Gas Line Broken Near Here Sunday

The four inch natural gas line that furnishes Clarendon, Lakeview, Hedley and Lelia Lake with fuel was broken Sunday morning at seven o'clock about one-half mile north of the Memphis Compress.

Bill Hajek, local Lone Star Gas Co. service man, said that the break occurred on the M. M. Lewis farm when a county maintenance crew, driven by Johnny Hancock, hit the line while he was building terraces for Lewis.

Although it was between two and one-half and three hours before the break was repaired, only Clarendon was without gas.

A pipeline crew from Wellington and workers from the Childress office came up to repair the break.

125 Attend Boys' Club Pancake Feed

More than 125 people feasted and were entertained with a tumbling show at the Memphis Boys' Club pancake supper last Friday night in Travis cafeteria.

After eating and watching the show the people had a forty-two party, club director Frank Smith said.

Mrs. Clara Pyett was winner of the combination portable radio that was given away by the club.

Smith said that the club raised $200 from the supper and donations on the radio. This money will go into the fund for buying a trampoline for the club.

Smith added that he wanted to thank publicly the Mrs. Tucker Shortening Co., Longhorn Packing Co. of Amarillo, the General Mills Co., Waples-Platter Wholesale Grocery Co., and William Lavender for providing the food sold at the supper.

Others praised by Smith for helping the Boys' club by preparing and serving the supper were: Mr. Ford, Mrs. R. A. Massey, Mrs. Garland Moore, Mrs. R. C. Lem-Garland Moore, Mrs. R. C. ### '55 School Census Shows Increase Over Last Year

For the first time in a great number of years Hall County showed an increase in the number of school children, Miss Mary Foreman said this week.

The school census was taken Feb. 1 and showed an overall gain for the county of 81 children, both white and colored.

Memphis had the largest increase in students over 1954. Last year Memphis had 806 white students and 135 Negroes. This year there are 842 in the white schools and 186 in Morningside School. This year's total was 1028, a gain of 87 over last year.

Lakeview lost six white students and gained eleven Negro students over last year. This year's census showed 300 white students and 32 colored. The 1954 count gave them 306 white students and 21 colored.

This year Turkey schools lost nine white students and only picked up two Negro students. Their 1955 count showed 357 whites and 44 Negro as to last year's 356 whites and 42 colored.

Estelline had an increase of seven white students and lost eleven Negroes, thus giving them a loss of five. This year the school had 283 whites and nine colored students.

This year's census showed a total of 2,043 students over last year's 1,962.

Hall County Gets First Moisture Since February 3

Hall County had its first measurable moisture since February 3 when snow fell all morning Monday to give this area .11 of an inch moisture.

The small amount of moisture brings the year's total to a dry 1.51 of an inch, according to records kept by local weather recorder J. J. McMicken.

High winds and blowing sand continued to plague the area before and after the snowfall.

High and low temperatures for the past week as recorded by McMicken are: Friday, 81-42; Saturday, 57-40; Sunday, 79-38; Monday, 23-78; Tuesday, 36-18; Wednesday, 66-20; Thursday, 78-37.

Only one small traffic mishap occurred during the snowfall according to local police. This was just a bump-up between two cars with very little damage done.

The winner will be entered in the contest for Queen of District 2T-1 at the district convention in Lubbock April 24, 25 and 26.

The Boss Lion said that K. D. Nabers, tail twister of the Lakeview club, will play a prominent part in the Queen's contest.

Citizens Place T. W. Luttrell On Hall School Ballot

Residents of Commissioner's Precinct Two, the Lakeview area, filed a petition with County Judge Tracy Davis Tuesday, March 22, petitioning that T. W. Luttrell of Lakeview be placed on the County School Trustee ballot for re-election.

This action fills the ballot for the three places on the County School Board. All three men, Eugene Lindsey, Brown Smith, and Luttrell are members of the board and will be up for re-election. Each man was put on the ballot by petition.

Eugene Lindsey of Memphis is to be re-elected from Precinct One, Brown Smith, Memphis, is School Board Member at Large, and T. W. Luttrell from Precinct Two.

In the Memphis Independent School District Board election no new names were filed before the March 22 deadline. There have been three vacancies on the local board.

All six people running for those posts were placed on the ballot by petition, also.

Mrs. John Smith, Allen Dunbar, and Worth Howard are now members of the board and are up for re-election. They are being opposed by Earl Richards, Hubert Jones and R. C. Lemons.

The election for the local school board will be held Saturday, April 2 in the City Hall. Miss Mary Foreman, County School Superintendent, said that the election for County Board members will be held at the same time and place in each precinct as the local school elections.

"clean-up" drive. In this last drive everyone that has been missed will be contacted.

Mr. O. K. Hoyle, Farm Bureau State Field Representative made a brief talk on Farm Bureau organization and why every farmer should join and unite in efforts to protect our American way of life.

Any member who takes advantage of Farm Bureau services saves many times the amount of his dues each year as well as the protection he is given through organization. Only through organization can we accomplish very much, Hoyle said.

W. B. Hoosier, Hall County Agriculture Agent told of recent changes in Agriculture and also made a few brief remarks regarding increased irrigation prospects in Hall County.

Bills brought to the attention of Farm Bureau members were those covering gasoline tax for non-highway use and a bill to re-write the Texas Feed Control act.

In Austin there is a bill in the Senate which would take one cent out of the four cent state gasoline tax and put it in a permanent school fund. This would cut the state refund for non-highway gasoline tax to three cents per gallon.

Both County and State Farm Bureaus are strongly opposing this bill, Moss said.

The House Bill 175 which would re-write the Texas Feed Control act is receiving strong support from the organization. According to Moss this bill would protect the farmers and ranchers who buy feed from exploitation by feed manufacturers.

