Irrigation prospects in Hall County have brightened considerably with recent announcements that loans are now available for financing such operations, County Agent W. B. Hooser said Tuesday.

Cyclone Ties Champion McLean Tigers, 13-13

The Memphis Cyclone football team ended their 1954 season here Friday night by racking up a 13-13 contest against the McLean Tigers. The game went to the Tigers on downs due to a rule adopted early this season by district officials.

Not only did Coach Childress' team tie McLean on points, but they tied their opponents with penetrations of four each. Game officials credited Memphis with 10 first downs to 12 for their opponents.

The first touchdown of the tussle came early in the first quarter when a hard-charging Cyclone line hit Quarterback Ricky Mantooth, causing him to fumble his attempt to pass. Memphis recovered the fumble on the McLean 5 yard line. Quarterback Jimmy Davis made the touchdown from the 1-yard line. Jimmy Jenkins' try for extra point failed.

Sprinkle Clothes With Garden Hose

COLLEGE STATION.—A garden hose can wash away the chore of hand sprinkling starched clothes on busy laundry days.

Without ever gathering the starched clothes from the line, the homemaker sets the nozzle of the hose on a very fine spray and gently plays the water on the starched clothes.

Minnie Bell, home management specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, advises the housewife to sprinkle clothes on one side only when she uses the garden-hose technique. All of the garment will absorb moisture while it is folded awaiting ironing.

As the sprinkled clothes are removed from the line, they should be folded and placed in a plastic bag—ready for ironing.

Major Distributors Pledge Assistance In Halting Sale Of Questionable Comics

AUSTIN—Representatives of the major distribution outlets for comic magazines in Texas recently pledged their cooperation in a program to halt the sale of comic booklets featuring crime, horror or sex.

sale of all objectionable comic books.

C. J. M. Roesch, executive secretary of the Texas Pharmaceutical Association, was named as temporary chairman of the committee to evaluate comic books in Texas.

Attending the meeting were W. C. Edwards of Beaumont, president of the Independent Magazine Wholesalers of the South, W. H. Cochran, Austin magazine distributor, Jerry Johnson of Waco, secretary-manager of the Texas Retail Grocers Association, Jack Lewallen of Austin, executive director of the Texas Association of Tobacco Distributors, Ted Deming, editor of the Texas Druggist, and Roesch.

The Texas Attorney General had previously met with Judge Charles F. Murphy, new Comics Code Administrator in Murphy's New York Office. Shepperd said that he had called today's meeting "to determine if a voluntary control program in Texas might substitute for State Legislation, at least until the Legislature has a chance to consider the problem."

The Attorney General pointed out that "bad comics are only a part of the filthy literature problem, and the filthy literature problem is only part of the juvenile delinquency picture in Texas, but this Texas Comics Evaluation Committee should make quick progress in eliminating a menace to our children."

GETS BLIND AWARD . . . Judge Sam M. Cathey of Asheville, N. C., sightless champion of the blind for 50 years, receives President's trophy as 1954 outstanding handicapped man.

Committee members will represent wholesalers or retailers who sell almost all of the 1 1/2 million comics sold in this state each month," he said, "and their support of the voluntary control program in Texas should contribute to its immediate success."

Early Discharges Set For Men Due Holiday Releases

Army personnel whose release from active military service would normally take place during the Christmas-New Year period will, with some exceptions, be separated between December 13 and 17 in order that they may spend the holidays at home, the Department of the Army has advised Fourth Army headquarters.

Officers and enlisted men who return from overseas and are scheduled for separation during the holiday season period will be separated soon after arrival as possible. To preclude overseas returnees from reporting for reassignment during the Christmas holiday period, leave for this period has been authorized.

The release policy applies to personnel scheduled for separation during the December 17 period who are in the continental United States or its possessions to meet provisions of the release policy is not authorized.

Exceptions to the policy are officers being released for duty for purpose of reassignment and retirement, who will be processed in accordance with instructions issued in case; non-regular Medical Corps officers who have completed 21 months' active duty prior to release; enlisted personnel of Reserve Component, including those who may be released upon expiration of their term of enlistment; and enlisted personnel of Universal Military Training Service Act, as amended, eligible for release prior to completing two years' active service, but two must complete two months' active duty.

'Prescription' Means 'Protection'

More often than you might suppose, we hear the question: "Why do I need a prescription to buy the medicine the doctor has ordered to make me well? It just seems to make the cost go up."

It's easy to see why some people ask this, and the answer is just as simple. Your doctor's prescription is written for your protection. It is his explicit order to us, your pharmacists. We are trained by years of college and practical experience to follow his scientific instructions to the letter.

We are also the final check-point before the medicine reaches you. We double-check all prescriptions. It's our duty to see that there are no mistakes and to call the doctor if there is any question about his orders.

So, "prescription" really means "protection" . . . your protection. We're happy to provide it.

Combating A Loss

Chemical weed control has become a common farm practice in the last decade. And no wonder!
Only soil erosion costs farmers more than losses from weeds.

Scientists have developed numerous herbicides which now supplement improved cultural practices. These chemicals can be used at low pressure and low gallon-age as pre-planting, pre-emergence, post-emergence and soil sterilization treatments.

But do not look for a single super-herbicide that will kill all weeds and harm no crops. That is unlikely, because all crop plants and weeds are closely related. Today's trend is toward specialization. A specific chemical for a specific purpose.

There are hundreds of compounds and they all effect plants in different ways. The result depends on how well the chemical is absorbed and translocated in the plant; the plant's genetic background and germination, and how long the chemical persists in plant and soil.

A compound may kill one plant but not affect another. The same compound may be harmless to the leaves but deadly when used as a pre-emergence treatment. So it is important to have a screening technique that measures a chemical's over-all activity. Such techniques are being developed by plant scientists in the course of weed research.

This broad systematic herbicide evaluation program links manufacturers with state experimental stations, searching for new compounds with local uses. Some 400 new chemicals have been evaluated during the past few years. Several that seem promising are under more intensive study.

For the individual farmer, however, effective weed control still depends upon his own ability to choose a herbicide to combat particular weeds among particular crop plants. Information and advice are available from the Plant and Quarantine Division; Texas Department of Agriculture; Austin 14, Texas.

