Buying at Home

is much like The Golden Rule

COPYRIGHT 1956 D. E. SCOTT

Everybody Recommends It for Everybody Else

But... the sad fact that some folks who preach buying at home don't practice it much, doesn't keep it from being a wise habit. There always will be people who regularly stand in their own light, even when they know better.

Unlike The Golden Rule, the principle of buying at home has few moral aspects. It's just a matter of good hard dollars and cents, and fuller living.

Because somebody else does... or doesn't... is no good reason to give away what is ours.

Yet that is just what we're doing when we spend our money off somewhere else, with the excuse that our neighbors are doing it.

Let's quit watching them, and examine our own habits, reminding ourselves selfishly that of each dollar we spend, nearly one-third goes to pay for community progress and upkeep.

But it's no soup in our pot, no schools for our kids, no churches for our souls, nor increment for our property, if it is some other community.

These Memphis firms are the only business establishments in the world who are sincerely interested in YOUR future and in the future of this community in which YOU live...

Estelline Chapter of F. H. A. Holds Mother-Daughter Banquet Thursday

The Estelline Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America held its Mother-Daughter Banquet at the Estelline Banquet Hall in Estelline on Thursday evening, April 12. The decorations carried out in shades of red and white. The menu consisted of chilled steak fillets, buttered green beans, string beans, very angel delight, rolls, and tea. The girls brought her mother a substitute mother. Other guests were Mrs. E. F. Kennedy, who was the speaker, and the F. H. A. Heartthrobs, Kenneth Crump and Jimmie Don Adams. Each guest was presented with a red rosebud, club flower.

Clatter Meets With Jewel Marcum

Jewel Marcum was hostess of the Clatter and Clatter on Tuesday afternoon, April 18, at her home in Estelline. The meeting was called to order by President Byrdie Holland. Mrs. McKown gave a very interesting demonstration of crocheting and leather craft. She showed how to make trays and the group a copper picnicking demonstration. Refreshments, pickles, olives, cake and coffee were served to Mmes. Elizabeth, Lily Cooper, Winnie, Byrdie Holland, Helen, Eula Adams and hostess, Jewel Marcum, and two guests, Walter Hicks and Mrs. McCall.

Mrs. Pearl Massey Hostess to Truth Seekers Class

Mrs. Pearl Massey was hostess to members of the Truth Seekers Sunday School Class on Thursday, April 12, for a business and a social meeting. The meeting was held in the Alvin Massey home. The meeting opened with the class song, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus." Mrs. J. R. Cannon led the opening prayer, and Mrs. Guy Kercheville brought the devotional using as the scriptural text John 10. Mrs. C. Gerlach gave a reading entitled, "The Door Bell Rang." The Bible lesson was conducted by Mrs. A. B. Jones. Mrs. L. G. Yarrrough, president, conducted the business session. Minutes of the previous meeting were read by Mrs. A. B. Jones, secretary.

Mother's Club Meets in Home of Mrs. D. C. Messick

The Newlin Mother's Club met Thursday afternoon, April 12, in the home of Mrs. D. C. Messick. The afternoon was spent quilting for the club. The president called the meeting to order and the members then repeated the Lord's Prayer in unison. Delicious refreshments were served to one visitor, Mrs. Lucy Phillips of Memphis and the following members: Mmes. Bill Keaton, A. A. Odum, Ralph Scott, M. E. Ellis, P. E. Gardenhire, O. S. Misenhimer, Louis Hamilton, D. W. Lawrence, Trilton Davis, Fred Hemphill and hostess. The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. M. E. Ellis, 621 North 10th, Memphis. Around and About

By Helen Combs
Once each year we travel northward to Amarillo to attend the annual Panhandle Press Association convention . . . and once each year we return home behind with our work, but with new ideas and a resolution to strive even harder to give our readers a better newspaper.

The past weekend was the time for the yearly meet. We went to Amarillo on Thursday evening, and the convention proper got underway at 10 o'clock Friday morning. Attending the convention along with us from Memphis were Mr. and Mrs. J. Claude Wells and Mr. and Mrs. Mills Roberts. Tony Craig was also there for the program Friday.

