A Minute Against Your Life

"Would you gamble your life to save a minute?" That seems like a foolish question, the Texas Safety Association said recently, but believe it or not, thousands of persons take that chance every year—and lose.

You have only to watch peoples' actions in traffic to see what terrible odds they frequently bet their lives against. That's bad enough but they go even farther than that, by betting the lives of others.

They do this in any number of ways. Perhaps they are hurrying to get to work, or it may be that they are late for an appointment. On the other hand, they may have finished their day's duties and are rushing home or somewhere else for dinner. Or, perhaps they have a holiday or are on vacation and are trying to cover as much territory as they can.

Whatever the reason, the fact remains that they feel they are pressed for time, with the result that they begrudge taking even a minute—or a few seconds—to make sure they arrive at their destinations—alive and safe.

To save the minute or seconds, they drive too fast for conditions, fail to yield the right-of-way, drive in the wrong lane, cut in and out of traffic, run signal lights or stop signs, pull out into heavy traffic or back recklessly out of driveways.

As pedestrians, they are just as bad. They "jay walk," bolting across streets and highways despite motor traffic, often without looking to right or left. They dart into streets from between parked automobiles, they get caught in the middle of a thoroughfare, and they dare vehicular traffic even though their vision or hearing is poor.

In too many cases these chance-takers lose and become hospital patients—if they are lucky. If not, death rakes in all the chips and the victims wind up on funeral home slabs.

As anyone with sense can see, this isn't a pretty picture in any way, but it continues, nevertheless, apparently from the mistaken notion of many people that "it can't happen to me."

Certainly, many traffic deaths and injuries would never occur if both motorists and pedestrians would realize that "it can happen to me," and take it a little slower on streets and highways.

If concrete evidence of this statement is needed, more than 38,000 persons died last year as a result of traffic mishaps and in addition, more than one million others were injured. Not all of the victims were traffic offenders, themselves, but without question someone who was involved in each accident, was.

Pretty good advice is some we heard years ago. It went something like this: "Drive like everyone else on the road is a fool—because he may be." It seems reasonable to think that if all of us would follow this admonition, more of us would have a better prospect of living out our normal lives.

The next time any of us are tempted to take a chance in traffic, we should pause and ask ourselves:

"Am I in such a hurry, that it's worth gambling my life on it?"

TIMES STILL GOOD

Only long enough to stop for a clean out of the shoe string speculator once or twice a month has the stock market gone in any direction except upward for two years. We refer to stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange. And, apparently the end is not in sight if the market follows, as it usually does, the way of business. Right now steel orders, says U. S. Steel, are on file for enough business to keep steel mills going for several months. Likewise the outlook for building is far and a way ahead of the outlook for this same time last year. Easy money, lots of credit. Even the federal government is not willing yet, to put a major part of its debt on a long range basis. The market is absorbing municipal, state and county bond issues as fast as they come to bat. This last is contrary to the situation as it was six months ago. And, although the debt for installment payments is huge, the encouraging fact is that this kind of debt is the liquidating kind and the spigot can be turned off at any time. Debt against real property, not including houses, is away down. The time to look for hard times that move in a wave from east to west is when everybody is in debt, the land is plastered, there is a frenzy of speculation, money is high, and there is whistling to keep up courage in the higher echelons of finance. None of these are apparent to us. —Floyd County Hesperian (Floydada)

EUROPEAN BOOM

All of the countries this side of the Iron Curtain are booming. It seems, and while we have long heard of the amazing German recovery, most of us were surprised to learn that England is also on a boom. Only country that isn't experiencing a wave of prosperity is France, where the biggest problem seems to be how to get people off wine and on to milk as a national drink.

Of course, American aid has primed the pump for European recovery. Billions of dollars have been poured into foreign lands and the American taxpayer is glad to get the European countries on their own feet.

This leaves only Asia and other assorted countries still on the American relief list, we suppose.

If England, Germany, Belgium, Luxembourg and Holland are flourishing as never before, it seems to us that now is an ideal time to discontinue foreign aid appropriations.

Of course, this will mean that America will have to find jobs for the thousands of American abroad now administering U. S. aid, but we have the feeling that this can be done at another saving by getting them off the government payroll.