At this time of the year, our minds are centered upon Thanksgiving, but I fear that we are not thankful often enough for all the blessings that are ours, heeding
the admonition of the song,

"Count your blessings, name them one by one." On Sunday morning, a lesson on "The Lord's Supper," Matt. 26:26-28, will help bring to our memories many blessings we often forget. Included in this lesson will be: its institution its significance, the time of its observance, its abuses, and its purposes.

Sunday evening "Refuge in Christ" will be the subject. The purpose of the cities of refuge to Israel, their location and importance will be studied. Christ is a refuge for the Christian in a similar manner as the cities were for Israel. The cities themselves signify some blessings we may need.

Miss Tommye Jane Travis Crowned Queen Of Estelline High School Friday

Miss Tommye Jane Travis was crowned Estelline High School queen at the conclusion of the annual Harvest Festival, sponsored each year by the Estelline Parent-Teachers Association. The festival was held on Friday evening, November 19, in the high school auditorium, with a capacity crowd in attendance.

The following program was presented prior to the coronation: piano solos, Burl Bumpus and Larry Braidfoot; songs, "Is I Gotta Go to School Ma," and "Let's Go to Church Next Sunday Morning" by elementary children, accompanied by Mrs. Raleigh Adams; and songs, "Melancholy Baby" and "Meet Me Tonight in Dreamland" by the high school choir, accompanied by Mrs. Walter Whaley. Eddie Braidfoot was the announcer.

Preceding the queen were the tiny flower girls, Jo Carroll Collins and Jane Helm, and crown bearers, Danny and David Longbine. Train bearers were Wilma Jean and Jay Nelson.

Queen Tommye Jane of Estelline High School is the daughter of Mrs. Beulah Travis and the late D. E. Travis. She was attired in a white net formal with hooped skirt. She wore the holy green school queen's robe. She was crowned by Eddie Braidfoot and presented with an arm bouquet of white mums tied with green satin ribbon. Her crown was made of green and silver sequins on white base. She was accompanied by Jimmie Don Adams, "Mr. E of 1955." Attendants were: Wynnell Bell and Monty Richerson of the senior class; Donnalene Williams and Willie Roy McClendon of the junior class; Jeanne Self and Elvie Williams of the sophomore class; and Julia Richburg and Sandy Rothwell of the freshman class.

Tiny Sara Holland, Princess of Estelline Elementary School, wore a scarlet formal gown. She was accompanied by Melvin Long, "Mr. E Junior."

Attendants to the princess were Linda Weatherly and Jerry Johnson, Grade 2; Sandra Hood and Don Sandifer of Grade 3; Cynthia Howard and Doyle Hulen of Grade 4; Dee Dee Arrington and Maurice Hood of Grade 5; Wanda Joutet and Snerman Eastland of Grade 6; Carolyn Hood and Mike Cope of Grade 7; and Janice Rogers and Michael Williams of Grade 8. Princess Sara was crowned with a crown similar to that of the queen and presented with an arm bouquet of white chrysanthemums tied with green ribbon. Stage decorations carried out school colors of green and white.

As each honoree was crowned, the choir sang an original arrangement based on "Who Is Sylvia?" Each one made his response. "Me E" and "Mr. E Junior" were given green chenille letter "E's" Duane Kennedy read "Let Us Give Thanks" and the program was ended by the singing of the Estelline School Song.

Financial returns are incomplete but a good crowd attended the carnival. Booths were arranged in the gymnasium. The P. T. A. served a chili supper in the cafeteria.

Health Program Is Featured At Estelline Club

The 1932 Culture Club of Estelline met in the home of Mrs. Ben T. Jackson for a health program November 16.

The theme of the program was based on this quotation: "Give me the serenity to accept what cannot be changed; give me the courage to change what can be changed; give me the wisdom to know one from the other."

For roll call each member gave an "old fashioned remedy." Mrs. L. E. Phillips introduced the program as follows: "Medical Progress in Heart Research," Mrs. Joe Eddins; "Medical Progress in Diabetes," Mrs. Bob Davidson; "How to Stop Worrying," Mrs. Joe Mothershed.

During the business session, conducted by Mrs. J. B. Rapp, president, plans were made for the Christmas dinner and Miss Magdalena Clements was elected to membership.

It was said that last year's team won five conference games and one. The team was run by the McLean Tigers in the play.

Preparation For Cold Weather Is Advised Now

COLLEGE STATION—Recent "cold snaps" act as warnings of more severe weather to come. It's just good management to act now and do the maintenance and repair jobs around the farm and home that will make living safe and more comfortable this winter, says W. S. Allen, extension agricultural engineer.

Check the floor furnaces—the burner, controls and plumbing—before lighting to make sure there is no escaping gas. Check the same points on gas heaters and vent them if possible, says Allen. Inspect fireplaces and chimneys for loose mortar or cracks and if repairs are needed, make them before the first fire is started.

Insulation will make the house warmer this winter, cooler next summer and will cut the winter heating bill, says the engineer.

Gutters and downspouts should be cleared of leaves and trash which may clog the passageways. Damage to the building can result from overflow or seepage.

If the roof of the home or farm buildings needs repair, Allen suggests doing it now. He points out that nails in metal roofing loosen in hot weather and may even drop out. A coat of asphalt roofing cement usually will stop leaks resulting from cracks and small holes.

Drainage hasn't been much of a problem recently, but the specialist says be sure water is directed away from buildings, not under them.

Plows and other implements that will be idle until spring are due a good cleaning a coat of rust preventative, says Allen. Drain the radiators, remove the batteries and place covers over exhaust pipes of tractors and other motors that must be left out in the weather.

Periodic checks and proper maintenance of farm buildings and equipment will hold down repair costs and will add years to their useful life, says the engineer.

Crop Loans And Purchase Agreements For 1955 Discussed By A. S. C. Head

COLLEGE STATION — Will crop loans and purchase agreements still be available for 1955 production, even under the new adjustable price support plan? The answer is "Yes" says Claude K. McCann, chairman of the state ASC committee, who said this and other questions about price supports under new farm legislation are being asked by farmers.

One common question, says McCann is: "Do all basic crop price supports drop to 82 and one-half per cent of parity for 1955?" In answer to that, he said U. S. Department of Agriculture spokesmen have emphasized that "There is no basis in fact to the charge that price supports would 'drop out from under' basic agricultural commodities" in 1955.

