Winter Cover Crop Program Outlined

County farmers this week encouraged to plant winter cover crops by the Hall County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. At the same time, Lynn L. Brown, manager of the ASC here, announced plans to seed cover crop program to seed cover and leave existing cover land.

Changes in present control law," McKown said, "will be permitted to harvest money crop. Therefore, crop farm management to care for that crop."

Assist farmers in their cover crop program, the County ASC will offer assistance for seed. The cost of seed will be allowing planting hairy vetch. The cost is $2.00 per acre for common rye, and $3.00 per acre for the planting of grain sorghum stubble. The farmer will receive $1.00 per acre.

COUNCIL GRANTS RATE INCREASE ON TELEPHONES

Members of the City Council, at their regular meeting Tuesday evening, read and passed for the third and final time an ordinance authorizing an increase in telephone rates in Memphis. The increased rates will be effective with the September billing of General Telephone Company, city officials pointed out.

The new telephone rate schedule represents a compromise arrived at early in July between representatives of the telephone company and the City Council. It was presented to the aldermen at their regular meeting in July, and was lower than an earlier proposal by the company. Members approved the ordinance at their regular August session when it was read for the second time.

Under the new rate schedule, which will be used in the next billing of General Telephone Company, the following charges will be made:

Business telephone—one party, $9.50 per month; two party, $8.00; extension, $1.50.
Residence telephone—one party $5.50; two party, $4.50; four (Continued on Page 10)

Worm Infestation Found In Cotton

County farmers were warned today to be on the lookout for leaf worms and careless worms by County Agent W. B. Hooser. He stated that a visit during the past three days to several Hall County Farms where worms were beginning to damage cotton necessitated early action by each individual farmer.

Hooser requested that cotton growers be on the lookout for the appearance of the cotton leaf worm. Some infestation is already apparent in isolated places. Where the leaf worm is found, the county agent recommends the use of three-fourths of a pound of Toxaphene to the acre.

"But do not spray your cotton until you do have worm threat," Hooser advised. "Bear in mind that the poison not only kills the worms, but will kill all beneficial insects such as the ladybug, lacewing flies, several types of spiders and other insects which benefit the farmer."

In determining when to spray, the county agent asked farmers to check down a cotton row for signs of damage. Count off 100 stalks of cotton, and check each carefully. If 10 of the 100 show worm (Continued on Page 10)

Plans Complete For Swine Show Here Saturday

Final plans were completed this week for the annual 4-H Swine and Businessmen's Swine Show, County Agent W. B. Hooser announced Wednesday. The show will be held Saturday, Sept. 11.

J. A. Seofield of Vernon, will be judge at the show. He is well known over this area and is recognized as an expert on livestock. Seofield is district agricultural agent of the A & M College Extension Service.

Hooser urged all 4-H Club exhibitors to have their animals in the show barn prior to 9 o'clock Saturday morning. Judging will start promptly at 9:30.

The show will be held in the Wynn Dairy Barn, located in the northeast part of Memphis. On display will be eight Sears gilts and four gilts furnished by Memphis business men and organizations. A boar will be shown.

Club members who will show animals include Roy Alvin Molloy, Ray Perkins, Jan House, Rebecca Moore, Tony Molloy, Michael Lee Cox, Don Molloy, Doyle Ray Murray, Gary and Shari Gentry, Lucy Montgomery, Daryl Long and Donald Wayne Widener.

The grand champion gilt of the show and the Sears boar will be shown at the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo next week, Hooser stated.

Memphis Firemen Plan To Attend Convention Tues.

The Memphis Volunteer Fire Department will be represented at the semi-annual Panhandle Firemen's Association convention at Clarendon Tuesday, Sept. 14. R. A. Massey, assistant chief, said Wednesday.

Memphis will send a drill team to enter the contests, as well as several delegates. About 15 local firemen are expected to register for the program and free lunch, according to Massey.

New officers of the association will be elected for the coming year.

Chief Thomas Clayton and Massey are both past presidents of the association.

Jimmy Hill Is Elected Band President Tuesday

Cotton Meeting Due Here Tonight

A public meeting will be held tonight (Thursday) in the county courtroom here to instruct cotton buyers regarding the Cotton Marketing Quota law and the records and reports required to comply with the law. The session will begin at 8 o'clock.

All persons interested in ginning or buying cotton should attend the meeting to learn their responsibilities regarding the law, Lynn L. McKown, manager of the Hall County Agricultural Stabilization & Conservation office here, said.

WEATHER

No rainfall was recorded for Memphis during the past week, but hot winds took their toll of crops in some areas of the county. Small chance for immediate relief was seen by reports of weather forecasters.

Mercury readings the past week, as recorded by Weatherman J. J. McMickin, were as follows: last Thursday, high 98, low 68; Friday 100-69; Saturday 101-67; Sunday 97-65; Monday 94-64; Tuesday 94-65; Wednesday 94-65. This morning's low was 63 degrees.

Figures Show 739 Students Are Enrolled In Memphis Schools

A total of 739 students had been enrolled in Memphis High School, Wm. B. Travis and Stephen F. Austin Elementary Schools at noon Wednesday, according to figures released by Supt. W. C. Davis. This was one student below the total enrolled in local schools last year, when scholastics numbered 740.

The Morning Side School had a total enrollment of 131 students. This brings total enrollment in the Memphis Independent School District for the current year to 870.

Registrations this year were comprised of 319 junior and senior high school students. At the Travis Elementary School, a total of 259 were enrolled, and 161 pupils were registered at Austin Elementary School.

One teacher has been lost due to enrollment figures, according to the superintendent. This will necessitate a slight shift in the schedule at one of the elementary schools.

Principal of the junior and senior high school is Weldon McCreary. L. L. Thomas is serving in this capacity at Wm. B. Travis, and B. J. Thuston is principal at Stephen F. Austin.

A breakdown of the high and junior high students by Prin. McCreary gives these totals for classes: senior 36, junior 47, sophomore 52, freshman 57.

