PLANS DROUGHT AID—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson, above, points to dry farming areas of the nation as he suggested eliminating total acreage allotment and increasing assistance to farmers residing in drought areas.

Emergency Loans May Be Obtained For Farmers

Texas farmers can obtain three types of operating loans from the Farmers Home Administration. Walter T. McKay, Texas State Director, said today. The credit is available immediately and can be used to finance current farm and living expenses as well as production of next year's crops.

The three kinds of operating loans are emergency loans, special livestock loans, and regular production and subsistence loans. The production and subsistence loans are made only to operators of family-type farms. The emergency and livestock loans are made to operators of family-type farms and other farmers and ranchers as well. All of the loans are made only to farmers who are unable to obtain the credit from other sources.

The regular production and subsistence loans help small farmers to improve their farming operations. These loans may be made to buy farm and home equipment, feed, seed, lime and fertilizer, and to pay other farm operations and family living expenses.

There is a statutory limit of $7,000 on each production and subsistence loan and the total outstanding debt for these loans cannot exceed $10,000. Repayments are based on the income to be received each year after reasonable expenses are met. In no case may the loan run for more than 7 years.

When the main purpose of the production and subsistence loan is to improve the farmer's operations, a limited amount of funds may be included to refinance debts secured by liens on livestock and farm equipment.

Special livestock loans are made to producers and feeders of cattle, sheep, and goats, except commercial feed lot operators. These loans are made to meet usual expenses necessary to successful livestock operations, such as the purchase or production of feed, and replacing, hiring, or repairing farm machinery and equipment. Livestock loans are not made to expand operations or to pay existing debts, except incidental current bills.

Livestock loans are made for periods up to 3 yrs. Any balances remaining on these loans after the three years are serviced for collection based on the repayment ability of the borrower. Other creditors are not asked to subordinate their liens, but are expected to stand by and to agree that a reasonable part of the applicant's normal income will be used to pay the loans. County Ginning Figures Approaching 4,000 Bales

Harvesting Of Crop Being Hampered Slightly By Shortage Of Field Hands

Slightly under 4,000 bales of cotton had been ginned in Hall County up until today, a check with ginners disclosed this week. Ginnings reported were heaviest in the northern part of the county where field hands were being utilized to the fullest extent.

Approximately a third of this county's ginnings to date were reported by the gins in Memphis. Indications point to heavy gathering in the irrigated section of the county within a short while in the Brice area.

Cotton pulling has been going along at a fairly rapid pace, although some shortage of boll pullers are reported. According to the Texas Employment Commission, between 200 and 300 fields hands are needed in Hall County.

A check with the gins of the county showed actual ginnings at 3,815 bales. A report from one county gin was unavailable, and figures for others were up to early Wednesday afternoon.

Last year at this time, Hall County ginnings reported slightly less than 1,200 bales.

Several farmers are contracting to have their cotton sprayed with a defoliant agent. Two airplanes were reported in the county early this week, and a move was afoot to use this method to help the maturing of bolls left on stalks.

Many farmers express the desire to have the continued dry weather as a means of getting this year's crop gathered as soon as possible. Others remember a severe sandstorm in 1953, which lowered the grade of their cotton.

Several cotton growers are making plans to machine harvest their entire crop, while others are using field hands to gather the bolls already open, then finish later with cotton strippers.

Again this year, the Turkey section of the county appeared to be hardest hit by the drought. This is in contrast to other areas where well above half a bale to the acre is expected. The spotted rains in August were responsible for this good production.

Supt. Loran Denton said early this week that he would dismiss the Lakeview schools for cotton harvest on Friday, adding that if rains should come, it might be delayed a week or two.

Local cotton buyers have been paying from 32 1/2 cents to 35 cents per pound for this year's crop, a check early today revealed.

A slight drop in the cotton market was noted, according to reports, with the average at 34 cents. They estimate that the grade and staple length this year (Continued On Page 12)

JERRY DEBENPORT

District Governor To Visit Memphis Club Monday

The Memphis Rotary Club will be host to Jerry Debenport, governor of the 183rd District of Rotary International Oct. 4 and according to President Gayle Greene.

The governor is making his annual official visit to each of the 38 Rotary Clubs in West Texas and the Panhandle. While here he will speak before the club, and confer with President, Greene, Secretary Thomas Clayton, and committee chairmen on club administration and service activities.

Mr. Debenport is owner and operator of a housing project in Odessa bearing his name. He is a native Texan, being born in Comstock, Tex. He attended the East Texas Normal College, later the University of Texas. He has been a Rotarian since 1922; is a former member of the Rotary Club of Childress; and now is a senior active member and past president of the Rotary Club of Odessa. He has served his district twice as general conference chairman.

"Wherever Rotary Clubs are located," President Greene said, "their activities are similar to those of the Memphis club because they are based upon the same general objectives: developing better understanding and fellowship among business and professional men, promoting community-betterment undertakings, raising the standards of business and professional men, and fostering the advancement of good will, understanding and peace among all the peoples of the world."

Greene stated that Rotary, organized in Chicago in 1905 has in the intervening 50 years grown to have more than 8300 clubs located in 89 countries of the world with a membership totaling almost 400,000 members. Each year, this world-wide service organization (Continued On Page 12)

Festival Boosters Will Appear Here Monday, Oct. 4th

The Hedley Cotton Festival booster caravan will arrive in Memphis Monday evening, Oct. 4, and stage a 20-minute performance, according to Clifford Johnson, chairman of the festival committee. The program of entertainment will begin promptly at 8:30 o'clock.