"Department spokesmen have said that 'necessary moderate adjustments will be made gradually, and in line with realities of the supply situation,' he explains. Under existing law, supports on

Range Conditions Favor Vitamin A Lack In Livestock

COLLEGE STATION—Present range and pasture conditions favor the development of vitamin A deficiency in farm animals.

Caused by a lack of green feed, the deficiency is characterized by night blindness and in later stages by loss of appetite and energy, says U. D. Thompson, extension animal husbandman.

When green grazing disappears, so does vitamin A, he explains. To maintain proper levels of the vitamin, Thompson recommends that producers supplement their livestock with two to five pounds of green leafy alfalfa hay each day. Then, to round out the protein and mineral requirements of livestock he suggests one and one-half to two pounds of 41 per cent protein cake daily and steamed bone meal and granulated salt free choice.

Many cows are not getting these essential elements and can not take care of their own needs, not to mention next year's calf crop.

Here the need for proper vitamin A reappears. Calves born to cows lacking the vitamin usually are in a poor, stunted condition and unless placed on healthy cows, may die shortly after birth.

Where grazing is scarce, as in most Texas areas, sorghum, prairie hay or other roughage should be fed at least once daily.

The extra feeds may seem expensive, but the result will more than offset the cost in the final pay-off, Thompson points out.

Well-Housed Hens Continue Laying Even In Winter

COLLEGE STATION—Laying hens will roll out the eggs even in coldest weather if their houses are geared for winter production.

They won't seem to know the weather has changed if ventilation, lighting, litter and watering and feeding devices are set properly, says C. A. Hensarling, extension poultry husbandman.

Laying hens need plenty of fresh air but chilling drafts can spell trouble. Never close the house entirely, Hensarling says. Open the windows from the top and leave eight or 10 inches of ventilation even when the temperature drops below 32.

Air drafts are caused by cross-ventilation. Check to see that back and end windows which were opened during hot weather—are closed tightly.

Start the birds now on three to four inches of litter and add more as needed. With "built-up" litter, the house stays dry in wet weather and saves time and labor.

Check for leaking water fountains and make sure the birds aren't wasting too much feed. Less waste results if the feeders are only about one-half full, says the specialist.

When a bird goes without water she stops laying. Hensarling suggests some type of heating unit for watering fountains in areas of much below freezing weather. Soil heating cables, electric lights and commercial heating devices are in common use to keep drinking water from freezing.

A hen needs approximately 14 hours of light to keep her stimulated for high production, he adds. As the days become shorter production will drop unless artificial light is provided. One tested and proved method, Hensarling says, is to use 60 watt bulbs every 12 feet or 40 watt bulbs every 10 feet mounted seven or eight feet from the floor. Shallow dome reflectors will help intensify the light if brushed off occasionally to remove the dust.

Finally, Hensarling says, it's probably time to cull again. A good culling every two or three months will keep the loafers out and profits up.

Impatient Big Game Hunters Pay Greater Part Of Fines And Costs

AUSTIN—Impatient big game hunters contributed most in fines and court costs in the latest arrest report issued by E. M. Spratt, director of law enforcement.

current season got underway. Night hunting trapped several.

The director of law enforcement said the totals of fines and court costs for 468 cases were $12,476.80 and $888 respectively, for a combined sum of $13,364.80.

The largest number of cases for a single charge was listed to hunting from an automobile, with 67 arrests. These involved mainly prosecutions during the recent mourning dove season, although there were some cases in connection with night deer hunting.

Fines of $100 plus costs aggregated thirteen for hunting deer out of season. Similar assessments were made in four cases for shooting wild turkey before the legal season opened.

The minimum for big game raids involved fines of $10 on each of two counts against a Wimberly man for shooting deer out of season and for possessing deer illegally.

Violations of fishing laws also brought heavy fines. A Gulf coast man paid $150 in fines on each of two counts for using gill nets. A Mathis man was fined $100 and costs for netting fish in closed waters. Illegal fishing tackle resulted in more than forty Texas fishermen being fined.

Maximum fines of $100 each plus costs were levied against a Wells man for "telephoning fish" and against a Fort Worth man for poisoning fish.

One of the more common violations involved the use of unplugged guns in hunting mourning doves. Twenty-nine such cases were filed.

Eight cases were filed again-persons hunting bobwhite quail out of season.

The most severe penalty on this count was $100 plus costs levied against a Holliday man. A Plantersville man paid a total of $165 and costs on charges of taking both quail and doves out of season. A Houston man paid only a total of $40 plus costs on similar charges.

The director of law enforcement pointed out that circumstances vary from case to case and also that some courts are more severe than others.

annually under the auspices of the Hall County Soil Conservation District. Hooser told the Lakeview group how all national 4-H award program contests are judged, with principal emphasis on projects and activities, leadership, and personal development. Other matters discussed by the county agent included the 4-H Tractor Maintenance Awards program. He stressed the importance of keeping records so that members know what progress they are making. Hooser told the group that he and other adult leaders are more interested in preparing 4-H members to be good citizens than they are in the projects themselves. However, he said that setting definite 4-H goals and achieving them could be of great benefit. He pointed out that great men have started their climb to eminence by early making a practice of determining what they wished to accomplish. Hooser said Tuesday that all 4-H members in the county are currently making safety surveys around their homes for the purpose of discovering and removing as many hazards as possible. He declared there are more accidents on farms than in any other segment of society.

Kitchen Carnival Is All Set To Go Here Saturday

Ladies of this area are due for both a good time and an informative one at the Kitchen Carnival which is to be held at 3 p. m. Saturday afternoon at the Travis Elementary Cafeteria. Sponsoring the event is the 1913 Study Club. There will be door prizes, new recipes, kitchen kapers, Christmas tricks—and a turkey, too. The festive bird will be awarded as part of the afternoon's activities. Likewise, a cake. And one feature of the demonstrations will be tricks and treats in the culinary arts by Mrs. Ben Wilson, Jr. Ladies shouldn't come empty-handed but should be equipped with pencil and pad so they may copy recipes and bits of cooking magic with which to give new zip to their cookery. And, ladies would be wise to bring one of their favorite recipes to be filed with others and drawn as a finale of the carnival. As if there were not enough, a film, "New Ideas in Cooking" will be shown, to give those present still another opportunity to add to their store of culinary knowledge. Admission to the Kitchen Carnival will be 50 cents per person. So, come and enjoy yourselves, ladies. And bring your friends, too, sponsors stated.