Fifty Percent Of 1954 Graduates To Enter Colleges

Approximately fifty per cent of the 1954 graduates of Memphis High School plan to enroll in college this fall, according to Weldon McCreary, principal.

Graduates of the past year who will leave for school soon include Yvonne McDaniel, Phillip Patrick, Wayne Tiner, Billy Allen Combs, Marvin Smith, Ronald Crawford, Max McCoy, Sue Miller and Johnnie McDaniel, all going to Texas Tech; Barbara Kulp, Elizabeth Grundy, Jimmy West, and Roy Don Coleman, freshmen at West Texas State; Clyde Tamplin, Cameron Junior College in Lawton, Okla.; David Francis, Texas University; James Walker, Baylor; Janice Anthony, University of New Mexico in Albuquerque and Patsy Armstrong, Southwestern University in Weatherford, Okla.

Friday Night's Tilt To Feature 15 Lettermen

The Memphis Cyclone football squad will open the season here Friday night against the Tulia Hornets in a non-conference game at Cyclone stadium starting at 8 o'clock.

The Hornets, under a new coach, R. W. Stewart, will be out to avenge last year's 15-0 opening loss to the Cyclone team. The new mentor will have only seven returning lettermen, but is expected to field a strong team led by Jan Tucker, 150-pound left half, and linemen Leroy Measles, guard, and Jack Flippo, tackle. Flippo weighs 200 pounds and is regarded as one of the top linemen in his district.

The local team will be minus the services of its great quarterback, Duke Frisbie, but otherwise will have weight and experience in both the line and backfield. Coach George Childress was greeted by fifteen returning lettermen when Fall practice started three weeks ago. Eight of the fifteen were regulars during the 1953 season.

Finding a replacement for Frisbie as the up man in the T formation is Coach Childress's major problem. Jimmy Davis, Jackie Ben Boone, and Cleve Evans have all been tried during workouts. Davis was last year's regular left half, and is a two-year letterman. Boone was a regular guard during the 1953 season, and Evans was the reserve quarterback behind Frisbie.

The Cyclone line is expected to be one of the strongest in recent years, with lettermen at all positions. Returning to man the end positions are Carroll Gardshire, co-captain, and Jack Montgomery. At the tackle posts, are Jerry McQueen, 230-pounder who will be a junior, and Hayes Hammond, a senior letterman.

Debs Cofer, senior letterman, and Paul Wilson, 180-pound sophomore from the B team, have battled it out for the starting center slot. While Cofer may be given the call as a starter, Wilson is expected to see service at both center and tackle.

In the backfield, Coach Childress will have six returning lettermen, including regulars Davis, and Dean Sustaite, 147-pound right halfback. Other returning backfield lettermen are Jimmy Jenkins, James Weddel, Terry Monzingo and Evans.

Another replacement problem has been at fullback, where Clyde Tamplin was an all-district regular last year. Terry Monzingo (Continued on Page 10)

County Democrats Plan To Attend State Convention

Plans were taking shape this week to send as many delegates as possible from Hall County to the State Democratic Convention in Mineral Wells, J. Claude Wells, chairman of the county executive committee announced today.

Democrats of the county elected 16 delegates to the state convention at the county convention here on July 31. Each of the delegates will be able to cast one-half vote at the state convention, which will be held in Mineral Wells on Tuesday, Sept. 14. In addition to the delegates, a full slate of alternates were elected.

Wells said that Hall County's delegates will go to the convention uninstructed. By action of the county convention, the delegates will vote as a unit.

Heading the delegates will be N. W. Durham, state Democratic committeeman from this senatorial district. Durham was elected as chairman of this county's delegates. James E. King was named vice chairman.

At the convention in Mineral Wells, county delegates will lay before state Democrats six resolutions which were adopted here and will work toward their passage.

Durham said Wednesday that this county's delegates will hold their caucus in Mineral Wells Monday night.

Delegates elected to the state convention included: J. Claude Wells, Don Hillis, N. W. Durham, Lewis Foxhall, Rufus Grisham, James E. King, Carl Hill, Mary Jane Thompson, J. W. Coppedge, Byron Gibson, Orville Setliff, B. B. Gibson, V. C. Durrett, W. A. Leigon, Loran Denton and Harold Hodges.

Alternates are: Mrs. B. B. Gibson, Jim Beeson, Mrs. Lewis Foxhall, Del Wells, Mrs. J. W. Coppedge, O. M. Cosby, Jr., Grover Moss, Mrs. Harold Hodges, Mrs. Orville Setliff, Mrs. Carl Hill, A. Burr Morris, Mrs. Rufus Grisham, Dick Fowler, Mrs. Loran Denton, Miss Imogene King and Jess R. Mitchell, Jr.

'B' Squad Opens Season Against Hollis Tonight

A light, inexperienced Cyclone "B" football team will meet the "B" squad from Hollis High School tonight Coach Nolan Pootee announced Wednesday. The game will start at 7:30 o'clock in Cyclone Stadium. Admission will be 25 and 50 cents.

Pootee recognized the fact that his squad this year is made up primarily of eighth graders, but he predicted that they would give a good account of themselves. A few ninth and tenth grade students are listed on the "B" squad roster.

Phillip Wooten suffered a broken leg in practice last week, the coach reported, and will be out of the line-up for a few weeks. This leaves 23 boys on the squad.

The starting line-up had not been determined early Wednesday. Pootee released the following roster for his squad:

James Davis, Bobby Scott, Benny Whisenhunt and Jerry Milligan, ends, John Evans, C. L. Wynn, Steve Blackmon, Benny Irons and Oscar Maddox, tackles; Benny Bishop, Jerry Hickey, and James Waddill, guards; Ronnie Edwards, guard and tackle; Don Townsend and Billie Archer, centers; Joe Young, quarterback; Jim Harris, quarterback and fullback; Billy Johnson, Darrell Long, Del Davis, Roger Crooks and Steve Watts, halfbacks; and Dudley Gillespie, fullback and center.

Citizens Disagree As They Estimate Cotton Ginnings From Current Crop

Citizens are in disagreement—as usual—this year when they list their estimates of cotton ginnings for this county from the current crop.

