Cotton Quota Referendum Scheduled December 14

County cotton farmers will have an opportunity on Dec. 14 to vote whether they wish to continue the cotton marketing quotas. The referendum is being held at 10 a. m. at the Agricultural Station and Conservation office, here today.

The referendum is a decision which will affect every cotton farmer in the county. It is a referendum on the marketing quotas which have been in effect since 1938. All farmers who own cotton in 1954 are eligible to vote in the referendum. Two-thirds of those voting must favor the quotas for them to be retained.

In order to be sure no letters are omitted, we need to hear from all of you boys and girls. Since we will start the special edition in the middle of December, better write before you forget. Address your letters to Santa Claus in care of The Democrat.

GOVERNOR TALKS TB

Governor Allen Shivers and Mrs. Joella Terrill Butler discuss the tuberculosis toll in Texas as the governor prepares to sign an official memorandum calling on Texans to buy and use Christmas Seals. His signature designates November 22 through December 25 as Christmas Seal Month in Texas. The traditional Seal Sale provides the sole support for the work of the Tuberculosis Association and its affiliated organizations throughout the state. Mrs. Butler, of Wichita Falls, is president of the state association.

IRRIGATION OUTLOOK APPEARS IMPROVING

Prospects for developing irrigation acreage in the Lakeview area appear to be improving, according to information available this week.

A well on land, belonging to J. S. McMurry of Memphis, was finished Tuesday and is flowing approximately 650 gallons per minute, according to McMurry. He said a report on the quality of the water and its suitability for irrigation had not been received Wednesday but that the water tastes all right and he was certain that it would be satisfactory for crop growing. Water was found at a depth of 107 feet and six-inch pipe was installed.

Another well has been drilled in the same locality on land owned by Mrs. Tom Isham of Memphis. McMurry said it appeared to be similar to the one on his farm. Last week, Mrs. Isham said water was flowing at a 45-foot depth.

In the same section, Glen Verden had four test wells drilled before water was found. He plans to wait until the first of the year before continuing operations, McMurry said.

Agent Releases Annual Report Spotlights County Agricultural Life

A voluminous amount of interesting and informative data about Hall County is contained in the annual narrative report of County Agent W. B. Hooser, which covers the period from Dec. 1, 1953, to Nov. 30 of this year.

In the beginning, the report states that the county was named for Warren D. C. Hall, adjutant general under President Burnet of the Republic of Texas. Counties must have been extremely big at one time, even for Texas, for at the time this county was created in 1876 it was part of Bexar County in which San Antonio is located. The county was formally organized in 1890.

During the days of the open range, "the old JA and other pioneer ranches of the region controlled the region," and much of the early settlement in the county centered around Deep Lake. In 1886 and 1887, the Fort Worth & Denver Railroad built through the county and this caused a great influx of farmers.

The county has a variety of good soils and has become outstanding in livestock and diversified farming, the account continues. In addition, there has developed a large dairy and poultry industry and added to the extensive revenue from agriculture is that from sand, gravel and brick clay. Also some natural timber, consisting of cottonwood, hackberry, mesquite and willow, is found in rough terrain along streams.

Most of the county is in the Red River watershed, except for a small area in the southern part which drains into the North Fork of Pease River.

Of the 576,060 acres in the county, 235,000 are in cultivation and devoted to cotton, grain sorghums, sweet sorghum, alfalfa and small grain. Thin, shallow soils and deep, loose sands in the south and east section of the county are used for beef cattle ranching. In tight rolling land, the export goes on, cotton and grain sorghum plantings are decreasing while wheat, other small grain, and grass land farming is increasing. In the ranching area, overgrazing, infestation of mesquite,

Four Members Of FFA Chapter Here Are Awarded Gilts

Four members of the Memphis Future Farmers of America chapter have been chosen to receive gilts which will be purchased by the Sears Foundation, according to Hershel Potts, vocational agriculture teacher here.

The boys are John Freeman, Don Davis, Oscar Maddox, Jr., and Don McElreath.

All will receive Duroc gilts within the next three weeks, Potts said. The pigs will be obtained from swine breeders in the Memphis area.

The gilts will be used in setting up a pig circle for the local F. F. A. Principal purpose of the circle is improvement of the Duroc breed in this area, Potts explained.

Each boy will raise a litter of pigs and return one gilt pig to the F. F. A. chapter during the 1955-56 school year. These gilts will be distributed to other F. F. A. members for the purpose of perpetuating and expanding the pig circle. Recipients will be selected by Potts, as were those this year.

A program of this kind was in operation at the high school until four or five years ago, according to Potts.

ACP Meeting Here Friday Afternoon

The 1955 Agricultural Stabilization & Conservation Program will be explained at a county-wide meeting which will be held at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon in the county courtroom of the courthouse here, Lynn L. McKown, Hall County A. S. C. office manager, said Monday.

During the meeting, some determination will be made as to the (Continued on Page 8, Sec. 1)

FHA Office Receives 46 Feed Applications

A total of 46 emergency feed applications for grains had been received at the Farmers Home Administration office in Memphis through Tuesday, according to J. J. Roan, Jr., county supervisor. These applications requested 1,058,570 pounds of grain, consisting of barley, corn, oats and grain sorghum.

Only two applications have been made for government assistance on the freight cost of shipping hay. The applications were for 42 tons of hay.

Of the 46 applications for grain, 26 have been reviewed by the F. H. A. county committee and approved for 804,350 pounds of grain. One application for hay has been approved for 17 tons.

Schools Announce Champion Spellers

Spellers of the Week were named early this week at Lakeview, Turkey and Estelline. Miss Mary Foreman, county school superintendent, said Wednesday. No contests were held in the Memphis schools because of the Thanksgiving holidays, officials stated.

Winners at Lakeview were: Tony Sahagun, fifth grade; Martha Rice, sixth grade; Linda Campbell, seventh grade; and Mary Rice, eighth grade.

38,202 BALES OF COTTON GINNED IN HALL COUNTY, SURVEY SHOWS

WESTERN ARTIST

M. B. Cole of Marshall, who will have a group of western paintings on exhibition here during December, holds one of his creations while another is displayed to his right. The western scenes which will appear here, will be shown for the first time Saturday afternoon at Carnegie Library, according to word received by Clifford Farmer. They may be seen each week-day afternoon from 1 to 5 p. m., throughout this month. No admission will be charged.

Production Above That of Any Year Since 1951 Harvest

Cotton ginnings in Hall County during the current season totaled 38,202 bales, according to a survey of county gins made Wednesday morning by The Democrat. Several ginneries who were questioned, seemed to think most of this year's cotton crop has been gathered, although some pointed out that the final total would depend on the extent to which bolls, still on stalks, crack open.

Some sources said this week that there was a sizable amount of cotton yet to be gathered and a ginner estimated that he expected cotton to keep coming in right on up to Christmas, estimating the amount at around 500 bales.

