CLEAN-UP WEEK AUGUST 4-11

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, the annual summer problem of cleaning the city is being met with the sponsorship of a campaign by civic organizations, and

WHEREAS, the cooperation of each individual citizen is needed in this huge undertaking, which deals with the health and well-being of both young and old, and is a source of pride for everyone, and

WHEREAS, a certain period should be set aside for concerted effort of the entire citizenship of the City of Memphis in this cause.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, O. L. Helm, Mayor of the City of Memphis, Texas, declare the week of August 4-11, 1955, to be CLEAN-UP WEEK in our city; and name the day of August 11, 1955 as trash-hauling day; and ask that business houses in the city close their doors at noon on the above-named day in order that the owners, managers and employees may take part in the project.

Given under my hand and the official seal of said city, the 27th day of July, A. D., 1955.

Livestock Loans Extended 2 Years

The U. S. Department of Agriculture's special livestock loan program has been extended for two years, through July 14, 1957.

John J. county supervisor of Farmers Home Administration announced this week in a statement.

The extension is authorized in Public Law 166, signed by President Eisenhower July 15, according to the statement.

The two years this service has been available in the Farmers Home Administration, 6,382 loans totaling $54,000,000 have been made to livestock producers. Of these, 1744 loans totaling $18,000,000 were made to livestock producers.

Under the legislation extending the program, initial loans will be made through July 14, 1957. Additional loans may be made for a period of two years to borrowers who are unable to make credit adjustments and pay the loan previously received.

Special livestock loans are made to established producers and feeders of cattle, sheep, goats (except commercial feedlot operators) who are temporarily unable to get from regular sources the credit needed to continue their normal operations.

"To be eligible an applicant must have a good past record of livestock operations and have reasonable prospects for success with the help of the loan.

"The loans are made to meet the usual expenses of livestock operations such as the purchase or production of feed, and replacing (Continued on Page Seven)

Mrs. R. Grisham's Grandfather Dies

Walter Jennings, 85, grandfather of Mrs. Rufus Grisham, died Monday at Abilene. A pioneer Abilene business man, he had been in ill health for a number of years.

Funeral services were held in Abilene on Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Grisham and sons, Bill and Bobby, attended the service.

Survivors include his wife, four grandchildren, and six great grandchildren.

Civic Leader C. C. Hodges Dies In Hospital Saturday

CLAUDE C. HODGES

One of Memphis' outstanding civic leaders and businessmen, C. C. Hodges, 72, died Saturday afternoon in a local hospital.

He had been under a doctor's care for some time with a condition. He entered the hospital at 11 o'clock Friday night.

Funeral services were conducted Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Memphis First Methodist Church, Rev. E. L. Yeats, of the former Methodist pastor and Rev. Jim H. Sharp, pastor of the local church, conducted the services.

Mr. Hodges was in Fairview cemetery, with arrangements under the direction of Spicer Funeral Home.

Mr. Hodges was born in 1882, in Garin, Mo. He lived there until he married and moved to Neosho, Mo. Then in 1908 he and his family moved to Memphis, N. M., where he was an early homesteader.

Mr. Hodges gave up farming and moved into Clayton, where he had a large garage and motel.

While living in Clayton he was active in civic work and served on the city council and was Mayor of Clayton in 1930. He also led a program provided Clayton with its street lighting system in 1930.

He moved to Memphis in 1931, where he married Mrs. Blackwell at Clayton. He operated a motel here, but was active in civic work until

Oklahomans Hurt In Car And Truck Wreck Wednesday

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie L. Johnson of Lawton, Okla., were injured Wednesday afternoon in a car-truck collision three miles east of Memphis on State Highway 256.

The driver of the truck, W. S. Francis of Memphis, was uninjured.

The Oklahoma couple were brought to Memphis by a passing motorist, where they were treated in a local hospital. The attending doctor said that Mrs. Johnson suffered facial lacerations, a slight brain concussion and an injured right wrist. Mr. Johnson had a slight cut on the forehead.

In a statement to Highway Patrolman Clinton Culp, who investigated the accident, Johnson said that he attempted to pass the slow moving truck and at the same time the truck started moving to the left side of the road.

Francis said that he was getting ready to make a left turn on to a dirt road that joined the highway about 100 yards from where the accident happened.

The right side of Johnson's 1955 Buick hit the left rear side of the truck with such force that the car went under the truck and knocked the back wheels out of line and broke the left spring. The front of the car was caved in and the top over the right side of the windshield was dented by the truck bed.

The Johnson's young son, who was in the car with them, was uninjured.

They were released from the hospital after treatment and another son came from Lawton to take them home Wednesday night.

Negro Man Pleads Guilty In DWI Case

Roger Lee Walter, a 52-year-old Negro man, of Ft. Dawson, Okla., pleaded guilty to the charge of driving while intoxicated in county court Monday, and was fined $100 plus court costs of $22.30 by Judge Tracy Davis.

The man's employer paid his fine and he was released. Deputy Sheriff Elmer Neel said.

The man was arrested Saturday evening by State Highway Patrolmen Clinton Culp and Noel Callaway on Highway 287 southeast of Memphis.

A LARGE SUPPLY OF WINE is looked over by Whiskey Control Board Agent Allen Caviness of Childress (at left) and Hall County Deputy Sheriff Elmer Neel. Neel and Sheriff Bill Baten confiscated the wine Saturday night in a raid in Morningside.

SHERIFF'S DEPARTMENT MAKES YEAR'S BIGGEST RAID SATURDAY

Sheriff Bill Baten and Deputy Sheriff Elmer Neel confiscated the largest amount of illegal alcoholic beverage of the year Saturday night when they raided a house in Morningside.

The two law officers got 133 pints, two fifths of wine, and a half pint of whiskey. They also arrested a Negro woman, Lola Mae Johnson, who lives in the house.

The woman was charged with the possession of alcoholic beverage for the purpose of sale. She pleaded guilty to the charge in County Court Monday and Judge Tracy Davis assessed a fine of $250 and $22.30 court cost.

Tuesday the woman was still being held in jail awaiting payment of her fine.

The two officers made the raid after seeing a man come out of the house with a bottle in his pocket, Neel said.

When the two officers made the raid at 9:30 Saturday night, they had to go under the house to get a large portion of the wine.

Temperatures Mild; Rainfall Light

The area continued to get cotton showers during the past seven days and the temperatures stayed below 100 degrees for the entire time.