A check of the figures in the annual Memphis Democrat Cotton Guessing Contest Wednesday showed the high estimate to be 50,700 bales. Lowest guess was 34,719.

Any person may enter the Cotton Guessing Contest. Come by The Democrat office and submit your guess. Or, if you prefer, mail your guess to this newspaper, and it will be entered. All persons mailing in entries should give their names and addresses.

Swimming Pool Close Sept. 13

Municipal swimming pool at Park will be closed for season after next Sunday, Sept. 12, according to an announcement by Buster Helm, manager.

During the past season Hubert has been serving as manager of the pool, and a full program has been in effect for local residents.

Today is the last day the pool will be open to the public," stated. "It is expected that the pool will be opened around May 20, for the new season."

55 Farm Program Highlights Discussion At Bureau School

What to do with "diverted" acres in 1955 was the question foremost in the minds of representatives from eight counties who attended the day-long Farm Bureau Institute Tuesday.

An area-wide session was called by Robert L. Moss, president of the Hall County Farm Bureau, in the high school here. After group singing, led by Kathryn Elizabeth Phillips, invocation was given by Burr Morris, Farm Bureau director and pastor of the First Methodist Church.

J. Coppedge, manager of the County Electric Cooperative and director of the Memphis Chamber of Commerce, welcomed those who were in attendance. He stressed the part agriculture is playing in providing for a sound economy of this area.

Representatives from Collings, Wheeler, Motley, Childress, Briscoe, Randall and Hall counties were recognized by Stan Myers, who also introduced Farm Bureau directors and managers. Listed among the representatives were five county presidents. They were: Varner McWilliams, Motley County; Ernest Rea, Childress; Henry Moore, Donley; Merle Montague, Briscoe, and G. A. Dietz, Randall.

Four classes were taught to members during the day. They included:

"Keeping Ourselves and the public informed," conducted by Bill Hoover of Waco, former news editor of The Memphis Democrat, who is now head of the Texas Farm Bureau's department of public information. Hoover is editor of the official Texas Farm Bureau publication, writes and directs the organization's show, "Farm Bureau Round-Up," which is carried on 87 state stations.

"County Membership Campaign," was taught by Robert Kiker of Childress.

Stanley Garnett, a state Farm Bureau director from Spearman, and Sam Allen, field representative, Hillsboro, conducted the "Resolutions and Policy Development" phase at the school.

"Community and County-Wide Meetings" was taught by O. K.

Hoyle of Seymour. He is a state field representative.

Also present were State Representative Elbert Reeves of Matador, and Loys D. Barbour, state Farm Bureau director from Iowa Park.

Each of the four classes lasted 50 minutes, and were attended by every person present.

At 1 p. m. the group gathered for an hour-long "Question and Answer" session. At this time the new farm program, which becomes effective Jan. 1, 1955, came under fire. Most of the time was taken up with discussing different phases of the new program, which was set off by direct questions from the floor. What to do with "diverted acres" received everyone's attention. It was pointed out that a conclusive and full interpretation of the law as passed by Congress has not been released by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

State officials told the group that the information they were passing on had been obtained by Washington representatives of the Farm Bureau, who had appeared before department officials with direct questions.

Congressman, 18th District

The Death Of EDC Was No Surprise

When France recently refused to ratify the treaty creating an European Defense Community, official Washington was not surprised nor shocked. As a matter of fact, since the EDC proposal was executed at Paris on the 27th day of May, 1952, at no time has it been considered as having more than a fifty-fifty chance. That some difficulty was expected was evidenced by the following paragraph contained in article 132 of the treaty.

"In the event that all the instruments of ratification have not been deposited within a period of six months following the signature of the present treaty, the governments of the states which have made such deposits shall consult among themselves on the measures to be taken."

The parties to the treaty were West Germany, Belgium, France, Italy, Luxembourg and the Netherlands. France and Italy were both expected to balk at ratification. However, it could be reasoned that if France could be sold, Italy would, no doubt, follow suit. In other words, France held the key to the situation and everyone knew it. Everyone also knew that unless some substantial changes could be made in the general government setup in France, there was no chance of getting the treaty ratified, and even if it was ratified, it would be wholly ineffective because there could be no government set up to carry it into force. As one leading columnist so ably put it, ratification depended entirely upon the affirmative votes of the members of several parties holding widely divergent political views. The all-out opposition to the plan found its nucleus in the 95 strictly controlled Communist members. Since the political parties in France all seem to be more or less extremists, EDC never had a chance. In other words, France does not have a substantial political party with several wings inside the party. Each party appears to be what we would call a Splinter Party. It is an excellent example of what can happen to any government when you fail to maintain some degree of balance in a national political party. The creation of splinter type parties going off on every conceivable tangent creates a fertile field for Communism, because one of the basic axioms of both Communism and Fascism is "divide and conquer." The failure of EDC could have great value as a warning to free people everywhere that the success of a government must depend upon sound logical reasoning and a solid balance upon which can be founded a united front.

Yes, many of us were terribly disappointed that EDC did not become a reality, but I repeat, we were not surprised.

The American Legion

The American Legion has just concluded its 1954 convention in the National Capital. Contrary to many stories that were going around the country to the effect that the American Legion Conventions were hoisterous, noisy, unwieldy and unwanted, I want to say that I have never seen a finer group in convention anywhere. They had fun, yes, but it was good clean, fun and everyone seemed to be in splendid spirits and having a good time. Everyone in Washington joined in the spirit of the affair, and it turned out to be a good, old-time American convention that will be well and pleasantly remembered for a long time. Charley Gibson and George Broom of Amarillo were both in town, and I had the pleasure of lunching with them. These two men have done a tremendous amount of work during their service in this organization. Their contribution to the American Legion is certainly evidenced by the many, many friends that they have from all over the world.

The parade lasted all afternoon and all night and was enjoyed by one and all. It started about two o'clock in the afternoon and ended up about three a. m.

