Profits From Forced Sell of Livestock Due to Drought May Be Tax Exempted

Drought stricken farmers who have been forced to sell livestock due solely to drought conditions were provided relief under Public Law 629 earlier this year. The Internal Revenue Service has set out guide lines for farmers to use in electing not to pay on any gain realized in sale of livestock due to drought conditions.

The election to have the sales of livestock taxed in accordance with the provisions of the new law shall be made in the income tax return filed for the first taxable year in which any part of the gain from the sale is realized. Generally, this would be the return for the taxable year in which sale is made. This return should contain the following information:

Evidence of the existence of the drought conditions which forced the sale of the livestock;

A computation of the amount of gain realized on the sale;

The number and kind of livestock sold;

The number of livestock of each kind that would have been sold under the usual business practice in the absence of the drought.

The return for the year in which the livestock are sold are replaced should contain the following information:

The date that the replacement livestock were purchased;

The cost of the replacement livestock;

The number and kind of the replacement livestock.

The replacement requirements of the law will be satisfied only if the livestock sold is replaced within the prescribed period with livestock which is similar or related in service or use to the livestock sold because of drought. This test requires that the new livestock be functionally the same as the old. Accordingly, the taxpayer must not only replace the sold livestock with livestock of a like kind (for example, cows with cows) but he must also hold the new livestock for the same purposes as he held the old. Thus, dairy cows must be replaced with dairy cows.

The involuntary conversion provisions of the Internal Revenue Code provide that the livestock sold must be replaced within a year after the close of the first taxable year in which any part of the gain was realized. This replacement period may be extended upon the application of the taxpayer. Application should be made to the director of the Internal Revenue district which the return containing the election was filed and must be made prior to the expiration of the normal one-year period. The application should contain all of the details surrounding the request for the extension of time. No extension of time will be granted unless the taxpayer can show reasonable cause for not being able to replace the livestock within the required period of time.

Farmers are invited to secure IRS Publication 225 from their county agent or the Internal Revenue Service. Chapter 13 of this publication tells the farmer how to report an involuntary conversion. Public Law 629 provision gives the farmer drought relief by making the involuntary conversion provision of the income tax law apply to livestock sales.

New Publication Available on Cleaning Wheat

COLLEGE STATION — Clean wheat, whether shipped or stored, depends on the efforts of the producer and in many cases the warehousemen to control rodent and insect pests. A revision by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare states that "wheat will be judged contaminated if it contains one or more rodent pellets per pint of grain or if it contains one per cent or more insect damaged grain by weight."

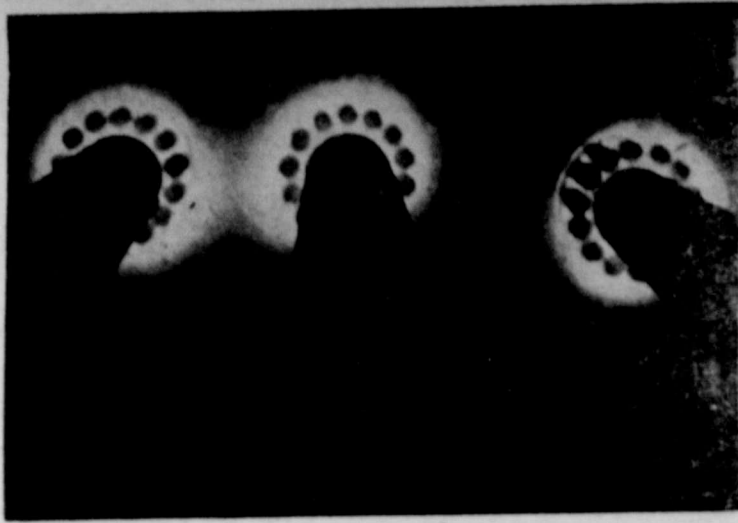

It is just good business, points out W. S. Allen, extension agricultural engineer, to see that wheat in storage doesn't become contaminated. Food and Drug Administration inspectors have been directed to sample wheat being shipped in interstate commerce and to institute seizure proceedings if the wheat inspected is found to be contaminated.

