Firemen Announce Storm, Fire Alarms

Memphis Fire Chief Thomas Clayton announced Tuesday, a uniform set of siren signals for storm warnings and fires, to be used from now on.

The fire chief said that the warning signal for storms will be a three to five minute continuous blast on the siren.

The siren will be built up to its highest pitch and held that way for three to five minutes, he said.

For a fire the siren will build up and then die down and then build up again for two or three times.

Clayton said the fire siren would no longer be used for calling the firemen to the Monday night meetings, or to special meetings during the week. They will be notified by telephone.

In the future, when the siren sounds it will be for either a fire or storm warning, the chief stated.

Clayton again stressed the need for people to refrain from using the telephones during emergencies, and leave the lines and operators free to handle emergency calls.

Fast communications during an emergency is of the utmost importance, and operators cannot handle the emergency calls if they are swamped with calls from curious people, Clayton stressed.

Eleven Memphians attended the Texas Firemen's convention in Dallas last week.

Off Duty Operator Goes To Office Instead Of Cellar

Sunday morning the cyclone alert sent most of Memphis scurrying for the storm cellars, but Mrs. Mildred Jones went to the telephone office.

Mrs. Jones, an operator on the local telephone switchboard, had completed an eight-hour shift at 7 o'clock Saturday night, but when the siren sounded at 3 a. m. Sunday morning, she knew the lone night operator would be in need of help to handle the calls that flooded the switchboard during emergencies.

Farm Homes And Buildings Damaged By Gale Like Winds, Hail And Rain

A storm conscious Memphis was sent scurrying to the storm cellars Sunday morning when a tornado size storm passed over or around town and dumped 3.20 inches of rain in about one hour.

Most of the property damage suffered right in town was from water, but east and west of town hail and high winds played havoc with homes, farm buildings and what few crops that were up.

Bill Vadermas, duty fireman, received warning from Clarendon that a tornado size storm was approaching Memphis from that area. He then sounded the storm warning that sent most of Memphis scurrying to the cellar.

Musicians Needed For Summer Band

Attention all Cyclone band members and ex-band members: A summer band to play at the Fourth of July show is now organizing and it can use any number of musicians.

The group is meeting tomorrow night in the High School band house at 7:30. The organization is being sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce through the cooperation of the Memphis Public School system.

Every high school bandsman or ex-bandsman is urged to bring his instrument, if he has one and be at the band house tomorrow to take part in this organization.

She tried to call to see if she could assist, but was unable to reach the operator. She knew she was needed and started for the telephone office, only to have her car drowen out a block from the building. She walked the last block in the driving rain and then worked for two and a half hours in soaking wet clothes, until the emergency was over.

The night operator expressed her gratitude to Mrs. Jones by saying, "Mildred looked like an angel to me."

Man Placed In Jail On Forgery Charge

Carl Jesse Williams, 57, wanted by police and sheriff departments in 13 towns in Texas and Oklahoma and by the FBI, is being held in the Hall County jail on a grand jury indictment for allegedly forging a check in Memphis, on Dec. 1, 1954.

Williams, an ex-convict, was arrested Monday night by Deputy Sheriff M. L. Skinner of Texola, Okla., in that town. Skinner was accompanied by Wheeler County Sheriff "Bus" Dorman, and Dorman's deputy.

Dorman found out that Williams was staying in Texola and he called Baten and told him where Williams was supposed to be. Baten, accompanied by Deputy Elmer Neel, and Memphis Chief of Police Guy Wright, left for Texola.

Baten said that when they were near Shamrock, Dorman radioed him that Williams was in custody.

According to Baten, Dorman, his deputy, and Skinner went to where Williams was supposed to be living, but he was not there. Skinner and the Wheeler deputy went to look for him, while Dorman watched the cabin.

While Dorman was watching, Williams came back to his cabin and went to bed. When the Oklahoma officer came back, he made the arrest.

After being arrested, Williams waived extradition before Judge H. E. Abia, in Erick, Okla. The three Hall County officers then brought him here to await trial.

The September term grand jury indicted Williams last January on one charge of forgery, after he allegedly passed four checks in Memphis businesses.

Baten said the man secured 50 blank Paymaster Gin checks from the gin in Estelline, but how and when he got the checks, no one knows.

The man then allegedly forged the name of the gin manager, Hulen Clifton, on four of the checks and made them out for $47.80 each. He is alleged to have

Minimum Wheat Support Set At $1.81 For 1956

Following release of the June crop report as of June 10, of this year, the Department of Agriculture announced that the minimum national average support price for the 1956 wheat crop will be $1.81 per bushel, if quotas are approved in the referendum on June 25.

This information was released by L. L. McKown, local ASC office manager.

The report went on to say that if quotas are not approved, the available support level under present legislation will be at 50 percent of parity, or about $1.19 a bushel on the basis of present parity estimates.

The full support levels will be available in commercial wheat states for those who comply with their individual farm acreage allotments, McKown said.

Support rates in the 12 non-commercial wheat states are, by law, set at levels representing 75 percent of the rates for commercial areas.

McKown stated that the minimum national average rate of $1.81 a bushel reflects 76 per cent of the estimated parity level. Most recent parity on the "old" formula basis is $2.51 a bushel. Under the shift to the new formula which begins with the 1956 crop, wheat parity will decline by five per cent next year. This would bring the transitional parity to $2.38 a bushel. These levels have therefore been used in determining the minimum national support price for 1956.