The bill will modernize the law and bring it into relationship with present day feeding practices.

In Washington four bills have been introduced to exempt non-highway gasoline users from the federal gasoline tax.

Moss said that the Farm Bureau on a national level had for several years been trying to get this law passed. In the past it has lacked sufficient backing.

Moss urged every farmer to write his national Senator and representative and urge that this bill be passed.

Last Thursday night in a directors meeting telegrams were prepared and sent to Austin and Washington concerning bills that were immediately pending.

The Bureau is supporting a Brucellosis control law for the state that will require hog raisers to either treat or cook garbage before feeding it to their hogs.

Thursday night the organization wired its objection to the bill that would increase state gasoline tax by two cents, unless a provision is written into the law that would require the heavy trucks to pay by their weight.

After the business meeting the members were entertained by a western band composed of Earl Richards, Roy Rea, Wes Nivens, Zip Durrett, Gordon Gilliam, and Edwin Gilliam.

Independent Cage Tournament Opens At 7:30 Tonight

In the first round, Thursday night, Panhandle will meet Turkey and in the second game Memphis goes against Clarendon.

Friday night Panhandle and Memphis play the curtain raiser, and Clarendon and Turkey play the final game.

Saturday night Memphis and Turkey tangle first, with Panhandle and Clarendon closing out the tourney.

All four teams have some outstanding ball players on their squads and this tourney should close out the season for Memphis with six exciting games.

Admission for each night will be 20 cents for students and 40 cents for adults.

Interest In Quail Restoration Literature Continues Unabated

AUSTIN—Public interest continues unabated in preferred literature designed to aid bobwhite quail restoration, according to W. C. Glazener, director of wildlife restoration for the Game and Fish Commission.

Each day, Glazener added, brings many new requests especially for the pamphlet by Wildlife Biologist Day Lay of Buna, citing that the sure way to bring back quail is to provide them with cover, natural food and water. Lay's literature stresses that it was the loss of these ingredients mainly in the face of encroachment by civilization, that cut down the popular little game birds. He describes steps necessary to create proper environment.

The director of wildlife restoration said requests for information on what to do are coming from every part of Texas. Distribution of the data already has become national, and even international in scope.

The educational director of Virginia's Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries, wrote for five copies of Lay's "Quail Management in East Texas," describing it as "an excellent publication." And from the South Bay Mouth, Ontario, Fisheries Research Station, came a request for the same document.

County Agent Ross Brison of Pittsburg, in East Texas, wrote for 100 copies of the quail management handbook following a meeting of quail hunters and farmers. "We are getting enough interest in quail management among hunters and farmers," Brison wrote, "that in the near future some multiflora rose and food crops will be planted on many farms of the county. For that reason Bulletin No. 34 will be lots of help in selecting sites for planting the rose and food plants."

County Agent Robert Fowler of Center, wrote for 25 copies of Lay's quail handbook, describing it as "the best source of information on the quail situation ever to have been written."

A Dallas feed store dealer wrote for a supply of the pamphlet, saying he had several customer requests for the information. Several requests have come from other big cities like Houston, San Antonio and Fort Worth. One Fort Worth firm asked for six copies.

The women folks are sharing in the help-bring-back-the-quail movement. One postal card brought a request for the Lay handbook to be mailed to three different women in Houston.

Miss Nancy Brewer Becomes Bride Of Billy Darrell Roden In Church Rites

Miss Nancy Brewer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Brewer of Brownfield and formerly of Memphis, became the bride of Billy Darrell Roden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Roden of Memphis, in a double-ring ceremony performed at 6:00 o'clock Friday, March 11, in the Ladies' Parlor of the First Methodist Church here.

Reverend Jim H. Sharp, pastor, read the candlelight service before an altar decorated with an arch of greenery, baskets of pink gladioli, and cathedral candles.

Miss Katherine Wright played traditional wedding music. She also accompanied Miss Yvonne Sturdevant who sang "Because" and "Always."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a ballerina-length gown of pure silk shantung designed with a portrait neckline, a pointed figurine bodice and full skirt. Her pointed mitts were of matching silk shantung. She wore a pink halo straw-cloth hat trimmed in tiny rosebuds and forget-me-nots and sprinkled with rhinestones and carried a white Bible topped with a bouquet of pink rosebuds.

She carried out the traditional bridal custom of wearing "something old, something new, something borrowed, and something blue." The something old was a 1919 lucky penny worn in her shoe and given to her by her father. The something new was her wedding dress and something borrowed was a pair of pearl earrings belonging to Mrs. Loyd Becker. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls, a gift of the groom. Her something blue was a blue garter.

Miss Shirley Miller was maid of honor. She wore a princess style, street-length dress of blue iridescent taffeta. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Johnny Harrell served the groom as best man.

Miss Peggy Evans and Mrs. Bob Hutcherson lighted the candles. Miss Evans wore a sea blue nylon and cotton suit. Mrs. Hutcherson wore an iridescent blue nylon and cotton suit. Both wore corsages of white carnations.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Brewer chose an avoardo nylon tweed suit accented with black accessories. Mrs. Roden, mother of the groom, was attired in a powder blue linen dress with matching jacket and black and white accessories. Both wore corsages of white carnations.

For traveling, the bride wore a charcoal gray, princess style linen dress with pink jacket and pink accessories. Her corsage was the pink rosebuds from her bridal bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of Memphis High School and attended Texas Tech College in Lubbock. The groom is also a graduate of Memphis High School and attended West-Texas State College in Canyon for two years.

The newlyweds are at home in Memphis. Only close friends and relatives attended the ceremony.

Texans Showing Surprising Interest In Quail Literature

AUSTIN—Texans are showing "unprecedented interest" in literature dealing with quail habitat improvement, says W. C. Glazener, director of wildlife restoration for the Game and Fish Commission.