Ginnings totaled 32,410 bales when the final bulletin of the Texas Employment Commission was issued two weeks ago. This means that nearly 6,000 bales have been ginned in the county since then.

At this time last year, approximately 12,500 bales had been ginned and the final production figure was 22,017 bales. Harvest last year, unlike this season, was delayed several weeks by wet weather. Hail and the continued (Continued on Page 5, Sec. 1)

1955 Cotton Allotment Set At 102,627 Acres

The 1955 cotton allotment for Hall County has been set at 102,627 acres by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, according to information received here this morning by Lynn L. McKown, manager of the Hall County Agricultural Stabilization & Conservation office.

This compares with the original allotment of 98,826 acres for this year, McKown explained. This figure was later increased to 108,568 acres, as the result of a Congressional amendment.

Allotments to individual farmers for 1955 will be in the mail not later than Friday, McKown said.

Cotton allotments for 1955 are being issued to individual producers under the crop land factor method, as they were this year, the A. S. C. office manager said. Under this system, every cotton farm in the county will have a certain percentage of acreage allotted to cotton. McKown said this would be approximately 45 per cent of the crop land on each (Continued on Page 8, Sec. 1)

Funeral services for Ed Hoover, relative of several residents of the Memphis area, were conducted Friday at Commerce.

Christmas Season Officially Gets Underway In Memphis

Santa Claus will be in Memphis on the afternoon of Dec. 14 to greet all of his young friends, according to a message received from him this week.

The retailers' committee of the Memphis Chamber of Commerce met Tuesday to make arrangements to assist the jolly fellow when he arrives here shortly after 1 o'clock that afternoon, according to Clifford Farmer, C. of C. manager.

Ladies of the Stephen F. Austin and William B. Travis Parent-Teachers Associations are to be asked to help fill sacks of candy, fruit and nuts. This assistance is to be provided for Santa, in order that he may distribute the goods to boys and girls of this area without delay.

The good fellow has much to do and lots of places to visit these days. His local helpers are aware of this and will do everything they can to assist him in making his rounds, so all youngsters everywhere will have an opportunity to see and visit with him.

While here, Santa will be at the courthouse. In order to prevent confusion and to keep smaller children from being hurt, a schedule has been worked out under which pre-school youngsters will meet the old fellow before local schools are dismissed.

Farmer said the pre-Christmas party is being held for all children (Continued on Page 8, Sec. 1)

Memphis F. H. A. Chapter Elects 1954-55 Officers

Officers for the current school year were elected at a recent meeting of the Memphis chapter of the Future Homemakers of America, according to Bobbie Lemons, reporter. The session was held in the high school cafeteria.

The new officers are: Mary Jane Jones, president; Linda Fields, vice-president; Iola Robertson, secretary; Jean Foxhall, treasurer; Bobbie Lemons, reporter; Juanella Goffinett, historian; June Johnson and Teresa Jackson, song leaders; and Marrie Lou Copeland, pianist.

Weather Varied But Dry in Past Week

This area had about everything in the way of weather the past week except moisture. On several days, high winds whipped clouds of dust into the air. In addition, cold fronts and warm fronts, and low and high pressure systems fought for dominance, resulting in extremely changeable temperatures. Sometimes it was almost like summer and then a cold front would come sweeping through, bringing with it a return of blustery, chilling weather.

Even though cold, the dry weather did permit farmers who still have crops to gather, to continue their harvesting operations. However, most people probably would like to see some sizable moisture to lay the groundwork for next year's crop. Those who have wheat sowed also would welcome some wet weather.

Temperature extremes the past week, according to Weatherman John McMickin, were as follows: last Thursday 36-73 degrees; Friday 33-72; Saturday 35-72; Sunday 35-54; Monday 30-55; Tuesday 27-78; and Wednesday 38-64.

Fine Arts Festival Planned At Texas Tech In December

LUBBOCK.—A new cultural event will be added to the Texas Tech activities calendar this month, the college's first annual Fine Arts Festival.

Six departments at Tech—music, speech, applied arts, allied arts, women's physical education and the Tech Artists Course—will merge forces for a five-day series of programs between Dec. 9-13.

The Festival will avail itself of the finest talent and program offerings of the six cooperating departments, according to Mrs. Mary Helen McCarty, music department instructor and Festival chairman of publicity.

Highlights of the first annual Festival will be a piano concert, a band clinic, exhibits by the two art departments, modern dance, a play, a movie and several musical programs featuring both instrumental and vocal music.

Preparations for the festival are being made by the following Tech faculty committee: Mrs. McCarty, music; Richard K. Tracy, allied arts; Mrs. Ethel Jane Beiler, applied arts; Dr. Cecelia Thompson, speech; and Miss Dorothy Hoyle, women's physical education.

Advice On Fighting Colds Given By Health Official

AUSTIN.—You catch a cold from a person who has a cold when you take in more of his cold germs than your body defenses can destroy. This is apt to happen when you are tired, and somebody is coughing or sneezing around you, says Dr. Henry A. Holle, state health officer.

Avoid taking in large masses of the germs by staying away from the person who has a cold; by staying out of crowded places during a cold epidemic; by washing your hands before you eat and after contact with a cold-infected person, or articles he has handled. Keep your general health high by getting plenty of sleep; by eating regular well-balanced meals and drinking plenty of water; by getting some outdoor exercise every day; and by letting sunshine and fresh air into your home, office or factory.

Don't lower your resistance by getting too tired, over-heated or chilled. Avoid sitting in dried out, smoke, dust, or chemical-laden air. Dress according to the weather and the temperature in which you must work.

Go to bed if you possibly can at the first sign of a cold. If you can't stay in bed, get as much rest as possible. Protect others by covering your mouth and nose when you cough or sneeze, and by washing your hands frequently, especially before handling food, cooking utensils or dishes.

Don't try to treat yourself. If your cold symptoms persist or if you develop fever or chest pain, call your doctor and follow his advice.

Enlistment Opened To Men Without Prior Service

According to information released recently by Department of the Army, men with no prior active service, may now enlist in the regular army for three or more years if they have one dependent.

According to Capt. Peters, commanding officer U. S. Army Recruiting Main Station, 312 East 5th Avenue, Amarillo, this new change extends the advantages of voluntary enlistment in the regular army to a great number of otherwise ineligible men in the Panhandle area.

Men who have had prior active military service who are eligible to enlist in grades E-1, E-2 and E-3 may now enlist in the regular army with as many as two dependents.

Because of this year's high production and low prices, Texas turkey growers are expected to cut production in 1955. The extent of cutback depends upon the number of breeder hens held for hatching egg production. This was a record year for producers—61,045,000 turkeys.

Taxes On Texas Farm And Ranch Lands Increasing

Taxes on Texas farm and ranch lands were 3.3 per cent higher in 1953, the last year for which records are available, than in 1952.