The minimum support announced June 10, will not be lowered, but it will be raised if a combination of changes in parity value and the supply situation calls for an increase on July 1, of next year.

The percentage of parity for the 1956 minimum support was determined on the basis of the estimated over-all wheat supply situation, in accordance with the formula in the controlling legislation.

So far this week, this area has had a rest from a rainy spell. Farmers are spot planting on land that is dry enough, and as the other spots get dry, will plant there. The planting time for cotton is right at the little end. With plenty of moisture in the ground cotton planted this late will have a good chance of producing a good harvest.

Haven't had any applications of resting John, the catfish given us by Dr. Fitzjarrald. John has about rid our fish pond of tadpoles, and is now having to catch them the hard way. Will rent him cheap to anyone having tadpole troubles.

Plans are in the making for having a celebration soon of the completion of the east and west, and the north and south highways running from Mulberry to Turkey and to Silvertown. People all over this area will be invited to attend a picnic and celebration, probably on the caprock east of Silvertown. The State Highway and District Highway officials will be honored guests. Watch next issues of The Democrat for time and details of the celebration.

140 Hall County Workers Drawing Social Security

In Hall County at the end of last year 140 retired workers were receiving $6,859 in monthly social security payments, according to figures just released by John R. Sanderson, District Manager of the Social Security Office in Amarillo.

In addition to the retired workers themselves, 123 people were receiving $4,051 a month as dependents of the retired workers or as survivors of deceased workers.

Although this is a considerable increase as compared with payments a year ago, it is certain that more people will receive larger payments in years to come because of changes in the Social Security Law in 1954, Sanderson says. Among the major changes were the following:

• Computation of payments after "dropping out" up to 5 years of lowest social security covered earnings.

• Extension of social security coverage to more farm workers and to self-employed farmers, as well as many other kinds of work.

• Increasing of the maximum wages creditable toward benefits from $3600 to $4200.

• Allowing disabled workers to "freeze" their social security wage records while disabled.

• Increasing the amount of earnings which a retired worker can receive and still get all or a part of his retirement payments. (There is no restriction on earnings after a worker is 72 years old)

• Persons with social security questions are invited to contact the Amarillo Social Security Office, or contact a representative who will be in Memphis at the Court House on the 2nd and 4th Mondays of each month at 1 p. m. on a regular visit.

• Water in which vegetables are cooked contains some vitamins and minerals. Save it for soups and sauces.

• Miss Jesse Chancey returned Tuesday after visiting in Saint J., Texas. She will make her home indefinitely in Memphis.

• Mr. and Mrs. Bob Myers and Cindy of McLean, visited over the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Myers.

$16 Million Spent For Savings Bonds By Texans In May

Dallas, Texas purchased more than $16 million worth of U. S. Savings Bonds in May of this year, Nathan Adams and Ed Gossett, State Savings Bonds Co. Chairmen, reported today.

May sales of Series E and H Bonds throughout the state totaled $16,039,000, which was 30.5 per cent more than during May of 1954, the Co-Chairmen announced. The May purchases also were 4.9 per cent higher than sales in April this year.

Purchases of Savings Bonds by Texans during the first five months of 1955 amounted to $87,163,000, or 22.4 per cent more than total sales during the same period of 1954, the report said.

"During the first five months of this year," the Co-Chairmen pointed out, "43.2 per cent of the state's total Bond goal of $201.9 million for the year had been achieved. It must be noted, however, that sales usually are greater the first part of each year and Texans need to increase their support of the vital Savings Bonds program in order to meet our proportionate share of the national goal of $5.5 billion for 1955."

The more than 1400 Savings Bonds volunteers throughout the state, and all other Texans, were urged by the Chairmen to continue to expand the Bond program in every county in order to achieve the state's 1955 goal.

Early WTSC Exes Plan Big Reunion

CANYON.—A reunion for early ex-students of West Texas State College will be held here on the campus on July 9, and a day of "reminiscing and visiting" is planned. The "old-timers gathering" is for persons who attended the college from its opening in 1910 until 1915.

About 500 people are expected for the reunion, according to Milton (Buff) Morris, executive secretary of the WT Ex-Students Association. Between 12 and 1500 attended the college during the six early years, he said.

Registration at 9 a. m. at the new Student Union, and a coffee period opens the planned program. A luncheon, tour of the campus, and a period "for reminiscing" are also planned. Dr. J. A. Hill, president emeritus who has been on the campus since the college's founding, will attend the reunion.

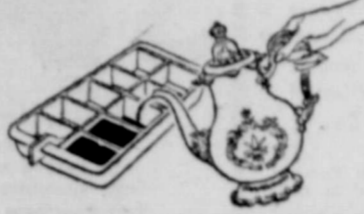

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. McMickin have as guests this week their grandchildren, Teddy, Jean, Betty Gayle and Jim Bruce Trulove of Lubbock and Sae Lane Brown of Amarillo.

How Iced Coffee Began

We can thank the French for iced coffee. More than 125 years ago, French colonial soldiers stationed at Mazagan, Algeria, found that drinking coffee syrup mixed with cold water made the desert heat more endurable. The soldiers carried the vogue back to Paris, where it is to this day called Cafe Mazagan, with the added fillip of ice in tall, frosty glasses.

Many hostesses make coffee regular strength, and use coffee ice cubes. Cream and sugar may be used with iced coffee as preferred.

