Motorists Cautioned To Keep Safety Rules In Mind On Vacation Excursions

"Let safety share your vacation trip."
 Col. E. B. Tilley of Houston, President of the Texas Safety Association made that plea for safe driving in connection with the vacation driving program being sponsored by the Texas Safety Association, the Texas Department of Public Safety and the National Safety Council.
 "Vacation driving," he said, "increases substantially during the months of July and August. Statistics show that fatal traffic accidents also are more frequent during these months than in earlier months of the year."
 Col. Tilley pointed out that motorists in the United States drove 49 billion miles during July last year. This was an 11 per cent increase over the average mileage driven the first six months of the same year. August saw a total mileage of 50 billion, 14 per cent more than the average for the first six months.
 "At the same time, motor vehicle accident fatalities in July were up 10 per cent over the average for the first six months," he said. "And in August the fatalities were up 29 per cent from the average."
 "Vacationists planning to take a motor trip this summer," he said, "should remember that preliminary planning, as well as care, courtesy and alertness at the wheel are needed to avoid traffic accidents."
 "I want to stress especially the importance of courtesy to traffic safety," Col. Tilley said. "The driver who wants to avoid accidents makes courtesy his code of the road. He also is quick to recognize and acknowledge the courteous acts of others."
 To aid motorists in planning their vacation trips, he listed the following safety tips:
 1. Plan your trip so that you have plenty of time to reach your destination and return, without speeding or driving when fatigued.
 2. Learn driving regulations of the states you expect to travel through before you start on your trip.
 3. If you drive, don't drink; if you drink, don't drive.
 4. Watch for and heed all road signs and posted speed limits.
 5. Have your car (and trailer if you are going to use one) completely safety checked so that you are sure that everything is in first class condition mechanically.

 6. Load your car carefully so that luggage and equipment do not interfere with vision, will not shift dangerously in an emergency.
 "And remember the July slogan of the Texas Safety Association, the Texas Department of Public Safety, and the National Safety Council, 'Vacation Time — Make Courtesy Your Code of the Road.' It's good advice," the colonel said.

Highway Patrol Official Reports On May Activities

Members of the Texas Highway Patrol effected a total of 10,908 arrests during the month of May, according to a report released by W. J. Elliott, Chief of the Patrol Division of the Texas Department of Public Safety. Of these, 8,516— or 78 per cent—were for hazardous traffic violations. As usual, however, patrolmen gave twice as many warnings to motorists as they did tickets—a total of 21,898.
 Leading the list of causes for both arrests and warnings was "speed." Forty-three per cent of the arrests and 36 per cent of the warnings were for violations of the speed law.
 Patrolmen didn't do their work standing still. They racked up a total of 1,163,004 miles during the month while working 101,907 man hours, 37 per cent of which was at night.
 All of the patrol work wasn't just riding, either. Accident investigations required 3,431 hours; 1,396 hours were spent on safety work; and patrolmen spent 2,994 hours on court duty.
 Other arrest activities included: Driver license violations, 1,525; drunk driving, 596; improper passing, 767; and driving on wrong side of roadway, not in passing, 417.
 Second greatest number of warnings, next to speeding, were made for defective lights. There were 6,908 in this category. Other warnings included: Improper passing, 1,596; wrong side of roadway, not in passing, 1,096; and stop sign violations, 1,726.

