

Report From Washington

By Walter Rogers
Congressman, 18th District

The Veto of the Farm Bill
There were several matters connected with the veto of the farm bill that were interesting. One of these was the fact that several Governors who belong to the same Party as the President, realizing at firsthand the plight of the American farmer, sought an audience with the President to present their thoughts on the subject matter. The audience was granted for Monday morning, April 16th, and the doors of the White House swung open to admit those gentlemen to a conference on the subject. It was presumed by these men that their thoughts and recommendations were to be given consideration with relation to any action to be taken on this piece of legislation. What they didn't know was that the veto message had already been written and that they might as well have been on a sightseeing tour. The truth is that the veto message was on Capitol Hill almost before these Governors got the dust of the White House off their feet.

According to the Eastern Press quoting White House sources, the advisory committee consulted by the President concerning the veto message consisted of True D. Morse, Under Secretary of Agriculture who has long advocated washing out all marginal farmers; Ezra Taft Benson, Secretary of Agriculture, who has repeatedly contested every provision contained in the farm bill, but who has recently underwritten a soil bank proposal that he formerly fought; Dr. Gabriel Hague, whose title as Doctor does not refer to medicine and obviously not to agriculture (an economist who successfully convinced some grain sorghum farmers that I took to see him last year that his agricultural theories were fine except that they wouldn't work on a farm); Kevin McCann, a speech writer; and last but not least, Mr. Fred Seaton whose great farm knowledge no doubt came from his previous experience with the Department of Defense. My first reaction to the veto message was that it was written by Gabriel Hague, because much of the language is identical with the words and phrases used by him when we had the grain sorghum conference last year.

I had thought the proper thing for the President to do would be to consult with some of the elected representatives of the people, but I guess I just haven't gotten rid of all my old-fashioned ideas. It does seem strange how these economists, big businessmen, speech-makers, and so forth are always willing to run the farmer's business, but never want the farmer to have any hand in theirs. However, the farmer has always been used to battling for his rights, and this present battle has just begun.

fine group of seniors, twenty-three strong, to the Capital City for a visit during the Easter holidays. This writer missed seeing them because he was in the Panhandle. However, from all reports these fine young people certainly lent some color to Washington, D. C. They stayed at the Ebbitt Hotel and the management tells us that they were as fine a behaved group of youngsters as you could imagine.

The D. A. R. Convention
The Daughters of the American Revolution are holding their annual convention and Texas and the 18th District are well represented. From Amarillo we have Mrs. Clifford Rogers, Mrs. B. C. D. Bynam, Mrs. Woodson Coffee, Mrs. C. W. Furr and Mrs. Nelda S. Holbert.

Visitors from the District
Mrs. Opal Cleek of Panhandle came by for a nice visit which we thoroughly enjoyed. We were also honored by a visit from Jerry P. Masterson of Amarillo who was one of the first young men that I appointed to the Naval Academy. He has come through with flying colors and will graduate and receive his commission in the very near future. Jerry tells me that he is going into aviation and will be stationed in Arizona for his first tour of duty. I know that Amarillo and the entire 18th District will always find reason to be proud of Jerry and the other young men like him.

We also had a call from Jimmie Goin of Amarillo who is in the Navy and stationed here at the Indian Head Powder Factory for several weeks taking some instructions. He soon returns to the West Coast.

We had a call recently from our good friend, Joe Miller, the druggist over at Pampa. Joe was in town visiting his brother and had a busy stay.

As reported last week, Tommy Thompson came in for the A. S. N. E. meeting. Mr. and Mrs. Wes Izzard are also in town for this meeting and will go to New York for the publishers' meeting later on this week.

Gas Ranges Shown Here Local Dealers

Advanced automatic gas ranges are now on display in the annual spring show. These new lines are held by gas range dealers and Lone Star Gas Co.

1956 gas range models are being shown by members of the industry as the "most advanced" line from the standard mechanical and automatic ranges ever produced by manufacturers.

Dealers are holding demonstrations to show advantages of modern gas cookery. The revolution in the kitchen by the automatic top-burner control, the "Now It's the Tops" Advertising in window banners and advertising media will place these ranges in the home.

ture a spinning top with the spinner pointing to a top burner control.

