Board Sets Budget At $33,714

Annual budget calling for expenditures of $233,000 during the 1954-55 school year was adopted by trustees of the Memphis Independent School District at a regular monthly meeting Monday night at the school. This compares with $114,141 spent during the 1953-54 school year.

Trustees for the year are estimated at $219,022.80, almost less than anticipated. Rebut balances on hand as of Sept. 1st totaled $18,862.27, would make available $237,884.07 for expenses.

W. C. Davis, superintendent of the district, said that the budget had been prepared in accordance with the Texas Education Code as required by law. Hutcherson, president of the Board of Trustees, said that every effort was being made to balance the budget, and pledged that the use of available funds would be made. He pointed out that salaries in the local school would be increased by approximately $20,000.00, but that this additional expense was expected to be offset by approximately $20,000.00.

Methodist Youth Collect Clothing For Refugees

In co-operation with the Church World Service Center, the Methodist Church of Memphis is collecting clothing for overseas relief. Rev. Jim Sharp, pastor, announced this week.

The clothing will be packed and sent to the Church World Service Center for shipment overseas. In making the request for clothing, the Church World Service stated that thousands of refugees in Europe, the Near East and Asia are dependent on clothing, bedding, shoes, remnants, layettes and sewing materials sent through the Church World Service.

Labor Center Is Set Up Here To Assist Farmers

Marshall "Cowboy" Fuller, farm labor representative of the Texas Employment Commission, arrived early this week and set up headquarters for handling transient farm laborers in this area. Fuller said that an employment office was being established in the small building formerly occupied by Robert A. Wells on South Front Street. The office will be open here from six weeks to two months.

"The Texas Employment Commission sent me here to work with cotton farmers of this area," Fuller said, "and I want to invite farmers to come down to the employment center and leave their orders with me for boll pullers." Fuller has been with the employment commission for over six years. Was stationed in the Rio Grande Valley until last week, and was transferred to Memphis to assist farmers in gathering their crop this fall. He stated that his job was to aid the farmer in locating hands and that the price of boll pulling was strictly up to the laborers and the farm operator. The employment representative offered his fullest cooperation in obtaining field hands.

Martin Grows 18-Inch Beans

Eighteen-inch beans in this dry weather—and grown in Memphis! That's exactly what M. A. Martin was showing around town Monday. He said it was from a 4-acre patch he is cultivating this year near his home, located at the end of East Brice Street.

He brought one of the beans to the Democrat, where it is on display. Martin stated the variety is known as a yard bean, and resembles the blackeyed pea. His wife has canned 35 quarts of the beans. In addition to the yard beans, Martin has grown okra, watermelons, cantaloupes and blackeyed peas. He said his okra and cantaloupes have proved to be the most profitable, and he has sold over $150 worth to date.

Richerson was born Oct. 13, 1879 in Cleburne. He came to Hall County in 1893 and worked as a cowboy on the Milliron and Shoar ranches before going into business for himself.

He moved to Collingsworth County in 1903 and was married the same year to Miss Nettie Ring. He had lived in Hedley since 1913. He had been a member of the Church of Christ for 50 years.

Memphis Firemen Win Two First Places In Contests At Clarendon Convention

Firemen from Memphis won first prize in the state drill pumper contest at the 41st semi-annual convention of the Panhandle Firemen's Association, held in Clarendon Tuesday, Sept. 14. The local drill team was awarded $25.00 prize money.

Members of the Commissioners Court Monday approved Hall County's budget of $243,250.00 at their regular monthly session, Judge Tracy Davis announced Tuesday.

A drop of expected expenditures by the court during the coming year was listed by Judge Davis at $30,250. This figure was arrived at by comparing it with the 1954 budget of $273,500.00.

Judge Davis also pointed to the fact that the county's tax rate would remain at 95 cents on the $100.00 valuation. The county commissioners have estimated that receipts for the year 1954 will be $211,600.00. They had before them the figure of $199,714.54, which was received for 1953.

The county's receipts from the ad valorem tax for 1955 has been estimated at $101,650.00.

A check of the newly approved budget shows that the assessed county valuation for next year will be approximately one-quarter million dollars below that for 1954. The commissioners set the estimated county valuation at $10,700,000.00.