This was the seventh year of consecutive land tax increases, according to a continuing tax study being conducted by L. P. Gabbard, agricultural economist of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. The average tax per acre in 1946 was 17.3 cents and in 1953 it was 27.9 cents.

The absolute tax per acre is important to farmers and ranchmen, but is not as significant as the burden of the tax. The burden of farm and ranch taxes is shown by a ratio of farm taxes to farm prices.

The absolute average tax per acre increased only 3.3 per cent in 1953 over 1952, but relatively the tax increased 26.7 per cent. This was due to a slight increase in the tax per acre and to a substantial decline in farm prices. The index of farm prices of 332 in 1952 dropped to 273 in 1953. The ratio or burden of real estate taxes relative to farm prices increased from .90 in 1952 to 1.14 in 1953, or 26.7 per cent. With an absolute increase in the tax per acre, however, there may be an appreciable decline in the tax burden. For example, in 1951, the tax per acre was half a cent higher than in 1950, but farm prices were sufficiently high in 1951 to actually lower the tax burden relative to farm prices 16.5 per cent.

There were no significant changes in the proportion of farm taxes levied in 1953 by the various types of governmental units over 1952.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Billingsley of Farwell visited with Maudie Billingsley Saturday night.

Texas Citizens Asked To Enjoy Christmas But Live

"I would like to invite every citizen in Texas to join the nation in a LIVE Christmas Celebration."

This Christmas invitation was tendered by R. B. Roaper of Houston, president of the Texas Safety Association recently as he gave his support to the Holiday Hazards program now being conducted by the association and the National Safety Council.

Roaper reminded local citizens that "the mixture of last minute shopping, home celebrations, office parties, distracting holiday sights and sounds, can lead to the sometimes-tragic state of 'holidays'."

Roaper said "holidays" is an intangible thing, but is still a very real hazard during this holiday season.

"To make matters worse," he said, "we're in this state of 'holidays' just at the time when winter walking and driving hazards are at their height."

He said the National Safety Council's figures showed that the traffic death toll was usually higher in December than in any other month of the year.

"Motor vehicle deaths rise steadily from a low point in February, until they reach an all-year high in December," he pointed out.

For this reason, he urged all motorists and pedestrians "... to be extra alert, and to be certain to continue to observe all common sense safety rules for living alive in traffic."

Land Fraud Charges

State investigators arrested three men as probing continued into Veterans Land Program sales in South Texas.

Two Cuero notaries were charged with notarizing land titles without seeing sales participants sign their names.

A third man was released under bond but details of the charge was not made public.

Meanwhile the Senate Investigating Committee prepared for a December look into complaints that veterans found themselves owners of land without knowing of the sale or where the land was located.

Presently handling the investigation is the Attorney General's office, the state auditor's office, and the Department of Public Safety.

Liquor Board Rule

Investigation powers of the State Liquor Board include that of inspecting pertinent "records", state Attorney General John Ben Shepperd ruled.

Shepperd said the board could command production of personal records and accounts of officers and stockholders of corporations holding a state liquor license or permit.

Hospitals Need Help

There is no immediate hope of adequate professional help for state mental institutions, the Texas Research League has warned.

In a report prepared for the Board of State Hospitals and Special Schools, League said that 278 physicians are required for the state's six mental hospitals.

Only 102 have been certified by the Hospital Board, the report said.

League research also pointed out shortcomings in numbers of psychologists, registered nurses, and psychiatric specialists available for state mental work.

National Physics Honorary Society Slated For Tech

LUBBOCK—Texas Technological College will be honored December 13 when the 87th chapter of Sigma Pi Sigma, national physics honorary society, is installed on this campus.

Tech will be the second institution in this state to receive a charter, being preceded only by the University of Texas in Austin.

Dr. Marsh W. White, executive secretary of Sigma Pi Sigma, will head the installing team scheduled to come here for the ceremony. He is a member of the physics faculty of Pennsylvania State College.

This society is the only official academic honorary organization in the physics field, according to Joseph H. Robinson III, a graduate student in physics and president-elect of the local chapter. It's chapters are restricted to colleges and universities of recognized standing which offer a strong physics major.

In preparing the petition for the local chapter, Robinson was able to show Sigma Pi Sigma officials that of the 31 Tech graduates in physics since 1948, 14 are doing or have completed graduate work. Six have completed the doctorate.

Rural Schools In Texas Keep Pace With Urban Ones

COLLEGE STATION—Rural schools in Texas are keeping pace with urban schools despite a 66 per cent drop in number since 1949.

Courses of study have broadened and "special service" personnel such as school nurses, librarians and counselors now are employed in schools serving the state's rural areas.

These are findings of a study by Dr. R. L. Skrabanek, professor of agricultural economics and sociology at Texas A & M College. Studies were made of schools in Castro, Schleicher, Lynn, Burleson and Tyler counties.

Attendance of students in the five counties was 92.9 per cent, a record which will be hard to improve in the future, Dr. Skrabanek notes.

Pupil-teacher ratios have been reduced to less than 25 students for each classroom teacher. The survey showed the average rural teacher has 12 years classroom experience.

Cost of a rural education has risen in recent years to $242 for each student compared with $217, the state average.

Consolidation accounts for the large reduction in number of schools. "One of the most common arguments against consolidation is that some children spend too much time riding buses and they are unable to take advantage of available education facilities."

says Dr. Skrabanek. The validity of this belief also was tested.

He found that although non-transported students had better attendance records and slightly higher grades than transported students, no relationship was found between the distance students were carried and their less-room performances.

Complete findings of the survey are given in Rural Education in Transition, bulletin 783, and is available from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas.

Scouts Will Stage Toy Drive Saturday

Members of Troop 35 will stage the annual Old Toy Drive at 10 o'clock Saturday morning, Scoutmaster Ted Myers said Monday. The drive will gather up toys in their neighborhoods during the first part of the week and take them to their homes, according to Myers. Then on Saturday, the trailer will tour the town and pick up the toys.

Christmas Seal Originator Topic Of Texas Official

AUSTIN—"There is a proud ghost standing beside me," Mrs. Frances Rains of Austin mused as the mail truck left the Texas Tuberculosis Association office.

Mrs. Rains is the Christmas Seal Sale director. Today she placed in the mails over 100,000 envelopes carrying the 1954 seals to Texas homes.

She referred to the ghost of Einar Holboell, Danish post office worker who originated the penny Christmas Seal in 1904 to build a hospital for children ill of tuberculosis.

"I know just how Holboell felt when he had his great idea," Mrs. Rains said. "He saw those piles of holiday greetings and gifts pouring in and out of the post office and he wished that each one could mean just one penny toward saving the life of a child doomed by tuberculosis."

Einar Holboell saw his wish come true. This year's double Christmas Seal pictures gay, healthy children... a tribute to the Danish postal clerk on the fiftieth anniversary of his great gift to mankind.