To acquaint homemakers with this new method of cooking, many gas appliance dealers are offering special prices, discounts and trade-ins on gas ranges during the spring campaign. Also, special terms with low down payments will be offered by some dealers.

Advertising during the two months of the spring range campaign also will point to another major feature of the modern gas range. That is the "no hangover heat" advantage of the top-burner control which automatically adjusts the gas flame to maintain the cooking temperature set by a dial. This prevents boilovers and scorching of foods.

Numerous other advantages and convenience features are available with the purchase of 1956 gas range models. They enhance the beauty of a modern kitchen and are equipped with new automatic indicators, rotisseries, automatic devices and ovens which are actually cool to the touch.

More and more manufacturers are leaning toward the production of the all-purpose ranges that provide other freedoms in gas cookery. Automatic gas ranges on display during the spring showing incorporate functions once performed by many auxiliary cooking devices that occupied needed space in the kitchen.

Features on the 1956 models take the place of griddles, deep-fat fryers, rotisseries, dutch ovens and incorporate other such new features as cool ignition pilots, automatic timers, foldaway burners and full size ovens and regular size burners on small ranges.

MORALITY ALONE WILL NOT SAVE

For a man to serve God acceptably he must have a high moral standard. Just having a high moral standard, however, will not stand us justified in the sight of God. The Lord gave us by the inspiration of the Holy Spirit a book, the Bible. We are to live by the commands of this book explicitly. The commands of the Bible include more than moral lessons. The Bible specifically teaches us to believe in God (Heb. 11:6). This would not be required of a man who lived a good moral life only. The scripture demands that we repent of our sins (Lu. 13:3). No moral standard alone would include this. The Lord commanded that we confess Christ with the mouth (Matt. 10:32-33; Rom. 10:9-10). Surely no man's moral standard would bind this upon you or me. The Holy Spirit enjoins Baptism upon all (Acts 2:38; 22:16). No moral code ever laid down includes this. In the face of all the above some one will yet say, "I need no religion; I lead a good moral life." The writer of old said, "There is a generation that are pure in their own eyes, and yet is not washed from their filthiness." (Prov. 30:12) We are often incapable of judging ourselves. "And he said unto them, ye are they which justify yourselves before men; but God knoweth your hearts: for that which is highly esteemed among men, is abomination in the sight of God." (Lu. 16:15)

Let us then, study the Bible with an open mind and seek out the way of God in an humble manner . . . for everyone that exalteth himself shall be abased; and he that humbleth himself shall be exalted." (Lu. 18:14)

Classic Literature Is Program Topic For Culture Club

Members of the Woman's Culture Club met in regular session April 18 in the High School Visual Aids room.

Several members of the Senior and Junior English classes, under the supervision of Mrs. Roy L. Guthrie, presented a program based on Classic Literature using the theme "Now is the time—to better understand the Classics." Tanya Kay Fletcher, mistress of ceremonies, related a brief introduction of the topic and introduced the members taking part in the program. Miss Billie Jean Stroehle gave her version of "White Cliffs of Dover." Miss Jean Foxhall discussed "Religion," using five hymns to emphasize her topic. Miss Ann Tiner presented the vocal solos as Miss Foxhall explained the symbolic meanings with "pipe stem cleaner" figures in illustrating the songs.

Introducing Chaucer's Canterbury Tales, Miss Janice Smith summarized the author's life and influence on literature. The plan for the Tales was given by Miss Joan Odum. Characters in the pilgrimage to Canterbury were introduced and selections from the Prologue were read by Miss Mary Frank Garrett. These selections were illustrated with pictures projected on a screen by the opaque projector, operated by Dan Durham.

Refreshments of punch, sandwiches and cookies were served from a table decorated with spring flowers in the Home Economics department.

Members and guests included Meses. Ann Ferrel, Edith Seay, Elsie Guthrie, Gus Odum, Grover Moss, Ward Gurley, Robert Moss, Frank Ellis, Brode Hoover, L. A. Stilwell, Jeanette Irons and Misses Sybil Gurley, Alma Bruce, Jean Foxhall, Mary Frank Garrett, and Billie Jean Stroehle.