In addition to the benefit gleaned from the program, we enjoyed the social functions offered by the convention and especially enjoyed our association with Mr. and Mrs. Roberts . . . they have many friends among the newspaper folks through Mr. Roberts' work as division manager of the General Telephone Company. Another treat was a visit with Dan McMillan, former Democrat editor and Memphis citizen, who is now employed in the public relations department of Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, with offices in Fort Worth.

At dinner Friday evening, "The Four Horsemen," international grand champion barber shop quartet of Amarillo, gave a most entertaining program. Perhaps some of you have seen and heard them perform as they have traveled extensively and given many programs . . . we understand that one member of the quartet is a personal friend of Ben Wilson, Jr. . . . we hope sometime the quartet will come to Memphis.

Even though the first two days of the week made us wonder if Spring was here at all . . . other indications indicated the weather might be out of line. Several Memphians were out of town this week at a favorite fishing spot, Possum Kingdom . . . Mrs. Joe Neal Derry said Monday her husband, accompanied by three friends, got off early that morning. We gather that Mr. Berry is quite a fisherman as his wife said they still have fish in their home freezer left over from last year . . . and now he is bringing in more fish!

Then, there was the Spring house cleaning the courthouse received a few days ago. If you were wondering what was happening when you saw trucks backed upon the lawn at the courthouse and "this" and "that" being loaded thereon—it was just "things" that had accumulated through the years being discarded. Several truck loads were removed under the supervision of the new caretakers, Mr. and Mrs. —, —, —.

There has been some changing about of offices and furniture, too . . . the soil conservation office has been moved into the offices vacated by the Hall County ASC . . . and other offices had fun trading pieces of furniture with their neighbor next door. Helen Boswell, when telling us about a typewriter table she had acquired for her office after it was placed in the hall, recalled how—back in 1938 when she first started to work with the SCS office—that the furniture consisted of orange crates . . . we just about used orange crates for everything—chairs, filing cabinets, desks, etc.—Helen said. In those days, she recalled, it didn't do any good to ask the government for office furniture—they didn't have any money, either! Through the years we have gradually added to our furniture, until now with the addition of the new desk, we are pretty well fixed, Helen concluded.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Neeley have returned home from Wichita Falls Hospital. Mr. Neeley accompanied her husband down for a check-up, and while there fell and broke her left arm . . . both are now doing nicely. Mrs. Neeley said she wished to thank their friends for the many cards and letters received while they were in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. House Hold Open House at New Parnell Home

The attractive new home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. House was open Sunday afternoon, April 8, from 2 until 5 p. m., when approximately 100 friends registered to view the spacious farm home. The new home is located in the Parnell community, southeast of Turkey, and located as near the homestead of the late Mr. and Mrs. M. D. House as could be arranged. The late Mr. and Mrs. House were early-day settlers in the Parnell community.

The serving table in the dining area of the large living room was laid with an ivory satin damask cloth with a center arrangement of yellow carnations and forsythia centered with a hand painted plate, which was a gift to the honorees. The appointments were of crystal and silver. Mrs. Buddy House presided at the coffee service while Mrs. H. W. House poured spiced tea and served cookies. Mrs. John Imel and Mrs. Charles Phillips of Parnell also assisted with hostess hospitality. Miss Mitche House, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. House, entertained throughout the afternoon with piano selections.

Austin PTA Meets For Family Night Tuesday

"Of all the things you wear, your expression is the most important," said the program chairman in introducing the program at the family night meeting of the Stephen F. Austin PTA Tuesday, April 19. The meeting was held in the school auditorium with the general theme for the evening entitled, "The Family Develops Wholesome Personalities." Two films, interesting to both children and adults, were shown. They were selected and obtained by the film chairman, Mrs. Leon Taylor.

The group was also entertained by the 6th and 7th grade band under the direction of Miss Kathy Phillips. During the business session, conducted by Mrs. Robert Duncan, president, it was reported that some new play ground equipment has been bought for the school including a basketball, baseballs, and rubber swings. An auditing committee was appointed and included Buster Helm and Bill Cosby. The 6th grade won the attendance award. Refreshments of pie coffee and cold drinks were served in the cafeteria.

