driven by Wasson, according to Baten. Both vehicles were headed south.

Baten quoted Pouk as saying that he looked off and the next thing he knew his car had struck Wasson's.

Pouk was fined for driving too close to another vehicle going in the same direction and fined $15.50 and costs in the court of Justice of the Peace J. S. Grimes, after pleading guilty.

The Pouk automobile was damaged so badly that it had to be towed away. Wasson was able to drive his car after some of the rear section, damaged by the crash, was partially straightened.

The collision occurred about 4 p. m. Monday.

"It will rain next week." So says Chief Gardner when asked if it would rain this week. He may be right at that, as a dry atmosphere will result from the norther that is predicted on the way, with temperature down toward freezing Friday morning.

Monday is the last day for candidates filing for office.

Indochina
Not quite a year ago Washington received an urgent appeal from France for additional aid in the amount of 385 million to increase the tempo of Communist resistance in the Indochina war.

Presently it is estimated that the United States has taken over approximately three-fourths of the cost of this war.

If this is done, it will not meet with the approval of Americans generally. The United States absorbed substantially all the cost of Korea, and furnished a high percentage of outside manpower.

Time For Planning Second Half Of Spring Garden, Horticulturist Says

(The following is one of a series of garden hints to home gardeners on the Plains. The series, written by Dr. George Elle, professor of horticulture at Texas Tech, is in the interest of better home gardens.)

With early crops in the growing stage and, I hope, doing well, it is time to plan the second half of the spring garden.

Black-eyed peas and beans should be put in as soon as possible and it is time to set out tomato and pepper transplants. Sweet potatoes should go in about May 1.

Cucumbers can be planted now, but postpone planting cantaloupe, squash and watermelon until after May 1. Melons require warm soil temperature for germination and early growth. These seeds are large. If soil is too cold for quick germination, they will decay.

Warm soil also is necessary for growth after germination. The tiny roots cannot absorb water rapidly enough in cold soil and the plant is stunted. Unless the weather is unusually warm, it is perhaps better to wait until May 15 to plant melon seeds.

Two products available at your seed store, "spergon" and "semson," aid in protecting against soil diseases and decay of melon seeds and also are beneficial to black-eyed peas and beans.

For the early crops I stressed the importance of heavy fertilization to produce quick, sturdy growth. This would be disastrous for the crops you are putting in now. Be conservative in the use of nitrogen. Use it with a high phosphate. A 10-20-10 complete fertilizer, used 500 pounds to the acre, will be a conservative maximum for most of crops in the average home garden.

A word about water. At first your peas, beans, tomatoes, melons, etc., will have shallow roots and will require readily available water, hence you must irrigate frequently. Older warm soil crops require less frequent watering since their roots penetrate several feet into the ground.

A second planting of early spring crops may be made now. Early radishes should soon be ready to eat, and the second planting will provide radishes when these are gone. If sweet corn is up (and it should be), consider planting a second stand around May 15. For this planting be sure to choose a corn-ear worm resis-

SAFETY RULES ARE LISTED FOR BICYCLE RIDERS

"Smart bicycle riders don't take chances!"

That tip was given to Texas cyclists by Col. E. B. Tilley of Houston, President of the Texas Safety Association, as he commented on the dangers of riding a bicycle carelessly in traffic.

He spoke in cooperation with the Department of Public Safety and the National Safety Council, who are conducting a Child Pedestrian and Bicycle Safety program.

"According to National Safety Council figures, approximately 22,000 children were injured or killed while riding bicycles in 1952," Col. Tilley said.

"This should leave no doubt in anyone's mind that riding a bike in traffic is hazardous," he said. "Good riders know this," he continued, "that why they always play it safe. They realize that care and judgement are as important as skill in riding a bike well. The experts have all three."

Col. Tilley advised youngsters who would like to become experts to follow these rules:

- 1. Keep to the far right.
2. Do not weave or stunt. Ride in a straight line.
3. When with friends, ride in single file.
4. Put books and packages in a carrier and never carry passengers on your bike.
5. In traffic, obey all signs, signals and pertinent traffic laws.
6. Never hitch on to a passing truck, street car, automobile or any vehicle.
7. Never dart into traffic from a driveway, alley or side street.
8. If you must ride at night, have a good light and rear reflector.
9. Keep bicycle in good condition.

tant variety such as Honey June. Warning: If you are considering hot caps for tomatoes or pepper plants, be sure to make a hole in the top if you don't want to cook the plants.

If you are tempted to use fruit jars, I suggest that you throw them away or save them for canning use later in the season. They will not help here and may kill your plants.

UT Grad Finishes Study Of Masonry Influence In U. S.

AUSTIN—An exhaustive study of the influence of Freemasonry in America, with emphasis on its history, has been completed by a University of Texas graduate student.

James D. Carter, former Coryell County, shows in his doctoral dissertation that Freemasonry played a major role in Texas during the Colonial period, the Revolution and the Republic. Carter's study traces the Masonic movement from its origins in the craft guilds, through the American colonial period, across the continent into Texas. Research took him to Memphis, Washington, D. C., and he gathered much material in the University Library and in Waco headquarters of the Texas Grand Lodge.