Waples-Platter Co. Is 2nd in Contest

News was received here Monday that the Memphis branch of the Waples-Platter Co. placed second in a recent contest held to determine the Manager of the Month during March and present the winner and his wife with a week's paid vacation to Mexico City via American Air Lines.

The winning Waples-Platter House was Fort Worth, managed by Tommy Thompson. General Sales Manager Claude Ferebee told local manager, Ottie Jones, Monday that the Fort Worth branch surpassed Memphis by a very small margin. Placing third in the contest was the Lubbock Waples-Platter division.

The campaign was based on percentage points acquired in various ways. Employees contributing to the campaign here were R. E. Crooks, Hubert Jones and Raymond Martin.

Memphis manager Ottie Jones said, "We are very proud of the good showing our division achieved in the recent contest. We also wish to congratulate Tommy Thompson and his Fort Worth branch."

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ford of Bonham, formerly of Memphis, were in Memphis on business Friday. They went on to Borger to visit their son, Marshall Ford, and family, and came back to Memphis Sunday, en route home.

Mrs. Walter Hicks Gives Book Review For Delphian Club

"Deliver Us From Evil," a current novel written by Lt. Thomas A. Dooley, was reviewed by Mrs. Walter D. Hicks for members of the Delphian Club when they met Tuesday, April 17, in the home of Mrs. J. K. Porter.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Sidney Baker, and Mrs. O. R. Goodall read the Club Collect.

During the business session, an invitation from the 1913 Study Club to hear "The Far Journey" reviewed by Margaret Foster of Canyon, was read.

Mrs. J. L. Barnes, president-elect, was selected delegate to attend the State T.F.W.C. Convention in Dallas. Mrs. W. C. Dickey will serve as alternate.

Mrs. Henry Hays, program chairman, introduced the afternoon's reviewist, Mrs. Hicks. The novel relates the true adventures of young Lt. Dooley, who, as the head of a small Naval Preventive Medicine and Sanitation Unit in Haiphong, North Viet Nam, aided numerous North Vietnamese to escape Communistic rule through the "Passage of Freedom" to Saigon. Mrs. Hicks revealed that the author derived the book's title from the well known passage in the Lord's Prayer, which he repeated every morning. Concluding thoughts tied Lt. Dooley's exploits and mercy errands in with the deliverance of evil he afforded the people fleeing from Communist North Viet Nam. Mrs. Hicks quoted Lt. Dooley as saying American aid, used wisely and generously by individual hands on a personal basis, can create bonds which the Communists would find hard to sever.

A dessert plate was served by the hostess to Meses. A. Anisnan, Sidney Baker, J. L. Barnes, Jack Boone, Robert Clark, Kenneth Dale, Henry Hays, C. C. Hodges, Weldon McCreary, Lynn McKown, J. S. McMurtry, Clyde Smith, J. W. Stokes, B. J. Thomson, R. H. Wherry, O. R. Goodall, Walter D. Hicks and Mildred Stephens.

Mrs. Bray Cook was hostess to members of the Winnie Davis Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy on Tuesday, April 10, at her country home in the Antelope Flat community.

Precinct Convention Important Event

Many Wichitans do not realize that the only place where they can have anything to say about who will be their party's presidential nominee is at the precinct convention.

Precinct conventions will be held this year on Saturday, May 5. These meetings will chose delegates to the county convention, which in turn will select delegates to the state convention.

At the state convention the state party names its delegates to the national convention, sets the principles for which the members of this party stand and perfects the state executive committee and other organizational matters and policies.

By this process your vote at the precinct level becomes your only opportunity to actually say what you wish to be the national policy of your party and the national nominee of your party.

Thus the precinct convention with your own neighbors is one of the most important political privileges and rights you have. By no other method can you have anything to say about how your party is run or whom your party names as leaders.

Since this is a vital function, one which can determine whether this candidate or that candidate ultimately wins, or which determines whether this policy or that prevails at state and national levels, we feel the citizens of Wichita Falls should fully avail themselves of the right and privilege of attending the precinct meeting and speaking their thoughts.