In explaining other figures in the county's budget, Judge Davis pointed to $101,650.00, which is the estimated amount from all tax collections. Other receipts by the county are estimated at $96,600.00. An additional $45,000.00 is shown as the cash balance.

The county judge broke down the 95-cent tax rate, and divided it's use as follows: jury fund, six cents; road and bridge fund, 30 cents; courthouse and jail fund, 21 cents; and general fund would take the balance of 38 cents.

Hall County's indebtedness will amount to $453,000.00 on the first day of January, 1955.

At least we are enjoying cooler nights even though we cannot have some good rains. The cool nights help to alleviate the worry over too much dry weather.

Mrs. William J. Walters, president of the National Council of State Garden Clubs, is worried over the growing volume of litter along America's streets and highways, in its parks and on its beaches. What was a minor nuisance only a few years ago has become a major problem, Mrs. Walters avers. Here and there individual citizens or groups have undertaken to combat the litter (Continued On Page 12)

Report From Washington

By Walter Rogers
Congressman, 18th District

The Public Debt
In a previous newsletter, I called to your attention the cash balance that has been carried by the Treasury Department in private banks in this country. This cash balance plus other cash on hand, but not in private banks, has been approximating in recent months around 5 1/2 billion dollars. This simply means that, although the national debt has been somewhere around 27 1/2 billion dollars in recent months, actually the net amount we would be in debt, if we used this cash to pay off part of the public debt, would be some 269 billion dollars. The Congress recently authorized an additional 6 billion dollars rise in the debt ceiling which increases the debt ceiling from the present ceiling of 275 billion dollars to 281 billion dollars. I regret to tell you that the public debt has been rising month by month. On June 30, 1952, which was the end of the fiscal year for 1952, the national debt was 259 billion dollars. At that time, we had cash on hand in an amount approximating 9 billion dollars. This meant, that at that time, the net debt would be around 250 billion dollars. On December 31, 1952, the national debt was 267 billion dollars, and we had on hand at that time approximately 6 1/2 billion dollars in cash, which made the net debt somewhere around 261 1/2 billion dollars. The most recent figures available show that the debt will continue to increase and that securities will be issued to absorb the additional 6 billion dollars authorized by Congress. Should this be done, it will mean that in the very near future, the national debt will reach an all time high. In other words, a record is in the making. Heretofore, the highest public debt ever reached was on February 28, 1946, at which time the people of this country owed $277,972,315,345.00.

Government Employees
The monthly reports for July to the Committee on the Reduction of Nonessential Federal Expenditures reflected that there is now in the employment of the Executive Agencies of the Federal Government 2,332,223 employees. This total does not include the major portion of foreign nationals employed in U. S. Government activities abroad. That is, in addition to the above figure of 2,332,223 civilian employees, your government is also hiring 401,647 foreign nationals working for U. S. Military Agencies overseas. 117,894 of these are in Germany; 172,798 in Japan; 93,880 in Korea; 194 in Libya; 15,911 in Ryukus; 392 in Saudi Arabia and 668 in Trinidad. 305,094 of these are in the employ of the Army; 76,303 in the Air Force, and 20,250 in the Navy.

The Foreign Situation
This country is presently faced with probably one of the gravest foreign situations since immediately prior to World War II. The key to the entire situation lies in Europe. That is, if the problem that exists today in Europe, and has existed for many centuries, can be solved and worked out, it could well determine whether or not we have peace for the next several decades. Italy and France definitely do not want to see a re-armed Germany, but as an alternative, they have the Russian threat on their doorsteps. Russia is definitely playing this situation to the hilt in the international political chess game. Germany is fast recovering from the ravages of World War II and will, no doubt, continue. People who are returning to this country from social and business visits to the continent, almost without exception, tell me that Germany is showing, by far, the greatest progress of any country on the continent in so far as rehabilitating herself is concerned. Whether or not Germany is re-armed is a matter that is going to have to be faced in the very near future. You will recall that after World War I and during a period of disarmament, Herman Goering, by the use of gliders, built up the Luftwaffe, one of the most effective Air Forces in the history of mankind. Relatively speaking, this was accomplished in a very short time, when it is compared with the entire continent of Europe, both east and west of Germany. If we are to prevent a repetition of the history that has been written during your lifetime and mine, we must face facts, and we must deal with them now. The foreign situation must be strengthened, and it must be strengthened immediately; otherwise, we are going to find ourselves with very few and very weak allies.