Report From Washington

By Walter Rogers

Congressman, 18th District

The Punishment Should Fit The Crime

The bill being considered was the bill to revise and extend the laws relating to espionage, sabotage, and for other purposes. The penalty provided for during time of war or national emergency was fixed at not to exceed a $10,000.00 fine, or to exceed 30 years in prison, or both such fine and imprisonment. Other situations in which sabotage would be punished by a fine of not more than $10,000.00 or a prison term of not more than 10 years, or both such fine and imprisonment. The hour of the day, the Members were very tired and wanted to go home. It had a bad time to be offering amendments, but the Republican members had indicated that we should finish the bill before the adjournment. This simply meant that if an amendment was offered to be offered at that time. The sabotage section of the bill proposed for the death penalty as an amendment, but the sabotage portion of the bill did not. Therefore, I offered amendments to the bill that would empower a court to impose a death penalty for sabotage, espionage or for any term of imprisonment, including life imprisonment, or a fine up to ten thousand dollars, or both fine and imprisonment. In other words, I merely attempted to enlarge the authority of the court so that it could exact the death penalty or life imprisonment if the circumstances of the case warranted it. Frankly, I have always felt that the court should have full power to assess a punishment commensurate with the crime committed, and I can think of no worse crime than sabotage, espionage or treason. A seventeen-year-old boy in Texas can receive a death penalty for robbery with a gun, while a mature man can contaminate the water supply of a defense installation, which could result in untold misery and death to thousands of people, and if tried under the act we were considering, the most he could receive in punishment would be 30 years in prison and a $10,000.00 fine. This just doesn't make sense to me, and I am sure that if the House of Representatives had the opportunity to consider these amendments under different circumstances, they would not turn them down. We are going to be able to defeat Communism or the other "isms" that would destroy our way of life, unless the courts have the full power to mete out penalties that will not only punish the criminal, but will be a potent deterrent to the crime involved.

Red China And The UN

The recent high level public statements on the Red China-UN issue kicked off debate on foreign policy and foreign relations that has been smoldering for some time. The reason being that if Red China gets into the United Nations it will be by virtue of the votes of nations that are supposed to be our friends. As Secretary of State John Foster Dulles recently said, we do not anticipate that Red China will be voted into the UN, however, should such a tragedy occur, the circumstances present at that time should determine whether or not this nation stayed in the UN or gave up its membership. In other words, it is entirely possible that the best interests of this country could be served by permitting our potential enemies to guess what we will or will not do at some future date, rather than continue to telegraph our punches as we seem to have been doing for some time. I know of no one in this country who wants to see Red China admitted to the UN, certainly I, as a Member of Congress, would vigorously and bitterly oppose such entry. However, if Red China should gain admission by a narrow margin, the subsequent action or course of this nation should be determined by thorough analysis of the world situation at that time. Certainly we would not want to do something that would aid and abet Communist forces in their quest for world domination. Giving the other team our signals is not going to help us win the game.

Social Workers And Health Nurses To Hold Institute

HOUSTON—State and county social workers and public health nurses will learn their role in community education, early treatment and prevention of cancer at a University of Texas institute July 19-20, August 2-3 and August 9-10. The cancer-care institute is sponsored by the University's M. D. Anderson Hospital and Postgraduate School of Medicine. The State Department of Public Welfare, State Vocational Rehabilitation Agency, State Health Department, and various county welfare agencies are cooperating.

No one noticed that the door was locked until one of them started into the house. They were supposed to be keeping an eye on Mary Catherine, but they soon discovered that the baby sitters were prisoners of the baby and the baby didn't realize it. Mary Catherine was playing in the back yard, and if one of her friends hadn't come into the house to get a drink of water, I suppose the baby sitters would have had to wait it out. They finally found the stray cat and promptly evicted it, over the loud protests and opposition of Mary Catherine.

workers throughout the state are the life lines of the hospital," Mrs. Edna Wagner, Anderson Hospital medical social service director, said.

"Welfare workers not only are needed for family contacts in the patients' homes, but also do follow up work after the patients' release from the hospital," she explained. Because of their knowledge of the families they visit, welfare workers often are in a position to detect possible cancer signs and to direct the possible cancer victims to physicians for diagnosis and early treatment, Mrs. Wagner said. If a physician refers the patient to Anderson Hospital for a complete study, the welfare worker's contact with the doctor is helpful because the patient always is returned to his own physician for observation and follow-up.

Dr. Gilbert H. Fletcher, Anderson Hospital radiology department head and Postgraduate School of Medicine radiology professor, will deliver lectures before the institute group.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Hodges of Lockney spent Friday and Saturday with Mrs. J. L. Smith and Boaz Stotts. Mrs. Jessie Kyser of Hedley, Mrs. Hodges' mother, accompanied them to Lockney for a visit.

Mrs. Arvor McQueen and Mrs. Truett Hardage, who is visiting here and in Clarendon from Chandler, Ariz., spent Sunday in Amarillo with Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Wood.