This year there are some of the most important decisions before us that have ever faced this nation. How those decisions ultimately will be reached will be in part determined by the precinct meeting.

It is you and your neighbors who must meet and make your voice a part of the national policy. It will be four long years before you will have this opportunity again. If you do not attend this presidential precinct meeting, you will have to wait until 1960 to make your voice effective.

Mark the date on your calendar and set aside these few moments to make your citizenship a valid factor in local, state and national affairs—Wichita Falls Record News.

Farm Price Problem Still Unsolved

In all the applause and recrimination over President Eisenhower's veto of the farm bill, one thing should not be lost sight of by Congress. That is the economic condition of the farmer, who is beset by steadily declining prices for his products while his costs of production continue upward.

Most of the regret we have seen expressed over the veto has been political in nature, just as the farm bill itself was a political potpourri. Members of Congress who ycted for the measure, Republicans and Democrats alike, seem more concerned for the political effects of the President's veto than for the economic effect upon agriculture. The Democrats are eager to make use of the presidential action as an election issue; the Republicans from farm states are fearful that it will cost them re-election to their places in Congress. Even among the gloomiest statements we have seen few that appeared to reflect a genuine concern for the farmer except in his role as a voter.

That may be the important thing to the politician, but it is not the important thing to the man on the farm or to the nation. What is happening on the farm is a matter of real concern to the nation, for there can be no stable prosperity if one essential element of the economy is in trouble. The farmer's prosperity, or lack of it, has a direct relation to the prosperity of the country.

Generally the nation is prosperous. Employment is high, the profits of business are high, and the cost-of-living index is relatively stable. But in the last five years the price average for farm products has dropped 30 per cent. This means that while prices in general have ascended, the price line has been held at the expense of the farmer.

That is a situation that is vastly discouraging to the farmer and far from reassuring to all others. It indicates what could be a fatal weakness in the underpinning of prosperity. The question is, what is to be done about it?

Certainly there is no easy answer when the nation has vast surpluses of farm products on hand—so much wheat and cotton, for example, that the farmers could quit producing these basic crops for a whole year and there would be no suffering from lack of supply. The answer obviously does not lie in the refusal of Congress to attempt to enact a farm bill in lieu of the one vetoed, as some disgruntled legislators have threatened. The surpluses largely are the result of congressional farm programs. These programs have sought to place an artificial base under farm prices, and leaving the farmer in the jam this has created could be disastrous indeed. A condition that has been built up over a term of several years can not be ended overnight. The need is for action by Congress—action based on sound economics and not election-year politics—to bring about a gradual reduction of surpluses and remove them as a weight on the market for farm products. This should be the main congressional objective, even though it may be accompanied by measures for an immediate bolstering of farm income. Congress should lose no time in getting at the job.

'AND SUDDENLY IT'S SPRING'

Press Paragraphs — QUOTING OUR NEIGHBORS

Unfair to Farmers
Some of the best speeches on national problems come from some of the lesser known men in our government. Our own Congressman Walter Rogers shows a keen insight to the problems which affect those of us living in the agricultural areas. What he says and writes usually makes sense. Frankly, we never heard of Congressman L. Whitten of Mississippi until J. C. Cowan handed us a copy of a speech he made in the House of Representatives.

In it, Congressman Whitten points a finger at some of the causes behind our farm problem and shows the ineffectiveness of the present administration's efforts to cope with the problem. It is not a matter for debate that the general prosperity is dependent on the prosperity of each major segment of our population. Yet we still have segments of the population which think they can maintain their prosperity while the farmer goes bankrupt. And some of these people are higher up in government than we might think.

The fact that the farm income has dropped 25 per cent in the last three years should be disturbing to business as well as to the farmer. "The President's recommendation to meet the farm problem by giving the farmer a part of his old crop back so he can sell it to the Government all over again, and by making payments to U. S. farmers for taking their land out of production and putting it into soil conservation, in my opinion, will have a very limited benefit," observes Whitten. "It is a case of giving the average farmer aspirin while he has his production dried up to producing for domestic consumption only. Of course, the big land-owner would get several aspirin."