Americans ice their coffee for summertime meals, socials, or coffee breaks. Perfectionists make it double strength to avoid dilution, and pour it hot over ice, while others brew their coffee as usual, and allow it to cool before serving.

TEL Class Meets For Social And Program Thursday

The T. E. L. Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church met in the home of Mrs. L. M. Thornton Thursday evening, June 9, for the regular monthly business and social meeting.

The meeting was opened with a prayer by Mrs. Jim McMurry.

The president, Mrs. Myrtle Crabb, conducted the business session. Reports were given by Mrs. Alla Boswell, secretary; Mrs. W. L. Crawford, treasurer, and Mrs. W. E. Hill and M. S. E. I. Adams, group captains.

Mrs. Elmer Prater brought a very inspiring devotional on prayer.

During the social hour, Claude Wells showed some very interesting pictures of the recent high waters in the city and community and other pictures of scenic views made on travel tours.

Mrs. Thornton served delicious cake and coffee to the following visitors and members: Mmes. J. W. Fitzjarrald, R. H. Wherry, Jim McMurry, C. W. Crawford, Hulda Wilson, Frank Ellis, W. I. Crawford, Elmer Prater, E. I. Adams, W. E. Hill, Alla Boswell, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Wells, Miss Nettie Barton and Myrtle Crabb.

Another FB Queen Will Be Selected This Year In Tex.

Waco, The Texas Farm Bureau will sponsor a state-wide queen contest again this year, J. Walter Hammond, president, announced.

Search for the prettiest farm or ranch girl in the state has attracted wide-spread publicity in the four years that the contest has been held. This year's queen is expected to be the largest ever, with more than 100 organized county Farm Bureaus planning to enter contestants in the state-wide competition.

Prizes and honors galore are in store for the lucky girl chosen state queen. Her first prize will be $500 in expenses for a "Cinderella trip" to the American Farm Bureau convention in December in Chicago.

To be eligible to compete in the contest, a girl must be the daughter or sister of a Farm Bureau member. She must be at least 16, but not more than 22 years of age by September 1, 1955. Daughters of Farm Bureau state directors, employees, county officers and directors, and previous state winners, are not eligible.

"The contest will be an honest-to-goodness queen contest and not a bathing beauty competition," Hammond said. "The girls are to be judged on all the qualities that go to make up winsome future Texas homemakers."

The three main points on which the girls will be judged are appearance, poise and personality.

District eliminations will be held September 5-17 in all 13 Farm Bureau districts. State finals will be November 7 at the 22nd annual TFB convention in Ft. Worth.

Report From Washington

By Walter Rogers
Congressman, 18th District

The legislation is then debated on the House Floor, and this debate is open to the public at all times.

Many people are beginning to wonder why there is any sense in holding executive sessions, because it seems that everything that transpires in one is published in the newspapers within a few hours after the meeting is closed. How the columnists and radio commentators obtain their information has long been a mystery to many. Usually they come forward with a complete account of what transpired at a secret White House meeting, or at an executive session of a committee of the Senate or House of Representatives, or a secret meeting of lobbyists held in some hotel room. I am frank to tell you that I don't know how they get the information, either. Only recently during the gas hearings when we were in executive session trying to finish the bill and get it ready for debate in the full House, a vote was taken. We were in executive session and no one was supposed to know about the vote. However, within thirty minutes after I had returned to my office, I had a telephone call from a party who asked me about the committee's action. I told him that it was an executive session and that I was honor bound not to give him any such information. I told him to confer with the Chairman of the committee who would act as spokesman for the committee members. He told me that he did not want to talk to the Chairman because he had all the information he needed, and proceeded to tell me the exact issue on which the vote was taken the exact vote, and even named the members who voted for the proposition and those who voted against it. He was mistaken only in one particular, and that concerned an absent member. He asked me if I would tell him whether his information was correct. I told him that I could not violate a confidence concerning others, but that I would tell him how I voted on the proposition as an individual if he wanted to know. As I said before, I don't know how he got his information, but it was certainly pretty close to the truth. Personally, I have never refused to divulge how I voted on any issue and do not intend to do so. However, I have enough business to attend to without attempting to attend to the business of other members. I am sure that they appreciate their right to speak for themselves just as I do. Certainly, that right in each member should be honored. If any of

6,279 Texans Are May Dischargees

Austin, Texas, While 3,238 Texans were entering the armed forces in May, 6,279 were separated, it was shown Thursday on an official report sent to Washington by the office of the state director of Selective Service.

Lieutenant Colonel Marlin D. Lewis, official spokesman for the state draft director, said that, of the 3,238 Texans who entered the armed forces in May, 2,774 went in by enlistment, the remaining 464 going in through draft boards.

While these men were beginning and ending military service, a total of 5,283 young men, mostly 18-year-olds, registered with the state's 137 draft boards.

The federal draft law requires that all males in the United States register with a draft board on their 18th birthday, or within five days thereafter.

State Selective Service boards forwarded only 116 men during April for physical-mental examinations for military service. Seventy-six were found acceptable by Army, the remainder being rejected.

Six doctors were examined under the doctor's draft law in May, five being found acceptable. Two doctors and one dentist were commissioned in the armed forces after being sent orders to report for induction.