J. J. McMickin reported .33 of an inch of rain for Wednesday afternoon, .05 of an inch for Sunday, and .10 of an inch last Thursday.

The high and low temperatures for the seven days are: Friday, 80-69; Saturday, 91-68; Sunday, 95-69; Monday, 96-69; Tuesday, 97-70; Wednesday, 95-69; and today 83-69.

Any habit is hard to break. Old Man Weather during the past three months acquired the habit of losing rain every few days (a mighty welcome habit if you ask me) and is still dealing frequent doses. Some farmers are not objecting to the showers as they think they are needed. Others would like to see two or three weeks of warm and dry weather to make the crops take on more root instead of tender plants above ground. No one wants to stop the rains for fear they will stop for good.

This is the first year in a long time when the temperature has not climbed to above 100 degrees and when night after night people have to pull cover to sleep comfortably. Who wants to go on vacation when we have real mountain climate right in our own back yard? (Except for the over supply of skeeters, flies, gnats, moths and chiggers.)

A great number of citizens of this community know of the invaluable contributions made to the community during the years of the active life in Memphis of C. C. Hodges who was laid to rest Monday in the cemetery where he had promoted much improvement while he was mayor of Memphis. As City Park Commissioner, he and his committee added many things to the park making it attractive and useful for recreational purposes. As mayor, he at all times actively pushed programs for the betterment of the city of Memphis and its affairs. Untiring in all his efforts in behalf of the community, Mr. Hodges not only spent a lot of time and talent, but a lot of energy and thought to any (Continued on Page Seven)

EXTREME CONDITIONS MAKE WEEK NECESSARY, OFFICIALS DECIDE

Because of the heavy rains this spring and the profuse amount of weeds that have grown up all over Memphis, the annual clean-up campaign has been expanded from one day to one week.

A planning committee has set the seven days from August 4 to August 11 as Clean-Up Week and the final big push and haul-off day will be Thursday, August 11.

On the day that the trash is hauled off the city equipment will begin hauling early that morning and all the workers that can will work that morning. Then at 1 o'clock the stores will be asked to close and the final big push will be made to complete the week long task, the committee decided Wednesday.

205 Hall Children Take Second Polio Vaccination Tues.

All of the adverse publicity received by the Salk polio vaccine since it was first administered to first and second grade children cut the number who took the second round of vaccinations almost in half here in Hall County.

A total of 205 children took the second vaccinations this week as compared with 352 during the first round.

Adrian Odum, manager of Odum Clinic, said that 162 children from Memphis, Lakeview and Estelline took the vaccination here, and 43 in Turkey.

The first time 289 children, both colored and white from Memphis, Estelline and Lakeview, took the vaccine. Turkey gave 63 injections the first time.

The National Foundation, which is financing the program, anticipated this drop in the number taking the vaccine and sent only enough of the vaccine for 198 injections, Odum said.

However, he said, the containers allow a little for waste, and by handling it very carefully, the hospital was able to get over 200 actual inoculations.

Both in Memphis and Turkey there are a few inoculations left and will be given to eligible children just as long as the vaccine lasts.

Odum said that Memphis and Turkey both had some children who were out of town or were unable to take the second inoculation, but plan to later.

Cotton's Growth Is A "Believe It Or Not" Story

Joe Long came into the Democrat early Wednesday morning with a "believe it or not" story which demonstrates the fertility of the soil here in Hall County.

Long had with him a stick which measured eight and three-quarters inches long and he said that it represented the five day growth of some cotton owned by Goeing Byars, who lives on the Ken Hawkins farm near Lesley.

Long said that last Friday morning Mrs. Byars' brother, who is visiting from the northern states, placed a stick by a stalk of cotton just to see how much it would grow.

The cotton, which was one month old Wednesday, had grown the eight and three-quarters inches during the five-day period, Mr. and Mrs. Byars and her brother attested.

Billy West Hired As Assistant Coach For Panhandle High

A second Memphian has been named to the coaching staff of Panhandle High School. He is Billy Howard West, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard West of Memphis.

West is a 1949 graduate of Memphis High School where he lettered in both basketball and football and a 1954 graduate of Hardin-Simmons University. He is a veteran of the Marine Corps, serving during the Korean conflict.

During the past year he has been basketball coach at Dickens. He will serve as assistant to Head Coach Bill Davis, who was elected earlier in the year.

Community Boards Selected For Coming ASC Elections

Four leaders in the Hall County agriculture program have been named to the County Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Election Board by the Secretary of Agriculture.

These four men selected the community election boards, who shall supervise community elections in the six farm communities in the county and make the nominations for membership on community committees. The meeting for selecting the community boards was held July 22.

The members of the county election board are W. B. Hooser, extension agent, chairman; Guy M. Cawfield, work unit conservationist, Soil Conservation Service; J. J. Roan, Jr., county supervisor, Farmers Home Administration; and Harold Hodges, president of the Hall County Farm Bureau.

The community election boards will meet Friday, July 29, and place 10 eligible farmers on the community ballot, Hooser said.

He added, that in addition to those farmers who are nominated by the community election board, there will also be included in the slate of nominees any name or names of farmers submitted to the board by petition signed by 10 or more eligible voters in the community. These petitions must be received by the local chairman of the community election board by August 12 to be included in the slate of nominees.

The election will be by mail. All eligible voters will be mailed a ballot for their community on Aug. 13, which must be returned to the local A. S. C. office at the voter's expense not later than the day of the election, Aug. 19, the county agent said.

Five of the ten or more eligible voters on the ballot will be selected. The man receiving the greatest number of votes will be the chairman of the community committee and shall also serve as delegate to the convention to elect the county committee. The one receiving the second most votes will be vice-chairman, Hooser said.

The County Committee will be selected before Aug. 31.

The men selected to the community election committees are: Lesley community including Brice, (Continued on Page Seven)

Association Lists Bills Pertaining To Merchants

A review of bills passed at the recent session of the 54th Texas Legislature, compiled by the Retail Merchants Association of Texas, shows that more than a score of measures affecting retailers of the state have been signed into law.

Charles T. Lux, RMA executive vice-president, said bills relating to collections, wage assignments, sale prices (grocery items), and taxes were among the more important enacted.

A breakdown by subjects of the laws passed follows:

Unfair Sales—Effective September 6 a new law prohibits sellers from limiting purchases on merchandise offered for sale below cost.