Johnson said they plan to stop in Estelline at 9:15. He added that new events were coming into Hedley every day, and indications point to one of the longest parades in the Festival's history. Already scheduled to appear are 26 floats, four bands and two drum and bugle corps.

Hedley's Third Annual Cotton Festival will be held Friday and Saturday, Oct. 8 and 9.

Wrenn Is Popular Teacher

Science Dept. Has Progressive Program

Science Department in this High School is second as compared to that of similar size. And, during the past six years has steadily increased in physical equipment.

Miss Wrenn's direction of the science department under the direction of Miss Wrenn, who came to Memphis in 1949 to head the department.

Another example of the department under Miss Wrenn's direction is the large number of students who are studying the various subjects. During the six years of present growth, an average of 13 young men, all seniors, have studied in the science classes.

All-time high was reached when a total of 118 students enrolled in the science department. A check of Miss Wrenn's records shows that 26 seniors are studying chemistry; 26 sophomores are engaged in biology. Fifty eighth graders are getting a taste of laboratory science. Thirteen young men, all seniors, are laboring in the field of physics.

Miss Wrenn presents the learning material in various ways. She uses laboratory classes, where "Learn by Doing," is the important. Supplementing the visual aid program, in pictures and film strips are charts, monthly magazines and newspapers all have an importance in presenting new and interesting facts to the classes.

MISS NEVILLE WRENN

Miss Neville Wrenn was born at Wolfe City, Texas, and moved to Memphis with her parents, the late James B. Wrenn and Mrs. Wrenn in 1907.

She is a graduate of the grade school and high school of Memphis and was graduated from Clarendon College in the summer of 1914, receiving a second grade teaching certificate by examination. In 1916 she received her first grade teaching certificate from West Texas State, then returned to the college during the summers of 1917 and 1918. (Continued On Page 12)

Report From Washington

By Walter Rogers

Congressman, 18th District

The Panhandle Really Needs Moisture

I have been in all sections of this Congressional District since I came home, and there isn't one spot that doesn't need rain. Some parts are much harder hit than others, but unless rain is forthcoming within the next few weeks, we could well be in worse condition than ever before. Childress County is perhaps the hardest hit of the lot. The other counties north and along the Oklahoma border seem to have a little more moisture, but this is drying up fast.

We had a meeting in Childress the other night with C. M. Richter, Water Facilities Specialist of the Farmers Home Administration. He explained in detail the part played by the Farmers Home Administration in making loans for irrigation purposes as well as for domestic and livestock water. There was a good turnout for the meeting. The word "water" has a magic touch in this country, and you can always expect a good turnout to discuss this problem.

We hope that legislation will be enacted in the early days of the next Congress that will make possible a number of small surface water projects that would be feasible in our section. This type of project will go a long way toward helping in our water problem—a problem that is becoming more serious each day, and about which something MUST BE DONE.

Farm Prices and the Cost of Food

Between 1946 and 1951, farm prices advanced 29 per cent. However, during the period between 1946 and 1952, retail food prices increased 45 per cent. Since 1951, the peak prices received by farmers have fallen 20 points or almost back to the 1946 level. In contrast, retail food prices advanced 0.5 per cent. It can be readily seen from these figures that the consumer has received no benefit in the form of lower retail food prices, even though the farm prices have slipped measurably. The Committee on Agriculture on July 31 of this year said, and I quote, "Further declines in farm prices are expected as more livestock and livestock products come to market and price support levels are lowered. Consumers can expect little benefit, however, from these lower farm prices unless recent tendencies to increase marketing and processing charges are curbed."

In January, 1948, the farm price of wheat reached a peak of $2.81 a bushel, and the average price of a one pound loaf of bread was 13.8 cents. The farm price of wheat has dropped to $1.91 a bushel while the average price of a one pound loaf of bread has increased to 17 cents. This means that there was a 32 per cent drop in the price of wheat from which the bread is made, while at the same time, there was a 23 per cent advance in the finished product, to wit, the loaf of bread. The farm value of the wheat in a one pound loaf of bread is 2.7 cents.

Where Does the Consumer's Food Dollar Go?

"Out of each dollar spent for food in the United States, 5 cents goes for imported foods, fish, and other products not produced on American farms. Out of each dollar spent by the American housewife for domestically produced food, 56 cents now goes for processing, marketing, and transportation charges. The farmer receives 44 cents. Of this 44 cents, approximately 30 cents goes to purchase tractors, trucks, plows, gasoline, fertilizer, and other supplies required by modern farming.

Thus, the farmer and his family have about 14 cents out of each consumer dollar spent for domestically produced food for their work and their investment. "The farmer's share of the consumer dollar has dropped in recent years and months as farm prices have declined, while retail food prices have remained at 1952 peak levels."

Excursion Rates For Texas State Fair Set

A reduction of one-third in chair car fares from all points on Fort Worth and Denver Railway between Deatur and Texline to Dallas for the State Fair of Texas Oct. 9-24 was announced today by Robert L. Hoyt, general passenger agent for FW&D. Round-trip tickets good in air-conditioned chair cars on all FW&D trains including Texas Zephyrs will go on sale daily commencing October 8th and will be sold to and including Oct. 24th. Final limit of tickets will be midnight, Oct. 25th, said Hoyt. The reduced fares may be purchased by individuals or parties, such as FHA groups, grade school and high school classes, etc., it was announced.