Colonel Lewis estimated that approximately 137,000 Texans were in the armed forces at the end of May, compared to an estimated 150,000 one year before that.

producers in Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana and New Mexico, and sell it to consumers in the East and Middle West for high prices. Those of you who live in the gas producing states will not be affected one way or the other in this matter, simply because the gas that you buy is bought from people living within your same state. This means that the price on that gas is controlled by your state authority and not by federal authority. I tell you this so that you will not let propaganda pushers for the big utility companies mislead you into believing that it is to your interest to submit to federal control. You folks in the Panhandle will not be under federal control insofar as gas is concerned, regardless of what happens, but the danger lies in the fact that if this trend to federal bureaucracy is not stopped immediately, it will not be long until the entire economy will be centralized in Washington and controlled by people you never heard of and probably never will see.

Governor Signs 'Bangs' Disease Eradication Plan

COLLEGE STATION — Texas dairymen have the "green light" for putting into operation Plan B for the eradication of brucellosis. The signing by Governor Shivers of recently passed legislation, says Dr. C. M. Patterson, extension veterinarian, removes all obstacles to a dairyman using Plan B.

Patterson suggests a five-step program for carrying out the objective—all grade A dairy herds in the state participating in a brucellosis eradication program by September 1, 1958—as required by the Texas milk specifications and requirements.

First, he says, protect the herd's water supply from contamination by body discharges from the animals. Stock ponds, marches and stagnant streams should be fenced. Contaminated water next to direct contact with carrier animals, is a most frequent source of new infection, points out the veterinarian.

Secondly, protect feed from body discharges of animals. Feed hay from racks and other feeds from troughs.

Thirdly, isolate in a "hospital" pen all animals showing indications of illness or impending abortion. Keep them away from the herd until they are normal. Add only animals to the herd which have a negative blood test and isolate them for 30 days and then retest before turning them with the herd. Fourthly, says Patterson, put heavy springing cows in a maternity pen 10 days prior to calving and keep them there until all discharges have ceased. All membranes and still-born calves should be immediately buried. And last, he says, contact the local veterinarian who will do the testing and vaccinating. He has the Plan B agreement forms which must be sent to the Livestock Sanitary Commission. Patterson believes much good can come from dairymen, veterinarians and county agents working together on the program and that many other problems can be solved by this joint effort; thus reducing the expense of the eradication program.

Female Hormones Increase Weight Of Tested Steers

Steers fed 10 milligrams daily of diethylstilbestrol, the female hormone new incorporated into many steer fattening rations, made the most profitable gains in recent tests at the Spur Agricultural Experiment Station.

Hormone-fed steers gained 72 pounds more and had a 45 pound advantage in carcass weight over those not fed the hormone, according to John H. Jones, animal husbandman of Texas A. & M. College System. Dressing percentages and carcass grades of the hormone-fed cattle were about the same as the control group.

Shrink was one per cent higher for the hormone group, Jones reported. He explained this was one per cent less than in previous tests and probably due to carrying the animals to a higher degree of finish.

"Research with the hormone looks more promising than some of the earlier work in Texas," Jones said. "These results closely resemble the findings reported in Iowa research."

In the same feeding trials, steers fed 150 mg. of terramycin daily went to market 24 pounds heavier than those receiving no antibiotic. The dressing percentage was one per cent higher and carcass weights 25 pounds heavier than the control. Steers on terramycin also required 14 per cent less feed per pound of gain, Jones added.

In broiling, as in all meat cookery, low temperature methods are recommended since experiments prove it gives less shrinkage and a more tender product.

Meat and chicken should be turned at the end of the broiling time; fish may or may not be turned.

To prevent rust and discoloration of oven racks caused by condensation, leave oven door ajar the first few minutes after lighting. Leave oven door open after using oven, until cool.

State FFA Meet Set For July 18

For more than 4,000 Texas Future Farmers, all roads will lead to Houston, come July 18 and 19.

That's the week the 27th annual convention of the Texas Association of Future Farmers of America will be held in the air-conditioned Sam Houston Coliseum.

The convention officially opens July 20 and closes July 22.

Presiding at the Houston session will be young David Risinger of Ferris, state FFA president. State vice presidents that will assist David during the business sessions include Norman Tucek of Canyon; Bud Hale, Lamesa; Dannie Gansky, Schulenburg; Don Wisdom, Quanah; Tommy Ell-edge, Mabank; Gary Pepper, Mount Pleasant; Huntis Black, Lometa; Kenneth Rosenberger, Nacogdoches; and Lewis Dillon of Donna.

Boys that will attend the convention will represent some 1,000 FFA chapters in Texas that boast a total membership of more than 40,000. The boys all study vocational agriculture in high school. Houston area agricultural leaders are planning one of the finest conventions ever for the farm and ranch youth. Heading the executive committee is Archer Romero, president of the Houston Fat Stock Show.

Outstanding FFA boys and chapters will receive more than $5,000 in cash awards for their work in different fields of vocational agriculture.

The American appetite for cheese has more than tripled during the past 30 years. Consumers have a choice of about 18 cheese types including many with foreign origins. Cheese provides a concentrated source of many needed nutrients.

Potatoes and ice cream USDA's plentiful foods in July. Fresh fruits and vegetables, frozen halibut, broilers and milk and meat products as well as rice and other fats continue plentiful.

Eighty per cent of the fish in the world are found on the bilof Islands off the coast of Alaska.

Avoid oven stains by wiping up spills at low temperatures; vent splatter; saves flame shrinkage, too.