Collections—The Small Claims Courts Act has been amended to provide for a fee of $1 to the citation serving officer and authorizes the usual fees for levying executions to enforce judgments.

Holidays—November 11 has been officially designated Veteran's Day. Bank and Trust Companies are given permission to close on Saturdays.

State taxes—A one cent a gallon additional tax on gasoline. A one-cent a package additional tax on cigars. A $2.30 per barrel increase in the tax on beer. A 25-cent additional levy per $1,000 on corporate capitalization.

Collection of State taxes—The method of collection a 2.2 per cent on radio and TV. sales has been bonded to guarantee the State Comptroller to collect audit fees from the dealers.

Effective October 1 the maximum weekly unemployment compensation benefits will be raised from $20 to $28.

Assignment of wages—Employers, under terms of a new law, are exempt from legal action in cases where an employee's wages are pledged to a creditor, if the employer can prove that he was not notified in writing of such an assignment and did not assent to such an assignment in writing.

Assignment of accounts receivable—A bill that has already become law protects assignments of accounts receivable regardless of whether such accounts are in existence at the time notice of assignment was filed, provided, however, that the recording of such notices constitute constructive notice and regardless of whether the contract out of which the accounts arose was in the contemplation of the assignor and assignee when the notice of assignment was executed.

Fowl ticks—also known as blue bugs and chicken ticks—are an unnecessary drain on turkeys and chickens during the summer months. A spray containing .5 per cent lindane, chlordane or toxaphene is recommended for fowl tick control.

Mrs. Myrtle Sisk arrived in Memphis Monday for a visit with friends. A long-time Memphis resident, Mrs. Sisk moved to Twentynine Palms, Calif., last summer. She says she likes California, but misses Memphis and her friends here.

RIGHTS AND LIABILITIES

Rights can be assigned but liabilities can't. Or, to state it another way, ordinarily you can sell or convey what you own, but you can't free yourself from your debts by getting someone else to promise to pay them.

The usual application of this is obvious. If I borrow $100 from you and promise to pay it back, I can't release myself from liability to you for the $100 by getting my neighbor to promise to pay it for me. True, he may become bound to pay it also, but I am also liable, unless you, as creditor, agree to release me and substitute him as debtor.

This simple principle, when involved in a more complicated contract, is sometimes lost sight of. For instance, Adams sells his house to Brown under a contract which calls for monthly payments of $100. After making payments for about three years, Brown decides he wants to sell to Carver who is willing to pay him the amount of his property interest (his equity) and to assume and pay the remaining $100 monthly payments as they become due.

Now Brown ordinarily can assign his interest in the contract to Carver with or without the consent of Adams (unless the contract calls for the consent of the vendor). He can do this because it is a property right which he owns.

But because Carver has assumed and agreed to pay the remaining balance owed on the Adams contract, Brown isn't released from liability even though Carver has also become liable. The only one who can release him is Adams. Brown can't without Adams' permission, erase his name from the contract and make a stranger to the contract the only one liable under it. Adams has the right to hold Brown to his original promise.

HEALTH NOTES

By HENRY A. HOLLE
State Health Dept.

Some people react to the pressure of modern life like a stick of soft pine reacts to a wood rasp. You probably recall days when an unexpected event, an accident or a brush with the boss, tied your stomach in a knot. You were suffering, the State Health Department says, from one of the more common forms of indigestion: nervous tension and excitement.

The stomach, the experts say, is largely controlled by the involuntary nervous system. You get keyed up, your stomach over-secretes, and you feel pain.

Actually, the Department points out, there are many directly traceable causes of indigestion. Lack of sleep and exercise, improper diet, and similar artificial conditions can bring it on.

You've heard the old saw about one man's meat being another man's poison? It's literally true. Even healthful and nutritious foods may rub you wrong. They contain organic acids which could upset the balance of your particular stomach.

Your favorite fruit may contain malic-acid, oxalic-acid, or citric acid. One or more of these may give you trouble, causing ungentlemanly or un-lady-like belching.

Or the degree of ripeness of a fruit or vegetable may cause fermentation in the stomach, bringing on unpleasant results.

Condiments or strongly flavored foods are other causes of indigestion. They often cause the stomach to secrete too much hydrochloric acid. In normal people the stomach neutralizes what it over-secretes, but people with ulcers suffer painful "indigestion."

Greasy foods are particularly troublesome to people with malfunctioning gall bladders or liver diseases.

Tannic-acid can be found in three of the most commonly used hot drinks. And here's the last straw: Even water, if you drink lots of it, may start your stomach churning and pouring out its digestive juices.

In any case of indigestion, frequently taking baking soda to relieve it is a mistake, health men agree. The temporary relief may cause some sufferers to "play down" symptoms of a serious ailment, thereby causing him to prolong medical attention.

MRS. FRED BUTLER SUFFERS STROKE

Mrs. Fred Butler is reported to be in a serious condition after having suffered a stroke last Wednesday. She is receiving treatment in a local hospital.

Mrs. Butler has been employed with Perry Bros. until about three weeks ago when she became ill.

Silage Is Cheap Source of Feed

Next to pasture, silage is the cheapest source of succulent feed for livestock, says C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist, of College Station.

And it's filling the bill for many Texas producers.

"No other method of storing forage is as economical as the unlined trench type silo," says Bates. Recent studies indicate that such a silo of 200-ton capacity can be constructed and maintained for 93 cents for each ton of material ensiled.

Silage, Bates continues, provides an excellent source of vitamins and minerals essential to maintenance and growth of livestock. Chances of loss from rodents, fire or weather are minimal and are other silage advantages.

It may be put up in small quantities, or it may be stored in large quantities, but it is usually self-fed, eliminating all labor in feeding.

Specialized equipment is required for an efficient silo, and silo-filling Field cutters for chopping material from a row or stands usually are available to farmers on a custom basis for a cost of $1 an acre.

A sizable labor crew is needed for harvest of the silage, but Bates says many farmers are solving this problem with a lot of equipment exchange with neighbors.