According to J. J. McMickin, agent for FW&D at Memphis, the special excursion fare to Dallas will be $8.60 plus 86 cents as compared with the regular fare of $12.85 plus $1.27. All children's tickets are one-half fare. Trains leave Memphis at 9:44 A. M. and 12:45 P. M.

WOMEN'S BUILDING—A swanky new $500,000 Women's Building will make it bow at the 1954 State Fair of Texas, Oct. 9-24. Largest air-conditioned exhibit hall on any fairgrounds anywhere, the structure will house a tearoom with catering by one of Dallas' most exclusive restaurants, an auditorium-in-the-round and 50,000 square feet of space for hundreds of exhibits. The building during the fair will house a glamorous galaxy of high fashion exhibits, free daily style shows and more of the traditional exhibits of prize-winning, homemaking skills than ever before.

Authority Deplores Tragic Number Of Children Killed In Traffic Accidents

"A total of 4,400 children under 15 years old were killed in traffic last year," Col. E. B. Tilley of Houston, President of the Texas Safety Association, said recently.

Col. Tilley said that this terrible child death toll in itself would be reason enough for the child traffic safety program which his group is sponsoring this month in Texas in cooperation with the Texas Department of Public Safety and the National Safety Council.

"But the number of fatalities is only part of the picture," he said. "In addition, approximately 225,000 children were injured in traffic accidents in 1953, according to the National Safety Council."

Many of these injuries, Col. Tilley pointed out, will leave the youthful victims maimed or scarred for life.

"There is no quick, easy remedy for this deplorable situation on our streets and highways," he said.

"Instead, it will take a long range program of public education to bring about a lasting improvement. Motorists must come to realize their responsibility for the lives of unpredictable children and must exercise extra caution when driving in areas where youngsters may be walking or playing.

And parents, too, must be made to understand the serious danger involved, and teach their children safety precautions.

"Many people today do not realize that traffic is the number one killer of children between the ages of one and 14.

"Traffic accidents kill more children in this age group than any one of the highly-publicized childhood diseases," Col. Tilley said.

"Figures for 1951, the most recent year for which complete statistics are available, show that for the one-to-14 age group, there were 3,888 deaths due to motor vehicle accidents," he said.

"This was five times as many child deaths as were caused the same year by polio, and three times as many as were caused by tuberculosis. There were 800 fewer deaths from pneumonia and 600 fewer from cancer, in all its forms, than from traffic accidents in this age group."

He said that if we are to improve this tragic situation we all will need to remember and act on the traffic safety slogan being featured this month in the program of the Texas Safety Association, the Texas Department of Public Safety, and the National Safety Council: "Watch Out for Kids."

Arrangements For Waterfowl Hunting Are Set For 1954

AUSTIN—All arrangements have been completed for the waterfowl harvest in Texas now that the United States Fish and Wildlife Service has formally issued its regulations, Howard D. Dodgen, executive secretary of the Texas Game and Fish Commission, has announced.

"All we need now," Dodgen said, "is some good rains to fill up rivers, shall lakes and tanks. We need to scatter the ducks when they come on down from the northern nesting grounds to avoid the concentrations that will otherwise occur, to the detriment of hunters as well as to the hungry birds themselves."

The executive secretary said the Commission has received no formal complaints from Texas hunters about the sixty-day shoot beginning at noon on Friday, November 5, and continuing until sundown on January 3. Regulations are identical with last fall.

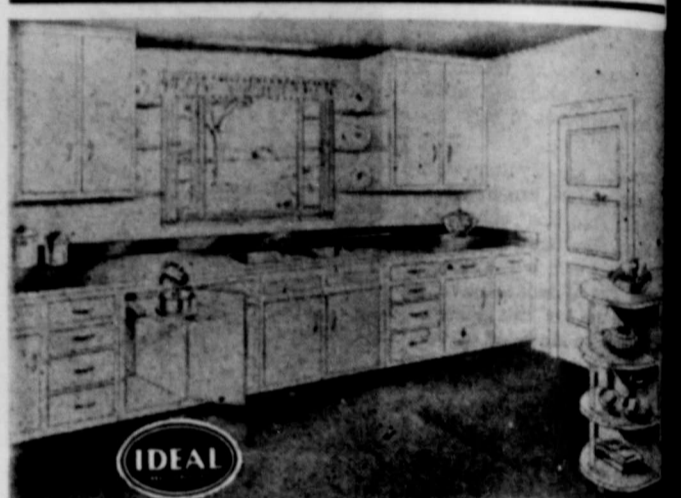

"We naturally would have preferred the zoning system as requested to give the northern part of counties an earlier opening," he said. "But the Fish and Wildlife Service, which has final authority over migratory birds, apparently decided it would be poor conservation to liberalize the regulations under the present waterfowl regulation status."

Herbert Hodges of Dallas, brother of H. A. Hodges of Memphis, who has been seriously injured, is reported to be improved this week.

Mrs. Margaret Holcomb was last week with her brother, Ben Melton, who resides near Bedford, and with a son, Jack Holcomb, in Amarillo.

Mrs. Henry Hays was hostess to members of the Delphian Club on Sept. 21 at 4:00 p. m.

Mrs. Weldon McCreary, president, introduced Mrs. Billy Thompson, a member of the B. and P. W. Club, who discussed a constitutional amendment "Shall Women Serve on Juries?" She stated that "criminals, idiots, and women cannot serve on juries." Mrs. Roy Coleman, Mrs. Bill Leslie, other members of B. and P. W., and Mrs. McCreary, gave a skit depicting the three groups who cannot serve on juries.