Can U. S., As Leader Of Free World, Let Communist Upset Our Applectart

By WALTER SHEAD
Washington Correspondent
National Weekly Newspaper Service
In considering the importance of Indochina to the United States, two premises must be assumed. The first is that whether we like it or not, this country is today looked to for world leadership. The second is that we have vital stakes in the Far East for which we have spent billions of dollars and sacrificed thousands of Americans lives...

Therefore the question arises can we as the leader of the free world allow our position to be eroded, piece by piece, by the expansion of either Russian or Chinese Communist control further into Asia. Undersecretary of State Walter Bedell Smith, puts it more dramatically. "Dare we permit" this further expansion, he asks. Our principal allies, Britain and France have even more of a stake. Burma, Malaya, the crown colonies, Singapore and Hong Kong are the remnants of a once vast colonial British empire in Asia. Britain also has the Commonwealths of Australia and New Zealand in the Southwest Pacific with which the United States has a mutual defense pact.

While France is giving up its colonial rule in Indochina, her huge investments made there during some 90 years are perhaps safe from expropriation. Indochina is a rich, almost untapped nation as to natural resources. Indochina is the "rice bowl" of the orient and the rice crop covers approximately 3 out of 4 acres cultivated. Should this rich source of food and natural resources disappear behind the iron curtain, the economy and the peoples of Japan, the Philippines and Korea would suffer.

From a strategic standpoint, Indochina lies across the most direct route, both sea and air, between the Pacific and south Asia. There is an almost unanimity of opinion among those best qualified to judge in our state department that (1) Red China will seek to overrun all of Indochina, and, (2) if Indochina falls, then Thailand, Burma, the Malay peninsula and the Republic of Indonesia will be next in line of erosion. This would mean 145.4 million more people swallowed behind the iron curtain. Indochina, 29 million; Thailand, 18.3 million; Republic of Indonesia, 78 million; Burma, 17 million; Malay states, 2.1 million and Singapore 1 million. Hong Kong with its more than 2,000,000 likely would go.

But despite the tremendous world stakes on the block in Indochina, there is still some foot-dragging as between Britain, France and the United States in getting together on any acceptable agreement for united action. Thailand, thus far is the only Asian nation which has indicated its willingness to join a collective security pact. India is cool and remains neutral. Indonesian sympathies appear headed towards communism. Burma and Malaya will follow the British lead. Australia and New Zealand may go along. So will the Philippines.

But there the united policy espoused by Secretary Dulles and this administration appears to be stymied by the "co-existence" propaganda so appealingly put forth by Moscow, and virtually accepted in lieu of "united action" by Great Britain and France. The results of the Geneva conference boil down to the fact that the western world failed in its objective to eliminate the partition of Korea, and agreed to partition of Indochina... were not willing to take the calculated risk of Moscow co-existence line... and the Moscow bluff worked.

As this writer sees the picture in the Far East now, the stalemate in Korea will remain unless the USA is willing to reopen the war there on its own, and despite Gen. Van Fleet's recommendation that we do just that, we will NOT do so unless Red China's violations of the truce become so flagrant we can no longer remain passive and keep our self-respect in the eyes of the world and particularly in the eyes of Asians.

Certainly our prospects for peace have not been bettered, either by the truce in Korea or in Indochina. Secretary Dulles has been in favor of a strong policy. He has not been upheld either by our principal allies, nor by influential leaders in his own party at home. He has been forced to accept a policy of appeasement which may cost this country dearly. Mr. Dulles knows as do many here in Washington, that all is not well behind the iron curtain, that the western world has appeased when Communist Russia and China may be at their weakest point both by over-extension and by internal revolt. He admits his plan of united action or massive retaliation might involve serious risks.