Mr. and Mrs. Clent Srygley and Frankye Lynn returned last Thursday from Birmingham, Ala., where they visited relatives.

Mrs. Beryle Davis left Tuesday for Canyon where she will attend summer school at West Texas State College for the next six weeks.

Seaweed Known As 'Sargassum' Rarely Bothers Texas Coastal Area

BOCEPORT—It is not a mere "Chamber of Commerce excuse" that troublesome seaweed called sargassum rarely bothers that area...

This year, an extremely large amount of sargassum was washed up on Texas beaches, especially along Padre and Mustang islands...

"In years when this wind is not so constant," Reid explained, "the Caribbean current carries most of the sargassum through the Yucatan channel, then swerves sharply to the northeast and carries it past the southern tip of Florida and out into the Atlantic, where it collects in the famous Sargasso Sea..."

degrees north and the meridian of 30 degrees and 70 degrees west. It covers an area of two million square miles and contains about 10 million tons of sargassum weed...

"In some parts of the world sargassum weed, which is brown algae, is used commercially for fertilizer, and for the extraction of algin and other minerals. In the South Pacific, the tender sprouts are used for food..."

Bob Ayers returned Saturday from Texas A & M at College Station, where he took a two-weeks course in surlionseering.

H. C. County Chairman Answers Questions On Wheat Referendum

The July 23 date for the referendum approaches, and more growers are asking questions about the referendum. Chairman R. A. Eddleman of the Hall County Agricultural Association and Conservation Commission has answered some of the questions.

He pointed out that county ASC people and all county and city committees have agreed to program operation. Chairman Eddleman has a quick review of answers most frequently called upon.

Results of the referendum determine whether or not marketing quotas, with penalties for exceeding acreage allotments, will be in effect for the 1955 crop. It also determines the level of support which will be given. These and other basic questions are being studied carefully by wheat growers.

He said, "Who is eligible to vote? The answer is, any farmer who would be subject to a quota. Farms will be subject to a quota if the wheat to be raised for grain in 1955 is more than 15 acres.

Quotas are in effect, what is the penalty for failure to meet acreage allotments? A penalty of 45 per cent of the 1955 parity price.

How does the referendum affect price supports? The answer is: If two-thirds or more of the farmers who vote favor the full level of price support which is authorized for the crop — apparently somewhere from 90 to 75 per cent of parity — will be available for those who comply with their wheat and other acreage allotments. If less than two-thirds favor quotas, price support will be at 50 per cent of parity for those who comply with their acreage allotments. No price support is available for those who fail to comply with acreage allotments, with or without the marketing quotas.

In answer to another frequently asked question, Chairman Eddleman states briefly how the farm allotment is determined. First the national acreage allotment is apportioned among States, and then among the counties, according to the acreage seeded to wheat during the latest 10-year period, adjusted for weather trends and other factors. This year the national acreage allotment is 55 million acres, the level specified by law under present supply conditions. Allotments are determined for farms according to past wheat acreage, tillable acres on each farm, crop rotation practices, type of soil, and topography.

Farmers in doubt about their eligibility to vote in the referendum, or any program question, should see their county ASC office.

Country Living Improving, Says Austin Professor

AUSTIN—Most of Texas' rural areas are losing population but rural life is improving, Assistant Professor Wilfrid C. Bailey of the University of Texas declares.

Latest U. S. census figures show only the irrigation-farming sections of the Texas Panhandle and Lower Rio Grande Valley recorded rural population gains.

That means prosperity for all areas, Bailey says. Farming prospects in the Panhandle and Valley are improving. In other rural sections, farms have become larger and marginal lands have been turned into grazing pastures.

Better roads and transportation have caused larger villages and towns to grow as shopping centers for the larger-farm owners, Bailey explains. Operators of small marginal farms have found better-paying jobs in the shopping centers.

Only the smaller villages have suffered from the change, he says. With today's highways and motor vehicles, a purchaser who once had only time to drive 10 miles to a store now is willing to drive from 30 to 50 miles to shop.