Mrs. McCreary then called the meeting together and conducted a short business meeting, followed by the devotional given by Mrs. R. H. Wherry.

Mrs. B. J. Thomson, director of a playlet "My Country 'Tis of Thee I sing," stated that "in our privileged land, and all around the world, only one country can be meant." A historical picture in music dedicated to patriotism and freedom was given. Mrs. L. L. Thomas, accompanied by Mrs. Hays, sang "My Country 'Tis of Thee," "Yankee Doodle," "Home Sweet Home," "Indian Lullaby," "Finlandia," "Swing Low Sweet Chariot," "How Firm a Foundation," and led the group in singing "The Eyes of Texas." Mrs. Hays played "Minuet in G." Mrs. Thomson presented a tuning fork which was one of the first instruments used in singing.

You Can Now Return Your Cotton Burs To Your Land!

This week we are installing a DUAL FAN SYSTEM in our gin plant, which will enable the farmers of this area to return their cotton burs to the fields. After cotton is ginned here, the burs CAN BE CARRIED AWAY. The system is government-approved, and is required in the handling of cotton where the threat of PINK BOLL WORMS formerly compelled ginners to burn all burs.

If you want to put back into the soil your burs, gin your cotton at the J. M. Tindall Gin.

We're Paying Top Prices For Cotton

Again this year, we're buying cotton at this gin. Come in and get the facts about our prices on cotton.

Ginning At It's Best

Our plant is in absolutely first class shape. In addition, it is operated by one of the best gin crews to be found anywhere. These are the two reasons that we are proud of the TURN-OUT and GRADE our customers are now getting. If you are not now one of our customers, ask one of your neighbors who is ginning with us.

Texas Cotton Industry

grown on 153,177 farms, or 46 per cent of the total farms in the state. We produced approximately 4,350,000 bales of cotton and 1,803,000 tons of cottonseed last year.

"waste material" is cottonseed, a commodity that now brings an annual farm income of $400 million. At one time, the precious pellets were considered worthless. Except for a quantity needed for planting new cotton crop, cottonseed was dumped in nearby bodies of water or left to rot near the gin.

Cotton and its byproducts accounted for 38 per cent of the total farm marketings. They brought income to some 1,793 gins, 113 warehouses, 87 oil mills and 53 textile mills in the state—and to thousands more who are benefited by their payrolls.

That's why keeping Texas cotton prosperous is everybody's business.

GIN TRASH RESEARCH

Texas is seeking a solution to a knotty problem—how to keep an insect from robbing farmers of a valuable component of our annual cotton crop.

Gin "trash"—the burrs or hulls of the cotton bolls—could ordinarily be very useful as a soil conditioner, fertilizer or livestock feed. Yet, this trash also harbors one of the greatest threats to our cotton industry, the pink bollworm. The problem is how to kill the insect larvae within the trash and allow the material to be returned to the farm for beneficial use.

Modern gins with elaborate drying and cleaning equipment kill a high percentage of the worms during the ginning process. Tests are now being conducted in Texas to find what process or machine is responsible for the greater part of the kill. Modifications and improvements may be made eventually which will assure 100 percent destruction.

Today, most gin trash is burned to control and prevent the spread beyond quarantine barriers of the pink bollworm. However, some methods are being used and studied which may prevent this waste. Composting, sterilization, fumigation, hammer milling, roller milling and the use of special fans or two controversial fans in the pneumatic system of ginning are all possible procedures that have a degree of effectiveness.

Investigations of different types of fans and fan combinations, rollers, beaters, grinders, and heating devices are being carried out by engineers and entomologists at commercial gins in the lower Rio Grande Valley this season. Later work will be done farther north, including the Panhandle where harvesting conditions are quite different.

Gin trash disposal methods must be as simple and inexpensive as possible. But most important, they must take care of large quantities of trash without slowing down gin operation. Finally, they must kill all the pink bollworms in the material. Otherwise, what might be gained by use of this trash would be lost through the destructiveness of the insect.

Findings in these investigations are to be made available to ginners and farmers in Texas as soon as sound and practical conclusions can be achieved.

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

Free Press Preserved By Constitution, Courts With October 1 to 8 being observed this year as National Newspaper Week, public attention is focused upon the important part which a fully informed, free and uncensored press plays in all our lives.

The right of freedom of the press is secured by the first amendment to the Federal Constitution, which says, "Congress shall make no law . . . abridging the freedom of . . . the press."

Why did the farmers of New England, the planters of the South and the small storekeepers of Philadelphia, New York, and Boston insist some 160 years ago that the original Constitution be amended so that the people would be specifically guaranteed freedom of the press?

It was because the founders of our country had an abiding faith that enlightened citizens could be entrusted with the job of governing themselves. If they could have an unfettered opportunity to read the history and to learn the lessons of the past, to understand the never-ending clash of ideas, to read about what forces are alive in the world, to check on their government as to its activities, its successes, its failures and its abuses, and to write and speak unimpeded—then they could not be made slaves.

The framers of the Constitution believed that freedom of the press would aid in enlightening the people. The competition of ideas would point out the choices of the people. With this freedom, they could decide their own problems better, with more resulting happiness to themselves, their families and their communities. The men who wrote the Constitution knew intimately of those countries across the seas whose governments controlled thought, censored information and made political, economic and religious decisions for their subjects. They believed in the principle of competition and the value of permitting every citizen to develop himself to the limits of his abilities, and they insisted that this right of freedom of the press be recognized by the fundamental law of the land.