Texas Masons awarded Carter a $1,800 research grant, and are under discussion for publication of his findings.

Fly Control Programs Early

After strict sanitation nor a program alone can eliminate the nuisance of the common house fly. A sound fly control program must be a combination of strict sanitation and fly control.

People Are Urged To Rid Premises of Rat Menace

STAIN—This is the time of year that most towns in Texas start their annual clean-up campaign. Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, suggests that such activities are planned to keep in mind the various ways necessary to get rid of rats.

Rats are noted carriers of disease. Some of the diseases transmitted by rats or their hosts are plague, typhus fever, dysentery, food infection, trichinosis, infectious jaundice and Rocky Mountain fever. Rats are scavengers that live on filth as well as on garbage.

come of at least $3 to $6 per head was gained at a spray cost of about 6¢ per head.

Dairy cows also respond by giving more milk if unmolested by flies. During one 60-day test, the sprayed herds averaged over 3 pounds more milk each day than cows in unsprayed herds.

Farm sanitation should start with eliminating breeding places such as manure piles, unsanitary poultry houses, dirty hog lots, outdoor toilets and decaying organic matter. This should be followed by:

- (1) Spraying early when fly population has not had a chance to multiply.
- (2) Spraying all buildings housing animals and other buildings that are known to attract flies.
- (3) Spraying with a concentration according to manufacturing recommendation.
- (4) Spraying animals regularly. Flies are attracted to animals who will continue to bring them into treated buildings.

If moisture conditions permit the planting of substitute crops taken out under control allotments, very little productive Texas cropland is expected to remain idle. The overall labor needs on the State's farms are not likely to be materially reduced because of the shift in plantings.

Double forage yields from pastures and meadows do result when fertilizers and good management practices are used, according to A and M College officials. Soils deficient in vital plant food nutrients produce forage low in essential minerals.

A new Agricultural Extension Service publication, C-341, Guide for Controlling Insects on Ornamental Plants in Texas, is now available at local county extension agents' offices or the Agricultural Information Office, College Station.

Dr. Jack Rose Guest Speaker At PTA Study Meeting

"A child can be visually handicapped and still see the finest print across a room and up close," said Dr. Jack L. Rose, Optometrist, when he appeared as guest speaker before a study group meeting of the Austin and Travis Parent Teacher Associations. The meeting was held on April 15 at the Austin school.

"Many children do not show a visual problem in any way except by performing in school at a lower level than normal for a child of his I. Q. without a visual problem," Dr. Rose continued.

"Our school system give an eye test which is very good as far as it goes. It will detect those children who have developed a decided visual problem. However, the fact that a child passes this school test should not lull the teacher and parent into a sense of false security concerning the child's eyes. Many children pass the school test every year and yet perform below their level because of an uncorrected visual problem.

"Every parent should give his child the benefit of good eye care. Some habits to follow are: Good posture in reading—sit upright; hold work 12 inches or more away; good lighting during study and play—no glare—reduce dark and light contrast, light the whole room well; eliminate most of the reading material during convalescence; use well printed books and reading material; and follow good general rules of health.

"The fact that a child is wearing glasses does not necessarily indicate that there is anything wrong with his eyes. Just as we wear shoes to absorb the impact of the hard surfaces on which we walk, due to the change in our environment so we wear glasses to adapt our eyes to the changing visual environment. Many children who are wearing glasses now would not have needed them back in 1900. Educators tell us that the grade school child now reads fifteen times more than did a similar child back in 1900. These eyes which were originally built for seeing at distance must now adapt themselves to hours of close work and get meaning from that work. If the eyes do not make the adaptation without extra effort, a visual problem will usually develop.

"Many children have problems which cannot be corrected with glasses. That is where visual training or orthoptics plays an important part. Visual training eliminates poor seeing habits which a child has developed, and then builds in new seeing habits which give him better performance in his work.

"Visual training has been used to straighten the eyes of children who have one eye that turns in or out and does not work with the other eye. It has been used to prevent many children from developing near sightedness. There are many other types of cases who are helped with visual training.

Visual training is not for every child. It will help about fifty per cent of the children who show a definite for it. Visual training is not designed to prevent a child from wearing glasses, but it does so in many cases." Dr. Rose concluded.

Mrs. R. C. Lemons and son John and daughter Mary Ann have returned home after visiting for a few days in Durant, Okla., with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Brewer and Glenda Lou and R. L. Brewer of Wellington visited here Sunday afternoon with their daughter and sister, Mrs. Roy McClure and husband.

Gayle Greene, who is president of the Memphis Rotary Club, Thomas Clayton were in Laredo Sunday and Monday to attend District convention of the Rotary Club.

Your Senator Reports

By LYNDON B. JOHNSON

FACE THE GOAL: Again I sat in on a conference of the utmost gravity to all of the Congressional leaders of both Houses just after his return from his journey to England and just before he left on his journey that would take him finally to Geneva.

WHAT ARE THE ISSUES? It is impossible to exaggerate the seriousness of the situation.

NATIONAL GOOD: As I stand around at the faces of the

come in and see us first.