One-Quarter Million Dollars a Day

An attempt has been made to convince the American public that there is something criminal about a food surplus because there is a cost incident to the storage of such food. Of course, the way to remedy this situation would be to destroy all the surplus food and then you wouldn't have any storage cost. Certainly none of us would advocate any such foolish action as that.

While reading all this propaganda about how much it costs to store food, I got to wondering how much it cost to store money. I watched the daily statements of the Treasury Department and notice that during the past year, the daily cash balances have been somewhere between approximately 4 billion and 9 billion dollars. On August 30th of this year, the cash balance was 5 1/2 billion. Of this amount, approximately 4 1/2 billion was on deposit in banks which were paying no interest for the use of these funds. In other words,

U. S. Policy In Indochina Based On 1948 Resolution

By WALTER SHEAD
Washington Correspondent
National Weekly Newspaper Service

United States policy in Indochina dates back to 1948. Basically it is set out in the resolution of June of that year sponsored by the late Senator Arthur Vandenberg. It pledges our assistance to guarantee that weaker nations may develop in freedom, but these conditions are under a system of collective security, or of collective defense.

In other words the United States is willing to enter into an agreement with the states of Indochina, and with other nations in the far east, or with our allies, Britain and France, to guarantee the freedom of these weaker nations.

It was under the terms of the Vandenberg resolution that our present Secretary of State, John Foster Dulles in 1951 went to the Far East representing our then Secretary of State Dean Acheson, in an attempt to set up such a system or pact in the area.

He was partly successful only. He succeeded in forming separate pacts with the Philippines, with Japan, and a third with Australia and New Zealand, the so-called ANZUS pact.

Unfortunately it was the colonial status of Indochina in the French Union which made us suspect. Indochina wanted its freedom. We were allied with France and France did not move fast enough in giving independence to the Indochinese states.

Secretary Dulles recently put it this way: "We are not prepared to go in for a defense of colonialism. We are only going to go in for defense of liberty and independence and freedom. We don't go in alone. We go in where other nations which have an important stake in the area recognize the peril as we do."

However even under this policy we have poured billions of dollars into Indochina for military aid and material to help the French, hard-pressed both militarily and economically, against the communists. We have given aid to the Indochinese themselves for rehabilitation, public health improvement, projects and other means to increase the welfare of the people. We have conducted exchange of persons programs bringing students, teachers, leaders to this country in engineering, agriculture, public roads, mass education.

When the French returned to Indochina after World War II in 1945, the Japanese, who had overrun the entire peninsula, had reduced the people and the country to a state of abject poverty. It took years for the French to rebuild, and at the same time fight and virgin timberlands. Only two ports serve the country, Haiphong at the mouth of the Red River in the north, now in Communist hands, and the twin cities of Saigon and Cholon in the delta of the Mekong.

To sell our friendship to the Indochinese leaders themselves has been an uphill job, despite our known attitude toward giving freedom to smaller nations, such as our action in the Philippines. We are pictured by the wily Communists as the occupying masters in Japan, and because of our alliance with France our proffer of aid was held up as just more colonial rule. All this despite the fact that the United States has recognized Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia as sovereign nations. Britain and 32 other free nations also recognize their sovereign status, but only two Asian countries so recognize them... Korea and Thailand.

Vietnam maintains a diplomatic mission in Washington, and in London, Rome, and Bangkok. Laos has a mission in Bangkok and Washington. There is conclusive evidence during the past several months that this distrust of the United States has been gradually disappearing, particularly among the top leaders in the associated states. Bao Dai, chief of state, and the Vietnamese president Nguyen van Tam have managed to set up a fairly stable government and, with U. S. help, both in money and training, largely increased the national army under a defense ministry, with the nucleus of a general staff started under General Nguyen van Hinh, who served as a pilot in the European theatre of operating during world war II.

However, since the great appeasement at Geneva, whether this new found trust will deteriorate or not is a matter for conjecture.

Commenting on the Geneva settlement, Secretary Dulles said that while we do not like the outcome, we were not a party to the conference results and that in accordance with the U. N. charter we would not seek to overthrow the settlement.

"The important thing, from now on," Mr. Dulles said, "is not to mourn the past, but to seize the future opportunity to prevent the loss in northern Vietnam from leading to the extension of communism throughout southeast Asia and the Southwest Pacific. In this effort all the free nations should profit by the lessons of the past."

Humble's new
HOUSTON RESEARCH CENTER
... is dedicated to man's impelling curiosity in the search for knowledge and its useful application in the specialized fields of petroleum exploration and production.

Dedicated to Man's Impelling Curiosity

Most of us interpret the value of research in terms of immediate benefits. Research means that we get a better automobile, an improved gasoline, or an outstanding motor oil.

At Baytown Refinery, the Humble Company maintains one of the finest laboratories in the petroleum industry for that kind of research.

But behind the study that goes into the improvement of the products it sells, Humble for years has fostered basic research related to the discovery and production of oil and natural gas.

The United States uses so much oil from day to day, and needs so much more to provide for the emergencies of national defense, that studies leading to the discovery of new supplies and the more efficient management of existing reservoirs are more important than ever before. Consequently, Humble's expenditures on this sort of research are the heaviest in the Company's history and its staff of research scientists is larger than it has ever been.

To house the expansion of these research sections, Humble recently completed its new Research Center at Houston and will formally dedicate it this week end.

Here the scientists of the various departments involved in the discovery and production of oil will utilize common facilities, and here they will have the stimulation of close association with other scientists whose efforts are dedicated to a common end.

- The new Houston Research Center will provide facilities for research in:
- Fluid Mechanics
  - Geophysics
  - Geology
  - Geochemistry
  - Drilling Muds
  - Well Log Interpretation
  - Subsurface Instruments
  - Reservoir Behavior
  - Well Stimulation
  - Well Cementing

City Federation Meets In Regular Session Saturday

The City Federation of Women's Clubs met in regular session Saturday afternoon in the home of the president, Mrs. Glynn Thompson, 214 north Eighth Street.

The federation is composed of ten women's clubs of the city and seven were represented at Saturday's meeting.