Report From Washington

By Walter Rogers

Congressman, 18th District

ADJOURNMENT

Under the picture. Under the session of July 31st year in which it was unless there is a national emergency. Since the President's end to the Korean war, the question arises as to whether or not a need will exist for a normal declaration of an emergency before Congress can be held over after July 31st. The question was posed on the floor of the House yesterday by Speaker Rayburn (R-Iowa) to the Majority Leader. Speaker Rayburn came forward and stated that some emergency measure had not expired. He also stated that he had asked the Attorney General of the United States for an opinion on the very question. As far as I know, the Attorney General's opinion has not been made public, but you can bet your dollar that the House stay in session after July 31st, he will do what he is doing and will be a solid parliamentary House will stay in session several "must" measures have been passed or definitely passed. If consideration of these measures requires continuance of session past August 1st (which is certain) and a formal declaration of an emergency by the President of the United States is held to be necessary, it is the opinion that the President should declare such an emergency. Several highly controversial measures which have been declared by the White House as the Reserve Bill, the Federal Reserve Bill, and the Federal Reserve Act. In addition to these measures, there are a number of other bills which have been passed this session, including the highly publicized Gas Bill, which in my opinion is a "must" if it is to be passed. Other bills which are to be considered, the School Construction Bill, which will be highly controversial, the Upper Colorado Development Bill, also controversial, and others.

Housing Bill, which seems to be the one that is causing the most trouble, is lodged in the Rules Committee. There are 12 members of the Rules Committee (8 Democrats and 4 Republicans). In order to clear the Rules Committee, it must receive 7 votes, and that all members are expected to vote on the bill. The report of the Democrats voted for the bill, while 2 Democrats and 4 Republicans voted against the bill. The result in the bill not reported. Since this is an emergency measure, it is general opinion that on reconsideration of the bill by the committee, presidential influence could garner one vote to add to the 6 Democrats to bring the bill out. The 2 Democratic votes against the bill are of southern conservatives whose prior records would indicate that if any vote is going to be cast, it is not going to be on the democratic side. The bill concerns public housing. This means that even if it clears the Rules Committee, it is not assured of passage in the House. The bill is expected to pass, but because it has presidential influence, we expect it to be out here not later than the 10th, which was original adjournment day.

Mrs. Rogers and the children with yours truly will head for Texas immediately thereafter. All motels between Washington and the Panhandle should take notice. We have helped many a motel owner to light up his "No Vacancy" sign. We feel like we are entitled to picnic prices, but haven't yet been successful in obtaining them.

THE SUMMIT MEETINGS

The offer of our President to exchange blue prints and aerographic rights with the Russians was unquestionably a strong and violent blow in behalf of liberty and freedom. It was met here with mixed reactions. Everyone appreciated the purpose, the thought and the philosophy behind this offer because we are all Americans and appreciate freedom. The reactions were in no regard critical of the move by this government; they were in praise of it. But the immediate questions that came in the minds of all in top level positions were, "How would such an exchange be made? Could we trust the Russians to carry out their side of such a bargain?" Perhaps the Russian minds also wondered if they could trust this country. Certainly you and I know that they could, but it is these suspicions and feelings of insecurity in what the other person is doing, or going to do, that causes the misunderstandings among men and the resulting wars. If we could work out the mechanics of an unconditional exchange of such information, it would go further in the interest of peace than anything else during our time. If carried out by both sides in the spirit in which it was offered by Eisenhower, it would provide the fuel for the moral rearmament so badly needed in this generation.

Mystery Stripped from Atomic Work

By BILL JURY

Energy and its development has been pictured as a vast operation, imagining groups of bushy-haired men who carry pocketfuls of rays and drag behind them chain reactions.

Conceptions of this new development in American and scientific history is being dispelled as facts and information are help shed light into the unknown.

Energy was developed in war, and as long as we are in a state of war, the security of the nation is much of the atomic energy is reported to be much of it is being told through congressional and Energy Commission reports.

At the General Atomics Corp. plant at Oak Ridge, Tenn., workers will handle problems as routine. Farmers will utilize atomic energy in their crop plans as they now employ fertilizer, and terms like "neutrons" will be household words.

Atomic energy is so new, so big, so revolutionary and so full of commercial possibilities for the future that many American corporations have been attracted to the field. These companies are engaged in engineering studies, spending their own money in attempts to produce answers to the foremost question of economical nuclear power.

Nuclear physics is an infant science; the things that are known are as nothing compared to the

The difference is that one pound of uranium-235, completely fissioned, yields energy equivalent to that obtained from burning 1500 tons of coal, or 300,000 gallons of gasoline.

The practical means of direct conversion of atomic energy to electricity so far has escaped achievement, although if the promise of the new atomic battery is fulfilled on a large scale, the power plant of tomorrow will need only an atomic generator and direct cables to connect power straight to far-flung communities. Boilers, engines and cumbersome electric generators conceivable could become as obsolete as the candle.

Atomic isotopes, for example, can affect our everyday lives in almost every field of endeavor. They play a major role in diagnosis and treatment for health. They can be employed to separate ions in the water treatment, metals recovery, antibiotics, and numerous other phases of industry.

Transportation systems could be revolutionized. The first atomic-powered submarine already has been tested satisfactorily. Atomic-powered ocean liners are seen as a definite possibility for the future. Scientists now are working to find the key to atomic-propelled aircraft.

Questions & Answers For Veterans

Q — Are there any conditions at all under which a Korea veteran could draw GI unemployment pay and GI training allowances at the same time? I understand that normally the dual payments are prohibited by law.

A — There are two exceptions to the law barring simultaneous receipt of both payments. Korea veterans taking GI correspondence courses, as well as those in school less than half-time, may be eligible for GI unemployment allowances at the same time as they are drawing GI training allowances.

Q — I want to apply for disability compensation but, since I do not live near a VA office, I cannot pick up an application form. Could I apply merely by writing VA a letter and describing all the facts in my case?

A — Yes. Your letter will be considered as an "informal claim." VA will send you a formal application which you must fill out and return. The data of your filing will be the data of your original letter, so long as VA receives the formal application within one year.

Eight miles of underground passageways have been explored in Texas Longhorn Cavern near Burnet, but the end has not yet been reached. Lowest level discovered so far is 310 feet below the surface. Two miles of the cavern are open to visitors.

Troop 36 Makes Overnight Camp In Memphis

Boy Scouts of Troop 36 of Memphis made an overnight camp at a pheasant barbecue, Saturday night.

After making camp the boys, under the leadership of Scoutmaster Boaz Stotts, and a number of adults who brought with them the trimmings, ate the meal. Stotts led the boys on a three and a half mile hike down the creek to the City and back to the pool by 6th and the road.

After an hour's rest the troop left from 8:30 until 9:30 that morning the troop was to a free swim by the pool.

Then they cooked their feast over campfires. Clendenning caught the largest one of all booked.