Continued from Page One) has 10 or more wells on his land. Three wells have been drilled in a small area, southwest of Lakeview, and hundreds of persons have visited the sites to watch developments, since this opens a new section. One of the wells is on the farm of Mrs. T. M. Isham of Memphis. Complete information on the possibilities of the well will not be known until a report on tests in Austin are received, Mrs. Isham said Tuesday. Water was flowing at a 45-foot depth, she said. Water at such shallow depth offers interesting possibilities for the area. Another well is located on a farm belonging to J. S. McMurry of Memphis. Mr. McMurry said the well still was being tested Tuesday. The third well is on land operated by Glen Verden of Lakeview. All three wells were drilled by E. M. Greenshaw, who also carried on similar operations in Brice section. Reports this week were Greenshaw already had signed well drilling contracts to him busy for the next two or more.

Cyclone Ties

Continued From Page One) Memphis had the ball on the McLean 13-yard line. A penalty nullified Jimmy Davis' 9-yard plunge through right guard, and cost him team 5 more yards. "Butch" Adcock proceeded to circle right end a couple of times for a gain of 15 yards, setting up the tally, Jimmy Davis carried over for the touchdown. Halfback Dean Sustairste plunged over for the extra point. They held the high-scoring Tigers for the balance of the quarter. Prior to the game, the McLean team had been declared district winners. Childrens used several plays, who have seen very little action during the season. Turning in fine performances for the Cyclone Friday night were Robert Hodges, Don Davis, "Butch" Adcock, and Dickey Craig.

Peaceful Coexistence—Will It Work?

There are two schools of thought in Washington today concerning our relations with the communists, according to the latest issue of Newsweek. One school, which includes among its number Admiral Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, advocates a "resist-everywhere" policy. The other school, one of whose leaders is Gen. Matthew Ridgway, Army chief of staff, urges that we tread softly.

The Newsweek article states that President Eisenhower currently is supporting Ridgway, although Radford was once regarded as his special spokesman in the Pentagon. This has occurred because the President has become convinced that "there is no alternative to peace" in this atomic age and is doing all he can—even sometimes in defiance of his military advisors—to avoid violence between the East and the West.

Some already were privately calling such a policy one of appeasement and according to Newsweek, this will spread to public declarations when the President's position is more clearly understood. For it seems that he feels that peaceful coexistence with the communists is the only possible alternative to having the world pulverized by a rain of atomic bombs. Nevertheless, he also feels that this country must be ready for war and he means to keep our defenses strong and our alliances intact, while at the same time being careful that the United States doesn't drift into war just because it is in position to fight one.

The communists' future moves probably are anyone's guess and the President and those in his Administration are making no arbitrary predictions about the Kremlin's military intentions, Newsweek explains. But, says the magazine, evidence is mounting that communist leaders apparently wish to avoid provocative incidents, at least for now. One possible reason for this has been the failure of Russia's farms to provide for the increase in population. This has caused unrest among the Russian people and until this problem is solved, the Kremlin intends to steer clear of foreign involvement, if possible.

That this may be true was given some support by Russia's attitude following the recent shooting down of one of our B-29 bombers on the northern fringes of Japan. The U. S. Embassy in Moscow reported the Russians were being far more reasonable than they had been about previous similar incidents. Of course, only time will tell whether the communists actually have had a change of heart, or are just trying to keep us off balance.

Certainly, there was a difference of opinion about this in high Republican quarters. The White House thought the shooting down of the bomber only an expression of Russia's sensitivity concerning its frontiers but Senate majority leader William Knowland disagreed, declaring he had seen "no evidence of the leopard changing its spots."

Personally, we do not go along with the idea of being able to coexist peacefully with the communists, as much as we would like to, because so far it seems to have worked out almost completely to their advantage. On the other hand, neither do we relish the thought of war—certainly not a major one—since we wonder, what, if anything, will be left if one occurs. We hope, for the sake of peoples of the world, that some course can be found or something can happen to prevent such a catastrophe.

We do not pretend to have the answer but we do know that we must, as far as possible, be prepared to combat any threat to our national security, both from without and from within. May our leaders have the ability, the knowledge and the good fortune to decide how this can best be accomplished.

OUTLOOK BRIGHT
 Kiplinger, one of the busy business forecasters, says that another boom lies ahead for America. And he has some good argument despite the adage that bust must follow boom and vice versa. He says two big batteries are being charged for the next economic spurt the dynamic increase program being operated by government and industry. He relates that hundreds of years to settle the American continent. He cites that forecasters a few years ago thought it would take until 1960 to attain a goal of 60 million jobs and 155 million population. With 1960 still six years away there are 164 million people now and there are more than 62 million employed. And in research, he says, each new discovery opens up the possibility for more. We like to read it the way Mr. Kiplinger writes it. Also we are not convinced, despite the almost identical line such forecasters are taking to those of 1929 that the conditions are the same, nor that we are headed any time soon for another bust. Time will have to tell how and when.

MORE TAXES
 Gov. Allan Shivers met with the Texas Research League recently and he didn't leave those leaders feeling too well when he explained the increased demand there would be in Texas for taxes to carry out the many needs of a growing state.

There is a tremendous need for hospital expansion to take care of mental cases; there is the apparent demand for improved highways and there is the overwhelming requirements for education from the first grade through the university.

Texas has grown rapidly and it has been difficult to keep up with the demands. The other day a report showed that one University—Illinois—is asking for $91,000,000 at the next session of the legislature. It has not been too many years since Texas, a state with about the population of Illinois, was not spending that much money on all government affairs.

You had just as well to get prepared for plenty of spending by the next session of the legislature. That does not mean that there will be extravagance. But government is big business and you can't carry on efficiently with thinking about the past.

The problems of 1935 should be faced realistically. Either you are going to demand these services and be willing to pay for them, or you must be prepared to do without them. It costs money to succeed in state affairs just like it does for individuals.

WATER USE
 Had you ever stopped to think that water needs are now four times as great as they were in 1900? Half of that increase is accounted for by the fact that the population has doubled. The other half results from the fact that per capita consumption has doubled and has reached what the Chamber of Commerce of the United States terms the "fantastic figure of 1100 gallons per day"—yes, that means for each person.