The important thing, according to Whitten, is not the ineffectiveness of the President's program but the danger that it will lull the American farmer into going along with present policies which are destroying American agriculture and the farmer.

And here are some of the things that disturbed Congressman Whitten as well as Mr. Cowan.

Secretary Benson has had and now has unlimited authority to sell our commodities in world trade through normal channels—but he won't use it. And while our Government is holding our commodities off world markets, at the same time it is furnishing 738 agricultural experts, at U. S. expense, to help promote increased foreign agricultural production.

Through various foreign aid programs the United States is supplying fine seed, tractors, and combines, and other farm machinery to nearly every country outside the Soviet bloc. The U. S. is helping provide irrigation, flood control, highways, and cotton gins to increase foreign production to the point of meeting all world needs in the years ahead.

Back of this policy is American big business which wants to improve foreign agriculture, then buy back their products so the countries will have the cash with which to buy American automobiles and other manufactured equipment. With variations, this is the big business and Republican overall objective. Meanwhile, the American farmer is made the goat. With this philosophy imbedded in the Republican administration, there is no future for the American farmer. He just doesn't fit into the picture of the big business planners who hope to continue to drive him off the farm. Benson who by law should be the champion of the farmer instead is plotting with those who would cut the farmer's throat.

America must always be an agricultural nation. We must not let the planners change us. We have an obligation to other countries—but let's not require the farmer to make all the sacrifice while the profits of big business zoom.—Tulia Herald.

If the lawn has a raggedy appearance and is brown in spots and dead or dying grass can be pulled up by the roots, better check for white grubs, says C. F. Garner, assistant entomologist. Use control methods if six or more grubs are found in a one foot square area. Ask the local county agent for a copy of L1199 for the control measures.

The USDA's Cotton Research Advisory Committee has urged that investigations of new chemical treatments, improved finishing materials and the possibility of modifying cotton fibers by means of nuclear-energy radiations to give cotton new versatility and improved textile properties be made.

IT'S TORQUE THAT MAKES THE WHEELS GO 'ROUND!

'88' HOLIDAY SEDAN

... And the High-Torque Output of Oldsmobile's Famous Rocket Engine Is Instantly Translated into Outstanding Performance at the Rear Wheels!

LET'S TALK TORQUE! In plain language, torque is "twist." It's the force that makes the wheels go 'round.

So it follows... the more torque your engine has, the more go power your car has... the more getaway at the light... the more action on the open road!

That's why, when it comes to power, there's nothing like Oldsmobile's Rocket T-359 Engine—because the Rocket is torque TNT! Figures prove it: 350 pound-feet at 2500 rpm (340 pound-feet at 2400 rpm in '88" models).

OLDS CHASSIS IS ENGINEERED TO HANDLE HIGHER TORQUE!

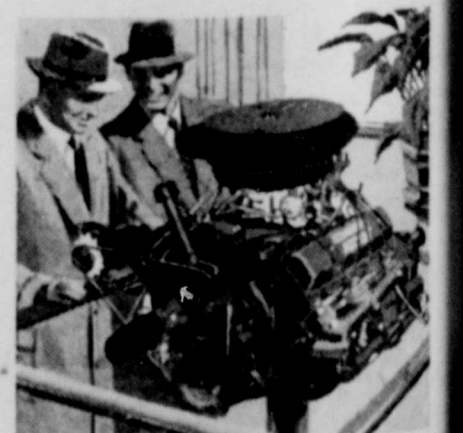

Oldsmobile has the chassis to take Rocket torque... a skillfully engineered Oldsmobile chassis with an extra-sturdy, dynamically balanced drive shaft, and an extra-rigid frame that resists twisting and weaving.

What's more, the Rocket's got horsepower—to spare! And with Oldsmobile, it's high usable horsepower... a by-product of engine design aimed straight at the wheels—design that translates horsepower into terrific torque at normal engine rpm's.

TOP TORQUE MEANS TIP-TOP PERFORMANCE!