Those making the trip were Clendenning, Roger Messer, Messer, Leonard Mullins, Mullins, Don Cox, Monte B. Stone, Wendell Doyle Baggett, Gary Alexander, Jimmy Youree, Theodore Gilbert Speed, David E. E. Butler, W. A. Johnson, Dickson, Tony Winston Johnson, Billy Rodney Hargrove, and Murdock.

Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Messer, and Marion Shaw brought the troop to Memphis.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson made ice and salad for the barbecue. Pheasants were provided by Mr. Ryan at Wood

(Continued From Page One) tasks he set out to accomplish. He was not only civic minded, but was lofty in thoughts and deeds. The passing of C. C. Hodges leaves a vacancy in civic leadership in Memphis that will be hard to fill.

The Amarillo News, being strictly a Tri-State and Panhandle newspaper, somehow missed the boat recently when it failed to run a story about the highway picnic on the caprock to celebrate the completion of a million dollar highway program in which the gaps of two transcontinental highways, one from the Atlantic to the Pacific and the other from Canada to Mexico, were closed and being traveled extensively. It was the culmination of efforts throughout many years of people who saw the need for the two highways. The celebration was reported to The News from Memphis, and to this date no one has seen any mention of same in that paper. Could it be that the Queen City of the Plains is interested only in highways that lead into Amarillo?

A committee to advertise Clean-Up Week has been appointed. The committee is composed of Jaycees. Their first deed was the placing of weeds at various places in the business section and tagged with labels saying, "Public Enemy No. 1—Let's get rid of him." These labels, the committeesays, will be changed frequently during the next two weeks, and may be located around town where weeds are being allowed to continue their growth. These Jaycees are in earnest about wanting and working for a clean healthy town.

Burl McClellan, Democrat news editor, took unto himself a bride recently. The Amarillo News Tuesday carried a story of Burl getting married and along with the story ran the picture of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Bill Davis. Wednesday, the paper ran the Bill Davis wedding story and ran the picture of his sister, Mrs. Burl McClellan. Now, Burl is wondering who might be taken into the clutches of the law for committing bigamy. Anyway, the big dailies make errors just like the small weeklies frequently do.

J. D. Montgomery, FW&DC trainmaster, and J. M. Dalton, road foreman of engines and assistant train foreman, were here from Amarillo checking on a recent event reported in Comments in which an elderly lady had to board the night train unassisted. They assured us that hereafter the midnight train would be stopped further south so that passengers would not have to board or alight from the coaches across the streets some 40 or 50 feet north of the depot platform. They also said pullman travelers would be permitted to board or alight at the front end of the first pullman instead of at the second or third. We find that railroad officials are always anxious to improve service, and their assurance that the above changes will be made is proof of their sincerity.

In addition to the two above-mentioned officials, two others have assured Memphians of their intention to improve the Service. Robt. Hoyt, general passenger agent of Fort Worth, in a nice letter expressed deep regret over the incident and hoped such an incident would not occur again. He said the railroad tried to encourage courteous service by employees at all times. The other, Kenneth B. Peckenpaugh, district passenger agent of Amarillo, visited Memphis Wednesday and also expressed regret over the incident.

Montgomery and Dalton, the two Amarillo men who are FW&DC railroad officials, saw the City Park sign at 6th and Noel, drove to the park and spent some time there inspecting the facilities and the natural settings. They were deeply impressed and stated that Memphis could consider the park as one of its greatest assets in the way of attracting local and visiting people. "We had no idea that such an ideal recreation spot was anywhere in the Panhandle, but this visit has shown us you Memphians people must be wide-awake to take advantage of a natural spot for your park."

They assured the clean-up committee that the railroad company would send a mower to cut weeds on their right-of-way through Memphis during the campaign.

The Democrat this week contains a lot of information concerning the proposed Clean Up. The rains have pushed the growth of vegetation to the point that, from a health and scenic standpoint, an emergency exists which could endanger the health and lives of our citizens, especially that of children. The job of cleaning up in an ordinary year is a big one, and heretofore one or two organizations would sponsor the job. This year, the task looked too ominous and no organization would tackle it. So various organizations and groups agreed to co-operate in a clean-up campaign. Two or three meetings have been held to perfect plans. As the movement gains momentum, others are joining up. The latest is the Memphis B. and P. W. Club—a group of business women of the town—declared they wanted to help sponsor the campaign. Since the above was written the various study and social clubs have joined in the sponsorship—now making it 100% of organizations actually in the campaign.

First mistake we ever made. Last week we stated there is no sign in town pointing to City Park. The next day a clerk called to the door of a store and pointed to the corner of the Wherry store on which was a sign "City Park" in small letters and a wee bit of arrow pointing south. This week a much larger sign has replaced the other. More signs are to follow.

Much interest in the Clean-Up campaign has already been aroused, judging from the number of calls to this office by women of Memphis who are becoming disturbed over the unsanitary conditions that prevail. One woman said: "Why is it necessary for a whole town to be aroused before we do anything? It seems to me that the mere announcement of the clean-up date would be sufficient without a lot of people having to spend a lot of time and effort in getting others interested." Another woman said, "I cannot understand why able-bodied people, especially men, don't keep their premises clean. I am a widow and work every day, but my home and surroundings are clean. No weeds, no rubbish, and no piles of burnable stuff. Surely, if one woman alone can keep things clean and sanitary around her home, families should be able to do it a lot easier."

"When and if vacant lots are cleaned up, why can't these lots be used by the children in the neighborhood as playgrounds?" This was the query one woman made. She added that grass and weeds do not grow on busy streets and a playlot for children is certainly a busier place than a business street.

The committee selected at the citizens mass meeting at City Park Monday night has been actively and constantly engaged in perfecting the set-up for a real clean-up campaign. Every able person is invited to join in this campaign in one way or another, and property owners are urged to do their part by having their premises clean by the time truck haulers start picking up the remains. The truck haulers and workers will be instructed to pass up any piles of trash that could have been burned, even if only a little at a time, unless the occupants of that home are not physically able to do that much. It was announced, after due discussion and deliberation, that where the home has able-bodied people living therein and their part of the alley is piled with burnable stuff, same will be given the by-pass. No more doing the job for the owner by his friends when said owner sits in his comfortable easy chair, listening to the radio, or reading his favorite book, while his friends toil and sweat doing the task that any civic minded physically able person ought to do. So declared dozens of volunteer workers.