The State Penitentiary, Huntsville, Texas, was founded in 1849.

Estelline Couple Complimented With Bridal Shower At Methodist Church

A shower-reception complimented a newly married couple of Estelline, Mr. and Mrs. Sammie Winkler, recently in the parlors of the First Methodist Church in Estelline. Approximately 60 friends attended. Guests were registered in the bride's book, a gift of the hostesses, by Miss Patsy Shields.

As the guests entered they were served fruit iced punch and cookies by Mrs. Joe Kent Eddins and Miss Barbara Smith. The table was covered with a white cloth over blue and the floral arrangements of spring flowers were flanked by white lighted tapers in crystal holders. During the refreshment hour piano selections were played by Mrs. Raleigh Adams.

The short program consisted of vocal selections by Mrs. Joe Kent Eddins and Misses Barbara Smith, Wynnell Bell Geraldine Rea, and Mrs. Yvonne Butler. Miss Barbara Smith read a poem "To the Bride and Groom," and the gifts were presented by Mrs. Jack Kinard.

Gifts were opened by the honorees and Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Winkler, parents of the groom, and Mrs. Odell Latham and Russell Latham, mother and brother of the bride. The gifts were arranged on a table covered with a white cloth over blue.

The center arrangement was a blue and white umbrella attached to a miniature bmde and groom. Blue and white ribbons connected several packages to the umbrella. After the gifts were opened, they were displayed for all to see.

The hostess gift was a starter set of Desert Rose pottery and a bowl, cream and sugar and plat-

Questions & Answers For Veterans

Veterans Questions and Answers. Q. I am working for my master's degree under the World War II GI Bill. My school does not offer a language course, and yet I need it in order to fulfill my master's requirements. May I take a language course in a different school?

Yes, so long as your school specifically designates the courses to be taken at the second school, and so long as the credits you receive will be accepted at full value.

Q. I am the widow of a World War I veteran, receiving a monthly VA pension. I am receiving survivor's insurance benefits, based on my late husband's employment. Are those benefits considered income, for pension purposes?

A. Survivor's Insurance benefits, which you receive on the basis of your late husband's employment, are considered as income. Q. I borrowed some money on my permanent National Service Life Insurance policy. If, by chance, I can't repay the principal or interest, will my policy be cancelled?

A. Your policy will not be cancelled until your total indebtedness equals or exceeds the policy's cash value. Should that happen, your policy would cease and you no longer would be insured.

Q. I am a disabled World War II veteran taking training under Public Law 16. If I am injured while training, would I be entitled to additional VA compensation?

A. Yes, provided your injury resulted directly from your training.

Q. I am planning to take a correspondence course under the Korean GI Bill. For purposes of my GI allowance payments, what does VA consider as the beginning and ending dates of the course?

A. The beginning date of your course is the date on which the school furnishes you with your first lesson. The ending date is the date the school services your final lesson.

Q. I hold a permanent GI insurance policy. Since it has been in force for more than one year, I have the right to borrow money on it. How much can I borrow?

A. You may borrow an amount that does not exceed 94 per cent of the reserve of your permanent GI policy.

Q. I am drawing a VA pension, and I have just received a legacy that will push my yearly income above the maximum allowed by the law. Am I supposed to inform the VA about it?

A. Yes. You should notify the VA immediately, so that your pension payments can be stopped. Failure to inform VA of your added income will result in an over-payment of pension that you may have to pay back to the Government.

Q. Where may I obtain the forms required to apply for a GI home loan?

A. You should be able to obtain the necessary forms from your lender. Lenders who do not have the forms may get them from their nearest VA Regional Office.

Q. A friend of mine reported for active military duty as a result of a draft call. Within 20 days he was released from service because of personal hardship. Would he have 120-day free insurance coverage, even though he didn't serve 31 days or more? And should he be eligible to take out GI term insurance within the 120-day period?

A. So long as he was ordered to active duty for a period of 31 days or more, he would be entitled to the 120-day free coverage and to the GI term insurance. In his case, it would not be necessary for him actually to have served 31 days or more.

LONG VIEW Agriculture

Re-Establishing Pastures Drought-breaking rains in many parts of the state have focused attention on the need to restore vital pastures ravaged by five years of burning dry weather.

Many thousands of acres of rangeland, especially in West Texas, have been relegated to "second table" or even barren condition during the drought. Rain-fall, alone, will not restore it to proper productivity without additional care.

Landowners must take into consideration the makeup of the soil when they start seeding operations. Plenty of seed but too little lime and fertilizer may mean "poor luck" in establishing a good pasture.

There are scores of reasons for poor stands and failures, including planting seed too deep or too shallow, lack of firmness of seed bed, use of poor quality or unadapted seed and competition by weeds. These are particularly true when a good legume-grass cover is attempted. Yet, the major cause appears to be a lack of plant nutrients.

Some four million of our nation's farms are below even minimum standards on grass culture. The complacency shown by many growers in regard to regular and disastrous stand failures is costing them an extra $50 million a year for seed, alone.

Before seeding a field, it is to the farmer's advantage to get a complete soil analysis and determine what nutrients it may need to guarantee a good crop. On one Central Texas farm, proper fertilization meant the difference between 2,210 pounds of weed-free

Disaster Sight Seeing

The situation which arose in Wellington last Friday night was an outstanding example of how half truths and rumors can create a problem nearly as big as the disaster — that of handling the sight-seeing public.