"But these risks," he says, "are far less than those which will face us a few years from now, if we dare not be resolute today... sometimes it is necessary to take risks to win peace just as it is necessary to take risks to win a victory. The chances for peace are usually aggressor know in advance where his aggression could lead him."

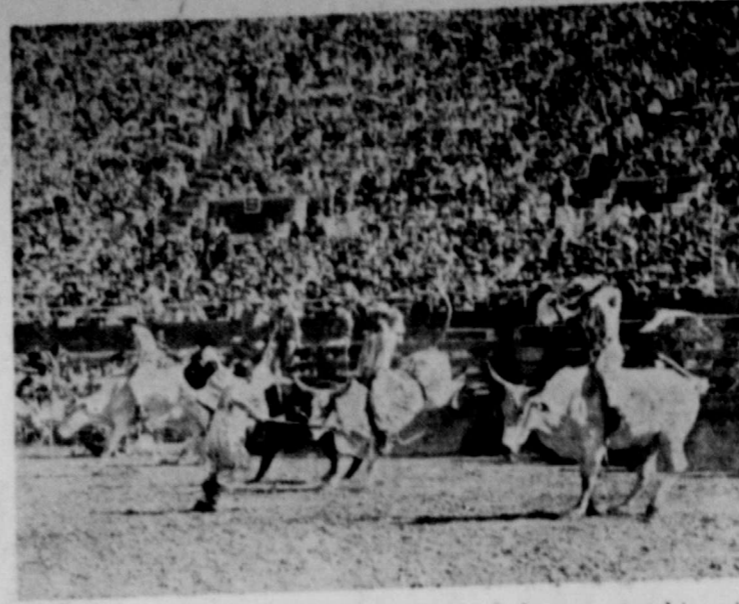

(Editor's note—the next article will deal with the individual stake of every American in the Indochinese war and the situation in the Far East.)

Cyclone Defeats Hornets 18-0 In Season's Opener

The Memphis Cyclone defeated the Tulia Hornets 18-0 in the season's opening game here Friday at Cyclone Stadium. The crowd of spectators saw the Cyclone five yard line accurate passing by quarterback Hamilton to End Gary Simmons accounted for most of the yardage. The Cyclone squad recovered a fumble on their 12, and marched down to their 35 where they punted.

They threw up a stubborn defense, with Jerry McQueen and Hayes Hammonds performing excellently, to force Tulia to punt. Taking the ball on their 20, they drove down to the Tulia 2-foot line where they were held on downs.

The Cyclone's Jack Montgomery, playing wide-awake ball at right end, intercepted Hamilton's pass in the flat, and went over standing up for the local squad's second touchdown. The kick for extra point was no good.

Fullback Jimmie Jenkins took the Tulia kick-off opening the third quarter, and returned to the Memphis 33 yard line. Sustaire picked up 13 around left end; then Jenkins drove to the Tulia 22 yard line in fine lunge plunges, where the ball went over on downs. The Cyclone line again held, forcing Tulia to punt, but the Hornets recovered a fumble on the punt return taking over on the Tulia 49. A pass interception on the Memphis 44 gave the ball back to the Cyclone. They ran into trouble from a stubborn Tulia line, and lost the ball on down on the Hornet 34. Tulia came back for yardage with their two fast backs, Jeff Carlisle and Jan Tucker collecting two first downs. The Cyclone line stiffened, forcing a punt, which Memphis took on their 21 yard line, as the third quarter ended.

Davis opened the fourth quarter by ripping off 24 yards around right end. He, Jenkins and Sustaire alternated through the center of the Hornet line to carry down to the Tulia 34 yard line. A pass from quarterback Cleve Evans to End Carroll Gardenhire placed the ball on Tulia's one yard line. Davis went over for his team's third counter. The try for extra point failed.

After taking the kickoff, Tulia made one first down, but ran into good pass defense on the part of Coach Childress' boys, and were forced to punt. Memphis took over on their 44 yard line, and ran into two costly penalties trying to come back down the field, forcing a punt.

Donnie Campbell took the Cyclone punt on his 15 yard line, and raced 85 yards for a touchdown. A clipping penalty placed the ball in play on the Tulia 25 yard line. From this point the Hornets racked up three first downs by passes from the arm of Quarterback Hamilton, and a 13-yard jaunt by Halfback Tucker. The game ended with the ball on the Cyclone 20 yard line.