Plans were made to assist with the chest X-ray on October 23 and 25.

Furthering the park improvement program begun by the federation a few months ago, plans were made to meet at the City Park at 9 o'clock September 30 to plant shrubs, plants and seeds. Members are requested to bring any surplus shrubs or plants they might have left from their yards. Workers will be present to help with the planting.

Coffee will be served by a special committee appointed for this occasion.

Present at the meeting Saturday were Meses. C. C. Hodges, Weldon McCreary, R. S. Greene, Gene Chamberlain, Burr Morris, J. W. Coppedge, Bill Leslie, Mrs. Dick Fowler and Mrs. Thompson.

Burl Smith spent part of last week in Temple visiting his brother, who is a patient in the Scott and White Hospital.

Mrs. E. E. Foster Returns From Calif.

Mrs. E. E. Foster recently returned from California where she visited relatives and friends. She left here August 18 with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Murdock who had been visiting relatives and friends here.

En route to California, they visited the painted desert and Grand Canyon, taking three days for the trip to the Murdock's home in Madera. In Madera, Mrs. Foster visited, in addition to Mr. and Mrs. Murdock, Mrs. Enoch Elland.

Mr. and Mrs. Murdock and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Herby Lenbecke and Mrs. Foster made a weekend trip to San Francisco sightseeing and while there visited Mr. and Mrs. Guy Oliver, formerly of Plaska.

While there Mrs. Foster also visited Mr. and Mrs. Fred Boon in Exeter and made a trip to the Giant Forest in Sequoia Park and to Grant Park.

Mrs. Foster returned home Monday night.

Hedley Boosters Make Plans For Cotton Festival

The cotton crops of this area will remain a bright spot in West Texas news in spite of the extreme heat.

This was the report from Hedley early this week, as boosters laid their plans for the town's 3rd Annual Cotton Festival, which will be held Friday and Saturday, Oct. 8 and 9.

Hedley's Cotton Festival is dedicated to growing more cotton of a better grade and staple, and promoting the use of more cotton and cotton by-products.

Hedley boosters who have returned from trips in all directions report that crops from Estelline on highway 287 north to Goodnight are the best they have seen outside of irrigated sections of the state.

With a 60-year record of never a cotton crop failure, the Hedley community sets aside two days each year for "giving thanks and rejoicing" over cotton production. Estimates this year point to the largest harvest since the festival was instituted three years ago.

At the same time, Hedley boosters predict this year's Cotton Festival will be the best ever held.

First 1954 Cotton Ginned At Hedley

Hedley's first bale of cotton for the current season was ginned Friday, Sept. 3, and was immediately purchased by the Hedley Booster Club. The 512-pound bale was grown by Woodrow Farris, who lives six miles northeast of Hedley.

The West Texas Gin at Hedley ginned the cotton free of charge. Mr. Farris received $24.96 for the seed.

On Monday, Sept. 6, Walter Moss brought in the second bale, which was ginned free of charge by the Paymaster Gin at Hedley. This bale weighed 530 pounds, and was bought by the Hedley post of the American Legion. The post gave the grower 40 cents per pound. Seed from the bale brought $26.76.

A premium for the first two bales is being collected this week from Hedley merchants, which will be divided equally between Farris and Moss.

Crops Made Despite Short Moisture

Farmers in this region rarely if ever have too much moisture, in fact frequently do not have enough. Right now, farm and town families are trying to weather another of our periodic drouths, this one having begun in 1950. Prospects up to the present generally have been good at many points in this section and everyone is hoping for a prosperous fall.

In view of the recurring periods of dry weather and the attendant drops in crop production—a problem which this region apparently seems destined to continue to face in the foreseeable future—it should prove interesting to see how one Texas farmer has coped with it.

The farmer in question is Clinton Harbers of Westpoint, in the Bastrop Fayette Soil Conservation District in South Texas. We carried an editorial on Harbers and his methods sometime ago but we think repeating the story will be well worthwhile, if it encourages and helps anyone in this area to lessen the effects of drouth. Maybe the methods are not applicable to this region but on the other hand, maybe they are or are partially so.

Anyway, here in brief, is how the South Texas farmer has won at least a substantial victory against the ravages of dry weather, as told in the September issue of SOIL AND WATER magazine.

Harber's methods, as told in this and other issues of the magazine, involve no magic. Starting with a soil-depleted farm seven years ago, Harbers has used legume-planting methods and other ideas of his own, to build up the fertility of his land and at the same time, its water-holding capacity, until today it takes much less rain for him to make a crop.

For instance, last year rain was sub-normal although more than he received this year. In spite of this handicap, he made 750 pounds of lint per acre on his cotton land.

This year the drouth has been more serious and only 6 inches of rain fell between the first of the year and the end of his cotton season. Nevertheless, Harber's per-acre production came to 416 pounds of lint—an almost unbelievable figure considering the shortage of moisture.

Harbers has an encouraging message for all farmers. Says he: "There is no substitute for rain but we can get by on a lot less than we ever dreamed."

We believe that farmers in this region, who have adopted and followed soil conservation methods within the past 20 years, will agree with the South Texas man's statement. They know that terraces, contour farming, strip cropping and other conservation practices have in many instances permitted them to increase their average yields in spite of drouth and blistering temperatures.

Perhaps continued search for better agricultural methods will raise production figures still higher in the future. Let us all hope so, for the outcome could well be a more stabilized economy and a better life for all of us.

DEPTHS OF DESPAIR

QUOTING OUR NEIGHBORS

Press Paragraphs—

CITIZEN INTEREST

Floydada and Floyd county people keep on building and progressing. Floydada is in the throes of growing pains. We complain of scant housing of better type for the people who want to make Floydada home. We wonder why it isn't as easy to build a house in Floydada as it is in other cities and towns. We complain about the water situation. The unmet needs of areas of the community for more adequate sanitary facilities is deplored. We wonder why more people do not pave their streets, put in curbs, brighten up their premises, why the city permits gutch-eyed street signs—we wonder and complain and find fault. In a self-satisfied, complacent community you don't hear those complaints. And the authorities and powers-that-be shouldn't take umbrage. It is healthy and good. Some of the ideas advanced by the man on the street and in the coffee drinkers' round tables are based on misinformation and garbled facts. But they do indicate interest and the urge to get going. That kind of thing we do not deplore. We are all for it, especially for information on all affairs relating to general public welfare and policies to get a full airing.