Right here in Stanton and Martin County the use of water has increased many fold compared with a few years back. For instance, there's the irrigating of more than 16,000 acres of farm lands. The home appliances, such as washing machines, are big consumers. And people take more baths. The large number of new homes in Stanton, provided with lawns require many gallons of water per day.

What it all adds up to, the Chamber says, "is greater competition for water between agriculture and industry, town and country."

Basically, water shortage prevention is a two-fold process. The first requirement is better regulation. This means catching and holding more rain where it falls through improved conservation practices, and by both natural and artificial replacement of water in the underground reservoirs.

President Eisenhower has said: "The conservation and use which we make of the water resources of our nation may in large measure determine our future progress and the standards of living of our citizens."

expect it to get home while the driver sleeps. The watches on the bridge, in the engine rooms, in communications, and other essential stations throughout the ship are manned, but normal everyday work is suspended.

Even the shrill boatswain's pipe that can shatter the soundest sleep skips its usual six a. m. blast and is quiet until seven o'clock. After breakfast and an early morning sweep-down, the day belongs to each man, that is, when he's not on watch.

Loafing all day aboard ship is quite different from a quiet Sunday in Texas. There are no thick Sunday papers out of Dallas or Fort Worth to be strewn about but the communications shack usually comes up with the latest football scores, and news briefs for those interested.

We can't jump into the car and take a spin, either. The car is back in San Diego. Besides, it would be a little damp for driving out here.

However, these men who have been riding the BAUSELL for sometime have no trouble enjoying their Sundays.

Just like back home, there's church for those who care to go. Although the ship is not big enough to have its own full time Chaplain, both Catholic and Protestant services are held in the messing compartment.

One of the main differences between services at sea and at home is that the men don't go rushing out of church to get into some comfortable clothes. We wear our dungarees and are comfortable all morning.

Sunday is a fine time for catching up on reading and for just plain old "sack time." And as the afternoon wears on, man after man digs out his writing gear and moves off by himself to catch up with those letters home.

Leonard Barnes of 223 Melba St., Dallas, uses his Sundays to tool a leather shoulder bag for wife. Leathercraft is a popular hobby board the BAUSELL. Several of the men make many kinds of leather work for themselves and for sale to shipmates.

After evening chow and a shower, most everyone starts heading for the fantail with a chair, stool, or bucket for a "reserved seat" at the evening movie. Weather and operations permitting, there is a movie every night. It is shown either on the fantail or in the messing compartment. Maybe the movie has been shown on board before, but who cares, we can still whistle at the girls on the screen. Soon after the movie is over taps are sounded with the familiar announcement "Taps, light out keep silence about the decks. The smoking lamp is out in all berthing spaces."

Yeah, keep quiet, for tomorrow is a work day.

Austin—Midland Man, human remains found near the city of Midland, probably is a woman, University of Texas anthropologists announced.

Careful measurements of the skull proportions, brow and mastoid formation, teeth and finger bones indicate the remains are those of an Indian woman who died about age 30. Researcher Alex Krieger said. Her age was estimated by examining the closing of sutures, or anatomical cracks in her skull. The sutures in a person's skull knit together at a given rate as the person grows older. Krieger and Dr. Fred Wendorf of the New Mexico Museum also announced chemical tests support other archeological evidence that Midland Woman was one of the earliest known residents of the Southwest.

The tests of fluorine, nitrogen and other chemical contents in Midland Woman's remains match similar tests of elephant, horse, camel and giant wolf and bison bones found in the same excavation. Any approximation of the woman's total age must await tests by machines which measure radiation disintegration in artifacts.

Very little change in price and production is the beef cattle outlook for 1955. Demand for all meat products next year will be about the same as this year. Beef consumption is expected to be about 78 pounds per capita.

MERMAID IN WHITE... Film actress Debra Paget exhibits charms as she climbs aboard cruiser after swim in Lake Mead, Nevada.

San Diego, the ship's engineering officer, conducts Catholic services. Ray Warren, hospitalman third class, of Springfield, Mo., a ministerial student before joining the Navy, aided by several other enlisted men, conducts Protestant services.

QUALITY YOU CAN MEASURE By Your Car's Performance

Quality that skilled scientists measure and control daily in the laboratory at the Shamrock McKee Refinery.

Typical of this quality, Shamrock's new 5W-20 and 10W-30 motor oils are among the most important petroleum improvements of this century.

To get proper engine protection from regular motor oil, you would have to use a light weight oil for starting and warm-up, then switch to a heavier weight motor oil after the engine has reached operating temperature. Shamrock 5W-20 and 10W-30 give this protection in one motor oil. They flow freely in a cold engine, allowing quick starts and giving instant protection... yet do not lose their protective qualities at highest operating temperature.

If you want easier starting, less wear, longer battery life and greater fuel economy use Shamrock 5W-20 or 10W-30 in your car summer and winter.

And remember, you can depend on the quality of all petroleum products sold under the big, green and white Shamrock.

Pedestrians Urged By Authority Not To Walk Themselves To Death

"Don't walk yourself to death." That advice doesn't come from the Society for the Abolition of Exercise, but from R. B. Roaper of Houston, president of the Texas Safety Association. It refers to a particular kind of walking—walking in traffic.

The Texas Safety Association and the Texas Department of Public Safety is cooperating with the National Safety Council in sponsoring a pedestrian safety program in Texas this month.

These groups are not trying to discourage people from walking. They are trying to encourage people to walk safely.

"I'd especially like to urge people to use the utmost caution when walking," Roaper said. "Older people move and react slowly and often their sight and hearing is impaired. These are serious handicaps in traffic. My advice to them is to follow safety rules meticulously and to avoid walking at night in traffic or venturing out in bad weather."

Not only the oldsters need to watch their step in traffic. He has a set of rules for all walkers. They are:

1. Cross streets at corners only.
2. Never walk into the street from between parked cars.
3. Obey traffic signs and signals—cross on GREEN or WALK only.
4. Wait on the sidewalk—not in the street—for the GREEN or WALK or for a gap in traffic if the corner has no traffic signal.

5. Cross streets in crosswalks—don't cross intersections diagonally.

6. Look LEFT and then RIGHT for traffic while crossing. Watch sharply for turning cars. (Be especially careful at one-way streets to check the direction of approaching traffic.)