Texas Agriculture Advances Despite Drouth Last Year

COLLEGE STATION—Drouth slapped hard last year. But Texas farmers turned handicap into a challenge and 1953 goes down as a year of advancement the state's agricultural history.

This summarizes the recently published 1953 Annual Report of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Drouth prompted the greatest expansion in irrigation of any single year, says the report. More than 5,000,000 acres of farmland were irrigated in 212 Texas counties.

Twenty-three million dozen eggs were sold on a graded basis. This meant an additional $1,150,000 in pockets of producers.

Soil judging gained popularity. Organized 4-H Clubs made up the greatest number in attendance at soil judging schools.

Despite adverse weather, Texans planted and cultivated 505,846 home gardens—50,000 more than in the year previous.

But for many livestock raisers, 1953 meant "just staying in business." The report says county agricultural agents probably were asked more questions about livestock feeding than in all their years of service. Cattlemen in the 102 designated drouth counties were determined to store feed for future use. As a result, beef cattlemen and dairy operators stored more feed in silos than possibly ever before.

Copies of the 23-page report, which give interesting highlights of Texas farming activities last year, are available from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Schwartz and children visited in Winters over the weekend with Mrs. Schwartz's relatives.

And hundreds of new ideas are now being developed to keep employment high and help America live better

Tower of time cards shows jobs created by new G-E products. In a single pile, they'd reach 5 stories high.

One out of every five people working at General Electric owes his job to products G. E. didn't make before 1945.

Will coming years bring as much progress?

Actually, we believe there will be more. Many exciting possibilities are predictable as we learn how to make full use of atomic energy. Another important new development will be electronic machinery which will make work easier, production swifter—and create more jobs. New uses for gas turbines promise improved air, rail and ship transportation, and better power plants for industry. Research will make home appliances even more helpful.

All these fields—and many others—are so promising that we expect to produce more in the next ten years than in all the previous 75 years of our existence. As we see it, in a free economy, America's industrial progress is not only continuing, it's rapidly accelerating.

The 'Balanced Farm Plan' and Grain Sorghum Acreage

Farmers of Texas are anxiously awaiting full details of Secretary Benson's "Balanced Farm Plan." It is now in its preliminary stages of operation. As far as it is understood, the plan provides for government experts to work closer with each farmer and farm family on practically every move each should make.

Both Texas Senators and a vast majority of this state's Congressmen voted against the "flexible" farm price support bill when it was up for action in congress.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson has stated that there is a basic assumption behind the "flexible" price support theory which is the cause of the disagreement. He pin-pointed it by saying, "It is the assumption that there are economic problems which can be solved by lowering the income of one segment of our population."

We agree with the senator it is hard to understand how lower income for Texas farmers will promote prosperity for residents of Texas cities. Neither will low income for industrial workers put more money in the pockets of the farmers.

There is cause to fear a division among the people—consumers against farmers—due to some of the arguments published by the administration's supporters of the new support bill. No one in Hall County wants to see the city people turned against the country people. The picture has been distorted in some respects. Here in Texas the farmers are definitely the "underdog" as far as the economic picture goes. They have been hit by drouth and falling prices, and are deeply uneasy about the future.

Sen. Johnson states that the farmer and his family are receiving about 14 cents out of each consumer dollar for food grown and produced in this country for their cost of production and investment in land and equipment.

At the same time the farmers are worrying about Secretary Benson's "Balanced Farm Plan," they are wondering what they can plant on "grain sorghum" acreage in 1935. If Hall County should receive a 1935 cotton allotment on 43 per cent of their crop land, there is a huge question mark about what will be planted on the remaining 57 per cent. No directives have been received to date to clarify this question. And there is a general election early in November. After that date, the answers should be arriving about the grain sorghum acreage in Hall County—and the fact that in 1933 local farmers went all-out trying to produce a cash crop of cotton.

STOP, Then Pass Halted School Bus At 10 Miles Per Hour.