—Floyd County Hesperian (Floydada)

BETTER SALESMEN

At intervals leaders in the field of retail trade hold conventions and meetings, in which they discuss matters of common interest and exchange ideas.

It's highly significant that at recent gatherings of this nature, the strongest kind of emphasis has been placed on the need for better salesmanship. This includes advertising, displays, and other promotion. It further includes improvement in the general caliber of salespeople—the men and women who represent the store to the prospective consumer, and whose abilities and attitudes and knowledge may mean the difference between a good record and a bad one in any retail enterprise.

What we have here is more proof of how intensely competitive all retail business has become—and how the consumer and his desires dominates present-day thinking in retail circles. There was a period, during and after the war, when it was possible to sell practically anything, even if shoddy and over-priced, and when real salesmanship wasn't needed. That era has gone with the wind—and the successful retailers of the present are those who offer their wares most attractively, and who give the best value and service for the money.

Wise retailers know that this is good for the long-run welfare of their industry. And its benefits to the consumer are too obvious to need describing.

MORE KILLING TO COME

Sources close to the automobile industry predict that in five short years Americans will be buying average-priced cars equipped with 300 horsepower engines. We wish it wasn't so.

There is no car manufactured in the United States today that is not capable of speeds of from 80 to 90 miles per hour. This maximum output is quite sufficient, especially with traffic and the nation's system of highways being what they are. Even in cases of extreme emergency, we see little advantage in having more than 140 or 150 horsepower.

As horsepower increases, so does average speed of automobiles. It is human nature to drive fast when a car is capable of high speeds with ease. And as speed increases, so does the severity of accidents.

When 300 horsepower cars become a common-place thing, we believe we'll get out of the car and onto the sidewalk for our transportation.

Special Movies Good For Upset Children

AUSTIN—Movies are proving to be "good medicine" in the treatment of emotionally disturbed adolescents, according to a University of Texas psychologist.

Dr. Ira Iscoe reports this new application of the popular entertainment medium has proved very effective in a year's experiment involving a group of adolescent boys at a Texas school for emotionally disturbed children.

Movies dealing with problems common to those who have constant difficulties at school and home were shown to the group several night a week.

Members of the group were encouraged to comment during the films, and voluntary "bull sessions" about the picture followed. Recordings were made of the entire period.

"Comments by participants often furnished better insight into individual problems than traditional interview techniques," Dr. Iscoe said. "Discussions stimulated by the pictures proved to be an excellent form of group therapy.

"This familiar medium seems to be one of the best means of 'breaking the ice' with a new group," he continued. "Even the most withdrawn participated more readily than usual.

"There is a need for more 'up-to-date' pictures for this work," Dr. Iscoe said. "The films we are using, though appropriate in theme would be more effective if the dialogue were in a language more typical of today's youth."

If you care not whether you die, How about the other guy?

March 1, 1923
CAR ACCIDENT FATAL TO YOUNG DALHART COUPLE—Mr. and Mrs. Arnice Ray of Dalhart were killed early Sunday morning when their car overturned two miles west of Lela Lake. The couple had left Dalhart Saturday afternoon, intending to spend Sunday with relatives here. The tragedy was discovered by the crew of a westbound freight train, who noticed that the lights of the car were in a peculiar position. On reaching the automobile, they found the occupants dead.

Both young people were well known in Memphis and were married here four or five months ago. Mr. Ray lived in the Lodge community a number of years and Mrs. Ray taught in the public schools here for a time before her marriage.

HALL COUNTY POULTRY ASSOCIATION ELECTS OFFICERS—Officers were chosen at a business meeting of the Hall County Poultry Association here Saturday afternoon.

C. W. Flannery was re-elected president and E. N. Hudgins was elected secretary, succeeding C. F. Stout.

The association has many members in the county and held its first poultry show last December. Next meeting of the group has been set for Saturday, March 10.

DIRECTORS LET CONSTRUCTION OF $19,000 DAM—A dam was let for construction of Lake Farms, Inc., at a meeting Wednesday afternoon. The will cost approximately $19,000 and the contract was let to Prater of this city. It is expected that work will begin immediately.

The dam will be constructed northeast of Memphis and will provide a lake of around 100 acres. The watershed will be divided into four and five sections according to John M. Brown, whom the property was purchased from.

As soon as there is enough water in the lake, directors begin stocking it with fish. The farm site is located on the end of the acreage and will be grubbed and put in next year.

FIRE STARTED FROM ARETTE STUBB DAM—PALLMEYER HOME—FIRE is believed to have started from a cigarette stub, dropped in a clothes closet, causing considerable damage to the interior of the east apartment. Seth Pallmeyer duplex here Sunday morning.

The apartment was occupied by Fred Connally, salesman. Amarillo business firm. He suffered several hundred dollars loss when his and his personal belongings were consumed by fire and water.

Furniture and clothes in the Pallmeyer family were in the west apartment, were safe.

Baptist Church Of Estelline Enjoys Barbecue

Members of the Estelline Baptist Church were entertained with a barbecue at the A. W. Johnson Ranch on Monday night, August 30. The occasion was the annual Family Night picnic, which the church holds once each year.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson furnished and prepared barbecue beef, baked beans and drinks for the more than 100 persons attending. Dessert and salad was provided by other members of the church.

Following the sumptuous meal the youngsters played games and the oldsters visited.

Miss Deani Vaughn Becomes Bride Of Charles Morrison In Memphis Rites

In an informal ceremony performed at 5 p. m. Saturday, August 28, in the First Christian parsonage, Miss Deani Vaughn, daughter of Mrs. Anne Polance of Bakersfield, Calif., became the bride of Charles S. Morrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Morrison of Memphis. Rev. T. T. Posey, pastor of the First Christian Church, read the double ring ceremony.