In a recently released publication, L-257, Clean Wheat Program for 1954, Allen also points out that grain containing any poisonous material, may be declared unfit for human or animal consumption. No treated wheat should be mixed with food or feed wheat and such grain should be used only for seed purposes.

The single page leaflet, in question and answer form, covers the high points and questions of major importance that deal with the clean wheat program. It, along with other information on the program, is available from the offices of local county agents in the wheat producing counties of the state.

The leaflet may also be obtained by writing to the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas. Ask for L-257.

Ike Better Democrat Than Adlai, Says Supporter

A bunch of us were standing around talking the other day, and the talk got around to politics like it usually does. Some of the boys said they'd voted for Ike in '52 and were going to do it again; some of them said they'd always voted the Democratic ticket straight and always expected to — you know how it goes around a little Texas town.

One fellow said something that made the rest of us stop and think. He said he was a Democrat, sure — always had been, and his father and grandfather before him. And he always felt like he had to vote for the best Democrat in the race, which he was going to do this year.

"And that means," he said, "that I'll have to cast my vote for Ike Eisenhower. He's a better Democrat, by my definition of a Democrat, than that other fellow ever will be."

And besides that, he said, Ike kept his promises to Texas and Texas ought to return the favor by keeping Ike.

You know, he might have had something there. "Gratitude" is one of the greatest words in the English language, and we all like to think of ourselves as being grateful when people do something for us. Like I heard a man say one time: "Texans are people who never forget anything that is done TO them — or FOR them." That's the way we think of ourselves, and it's about right.

This Eisenhower man pointed out that Ike promised to give the Tideland back to Texas, and he kept that promise; he promised to do his best to close out Mr. Truman's war in Korea, and he kept that promise, and he promised to give us a government in Washington that we could be proud of, because it was clean and honest and efficient — and, in this man's opinion, he had kept that promise.

"I know you're reading and hearing a lot of stuff to the contrary," he told us, "coming from Brother Stevenson and Brother Kefauver and the rest of the politicians on the other side. That's politics for you. Everybody expects them to jump on Ike every way they can, and I guess they'll keep on doing it right up to Nov. 5. But the American people are smarter than some politicians give them credit for being, and before they vote they're going to sit down and ask themselves this question:

"Remembering 1952, when our boys were dying in Korea and the newspapers were full of talk about mink coats and Communists and corruption in Washington — now, be honest about it: If you could, would you go back to 1952 and start over with Adlai Stevenson instead of Dwight D. Eisenhower?"

This man said he wouldn't, and come to think of it, I wouldn't either. As a matter of fact, I think Ike has made us one of the best presidents we ever had. If we had to go to war, I'd certainly rather have him at the head of our government than any other living American. But even more importantly — I'm convinced he is the best man to keep up OUT of war.

That's why I still like Ike — better than ever!

Yours truly,
Tex

MRS. JOHN M. BRANSFORD

Pretty Church Rites Unites In Marriage Miss Elizabeth Wilson, John Bransford

Miss Elizabeth Rues Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Wilson of Quail, and John McKinnes Bransford Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Bransford of Lonoke, Ark., were united in marriage Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the First Christian church in Memphis.

The Rev. David W. Binkley, pastor of the First Methodist church, read the double-ring ceremony.

Miss Betty Lemons, organist, played a prelude of nuptial music. She accompanied Mrs. Ace Gailley, soloist, who sang, "Walk Hand in Hand," "Always" and "The Wedding Prayer."

The altar was banked with greenery flanked by baskets of white mums and candelabra holding lighted cathedral tapers. Jade trees were attractively placed in the background and the windows were decorated with greenery and satin bows.