Cook vegetables before peeling when practical.

Teachers Needed

Every day the daily newspapers are filled with want-ads from schools over the state seeking school teachers and the news pages of the smaller papers carry stories every week about teachers resigning to take better jobs in other schools or going into better paying jobs in business and industry.

Gone are the days when prospective teachers had to "sweat out" their only white shirt or good dress and ruin their only pair of "good" shoes stumbling across fields and pounding streets in an effort to talk to the trustees and apply for scarce jobs.

The wheel has made a turn and now the trustees must do the hunting and worrying about finding teachers to take their jobs. No longer do the teachers have to try to please every whim of every school board member, nor do they have to worry from year to year about being rehired, for most schools try to create a situation where competent and experienced teachers and administrators want to stay. No longer must the educational profession work with the threat of unemployment hanging over its head. If a person is competent in his work and of good character there are many openings begging to be filled.

Should the teacher find the business of educating children not to his liking, the world of competitive business is waiting with jobs for a teacher.

Therefore, for the student who is expecting to enter college this fall and who wants more out of life than just a pay check, the teaching profession is a field worth investigating. It offers opportunity for work which provides self satisfaction as well as money, and with the ever-increasing demand for teachers makes the prospects for advancement good—and no other job offers three months vacation.

Congress or Secretary Rule

In recent weeks the Secretary of Defense, Charles Wilson, has taken it upon himself to override an act of congress and where he gets his power is something our "grassroots" mind does not understand.

Congress earmarked a sum of money, the amount is not important for they always deal in figures to big to comprehend, for the Marine Corps. This money was to be used to maintain a strong battle Marine Corps, but the Secretary of Defense doesn't think we need the Corps at its present strength, so he withheld the money. Had the money been earmarked for the Defense department, he might have had the power to withhold it, but according to the news reports from Washington, this money was voted for the Marines and where the secretary got the power to withhold that money is hard to understand. If he can withhold money voted for some purpose by congress why can't some other secretary do the same thing.

Secretary Wilson has done a good job and has given us good defense for less money, but he is not in a position which allows him to overrule the elected representatives of the people, even if he doesn't agree with them—we hope.

Press Paragraphs—
QUOTING OUR NEIGHBORS

What's the Difference?
From time to time in Congress, debate is stirred up over what they call Universal Military Training and when this debate starts, there is an immediate hue and cry about what folks call "military servitude."

To date, there has been no Universal Military Training act passed, as such, but we're operating under something mighty close to it.

Ten years after the end of the fighting in World War II, the United States continues to have a draft of young men for military service. This is contrary to a tradition which prevailed from the time of the founding of the nation up until the troubled days preceding our entry into World War II. Civil War and World War I drafts were used only for the duration.

However, times are different, and the United States accepts the peace time draft as necessary, if not pleasant, and most young men today make their plans with two-year hitch in military service as something fairly well certain. Opponents of military service say that no nation ever gained anything through conscription of its peacetime, and cite various European countries as examples.

However, it may be because America has had a fairly large armed force that this nation, or its possessions, have not been attacked long ago. Many things about the draft are not satisfactory, and there are some injustices in its administration. By and large, however, the act is impartial and works quite well in securing the manpower for the armed forces which maintains military strength.

And it seems to be fairly well proved that military strength is the best assurance against attack by Communist enemies.

They Won't Take 'No'
See where the school administrators in national convention indicated they are not going to take "No" for an answer in their demands for federal aid for schools. And they probably won't. They will probably keep on demanding of every Congress that the federal government take over responsibility for the schools. But as far as this writer is concerned they will never hear that "yes".

We are quite willing to pay what we can for schools, and we favor just about every proposal that the school people make for betterment of our educational institutions, in spite of the fact that they all cost more money. But we do not want that feeling of responsibility for schools to be lost by our citizens. Once a part of that responsibility is shifted to Washington, it will have been lost forever to local units. School boards will become rubber stamps for the national administration.

We have already lost much of our control and our sense of responsibility to the state government. But that is a lot closer home than Washington, and the state government cannot print money, so it must use restraint in its spending.

And that is the reason everybody wants his hand in Uncle Sam's pocket, of course. It appears to have no bottom. When all the tax dollars have been pulled out, he starts the printing presses and we can just keep reaching in and pulling out money indefinitely.

But unfortunately there is a limit eventually to even printing press money, and every nation who has trod that primrose path for long has found it out the hard way. There is no depression on earth like the paralysis that comes when people lose confidence in their medium of exchange. And the school lobby could well throw us into hopeless inflation if they ever get their nose in the tent.

We need to feel local responsibility for schools and keep control decentralized where it cannot easily be used for brain washing purposes. We are sorry this makes it harder for the school administrators to get as much money as they feel they should have. But they are not alone. None of the rest of us get as much money as we think we should have either.

Controlling Insects Pays

STATION—Early-season insect control paid up $33 per acre at the Lubbock Experiment Station in 1954.

Tests at the station showed that pre-square applications of control and post-square applications for fleahoppers and dielidrin, toxaphene and dieldrin also were compared in experiments.

Owen, Jr., entomologist at the station, reports that the use of toxaphene applications and thrips effectively for this week. Two treatments of plant malformation but protect cotton from thrips where infestations persisted in the plants reached the stage. Where damage was to the pre-square stage with controls did not increase materially. Fleahoppers and thrips in damaging infestations, control was gained by two or three applications of one or three sprays, or dieldrin sprays. Although both materials were equally effective in controlling fleahoppers, dieldrin to toxaphene for thrips since infestations were re-longer periods. Seed cotton were 653 to the acre with two applications of toxaphene while two applications of dieldrin produced 727 pounds per acre over untreated cotton.

When assuming the lint and untreated cotton in quality the average return from control was per acre for toxaphene and per acre for the dieldrin.

LAFF OF THE WEEK

"Including the window, that comes to $3,895.50."

THE BAFFLES By Mahoney

Paid in Full
John owed Fred $200 which he borrowed several years back. John had been having a hard time and owed many bills. Because of his situation he thought Fred might accept less than $200 as payment in full. He sent Fred a check for $125 marked "In full balance due on loan" on the face of the check. Fred cashed the check and started action to recover the other $75. Can he collect?

Yes, he can, as a promise or agreement is unenforceable unless supported by consideration or by giving of value by the other party. John did not give Fred anything he was not obligated to give and hence there was nothing to bind any agreement to accept the $125 as payment in full.