—Ochiltree County Herald (Perryton)

NEW-CAR MADNESS

If there's one thing Americans positively refuse to do, it is walk—anywhere they don't absolutely have to. In fact, the thing has developed to such an extent that they demand to be "in style" with one of the latest automobiles fresh from Detroit even if it means putting the family on a bread-and-water diet for 18 months.

A very good illustration of this fact is the obvious mania with which the new models from auto manufacturers are being received across the nation.

Instead of the coffee table questions sounding like "Wonder who'll win the Cotton Bowl this year?" it is now "Have you seen the new Thunderbird," or "How do you like that new Chevrolet

V-8," or "Plymouth has really shot the works this year, don't you think?"

All of which is very typically American. Our consumption of the luxuries of life is a fabulous factor in the eyes of the world. Why we will go slap-happy over a couple of tons of machinery (which in most cases we can't immediately afford) is more than other can imagine.

The automobile industry is basic for America.

Without it, we would be years, perhaps decades, behind in economic development. Bring on those shiny new cars—we'll look them over and "oh ah" about their beauty even though we can't afford one!

Lindsey gave a beautiful Christmas devotional. Janice Smith played a piano selection and Billie Jean Stroehle sang "The Holy City." Mrs. Emma Baskerville gave the Christmas story, "The Blue Beads," by Fulton Ouslet.

Each member present was given a gift-wrapped package, but it was hers for only a moment.

Mrs. H. Bird then read a Christmas story and each time the word "Santa" was repeated the gift was shifted to the lady at the right. Sometimes the gifts were held for several moments and again shifted as quickly as possible which caused much merriment. The gift held when the story was concluded was the guests personal gift.

The gifts were then opened and viewed with admiration.

Tasty refreshments were served to the following: Meses. J. W. Fitzjerald, Henry Scott, H. Bird, Allie Caviness, Bill Merrill, T. J. Bridges, Ed McMurry, W. D. McQueen, Theodore Swift, L. G. Dasco, Henry Hays, Jean Lamb, Ollie Jones, Sam Foxhall, H. H.

Lindsey, Estelle Barber, J. S. McMurry, Claud Betts, Emma Baskerville, J. H. Smith, Frank Smith, J. M. Saunders, Myrtle Brown and Dave Leffew.

Mrs. Felix Jarrell and Harvey visited in Estelline Saturday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Burnett.

Felix Jarrell spent Christmas Day in Amarillo with his mother and sister, Mrs. W. C. Jarrell and Mr. and Mrs. Bryant Maddox.

Mr. and Mrs. Jake Roberts and Denny of Abilene spent the holidays with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Roberts and Mrs. Ora Denny.

Report From Washington

By Walter Rogers

Congressman, 18th District

Welcome 1955

We will always welcome the New Year because man instinctively looks forward, not backward. He looks forward with great zest to new horizons, new experiences, new adventures, and the opportunity to meet the challenges that these present. 1955 will bring many new problems to supplement the old ones that have not yet been solved. New approaches will be employed and many of the old problems will be solved in whole or in part, as well as many of the new ones. All of man's problems will not be solved in 1955, or in any other year, but great progress will be made in all fields.

The international situation will continue more or less as it is. Red China will continue its efforts to force its way into the United Nations or to destroy that organization altogether. The imprisonment of the American fliers by Red China is, in my opinion, part of the master plan conceived in the minds of the Russians and the Red Chinese to force the recognition of the Red government and the ultimate admission of that government into the United Nations to replace the Nationalist regime that now represents China there. There is little chance that any major armed conflict will occur. We can expect local hostilities in several places, the exact locale to be chosen by the Russian and the Red Chinese governments. It can be expected that Red China will increase the tempo of its campaign to take Formosa. The intensity of this increase will depend upon what Red China thinks the United States will do in a showdown. The European countries will gain strength in 1955, and there is an excellent chance that the barrier against the encroachment of communism in that section of the world will be measurably strengthened.

On the home front, we can expect the following from Washington:

The administration will press for much additional public housing. This is a proposal that will probably be softly worded so as not to unduly offend those supporters of the administration, both in and out of public life, who have continually opposed public housing. It's rather humorous to watch some of the most bitter and outspoken opponents of public housing.

... or while you do your shopping.

housing trying to apologize for this part of the President's program.

The compulsory health insurance plan will be revived under an assumed name, and vigorous efforts will be made to pass it. The doctors are already beginning to write Members of Congress about it and asking them to oppose it. It presently appears that it will be waged to bring Hawaii and Alaska into statehood status.