Of course, all rights entail correlative obligations and duties. Freedom of the press is not unlimited. It does not permit license, libel, violation of the law nor interference with the orderly running of the government.

With but a few insignificant exceptions, the press of the free world has admirably justified the faith of the philosophy of the framers of the Constitution. Throughout the Western Hemisphere and in the free countries of the Old World, the "fourth estate" has fearlessly accepted its responsibility and has aided in preserving freedom and in checking tyranny and dictatorship.

The press has been able to continue performing its important functions in this country mainly because ours is a government of laws, rather than a government of men. Our constitutional guarantees, protected by the best judicial system in the world, insure that no dictator shall here suppress the free flow of news as is the habit in some less fortunate countries.

Official Says Fire Deaths Could Be Cut In Half

AUSTIN—Texas' annual death toll from fire could be cut in half if home could be made the safe haven it's supposed to be.

At least 300 of the 464 Texans who died in Texas fires in 1953 were trapped inside their homes by the blaze, Norris W. Parker manager of the Texas Insurance Advisory Association said today. More than 125 of the victims were children because proper exits were not available, or else had been left alone and were unable to escape without adult aid.

Clothing becoming ignited from too close contact with open fires was listed as the second major cause of fire deaths by the insurance trade association. Many of these deaths also involved small children whose clothing was ignited by open gas heaters and other heating devices.

Improper use of gasoline was third on the list, and the improper use of kerosene was fourth. Improper installation and maintenance of gas heaters, stoves and appliances was the fifth major cause of fire deaths.

Mr. Parker urged a careful inspection of homes by Texas householders as a part of National Fire Prevention Week, October 3-9. To help reduce Texas' fire death toll, he said that at least two means of exit should be available to every bedroom, the house should be ventilated properly both day and night and children and old people never left in the home alone.

He also urged that all open heaters be protected by screen guards, that gasoline never be used for any purpose except as a fuel and that kerosene be stored outside the house in approved containers. Only approved heating devices should be used, and those should be properly installed and vented. As a further precaution, he urged an annual inspection of gas lines and appliances by an expert.

Family-Size Farms Still Plentiful, Data Shows

COLLEGE STATION—Is the size farm on its way out? The mechanized production of food has caused many people to give serious consideration to this question. But, says John McHaney, agricultural economist, the 1930 figures show the family-size farm still very much in evidence after more than three decades of farm mechanization.

The 1930 Census divided the 1.4 million farms into two classes, the commercial and the noncommercial. This division consists mainly of the number of residential units and the amount for only 2.5 per cent of the value of farm products sold.

Commercial farms were divided into two classes, the large and the small, according to the amount of sales. Farms with sales of $1,000 or more are large-scale; those with sales of from $1,200 to $10,000 are family-scale and the remainder are those reporting sales between $250 and $1,200. The family-size farm work or income was used to class the operation as a family farm.

Eighty per cent of all commercial farms fell into the family-size class, says McHaney, and about 70 per cent of the total farm products are produced on family-size farms. This family-size farm is still the backbone of the great agricultural industry.

King And I' Featured Special Prevue

DALLAS—A special prevue performance of "The King and I" will be featured at the State Fair Auditorium, Oct. 8, the night before the opening of the State Fair of Texas. The performance is for out-of-town visitors and is a special feature of the fair. In addition to the performance, there will be Saturday and Sunday matinee and evening shows.

"The King and I," Rodgers and Hammerstein's first musical since "Oklahoma!" is the most elaborate to have left Broadway in years. In addition to its Broadway success, Patricia Brynner and Patricia's company totals 100, including 65 actors, dancers and singers and technicians. Because of the many children in the cast, it is also necessary to carry tutors.

"The King and I" completed 1246 performances on Broadway before beginning its transcontinental tour which has taken it to the West Coast and will end with an indefinite run in Chicago.

Tickets for all 34 performances at the State Fair Auditorium are on sale by mail or over-the-counter at 1315 Elm St., the Auditorium box-office in Dallas.

Nationalization Of Tech Fraternities Now Complete

LUBBOCK, Tex.—The nationalization of Texas Tech fraternities and sororities will be completed this fall when Kemas Club, men's social organization founded in 1932, is installed as the 82nd chapter of Phi Gamma Delta.

The petitioning Kemas group was approved early in September at the biennial convention of Phi Gamma Delta, in session at the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles.

It received a unanimous vote from the delegates, the first chapter to be so honored.

The Tech chapter will be the third in Texas for the 106-year-old fraternity. The others are at the University of Texas and Southern Methodist University. Installation has been set tentatively for the first week in December.

On the roster of Kemas from Memphis is Roddy Stargel, an active.

It all adds up to this—Two cars cannot occupy the same space at the same time.

Small Towns Get Industries

It is interesting to note that almost half of the 485 industries located in Iowa during the last eight years have been established in towns with populations of less than 5,000 people.

The Iowa Development Commission reports that 356 new plants were located in towns of less than 5,000, 134 were located in much smaller number of towns between 5,000 and 10,000, and 355 were located in towns with more than 10,000 people.

It is true that some of these new small-town industries were located in suburban towns adjoining larger towns or cities. But the fact must be regarded as important that scores upon scores of manufacturers prefer small towns as locations.