Glazener said reaction to offers of illustrated data describing bobwhite habitat requirements has provided "the most concentrated response to information dealing with wildlife management" during his tenure of office with the Commission.

The demonstration, touched off by the Commission efforts to aid landowners and hunters to restore habitat, concerns material based on the long-time observations of Dan Lay of Buna, wildlife biologist in East Texas, who has been heading up efforts to counter the depleting effects of land clearing and drought on the quail population.

Results of the Lay research were publicized as a means of direct aid to Texans personally interested in "providing cover and food which are the greatest current need for bobwhites. Lay contends this is particularly true in the case of quail which are such prolific breeders.

A typical recent inquiry came from J. L. Jordan of Beaumont who wrote: "My brother-in-law and I have a 1400 acre ranch in Trinity County and are very much interested in quail habitat." Shelby Fox of Temple said, "several of us are interested in this (habitat restoration) field."

wrote: "We have a small group of fellows who have a chance to secure some 2,000 acres of East Texas farm and pasture land on which we want to try to raise some extra quail."

R. A. Hulcy of Tennessee Colony wrote: "Our bird supply has been good until these last few dry years and it occurs to me we might have done something to help them survive the drought if our knowledge had been greater."

Knox T. Johnson wrote from Albuquerque, N. M., that he is heading back to East Texas and intends to improve "some depleted hunting grounds." E. O. Moore messaged from Arlington that he wants the literature to inform himself and to share it with a son stationed with the U. S. Navy in Japan, who is interested in game management there.

E. M. Agrelous of Longview wrote: "We are leasing 2,000 acres of land to stock with quail. Several creeks, fed by springs, run through the area. We plan to improve the habitat generally."

Memphians Attend Legion and Auxiliary Banquet In Amarillo

Mrs. W. B. McQueen, Jr., president of the local Legion Auxiliary and Mr. and Mrs. Glynn Thompson were in Amarillo Saturday evening to attend a District dinner party of the 18th District of the American Legion and Auxiliary. Mrs. Thompson is auxiliary vice president of the 18th district.

The banquet was held at the Hanson Legion Post and was to honor Mrs. P. A. Lainsou of Council Bluffs, Iowa, national president of the National Legion Auxiliary.

Mrs. Lainsou, who was the principal speaker at the dinner, is making her official visit to Texas. Amarillo was her first stop in her scheduled tour of the state.

Also attending the Amarillo meeting were E. L. Jackson of Cisco, department commander, and Miss Doris Anderson of Austin, Texas, department president of the Auxiliary.

Farm Families In State Make Plans For Current Year

Approximately 12,000 Texas farm families who are operating, buying, improving, or enlarging their farms with Farmers Home Administration loans are ready with new plans for the 1955 farming season, W. T. McKay, of Dallas, state director of the Home Administration, has announced. McKay said these families have carefully analyzed their last year's operations, compared their results with plans they made a year ago, checked on successful as well as unsuccessful operations, and have made new plans for the coming year. The Farmers Home Administration supplies farm and home record books to all families with supervised loans—that is, loans accompanied with on-the-farm technical aid service. The record books are simple but complete. At the end of the year they show sources and amounts of income, what the money was spent for, farm inventory, what farm work or livestock practices paid off or lost money, debts owed, plans for repayment. The records are a guide for good business.

Each family is encouraged to bring in to the county office its farm and home record book and farm plans for analysis at the end of the farming season. The county supervisor and the farmer and his wife go over the records and plans thoroughly, and use last year's results as a basis for making next year's plans. Most of the year-end analysis in Texas were completed in December and January and February of this year.

The families keep the records up to date throughout the year to serve as consistent guides to farm operations, Mr. McKay said. Loans are based on farming as a business requiring records or simple book-keeping for successful operation. The county supervisor visits the farms and homes as often as necessary to advise the families on matters pertaining to efficient farming. When necessary, he aids the families with the plans and records when he makes the farm visits or when the families call at the county office.

The families are requested to refinance their Government loans as soon as they are able to go to a bank or cooperative lender for the financing they need. Most of them report that they continue the farm records and plans after they pay off their Farmers Home Administration loans, Mr. McKay said. Many bankers report that the good business habits developed by the families are valuable both to the families and the banks after graduation to commercial credit.

Report Made On Wheat Poisoning

COLLEGE STATION—Salt, cottonseed meal, mineral mixtures, silage and various dry feeds, either fed alone or in combination gave little or no protection against wheat pasture poisoning. Presumably, acting as a diluent, they may lengthen the time necessary for the attack to occur, reports Associate Veterinarian F. H. Sims and Animal Nutritionist H. R. Crookshank at PanTech, a Field Laboratory. The laboratory is a unit of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station in cooperation with Texas Technological College.

Sims and Crookshank's studies show that poisoning on wheat pasture occurs primarily in mature cows, two years of age or older, which are in the late stages of pregnancy or with calves at side. Most cases developed after 60 and before 150 days of wheat grazing, and before the calf was 60 days of age.

The research workers list the usual symptoms as beginning with undue excitement, incoordination and a loss of appetite. As the condition progresses, viciousness, staggering and falling develop. If the animal is not treated, convulsions with periods of relaxation occur, then finally death. It is usually from 6 to 10 hours from appearance of the first symptoms until the animal goes into a comatose condition. If treatment is not begun before the coma sets in, there is little chance of recovery. The symptoms have been observed by laboratory personnel in beef, dairy and crossbred cows. The best treatment seems to be the injection of a calcium gluconate solution fortified with magnesium and phosphorus. Recovery may be speeded by removing the cow from wheat pasture days. Recurrence of the has not been noted in an which has recovered from attack. The complete report studies is carried in Report 1739 and is titled Pasture Poisoning in Cows. Copies may be obtained from Agricultural Information College Station, Texas. Mrs. Anna Dickson, home after spending a week in the hospital, reported to be doing nicely. Make safety a habit happening.