The year will probably end up with some additional 5 billion dollars being allocated to defense. Most of this will go to the Air Force, simply because that is where it was cut off last year. This will mean new blood for business but will write off any chance to balance the budget.

Additional foreign aid funds will be requested but will no doubt be cut down measurably. The recent action of India in creating itself into a socialistic state will create a foreign aid problem that will cause many furrowed brows in the State Department.

Efforts will be made by the Congress to bring about early readjustments in the farm program. These moves will be fought by the Department of Agriculture and perhaps by the administration.

We are also expecting an early move in Congress to bring about tax relief for the individual in the form of an increased individual and dependent exemption. This will also be fought by the administration, and may not go through this year. One of the main arguments against it will be that taxes on corporations due to be decreased this year will be extended at the present of the administration.

The possibility of getting direct federal aid to education will no doubt be tested by the administration during this session of Congress. The results of the test will determine whether or not legislation for such direct federal aid to education will be pushed.

There will be several items on the legislative calendar designed to decrease the powers of boards and bureaus. Many of us are most anxious to see what will happen to those if they pass the Congress.

I could go on ad infinitum, but this is enough for the newsletter.

VISITOR: I had lunch last week with Royce Thompson, who is the brother of columnist Tommy Thompson of the Amarillo Globe-Times. Royce, like his brother, Tommy, is a real West Texan. He is a civilian employee with the Army, stationed here in Washington. His duties have to do with the preparation of a history of World War II. This work was originally advocated by President Eisenhower when he was Chief of Staff. It is an excellent job of research that points up the fact that man lives by the trial and error method. The preparation of this history in detail will afford valuable information for future generations.

Cutback In Turkey Production Seen In Coming Year

COLLEGE STATION—Turkey raisers have an eye on reduced production in 1955 because of today's low prices.

Such a trend is expected after a record 61,045,000 birds this year, says John G. McHaney, extension agricultural economist. The extent of cutback in 1955 depends upon the number of breeder hens held for hatching egg production, says the economist.

Sixteen per cent more light-breed birds and about six per cent more heavy type turkeys were fed out this year. Prices, generally, are five to six cents a pound below last year.

Despite these figures, McHaney says Texas has not kept pace with other turkey producing areas. "The 'in and outers' increase and decrease the total turkey supply and effect prices received by all producers. The stable and efficient producers are the ones who build a solid industry and put it on a competitive basis with other high producing areas," says McHaney.

County Emergency Program Extended

Designation of Hall County as an area where eligible farmers can obtain emergency loans from the Farmers Home Administration has been extended by the U. S. Department of Agriculture until December 31, 1955, J. J. Roan, Jr., county supervisor, has announced. Applications are made at the Farmers Home Administration county office.

The office for Hall County is located at 505 Main St. in Memphis. In applying for assistance a farmer must certify that because of substantial losses from the adverse weather conditions, or due to economic factors, he is unable to get from local private or cooperative sources the necessary financing to continue his normal operations.

Eligibility of applicants is determined by the Farmers Home Administration county committee. Committeemen for Hall County are: Del E. Wells, Lakeview; Joe W. Eddins, Estelline; and Lucien I. Davis, Memphis.

These loans may be made for feed, fertilizer, and for other essential farm and home operating expenses. Emergency loans may not be made to pay existing debts. Ordinarily, emergency loans to meet current operating and living expenses are expected to be repaid out of the year's income. Amounts advanced for crop production purposes are repayable when the income from the sale of the crops produced with the loans is received. No loan is made unless it appears that an applicant has reasonable prospects for success.

The government obtains the best security possible for each loan made, including a first lien on all crops to be produced with the loan.

While emergency loans cannot be used to refinance existing debts, the loans can include funds to pay for the annual depreciation on chattels serving as security for prior loans.

Admission prices for each session will be 25 cents for students and 50 cents for adults.

The opening contest Thursday afternoon will be between the Lelia Lake and Clarendon girls.

Other first round contests are as follows: Lelia Lake and Quitaque boys, 2:15 p. m., Thursday; Lakeview and Kirkland girls, 3:30 p. m., Thursday; Estelline and Hedley boys, 6:00 p. m., Thursday; Hedley and Memphis girls, 7:15 p. m., Thursday; and Memphis and Kirkland boys, 8:30 p. m., Thursday.