These figures on business location point out again that small towns have much to gain by maintaining an active Chamber of Commerce as well as a generally progressive attitude that is receptive to new ideas and to new businesses. Small towns need to avoid the deadly state of mind which causes them to be generally suspicious of the new and different or to want to remain always the same. Towns are no different from businesses or people. They cannot stand still. They either progress or go backwards.

The differences in attitude eventually are translated into differences in populations and differences in prosperity.—Bremer County Independent & Waverly (Ia.) Republican.

Squibs About Life

It's bad enough to be a quitter. But it's worse to finish something you never should have started.

A lot of fellers who complain about the boss being to dumb would be out of a job of the boss were any smarter.

The wife doesn't ask for much in this old world. In fact doesn't ask for anything. She just takes it without asking.

We never permit our son to do as he pleases. He just does it without our permission.

Things are moving so fast nowadays that a man has to run like the very dickens just to stand still.

Some people gripe about things they want to do and can't, instead of doing things they could do but don't.

DISTRACTING COMPETITION

Press Paragraphs—
QUOTING OUR NEIGHBORS

ENEMIES OF DEMOCRACY
One of our most treasured possessions is the American way of life which we usually call "democracy." It is many things. Perhaps the best definition is "freedom with responsibility."

What are some of these forces which would destroy democracy as we know it in America? One such force is communism. It is treacherous and dangerous. Ideas vary as to the best way of combatting it. Some would outlaw it. Some would invoke the death penalty for communists. Others would prefer to keep it out in the open where it could better be watched by law enforcement agencies. One cannot be dogmatic in saying which way is best. Perhaps all suggestions are part good and part bad. Personally, we believe the strongest defense against communism is a healthy economy where want and hunger and inequality are at a minimum, social justice is which everybody is willing for the other to live and let live, an economy where there is a minimum of poverty.

But there are other enemies of democracy just as real, just as vicious, just as deadly as communism.

It is intolerance—that force which demands uniformity of agreement as a price of congeniality. There were people during the recent governor's race who have had their tails over the dashboard with neighbors for the past three months, all because certain neighbors were for the "other" candidate. It's right that we should have strong convictions concerning those we support. It's right that we think it is important that they be elected. And it's right that we should back up our convictions with our testimony, our money, and our influence. But when people refuse to speak to a neighbor or act with coolness just because they don't agree with his political ideas, then they are guilty of intolerance of the worst kind and are contributing to that force which today would destroy one of the components of democracy. —Tulsa Herald

News From The Churches

Church Of Christ Lists Program For Sunday, Oct. 3rd

Lord's Day services begin at 9:45 a. m. with a period of Bible Study, with classes provided for all age groups. At 10:45 a. m. the song service will begin for the regular hour of morning worship.

The sermon for the morning service will be "The Danger of Following Afar Off" (Luke 22:54; Matt. 26:58). The necessity of following Christ is readily seen in Matt. 16:24, yet there are those who are not willing to do so, (Luke 9:57-62). A study of Peter's confession at the Last Supper, and Christ's prediction of his downfall will be made.

"Peter had to make a choice of one of two forces, as must we, but which did he follow, and which shall we? The result of his decision is applicable to many today, yet at the end we find Peter penitent, (Matt. 26:75)." Jere Via minister said this week.

The evening services begin at 7:00 p. m. The sermon for this service will be "The Church at Smyrna" (Rev. 2:8-11). An outline study of the seven churches in Asia will reveal many unusual characteristics, one of which is that only two of the seven churches escaped rebuke; the church in Smyrna is one of them. A brief historical background of this city, will be considered. The discussion of this church will include the address; description of the speaker; commendation; admonition and concluding promise, the minister stated.

Other services throughout the week include a ladies Bible class on Tuesday afternoon, at 3:30 p. m., with the study beginning with Acts 12:1. Wednesday evening Bible study with classes for all ages begins at 7:00 p. m.

The public is cordially invited to attend each service.

Methodist Church Starts Attendance Drive For October

The Methodist Church in Memphis is asking every member of the church who is physically able to attend at least one service each Sunday during October.

"If there are those who do not have ways to come to the services, if they will call the Church office someone will provide ways for them," Rev. Jim Sharp, pastor, said this week.

The Methodist Laymen of Texas are sponsoring a Stewardship of Possessions Campaign during this Conference year. The local church officials are asking each member to tithe during October. They feel that if every member will attend at least one service each Sunday during this month, and every one tithe, that it will be a blessing to them. It will also show what can be done.

Rev. Jim Sharp, the pastor, says his subject for Sunday morning is, "Heaven," and for Sunday, "The Unconcerned or Luke-warm." He says he expecting a full house Sunday morning.

Next Sunday is World-wide Communion Sunday. The Methodist Church here in Memphis is observing the Communion during the Church School hour. Classes and departments will come into the sanctuary and take the Communion as a group. As they take the Holy Communion, they will leave an offering on the altar for the Fellowship of Suffering. This offering is divided as follows: 1/4 for overseas relief, 1/4 goes to the chaplain work, and 1/4 to camp work.

Dairymen Big Campaign

Dairymen released a hard-hitting sales program through Sam Rosenberg, State Manager of the Texas Dairy Association of Dallas. Rosenberg stated, "We have the soundest solution to the problems of a strong and continuous market program. The whole unit will strengthen the operation to do a better job of selling dairy products."

"We are also advertising on an increased scale through newspapers, radio and magazines. The organization will reach every Texas family at least once a week with its sales."