The cyclone that hit the town destroyed two business houses, the drive-in theatre and airport and damaged other buildings. It also knocked out all power and communication lines and isolated the town from the outside except for mobile radio communications.

Many electric power and telephone wires were down in the streets and several buildings had show windows blown out.
The power and telephone companies put out calls for help to get the lines up and power and communication services back, and the police needed help to patrol the pitch-black town and prevent vandalism and looting of the building which had windows blown out.

When the calls for police and repair help went out the rumors started flying around that Wellington had been blown away in a cyclone and they needed all the help they could get from all directions were clogged with traffic either going to help or just going to look.

This traffic in the town caused a bigger problem than the storm, almost. The extra police had to be used in directing and keeping the traffic moving and the electric and telephone line-men's work in restoring service on their lines was hampered by the cars driving over downed lines and through the areas where repair crews were working.

When disaster strikes a town or area, don't go rushing to the scene just to see what is going on. Unless you have important business or your assistance is needed, stay off the roads leading into the area and leave the roads open for emergency equipment and necessary traffic.

When disaster strikes the police and emergency squads have all they can do helping the people who need help. They don't have time to conduct "sight-seeing tours" for the curious.

Federal Aid To Education

A new and interesting spotlight has been focused on the federal aid to education question by the United States Chamber of Commerce in a news release put out this week.

According to this information, the 48 state governments are in a better financial condition than the federal government.
The 48 states had $15.25 billion in cash and security holdings as of June 30, 1953, as against less than $8 billion of outstanding debt.

The article goes on to say that, "the amount of the state budgets directed toward payment of interest on their debt was less than one per cent in that year, while that of the federal government was almost nine per cent."

With these facts in mind the people should think twice before they make demands on the federal government for assistance in financing their schools. Not only will federal aid bring more federal control, but is bad business to pile more deficit spending on the back of the over burdened federal government, when the states are in a better condition to finance the bill.

Educating our children has always been considered a local affair and the closer to home we keep the financing of the program the more authority we will have in saying how our children are to be educated.

Junior Won't Like It

Although the problem hasn't reached an acute stage in this area by any means, there are communities in Texas genuinely disturbed by the coming shortage of school facilities, with a bumper crop of youngsters appearing.

One solution that keeps cropping up is to drop the present system of nine month terms and keep the schools open the year round, thus getting 25 per cent more use out of the present facilities.

The Fort Worth Star Telegram advocates three four-month terms a year, with pupils required to attend two of them. School could be in session 11 months of the year, with vacations taking up the other month.

The present school term, opening in September and closing in May, seems to have started by custom and not through necessity.
Even now, some schools in the cotton country close up in the fall when it becomes necessary to bring in the harvest.

It seems entirely possible that in the relatively near future, our school terms will be changed to remain open in the summer. But it will take a lot of convincing for teachers, parents and children.
We know junior won't like it.

The most important problem of all, however, is not in getting the full use of the school physical plant. The problem is the shortage of trained teachers, and it appears that not nearly enough is being done to help this situation.

Sell the Home Town . . .
To Home-Towners First

"Trade at home" is a universally-popular theme at any chamber of commerce meeting. Other civic-minded organizations take up the banner and wave it around until residents feel like they have committed a felony if they spend a nickel in Amarillo.

We think that less time ought to be spent on this philosophy, and more invested in another theme. Let's keep our youngsters in the community in which they grew up.

Why does a young man or woman, after college training, so often seek employment in distant cities? Why do so many high school graduates, unable to pursue college training, leave their home towns for other areas?

It is because of better pay elsewhere? We feel that this is partly the answer. Yet, on the other hand, there are many jobs in the small town that pay well as comparable jobs in larger towns.

Is it lack of opportunity? Certainly not! We don't know of a better place in the world for a young man or woman to start out than in a growing small town. In many cases, they will be able to advance as the town advances.

Questions & Answers For Veterans

Q. If a veteran fails to apply for Korean GI term insurance until the last day of his 120-day free coverage, and that final day is a Saturday, does he lose out on his chance to get insurance?

A. Not necessarily. If the final day falls on Saturday, Sunday or a legal holiday, the 120-day period will be extended to cover the next VA workday. With the final day on Saturday, the veteran could obtain his GI term insurance the following Monday.

Q. May a veteran taking Korean GI Bill training also receive GI unemployment allowances at the same time, since he isn't working?

A. No. The law prohibits veterans from receiving GI training allowances and GI unemployment allowances at the same time.

Q. I am a World War II veteran in school under the original GI Bill. At the wind-up of the program on July 25, 1956, I figure that I still will have some unused GI training entitlement. Will I be able to use my entitlement after that date?

A. No. Even though you may have unused entitlement, your GI Bill training must stop on July 25, 1956. GI training beyond that date will not be permitted, under the law, except in certain rare instances.

Q. I have just entered the armed forces for the first time. Will I be eligible for a GI loan after I am discharged?

A. No. Under the law, service-men who enter the armed forces for the first time after January 31, 1955, may not be entitled to the GI loan benefit after they leave service.

Q. I am thinking of paying my GI insurance premium one year in advance. If I pay my yearly premium, and suddenly need the money, would it be possible for me to get it back from VA?

A. Yes. VA will refund you whatever amount has not yet been applied to monthly premiums.

Q. I attended college for four years under the World War II GI Bill, and then went back on active duty. I have just been discharged from my second tour of service with a service-connected disability. Would I be eligible for vocational training under Public Law 894, even though I already had received training under the GI Bill?