Mrs. Geo. Greenhaw spent the weekend in Amarillo with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Regnal Greenhaw. Paul Thompson of Lakeview has such a dog, and she wants to give it to someone . . . the dog does not have a home and at the present time is staying at a church building in Lakeview. Because she could not stand to see an animal hungry, Mrs. Thompson has been carrying food to the dog and now she is trying to find a home for the pet. She's really a pretty dog, and I feel that someone would like to have her, Mrs. Thompson said.

Did you know that we have a reader as far away as Haiti . . . we were most pleased this week when Mrs. W. T. Hightower took time to call and tell us that her daughter, Mrs. Hugh T. Lilly—Laura Mai to us—wrote that she was reading our column and enjoying it in Haiti. Laura Mai and family will return to the states in July after spending three years on Haiti where Mr. Lilly is employed with an engineering company.

Members from Hall County attending the meeting were Joy Beth Parks, Betty Tomons, Mary Frank Garrett, Dorcille Stargel, Jo Ann Odum, Billy Jean Stroehle, Sharon Harrison and Bobby Joe Welch of Memphis and Dorothea Proffitt of Lakeview. Members from Hall County attending were Mrs. Homer Tribble, Mrs. Clarence Morris, Miss Zady Belle Walker, Miss Neville Wrenn, Miss Esta McElrath and Mrs. Henry Foster.

Beetles Can Cause Serious Damage To Lawn Growth

COLLEGE STATION — The lawn is a favorite spot for beetles to lay their eggs and for their young to hibernate over winter. The effects of their eating during the winter will show up in the lawn as patches of dead or dying grass now that warmer weather has started plant growth, says C. F. Garner, assistant extension entomologist.

If the lawn has a ragged appearance and is brown in spots and handfuls of dead or dying grass can be pulled up by the roots, better check for white grubs, says the specialist. White grubs, he explains, are the larvae of beetles which spend the early stages of their life cycle underground and are not visible feeders.

If white grubs are suspected, it is easy to make a check. Garner suggests taking a sharp shovel and cutting around three sides of a block of turf. Run the shovel under the block and turn it back on the uncut side. If grubs are present, the soft-bodied, wingless, wormlike grubs will be apparent. If six or more grubs are found in a one foot square area, better apply an insecticide.

Chlordane has shown a promise for treating lawns as have aldrin, dieldrin and heptachlor, says Garner. All these materials are poisonous and should be handled and applied according to the manufacturer's directions. They are available as wettable powders or emulsified concentrates which can be mixed with water and used as a spray. Dust forms may be applied directly to the lawn.

It is a good practice when treating for white grubs to sprinkle the lawn after the insecticide has been applied, says Garner. This will wash the poison down into the soil where it can reach the insects.

Garner says local county agents can supply L-199, "Guide for Controlling Insects on Ornamental Plants in Texas."

When removing hooks from a fish you want to return to water, use dry hands. They grip and hold fish better than wet hands and the small amount of body slime you remove is soon replaced.

W. W. George On PCA Board

W. W. George of Turkey was elected as a new director of the Memphis Production Credit Association, at the annual stockholders meeting in Childress recently. He succeeds L. J. Halford of Estelline.

Besides George, others on the board are J. C. Emmert of Wellington, president, John Glover of Childress, L. M. Bartlett of Childress County, and W. C. McClelland of Paducah.

More than 500 persons were present from the eight-county area which the organization serves. The counties are Hall, Donley, Collingsworth, Childress, Briscoe, Foard, Cottle, and Hardeman.

The main office is located here, and branch offices are situated at Turkey, Wellington, Matador, and Paducah.

USDA Committee Urges Increased Cotton Research

COLLEGE STATION — Investigations of new chemical treatments, improved finishing materials and the possibility of modifying cotton fibers by means of nuclear-energy radiations to give cotton new versatility and improved textile properties have been urged by the USDA's Cotton Research Advisory Committee.

The committee, established under the Research and Marketing Act of 1946, is composed of 15 members representing every phase of the cotton industry. Texans on the committee and attending the recently held meeting include Roy B. Davis of Lubbock; Burris Jackson, Hillsboro; and Aubrey L. Lockett of Vernon.