Time For Safety Checks On Cars

AUSTIN—With less than one month remaining in the current Motor Vehicle Inspection period during which motorists must get their autos inspected, Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., Director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, today issued an appeal to one-third of the State's car owners who have not yet complied with the law.

"There is less than one month remaining," Garrison said, "in which about one-third of the car owners in Texas must have their vehicles inspected if they are to continue operating them on the streets and highways."

Meanwhile, W. J. Elliott, Chief of the Texas Highway Patrol, said that State Patrolmen would begin enforcement of the law on April 16th against operators of cars not bearing the 1955 approved inspection sticker.

"We are making this last ditch appeal," Garrison added, "for car owners to visit their inspection stations without delay if inconvenience is to be avoided."

Rabies Control In Texas Ineffective

—Rabies control measures in force in Texas are ineffective, the State Department said today. A study by the Bureau of Animal Industry reveals "current measures have proved ineffective in eliminating rabies from the state's dog population."

However, since the bill applied only to Harris County, it is felt current season should amend the act to include any county in which rabies is a public health problem.

3,713 Texans Go To Armed Forces, 3,100 Volunteer

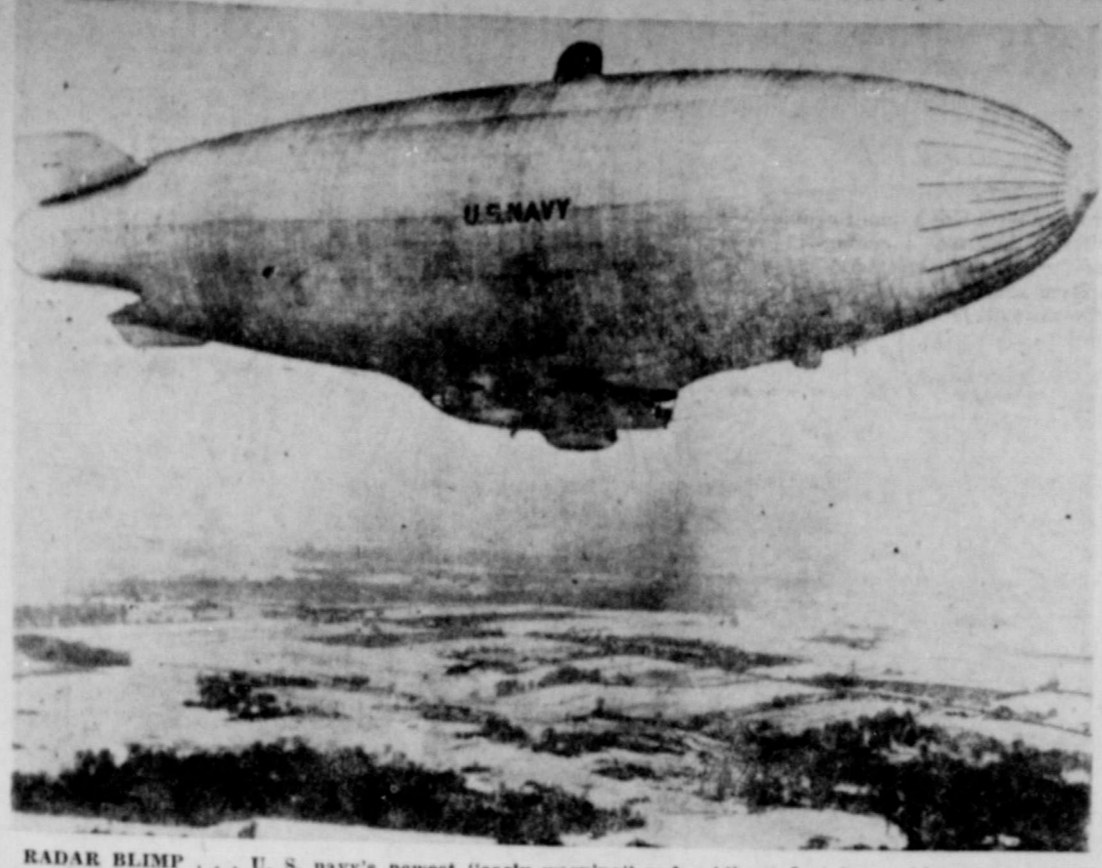

AUSTIN—A total of 3,713 Texans entered the armed forces in February, 5,755 being separated during the same time, a report from the office of Brigadier General Paul L. Wakefield, state Selective Service director, revealed Thursday.

Of the 3,713 entering the uniformed services, 3,100 went in by enlistment or some other voluntary basis. The remaining 613 entered service through the state's 137 draft boards.

State Selective Service sent 329 men to the army's examining stations during February for pre-induction examinations. A total of 115 was found unacceptable by the army because of failure to pass mental, physical, or moral requirements. The rejection rate, about normal, was 35 per cent.

"The law makes acceptance or rejection of men for military service the responsibility of the Department of Defense and not Selective Service," General Wakefield commented. "Draft boards, guided by law and regulations, are responsible for deferments and exemptions," he said.

During February, five doctors were sent for examinations under

Careful Drivers Get No Tickets

"Is this trip necessary?" R. B. Roaper, president of the Texas Safety Association, said this question is one every traffic violator should ask himself as he makes his way reluctantly to traffic court.

"Of course, the answer will be No," Roaper said. "A little more patience, a little more sportsmanship, a greater sense of responsibility on the part of the offender could have made the trip unnecessary."