New industries in smaller cities also are improving living conditions in many rural areas, allowing farmers to work in factories also, Bailey pointed out. An anthropologist, Bailey has made many studies of changing social, economic and cultural conditions in rural areas.

Conditions At Falcon Lake May Be Conducive To Growth Of Black Bass

AUSTIN—Texas may get back into the "biggest black bass" run because of ideal habitat in the new Falcon Lake on the Mexican border, according to Howard Dodgen, executive secretary of the Game and Fish Commission.

Dodgen said semi-tropical conditions may be conducive to producing blacks that may even rival the championship bass of Florida's vaunted waters.

The executive secretary continued that this "is merely a pre-Texas brag" and definitely is not a formal challenge to Florida or any other state.

"There will be plenty of time for that ceremony if and when the black bass, Texas variety, come up to expectations," he explained.

The new lake, created by the internationally planned Falcon Dam below Laredo, is being stocked by the Texas Game and Fish Commission.

L. V. Guerra, aquatic biologist assigned by the Texas Commission, described Falcon Lake conditions as "promising" for big bass.

"The year-around water temperature is uniform, and ranges from 75 to 85 degrees," said Guerra. "This means that the bass should keep eating and keep growing around the calendar.

"There is an enormous amount

July 23 is an important day for wheat producers. On that date they will vote in referendum on marketing quotas for the 1955 wheat crop.

The national wheat acreage allotment for 1955 has been set by Secretary of Agriculture Benson at 55 million acres. The allotment for Texas is 4,203,735 acres.

Farm Problem Complicated

Stocks of basic farm products are piling up in this country and the air is thick with a variety of opinions as to what can be done to ease or eliminate this situation.

Since the lives of people in this section are directly tied up with the fortunes and misfortunes of agriculture, we thought it might be worthwhile to try to find out how various persons and groups believe greater stability can be brought to this vital industry.

We are not going to attempt to pass on the merits of these various ideas because, in our opinion, the farm problem is far too complicated for any person—or any number of persons—to know the unequivocal answer.

Advocates of rigid price supports say we must have them to guarantee farmers fair and constant returns for their products, if we are not to experience a recurrence of the 1930's.

Others who favor flexible supports or no supports at all, say that if their ideas were put into effect and prices dropped as production rose, it would tend to keep supply and demand more properly balanced.

In rebuttal to this, supporters of rigid prices state that as prices go down, producers try to increase crop amounts in order to hold up their incomes.

Under the two-price system that some are urging, farmers would be guaranteed profitable prices for that portion of their basic crops which were used in the United States.

Proponents of the system say that among other things, it would help this country to regain some of its export trade and to prevent acreage cuts.

One source says that farm exports have dropped from a record high of more than 4 billion dollars in 1951 to slightly more than half that figure, which indicates the seriousness of the matter and the need of doing something about it.

Although there are elements of our population who believe it would be a good idea to rest some of our tillable land every year, there are others who think this is the negative approach and that a more positive plan should be followed, including returning some of the acreage to grassland.

There is no question that mechanization, soil conservation and better farming methods, irrigation, and some increase in acreage has caused farm production to climb considerably, aggravating the situation.