For her wedding the bride chose an off white suit accented with black velvet accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

Mrs. Mel Roy Cofer attended the bride as matron-of-honor. She wore a brown linen dress complemented with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Jimmy Morrison attended his brother as best man.

The bride attended high school in Bakersfield, Calif., and for the past two years has made her home in Memphis where she is employed as clerk-typist at the Division Office of the General Telephone Co.

The bridegroom is a graduate of the Memphis High School. He received his discharge from the U. S. Army in January after serving three years, part of that time in Germany. He is now employed with Hugh's Btry. and Electric.

Following the ceremony, the newlyweds left on a wedding trip to Carlsbad, N. M., and other points. Upon their return they will be at home in Memphis.

Warrant Officer and Mrs. Glenn Jones and son Jimmy and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Jaurachi and daughter Marsha, all of El Paso, visited here Monday with Mr. and Mrs. Weldon McCreary and girls. Mrs. Jones is a sister of Mr. McCreary.

Austin P-TA To Hold First Meet Of Year Sept. 14

The Stephen F. Austin Parent-Teacher Association will hold its first regular meeting of the year on Tuesday, September 14. The meeting will be held in the school library and will begin at 7:30 p. m. Mrs. Worth Howard, president for 1954-55, will preside.

Teachers will be introduced by B. J. Thomson, principal of the school. Rev. Fred Ridener, pastor of the Assembly of God Church, will bring a short devotional. A short original skit by Mrs. R. S. Greene on presenting this year's program will be given by members of the local unit. The membership committee will be featured and a social hour will follow the business meeting.

The executive committee will meet at 7 p. m., preceding the regular meeting. All members of the executive board, which includes officers and chairmen of standing committees, are urged to attend this meeting and bring their plans of work for the ensuing year. Mrs. John W. Smith, publicity chairman, stated.

Woman's Culture Club Opens Year's Activities With Family Night Program

Members and guests of the Woman's Culture Club gathered recently in the picturesque backyard of Mr. and Mrs. J. Claude Wells for their initial meeting of the year. The affair was a family night as members and guests alike enjoyed the informal evening.

After the invocation by Rev. Burr Morris, the new president, Mrs. Frank Ellis, welcomed those present and introduced the attraction of the evening which was Mr. Wells' showing of his travel pictures.

First, several shots around Memphis made everyone proud of the home town. Then the watchers were taken out west through Yellowstone and Oregon; back to the deep south via New Orleans, Tennessee and Washington, D. C. The program wound up with a jaunt through New England.

A running commentary was offered by the photographer, as he, Mr. Wells, explained the pictures and accompanied it with bits of his own style of homespun philosophy which made for enjoyable listening. Many beautiful floral slides were shown with brilliant transparencies bringing out the delicate coloring.

Teed drinks were served to 35 members and guests.

Enjoying this affair were Messrs. and Mmes. Frank Ellis, Guy Wright, Burr Morris, Clifford Farmer, Grover Moss, Robert Moss, Robert Duncan, L. A. Stilwell, Lloyd Phillips, J. Claude Wells, Mmes. Jeanette Irons, R.

E. Clark, T. E. Adams, Wardley, Miss Alma Bruce and her children.

Mrs. Jones' Brother Dies in Seminole

Mrs. Dora C. Jones received word the first of the week of the death of her brother, J. H. Powell who died at his home in Seminole, Okla., Tuesday.

Mr. Powell was 90 years of age.

Prospects are dim for any substantial price recovery in the livestock industry until the fall marketing season is past. Beef production is running at record levels.

Farm exports from the United States were 36 per cent higher in June than in the same month a year ago. This brought to $2,932,000,000, the value of farm products shipped abroad for the year ending in June. This was four per cent higher than the preceding year.

Latest thing on the market is an economy-minded shower valve which automatically shuts off the water after a 60-second rinse.

Plane Trip Gives Time For Sight-Seeing

McMurrays See Points Of Interest In Eastern U. S. During Vacation

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. McMurry returned to Memphis Thursday afternoon from a 16-day trip to the eastern section of the U. S., where they visited their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Sante Graziani, Michael and Alexandra of Worcester, Mass. The trip to and from Massachusetts was made by air.

Accompanying them were their grandchildren, Roger and Ann McMurry of Tulsa.

They left the Amarillo air port Aug. 17, by Trans World Airlines, stopping in Kansas City, Chicago and New York. The return trip was by way of Washington and Louisville.

They enjoyed many sightseeing excursions while guests of the Grazianis, including Wayside Inn, where Longfellow wrote much of his poetry and where Gen. George Washington "Actually slept." The Inn was purchased and restored by the late Henry Ford.

Another trip was to Boston to see the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, Paul Revere's house, "Old Ironsides," The State House, The Old North Church where Paul Revere was signaled. They also saw where the Brinks robbery took place, and the open air markets.

They toured Sturbridge Village, a remarkably restored colonial village, where early American life from baking to candlestick making still takes place.

In Worcester they visited the Worcester Art Museum and viewed the work of professional students in school at the museum, headed by Mr. Graziani. They had a preview of the $2,500,000 Burncoat School to be opened this fall where Mr. Graziani has just completed an 80-ft. abstract mural.

One of the highlights of the trip was a visit to "The Breakers," the Vanderbilt's summer house at New Port, R. I., where the youngest daughter of Wm. Vanderbilt, Gladys, and her children reside during the summer. They went by way of Providence and the Barrington Yacht Club.

In the western part of Mass., they visited the Springfield Museum of Fine Arts to see the mural completed by Mr. Graziani in 1947. From there to Holyoke to see his murals in the Holyoke Library. They visited many fine shopping centers. The most fabulous are "Shoppers World" in Frammingham, Mass., and "Lincoln Plaza" in Worcester, Mass.

In Thompson, Conn., they attended a "Gymkana" at the Sports Car Raceway where the Grazianis had been invited to participate in the sport with their Jaguars.