Through this larger program, we will reach every Texas housewife several times a year with an effective sales message. Our surveys give proof that this kind of program works," von Rosenberg stated.

"Through these sales promoting activities, the organization is rapidly gaining the support of dairy plants in additional advertising dollars to increase the sale of milk and dairy products," von Rosenberg concluded.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Burnett and children, Debbie and Dannie, of Amarillo were weekend visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Burnett. Also visiting in the Burnett home last week was Mrs. Troy Taylor of Lubbock. She also visited in the home of her parents-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Cleve Taylor. Mr. Taylor came down Sunday and they returned home Sunday evening.

earned by Texas agriculture is a dairy dollar.

"Dairy farmers are determined to do this job," the dairy spokesman added. "This fact is evidenced by the support of 85 per cent of Texas dairy farmers in the state-wide program which provides a uniform and voluntary basis through which all dairymen can participate. Dairy farmers pay 2c out of each 100 pounds of milk into the program. Cream producers also participate by paying 1/2c per pound of butterfat. The cooperation of dairy plants is secured in providing the service of collecting the Set-Aside payments," he added.

Tractors Need To Be Identified If Used On Roads

COLLEGE STATION—Death is a silent rider on the farm tractor. Whether the "Grim Reaper" strikes depends upon many things but most are man-controlled. Failure to properly identify the farm tractor when used on the highway is a chief cause of automobile-tractor wrecks.

A single white light was the only rear end identification on this farm tractor. The driver, traveling in pre-dawn darkness on a busy Texas highway, was overtaken by a fast-moving automobile. The white light on the wrong side of the road confused the auto driver. He swerved when he finally saw the tractor but too late. The tractor driver lay dead. The other critically injured. A new automobile and a farm tractor were scattered along the roadside. A terrible price to pay for improper lighting.

According to W. L. Ulich, extension agricultural engineer, this is no isolated example of what happens many times every year. Rear-end collisions account for 36 per cent of the tractor accidents and 14 tractor-driver fatalities occur for each auto fatality from highway tractor-auto accidents.

Here is Ulich's answer to the problem. Be sure you can see ahead, to the side and rear of the vehicle you are operating. Be sure that others can see your tractor. Use flags during the day and proper lighting at night to identify it. Be sure the steering mechanism is in good shape. More than two inches of play in the steering wheel is too much. Be sure you can stop. Keep brakes equalized and in adjustment for quick stops. Be familiar with the tractor you are operating and don't carry passengers.

And finally, says Ulich, remember, the life you save may be your own. The 14 to 1 odds strongly emphasize this fact and the importance of preventing tractor-auto collisions on the highway.

Safety Association Head Gives Rules Of Safe Driving

"We protect wild life. What about child life?"

Col. E. B. Tilley of Houston, President of the Texas Safety Association, and Services Advisor for the Gulf Oil Corporation asked this question today as he spoke in behalf of the child traffic safety program being sponsored in Texas this month by the Texas Safety Association, the Texas Department of Public Safety and the National Safety Council.

"The rules of good sportsmanship protect our wild birds and animals," he said, "but too often the rules of safety are neglected when it comes to protecting our children on the streets and highways of the nation."

Col. Tilley pointed out that 4,400 children under 15 years of age were killed in traffic last year, and another 225,000 were injured.

"The Texas Safety Association is solidly behind this September traffic safety program," he said. "We want to do everything we can to help educate people to their responsibilities for the safety of youngsters."

Col. Tilley listed eight rules for adults — parents and motorists — to follow to safeguard children in traffic.

Parents should:

1. Set children a good example by crossing streets only at intersections, waiting for the signal, looking both ways and for turning traffic before crossing.

2. Find out what traffic safety education your children are receiving at school and coordinate your own instruction with it.
3. Impress upon children the danger of playing in the street or near moving traffic. See that they play only in approved play areas.
4. See that children are skilled in using outdoor toys such as roller skates, bicycles, scooters, tricycles and wagons, and that the youngsters practice safety rules when using the toys.

Motorists should:

1. Keep a constant look-out for children. Even when children are clearly in view, their actions sometimes are unpredictable.
2. Near school areas be constantly alert for signs, signals, traffic police, school patrols and for children themselves.
3. Decrease speed and increase vigilance when driving near playgrounds and residential areas and other places where children are likely to be found.
4. Don't compete with bike riders. Be ready always to give them the right-of-way.

Football Game To Highlight Annual WTSC Homecoming

CANYON—West Texas State College's big Homecoming celebration, the day thousands of ex-students return to renew acquaintances, has been set for Oct. 16, and plans are underway on the campus for a "Bigger and Better" Homecoming than ever before.

Most of the traditional events of the day will again be held, with a few changes made in the overall program. Highlights of Homecoming will be the football game between the Buffaloes and New Mexico A & M at 8 p. m., and the reunion of the Class of '29 at a luncheon.

Registration of axes will be held Saturday morning in the Administration Building, and a general assembly of students and axes is slated at 10:45 a. m. in the auditorium. A prominent ex-student will speak, and the assembly will be climaxed with the crowning of WT's Homecoming Queen.

Class and club luncheons, get-togethers, smokers and parties are scheduled throughout the day, and the Class of '29 will have its luncheon in the Blue Room of the college cafeteria. Col. T. H. McDonald of Amarillo is president of the class.

Emergency Loans

come from livestock can be used in repaying the loan.