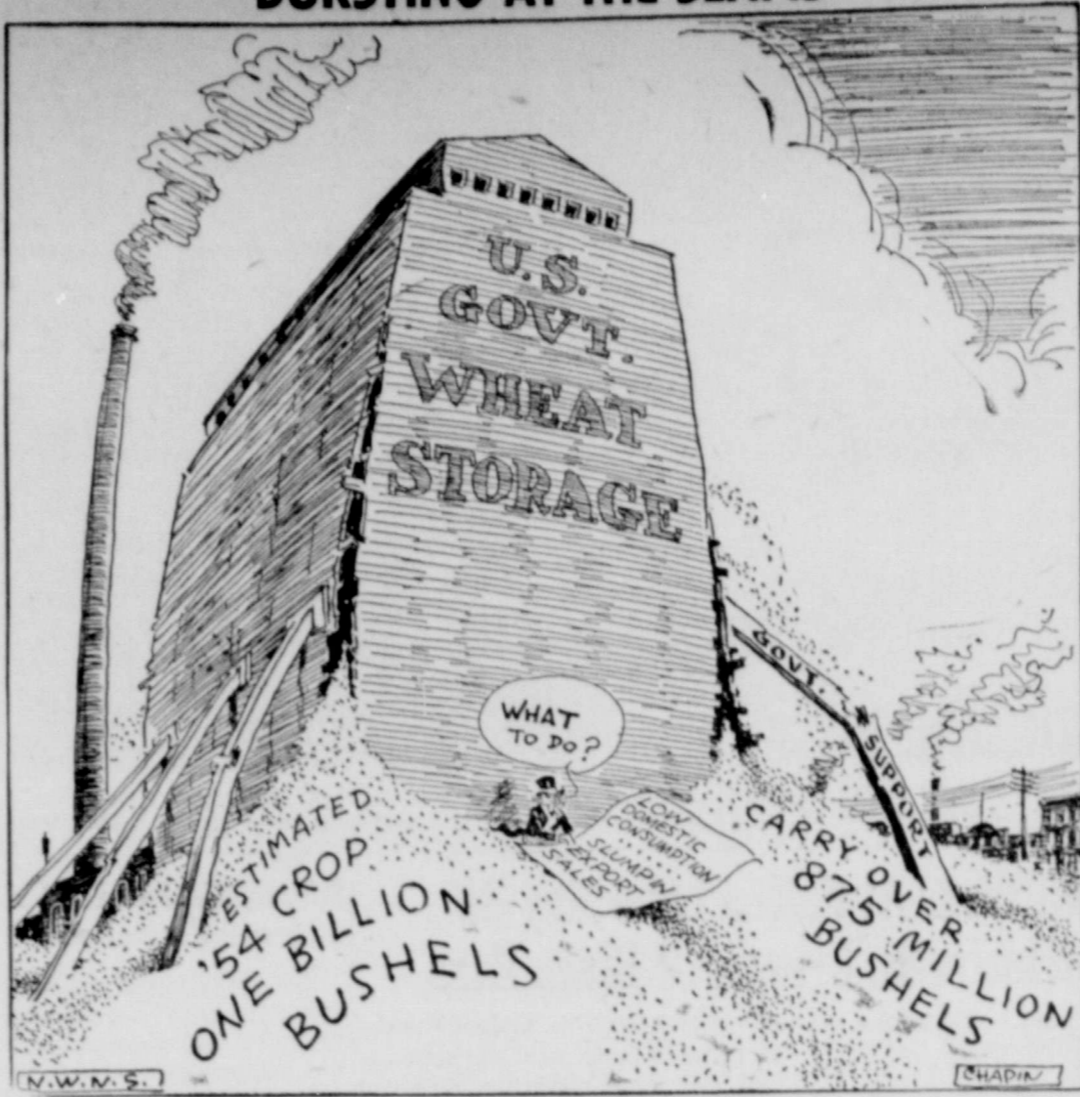

However, some authorities believe that within a matter of a few years, our steadily rising population will take care of surpluses. These individuals feel that it won't be long before this nation will need all the food it can produce.

American ingenuity has a habit of licking any problem that may arise. There is no reason, that we can think of, why the current farm problem should not also be solved.

As we said before, it may take time, but study and research, combined with positive action and willingness to experiment and to keep on experimenting, should provide the answer.

While we are awaiting that day, we can be thankful that we live in a land where we are so bountifully blessed.

Press Paragraphs—

INDUSTRIES IGNORE AREA

There has been considerable interest in Canyon and in all small towns in regard to inducing some industry to locate here.

It was reported a few months ago that a big industry was coming to Canyon and that a location was already selected east of the city. This proved to be a false alarm.

Then came the report that big industries were not so much interested in seeking financial assistance as they were in finding towns which would be ideal from the standpoint of making the employees of such plants comfortable and live under pleasant surroundings.

A list of requirements were printed as to these needs which included, churches, schools, theatres, recreational facilities, sidewalks, paving, tax structures, water supply, electric and gas supplies, transportation.

Canyon could meet all of these requirements, but in this decentralization program of industry, let it be recalled that so far as any person knows, the facilities of Canyon have never been investigated by any industry which is not seeking financial assistance.