7. After getting off a bus or streetcar, don't go around it, front or rear. Wait until it leaves before crossing.

8. Don't cross street when in unfit physical condition. Get glasses if your sight is poor.

9. At night when walking on poorly lighted streets or country roads, carry something white. Don't rely on drivers seeing you.

10. Walk on LEFT facing traffic where there are no sidewalks.

Fertilizer Is In Plentiful Supply

COLLEGE STATION—If rain was as plentiful as fertilizer, Texas farmers would be sitting pretty. Domestic fertilizer supplies were adequate last year and even more nitrogen, phosphorus and potash is ready for future crops, M. K. Thornton, extension agricultural chemist, says.

This does not mean, however, every farmer will get all he wants just when he wants it, Thornton continues. Transportation and shipping facilities can't handle the large volume at one time. So it won't be hoarding to buy next year's supply early.

Any farm shed that is dry and well ventilated will do for storage. Early purchases will ease the strain on manufacturing and shipping and will spread the demand throughout the year.

Staped up production from every acre of farmland, whether in crops or pasture, can be achieved if fertilizers are used along with other recognized farm management practices, Thornton adds.

The first postage stamps were issued in 1847.

December Plentiful Foods List Released

COLLEGE STATION—Meats are the big thing on the U. S. Department of Agriculture's December plentiful foods list.

Supplies of turkeys, broilers and fryers, beef, frozen shrimp and canned tuna are at record highs, reports Raymond J. Totoro of the Agricultural Marketing Service. Also, supplies of pork are much larger than a year ago.

Eggs as well as turkeys rate as "foods for feature" on the December list because prices are favorable to consumers.

Many other foods popular for holiday cooking are plentiful—dates, filberts, almonds, grapes, grapefruits and oranges.

Rice, pinto beans, salad oils and vegetable oils also will be good buys at the grocer's next month says U. S. D. A.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Currin of Amarillo visited Sunday night with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Gibson and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Currin.

Cottonseed Men Hunt New Products

AUSTIN—The cottonseed-product industry is looking hopefully toward new products that may give its market the stimulus it needs, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reports.

Low-gossypol cottonseed meal for use in poultry feeds, and meliorine, the ice-cream substitute already on the market throughout Texas, are two of the prime prospects, Robert H. Ryan, managing editor, writes in the current Texas Business Review.

"But most processors are agreed that more research and development are in order—large-scale experimental work like that which put soybeans in their top position among U. S. oilseed crops," Ryan adds.

Research and development are expensive and time-consuming, however, and cannot be undertaken lightly by small milling companies. Ryan says this may account in part for the high mortality rate among small, independent cottonseed oil companies during recent years.

Most people in the business say cottonseed crushing is a weak industry today. It has been weakened by an uphill competitive battle with soybean processing and weakened still further, according to some mill managers, by government controls and price supports. Cottonseed producers claim soybean oil is in a superior market position because of the price-control structure.

It's time to "weatherproof" farm buildings. Recent cold snaps are warnings of the more severe weather to come. Include equipment in the winterproofing program.

John D. Reeds' Take Long Trip

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Reed have returned to their home in the Lakeview community from an extensive trip which began Nov. 10.

While gone, they stopped in Bartlesville, Okla., with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Reed, and the two couples then proceeded to Jefferson City, Mo., where they visited Mr. and Mrs. John D. Reed's daughter, Mrs. Eual Lawson. Mrs. Lawson's husband, who is a Baptist minister was conducting a revival in St.

Louis, so the group went to be with him for a while.

Both en route to St. Louis on the return to Jefferson the Reeds' and Mrs. Lawson joyed looking at the passing from Vista Dome passenger cars.

After leaving Jefferson the Reeds' visited Poplar, Mo., and Newport, Ark., stopping overnight at Texarkana with Mr. and Mrs. Burl Lawson, former residents of the Lakeview community.

All of the trip, except between Jefferson City and St. Louis, was made by auto but the Reeds' report they had had luck, not even a flat.

Expected To Have Less Cattle Start Of 1955

COLLEGE STATION.—Due to the fact that more cattle were slaughtered this year, the nation's herd is expected to start 1955 with fewer cattle than a year ago. The larger margins are due partly to dry weather and partly to reduced interest in expanding beef cattle in some regions, says John McHaney, extension economist.

Production is running at high levels. Prices for fed cattle are not likely to change much while prices of grass fed cattle are expected to make a seasonal decline. Feeding areas having feed are in a favorable position than in drought areas where feed is scarce and higher in price.

Mid-July, more hogs also were slaughtered than a year ago. Prices for hogs are expected to continue downward but rather high prices of last year have caused some seasonal decreases in prices for

There now appears to be little prospect for any substantial price recovery until the fall marketing season is past, the economist adds.

THE BAFFLES By Mahoney

Milking Machines Used Wrongly Can Cause Mastitis

COLLEGE STATION.—Improperly used milking machines rank as one of the top causes of mastitis.

One milking machine is as good as another and it's the use that counts, says R. E. Burleson, extension dairy husbandman. Use the machine according to the manufacturer's specifications, he advises. Each machine has its own method of use, and used any other way it can result in high incidence of mastitis.

No more than two units should be used by any one man doing the milking, at one time.

Keep the rubber liners clean. Use one set for two weeks, then boil in a lye solution for 15 minutes, cool, remove from solution and let dry for two weeks while the alternate set is in use. Make certain all mechanical parts of the machine are functioning properly.

To prepare the udder for milking, use separate clean towels dipped in a disinfectant solution to clean each cow. And always use a strip cup. This stimulates a cow to let down her milk and removes the first milk which is high in bacteria.

Don't leave the machine on too long, says the specialist. This results in irritation, which can lead to mastitis. Disinfect the teat cups between each cow. Rinse first in clean, lukewarm water, then in fresh warm disinfectant solution.

Finally, milk on schedule. Cows are creatures of habit and most good dairy farmers are aware of the advantages of a rigid schedule. Keep hands, clothing and all equipment as clean as possible, Burleson adds.

Mountain Lions Destroying Big Game In Black Gap Area West Of Pecos

AUSTIN.—Mountain lions are cutting down some of the big game transplanted in the Black Gap Game Management Area in the Dead Horse Mountain country, according to W. S. Jennings, assistant director of wildlife restoration for the Game and Fish Commission.