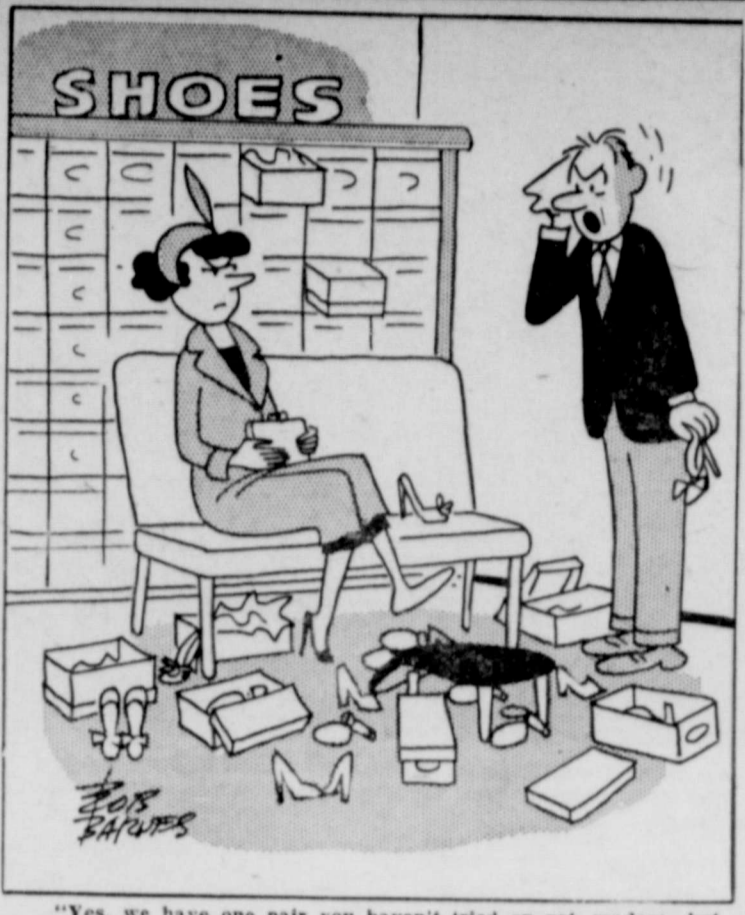

"For 50 years those little Seals have waged their fight against TB," Mrs. Rains said, "and every year they win new ground."

She watched the mail truck pull away. "One year," she said firmly, "we will see Christmas come to all our children without the blight of tuberculosis. One year we will know that no mother, no father, no child must spend Christmas in a TB hospital bed."

She looked down at a copy of the Christmas Seal letters which will reach Texans Monday. It shows a little girl at bedside praying. The letter begins "... and keep every one safe."

She will be extremely grateful. Memphis residents will gather old toys and have them when Scouts come around town. Contact Patrol Leaders Jimmy Snowdon, Gayle Gilman Deaver, Swayne McDaniel and Charles Massey, Asst. Patrol Leaders Jimmy Jeff-

LAFF OF THE WEEK

"Yes, we have one pair you haven't tried on yet, madam—but unfortunately I don't have a tuttonhook."

Cotton Quota

A small amount is reserved for "new" cotton farms, for adjusting allotments for small farms, and for hardship cases. In allotting the reserve, the A. S. C. county committee takes into account such items as the type and productivity of the soil, labor and equipment available for cotton production, and past cotton yield.

The over-supply of cotton this year is principally due to a large carryover on Aug. 1 which resulted from the whopping 1953 crop of 16.3 million bales—the fourth largest in record in this country.

This will be the ninth time voting has occurred on cotton marketing quotas, the first having been held in March, 1938. In the last referendum in December of last year, quotas were favored by 94 per cent of farmers voting.

Two or three wells have been brought in recently in the Turkey area, offering hopes of better times for a section that has been unusually hard hit the past several years.

E. M. Green-haw is drilling the wells in the Lakeview community and has sufficient business to keep him busy for two months or more, according to reports.

Added impetus has been given to irrigation prospects recently by the fact that the Farmers Home Administration, real estate and insurance firms, banks, and other lending agencies are now offering loans for such operations at low rates of interest.

In view of this week's ginning total, those who have been predicting a yield of around 40,000 bales of cotton for Hall County apparently are not going to be far wrong.

Production in the county this year is the best since 1951, when 50,542 bales were ginned.

Cotton generally has been better north of Red River this year. Crops in the southern part of the county were poor, except in the Estelline-Hulver-Parnell section. The Baylor-Tell and the Turkey sections both had short crops.

Irrigation Outlook

Reports this week indicated that several persons are interested in having test wells put down on land, southwest of Memphis. If this were actually done, it might open still another section in this area to irrigation.

Approximately 3,800 acres in the county are under irrigation at the present time, County Agent W. B. Hooser estimates. Most of this is in the western part of the county, around Brice. A small acreage is being irrigated in the Friendship community, southwest of Memphis.

Spotlights County

The Extension Agent said he has the cooperation of the civic clubs, government agencies, bankers, the Commissioners' Court, Hall County Dairy Breeders Association, and the Memphis Chamber of Commerce and Hall County Board of Development in promoting and carrying out the county program.

Among other phases of the program are: Agronomy, which includes a seed improvement program; soil tests, fertilizer demonstrations, bindweed control; legume and cover crop planting; and use of improved grasses.

Agricultural engineering, such as soil improvement; dam, fence, creep feeder, self-feeder, crop duster, farm house, and farm building construction; terracing and contouring; farm and home safety; and farm and home electric programs.

Livestock, which includes: introduction of better dairy, beef cattle and swine dams and sires; feeding for production; and management practices.

Entomology, under which comes control of tree borers, fleahoppers, grasshoppers, bollworms, leafworms, green bugs, screw worms, lice and grub.

Horticulture, including increase of gardens; planting; orchards; control of diseases and parasites in gardens and orchards; and pruning and grafting trees.

Poultry, consisting of feeding for production; culling; controlling diseases and parasites; blood testing; and building poultry yard equipment and houses.

The 4-H program included self-betterment and leadership development, regular meetings; regular demonstrations with crops; livestock and poultry; safety and electrification programs; contests; tours; trips; shows; encampments; home beautification; and achievement days.

Also in the program were cotton ginning improvement and game management.

Radar Snares Four Speeders Near Here

Four speeding motorists were stopped Friday night during a radar check southeast of Memphis on Highway 287, according to local officers.

Two of the speeders were driving 80 miles an hour or faster and the others were going at speeds considerably over specified limits, according to the report.

The use of radar in combatting excessive speed on the highways of Texas was inaugurated Nov. 15 by the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Tractor Course Dates And Sites Are Announced

COLLEGE STATION—Dates and locations of seven district leader training schools for the 1955 4-H Tractor Maintenance program have been set, according to W. L. Ulich, extension agricultural engineer.