The group also asked for research on the irrigation of cotton grown in humid areas, improved weed control . . . both mechanical and chemical, better processing methods for cottonseed oil and meal, and other work to aid utilization and marketing of cotton and cottonseed and to reduce the cost of production.

Further work on methods for controlling the pink bollworm and an expanded program of basic and applied research in cotton breeding to improve fiber quality and increase production efficiency were also suggested.

Fiber research urged included determination of the economic need for improved bale wrappings; development of more practical and economical methods for automatic sampling of cotton bales and revival of Government statistical services. On seed, the committee asked for a consumer survey dealing with margarine; determination of effects of present chemical sources of feed nitrogen on markets for proteins from agricultural sources and a study of the impact of price-support programs on cottonseed and soybean industries.

Nearly all fishes are infested by various parasites. The roundworm, or threadworm, occurs in the adult form in most fishes, generally in the alimentary canal. Fortunately, cooking destroys them.

The banging of an oar on the gunwale of a boat, the scraping of a metal box on the floor boards, will cause enough vibrations to frighten all the fish away.

"Who Knows What We'll Find!"

Dear Friends

As a part of their work in Humble's Refining Research Laboratory, Humble scientists bombard petroleum hydrocarbons with electrons in a 2-million volt Van de Graaff Accelerator.

But if you ask one of these scientists what he expects to find, he'll answer, who knows! For this is fundamental research. Results may be quick or they may be a long time developing. Who knows?

. . . Perhaps the scientists will find a way to increase the yield of useful products from a barrel of crude oil.

. . . Perhaps they'll be able to make improvements in the fine products already supplied you.

. . . Perhaps they'll develop an entirely new group of petroleum products.

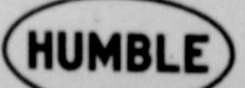

Who knows!

This much, however, is certain: Humble research scientists at Baytown use every device of physics, chemistry, mathematics and mechanics to provide you with more and better petroleum products.

Two quick examples: The specifications for Esso Extra gasoline, the formula for Humble Uniflo motor oil. These, without question, are the finest products you can use in your car.

Sincerely,

HUMBLE OIL & REFINING CO.

Farm Population Loss to Cities Declines in 1955

COLLEGE STATION — The long-time trend of farm population losses in Texas showed definite signs of slowing down during 1955.

Figures just released by Dr. R. L. Skrabanek, Department of Agricultural Economics and Sociology of Texas A&M College in a new Experiment Station bulletin, indicate that the farm population increased by 15,000 during the past year.

There were 1,141,000 Texans living on farms in April, 1955, according to the Texas A&M rural sociologist. This compares with 1,126,000 in 1954. This reversal of a steady downward trend existing since 1934 may be attributed chiefly to two major reasons, an increase in number of part-time farmers who have jobs in cities, and a general slowing-down of people migrating from farms in 1955.

Dr. Skrabanek's report is based on a statewide farm population survey carried on in cooperation with the USDA and census materials. It covers farm population trends and characteristics since 1920 and points up some of their causes and effects.

Since the State's population is growing much faster than the farm population, farm people continue to make up a smaller share of the state's people. In 1920, one out of every two Texans resided on a farm as compared with one out of eight in 1955. At the present time, Texas has 5.1 per cent of the nation's farm people.

Negroes on farms have been decreasing at a faster rate than whites, according to Dr. Skrabanek's findings. They constituted 14.6 per cent of the farm population in 1950.

Males outnumber females on Texas farms at every age level except 30 to 35, and 49 years of age or older.

The average age of farm residents increased by five years between 1940 and 1950. This is largely the result of increasing proportions of older persons on farms. In 1920, only 8 out of every 100 farm residents were 55 years of age or older. By 1950 this group comprised 17 out of 100.

The rural farm population has a less favorable age distribution than its city cousins. Farm areas have larger proportions of small children and older people, with relatively fewer in the more productive ages. Urban areas, however, have more persons in the working ages, with fewer to support in the younger and older age levels, Skrabanek adds.