It should be kept in mind that really good industries are looking more for pleasant surroundings than they are of financial assistance. The firm which comes into any community seeking the sale of stock is on its face a poor risk and is not likely to succeed.

That is the reason few Panhandle towns have been selected by real industries.

CIVIC RESPONSIBILITY

If you are going to build a good community, it takes more than the work of a few persons. A recent article in Investor's Reader, published by Merrill Lynch, Pierce Fenner & Beane, brokers, reveals an interesting business philosophy of D. A. Huley, 45, of Dallas, president of the Lone Star Gas Co.

Huley came up from the ranks, beginning as an accounting clerk for the gas firm. He has reached the top and has been president of both the American Gas Association and the US Chamber of Commerce.

"If you live in a community you owe more than taxes to the welfare of that community," Huley is quoted as saying.

A co-worker explained Huley's program as follows: "Early in his career he established this policy both for himself and the company. As a result each one of us feels he has a personal obligation both as an individual and as a representative of the company—to participate to his maximum ability in any civic enterprise which might better the community. Thus almost every Lone Star man is a civic worker."

Civic responsibility is not limited to employees and officers of public utilities. It is an obligation for every one in the community and surrounding territory. Many civic problems would be much easier to solve if the people would have the view of Huley and his Lone Star co-workers.

HALL COUNTY EXHIBIT WINS NINETEENTH PLACE AT FAIR

The Hall County Exhibit was awarded nineteenth place at the State Fair of Texas in Dallas, according to a telegram from George A. Sager, manager of the Chamber of Commerce.

The Hall County Exhibit was only 52 points below the highest number awarded—a much better record than achieved last year.

Supt. Moore, who has charge of all agricultural exhibits at the state fair, told Sager that this year's exhibit was the best this county has ever had at the Texas exposition.

TWO WOMEN ARRESTED ON LIQUOR CHARGE—An unusual capture was made by Turkey officers Tuesday night when they arrested two women on charges of transporting liquor.

The women were brought to Memphis, where they made bond and were released. The women had eight half-gallon jars of red whiskey in their possession when arrested, according to officers. This is the first time white women have been arrested on a liquor offense in this county in a long time.

WILFRED MARTIN IS PAINTFULLY INJURED—Wilfred Martin, an employee of the Tarver Pharmacy, was painfully injured Tuesday night, when he dropped a five-gallon container of ice cream on his right foot.

Wilfred was sent home and has been confined to his bed since then. Horace Tarver dressed the injured foot several times and it is expected to be some days before Wilfred can return to work.

Miss Rubye Harris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Harris of Hedley, became the bride of D'Armond Peabody, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Peabody of Memphis Saturday night, July 10, in the First Baptist Church of Hedley.

The Rev. O. L. Jones performed the single-ring ceremony before an altar decoration of garden flowers and fern in table baskets. White candles in wrought iron candelabra formed a background for the arrangement.

Candles were lighted by Miss Faye Baker.

Preceding the ceremony Misses Jean Bailey and Joan Youree sang "Always" accompanied at the piano by Miss Nancy Nash who also played other selections and the wedding marches.

Attending the bride was Miss Nancy Hunsucker, maid of honor, and Misses Barbara Johnson and Glenda Hansard, bridesmaids. The feminine attendants wore dresses of pastel shades with blending corsages.

Don Springer served the groom as best man and Tom Adamson was usher.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an afternoon dress of all white faille, trimmed with rhinestones. Her shoulder length veil was attached to a pink feather halo and she carried a white prayer book topped with white carnations and showered with satin streamers.

You Should Deposit Checks PROMPTLY!

It is unwise to hold checks long because they may be lost or destroyed, or the person who made out the check may die, or perhaps stop payment. Also the writer of the checks has difficulty when checks are outstanding.

So, for your own sake and that of the check writer, deposit or cash all checks you receive without undue delay.

Is Urged Handling And Storing Of Food

Everyone should be careful in handling and storing food to prevent poisoning, especially in hot weather, says Dr. Henry A. Holle, state health officer. The organism grows on foods that are quite fatty, such as ham, pork, salads or sandwiches with rich dressings, cream puffs, or any food with a filling. Keep this in mind when you prepare a picnic lunch for anyone in the family takes time to work during the summer.