Law Says
School buses over the state have now begun the task of carrying thousands of children to and from their studies. Soon to be expected are the inevitable tragic reports of death and injuries occurring when impatient youngsters dash across busy highways to greet their waiting parents or to board a bus. Most of such accidents to the letter of the law pertaining to the passing of school buses.

Most Texans are aware of the law which requires a driver to come to a complete stop when overtaking from the rear a school bus which has stopped to receive or discharge school children. After stopping immediately behind the bus, he is then allowed by law to proceed past same at a speed "which is prudent, not exceeding ten (10) miles per hour, and with due caution for the safety of such children."

What many persons do not realize is that the very same rule applies when MEETING a stopped school bus. While everyone is interested in protecting our children, unthinking violators of this simple safety rule greatly outnumber those who comply. Failure to follow the law in this case can lead to fines up to $200.00 even when no accident occurs. Following an accident in which some child is injured or killed, the penalties are naturally much more serious.

Although the above rule does not apply when passing a stopped school bus in a business or residential district of a town, the necessity for extreme caution even in those locations is obvious.

When it comes to overtaking and passing moving vehicles, exercise of ordinary common sense will generally keep a driver within the law. For instance, when passing a car it is only common sense to proceed on past it a safe distance before cutting back to the right side of the highway. Also, any driver should realize the danger of increasing his speed while another is attempting to pass him.

In the same category is the prohibition against passing on the right under most ordinary conditions. Of course, you may legally pass on the right in a few specific instances, such as when the vehicle overtaken is making or is about to make a left turn, or upon a one-way street with two or more lanes, or upon a four-lane highway.

However, our traffic laws state that even when passing on the right is allowed, it shall be done only under conditions permitting such movement in safety. And, in no event should such passing be accomplished by driving off the pavement or main-traveled portion of the roadway.

Familiar to all are the no-passing zones designated by dash lines placed to one side of the center stripe on our highways. Not so well known are the restrictions against crossing the center line when approaching within 100 feet of any bridge, viaduct or tunnel. The prohibition also applies when approaching within 100 feet of or when traversing any intersection or railroad grade crossing.

A driver should never cross the center line of a highway when the left side of the road is not clearly visible and free from oncoming traffic. Generally speaking, when not engaged in passing another vehicle, one should not drive to the left of the center of the roadway.

THERE IS A DIFFERENCE

One bit of political advertising in the recent governor race could be called libelous—this was an advertisement which contained the statement that there was no difference between the CIO and the Farm Bureau, except that one was made up of persons who work for wages and the other of farmers. COMMISSIONERS GIVE OKAY TO PROJECTS—A canning plant at Memphis with a unit at Turkey has been approved by the Hall County Commissioners' Court, County Judge Jim Vallance announced yesterday afternoon. LINK ATTACKS TOM F. HUNTER—Striking a blow at Tom F. Hunter capitalist and upholding the claims of James V. Allred in his race for governor of Texas, Judge W. T. Link of Clarendon addressed a representative and mildly enthusiastic audience from the courthouse steps here yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock.

Judge J. M. Elliott introduced the speaker, who used as the keynote of his address the victories credited to James V. Allred over the large oil corporations of Texas as that were violating the Texas anti-trust law.

this to be libelous, since there is a big difference between the two organizations. One is the voluntary cooperation of free men in the Farm Bureau—the other is the tyranny of an organization which dues from the working man if he is to get and hold a job. There is nothing voluntary about the latter.

The Farm Bureau forces no one to join it in order to become a farmer. It threatens neither violence nor economic reprisals against those who do not wish to belong or who disagree with its policies.

The CIO, with the blessing and the aid of favorable labor laws, maintains a tight control over its members, collecting whatever dues the leadership deems necessary; forces the "closed shop" which makes union membership mandatory; engages in full scale political activity to gain more favorable labor legislation. A working man in a union industry has not the slightest choice as to belonging to a union—he is compelled to do so by law.

The findings of the newest of these scientific tests, a study conducted with boys 12 to 14 years of age, show that maximum work rate and maximum work output were significantly less in the late morning hours when breakfast was omitted.