Complete information on population changes by counties and economic areas may be obtained by calling for Experiment Station Bulletin 825, Texas Farm Popu-

Paul Spillman Enters Race For District Attorney

Paul Spillman, attorney of Wellington, this week authorized The Democrat to announce his candidacy for the office of District Attorney of the 100th Judicial District, subject to action of the Democratic Primary. His announcement follows:

"I believe the office of District Attorney is one of trust, in which the man who holds it should serve all the people regardless of station in life, and it is of prime importance since it deals with the rights, and especially the liberty of our people.

"I believe that a district attorney should earnestly protect the rights of the innocent, as well as prosecute with vigor the guilty.

"A District Attorney should cooperate with the law enforcement officers of all counties and cities within the district and all matters brought to the attention of the District Attorney should be fully investigated in cooperation with the officers in order to obtain all the facts, all of which should be brought to the attention of the Grand Jury.

"I realize that the duties of the District Attorney affects directly and indirectly the lives and happiness of all the people in his district, and that it is his obligation to render unbiased service to each and every one. I believe that my training, and my experience in the courts of this district qualify me to perform this necessary service.

"I desire to be chosen as your next District Attorney, and humbly solicit your support and your vote. If elected, I will render the best service of which I am capable, and in as just and fair a manner as I know how to do."

Mr. Spillman has been practicing both civil and criminal law in Wellington since May, 1950, immediately following his graduation from Baylor Law School. He has served the City of Wellington as City Attorney since January, 1951.

He and his wife, Erma, live in Wellington and have two small children, Skipper and Cheryl Ann.

A veteran of World War II, Mr. Spillman has been active in behalf of veterans and their affairs. He is a past commander of Frank King Post, Wellington, the 18th District, and the Fifth Division of the American Legion of Texas.

Mr. Spillman has been a leader in activities beneficial to the young people of this area. He directed baseball for boys in Wellington for three years before the program was adopted by a sponsor. Early this year, as Wellington district director of the Golden Gloves boxing program, he was in charge of introducing this sport to many youngsters of this area.

"Realizing that the youth of our country is our greatest resource, I have taken an active part in activities beneficial to this important group of our citizens," he stated.

Mr. and Mrs. Spillman are active in the Methodist Church, and Mr. Spillman has served as a member of the Board of Stewards.

Early Safety Training Urged for Youngsters

"Parents, teach your children how to stay safe in traffic!"

That is the advice of E. C. McFadden of Dallas, president of Texas Safety Association, to parents who are concerned about the heavy child pedestrian death toll. McFadden made the suggestion as he discussed parents' responsibility in the current child pedestrian safety program which is being conducted by the Texas Safety Association, the Texas Department of Public Safety and the National Safety Council.

"Parents probably have the prime responsibility for their children's safety in traffic because they have the care of the youngsters in their most formative years. Long before a child reaches school age he has been out in traffic with his parents, and the kind of safety training they have given him will greatly affect his traffic attitudes."

In discussing a child's early training, McFadden said that example is of great importance. A child is likely to do what he sees his parent do even if it conflicts with what the parents teach. "Parents who cross streets at intersections, wait for the light and look both ways before turning traffic, teach a safety lesson."

McFadden stressed the necessity for full cooperation by parents, schools and traffic officials in teaching safe traffic to children of school age. He advised parents to find out what school is teaching the child and then to see that the child's training in the home supplements school training.

"Be careful of your child when they're at school. See that they play on approved play areas — street — and teach them to use roller skates, tricycles, scooters and other toys safely. Above all, teach them with the fact that rules must be given the respect and obedience as one of conduct learned at school."

Judge Ben Lindsey of the first juvenile court in U. S. in Denver in 1920.

When roasting lamb, use a low temperature (300°-325°F.). This cuts down on shrinkage and makes a more tender, juicy roast. Roast 30-35 minutes per pound or until meat thermometer reads 180°F. Drain off fat occasionally during roasting. Leg of Lamb or a Crown Roast will carve more easily if allowed to stand about 10 minutes before carving.