AYERS

North Side Square

men gathered at the conference and listened to their solemn words I had no doubt that every man present was thinking, above all else, of the good of America.

There was no political sniping, for every man recognized that the grave issues under discussion transcend all political considerations.

There was, I firmly believe, a solemn intention on the part of each man present to weigh his words carefully — to consider the whole grave problem from every angle — and to act, finally, in the best interests of all the people of America.

FIGHT FOR FREEDOM: The French Foreign Legion, which has been fighting in Indo-China, has been magnificent. So have the officers in command on the scene. But — and this is a big but —

There has been little support on the French home front for the war. (Many of the Legionnaires are professional German soldiers.)

The French have refused to grant full independence to the people of Indo-China.

Many Asians feel they have no choice between French imperialism and Chinese imperialism. They are apathetic.

The French might well take a lesson from our own Texas history. At the battle of San Jacinto, Texans routed the forces of Mexico — although Texans were outnumbered two to one. They were fighting for freedom. The fact more than made up for the numerical odds.

MANY QUESTIONS: The questions to be settled in connection with Indo-China are as numerous as they are serious.

I do not know what action will be taken. I feel very strongly that any action, whatever its nature, must proceed with the full knowledge and consent of the American people.

Like all other Americans, I hope and pray there will be no decision which takes our fellow-Americans through the valley of the shadow of death.

FAITH: In a letter I received

THE BAFFLES By Mahoney

the other day from a Texas woman, there was this striking thought:

"I know the times are troubled. I know the questions you are called upon to help settle are of the greatest seriousness. But I know this as well: I know that Christianity and democracy are stronger than communism and atheism."

How true that is. How well advised all of us would be to keep this truth steadfastly in mind. It is a belief that can serve as a guidepost to lead us away from the threat of war and tyranny.

MIXED BLESSING: The rains which are falling over Texas at the time this is written are a mixed blessing.

They have greatly improved wheat prospects in the Northwest. But, at the same time, they have washed out thousands of acres planted to vegetables in the western end of the Rio Grande Valley.

The Agriculture Department reports improved corn prospects in the Coastal Bend area. Cattle prospects are better as more green feed is available. Vegetable prospects are good wherever the rain has not washed away the soil.

But at this point, rain is still needed over broad stretches of the state. Precipitation was only 35 per cent of normal for the first three months of 1954 — the driest first-quarter year in Texas history. It will take a lot of rain to make up for the long drought.

The lesson is still inescapable. We need dams and reservoirs — dams to trap flood water and prevent damage; reservoirs to store water against the hot, dry, thirsty months.

THE PEOPLE KNOW: Whatever is necessary to solve our Texas water problem must be done. I know, from the numerous letters I receive on the subject, that it is how the people of Texas feel about the matter.

This alert and intelligent interest by Texans in solving our water problem makes me realize all over again that, generally speaking, the American people, once they are given the facts about a situation, can be depended on to seek for and find the right answers to questions affecting their welfare.

Confidence in the judgment of the people is the foundations stone of our system of government.

Estate Of East Texas Couple Seen As Game Preserve

AUSTIN—The hope of an East Texas couple to deed their home to preserving a segment of the once fabulous Big Thicket seems headed toward realization.

Howard D. Dodgen, executive secretary of the Game and Fish Commission, has been informed that the American Museum of Natural History has expressed an interest in aiding the project.

The Museum, which has headquarters in New York, would act through an allied agency—The Nature Conservancy—which was established to conserve natural areas.

The Big Thicket estate, comprising 75 acres, is the home of Bruce and Beatie Reid, both naturalists and both particularly interested in birds.

In the January issue of the Game and Fish magazine, the Reids described their dream of leaving their wilderness home to some responsible agency that would preserve it in its natural state.

The Reids, who live near Silsbee, had been approached by several persons, but they were greatly interested in the communication from the American Museum of Natural History, which stated that the Museum's Texas representative—George Fell—would call on them.

The Reids are personally acquainted with Richard H. Pough, Museum president, whom they last saw at Baton Rouge, La., at a meeting of the American Ornithology Union.

The Big Thicket, around the turn of the century, was one of the nation's greatest wildlife habitats, according to the Executive Secretary. Almost every kind of native game abounded in the heavily wooded forest land. Then came commercialization of the woods products and the advent of the market hunter. In the ensuing installation of "civilization," wildlife resources were dissipated.

The Reids have been alert to keep down fires and marauders. Now, for one major conquest, they believe their area will be a forest of dogwood within three or four years.

Deposits Of Hall County Banks Shows Decrease Since Close Of Last Year

Total deposits in the four Hall County banks have declined some since the end of last year while total loans and discounts have increased. This was revealed by a study of statements of condition at the close of business, April 15. Such statements are required periodically by Texas banking laws.

As of April 15, deposits totaled $7,428,021.70, compared with $8,029,350.31 at the end of 1952. Loans and discounts on April 15 came to $3,630,957.14, as against $3,347,960.59, at the close of business, Dec. 31 of last year.