A. Only if you are in need of training to overcome the handicap of your disability. If you need the training you may train under Public Law 894 for as long as is necessary for you to achieve complete rehabilitation.

Q. If I take flight training under the Korean GI Bill, how will I be paid?

A. You will receive a monthly allowance from VA covering 75 per cent of the established rate that non-veterans, taking the same course, are required to pay. The allowance will be based on the number of hours of instruction received during the month.

Q. A friend of mine is a paralyzed veteran eligible for a $10,000 VA grant for a "wheelchair house," especially adapted for his needs. Would he also be eligible for a regular GI home loan to apply on the remainder of the cost of his house?

A. Yes. The fact that he obtained a $10,000 VA housing grant would not deprive him of his GI loan benefit.

Q. I am required to take a physical examination to reinstate my lapsed GI insurance policy. Would VA accept an examination made by an osteopath?

A. Yes, provided the osteopathic physician is a graduate of a recognized college of osteopathy, and is listed in the current direc...

Sodolitan And Philathea Classes Enjoy Luncheon In Home Of Mrs. Theo Swift

Spring flowers in pastel shades provided a charming background for the luncheon and program given on Wednesday, June 18, in the home of Mrs. Theo Swift for members of the Sodolitan and Philathea classes of the First Baptist Church. Cohostesses with Mrs. Swift were Mes. Henry Scott, H. Byrd and Christine Long.

The dining table was laid with a white linen cloth and centered with a low bowl of snapdragons and yellow asters. The buffet held a lovely arrangement of gladioli. For the meal, guests were seated at quartet tables centered with bud vases of pink and red rose buds.

The president of the Sodolitan class, Mrs. Henry Scott, welcomed the members and guests after which Mrs. J. W. Fitzjarrald gave the invocation.

Following the luncheon, Mrs. S. M. Watts brought a very inspiring devotional taken from the 21st Chapter of Acts. Mrs. L. G. Rasco let in prayer.

Mrs. Henry Scott, president of the Sodolitan class and Mrs.

Claude DeBerry, vice president of the Philathea Class, each held short business sessions at which time reports were given by the various officers and chairmen.

Mrs. Fitzjarrald gave an inspiring talk on "Visitation" and Mrs. Nat Bradley let in prayer.

Mrs. H. Byrd, program chairman of the Sodolitan Class, had charge of the program. Mrs. T. L. Rouse played a solo, "Chopin Sonata." Mrs. Marion Long gave an interesting resume of her trip to Tennessee and other southern states.

Mrs. Kinadd offered the closing prayer and the group sang the class songs, "Ready" and "Blest Be the Tie That Binds."

Members and guests enjoying this affair were Mes. J. W. Fitzjarrald, T. J. Bridges, Bill Merrill, A. J. Fowler, L. G. Rasco, Claude DeBerry, Bill Miller, S. M. Watts, Frank Goffinett, D. L. C. Kinard, Simpson, T. L. Rouse, Frank Smith, Emma Baskerville, Nat Bradley, Akers, Earl Pritchett and hostesses, Mrs. Scott, Mrs. Byrd, Mrs. Long and Mrs. Swift.

Hartsell-Phillips Nuptials Read In Post Rites June 3

Miss Anita Hartsell and Troy Phillips were united in marriage in a double-ring ceremony performed June 3 by Rev. Roy L. Shahan at the parsonage of the First Baptist Church in Post.

For her wedding, the bride was attired in a street-length dress of blue chrysalized silk. She carried a white Bible topped with a single orchid. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift of the groom.

She also carried out the traditional bridal custom of wearing "something old, something new, something borrowed and something blue."

Miss Glenna Widener, who attended as maid-of-honor, was attired in a dress of white embroidered nylon. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

Don Beasley was best man. Following a short wedding trip, the newlyweds will be at home 10 miles southeast of Memphis where the groom is engaged in farming.

Cotton Gets Foreign Competition Now

The Texas cotton industry exports most of its crop, and is getting stronger competition from cotton growers outside the U. S., a University of Texas study shows.

University Cotton Economic Research Division's comparative study of the U. S. and world cotton markets indicates foreign growers are producing large amounts of long-staple cottons.

Average annual production of long-staple cottons outside the U. S. in 1934-38 was 4.5 million bales, the University study shows. The figure climbed to 10 million bales in 1953-54.

Means foreign countries are getting the U. S. growers' policy of supplying large amounts of long-staple cotton with re-uniform fiber properties, an important factor in mass production of textiles.

Trend coupled with lower cotton prices is one of the reasons why world-market buyers are taking Texas cotton after exhausting sources of the same varieties grown in the U. S., Research Scientist H. Hembree warned.

University's comparative study of U. S. and world cotton markets challenge us to improve production and marketing programs and strengthen our competition in the world market, Hembree declared.

Old Draft Records Are Now In Shreds

Austin, State Selective Service headquarters Thursday completed a big house-cleaning chore it has been at since April 21st, destruction of the draft files of approximately 1,750,000 men who registered with draft boards between 1940 and 1947.

It finally turned out to be close to a 200-ton job. The bulky records, stored in Austin since 1947, were sold to a paper company, which in turn is selling them to Michigan pulp mill. An official Selective Service representative had to sit by a shredding machine to see that every file was destroyed, since the records are confidential. He has certified that he witnessed destruction of the records.