Roaper made this observation as he spoke on behalf of the current know and obey traffic laws program which is being sponsored by the Texas Safety Association, the Texas Department of Public Safety, and the National Safety Council.

"Why people will take the chance of being arrested or even killed just to gain some temporary advantage in traffic is beyond me." He urges all drivers to avoid an unnecessary trip to traffic court by observing the following simple rules:

1. Know and obey traffic laws.
2. Drive at a speed that is safe for conditions.
3. Never drive after drinking. Don't drink if you intend to drive.
4. Never attempt to cross an intersection unless you're sure you have the right of way. Always be ready to give up your right of way to avoid an accident.
5. Don't pass on hills or curves, and never cut in sharply after passing.
6. Don't hog the road.
7. Heed the "Signs of Life."
8. Check your car, check accidents.

New Type Sheep To Be Stocked In Palo Duro

AUSTIN — The Director of Wildlife Restoration for the Game and Fish Commission said a foreign breed of game animal—Aoudad sheep—will be tried in the Panhandle.

Fifteen head of the sheep, which have a general resemblance to the desert Big Horn, will be released in Palo Duro Canyon, southeast of Amarillo.

Big Horn sheep have been native to far west Texas but have occurred in decreasing numbers in recent years mainly because of decreased habitat, resulting from encroachment by domestic sheep, civilization pressure and prolonged dry weather.

The Aoudad variety, which originated in the Barbary Coast area of Africa, are slightly smaller than Big Horn and are sand colored. The males have a wide curled horn. They are accustomed to weather extremes and arid conditions, live along ledges and rimrock and "eat about everything."

The stock sheep were obtained in a three-cornered deal. North Dakota's Game Department and Aoudad Sheep coming from the Hearst Ranch in California and wanted some wild turkeys. Texas trapped fifty-two head of turkeys in the Canadian River bottoms and swapped them for the sheep.

The Director of Wildlife Restoration said New Mexico has experimented successfully with Aoudad pronounced (Oh-Dad) sheep. Three years ago sixty head were released in the Canadian River Gorge country in Harding County in northeastern New Mexico. They have increased rapidly, with more than two hundred head now in the main herd plus others in smaller groups.

That state has determined that Aoudad sheep are definitely resistant to diseases carried and transmitted by domestic sheep, as well as to other common ailments, and seem to be affected very little by climatic changes.

The director of Wildlife Restoration pointed out that the Palo Duro Canyon country is wild and rugged in many places and that mule deer restoration now is being undertaken there. Part of the Canyon is maintained as a State park.

The new game animal experiment is a part of the Commission's current restoration program under which Spanish red-legged partridges are being released in the Childress-Paducah area, and Montana sage grouse are under order for release in the Trans-Pecos area.

Mrs. Elmer Prater returned home Monday after visiting the past two weeks in Waco with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Pate.

National Farm Week

A bill has been introduced in the House of Representatives in Washington, to designate the third week in October of each year as National Farmers Week. Of all the many special weeks that have been observed in the past this is one that has been long in coming and very much needed.

The text of this bill calling for an approval of the third week in October or each year as National Farmers Week, reads:

"That the third week in October of each year is to be designated as National Farmers Week, in recognition of the contribution American farm families have made to our civilization and in order to promote better public understanding of the needs, problems and opportunities of our country's agriculture and farm people, and to honor men and women who have contributed to agricultural achievements and progress.

This should be more than a week of big speeches and pin-up pictures of the "girl we would like to plow our fields with" as voted by the puddle jumpers farm association. The farmers and all agricultural minded citizens should use this week as a time to promote better understanding between the farm and non-farm population.

The city population that doesn't know a Hereford from a White Leghorn should be made agriculture conscious. These people should be made to realize that the bulk of the farmers are not growing rich off of high prices and subsidies, as many of them think, but are people who gamble their entire future on each crop. People who sometimes mortgage almost everything they own to back their belief that things necessary for a good crop will come during the growing season and the harvest will pay off the debts.

This bill should have no trouble being voted and signed into law, and when it is, agricultural organizations should begin making plans immediately to make the first National Farm Week the outstanding special week of the year.

No One Indispensable!

It is clear that President Eisenhower does not look upon himself—or anyone else—as being an "indispensable man."
When the subject came up at a press conference, in connection with the 1956 general election, he said: "Did you ever think what a fate civilization would suffer if there was such a thing as an indispensable man? When he went the way of all flesh, what would happen? It would be a calamity, wouldn't it? I don't think we need to fear that."

Republican strategists, however, with their fingers held to the prevailing political winds, take a somewhat different view. They find that Mr. Eisenhower, personally, is far more popular than the party. And most of them seem to have come to the conclusion that their 1956 prospects, so far as can be seen today, would be dim indeed without him at the head of the ticket.

U. S. News and World Report, in its issue of March 11, concisely sums up the current political situation in an article based upon the Gallup and other polls, and upon the conclusions of seasoned battlers in the political arena. On the GOP side, it is all Eisenhower.

According to the latest Gallup Poll, the President's popularity among the voters is close to its all-time high—71 per cent of them approve his conduct of his office, as against 75 per cent in September, 1953. His low point, 57 per cent, was touched in November of last year. Among Republicans, 74 per cent want him to run again. If he does not run, Vice President Nixon is the next favorite—but only 30 per cent of the Republicans pick him. Thomas Dewey is next, with 23 per cent, and Harold Stassen follows, with 20 per cent. In other words, the President leads the field by a huge margin.

On the Democratic side, the Gallup Polls shows that Adlai Stevenson is also an overwhelming favorite—58 per cent of the Democrats chose him, as against only 16 per cent for Senator Kefauver, the second choice. There is considerable talk now about Averell Harriman being picked, as a result of his upset win in the New York gubernatorial contest. But a mere four per cent of the Democratic voters polled chose him.