Opening round tilts will continue on Friday as follows: Quitaque and Estelline girls, 9:00 a. m., Lakeview and Clarendon boys, 10:15 a. m.

Second round play will begin at 1 p. m. Friday and end Saturday morning. Finals are scheduled to start at 5:30 p. m., Saturday, with the last contest slated to commence at 9:15 p. m. Four contests in all have been set for that evening.

First, second and third place winners in both the boys' and girls' divisions will receive awards and gold basketballs will go to the five boys and the six girls who compose the all-tournament teams in the two sections. The teams will be selected by the coaches whose teams participate in the tournament.

Last year, Samnorwood teams won both divisions. The Carey boys were second in their division and the Lelia Lake girls were second in theirs.

On Tuesday night, preceding the tournament next week, the Memphis boys and girls will be hosts to their counterparts from Estelline in the local gymnasium. The first game is scheduled to start at 7:30 o'clock.

George Childress said this morning that the high school girls' team, which he coaches, would resume workouts today. Childress and his family were caught in the snow and ice storm which disrupted traffic in the Vernon-Quannah areas Tuesday night. They were forced to turn back before getting to Vernon and spent the night in Wichita Falls. They came on home Wednesday.

Recruiter To Be Here Next Thursday

Daryl G. Ford, boilerman first class, U. S. Navy Recruiter from the Navy Recruiting Substation at Amarillo, will be at the Memphis post office next Thursday from 8 a. m. until 12 noon.

Applications are now being accepted from all young men between the ages of 17 and 31 who can qualify for the "All West Texas" navy recruit company now being formed for January, 1955.

The company will consist of men from the Amarillo and Lubbock areas who will be together until completion of their nine weeks "recruit training" at San Diego, Calif. This company will be made up of 78 Texans.

All men interested may obtain more information by calling or writing to the U. S. Navy Recruiting Station, Box 1007, Amarillo, Texas, or by contacting the U. S. Navy Recruiter on his visit to Memphis.

Investigated the collision. Roop, who was following Castleberry, swerved his automobile in an unsuccessful attempt to miss the rear end of the truck. Both vehicles were headed south.

Wright quoted Castleberry as saying he was trying to make up his mind whether to turn down North Tenth Street or to take the alternate South Front Street route, at the time of the crash.

The impact badly damaged the automobile and knocked the back of the truck out of line, Wright said. Castleberry was driving a 1949 Ford truck and the Roops' were in a 1951 Plymouth sedan. Both of the vehicles had to be towed away from the scene.

According to the chief of police, Mrs. Thelma Roop was riding in the front seat of the car with her son. Roop's wife and daughter were in the back seat.

The Roops' were en route to San Antonio from a visit with relatives at Dumas. Sgt. Roop is stationed at Kelly Field, where he is a clerk.

Castleberry was coming to Memphis to pick up a load of cottonseed products at the local oil mill, Wright said.

The Roop family was taken to the hospital by Spicer ambulance. Spicer Funeral Home was to send the body of Mrs. Roop to Adrian, Mich.

Mrs. Roop had been visiting in this region for about a week. She was a practical nurse.

Survivors, other than the son, include a daughter, Miss Jean Roop of Adrian.

aid Corley, Lloyd West, Don Beasley, Max McCoy, Buzzy Patrick, Frank Norman and Duke Frisbie, all of Texas Tech; Sheldon Anisman, Wendell Orand and Dottie Deaver, all of the University of Texas; Jim Walker and Margaret Massey, of Baylor University; Rayford Hutcherson, Clarendon Junior College; Clinton Jones and Bety Stewart, of Hardin-Simmons University; and Janice Anthony of the University of New Mexico.

Rev. Jim H. Sharp, pastor of the Methodist Church here, spoke on "Meeting the Unexpected." He said that Life frequently is called a game but that it is anything but that. Instead it is a battle, and one that is often hard fought, he declared. In view of this, he admonished his listeners to be ready at all times to meet any unexpected turn.

John Fowler was program chairman.

Approximately 60 persons attended the luncheon.

day and Saturday evenings of last week, breaking several windows and denting the sides of some of the cars. Fortunately, no one was hurt.

H. C. Preslar, special agent for the railroad, estimated the damage to the four trains at around $1,000. Most of this was to the metal sides of the passenger trains he said.