Returning from an inspection trip West of the Pecos, Jennings said the big cats have been moving into the Brewster County refuge from nearby Mexico and the Big Bend National Park.

"There seems to be two main reasons for the invasion," the assistant director explained. "One is that the deer population in the nearby park seems to be thinning out. The other is that we have been stocking the Black Gap area and have been impounding water which is attractive to both our transplanted deer and antelope and certainly to the lions."

He said "it is the old story of having to take the bad with the good" and then added: "Wherever you have wildlife you have predators. We expected the raiders sooner or later, but frankly they seem to have shown up in surprisingly large numbers."

The director quoted the resident manager of the Area—Fred Moore—as reporting that deer were the main targets of the lions. "The deer prefer the foothills and that is where the cats prowl around most," Moore observed. "The antelope prefer the open plains and are more or less out of range."

Moore has been trapping in an effort to curb the invaders. His last catch was a big female which had been denuded with two kittens. Moore said he believed the young ones either perished or left the area. This lion had killed at least three doe deer, two of them bearing fawn.

The resident manager said the grim counter attack routine recently was spiced by his black cocker spaniel, named "Skeeter Bill," which began acting like a lion dog.

That is, the dog did until he foolishly leaped off an overhanging rock upon the head of the big cat that had one leg in a trap. Only thing that saved the pooch was that the lion, in swinging furiously at the pup, shook it loose from the car to which it was clinging. Had the lion's paw struck home that would have been all for "Skeeter Bill."

Pounds Of Meat Called Real Goal Of Rangelands

COLLEGE STATION.—Pounds of meat rather than the number of livestock sound the real goal of properly stocked rangelands.

Producers conscious of this goal are faced with proper distribution of rainfall, drought and just plain "habits," says A. H. Walker, extension range management specialist. Walker cites several steps which do to make a "pounds" rather than "numbers" livestock program.

Carry less than the estimated stocking capacity on a certain pasture. Run only 75 instead of 100 head, for instance. Some stockmen may wish to run only dry stock during the winter giving pastures a chance to come back during the growing season.

Studies have shown deferred grazing to be the best recovery method.

At the Sonora Experiment Station "moderately" grazed pastures gave more pounds of meat per acre and resulted in the greatest range improvement when compared to heavily stocked grasslands. Deferred-rotation grazing, however, gave even faster improvement and livestock gained equally as well.

About one-half of the annual forage growth should be left for reproduction and maintenance. This means, leave about one and one-half to two inches of the sod grasses, two and one-half to three inches of the small bunch grasses and about five inches of the tall bunch grasses, Walker says.

Guides to Proper Grazing, bulletin C-335, available from county agricultural agents gives more information on this subject.

Finletter's "Power and Policy"
I have just received a copy of the book written by Thomas K. Finletter, who formerly served as Secretary of The Air Force. This book has to do with U. S. foreign policy and military power in the hydrogen age. Few people are as well qualified to speak or write on this subject as is Mr. Finletter. His background, his brilliance of mind, and his expressive ability have created a very tasty bit of literature for those who have great interest in what can or may happen. It points up with crystal clearness matters that need effective attention immediately. Whether one agrees with him or not, the gravity of the problem and the urgent need for an early solution could not have been brought to a better focus than by this book.

Mr. Finletter has been favorably mentioned on numerous occasions as a possible choice for National Democratic Chairman. I can think of none who would be better qualified nor more able to render this country the great service that can find its source in this office. My conclusions in this respect are based upon my experience in working with Mr. Finletter during his service as Secretary of The Air Force and in observing his manner and his accomplishments.

Russian Shell Game
The Reds are now playing the old well known shell game in their international relations. Their game is to keep the rest of the world guessing on where the next crisis will occur. In playing this game, they keep a continual pressure at all times on all fronts without relaxation. The crisis in Korea quickly shifted to Indo-China, with small crisis cropping up in Berlin, Guatemala, Egypt, The Near East, Algeria, Formosa, Quemoy, and the plane incidents which seem to have been strategically timed and placed by the Reds. Many of the writers and commentators at the present time are guessing that the real hidden crisis lies in Quemoy, an island which lies just off the Red China coast. You will recall the pressure that has been exerted in this particular area by the Reds. This has been considered by many as the forerunner of the attempted invasion of Formosa. This situation is receiving much consideration at the present time by the State Department here and the governments of our allies. The questions concerning Formosa and the surrounding islands are very explosive, both from a domestic standpoint and an international standpoint. There is a distinct division in the Senate thinking as to what part Formosa should play if a third world war is to be avoided. Watch for much news on this subject and this area in the near future.

PROBLEMS IN THE U. S. (Unstatutory FEPC)
Many people think that if a law is not passed by the Congress, it is not a law and cannot be enforced. This conclusion is basically sound and, according to the Constitution, is exactly correct. However, much as I regret it, that theory seems to have become outmoded. It has apparently been supplanted by what is known as a "Presidential Directive." For example, the Congress has never passed a law dictating to a man who he can or cannot hire in his business. However, under a Presidential directive, a business man cannot get a contract with the Government unless he is willing to comply with certain Fair Employment Practice requirements that do not leave him free to act independently. Several other directives of the same nature concerning other segments of the economy are now in the making. It will be nothing less than the use of economic pressure to force compliance with rules and regulations that have not been enacted into law in conformity with the procedure outlined in the Constitution. This is dangerous business.

On The Light Side
Foot longer automobiles are being advertised by the manufacturers. One mathematician figured out that if 50 million of these are produced, it will require 10,000 miles of additional parking space. That is six times the distance from the Panhandle to the

USE OF ELECTRICITY INCREASES IN TEXAS

AUSTIN—Consumption of electricity in Texas hit new peaks in September, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reports. Industrial use rose 2 per cent from August and 26 per cent from September, 1953, while residential use rose 4 per cent from August and 38 per cent from September, 1953.

Nation's Capital. One engineer has suggested that the wheel base be cut in half and the cars made double-deck. He says that would help solve the parking problem although it might require the rebuilding of some under-passes and bridges. His status as an engineer is being questioned.