However, there was an honest dispute concerning the balance due on the loan, much as a dispute over credits allegedly agreed upon for work performed for Fred, or a dispute over the interest due, then acceptance of the check could constitute what is called an "accord and satisfaction". This may satisfy the debt in full, especially if "Paid in full" is marked on the back of the check Fred endorses beneath it.

Second, if John should give something in addition to the check, other money, such as a piece of furniture or an animal, the debt would be satisfied in full if Fred accepted both the check and the additional consideration.

There is a common conception in the minds of many people that a person cannot be sued on a debt so long as monthly payments in any amount (even $1) are made. This is not so, as once a debt is due the creditor may bring suit for the full amount, and acceptance of any lesser amounts does not waive rights of suit except as indicated above.

Research workers at the Angleton Experiment Station have found that where tillage was not involved, yields of perennial pastures in that section were not affected by fertilizer placement. But disking, rotary tilling or placing the fertilizer below the surface resulted in lower yields. The use of nitrogen and phosphate on the pasture gave the best yields.

Ag Show At Fair To Demonstrate Consumer Benefits

The new Agriculture Show of the 1955 State Fair of Texas, Oct. 7-23, will show how the consumer benefits through agricultural research to improve Texas crops.

"Your Stake in Agricultural Research" will be the theme of the show, which is presented by the State Fair in cooperation with the Texas A&M System. Circus-styled decorations will carry out the motif of "The Greatest Show From Earth" under the "Agricultural Big Top."

Central features of the show will include a merry-go-round displaying the amount of different agricultural products used by the average family in a year, and a "know what you're buying" demonstration on selection and preparation of foods. Outstanding 4-H teams from all over the State will put on demonstrations in the 4-H Club exhibit.

A "menagerie" exhibit will offer a peek into the future of Texas agriculture, showing nine new and coming crops which have recently been produced or which are being developed by research. Such unfamiliar crops as sesame, red grapefruit, hybrid onions, Southern peas and coastal Bermuda grass will be displayed.

Individual exhibits will be devoted to grain sorghum, cotton, progeny testing of beef cattle, sheep and wool, poultry, insect control, disease control, farm mechanization, soil building, dairy management and forestry.

All of the exhibits will carry out the gay gay circus motif. For example, a fat cigar-smoking rooster will be the "barker" in the poultry exhibit, where cage-layers will be an attraction. A big elephant pulling a circus wagon will demonstrate that "it takes power to do the job" in the display on advances in mechanization. A magician with a wand will point out the magic of legumes in the soil building exhibit.

The Agriculture Show also will include exhibits of the Texas A&M System, Texas Technological College, Future Farmers and Future Homemakers. A king-sized map of Texas will show the different types of soil common to the various sections of the state.

Follow These Tips For Easier Painting

"Painting is easier than ever!" That's the good word from the nation's enterprising paint makers. As proof of the promise, Arthur W. Stuedel, president of the Sherwin-Williams Co., points out that "modern paints can be applied with less effort, modern tools speed application, and modern techniques of painting eliminate many inconveniences formerly associated with the task."

"As a result of continuous research and testing," he explained, "our company has improved the brushing qualities of house paint to the point where you can paint as much surface with the same effort in two hours as you used to do in three."

Tools Simplify Task
Improved tools also help reduce the time and effort required for painting.

"For example," Stuedel said, "you don't have to get down on your hands and knees to paint a floor nowadays. Thanks to a new long-handled paint roller, you can spread the paint while standing—and paint the floor much faster. "This long-handled roller is a great time and effort saver when you are painting ceilings, too."

PAINT ALTERNATE STEPS to keep stairways usable while they are being painted. Finish the job when the steps painted first are dry.

Tricks Ease Job
New application tricks also make painting less disturbing to everyday family routine.

By way of illustration, Stuedel suggests the following technique when painting stairs.

Paint alternate steps in each flight. Follow up by painting the others when the newly painted ones dry. That way the stairs can always be used, and nobody will be inconvenienced while the paint is drying.

Physical Check Up Needed By Child Before School Days

AUSTIN — Parents, has your child had a physical examination this summer? In just a little more than a month he will be starting to school, and if he is in good health he will have a happier, more profitable year. It's up to YOU to give HIM a healthful send-off, says Dr. Henry A. Holie, Commissioner of Health.

After he has his checkup by the family doctor, be sure to take him to the family dentist. Teeth are mighty important, and decaying ones often cause a heap of trouble. They may start infection in other parts of the body. Strong, healthy teeth add attractiveness to appearance and personality. Help your child to grow up with good teeth . . . see that he has a dental examination twice a year.

Sometimes children need glasses and their parents don't realize it. An examination by an eye specialist is important. A child who needs glasses, if taken to an eye physician now, will have time to get used to them before school starts.

When children are grouped together in a classroom, they expose each other to communicable diseases. Has your child been immunized against diphtheria and smallpox? Does he know he should use only his own drinking glass? Does he know he should avoid boys and girls who are victims of colds? Do you keep your child at home when he shows signs of a cold?

Plenty of exercise and recreation, the right kind of foods daily, and 12 hours of sleep a night, are necessary for a child of elementary school age.

Get your child an appointment for a check-up today . . . the first day of school is not far away!

Attic Fans Help Beat Summer Heat

COLLEGE STATION—An attic fan isn't a substitute for complete home air conditioning but is a practical, inexpensive means of gaining relief from oppressive summer heat.

Properly used, an attic fan can be very satisfactory, says W. S. Allen, extension agricultural engineer. The fan may do little or no good during the daytime. But if used in the evening, heated attic air is exhausted and cooler air from the outside pulled into the house.

This process will cool the entire house during the night and if windows are closed during the day, lower temperatures may be maintained within the home, says Allen.

One of the most important factors to consider when buying an attic fan, says engineer, is its size. Get one large enough to change the air in the house every minute. For example, a house with 1,000 square feet of floor area and eight foot walls contains 8,000 cubic feet of volume. A fan with a delivery rate of at least 8,000 cubic feet of air per minute should be installed.

Generally, place the fan near a partition wall or other solid central hallway, Allen suggests. Follow the manufacturers directions closely, he adds.

No matter how hot it gets this summer, temperature inside Texas Longhorn Cavern, near Burnet, will remain at a comfortable 64 degrees. The cave is perfectly insulated by thick rock layers which keep it cool in the summer and warm in the winter.