The result is higher torque—silken, responsive Rocket action. Touch the accelerator—ever so gently—you "go"... and we do mean "GO!" You'll thrill to smoother, swifter bursts of power for everyday use—spectacular performance, when you need it... when you want it.

Any way you look at it, you can't top the Rocket for thrills for the money—or for top return when it's time to trade. Stop by soon. Rocket 'round the block... or around the town if you like!

OLDSMOBILE'S ROCKET a double winner in 1956 Mobilgas Economy Run. Get the feel of top horsepower, top torque in the engine that's an economy champion, too!

Science Brings Astonishing Changes in Texas Agriculture

During the past year Thornton participated in statewide and regional conferences for fertilizer makers and dealers. He visited 39 different counties to hold conferences or to participate in group meetings. He also participated in 52 meetings, 17 were district in scope, and contacted 147 county agents in furthering work in agricultural chemistry demonstrations. Total attendance at these 52 meetings was 2,350.

Thornton spends much of his time supervising the soil testing laboratory by the Extension Service at College Station. On the basis of soil samples submitted to the laboratory the soil type and location in the State, the specialist makes recommendations to farmers and ranchmen on fertilization and cropping practices. Last year the laboratory tested 10,111 soil samples.

On the basis of present and past results, he says, the laboratory has proved its value to agricultural progress in Texas. He cites three examples of the value of soil testing. A pasture demonstrator had been using 400 pounds of ammonium sulfate and superphosphate an acre. A soil test showed the 400 pounds of sulfate would meet the fertilizer requirements. The result, an increase of 150 pounds of forage an acre; an increase of $7.80 cents an acre in net profit and a drop in fertilizer cost for a ton of forage increase from $3.40 to $1.90.

A sweet potato grower who had been using 200 pounds an acre of 10-20-20 fertilizer to get an increase of 110 bushels of potatoes an acre found that by following the recommendation from the soil testing laboratory, 1,000 pounds an acre of 4-8-12, his increase jumped to 271 bushels an acre. His profit went from $201 to $522.80 figuring the potatoes at $1.20 a bushel. The fertilizer cost for each bushel also dropped from 8 to 7 1/2 cents a bushel.

A central Texas cotton farmer who found his cotton yield going down submitted soil samples to the laboratory and the tests showed that 300 pounds of 10-20-0 fertilizer an acre was needed at planting time and a side dressing of 125 pounds ammonium nitrate at first bloom. These recommendations were followed and production jumped from 3.1 bales an acre against three fourths of a bale on the check plot. The fertilizer cost for the additional lint cotton amounted to only 1 1/2 cents a pound.

Thornton also reports that only recently a soil testing laboratory has been put into operation at Seymour, Baylor County, to better serve the farmers and ranchmen of that area. County Agent Roy McClung is in charge of the laboratory.

Spring Training In City League Gets Underway

Spring training has gotten underway in the City League and several teams already have completed their rosters and played exhibition games, Ted Myers, summer recreation director here, said Monday.

In the Pony League, which is for boys 8 to 11 years inclusive, two squads will have complete rosters. They are the Giants, captained by Hoot Jones, and the Yankees, captained by Mike Simmons. Four more teams are slated to compete in this division.

The rosters of two Junior League teams, the Eagles and the Rattlers, were complete Monday. Bunky Adcock is captain of the Eagles and Don Gailey of the Rattlers.

Coach D. C. Andrews will instruct the Eagles, and Joe Williams, of the local Jaycees, will coach the Rattlers.

Another Junior League squad is preparing to start play, Myers said.

In the Senior League, two teams, the Cardinals and the Tornados, were being completed the first of this week. Tommie Tucker has been named captain of the Cardinals, but no one had been selected as Tornado captain at that time.

All of the Pony League and Junior League squads are playing at the City Park. The Senior League teams will try to play their contests at Estes Park.

Complete schedules for the summer recreation program will be announced soon, Myers stated, adding that games will be played two nights each week during the season.

W. A. Leigon will help supervise Pony League teams, according to the recreation director.

Plans also are being made for Pony League softball teams, for boys from 8 to 11 who do not play baseball, Myers explained. Boys in this division will play one night each week at City Park.