The most significant of the Gallup Polls pitted candidates against each other in theoretical contests. It showed that Eisenhower would defeat Stevenson now with 59 per cent as against 41 per cent of the vote (a substantial larger margin than was registered in 1952), and that he would overwhelm Kefauver, 64 per cent to 36 per cent. But Stevenson would take the measure of Nixon, and with ease—61 per cent to 39 per cent.

A while ago it was rumored that the President would not run—that he was determined to retire and enjoy life at the end of one term. Now the Washington consensus seems to be that he will run. The pressure on him to do so is terrific. For, as U. S. News says, "When Republicans appraise the vote division and prospective candidates, they are led to believe that he is the only man who can win for them."

SATURDAY SESSION ON FOREIGN POLICY

Press Paragraphs—
QUOTING OUR NEIGHBORS

So You Have Ulcers
We rather enjoyed the following article by a Baptist preacher in a neighboring city that appeared in print recently and pass it along to our readers. We imagine the feeling expressed here is universal among preachers.
"I read an article sometime ago which stated that nearly every modern business man was supposed to have at least one ulcer. Several reasons were listed as being chiefly responsible—one was the labor problem, another was the keen competition, high overhead and several other things.

When I read this article I could not help thinking how many ulcers the poor business men would have if he worked under such trying circumstances as a Baptist preacher.

Suppose, Mr. Business Man, you were overseer of 2,000 workers (about the membership of our church) suppose that only 50 per cent ever showed up for work at any one time, and of the remaining 50 per cent; only about half of them with any degree of regularity. And suppose that if only one out of every five of your workers showed up after lunch (like our evening service) and every time one of them had a slight headache or company to visit them they "took off" that day.
And every time it thundered or even a slight flash of lightning appeared in the sky 75 per cent of your workers pulled the cover over their heads and never appeared for duty that day.
Suppose your workers only worked "when they felt like it" and still you must be very sweet and never fire one of them. To get them to work you beg them, plead with them, tickle them on the chin, and use every means under the sun to try to get them to do the work. And suppose you were in competition with a notorious rascal (the devil) who had no scruples and was far more clever than you were and used such attractive things as fishing rods, soft pillows, TV programs, carnivals, movies, ball games, parties, pleasure drives and a thousand and one other things "to hurt your business."
Suppose your firm was heavily obligated to meet certain financial responsibilities and you had to depend upon your people to "give as they felt led" to carry out the biggest business in the world.
You wonder why we do not throw in the towel or run to the bridge and end it all? That's what many of you have done. We probably would if it were not for the number who love the Lord more than anything else in the world and who put God first in their lives and consider no sacrifice too great for their Lord. These are our pride and joy, the salt of the earth.
So you think you have ulcers,
Mr. Business Man, you ought to be in our shoes for a while."— Ochiltree County Herald.

Government Secrecy

The Alsups, father and son, reporting in the Saturday Evening Post, recently palated a picture that will be distressing to people who live out where we think America is, referred to in the metropolitan press as the hinterland.
From this report it seems evident that cloak and dagger business is now common in the national capital. Executives fear to talk freely in their own offices, where "bugs" may have been planted, and things of that kind. Grown too large our executive department needs a good trimming, is one of the principal thoughts we get from their report. We have a bureaucracy housed in a chambered nautilus, where men vested with power hide from each other and from the people the things the people are entitled to know in a merry-go-round of greed, envy, and avarice. The web is wound so strong that many good men who go into

that cloak and dagger business is

Come in and try the sensational performance of Pontiac's 200-HP Strato-Streak V-8!

If all the talk about horsepower has left you confused, let this one simple fact set you straight.

Model for model, the sensational new Pontiac Strato-Streak V-8 delivers more horsepower per dollar than any car in its field.

And that fact holds good whether you specify the four-barrel carburetor—a low-cost option that puts 200 eager horsepower under Pontiac's handsome hood—or the regular 180-horsepower Strato-Streak V-8.

The Strato-Streak V-8, part and parcel of every Pontiac, produces performance as fresh and distinctive as Pontiac's Twin-Streak styling and Vogue Two-Tone beauty—with traditional Pontiac dependability and the greatest economy in Pontiac history.

But Pontiac's extra value doesn't stop with power. Its Shock-Proof chassis, wide-stance

Memphis Teachers Attend Texas Tech Citizenship Meet

LUBBOCK—When Americans neglect the responsibilities of citizenship, they run the risk of losing their freedoms.

With that thought in mind, the Teachers College of Columbia University inaugurated a program in 1949 to teach school age youngsters how to exercise the democratic freedoms they learn in the classroom.

This Citizenship Education Project was introduced to West Texas educators last week in a series of workshops on the Texas Tech campus. Lucille Dennis and Ethel M. Hillhouse attended from Memphis.

Directing the workshops were three research associates from Teachers College, Drs. Allen Felix, Weldon Thompson and James E. Solt.

Basic to the program is the belief that citizenship can be taught most effectively by giving the student real citizenship experience.

"Take a man who has the basic muscle fiber," Dr. Solt said, "but won't exercise. He can't expect to have a strong physique."

"The Declaration of Independence, the Constitution, the Bill of Rights, and our court decisions are our muscle fiber. Just looking and learning about them won't develop them. If they're not flexed by everyone, they'll get flabby too."

Financed by a Carnegie Foundation grant, Teachers College researchers began quering teachers all over the country to find out how they were getting school children in the habit of using the rights guaranteed to them.

From the response of these teachers, the College compiled a list of 315 "muscle-builders", projects covering every phase of good citizenship. They range all the way from operating a voting machine to developing a youth traffic court.

These "citizenship exercises" are available to all teachers participating in the program. At the moment, that includes more than 6,000 teachers distributed throughout 2000 schools in 41 states, according to Dr. Solt.