Mammoth Bones Found

Rogers' Ranch Yields Prehistoric Elephant

Bones found on Cedar Hills Ranch northwest of Memphis have been definitely identified by Dr. Don Enlow, paleontologist for the Panhandle Plains Museum of Canyon, as those of a prehistoric mammoth.

In answer to a letter from Virginia Rogers, concerning some ancient bones, C. Boone McClure, curator of the museum, and Dr. Enlow came to the ranch early in July to make an investigation of the bones.

The fossil remains were discovered several years ago by Dick Stotts in his wanderings over the ranch, but nothing was done about them.

Last spring, while on a uranium hunt, Mrs. Rogers and her nephew, Frank Foxhall, revisited the spot where the bone lay. The weather was taking its toll of the crumbling bones and if any examination were to be made, it must be soon.

Enlow and McClure found a four foot length of foreleg shin bone, a piece of the shoulder blade, a fragment of a tooth, and a piece of the jaw bone from which the tusk had protruded.

Dr. Enlow identified these as part of a prehistoric elephant which roamed the hills some twelve or fifteen thousand years ago. According to the paleontologist, these animals came from Asia by way of the Bering Straits, across Canada, and as far south as the Mexican border. For years they ranged in great herds over the continent of North America and then, almost overnight, disappeared from the face of the earth.

The bones were in such a state of deterioration that they could not be moved and a more detailed study would have to be made to determine to what particular type of mammoth (Imperial, Jeffersonian, or Columbian) the bones belonged. However, according to Dr. Enlow, the find was an important one.

Both McClure and Dr. Enlow expressed their gratitude for being notified and given a chance to examine the fossil before amateurs disturbed them.

Dr. Enlow took two buffalo skulls back to the museum to add to his collection of ancient skeletal remains.

Haskell J. Howell Undergoes Surgery

Mrs. Howell said today that doctors in the hospital had told her that he would be able to come home either Saturday or Sunday.

Hall FB Members To Attend Meeting In Mineral Wells

Hall County Farm Bureau President and Mrs. H. A. Hodges and Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Durrett are making tentative plans to attend the three-day Summer Institute sponsored by the Texas Farm Bureau in Mineral Wells. Durrett is county bureau secretary and treasurer.

Other local Farm Bureau members who may attend, according to Hodges, are the directors and chairmen of all committees. This institute opens Monday.

The school is designed to train farm men and women in various duties and responsibilities in their county Farm Bureau, Hodges said.

Mitchell Returns From Legion Meet

J. R. Mitchell, Jr., returned last weekend from the state convention of the American Legion held in San Antonio.

Mitchell attended the convention as Memphis' only representative. He went with Paul Spillman of Wellington, who was installed as the Fifth Division Commander. The state convention next year will be held in Dallas.

There are 77 rooms in The White House.

Residential expenditures in construction increased 12 percent last year, with an estimated 1,200,000 housing starts.

Clean-Up

ment and manpower can be shifted to beginning to clean up the town.

Ace Gailey moved that each organization represented at the meeting name three members to a planning committee which would have the power to organize the clean-up program. The motion was carried unanimously.

This committee met Tuesday night in the Cyclone Drive Inn and discussed how and when the drive would be conducted.

The committeemen strongly discussed the matter of property that was owned by people who were able to clean it up and burn the trash, but did not, be passed up.

This idea drew strong support from the men who worked in last year's clean-up campaign and who hauled trash for people who were sitting in houses under air conditioners.

A smaller committee was appointed at the meeting Tuesday night to draw up the final plans, set the date and secure the needed equipment for the drive.

This committee met Wednesday afternoon and decided on the entire week as clean-up week, and the day for the final haul off of all the trash.

Again the matter of cleaning up around places where people live that were able to clean up, but didn't, was brought up for discussion.

It was decided in this meeting that all business houses would be asked to close at noon on Thursday, August 11. Everyone would be asked to join in the clean-up drive if they did nothing more than just clean their own property.

Tuesday night at the meeting in the Cyclone Drive Inn a steering committee of J. Claude Wells, Cliff Farmer, O. L. Helm, and E. E. Roberts was set up to plan a permanent organization to direct the beautification of Memphis and its City Park in years to come.

In order to get the town clean-up conscious and remind the citizens of the health hazard created by the weeds, the Jaycees have put on display some of the average size weeds to be found over town and branded the specimens "Public Enemy No. 1," and asked the people to get rid of them.

The Fort Worth and Denver Railway Co. has assured the city that they will have a mowing crew in here to mow their right-of-way during or before Clean-Up Week. The city now has a mower running every day cutting weeds in alleys, on vacant lots and along streets and ditches where the growth is found. This mower will be joined by mowers donated for use by several business firms and individuals.

An effort is being made to get as many weeds cut and burned before the Clean-Up as possible, so the trucks won't have to haul burnable trash that day.

The city and clean-up committees are asking everyone to cut and burn all their weeds before Aug. 11, and to also burn any other trash that can be consumed by flames.

In years past the clean-up workers have had to haul off many truck loads of trash that could have been burned. If this trash was burned the hauling job would be cut more than half, the workers have asserted.

The committees appointed Wednesday to carry out the final plans for clean-up day are as follows:

Store closing committee—Byron Baldwin, Wendell Harrison, Roy Coleman, and John Fowler.

Truck and heavy equipment committee—Thomas Clayton, J. W. Coppedge, Joe Williams, L. B. Snider and Kenneth Dale.

Small tools committee—Gene Galloway, Lynn McKown, Ace Gailey, Ben Parks and W. A. Simmons.

Publicity—J. Claude Wells, Hubert Dennis, and Burl McClellan.

E. C. Rice and J. M. Ferrel, Jr., will make arrangements for the best possible use of city equipment.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce was handed the job of coordinating Morningside into the clean-up program and also will make a pre-clean-up-day inspection of the town and check on areas where the work by property owners might be lagging behind.

Jimmy Kinard Hurt In Clayton Accident

Jimmy Kinard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cearly Read Kinard of Abilene, and grandson of Mrs. D. L. C. Kinard of Memphis, was slightly injured in a car accident in Clayton, N. M., Saturday.

The Kinards and Mr. and Mrs. Ace Gailey and family of Memphis were returning from a vacation when a car hit the back of Kinard's car and spun it around. One of the doors on the car came open and the boy was thrown out. Dwight Kinard said the boy suffered a slight head injury, but was not hospitalized.

Confucius was a Chinese philosopher.