When the banks prepared their statements of condition at the end of 1952, total deposits amounted to $9,120,296.73. Loans and discounts of only the Memphis and Lakeview banks were available. Excluding the Turkey bank, this listing totaled $3,399,210.42.

The decline in deposits the past several years reflects the extended drought and falling prices of farm and ranch products.

Four Area Youths In Basic Training At Fort Bliss

Four soldiers from the Memphis area recently began eight weeks of basic training in the Anti-aircraft Artillery Replacement Center at Fort Bliss.

They are: Pvt. Donald D. Payne son of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Payne, 1521 Noel Street, Memphis; Pvt. Malcolm L. Kennedy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elzie Kennedy, 1206 Brice Street, Memphis; Pvt. Gerald W. Payne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Troy Payne, Lakeview; and Pvt. Billy M. Salmon, Jr., son of Billy Salmon, Fort, Tex.

All will spend the eight weeks on fundamental infantry subjects such as army drill, rifle, machine gun, and bazooka marksmanship, and familiarization with army technical matters. This phase of training will be climaxed with one week of maneuvers in the field.

After completing their eight weeks of basic training, the four will either be assigned for further training at Fort Bliss in anti-aircraft artillery techniques, or will be transferred to another training center for instruction in some other army skill.

Four-H Members Urged To Engage In Spring Cleanup

An urgent appeal to take active leadership in the Spring Clean-Up drive soon to be observed was addressed to 4-H Clubs today by Texas Agricultural Extension Service. W. B. Hooser, county agricultural agent, is participating in the drive, and will help club members carry spring clean-up to every farm in the state.

"There is a strong relationship between a good job of clean-up and fire prevention," Hooser said. "We know this from the records of the National Fire Protection Association. The simple truth is that a clean house seldom burns. This is just as applicable to the barn, outbuildings and the fields as to the farm home."

Four-H Club members are advised to begin the clean-up drive in their own homes and farms, and to concentrate their efforts on the removal of useless combustible materials that make perfect tinder for any stray spark. In the farm home, this means old magazines, newspapers, rags and clothing, and discarded draperies, curtains and mattresses, and broken and discarded pieces of furniture, often stored in attics, closets and basements.

In the barn, the machine shed, and other buildings, it means removal of oily rags, or their storage in covered metal containers, and clean-up of shavings, old paints and oils, discarded feed bags and similar debris. It means putting gasoline and kerosene in approved metal containers, not cans or glass bottles. Never store flammable liquids in or near main buildings.

In the fields, it means cutting down dead vegetation, particularly along fence rows and around buildings, and cleaning up papers and other litter.

Four-H Clubs also are asked to clean dirt and dust from fuse boxes, switches, motors and electrical appliances. It's important, too, to keep motors properly lubricated.

Eight Of 146 Texas Counties Examined

Shepperd Outlines Plans For Halting Decline Of Small Towns

Attorney General John Ben Shepperd Saturday defined a plan to turn the tide for the small towns in the 146 Texas counties that are steadily losing population and industry.

The plan was outlined at a meeting of the Jackboro Chamber of Commerce.

Shepperd said many of the small towns have been trying desperately to bring in new business in order to hold or increase their population.

"Maybe the problem should be looked around," Shepperd said. "If means can be found to help the people, particularly the young people, industry will follow. Industry doesn't come to people, people come to industry. People are the community's greatest resource."

Shepperd noted that for the time, the percentage of Texas living on the farm or in the small towns has fallen below the national average.

Today two-thirds of all the people live in towns of more than 2,500 people, and we are seeing the undesirable results such as absentee ownership, a general decline of individualism, and the death of private enterprise and competition.

The 146 counties whose problems Shepperd discussed lie generally in north-central Texas in a block ranging roughly from San Angelo to Tyler and from the Red River to Yoakum in the south. According to Shepperd, the percentage of people in this section over 65 years of age is almost twice as high as in the rest of the state.

"Place a map showing the relative ages of the people in the counties on top of a map showing the counties that have had the heaviest population losses, and you'll find that they correspond almost exactly," he stated. "This shows it's the young people who are leaving and going to areas where industry is booming and opportunities for business are brighter."

"It is high time Texas had what other states have—a Department of Industry and Commerce to help these small towns survey resources, their water supplies and their industrial advantages. Such a department could be financed on a self-liquidating basis at no extra cost to the taxpayer."

The Attorney General said that recent surveys show that 50 people working in a basic industry create work for 78 people in service industries and support an additional non-working population of 225.

"Every job you create is really two jobs and supports four or five people."

Shepperd pointed out that a certain part of the exodus away from small towns to cities is normal migration since it takes more and more people to work the factories and fewer to work the farms.

"But some of this exodus is not only abnormal but fatal to the little towns," he said. "A lot of older people are spending their retired years in the city suburbs and some families even live in the city and commute every day to their business in the little towns."

"The heart of the problem is that too many young people are pulling out. Ways must be found to make small town life attractive to the young people or no amount of new industry from outside can save the dying small communities."

Attorney General Shepperd named financial assistance for young people as the primary way to encourage them to go into business in their hometowns instead of migrating to the cities.