Two adult leaders from each county will be selected to attend a district training school. The two and one-half day sessions are held early in the year so the adult leaders and county agricultural agents may return and conduct a similar school for 4-H club members in their home county, Ulich explains.

Proof of the popularity of 4-H tractor maintenance is borne out by the 7,300 farm youth who last year enrolled and kept records under the guidance of some 300 adult leaders in Texas. The program, now in its tenth year, emphasizes proper tractor maintenance and adjustment, and not repair, says the engineer.

In 1950, Lone Star farmers spent $35,000,000 on tractor and equipment repair and shelled out $85,000,000 for petroleum products—gas, oil and greases. Ulich says much of the expense of repair could be saved if equipment was cared for and adjusted properly. By handling properly and having tractors and related equipment adjusted for optimum operation, he continues that the state's farmers could save up to 10 per cent on fuel costs.

"The 4-H Tractor program is designed to help farm youth learn to curb these unnecessary expenses," Ulich adds.

Schools are set for College Station, December 8-10; Lubbock, January 4-6; Weslaco, January 12-14; Tyler, January 24-26; Denton, February 1-3; Childress March 1-3; and Coleman, March 15-17.

County agents can furnish more information on the forthcoming schools, Ulich concludes.

Never A Dull Moment

Navyman Continues Saga Of Far East Jaunt

by Burl G. McClellan, J02, USN
(Editor's Note: Navy Journalist McClellan is on special assignment from the Public Information Office of Commander Cruiser-Destroyer Force, U. S. Pacific Fleet.)

ABROAD THE USS BAUSELL, OFF HAWAII—We long-legged Texans take lots of ribbing about sticking out of our six-foot racks. However, Lieutenant Paul O. Berman of the carrier USS PRINCETON doesn't join in the ribbing—Texans are his favorite people right now.

One of them, long-legged Vaden L. Pulley of Texas City (who can ride the bow of a small pitching whaleboat like a bronc) had pulled the lieutenant out of the Pacific after he had "ditched" his helicopter near the BAUSELL.

One day while Lt. Berman was attempting to hover his helio over the stern of the destroyer for a passenger transfer, his copter developed trouble and gently settled into the water about 100 feet from the side of the ship.

When the helio touched the water and Lt. Berman saw he could not get out of a ditching, he rolled the craft to the right. This was done so that the rotors would break up upon hitting the water. "We always do that," he said, "so we can get to the surface without being chopped up by the blades above us."

It proved a good practice, for all five men in the plane were picked up uninjured by other helicopters and the BAUSELL'S boat.

While the BAUSELL was getting its boat into the water, four "whirlbirds" dropped their slings and snatched four men out of the swim, but the fifth helicopter ran into trouble trying to get Lt. Berman.

Here is how the lieutenant told it after being picked up and brought to the BAUSELL.

"I got into the lowered sling, but there was too much line out and it tangled around my ankle. I motioned for the crewman in the helio to take some of it in, but his power wench failed. Then I unsnapped the sling from the shackle and used it for an extra life preserver.

"The wash from the hovering helicopter was driving water into my face like heavy rain, but finally I got my back to it and threw off my helmet. About that time the pilot saw the boat coming and flew away.

"I thought I was going to lose consciousness, but then I saw the whaleboat coming and knew I would be all right even if I did. My two life preservers would keep me on the surface until I was picked up."

Previously, Billy S. Neal of Monterey, Tenn., who coxained the boat during the rescue, had done some cool and fast thinking to save the boat from capsizing.

Little Change In Beef Cattle Outlook Is Seen

COLLEGE STATION.—Very little change in price and production is the beef cattle outlook for 1955.

Beef production is on a downswing and fewer animals are expected on farms in January, 1955, compared with last year, says John G. McHaney, extension agricultural economist. "How rapid the downward trend is a critical factor in formulating the '55 outlook," McHaney says. "The financial status of cattlemen under the influence of drought and low prices holds the big answer."

Total cattle slaughter in 1955 is expected to equal 1954 and calf slaughter will be "moderately" larger, he predicts. The price spread between high and low grade animals may broaden.

Demand for all meat products next year will be about the same as this year. The consumption of beef, however, is expected to drop to 78 pounds per capita. It currently is 79 pounds.

Prices of cows and stocker and feeder steers probably will be weaker than the higher grades, says the economist. The number of cattle on feed in January is expected to approximate those of 12 months earlier.

The import of livestock products from Mexico is due to be resumed Dec. 31. But, says McHaney, total imports into this country will be small—probably less than two per cent of total production—and will have little or no effect on home markets.

when it was launched from the destroyer.

The sea was rough and as the boat was lowered a big wave lifted the bow, tripping the automatic boat hook. This dropped the bow into the oncoming sea for what looked like a sure dunking for the crew and damage to the boat.

Neal quickly cut the small line holding the tripper on the after hook and tripped it. This allowed the boat to drop into the water and drift free.

Chief Hospital Corpsman S. Wierzbicki of Hickman Hill, Mo., who was in the boat, said he had seen the same thing happen twice before. On those occasions the boats had slammed into the side of the ship and pitched the crew into the water. "But, thankfully Neal's quick action saved us today," he added.

One of the passengers on the downed helicopter, a rather stout sailor, was sitting on the left side of the ship, next to a small emergency hatch, which looks even smaller for a man wearing a life jacket.

The sailor said when he realized the plane was going in, the first thing he thought of was how his parents would spend his $10,000 life insurance.

The next moment the plane was in the water; then the sailor on the surface being picked up. He said he didn't remember pushing the release lever on the hatch, or going through it. But he had to go that way, for the crewman and other passenger had used the big exit and he had beaten them to the surface.

Incidentally, the helicopter's number was 13.

Farm Exports Are Expected To Increase In 1955

Farmers may find more customers in foreign countries in 1955. Farm exports are expected to increase next year, perhaps up to 10 per cent, says John G. McHaney, extension agricultural economist.

Here is the basis for the economist's predictions:

Foreign cotton supplies are smaller than a year ago making larger shipments from the U. S. likely. Wheat and sorghum grain exports are expected to rise from relatively low levels of last year. Reduced foreign production is responsible.

A stronger demand abroad for fruits and fruit products coupled with larger U. S. supplies also point to stepped-up exports. Oils, fats and oilseed shipments will continue large also.

The Agricultural Trade Development and Assistance Act of 1954 will stimulate further agricultural shipments. Under the act foreign nations may purchase surplus commodities from the U. S.

The demand for our products has strengthened even in recent months, reports McHaney. In the 1953-54 marketing year exports topped $2,900,000,000, compared with $2,800,000,000 for the previous year. This was roughly 30 per cent under the peak established in 1951-52.

Healthier foreign markets are not a cure for this country's surplus problems, but will give strength to our total marketing position," McHaney concludes.