In addition, teachers may obtain a data file containing 1200 annotated references which contribute to a fuller understanding of basic American beliefs. The third tool is the teacher's aid packet designed to help the individual teacher put these "citizenship exercises" into practice.

IT'S A LONG WAY...

When you wind your watch, it may seem like just a few twists of the wrist to you—but for your watch, it's almost like setting off on a round-the-world journey. Is it any wonder then that your watch begins to grow weary after a while? You can hardly expect such a delicately-balanced instrument to remain in perfect running order indefinitely. To insure longer life and constant accuracy your watch requires cleaning and oiling at least once a year. So bring it in for a check up today.

Report From Washington

By Walter Rogers

Congressman, 18th District

Office is on the third floor of the New House Office Building on this same floor, there are major committee rooms—State and Foreign Affairs, Agriculture and Insular Affairs, Agriculture and Public Works, Agriculture and Currency. During the past week, I have attended meetings in all of these committee rooms except the Public Works Committee. The matters discussed varied from a discussion of drought matters and dust in the Southwest to anthracite coal in Pennsylvania, to Alaskan statehood, navigation aids for aircraft (which is a secret), federal control of gas, a reclamation program, a bill in excess of one billion dollars in discussion with the Director of the Budget concerning the administration's position on the granting of permanent certificates to local operating temporary certificates, and discussion as to whether or not the compilation of facts, figures and opinions by the administration is a proposal, a policy, a question, or merely a conglomeration of ideas intended for no particular purpose.

The last discussion was with the Director of the Bureau of the Budget concerning a circular coming by that bureau. The Director was before the Interior and Air Affairs Committee and flanked by two of his top aides. At the beginning of the hearing it became obvious that the politics was going to be heated. A former Republican Chairman of the Committee pointed out that the original circular prepared by the Truman administration. The present Democratic Chairman of the Committee pointed out that the circular had been substantially revised by the present administration. The political aspects of the matter were kicked around for 45 minutes before we finally got down to questioning Mr.

Hughes, the Director. It turned out that they had wasted the 45 minutes concerning the politics, because I asked Mr. Hughes the point-blank question of whether or not any politics were involved and he answered "No". I then asked him if any politics were involved when the original circular was issued by the Truman administration. He declined to answer on the ground that he was not in the Bureau at that time. I was somewhat surprised, because he had not hesitated to give hearsay testimony on other matters. However, we quickly cleared the situation because his two aides had been with the Bureau for a number of years.

A hurried conference between the Director and his aides resulted in the testimony from the aides that there was no politics involved when the circular was originally issued. So, having been assured that neither the Truman administration nor the Eisenhower Administration had been interested in politics concerning this particular circular, the committee members proceeded to question the Director of the Budget. He testified that the circular, original and revised, did not represent the thinking of the administration, that it was not a proposal of the administration, and was not a declaration of policy. He testified that it was nothing more than a compilation of ideas, but was never able to tell me just whose ideas had been compiled. The results was that the committee found out that there was not only "no politics" involved in the circular, but according to the Director of the Budget, nothing else. As Shakespeare would put it, the Committee had spent the entire morning indulging in "Much Ado About Nothing." It found out that you can't believe a thing you hear nor half of what you see. It brought to my mind the much told, but always appropriate, story about the man in Washington wearing the big button with the symbol "BAIK." A friend asked him what the letters stood for. He replied, "Boy, am I confused." The friend advised him that you did not spell confused with a "k." The wearer of the button said, "You don't know how confused I am."

Speaking of buttons, a novelty manufacturer has passed around a bunch of large yellow buttons with the word, "R e l a x", on them. I suggest a companion button with the following: "Don't you wish you could?"

TEXAS STILL THE BIGGEST
Some of the proponents for Alaskan statehood claim that Texans are against it because it is bigger than Texas. This theory was fully discounted in a discussion the other day about dust storms that seem to be plaguing our state. The report came in that the dust was 30,000 feet high above Texas. One wit was heard to remark that Texas was not only the biggest state sideways, but also up and down.

Bomber Wing Has 942 Repair Men

"A medium jet bomber wing today includes 942 aircraft maintenance men," according to Sergeant George Ahern local United States Air Force recruiter. Many of these men are expertly trained technicians specializing in jet engine maintenance and repair. Where do these top-flight maintenance men receive their training? The Technical Training Air Force, a new and important subdivision of the Air Training Command, is responsible for the training of these and other technicians of the Air Force that handle the 199 technical positions. If an airman is to become an airplane mechanic, he enrolls at Sheppard Air Force Base at Wichita Falls, Texas, where students learn maintenance and repair of jet and reciprocating engine aircraft. The prospective jet engine mechanic enters training at Amarillo Air Force Base in the Texas Panhandle region. Amarillo is the Air Force's first all-jet mechanics school.

How Much Is a Penny Worth?

It all depends on how you look at it. These are all American pennies. Worth, at face value, only one cent. But to a coin collector, some of these pennies are worth many times more. To him, their real value is high.

The real value of the pennies you spend for electric service is high, too. Think what you get for them in terms of comfort, convenience and easier living.

Electric service is always there to help with the housework, the cooking, the laundry and dishwashing. It will warm the baby's bottle late at night or help Dad shave in the morning.

When you count all the things your electric service does for you, don't you agree that you get more for the electric pennies than for the money you spend for anything else in your family budget?

Released by The Texas Department of Agriculture

AGRICULTURAL WORK OF THE 54th LEGISLATURE

This is the third session of the Legislature which I have observed in action as Commissioner of Agriculture. And in some ways, it is the most unique and rewarding from my standpoint.