"We can put up collateral for loans to help them get started in business and can work for an equitable adjustment of the inheritance tax that takes away so much of what we pass on to our children."

"Along with scholarships, we can establish job-ships to finance the technical education for young people that will fill the gaps in what the town needs in the way of business or professional people. If you need a veterinarian or a doctor or a lawyer, train one and bring him back home to work. We need to do less getting and more creating."

Shepperd urged businessmen to welcome competition as a sign the town is healthy and to encourage older people to stay in business instead of retiring.

"A small town needs good schools, hospitals, and recreational facilities if it is to compete with the advantages of the cities," he emphasized. "Above all, it needs a spirit of cooperation to weld its youth firmly to its side."

School Officials Eye Film Library In Meeting Here

A Cooperative Film Library which is scheduled to serve the schools in six counties of this area, was discussed here Monday night when superintendents from the four Hall County school systems met here with Miss Mary Foreman, county school superintendent.

Miss Foreman was present when the library was organized at Wellington last week. The Children's meeting also was attended by representatives from Cottle, Childress, Donley, Collingsworth, Wheeler counties. A representative from each county was selected to compose a board of directors of the organization.

Besides Miss Foreman, others attending the Monday evening session here, were the following superintendents: W. C. Davis, Memphis; Loran Denton, Lakeview; V. Y. Graham, Estelline; and O. K. Edmondson, Turkey.

The film library is to be located at Clarendon Junior College. This location was decided upon, after it was learned the college would house the films and handle operations without a fee.

At the Wellington meeting, a plan was passed, under which counties that expect to participate in the library must notify the board of directors of its intention and send 10 cents per average daily attendance by June 1. The balance of the 50 cents per student must be turned into Miss Ruth Richerson of Clarendon, by Nov. 1. Miss Richerson is Donley County school superintendent.

The mile-relay team, composed of Kenneth Taylor, Jack Montgomery, Carrol Gardenhire and Clyde Tamplen, took fifth place. The time was 3:38 minutes, the fastest they have run the distance this year, Poteet said.

Tampelen ran the 880-yard event in 2:10 seconds. The winning time was 2:05 seconds.

Winners Of Pigs In Essay Contest Are Announced

Winners of pigs in the annual essay contest for Hall County 4-H Club members have been announced by County Agent W. B. Hooser. "Diversified Farming" was the subject of the essays.

Winners of Sears gilts for 1954 are: Donald Wayne Widener, Daryl Long, Lacy Montgomery, Doyle Ray McMurry and Gary and Shari Gentry, all of Memphis; Don Molloy, Lakeview; Gary Cox, Tell; and Maurice Hood, Parnell.

The four gilts, which are awarded each year by businessmen, went to the following 4-H members: Ray Perkins and Jan House, Turkey; Tony Molloy, Lakeview; and Rebecca Moore, Estelline.

Perkins' pig was donated by the Memphis Chamber of Commerce. Molloy's and Miss Moore's, by O. R. "Doc" Saye of Memphis, and

Duke Frisbie Wins 100-Yard Event In Meet At Lubbock

Duke Frisbie captured a first and second place in the regional interscholastic league track and field meet at Lubbock the past weekend to rack up eight points for the Memphis team. This won a fifth and sixth place tie with another competing team, according to Nolan Poteet, Memphis High School track coach. The Memphis sprint star will compete in the state meet at Austin, May 7.

Frisbie ran the 100-yard event in 9.9 seconds, to break the tape first, and came in second in the 220-yard dash, with a time of 21.5 seconds.

In posting the 2.6 second mark in the 220, Frisbie surpassed the old record of 21.9, but this was not quite good enough, as Dale Curtis of Denver City, the winner, edged the Memphis runner,

Mexia Making Comeback

The people of Mexia, Texas, have put on their fighting clothes and gone into action to reverse a trend which for a number of years has brought a steady decline in the population and the business life of the city.

Residents of Memphis and this area can sympathize with and understand Mexia's plight because the situation in both instances is similar in several respects, as a brief description of Mexia's recent history will show.

Mexia, like Memphis, is the seat of government for a county whose citizens are moving to other localities. Dallas, Fort Worth and Waco are not far away and it is certain that many of the people are going to one of these cities, just as many families and individuals from this section have moved to Amarillo, Borger, Pampa, Plainview and Lubbock, the big towns in this region.

Between 1940 and 1950, Mexia, unlike Memphis, posted a slight gain in population. But the county, like ours, registered a loss. The decline in Limestone County, of which Mexia is the county seat, amounted to approximately one-fourth of the residents, which outdistanced Mexia's small increase, according to an article in a recent Dallas News.

Mexia pondered this sobering fact and then went to work to try to do something about it. For one thing, residents decided to do what they could to keep their young people in the community instead of watching Mexia's future swallowed up by its big neighbors.

The outcome of citizens' thinking and acting was an industrial foundation which has obtained a furniture factory for Mexia. To get the plant, residents had to dig up $80,000.

The factory is to cost $154,000. In addition to the $80,000, plans are to borrow $70,000 on a first-mortgage on the plant. The furniture company will pay a monthly rent of about $1,000, or more if they wish to later and buy the factory in about 20 years.