Hunters' Field Observations Wanted To Augment Routine Wildlife Sources

AUSTIN.—Utilization of hunters' field observations is being sought this fall to supplement routine wildlife intelligence sources, according to Howard D. Dodgen, executive secretary of the Game and Fish Commission.

Dodgen said experience has proved that valuable information on many subjects is provided by the hundreds of thousands of Texans who share in the fall game harvest.

"This is not a tall tales contest," explained the executive secretary, "but a sincere desire to capitalize on what the nimrod note in sampling the wonders of the wild.

"Our biologists and other field men spend a lifetime benefitting by the manifestations of the Animal Kingdom. Of course, all phases disclosed by laymen naturally have to be confirmed, but many good leads are obtained in this way."

A determined effort is being made this fall to obtain more accurate reports on hunters' success or failure in seeking the various species of game. For the first time, a spot check of 7,500 is being made to develop a better picture of hunting results or lack of results. Major changes in harvest regulations, possibly liberalizing bag limits and season limits on some species could result from this survey.

Dodgen suggested that hunters note any strange behavior of animals and be accurate in any incidents reported. He said all hunters should be extremely careful in approaching or handling a wild animal acting abnormally.

Even deer have been known in rare instances to have rabies.

It was suggested that hunters look out for themselves as well as for queer wildlife antics. The executive secretary pointed out that every fall hunting season is marked by a few persons, unfamiliar with the outdoors, getting snake bit. He emphasized that warm fall days bring out rattlesnakes, especially on the sunny sides of rocky slopes.

Rattlers are pretty hard to see against the natural camouflage," noted the executive secretary, "and are to be found oftentimes where the hunters cannot see, such as along a rocky ledge which a person might grasp in climbing up or down a cliff."

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Goodnight, Jr. and Susan visited Mr. and Mrs. Dulah Wigington Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Stanford spent the weekend in Dallas with relatives and attended a family reunion.

Agriculture

The Texas Department of Agriculture

"Riding A See-Saw"
You are familiar with the principle of the common see-saw; changes in weight at either end causes it to move up or down.

By the illustration of this children's toy, you can readily see how changes in livestock supplies causes the prices of cattle to vary. These changes may be from day to day, week to week, or month to month.

The biggest cause of changes in the see-saw of cattle prices from week to week is in the changes in the number of head sold for slaughter. When less cattle is sold during a particular week, it means that meat packers have less beef to sell and that the price of cattle can generally be expected to rise.

On the other hand, when numbers of cattle sold increase substantially, it means that packers have a lot more meat to sell and that producers can expect a decline in beef prices.

Changes in the wholesale price of beef are reflected in the prices bid for cattle. Here we see the economic see-saw in action. The prices producers can expect to receive for their livestock is governed by the amount of beef available in the market.

Feed supplies, weather, seasons and how the market looks to a particular stockman at a particular time are a few of the factors that enter into the all-important decision of when he should market his cattle. But in the final analysis,

Technical know-how on the modern farm isn't enough, continues Timm, adequate credit must be available to go with it. Borrowers must plan carefully for profitable credit use and lending institutions must be sure their policies and procedures contribute to this pattern, says the economist.

To aid commercial bankers, the School of Agriculture of Texas A. and M. College, is announcing its fourth annual Farm and Ranch Credit School. Only commercial bankers are eligible to attend the school which gets underway on Sunday evening, Dec. 5, and concludes at noon the following Wednesday.

The purpose of the school, according to Timm who is also extension economist, is to give the bankers an opportunity to get the latest information on important developments in agriculture and the changing requirements for credit.

If the figure exceeds the total acreage ever planted in cotton in any one year, it will be reduced to come within the designated percentage, the A. S. C. official said. However, this will apply to only a very small number of producers, he said.

The A. S. C. county committee has reserved an adequate amount of cotton acreage, to be used in correcting any error or to assist any undue hardship case that might arise.

Anyone finding an error in his allotment or feeling it will cause undue hardship is requested to apply to the committee for correction.

Merry Christmas

Too early? Not at all. This is exactly the time to be baking the individual fruit cakes you love to make for those special holiday gifts. Wise homemakers know fruit cake improves with age and always allow at least a month for the cakes to "ripen." However, keeping cakes as fresh and moist as when they came from the oven can be troublesome. Now you can solve this problem by using a new saran plastic food wrap. This sparkling clear moisture-proof film provides perfect protection; cakes can be wrapped for storage in a jiffy because the film clings to itself, needs no rubber bands or string. If cake must be handled considerably, a transparent tape will insure a neat package. When minutes are precious during the holiday rush, simply bring out the cakes, add a gay satin ribbon, and your glamorous gift is ready. See how easy? Just use your own favorite recipe or try this one which makes five one-pound cakes or, if you prefer, one large ring mold:

- Christmas Fruit Cake
- |                                |                                |
|--------------------------------|--------------------------------|
| 6 ounces butter (1 1/2 sticks) | 1 tsp. cinnamon                |
| 1 cup light brown sugar        | 1 tsp. mace                    |
| 1 tsp. vanilla                 | 1/2 tsp. nutmeg                |
| 3 large eggs (3/4 cup)         | 1/2 tsp. allspice              |
| 2 1/2 cups cake flour          | 1 lb. raisins                  |
| 1 tsp. baking powder           | 1 lb. candied pineapple, cubed |
| 1 tsp. salt                    | 1 lb. candied cherries, whole  |
- 6 ounces pecan halves

Cream together the butter, sugar and vanilla. Add the eggs, one at a time, beating after each. Sift together the dry ingredients. Sift about half over the fruit in a large bowl and stir to coat well. Add remainder to creamed mixture. Combine the two, stirring to blend evenly. Bake in moderate oven (300° F.) two hours for small cakes or 3 hours for large. Cool; decorate with Christmas motif; wrap in saran, leaving top clear to show decoration; and store in freezer or cool place until time for giving. For best flavor allow at least one month for "ripening." You'll find these little fruit cakes in their glamorous holiday costumes perfect for all those extra remembrances on your gift list.

Fresh Cranberry Sauce Full Of Zest

These fall days bring with them equally crisp fresh cranberries which in late September and early October to brighten our fall and winter tables.

Cranberries are available in many forms—canned, frozen and jelly—fresh cranberries like other fresh fruits have a taste that can't be equalled in any other condition. Experts tell us that fresh cranberries bounce, and this test is applied in selecting fresh cranberries for packing and shipping. They will put the same kind of bounce in fall meals in addition to adding their marvelous color.

The oldest way of cooking cranberries is known as "ten-minute cranberry sauce." Here's the recipe:

10-Minute Cranberry Sauce

2 cups sugar 2 cups water
4 cups Eatomr Cranberries

Sugar and water together 5 minutes. Add cranberries and boil, stirring, until all the skins pop open—about 5 minutes. Remove heat and cool in saucepan. Makes 2 1/2 lbs. 10-Minute Cranberry

Quail Season In Texas Likely Better Than Last Year Although Spotted

AUSTIN—The quail season under the General State Law apparently will be an improvement over last fall but will be "somewhat spotted," said Howard D. Dodgen, executive secretary of the Game and Fish Commission.