The missiles consisted almost entirely of rocks. Officers said one of the rocks weighed one and a quarter pounds.

The boys were picked up Sunday afternoon, as a result of combined efforts of sheriff's officers, city police, and the special agent.

The hearing was held before County Judge Tracy Davis. County Judge William B. Teague participated in the conference.

the patrol car. Fortenberry was in a 1949 Ford sedan and the Hatleys' were in a 1953 Dodge sedan. The fronts and windshields of both cars were badly smashed. The 1954 Ford sedan, driven by Callaway, was less extensively damaged but required some repairs.

Mr. Fortenberry, 48 years old, was en route from Lockney to Mulberry, Ark., to look after some farm and ranch property, at the time of the collision. He also was associated with the gin business.

He was born Oct. 27, 1906, near Hedley and grew up there.

Survivors, other than Mrs. Messer, include his wife, Mrs. Nina Fortenberry, Lockney; another daughter, Mrs. Leon Hill, Amarillo; a brother, Clay Fortenberry, Amarillo; two sisters, Mrs. Pearl Armstrong, Amarillo, and Mrs. Ruby Reed, Lefors; and five granddaughters and one grandson.

Also surviving are: three stepdaughters, Mrs. John Hill, Hedley, Mrs. J. E. Stephens, Garland, Tex., and Miss Patricia Reed, Lockney; and five step-grandchildren.

Pallbearers were Jett Hoggard, Joe Wood, F. L. Hill, O. C. Sargent, M. C. DeBoard and Roy McKee.

Memphis was 2.02 inches, raising the year's figure to 7.07 inches. Average fall in other parts of the county during the late May showers reportedly averaged around 2 inches. May bowed out with more showers, the heaviest apparently occurring in the Lakeview, Lesley and Brice communities. Precipitation in Memphis totaled 8.13 inches at the close of the month.

Thick dust which had swept the area late in May, continued as June came on the scene. This was accompanied by hot temperatures which were blunted by moderate to heavy showers at various points around the month's midpoint.

Crops were covered up by deluges at some points but in contrast, farmers in some localities had to fight dust or sand to keep them from destroying vegetation.

But weather was just about ideal the latter part of June and crops speeded up their growth.

Moisture in Memphis at this stage amounted to 9.72 inches, according to Weatherman John McMickin.

Conditions in July remained hot and dry until toward the end of the month when precipitation of as much as an inch occurred and cooled temperatures temporarily. Memphis had .34 of an inch, pushing the total for the year to 10.08 inches.

The showers continued as August took over. Hard driving hail caused extensive damage to crops in a strip, running from the Salisbury to the Friendship communities. Wind and some hail also damaged some property in Memphis.

Toward the middle of the month, additional showers occurred, as was some light hail.

A number of points had moderate to heavy rains as August moved into its closing days and crops in these sections were looking good. August downpours increased the Memphis total to 14.26 inches.

September did a turnaround, with no measurable precipitation being received during the 30-day period. The prolonged hot weather hurt heavily loaded crops, causing them to "throw off" fruit, or to "burn up."

Not until early in October did any more showers fall in this section. The showers resulted in a temporarily halt in crop gathering. Precipitation in Memphis rose to 5.13 inches.

Except for this moisture, the crop harvest continued relatively unabated most of the fall, to permit producers to realize almost the maximum benefit in grade and staple from their cotton, as well as good returns from their feeds.

November weather was almost all excellent for harvest operations early in December, strong westerly and northerly winds stirred up thick choking dust. Near the mid-point of the month, showers reappeared, with Memphis getting .52 of an inch, to bring the overall figure here to 15.65 inches. Blowing dust also occurred at times, both then and later. But as Christmas neared, weather became springlike, to continue this way until this week, when the coldest temperatures of the season chilled the area. Strong northerly winds intensified the cold. Light snow and some accompanied the change.

The high winds drifted snow did fall, leaving but little benefit uncovered. As of now, the surface would have been anywhere, since the snow was relatively inconsequential. Memphis, moisture measure to only .03 of an inch, according to McMickin. This eased the record for the year up to 15.68 inches.

The minimum temperature Wednesday morning was 15 degrees, after a high of 32 degrees. The Tuesday minimum represented only a 5-degree rise from the low of 27 degrees early Tuesday morning.