An Outsider Looks at Texas

A typical description of a live and kicking Texan pictures a person who, among other things, stomps around in boots and wears a wide-brimmed, ten-gallon hat cocked on his head, owns a big spread covered with sleek, fat cattle and gushing oil wells, has his own spacious private plane and a fleet of expensive automobiles at his command, and who devotes his time to swinging fabulous business deals, throwing or attending colossal parties, and above all, to trumpeting to the world how much bigger, better and more plentiful everything in his state is.

Personally, we wouldn't give a whoop for anyone who wasn't proud of his state and we think Texas has as many or more assets than most states. Nevertheless, while there possibly are exceptions, the portrayal of the average Texan as a loud-mouthed braggart who has no idea how much he is worth, simply isn't true, as all of us who live in this great state know.

On the other hand, Texas is one of the fastest growing states,—population, business, education, and opportunity-wise—today. And this isn't just Texas talk, either, because out-of-state sources say so, too.

One of the latest to take note of our state, both as it is now, and as it promises to be in the future, is the magazine Changing Times, published in Washington, D. C.

According to the publication, there now are 8,563,000 people living in Texas, ranking it fifth in the nation, but there still is plenty of room for additional millions. Those who reside in the state didn't have to be told that, but it may come as a surprise to learn that our population will have to increase five million before the density will reach that of the United States as a whole.

Because of its size—the greatest in the nation—Texas offers a better chance of satisfying individual tastes in climate than probably nearly any other state. Weather ranges all the way from the semi-tropical kind in the south, to the more temperate type in the northern section.

Our more pleasant climate has played a considerable role in the booming industrial expansion which Texas has experienced since the end of the second World War. Many factories and plants have been transplanted to the state from the North, because our milder weather helped shave construction and operating costs, and permitted a freer, more outdoor life.

However, the need for workers has not risen proportionately in all fields. Huge oil refineries and chemical plants, for instance, require relatively small forces to turn out enormous amounts of finished products.

But not all industries, by any means, are like this, for a great number of the newcomers are having difficulty finding sufficient people to perform specialized jobs. Scarcities include engineers of almost every description, auditors, accountants, job analysts, dietitians, commercial artists, stenographers and secretaries with special qualifications, and business machine operators, employment agencies report. And there are openings in practically all of the skilled trades, particularly those required by the aircraft industry. Good mechanics are badly needed, and shortage of medical personnel is acute.

Refuting the oft-heard crack that Texas is full of millionaires is the $1,574 per capita income, which is $200 less than the national average. However, it seems likely that the national figure will be reached before many years, as individual income in Texas is climbing at a faster rate than throughout the entire United States.

Cost of living is no lower in the Lone Star State than elsewhere, but residents get a break that those in many states don't, since we have no state income tax or general sales tax.

While not all aspects of Changing Times' survey are entirely favorable, it predominantly provides a strong basis for believing that opportunity in Texas is brighter today than it ever has been, and should be even better as the years go by, especially for those who are prepared to grasp it.

Civic Disloyalty

Readers of this paper know that it is not often that we write "trade at home" editorials. It's not that we don't believe and practice trading at home; it's that we believe it is the responsibility of the local merchant to give the public as much as they can get out of town, instead of appealing to loyalty.

The local merchant has more to offer than merely a cheaper price. He can offer personalized service, more accessible parking space, and faster service. He can save a customer the 100-mile drive necessary to make a trip to Amarillo. The Internal Revenue department figures that it costs 8 cents a mile to drive a car. This includes depreciation on the car as well as gas and oil expense. This implies that one trip to Amarillo costs the driver at least $8. This doesn't include the fee claimed by the parking meter in case one chooses not to walk six or eight blocks to the places he proposes to shop. It doesn't include the price of a meal and the wear and tear on one's disposition and body after spending a day in Amarillo.

In spite of these added costs of trading out of town, there are those who insist on passing by their local merchants and spending their money elsewhere. And this is their right. They can spend their money where they please. If the local merchant is at fault by failing to promote, if his store is not attractive and modern, if he lacks the courtesy to be found in most city stores, if he is unethical, then we wouldn't raise a finger to stop his customers from going out of town.

But there are Swisher county folks who are so accustomed to trading out of town that they don't even bother to see what the local merchant has in stock. Everything else being equal, they will take their business out of town rather than patronize the local merchant.