Candlelighters were Misses Sue Wilson, sister of the bride, and Susan Cox. They wore identically styled dresses in red and dusty rose velveteen.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a ballerina length gown of misty gossamer nylon tulle, styled with a fitted bodice, pleated portrait neckline with scalloped hand clipped lace over a gentle whisper of silk taffeta. The fingertip veil of French bridal illusion was attached to a lace pillbox with sequin trim. She carried a pearl covered Bible topped with a white orchid and showered with stephanotis.

Mrs. Frank Coleman Jr. of Pecos attended her sister as matron of honor. She wore a gold velveteen dress. The bodice was princess style, with a clinging scoop neckline. She carried a fan shaped bouquet of bronze fugi mums. The bride's other attendant was Miss Katherine Wright of Memphis. She wore a matching styled dress of forest green velveteen, and carried a fan shaped bouquet of yellow fugi mums.

Flower girl was Carol Jan Tarver of Amarillo, cousin of the bride. Jimmy Ray Coleman of Pecos, nephew of the bride was ring bearer.

Mr. Bransford, father of the groom, was best man. Ushers were Dr. Jimmy Abraham of San Antonio, and Dr. Bob Bransford of Little Rock, Ark., cousin of the groom.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Wilson chose a teal blue silk suit and matching blue accessories. Her corsage was a pink orchid. Mrs. Bransford, mother of the groom, wore a two piece brown tone dress trimmed with pink and pale pink accessories. Her corsage was a brown orchid.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Fellowship hall of the church. Members of the house party were Mrs. Jimmy Campbell, Mrs. J. E. Duke, Mrs. Dick Fowler, Mrs. Quinton Shelton, Mrs. Don Tarver, Mrs. Earl G. Allen and Mrs. Dan E. Whelan Jr.

Mrs. Bransford had two years of college at Texas Tech, and Mr. Bransford is a graduate of Arkansas University. The young couple will make their home in Pecos, where Mr. Bransford is associated with the Western Cotton Oil Company.

Report From Washington

By Walter Rogers
Congressman, 18th District

"Little Business Administration" is needed. Inquiries have been coming to my office seeking information on the possibility of obtaining loans from the Small Business Administration. These inquiries are coming from businessmen who have always considered the "small business" segment of the economy. However, the many of the applications by these small businessmen indicate that our understanding of "small business" is different from those of the SBA. It seems that the chances for a really business to get a loan from the SBA are quite scarce. I was told that he was applying to the SBA that he would be eligible for a loan from the SBA unless he could prove that he could not get the money from commercial banks. He stated that he had proceeded to obtain this money and presented it to the SBA. Thereupon he was advised that he would be useless for him to get a SBA loan, because of the fact that the banks would let him have the money if that his credit was good and, therefore, he could apply for a SBA loan. It is possible that there may be other factors presented which caused the rejection of this application. However, I tell you to point up the fact that the rules and regulations employed by the SBA, such as they could have easily done. There is a very wide disparity in power in those in the SBA, and numerous complaints have been voiced to me that such discretion has been arbitrarily exercised. The Small Business Committee of the House has recently indicated that the failure of the SBA to get Congress had intended to do under the Act. One of the Committee has told me during several periods, that the administrative expense of running the agency was far in excess of the amount of loans or large, depending on the employment size standard which the SBA has developed for its particular industry.

"Most wholesale concerns are classified as small if their yearly sales or receipts are $1,000,000 or less."

There is some feeling that too much attention has been paid by the SBA to those businesses that are near the top of the requirements, and too little to those that are at the bottom — in other words, manufacturing concerns employing 15 or 20 people, wholesale firms having a gross volume of several hundred thousand dollars rather than several million, and retail and service trades that have yearly volumes of less than one hundred thousand dollars, are not receiving proper attention.

It seems to me that a great deal more attention should be paid to business activities in the smaller cities. Many of these smaller cities are drying up economically because of the lack of any type of financing for the smaller business enterprises. Nothing could contribute more to the perpetuation of the American way of life than healthy and growing small businesses in the smaller cities. If such policies are pursued, it will permit these smaller cities to become strengthened to the point that they can provide more and better facilities that will appeal greatly to many people who are seeking the freedom present in those localities and not present in the congested, metropolitan areas.