Registration cards and classification records of everyone who registered during the 1940-47 period are being saved, also approximately 81,000 files, mostly involving men classified as aliens at one time or another.

Selective Service also is keeping records of men registered under the current draft law, which went into effect in 1948. These records are now in 137 draft boards over the state.

"The draft law is still in effect," cautions Brigadier General Paul L. Wakefield, state Selective Service director, who was in charge of the destruction program. "Males reaching 18 are still required to register. All males born on or since August 30, 1922, should be registered with local draft boards under the present draft law."

The old draft records left can be housed in one percent of the space occupied by the destroyed records. Destruction of the records will reduce space needed by state Selective Service headquarters more than half.

Baten said that the checks were signed wrong, however. The signature read "H. C. Clifton," but the gin manager really signs his name "H. Clifton."

Late Tuesday afternoon, Baten said that his telephone and radio had been busy all day with calls from police officers placing "holds" on him.

He is wanted in Haskell, Morton, Lubbock, Lamesa, Greenville, Abilene, Sweetwater, Floydada, Wellington, Levelland, San Angelo, and Mangrup, Okla., on 17 charges of forgery, swindling, theft, and breaking and entering.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation also wants him for allegedly transporting a stolen car across a state boundary.

12 Offices Here For Phone Picnic

Twelve towns were represented here Saturday at the General Telephone Company's annual employees picnic. This year the affair was a point effort of the Memphis and Ralls Districts.

The originally planned picnic in the park had to be cancelled because of storm warnings, rain and sand. The affair was held in the High School Cafeteria.

Approximately 150 of the expected 300 employees and guests were present because of the storm warning that were up for this area.

G. T. Sims, General plant superintendent was the only representative from the General Office in San Angelo.

The planning committee had worked up a program of softball games and swimming, but because of the weather everyone ate hurriedly and left early.

Employees and guest attending came from Ralls, Quitaque, Paducah, Levelland, Buffalo, Okla., Abernathy, Clarendon, Amarillo, Matador, Wellington, Claude and Memphis.

Tornado Warning

The wind destroyed every building on the Hightower farm near Bryant's lake except the farm house. Other reports tell of barns, chicken houses and garages being blown away in the Newlin area.

An insurance adjuster said that most of the farm homes and buildings in that area were severely damaged and that in one house the hail beat out the windows on the north side of a new home and dented the sheet rock on the wall opposite the window.

The people in that area estimated the wind at 80 to 90 miles per hour.

Some of the stucco finished homes had all the stucco beaten off the north side, one report said.

Trains were held up along the railroad for about four hours as the line had track and roadbed washouts all the way from Clarendon to east of Quanah.

Friday night of last week while Wellington was being ripped by a tornado Memphis and surrounding area was getting more rain.

According to J. J. McBicken, local weather recorder, we received .5 of an inch that night.

Thursday night Memphis received an inch of rain. West of Memphis around Eli three to three and one-half inches was reported while Plaska got less than an inch, but several farms in the area were again under water from Oaks creek.

Memphis received a total of 4.7 inches during the three days, according to McBicken's report.

The high and low temperatures for the past seven days as recorded by McBicken are Friday, 89-68; Saturday 90-62; Sunday, 82-62; Monday, 88-64; Wednesday, 89-65; Thursday, 90-63.

members of the Boys Club, and a big fireworks show to close the evening and day's observance of the Fourth.

The merchants, business men and Memphis boosters donated $300 to the Jaycees' drive to raise money for this fireworks display.

A Jaycee said that when the drive started, the organization was trying for $150 and they told the donors that all the money would be spent for fireworks. When the drive was such a success, the organization decided to still spend all the money on fireworks and really present a big show.

Both the Boys Club and the Jaycees have indicated that this year's program is just a starter on a program which they hope to build into one of the biggest Fourth of July celebrations in this part of the Panhandle.

to God-sent water doing the work of moistening lawns and flowers. But it is causing a lot of extra work in keeping weeds out and grass cut.

Besides damage to crops, farm lands, and other such property, the recent rains damaged a lot of newly-paved streets in Memphis because of no curbing. This in time will be corrected and the rain water will flow gently to its destination without the accompanying erosion at the edges of the paving.

Safe Auto Speeds Vary With People

What's YOUR safe speed?

E. C. McFadden of Dallas, President of Texas Safety Association, Inc., asked that question of Texas drivers today as he discussed the current speed control program of Texas Safety Association.

He made the further point that what may be a safe speed for a person today may be too fast for him tomorrow.

"If you're tired, worried or under par physically, you can't control your car or cope with traffic as efficiently as you can when you're relaxed and in good health," Mr. McFadden said. "So make tion, Department of Public Safety and the National Safety Council. Slogan of the program is: "Don't be a Hurry Bug—slow down and live!"

"What is a safe speed for one person may be suicidal for another," McFadden continued. We're all individuals and we don't leave our individuality behind us when we step behind the wheel."

McFadden pointed out that there is a wide difference between people in such things as judgment, reaction time, temperament and physical make-up.

All these things, and many more, determine the speed at which a motorist can drive safely, he said.

"The person with slow reactions, faulty vision or jumpy nerves certainly should drive at a slower pace than that of the individual who habitually makes sound split-second decisions and is blessed with 20-20 vision and iron nerves in the bargain," McFadden said.