Roger and Ann McMurry were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fredrick Belton and their daughter, Barbara, for a day at Hampton Beach, N. H.

Due to the hurricane "Carols" advancement they were not able to stay as long in New York as they would have liked. They left Worcester, Mass., Aug. 30th and flew to New York in fog so thick they flew by instruments. As they left New York the fog lifted and they had clear cool weather when they arrived in Washington. They had eight hours to tour Washington, so they chose to tour by limousine rather than by bus and therefore as they drove down Pennsylvania Ave. they got a fleeting glimpse of President Eisenhower as he returned to the White House in preparation for his speech to the American Legion Convention. The city was beautifully decorated for the convention, but not yet crowded. They saw the Pentagon, Capitol Building, The White House, Blair House, where the attempted assassination of President Truman took place. The Departments of Treasury, Commerce, Agriculture and State, The National Academy of Science, Arlington National Cemetery, Tomb of Unknown Soldier, Theodore Roosevelt Memorial, Washington Monument, President Taft Memorial, Abraham Lincoln Memorial and Bridge, Internal Revenue Building, The Smithsonian Institute, Mellon National Art Gallery, The Federal Court Building, The Senate Office, The Supreme Court Building, Library of Congress (217 miles of bookshelves and walls 8 ft. thick), Garfield and Grant Memorials, William Jennings Bryan and Jefferson Memorials, John Paul Jones Statue, Francis Scott Key Bridge, Titanic Memorial, Webster Memorial, four bronze statues from Italy and the two buildings where Lincoln was shot and finally died, National National Zoology Park, St. Pauls Cathedral and Foreign Embassy Buildings.

The stop at Louisville, Ky., from Monday until Wednesday was a thrill for Mrs. McMurry as it is her native state. They had reservations at the Brown Hotel and Mrs. McMurry renewed acquaintances with a cousin and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Sloan, whom she had not seen since childhood. They toured the city and saw many beautiful old as well as modern buildings. Roger and Ann were surprised and thrilled to see a few of the 'Old Southern Gentlemen' with their white goatees, distinguished dress, and courtly mannerisms typical of the older generation. They were thrilled to be able to see and walk on Churchill Downs where Mrs. McMurry got an envelope of Kentucky soil as a souvenir. Mrs. McMurry and Ann commented that Louisville had the most fabulous shops of anywhere they had stopped—that, in fact, Louisville was a fabulous city.

The trip from Louisville to Amarillo was uneventful except for rough air due to heat waves.

Cyclones Start

zings seemed to have the inside track during pre-season practice.

Pushing the letterman for a starting offensive position was Tommy Foster, a 165-pounder out for football for the first time. Although inexperienced, Foster showed speed and deception in workouts.

Pushing last year's regulars for a starting berth in the line has been James Freeman, light but scrappy guard. Freeman came along fast at the close of the 1953 season, and is expected to take up where he left off as a defensive standout.

B team graduates have made competition keen, and a number of first year candidates are expected to add depth to this year's team. Among those making strong bids are Robert Hodges, Don Davis, Billy Cheek, Sherman Clemons, Butch Adeock, Junior Gilcrest, Carlton Clayton, Royce Young, Dickey Craig, Jerry Hill, Campbell Morris, Bobbie Townsend, and David Davis.

The local team has been picked to finish as low as fifth in the district, but local supporters could vision a much higher finish if the big question marks at quarterback and center were settled. The team will be heavier than its bi-district champion predecessor. It is possible for Coach Childress to start a line averaging 175 and a backfield averaging 165.

In spite of recent hot weather, Coach Childress has sent his 31-man squad through strenuous practice sessions in order to have them in top shape for the opening game.

Following the opening game here, The Cyclone schedule calls for four straight games away from home, then four of the remaining games at Cyclone stadium.

Other teams in the district play Friday night as follows: Lefors at Dalhart, Stinnet at White Deer, Groom at Clarendon, Sunray at Gruver, McLean at Shamrock, Perryton at Panhandle, Canadian at Spearman.

will be limited by the amount of funds available, McKown pointed out. First requests will have first call on available funds.

Many questions are now being asked with reference to the 1955 farm program, according to McKown.

"There are many questions with reference to this matter that county offices such as ours are not able to answer at this time," he explained. "It is known that a farmer must comply with all allotments on his farm to receive price support on any crop for 1955. This will eliminate the seeding of 15 acres of wheat without a wheat allotment for 1955.

"The only directive available to county offices with reference to the acreage of grain sorghums to be permitted in 1955 states that no farmer will be permitted any more acreage of grain sorghum than was planted in 1953." McKown said that cotton allotments for 1955 will be based on the county share of the national cotton allotment which will be announced around October 14.

"The law on cotton acreage control limits the national allotment to not less than 10 million bales, as the first allotment received for 1954 was based on a 10 million-bale national allotment," he added.

"It is assumed that Hall County farmers will receive a 1955 cotton allotment comparable to the original allotment received in 1954, which was 43 per cent of their crop land."

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Wells had as visitors Tuesday, Mrs. Well's brother, J. O. Vinyard of Midland and her cousin, Cyrus Cope of Childress.

party, $3.50; and extension, 75 cents.

Company officials, in meetings with the City Council since May, have presented arguments and figures showing that the local exchange was not making any money. At the time the rate compromise was proposed in July, telephone officials stated that their books showed the company to have lost $4,120.13 on the operation of the Memphis exchange last year.

At that time, it was estimated that the compromised rate would allow the company to earn approximately 2 per cent upon their investment here.

To Dig Well at Cemetery

After hearing a report given by Alderman W. E. Leslie concerning a water well at Fairview Cemetery, the council voted unanimously to authorize their cemetery committee to go ahead with plans to dig and complete a new well. Leslie gave figures he had received from well drillers, and reported on the condition of a windmill and well at the cemetery.

No official action was taken by the council regarding a well at or near the City Park, although the idea has not been given up. A test hole was dug recently, and the driller reported to officials that he had a "dry hole." Civic groups of the city have intimated that they have certain beautification plans for the City Park, and most of them depend upon an abundance of water at the park.