The statewide season, running from December 1 through January 16, is expected to be particularly good in parts of north Texas and in south central Texas as well as in parts of the coastal plains.

"The quail population seems to have hit bottom during last year's extreme dry weather," said Dodgen. "The state still is dry generally but in some parts timely rains came last spring and summer and this should produce improved conditions."

The bobwhite prospects improved so much in the Panhandle that the Game and Fish Commission some time ago raised the daily and possession limit from six and twelve bird bags last year to ten per day and twenty in possession this fall. The Commission has regulatory authority over a twenty-eight county Panhandle bracket and thus is able to adjust seasons according to conditions.

The general state season is determined by Legislative Act. Recent emphasis on the plight of the quail has stimulated greater general interest in aiding propagation of the fleet game birds according to Wildlife Biologist Dan Lay of Buna who specializes in quail research. He said inquiries about means of restoring habitat indicate widespread determination to help the quail come back.

"If we can get the folks interested and the drought breaks, it won't take long to restore bobwhite quail," said Lay, "because quail are absolutely amazing in their reproductive capacity when given a chance."

The executive secretary said containers are being distributed to several thousand hunters to collect quail wings for scientific study. Hunters who will either obtain the containers direct or through game wardens or wildlife biologists are asked to place one wing in the bags from each quail shot. The wings from cocks and hens should be separated. Location of the hunt and date also are needed.

Limits under the General State Law are twelve quail per day and not more than thirty-six in possession. But limits as well as season dates vary in many localities. Details are contained in the Game Law Digests available through game wardens or license dealers.

Daily shooting hours under the General State Law are from one half hour before sunrise to one half hour after sunset.

The company merged with the Washington National Life Insurance Company five years ago.

Before health caused his retirement, Mr. Griffith was national director and traveled throughout the United States as a representative of the two companies for about 20 years.

He had lived in Dallas since 1942.

Other survivors include: his wife, Mrs. Ethel Griffith of Dallas; a son, William M. Griffith of Stockton, Calif.; a brother, Ben Griffith of Alvord; and five grandchildren.

Lamb county 4-H club boy, Doyce Turner won first place in the 1954 Texas Hybrid Corn Production program and at the same time set a new state record. Irrigation, Texas Hybrid 30 and 200 pounds of 16-20-0 per acre was the combination that produced a whopping 204.3 bushels to the acre. The state average is roughly 17 bushels.

Stockmen Advised On Screw Worms

Hall County stockmen are advised to look out for screw-worms and to treat all livestock wounds to prevent worm infestation.

Mild winters, similar to this one induce an early worm build up, says W. B. Hooser, County Agent.

To prevent and curb infection Hooser recommends EQ-335 smear. It contains lindane which gives a lasting killing effect. One application a week, except in severe cases, will do the job.

Screw-worms increase rapidly once present. If headed off from the start, a lot of trouble can be avoided, the County Agent says.

Report From Washington

By Walter Rogers

Congressman, 18th District

Probable Presidential recommendations to Congress by people in the political atmosphere of Washington are won't what the President will recommend to Congress. This same is no doubt causing the advisors much concern. It will be remembered that there was much complaint that Congress would not cooperate with the President to put over his dynamic program. However, one seemed to take the part of the program was the measures recommended by the President were passed by Congress because they considered in the best interest of this country. Some fell away because the Congress not so consider them. It is noted that some of the measures passed because they were consistently voted in previous sessions of Congress failed by a much larger margin they failed in this last session. This was because there was such a vote switching in the House of Congress. This was the fact that Eisenhower's stamp of approval that had been given in the years by the very Congress who found themselves with the responsibility of trying out Eisenhower's program. If the President can retain support of his party on his bills, he may see legislation that he has advocated and passed, but which many members of his own party neglected to be passed and did not to be passed, such as the health re-insurance program, stepped up public housing program, a much relaxed reciprocal authority, and so forth. It is presently expected that the health re-insurance plan meet with the same opposition from the medical profession as those who consider this program a step in the direction of socialized medicine. The program for additional public housing of course is protested by the building organizations and associated trades. The record of housing is not good. The program of the trade barriers course is opposed by all addition of high tariffs, as well as for the labor organizations. The world trade problem is one of the toughest that we will have in the future.

NO TRAFFIC WORRIES: Washington has many cars with "DPL" licenses. This means they belong to the diplomatic corps and are entitled to diplomatic immunity. When they get a traffic ticket, they merely claim the immunity, and that is the end of it. I saw where 98 such tickets were cancelled over a period of about three days.

Hunters' Field Observations Wanted To Augment Routine Wildlife Sources

AUSTIN—How he hunted and bagged the world's record white-tailed buck trophy is described by Henderson Coquat of San Antonio in the December issue of Texas Game and Fish Magazine.

The giant white-tailed, officially recognized by the Boone and Crockett Club, had a rack spread of 27 inches. It was taken in Webb County in deep South Texas in the fall of 1949 but it was not formally designated as the king of the white tails until last March.

Coquat bought the scene of the historic harvest—the Old Apache Ranch—from the government in the fall of 1948. The ranch, on the east bank of the Rio Grande about fifty miles north of Laredo, was part of a bombing ranch during the last war. It bore so much shooting evidence that the new owner said he doubted "that much game had survived the mighty bombardments of our eager young pilots."

The champion went on in his narrative: "But I had not given full credit to the cunning and the courage of the whitetail. Not only had a goodly number of them survived, but they had learned what a man with a gun meant, and how to outwit him."

Coquat related how he had become increasingly intrigued by the tall tales brought back by his guests who referred to the enchanted bucks "with rocking chair like heads that stared them into inaction."

Here is Coquat's own description of the climax to his quest: "I was alert and quiet in feeling that a huge-ghostly, gray deer was threading his way through the chaparral and cactus about 200 yards away. He may have been sneaking through the chaparral and cactus about 200 yards away . . . but whatever his business, he sensed my presence just as I sensed his, and started in the opposite direction with that quick, crazy, dodging motion that has saved the lives of millions of his kind.

"But I had seen his horns and realized in that millionth of a second that he was the deer I had hunted all my life. All the years of hunting experience, and all the hunters' instinct, surged up in me in that flashing moment, and my .250 began to talk. The first two shots had hollow sounds, and I knew they had not touched him. Then just the right shot showed at just the right instant, and the touch of the trigger was synchronized as happens in the best (or the luckiest) of shots. The crack of the rifle was followed by the thud of the bullet that said success. Down went the great rack of horns, and all was quiet except my pounding heart."

Mrs. E. P. Thompson returned home Sunday from a two-weeks vacation and visit at Dalhart with her brother and wife. They spent 12 days at Truth or Consequences, N. M., taking the baths and healing treatments.