We see too much evidence of people hopping out of town when it is costing them money to do so. Recently, at Christmas, we know of a Tulia family that made a special trip to Plainview to buy a Christmas tree even though half of the stores in Tulia were selling them at reasonable prices.

We see too much evidence of people, faced with the choice of buying an item in Tulia or elsewhere, buying elsewhere although the items are identically priced.

We see too little evidence of persons with the philosophy, "Everything else being equal, I'll try to give the hometown merchant my business." —Tulia Herald

Livable Community

A livable community is one where a man would like to take his family and rear his children, have his job and build his home. Such a community must be well-balanced as to recreation facilities, representative churches, good schools, an atmosphere of good citizenship. After that is attained the community can well begin to look around for more industry to help round out the economy. Such seems to have been the program of the Chamber of Commerce in Floydada. Lacking in many communities are the refinements of good living—libraries, recreation facilities, clean, attractive streets, good-looking, well-lighted stores with merchandise attractively displayed, and the like. Many of these Floydada has attained. Now the people of the town can begin looking around for more and better business, not necessarily retail business but other types that will help serve the area better. Meanwhile there must not be any let-up in keeping the balance. People want to go where the spirit is right, good living quarters abound, the surroundings are good for the up-coming generation. Business follows generally. Rarely does it lead. — Floyd County Hesperian, Floydada

Brainwashing

Most of us are acquainted with "brain-washing" in which the Red cell leader is taught a very effective means of "brain-washing" a community by simple methods of doubts, confusion, strife, while the individual remains indifferent.

From one of the instruction books from which "Red brainwashers" are taught, we read the following instructions:

"If we could effectively kill the national pride of just one generation, we will have won that country. Therefore, there should be continual propaganda abroad to undermine the citizens in general and the teen-ager in particular.

"The mis-alignment of the loyalty of youth to a Capitalistic nation sets the proper stage for a realignment of their loyalties with Communism. Creating a need for drugs, sexual misbehavior and uncontrolled freedom and presenting this to them as a benefit of Communism will with ease bring about our alignment.

"In the case of strong leaders amongst youthful groups, a psycho-political operator can work in many ways to use or discard that leader. . . . Where the leadership is not susceptible, where it resists all persuasions and might become dangerous to our Cause, no pains must be spared to direct the attention of the authorities to that person and to harass him in one way or another until he can come into the hands of juvenile authorities.

"The educational programs of Psychopolitics must, at every hand, seek out the levels of youth who will become the leaders in the country's future, and educate them into the belief of the animalistic nature of man. This must be made fashionable. They must be taught to frown upon ideas and upon individual endeavor.

"Movements to improve youth should be invaded and corrupted, as this might interrupt campaigns to product in youth delinquency, addiction, drunkenness and sexual promiscuity."—Claude News

If reseeding of abandoned cropland or barren rangeland is to be successful, the operation must be carried out in the same thorough manner as the seeding of any other crop. Use the best soil, adapted seed, methods and equipment available. The ultimate success depends upon adequate moisture and good management.

HEADS NAMED LAST WEEK ON REUNION HERE — Committee chairmen to head work of the annual Hall County Old Settlers Reunion which will be held here July 21 were named at a called meeting of representatives from the old settlers association and the Memphis Chamber of Commerce here the latter part of last week.

The committee chairmen, M. J. Draper, J. Claude Wells, and S. T. Harrison, are the same ones who headed the celebration last year. Draper is chairman of the arrangements committee. Wells of the program committee, and Harrison of the finance committee. The chairmen will announce their committees within the near future.

E. M. Ewen, president of the association, conducted the organizational meeting last week.

NEIGHBORING TOWNS WILL TAKE PART IN TENNIS MEET HERE — Indications are that several neighboring towns will be represented when the Memphis Country Club's invitation tennis tournament gets underway Monday night, July 5. There will be matches for men, women, boys, and girls.

Invitations were sent out last week to tennis players at Wellington, Clarendon, Childers, Paducah, Quitaque, Turkey, Esteline, Lakeview, Hedley, and other surrounding communities to compete in the contests.