Hedley Man Is Improving From Crash Injuries

W. C. Snelson, who was injured in a truck-train crash two miles west of Hedley Sunday morning, is much improved, attendants at Goodall Hospital stated today. He suffered several broken ribs on the right side of his body, a broken leg and was partially scalped.

Snelson, who had left his home, a short distance from the scene of the crash, only moments before the accident occurred, was driving down a country road toward U. S. Highway 287.

According to reports of eye witnesses, V. L. Bittle, a Childress cafe operator, his son, John and a Grand Saline truck driver, Snelson drove onto the railroad crossing apparently unaware of the approaching train.

The Fort Worth and Denver passenger train No. 7, east bound, hit the front part of the truck, and knocked it several hundred feet down the right of way. Snelson was thrown from the 1942 model pickup by the impact.

Conductor A. H. Parker, and Engineer J. L. Matthews, in charge of the train, summoned a Murphy Funeral Home ambulance from Clarendon and had the victim rushed to Goodall Hospital in Memphis.

Miss Roxy Hulseley returned to Portales, N. M., after spending the past three weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Hulseley. Mr. and Mrs. Hulseley and family recently enjoyed a trip through Colorado, Arizona, Nevada and Calif.

Andrew Womack went to Temple today to get his wife, who underwent major surgery in a Temple hospital about 3 weeks ago. Mr. and Mrs. Womack will return to Memphis Friday.

(Continued From Page One) problem, but the task is great and it will take the combined efforts of all citizens to overcome the growing nuisance. Why not some local organization begin now to create local interest?

Sloan Baker and family of Houston, formerly of this area, writes, "We have just returned to Houston and find that Hall County has better cotton than any in the blackland cotton belt of central Texas. Along the coast the cotton is average yield. We enjoyed a month's visit in Hall, Donley and Gray counties. We visited in the homes of the Gordon Maddox of Memphis and W. A. Beasley of Lakeview and Gerald Knight of Smith community. My cotton estimate guess is 36,126 bales of cotton for 1954."

Several weeks ago, a Collie dog took up with the Wesley Miller boys. He showed he had been raised with children. The dog wore San Antonio vaccination tag, so Miller decided he would try to locate the owner. He wrote the San Antonio tax authorities, giving them the tag number and asking that the owner be notified. Just a month later, Miller received a letter from Eugene, Oregon, accompanied by a check, with instructions to ship said Collie to that place. The owner explained they were moving to Oregon and some way the dog had left from the truck. They backtracked to several towns trying to locate the pet, but failed to find him. When he received notice from San Antonio as to the dog's location, money and instructions came to Miller, who is linotype operator at The Democrat office. The dog should reach his new home by this time, and some children will be shouting with joy.

Members Elect -

J. W. Coppedge, who is finishing his term as president, instructed the new board to meet next Monday night, and make tentative plans for the clubs operation during the next 12 months. A president and vice president will be elected at this meeting.

Coppedge gave a report of his year's tenure in office, and explained the club's financial statement. Then the meeting was opened to a discussion of the club's program for another year.

Among projects brought to the attention of the new board were the purchase of a tractor, improvement of the golf course and greens, need for drilling irrigation well, and repairs of equipment in game room. Members requested that the regular "family night" program be continued, and more emphasis be placed upon use of club house by wives and children of members.

N. W. Durham -

(Continued From Page One) torium, site of the convention. This was the seventh state Democratic convention which Durham has attended as a delegate from Hall County. During this time, he has been identified as a supporter of various candidates seeking both state and national offices within the party.

In the district caucus Monday night, the name of Lewis Foxhall, county farmer and stockman, was suggested as a possible write-in candidate against Sen. Andy Rogers of Childress. Foxhall's name was brought before delegates of the senatorial district by former Lamb County Judge Otha Dent of Littlefield. Steve Clements, delegate from Castro County, picked up the suggestion, and offered a resolution nominating the Hall County man for the office. After the idea was discussed for some time, Clements withdrew his suggestion altogether. Mr. and Mrs. Foxhall who were present at the caucus, did not speak on the possibility of his name being offered as a write-in candidate.

Foxhall could not be reached Thursday morning for comment. He was working with field hands at his farm near Newlin. His final decision regarding the matter is not known.