Ted Fowler, student at Texas Western College in El Paso, was home to spend the Thanksgiving holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Fowler.

GIANTESS . . . Talking to reporter in Hamburg, Germany, is world's tallest woman, Miss K. Van Deyck of Netherlands. She's eight feet, five inches and is making a film in Berlin.

Lice And Ticks Injure Cattle

Lice and ticks on dairy and beef cattle can cause a sharp drop in milk and meat production, but such losses are easily averted if proper insect control measures are carried out.

W. B. Hooser, County Agricultural Agent, recommends for the control of lice five-tenths per cent methoxychlor or three-hundredths per cent lindane. One spraying with methoxychlor usually gives adequate lice control but two treatments of lindane at two week intervals are often needed, Hooser explains.

One per cent rotenone or one-tenth per cent pyrethrin gives effective control of ticks. Repeated and thorough applications, he adds reduce tick populations most effectively.

Texans Reminded Of Toll Taken By Tuberculosis

AUSTIN—Governor Allan Shivers has reminded Texas that it is paying a staggering toll to tuberculosis.

He gave further emphasis by warning that TB can invade any home at any time.

In an official memorandum designating November 22 - December 25 as Christmas Seal Month, Texas, the governor said, disease still imposes a heavy burden in its "wanton waste of man's happiness, economic well-being and community well-being."

He paid tribute to the tuberculosis associations' half century "organized citizen to aid the Seal on all Yuletide mail."

Industriousness Builds Character

Plenty has been heard in recent years of delinquency among the youth of this nation and the situation is becoming more serious as each year passes. In view of this trend, and the amount of time and space devoted to juvenile delinquents, it is a pleasure to read and hear of young people who are accomplishing worthwhile things. Actually, there are far more of this kind of youngsters than of the other, despite the impression we may get sometimes.

One of the great number of fine, upstanding young people of our nation and state is 16-year-old Ernest Butler of Mabank, Tex. He, like many boys and girls in this country and throughout the United States, is active in agricultural club work.

As a result of his efforts, he is competing this year for the national 4-H championship in soil and water conservation, after earlier winning the state and sectional awards.

James Simmons, his county agent, says the conservation record that Ernest has made is one hard to beat.

The youth commenced his conservation work five years ago, at the time his father, E. C. Butler, superintendent of the Mabank schools purchased a rough, 1,000-acre farm on a creek which was ten miles from town. Most of the land was in timber or persimmons roots.

Since then, the farm has been improved until it provides year-round grazing for about 100 head of Hereford cattle. In addition, it produces all their feed and 100 acres have been planted in cotton. A large part of the cotton land made a half bale to the acre this year, at the same time that the county average was about one-fifth of a bale.

From the time young Ernest started his 4-H activities, he was a partner with his dad in operating the farm. They have frequent conferences with the county agent, the Mabank unit of the Kaufman-Van Zandt-Rockwall Soil Conservation District, and other agricultural agencies, in formulating their future plans.

Possibly the first thing the father-son combination did was to construct some diversion terraces to send water around the sides of the bottom land rather than letting it cut through the land and create gullies as in the past.

Then they utilized a bulldozer and a rotary cutter to remove persimmon sprouts and timber growth.

Because water from the creek backed up over the bottom land during overflow periods, the partners planted Kentucky 31 Fescue on it. This particular grass was chosen for its ability to withstand the onslaught of flood waters.

The Fescue was overseeded with white Dutch clover for cool season and Kobe lespedeza for warm season in order to furnish nitrogen supply without the necessity of adding fertilizer.

As the upland was cleared, Bermuda grass was planted on it and vetch was added to provide nitrogen for the grass as well as to extend the grazing time.

Still striving to improve the quality of their land, the Butlers constructed a dam across an eroded area. Out of this has developed a three-acre lake, which Ernest has fertilized and stocked with a balanced group of fish.

Another of the boy's projects is a one-acre nursery of Coastal Bermuda which he established this year.

The father and son's efforts paid off this year when cattle grazed on grass until August despite prolonged drouth. Besides this, sufficient hay and feed were harvested to carry the livestock through the winter.

But while Ernest was helping his dad build up the large acreage, he was also developing, as proved by the fact that he has been a straight-A student and has engaged in a lengthy list of 4-H Club activities. Among these have been that of a junior leader at 4-H camps, in which he aided younger boys in understanding 4-H work. He has participated in grass judging contests for three years and has placed high in district, regional and state competition.

Butler plans to attend Baylor University to take studies leading to a doctor's career but says farming will always be a vital part of his life.

Ernest Butler—and millions of young people like him—are laying foundations today that will make them strong, respected citizens when they become adults. The chances are that many juvenile delinquents would also grow up to be useful citizens if they were encouraged to find out for themselves the joy to be derived from worthwhile accomplishment.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES

Press Paragraphs—
QUOTING OUR NEIGHBORS

SELF INTEREST
"People who tell other people how public affairs ought to be conducted (like editorial writers, for instance) are always talking about "enlightened self-interest." And well they should! For when one is motivated by enlightened self-interest it means that he has discovered some, at least, of the identity of his good with the common good. It means also that the common good (which is understandably diffused) by his devotion to his own concerns (which is, equally understandably, very particular indeed).

"One of the best and most commendable examples of this we have seen in some time is to be found in the sponsorship of a new organization. Keep America Beautiful, Inc., by the container and packaging industry. It has been the makers of the cans, bottles, boxes, and wrappers who woke up first to the idea that they might be in for a good deal of ill-will from those disgusted with the littering of highways and public places.

"So much for the self-interest. But the man who made the empty bottle on the roadside probably is irritated by the man who made the gum wrappers on the sidewalk. And they both are citizens, too, offended by anybody's litter. The upshot of all this has been an alliance with organization who are also against litter for all sorts of self-interest and public-interest motives, from the American Automobile Association to the Garden Clubs of America.
"That's the way these things work. And it's a pretty good way."
—Ochiltree County Herald (Perryton)

RATE SETTING
Congratulations to the Lamb County Farm Bureau on its stand for a state public utilities commission whose job it will be to determine the real costs of furnishing Texans with gas, electricity and telephone service and to set rates which cover these costs and allow a fair return on invested capital, and no more.

Rural utility subscribers must now pay whatever utilities decide to charge them. And the townspeople are really no better off. City commissions are unable to determine the actual costs so in the end must give the utility companies just about whatever they demand. And some of them have been pretty demanding.

None of us like to see more power concentrated in a government so far away as Austin, but it would be extremely wasteful for each town and county to try to employ a staff of accountants to supply it with cost information on each utility company serving it. One staff at Austin can do the job for the entire state at a price we can afford.

The Farm Bureau has a habit of backing up its resolutions with legislative action. Everyone of us ought to give them all the help we can on this one.
—Lamb County Leader (Littlefield)