The session now in progress at Austin has been criticized for the slowness of its work. The critics base their opinion on the number of bills which have NOT been passed.

This is an extremely poor way to judge the work of any group. A lot of bills SHOULD NOT pass. It is the kind of bills, not the number, that will determine whether this Legislature is good or bad.

From my point of observation, this 54th session is the hardest working of the last three. The committees of both the House and Senate are receiving better attendance from its members. The legislators seem well informed on state problems and they ask good questions.

I speak primarily for the House and Senate Agricultural committees. In my dealings with them this year, I have come in contact with some outstanding workers.

Rep. Elbert Reeves of Matador is chairman of the House Agriculture Committee. He shows excellent knowledge of farm problems and leads the group accordingly. He is backed by such men as Harold Parish of Taft who is making a record for himself this session. Parish informs himself well on every bill, his questions indicate a great deal of interest and knowledge and his criticism is constructive. He has closed up several loopholes in bills that the Department of Agriculture is concerned with.

A. J. Bishop of Winters is a second-term man who is carrying a heavy load and doing a good job of it. Typical of the new men is Alonzo Jamison, Jr., of Sanger who has demonstrated much effectiveness in his discussions of various farm bills.

In the Senate, the Agriculture Committee is headed by Sen. George Moffett of Chillicothe, an old-timer from the standpoint of legislative experience and one who turns in a top-notch performance on state farming matters. Sen. Andy Rogers of Childress is second in command on the committee.

Sen. Frank Owens is a first-terminer from El Paso but he speaks with the voice of a seasoned veteran within the committee. Balancing the group are such people as Sen. Carlos Ashley of Llano, Mrs. Neveille Colson of Navasota, David Ratliff of Stamford and others.

Just because I mention only these few, I do not mean to minimize the efforts of the other members—all of whom are doing extremely good work. Their working methods are a marked improvement over other years.

In previous sessions, an agency could present a bill and if no outside forces opposed it, then it was a routine assumption that the bill would be reported out of the committee. This year it is different. The members want to know what the bill does; what it means and who it affects. Is it good or bad for the majority and really in the interest of the people. As a result, it is not an easy matter to get a bill through committee. And this is a good thing—good for the people of Texas.

Too often a special interest group or an agency will be trying to pass a piece of legislation for their own benefit—often at the expense of the entire population. This is not the rule this year. I believe the farm people of Texas are fortunate in having such conscientious and hard working members on the agricultural committees this session.

From April, 1944, to July 31, 1954 the American Red Cross prepared and donated 18,114,656 cubic centimeters of gamma globulin to State Health Departments and the Office of Defense Mobilization for free distribution to physicians for use in the prevention or modification of measles and the treatment of infectious hepatitis.

Some People Prone To Having Mishaps

AUSTIN—Does someone in your family—or perhaps you yourself—seem to have repeated accidents?

It could be due to "accident proneness."

That's the phrase coined by the experts—psychologists, industrialists, physicians, insurance men and others, on the theory that many accidents result from the victim's emotional make-up.

Studies by agencies interested in health and safety have shown that a relatively few people are responsible for a high percentage of accidents. Conclusion: a person who has one accident is more likely to be involved in another than a person who has had none at all.

State Department of Health studies confirm this. For example: A public utility company, trying to cut accident rates among truck drivers, ordered an investigation of every factor which could be contributing, from weather to reaction time of drivers.

Truck accidents increased despite an intense educational campaign. But when drivers with bad records were shifted to other jobs, the company's driver accident rate fell to a fifth of the former rate.

The transferred drivers? They kept on having accidents in their new jobs and at home.

The experts have traced definite personality patterns in accident prone people. Almost invariably they are impetuous, following impulses without deliberation or planning. Their decisiveness is, in reality, a drive for independence and self-reliance in the situation of the moment.

For the most part they have a history of neurotic traits in childhood. They simply reach a point, in their failure to handle an emotional situation, when an unpleasant happening becomes a physical and emotional necessity.

Result: an "accident."

While admitting the part accident proneness plays, Texas State Health Officer Henry A. Holle would stress environmental hazards and biologic conditions like fatigue, temporary stress-produced inattention, impaired vision or hearing, and underlying disease.

"Too much emphasis on accident proneness tends to obscure the need of correcting defects in industrial equipment, slum housing, inefficient traffic systems, and inadequate playgrounds."

There is consolation for accident prone people. Dr. Holle points out that the same studies which show them to be susceptible to accidents also shows them to have illness rates well below the general population.

Troop 35 To Hold Overnight Camp

Scout Troop 35 of Memphis will go on an overnight camp this Friday night according to an announcement made by Scoutmaster Ted Myers.

The troop will meet at Scout Hall at 5 o'clock with bedrolls and cooking equipment and go from there to the campsite on Spring Creek.

On the overnight camp, scouts may pass their cooking, camping and hiking requirements, Myers said.

Myers also added that two or three cars would be needed to carry the scouts out to the campsite. Anyone wishing to help with the transportation should be at the Scout Hall at 5 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Full House Attends Annual Junior Play

The Memphis High School Junior Class Play scored a smash success before a full house in the high school auditorium Monday night.

The play sponsors, Mrs. Milton Beasley and Mrs. Roy Guthrie, said that the class made approximately $250 dollars from the production. The money will be used to help pay for the annual Junior-Senior banquet.

Mrs. Guthrie said she had seldom seen so many parents of class members at a play before, and that almost all of them attend the "Strike Party" held in the cafeteria after the show.

Many favorable comments were passed on the work of the 19 students in the cast and the others who worked backstage Mrs. Guthrie said.

The American Red Cross has maintained field director service to servicemen on military installations since 1917.

The first Red Cross Sponsored swimming and life saving course was given in 1914, and since that time over 9,300,000 persons have been instructed in water safety.