STRICTLY PERSONAL — Miss Lois Enid Moses spent the past weekend in Clarendon as the guest of Miss Thursa Mae Turner . . . Bill Cosby of Vernon is spending the week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Cosby . . . Miss Doris Mae Denison returned to Esteline Sunday after a visit here with Mrs. Lloyd Phillips . . . Mr. and Mrs. Will Noel of Hedley visited Mrs. D. H. Arnold here Sunday.

LOOK at the facts—no matter what kind of truck you need. GMC's new light-duty power plants have as much as 16.2% greater displacement than the nearest competition. H.P.'s been upped as much as 20%. V8's are the latest in short-stroke design. In the new half-tonners, a brand-new fast-ratio cruising axle gives you all the efficiencies of overdrive. And it's an option at a fraction of overdrive's usual price. A new ride stabilizer gives Blue Chip light-duties remarkable new riding comfort. No need to fight the steering wheel—even on the poorest roads. All GMC's now have a 12-volt electrical system. Tubeless tires are standard equipment. And a new boulevard styling makes a GMC far and away the best advertisement you can run. In short, new 1956 Blue Chip GMC's are just about as impressive a line as you've ever seen. Values are even more remarkable. Drop by and see for yourself!

We are expecting some other visitors from Amarillo including our friend, Tommy Thompson, Editor of the Globe-Times. We hope to see others from the District at this meeting but don't know yet who they will be.

Amarillo was certainly well represented at the Association for Childhood Education International Study Conference — Mrs. Monette B. Wilson, Mrs. M. N. Whorton and Mrs. Ruby Bennett. Mrs. Bennett resides in Austin, but formerly called Amarillo home. These people all came by my office while I was in the District.

So did Miss Patricia Martin of Amarillo. She was visiting Washington with a group of Cottey College students of Nevada, Missouri.

Carroll Boyd of Dumas was in town for several days on business and we had a nice visit.

Mr. H. H. Miller of Dawn was up for the REA dinner at the Congressional Hotel and was kind enough to take me along as his guest.

M. F. M. Wagnon of Borger came by and is still in town.

Other Texans visiting the office included Attorney General John Ben Shepperd, who was in town on business. He was accompanied by the Attorney General of Mississippi, the Honorable Joe T. Patterson.

one vote. Every Member to the man had weighed and re-weighed the provisions of this measure and knew exactly what he was going to do. When this occurs, continued debate makes the Members restless and they remind you of a bunch of cattle milling around in pens just before a storm. The efforts of the Administration fallers to stem the tide were gallant but futile, and there was very little doubt as to the fate of the farm bill after the first twenty minutes of the debate. The Administration forces wanted to strike several provisions from the bill including mandatory supports on feed grains, including sorghums. This effort was defeated by a vote of 238 to 181. The vote on the final passage of the bill was 237 for and 181 against. It immediately went to the Senate and the Senate acted on it the same day. By the time you receive this letter, the President will probably

Poisonous Plants On Ranges Cause Livestock Losses

COLLEGE STATION — Livestock losses will occur if animals are permitted to graze on ranges on which poisonous plants are growing. Weather conditions, says A. H. Walker, extension range specialist, haven't helped the situation because the continuing drought has limited the growth of desirable forage plants and grazing stock will eat the new plants even if they're poison.

Buds, leaves and tender shoots of all trees in the oak family possess a toxic substance which may cause severe illness in cattle, goats, sheep and horses. The poisonous condition is greatest from the time buds begin to swell until the new leaves turn dark green in color. Low growing oaks cause most of the trouble and cattle are most commonly affected, says Walker. Removing livestock from pastures where poisonous plants are growing until the danger period is passed is recommended. Bitterweed, a plant especially toxic to sheep, is best controlled by deferred and rotation grazing.

Loco and peavine are other plants which can cause trouble. Walker says animals should not be allowed to graze pastures containing these plants until sufficient growth of other plants can satisfy the forage needs of the animals.

The cockle bur in the seedling stage is very poisonous to grazing animals, especially to hogs and cattle, says the specialist.

The most important value of eelgrass to the angler is the great quantity of invertebrate life it supports such as snails, shrimp and scuds.