The $80,000, which Mexia is providing, is being raised by selling twenty-year, second-mortgage bonds to citizens. Most of this already has been contributed, a recent report disclosed.

The new plant will be the first industry in Mexia since a textile plant was established nearly 30 years ago.

At a recent meeting of citizens, John Shumate of Dallas outlined what a 150-employee factory would mean, in terms of money. Shumate said there would be a $300,000 plant investment, a $350,000 annual payroll, an annual retail trade of 2 million dollars, the purchase of $800,000 worth of farm products, extra taxable valuations amounting to one million dollars, jobs for 18 professional people, business for 400 auto sales and service people, and partial support for 1,500 other persons.

Sounds rosy but why shouldn't it be true? One has only to check the records to see what already has happened to communities all over the South and the Southwest. One would find plenty of proof that industrial rejuvenation, like that at Mexia, is no pipe dream.

There is no question that Memphis could use some industry. For one thing, it would help blunt the effects of periodic drouths. Secondly, and more important, it would enable us to keep our young people and make our economy a virile and expanding one, in contrast to the trend of the past two decades.

If residents are willing to provide the necessary financing, there is no apparent reason why they cannot help themselves and this area, just as citizens of Mexia and other towns have done.

Press Paragraphs—

FREEDOM OF INFORMATION

This Country's Newspapers, on the whole, strive consistently to discharge their obligation to keep their readers informed concerning public affairs.

Unquestionably, those 43 editors of outstanding newspapers published in the United States and Latin America who participated in the recent forum on "Government Encroachment on Freedom of Information," at Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill., spoke for the great majority of their fellow-journalists when they declared:

"It is our urgent conviction that the liberties of men everywhere are dependent upon the independence and integrity of the sources of information... Whenever government usurps control of information, freedom disappears... The right of freedom of information belongs to the whole people. Newspapers are merely media to keep the people informed."

In the light of those principles, the editors see peril in the growing disposition of public officials to assume that they are not accountable to the public; that they "may seal or impound records and divulge only such information as they think good for the people to know." As the Evanston declaration reminds:

"This is the pattern by which Fascists, the Nazis, the Bolsheviks and the Peronistas began to limit the right of their people to know... The editors conclude with a warning:

"The American people are in danger of losing their freedom of information by default... The right of the people to know cannot be taken for granted, but must be fought for every day." Specifically, the Evanston declaration refers to former President Truman's "Security Order" of September 26, 1951, which granted department and bureau heads censorship powers in the name of "national security"—unprecedented for peacetime. It was inevitable that those powers should be used to cover up mistakes and otherwise hide facts which the people are entitled to know." Henderson Daily News

OPTIMISTIC MOCKINGBIRD

The charming voice of the mockingbird was heard in Stanton by this writer for the first time this year on Friday morning of last week. And his cheerful warbling of his various tunes, while flitting from tree to tree over the town, bore a message that all was bright in the old world.

This mockingbird makes his appearance in Stanton at the same time of the Spring each year. Could he live among us all year but never makes it publicly known until the early Spring when he serenades the community with his delightful tunes.

The drouth of four years has not caused the mockingbird to lose his optimism over the future prospects of the country, although the dry weather has materially rationed his food and water. He must work harder and fly farther to obtain it than in normal years.

But despite the fact that his stomach may be more gaunt, he allows it not to interfere with his yearly appearance in Stanton to spread his cheerful and melodious songs.

We've heard this mockingbird singing from the limb of a tree when darkened storm clouds were approaching. The heavy wind would bend the limb to almost the breaking off point, but Mr. Mockingbird enjoyed his swing in the breeze, and, in seeming defiance of the storm, he appeared to sing with even more force and cheerfulness.

The Stanton mockingbird has proved one thing: No four years of drouth will rob him of the voice that spreads his happy message. He may have to fly afar into distant lands to obtain his sustenance of life, but he will be with us at the proper time to sing his joyful tunes.

How much better it would be if more of us folks patterned after this bird, always spreading cheer, never losing confidence in our country.

COMMISSIONERS ORDER $150,000 WARRANT ISSUE TO BUILD COURTHOUSE — Hall County commissioners voted to issue $150,000 in county warrants to build a new courthouse on the site of the present building, at a meeting here Wednesday afternoon. The old courthouse has been condemned as unsafe by State Inspector W. R. Hendrickson. The warrants will bear 6 per cent interest.

The action of the commissioners court came as a surprise because at a meeting Saturday before last, the understanding was that a bond election was to be called.

The structure is to be 72 x 100 feet, with three stories and a sub-story at the base. It will be of reinforced concrete and brick, according to C. H. Page, of C. H. Page & Bro., of Austin, who will draw plans for the building.

In a letter to County Judge W. A. McIntosh, condemning the old courthouse, Hendrickson stated that the building had deteriorated to such a degree that any attempt to repair it would be a waste of money. He said that in his opinion, there was a possibility the structure might collapse in a severe windstorm, when rains soaked the ground on which the building stands.

ROAD MEETING AT LAKEVIEW BRINGS MUCH ENTHUSIASM—Increasing interest and enthusiasm for an adequate system of good roads for all parts of County is being evidenced by the news.