Inflation
All chili eaters beware of Washington. Chili is selling for 70 cents a bowl, and it's about 75 per cent beans. The bowls are smaller, the crackers fewer, and they won't let you get your hands on the catsup bottle. This may be an indication that we can't possibly have a depression. What will the American people live on, with chili at 70 cents a bowl?

Don't get caught away from home after dark unless the tractor and trailer are properly marked and lighted for night driving. The Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Committee points out that it costs less to be safe than paying for accident.

AS GENERAL ELECTRIC SEES IT...

Every year Americans live better because electricity costs so little

These 30 everyday General Electric appliances lined up on the front lawn dramatize the impact of low-cost electricity on American life. Per capita use of electricity in U.S. is 2 times Britain's, 5 times Russia's, 167 times India's.

An average U. S. family uses enough power each day to equal the energy output of 35 hard-working men

Nowhere on earth has electricity been put to work more widely than in the United States, and its price been kept so low.

We've come a long way since Thomas Edison invented the first home use of electricity — an electric light — just 75 years ago. There are three reasons for this progress.

First, America's electric utilities have invested in facilities ($18 billion in the last ten years!). And the electrical industry has steadily increased the efficiency of power equipment. Turbine-generators made by General Electric, for example, produce 10 times more electricity per pound of coal than Edison's original generators.

Second, appliances have been constantly improved and are mass-produced to bring their price within reach of everyone. The first 60-watt lamps cost about $1.00 and gave a light equal to 7 candles; a G-E 60-watt lamp today gives a light equal to 67 candles, and costs only 19 cents.

The third reason for progress is our free economy, which has allowed industry to grow, create jobs and produce effectively for everyone's benefit. As we see it, it adds up to a good example of progress in the American way.

Meanwhile, we're hard at work to make the future even better.

For more information, send for 36-page illustrated booklet, "Power Maker for America"—the story of how electricity is made. Write General Electric, Dept. O2-119, Schenectady, N. Y.

LETTERS FROM READERS

Dear Editor:

On the first Thanksgiving, our forefathers and mothers gathered together around their humble table to thank God for the blessings they had received. Today let us thank God who has so bountifully blessed us. Thank Him for our country, our homes, our loved ones and our friends.

Thanksgiving was first observed in the Plymouth Colony in the year 1621. The Pilgrims came over in the fall of 1620. They came that they might have religious freedom. They had a hard winter. They lost a number of their group, but when spring came, they planted their gardens and God blessed them with a wonderful harvest and we see them as they met around the humble table to give thanks.

Every year our President sends out a special message to remind the people to give thanks. There are many different customs and different ways of expressing thanks to God, but so far, as we can tell, there has always been some kind of Thanksgiving after the gathering of the harvest. In the old Testament, we read about the Jewish feast, even before Jesus was born. Perhaps they sang some of the songs of praise we find in the book of Psalms. Paul was thankful for strength to do the work that God called him to do.

There is an interesting story in Luke where Jesus healed the ten lepers. When one of them saw he was healed of that dreadful disease he turned back and thanked Jesus and Jesus said were they not ten cleansed, where are the nine? Sometimes I wonder if we are not like the nine, we forget to give thanks when God has so wonderfully blessed us. Let us be grateful for the material things of life, but above all, let us be thankful for the spiritual things.

Today we have come far along the road, physically, mentally and spiritually, since those bleak days of 1620, where illness and lack of food mowed down the colony of our Forefathers.

Let us give thanks.
Mrs. W. B. Funk

Hunters Cautioned Against Shooting Of Spike Bucks

AUSTIN—A field report warning deer hunters against mistakenly shooting spike bucks, which is illegal, has been relayed by W. C. Glasener, director of wildlife restoration for the Game and Fish Commission.

Bob Ramsey, wildlife biologist, found in surveying herds for the antlerless deer season in overpopulated areas of Gillespie, Mason and Llano counties that spike bucks comprised 41.2 per cent of all bucks counted.

"Deer hunters should stand cautioned that on the opening day almost every other buck seen will be an illegal spike," wrote Ramsey to his Austin headquarters. "As the season progresses, the percentage of spikes will skyrocket because of the shooting of the adult bucks, and that will call for increased vigilance on the part of the hunter."

A legal buck deer is officially described as one with a pronged or forked horn.

Ramsey said biologists working in the area believe there are several reasons for the high percentage of spike bucks in the woods this fall. He wrote: "Last year's fawn crop was exceptionally large with a high rate of survival. Also the kill of legal bucks during the 1953 season was unusually high, cutting down the carry over of bucks this year. Another factor contributing to the large number of spikes is the drought which has prevailed over most of the Hill Country for the past year or years as is the case over much of the deer range. Bucks adorned with eight and ten-inch spikes would normally have from three to eight points when the proper foods are available. Poor food conditions produce poor antler growth, just as an abundance of high quality deer food will produce larger antlers with more points."

Texas farmers spend more than $35 million annually for repairs on tractors and equipment. Proper maintenance and adjustment would save a big slice of this bill. Up to 10 per cent of the petroleum bill—about $85 million annually—could be saved if tractors and related equipment were adjusted for optimum operation.

Heart Disease Is Leading Cause Of Death In Texas, Health Authority Says

AUSTIN—Heart disease is the leading cause of death in Texas, declares Dr. Henry A. Holle, State Health Officer. It takes more lives each year than cancer, accidents or any other cause of death, in fact one third of all deaths are due to heart disease and the toll is rising. It can be curbed if you will have a periodic health examination by a qualified physician and follow his instructions for protecting your heart.

An annual physical examination sometimes brings to light adverse conditions, many of which can be corrected before they cause serious damage. Only a physician can recognize for certain the danger signals of heart trouble, and tell you how to care for yourself.

If your physician tells you to slow down or reduce your weight, cut down on your heart's work load, heed his advice. He wants to help you take care of your heart and to keep you in good health. There's no replacement possible.

The heart needs good care to stay in good running order. Almost anything you do affects your heart. The food you eat, the stairs you climb, the hours you sleep, the pace you set for yourself, your illnesses, the worries you brood over, the tensions you live under—all affect your heart. There are the patterns of your life. These are what make you tick. These conditions play roles in making your heart the kind of heart it is. And there are indicators to warn you of trouble, if you look for them.

The heart can work at a fast pace, and under handicaps, for a long time, because it draws on its reserve power. But when the reserve power of the heart begins to wear out, you experience some of