Symptoms of food poisoning usually appear quickly and explosively. Those who do not eat the contaminated food do not become ill from one to four hours after eating contaminated food, but feel ill. If it is a mild case of poisoning, recovery usually is in eight to 12 hours, but may feel the ill effects for days.

Symptoms of food poisoning include diarrhea, nausea, vomiting, abdominal cramps, and weakness. If you feel these symptoms, do not wait, hoping it will go off. Sometimes food poisoning is fatal.

Proper handling of food before eating or serving, improper washing, storing food too long, room temperature, and heating of leftover foods are the main cause of food poisoning. So, in order not to endanger your family's health, be careful in preparing picnic food. Never let a cut of meat or other food come in contact with your hand. Remember, take on a picnic or pack in cans, fat meats, salads with egg whites, cream pies, cream puffs, and food with a custard filling, you can keep them properly sealed for serving.

Report Made On 3-Year Study Of Crop Insecticides

COLLEGE STATION—Cotton producers who must apply insecticides to their crops, and most are included, should be interested in the results of a three-year study made by Texas Agricultural Experiment Station workers.

The studies were conducted to compare the effectiveness of insect control obtained by using low, medium and high rates of spray per acre to apply equal amounts of the insecticide. Yields and insect infestation records were used by the research workers, E. C. Brown Jr., of the department of agricultural engineering, and R. L. Hanna, department of entomology, both of Texas A&M College, to measure the effectiveness of controlling boll weevils and bollworms. These tests did not include pink bollworm control which may require a higher volume of spray.

Results of the 1950-53 tests show that spraying cotton plants at the rate of two gallons per acre is more economical than applying spray at higher rates because of the time and labor saved in handling a smaller quantity of water. The research workers also found that the two gallons of spray per acre controlled the boll weevils and bollworms as well as 6 and 14 gallons when measured in terms of yield and insect infestation. They emphasize that the amount of the insecticide used or an acre of cotton must remain the same whether in 2, 6 or 14 gallons of water.

They do point out that the sprayer operator must use extra care in mixing the insecticide to exclude all trash and solid particles which could clog the smaller nozzle orifice openings and the finer mesh screens. The three nozzles per row, one directly above the row and one to each side, must function properly in order to insure a good application job.

Details of the tests are available in Progress Report 1687 which may be obtained from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas.

Sanitation And Proper Chemicals Can Control Flies

COLLEGE STATION—Only continuous sanitation and proper use of chemicals can hold fly populations to small numbers this season.

Neal M. Randolph, extension entomologist, says this is a critical time in fly control. The pests now are becoming established for the season. And this is the usual time for manure-hauling and general clean-up around the farm.

Sanitation—the removal of materials in which flies breed and develop—holds the real key to the control of these disease transmitting, and annoying insects.

The entomologists advice to farmers who are willing to work at fly control includes these points: Haul manure, trash and rotting plant refuse to the fields and spread it out to dry; clean up around livestock feed bunks; scrape feed lots to the concrete in paved lot; sand to the fresh earth if unpaved.

Keep a clean up campaign going the year-round, Randolph advises.

Many farmers do a good job of removing the obvious breeding places, but they miss other important "hot-spots." Some of these are the corners of barn gutters, spilled feeds and other small accumulations of organic matter that

Be SAFE This Summer - ASWIM and AFLOAT

Don't swim away from your upset boat as this foolish man is doing. Your boat is your best life-preserver—always remember that fact! A tired person can be put on it while others swim boat slowly to shore and safety.

Roll capsized boat right side up to handle more easily for self-rescue. Wooden boat or metal one with good buoyancy tanks will stay afloat even when filled with water. Get aboard carefully and hand-paddle to shore.

Re-enter boat over stern or make a foot-loop with rope at the bow to help you get aboard. Don't try to climb over the side if you fall overboard.

BOATING, canoeing and sailing account for almost half of each summer's needless drownings. The American Red Cross recommends: Don't ever go out in small craft unless you know how to swim.