One of the most extensive road meetings ever held in county, took place last Friday night at Lakeview. As a result of the meeting, a petition is being circulated asking the commissioners court to call an election for the purpose of voting bonds to construct a paved road from Memphis to the Mulberry bridge way of Lakeview, the road to follow the nearest practical route.

The commissioners court has ordered an election on August 10 for the purpose of voting bonds for paving Highway 18 from Estelline to the Motley City line by way of Turkey, and latter runs from an intersection with Highway 18 at Turkey, to the Briscoe County line. The line will vote on a $150,000 issue and Turkey, on one of $100,000. These amounts are to be used in conjunction with state and federal aid.

A Bank Customer

- Is more than a name on our records
Each customer is a flesh and blood man or woman with human emotions, personal problems, individual hopes and plans.
- Is more than a voice on the telephone
A customer's call is our signal for action, an opportunity to serve, our chance to make a friend for the bank.
- Is more than a signature on a letter
Each letter we receive, no matter how minor it seems, is important to a customer and merits our full attention.
- Is never an imposition on our time
"Our time is your time" should be our attitude toward every customer, because that is why we are here — to serve you.
- Is not an outsider
The customer is truly an "insider" our reason for existence — our "boss" — a highly important part of our bank.
- Is not a favor-seeker
We do not confer a favor when we serve a customer — instead the customer does us a favor by doing business with us.
- Is not dependent on us
We depend on the customer. Without his support there would be no deposits, no loans, no profits — and no banks.

A bank customer is a friend whose confidence and good will form our most priceless assets. It is our aim to justify this confidence by serving efficiently.

Pearls of Wisdom

(Strung by J.H.R.)

Just as sure as spring comes and never under estimate the value of a good round of calomel. Having fallen victim to any of the above-mentioned homeopathic remedies, you will not only be seeing spots but you'll be seeing butterflies making circles around the spots.

We are here reminded of the chant of a medicine show pitchman selling a spring tonic to rejuvenate the aged ladies. His spell went this way: "Ladies, are you tired looking older than you feel? Do you have to fight off the Boy Scouts trying to help you across the street? Then try this marvelous life-giving elixir! You will no longer have a wrinkled face and

Now don't tell me you've never been afflicted with "seeing spots" and dosed liberally by some well-meaning aunt with sulphur and molasses or sassafras tea for said malady. Of course, they're always the old reliable cream of tartar

NOW YOU CAN STOP SMOKING

The Medical Men report that seventy-eight percent of lung cancer victims are smokers... that cigarette tar can start cancer cells growing... that lung cancer cases have increased 1500 times in the past 30 years—keeping up with the increase in cigarette consumption. Banish the tobacco habit forever as thousands have done... feel better, look better. Get SAFE, non-habit forming BACOTOL. Insecticides And Repellents Have Contrasting Uses COLLEGE STATION—Insect repellent preparations and home insecticides are popular controls for insect pests, but should not be confused one for the other. Repellents are applied to the skin or clothing to keep insects off and insecticides are used to kill insects, explains Neal M. Randolph, extension entomologist.

Home gardeners, outdoor workers, campers, picnickers or families sitting in the yard will find repellents helpful in warding off mosquitoes, gnats, chiggers, ticks and other annoying insects.

Repellent preparations, usually in liquid, lotion or cream form, are available at drug, hardware and grocery stores. Randolph says among the most satisfactory chemicals as repellents are dimethyl carbate, dimethyl phthalate, ethylhexanediol and indalone. The container usually lists the chemicals in each preparation.

Unlike many old repellents these substances have little or no odor and give protection several hours.

Mosquito, fly and gnat repellents should be applied directly to the skin. Rub uniformly onto exposed areas and repeat every two or three hours. Be sure there are no skin abrasions and do not apply near the eyes.

Chigger and tick repellents are most effective when applied to the clothing, but not to your best clothes. The chemicals are likely to spot or stain and even damage synthetic fibers.

A few drops daubed around the top of the socks and shoes gives protection against these crawling insects. They also may be applied to openings in the clothing around waistbands, cuff and collars.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Lawrence had as weekend guests Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Gribble and Mrs. Fred Williams of Eldorado and Mrs. J. O. Springer of Tulsa, Okla.

Fred T. Tidwell Rites Held In Hedley Church Of Christ Friday Afternoon

Funeral services for Fred T. Tidwell of Hedley, were conducted at 2:30 p. m. Friday in the Church of Christ at Hedley. Shelby Sanders, minister, and J. C. Stepp, minister of the Church of Christ at Lelia Lake, were in charge of the services.

Burial was in Rowe Cemetery, Hedley, under direction of Murphy-Spicer Funeral Home.

Mr. Tidwell, 39 years old, died Wednesday in an Albuquerque, N.M. hospital, of pneumonia. He had lived in Albuquerque the past several months and was a salesman for a bakery there. He resided in the Hedley community prior to going to Albuquerque.