Emergency loans are made to farmers and ranchers who because of losses suffered from the drought or local economic conditions need credit to continue their operations.

These loans may be used for the purchase of feed, seed, fertilizer, repair, replacement of equipment, and for other essential farm and home operating expenses.

Emergency loans may not be made to pay existing debts. Ordinarily emergency loans to meet current operating and living expenses are expected to be repaid out of the year's income.

Repayments on advances for other purposes are scheduled in accordance with the borrower's ability to repay.

It is not the policy of the Farmers Home Administration to foreclose on borrowers because of their inability to make payments when the payments are due, except where there appears to be absolutely no chance of the borrower's future success or where a borrower has violated the terms of his loan agreement.

There is no limit set by law on the amount that a farmer or rancher can borrow under the special livestock and emergency loan programs. The amount that can be borrowed under these programs is determined by the farmer's needs and his ability to repay.

For each loan made, the Government obtains the best security available including a first lien on all crops to be produced with the loan and on all livestock and farm machinery purchased with the loan.

While special livestock and emergency loans cannot be used to repay finance existing debts the loans can include funds to pay interest on existing chattel and real estate debts and to pay creditors for the annual depreciation on chattels serving as security for their loans. In addition, local businessmen who are creditors benefit from loan funds used to purchase local supplies and services.

The county committees of the Farmers Home Administration pass on the eligibility of all applicants. All applications for Farmers Home Administration loans are made at the agency's local county office.

Indications pointed to good attendance by local fans at the game in Crowell.

Conference play will be opened by the Memphis Cyclone on Friday, Oct. 8, when they meet the strong Lefors Pirates at Lefors.

1918, 1919, 1924, 1925, 1928 and 1929. From 1929 to 1931 she attended both the regular and summer terms at WTSC, receiving her Bachelor of Arts Degree in May of 1931. Since that time she has done graduate work at the University of Texas, University of Colorado and Texas Tech.

Among the honors she has received are: junior and senior membership of Alpha Chi, honorary society of the South for upper classmen, at West Texas State in 1930-31; recipient of the Elizabeth P. Garvin prize of $500.00 for writing winning essay on "Helium and Its Industrial Uses," at graduation from West Texas State. This contest was sponsored by the American Chemical Society. She became a member of Phi Chapter, Amarillo, of Delta Kappa Gamma in 1935. Delta Kappa Gamma is the international honorary society for women teachers.

Miss Wrenn's first teaching experience was obtained in the fall of 1914-15, when she taught a private school for ranch children, located at the Wilson Ranch, near Quail. She has taught in these Hall County schools: Salisbury, Parnell, Pleasant Valley, Estelline, Lakeview and Memphis from 1923 until 1929.

After graduating from College, Miss Wrenn taught science in Hereford until 1940, then was with the Lubbock schools as science teacher until 1949. This same year she returned to Memphis to make her home with her mother, Mrs. J. B. Wrenn, after the death of her father, and has been head of the science department since that time.

During the summer of 1944 she worked as clerk for the War Department in Washington, D. C.

"I have taught everything at one time or another—from the first grade through the seventh," Miss Wrenn says. "Have had special work in teaching reading and writing in elementary grades. In high school, have taught history, English, Latin, mathematics—even agriculture. One year I coached the seventh and eighth grade basketball boys at Estelline."

Naturally, she lists her choice of teaching to be some phase of science, giving chemistry as her favorite.

Among her extra curricula activities might be mentioned the fact that she is sponsor of the Morning Watch, where the Bible is read by different students each day. She is co-sponsor of the Student Advisory Group, which plans the assembly programs; and is co-sponsor of this year's senior class.

Miss Wrenn's hobbies are gardening, sewing, needlepoint work or other hand work such as crocheting, tatting and knitting. She is also fond of music.

She lists among her collections: miniature elephants, demitasse spoons, and poems.

"But the most lasting and satisfying of my collections," she adds, "is the friendships of the many hundreds of former students."

they'll like: The giant Automobile Building with experimental cars of the future occupying the spotlight; latest model farm implements of every description; the Pan-American Livestock Exposition of beef and dairy cattle, sheep, swine, goats and horses; bigtime college football in the Cotton Bowl.

Kids of course will have themselves a big time: There's a free show just for them, "Aladdin and His Wonderful Lamp"; the gay million-dollar Midway with its dozens of thrill rides and side shows including the sensational new contraption "Flying Cars"; the free aerial acts high above the Midway stage; snow cones, cotton candy, hamburgers, soda pop, hot dogs, candied apples.

And the whole family will find a great deal of fun at the nation's largest annual exposition. "The King and I" in the Auditorium is a tuncful show that's tops; "Ice Cycles of 1955" is one of the most popular fair perennials; the Joe Whitwood Thrill Show will provide excitement for all ages.

The family will enjoy the gorgeous "Dancing Waters," a restful and unusual show. The House Beautiful Pace Setter Home for 1955 is a house designed for "Texas living" that most anybody would like to move right into. The Aquarium, Museum of Fine Arts, Health Museum, Hall of State and Museum of Natural History will have educational and cultural offerings to fairgoers. "Research for Texas Agriculture" shows how food for the family is grown in Texas.

No matter what Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Fairgoer and all the kids go to the fair to see, it'll be there—top-quality entertainment, lavish and unusual exhibits, championship livestock and poultry, exciting sports, and just plain fun of all kinds.

It just happens once a year, the State Fair of Texas in Dallas, Oct. 9 through 24.