Born in Franklin County, Tex., April 5, 1915, Mr. Tidwell came to Donley County with his parents while a small child. His mother died when he was one year old and after her death, he was reared by Mr. and Mrs. J. W. DeBoard of McKnight, near Hedley.

He attended Hedley High School, graduating in 1932. Mr. Tidwell was a veteran of World War II. He spent five years in the service, entering the armed forces, Dec. 9, 1941, and receiving his discharge in February, 1946. At the time of his separation from the U. S. Army, he was a sergeant.

He was a member of the Church of Christ at McKnight and of the American Legion at Hedley.

Survivors include: his father, J. M. Tidwell, Hedley; his step-mother, Mrs. J. M. Tidwell, Hedley; a brother, Marion Tidwell, Hedley; a sister, Mrs. Hester Adams, McLean; and two half-sisters, Mrs. Francis Satterwhite, Longview, and Miss Sue Tidwell, Hedley.

Pallbearers were Herman Kirkpatrick, Lloyd Leggett, Chester Walker, W. H. Clay, Fred Bourland and O. C. Sargent.

able leaders, who band together to develop the communities' resources, attract industry, more business firms, and new residents. In this phase of his speech, Cryer outlined the roles that various civic clubs play in accomplishing this.

In another part of his speech, the Berger educator emphasized the importance of properly raising children. He quoted the example of a man, whose father had raised and educated him to the best of his ability. Years later, after having done well in the business world, Cryer said the man went to his aging father and attempted to pay him for all he had done. However, the father declined the son's offer, declaring, "Debts like these can only be paid back by rearing and educating another family."

This area is not strange to Cryer since he attended the Quail schools in his early childhood and later taught at Northfield, in Motley County, before going to Berger.

Among other out-of-town visitors at the banquet, was Walter Shaller, Amarillo attorney, who is national director of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Also present were representatives from the Berger, Childress, Amarillo, and Perryton Jaycee clubs, and from civic organizations of Memphis.

Springtime means clean up, fix up and paint up jobs should be done. Labor not needed for other jobs on the farm can be profitably used on them.

the Iris at the Dickey home have been real showy. Many different colors are noted, and well worth seeing.

T. E. Johnson, editor of the Amarillo Globe-Times, and a former editor of The Democrat, has been seriously ill for the past two weeks. His sister, Mrs. B. D. Frisbie of Memphis, reports T. E.'s condition is critical.

After spending a week in New Orleans, wife and I arrived home Saturday. We have found how to live a long time. Each week seems like three weeks when we are away from home. If stayed away from home all the time, we could live to be more than 100 years old. It's the coming home that is most enjoyable time to us. We enjoyed New Orleans, but we can name a lot of other places we have enjoyed more. And we don't like the coffee served in N. O. Too much chicory.

The T&P railroad serves coffee about 10 a. m. complimentary to all passengers on the train.

Louisiana is a state that is well worth traveling through. From Shreveport to Alexandria, the railroad goes down the Red River Valley, and from Alexandria to N. O., it is alongside the Mississippi River. Very little broken or uneven country the whole route. The Red River section is of a sandy and poor soil nature, and cotton, corn and sorghum are the principal crops. Fine pastures are noted all along the way, mostly clover pastures, and these are filled with grazing cattle, which do not seem to get fat like cattle in this country on native grass.

Practically every herd is mixed with Brahma stock. Below Alexandria, there are a good many herds of cattle, and these do not fare as well as those above Alexandria. Principal crops there are rice and sugar cane. Rice fields were being flooded with water along the route, and sugar cane was about knee high. We were told that the cane brings from $150 to $250 per acre, depending upon price and quality. The Cellotex Corporation buys the pulp from the cane mills, bales it like alfalfa is baled, stacks it in large stacks, and roofs it to keep off the rain. This pulp is used in manufacturing the various articles like wall board and ceiling boards used in many residences here and elsewhere. In other words, the by-product of sugar cane is converted into something useful and very remunerative to Cellotex Company.

The swamps of Louisiana are not filled with water, as heretofore seen by many of the readers. Dry places are noted all along. Which indicated that Dr. Crick has not been working in that part of the state.

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service has recently released a bulletin, L-193, which covers the subject of establishing a Coastal bermuda grass nursery. Copies are available from county agent's offices or the Agricultural Information Office, College Station.

Scout Hall immediately after school is out, Friday afternoon and will leave for Clarendon about 5 o'clock.

The Scouts will set up camp as soon as they arrive at the site of the Camporee and then prepare supper.

Afterwards, there will be a campfire, during which the Scouts will put on demonstrations and sing songs.

Saturday, the Scouts will see demonstrations of axemanship, signaling, first aid, camping gear and methods, compass and map, and hiking equipment and needs.

They also will play Scout games during the day. These will include height judging, flapjack race, fireman's carry race, and silent fun.

The Camporee will conclude with award ceremonies. The Scouts will return to their homes late Saturday afternoon.

All Scouts of Troop 35 should bring camping equipment to Scout Hall and be ready to leave for Clarendon by 5 p. m. Friday, Myers said.

Best prospects for a peach crop in Texas are found in the Stone-Wall area of Gillespie county. The March freezes hit other major producing areas hard.