I sincerely hope that the Small Business Administration will act with more effectiveness to assist and bolster this segment of our economy.

If the SBA is not going to do this, then the Congress should make some provision to reconstitute that agency so that "little business" will not be discriminated against.

Fish Commission Readies Stocks

When the rains finally come and the old fishing holes are ready for restoration, Texas Game and Fish Commission hatcheries should be adequate, reports the Commission's Director of hatcheries.

He said only ten of the fourteen state hatcheries now are operating for lack of water, but that sufficient brood stock are available to get all in production in short order.

The director said the hatcheries are geared to produce upwards of 15,000,000 fish annually, mostly black bass. Catfish, bream and crappie are produced in considerable quantity.

"Many folks are pretty depressed about their favorite fishing holes drying up," said the director. "In many cases the temporary drainage of the tanks and small lakes, or even rivers, will mean a rejuvenated fish population when a normal wet cycle returns. Countless fishing places had become over-populated with stunted perch which were detrimental to stocks of desirable species, and therefore detrimental to fishing as a general rule."

Too Late

"Undetermined origin," they say. It's a common phrase in news reports of a fire. In the charred and gutted shell of what used to be someone's home, it is sometimes difficult to figure out immediately where the first wisp of smoke curled up—where the first tiny flame licked out.

But given a little time, trained and experienced men can usually reconstruct the situation. A cigarette that fell unnoticed among the sofa cushions and smoldered there. An cient size for all the new appliances that have been added or a piece of furniture. Oversize fuses in the fuse box — overloaded electrical wiring that burst into flame.

All these could have been prevented if persons had only thought and acted. But now everything is gone: family heirlooms — cherished mementos — clothing, jewelry, valuable papers — all the things that went to make up one family's daily life.

This year Oct. 7-13 has been set aside as Fire Prevention Week in an effort to get everyone to take a few minutes off from their everyday routine and look about them to see what fire hazards exist. Have you looked at the wiring in your house recently? Is it old and rotten? Is the wiring of sufficient size for all the new appliances that have been added or a piece of furniture. Oversize fuses in the fuse box — overloaded electrical wiring that burst into flame.

Scraps of Paper

It would be impossible to describe adequately the human and material destruction that, in modern times, has followed the cynical abandonment of pledged agreements and obligations among nations. A particularly callous example was Wilhelm II's "scrap of paper" declaration when he tore up the German-Belgium treaty at the beginning of the First World War. There have been many comparable examples since, with fateful consequences for the guilty and the innocent alike.

Premier Nasser's seizure of the Suez Canal makes one remember such events. Nasser has attempted to assure the other powers by declaring that the canal will be kept open and that its former owners will be recompensed for nationalization. But that is a minor matter, in the long view, when set aside the plain fact that Nasser violated Egypt's pledged word, as expressed by treaty.

Under that treaty, the canal would have gone into the possession of Egypt in the relatively near future — in 1968.
But Nasser, with his dream of empire, and his policy of pitting East against West, would not wait. That attitude of his — whatever happens in the current crisis — may cost his country dearly.

Egypt—like all the Middle East—is desperate for Western capital. But will private capital from this or any other Western country be invested in Egypt when it is known that she will respect treaties and obligations only if they happen to suit her mood of the moment? It is hardly likely.

Will Egypt still expect aid from the U. S. Government?
In this connection, a suggestion made editorially by The Saturday Evening Post is apt indeed. It is that our government ... announce that as of now the foreign-aid barrel is closed to countries which refuse to accept their responsibilities or stand by their agreements."

In a Free Country

One large newspaper, the Dallas Morning News, recently ran an editorial on certain legal matters affecting the state's right-to-work law. In conclusion it said: "... The News is sincerely and unalterably dedicated to the conviction that in a free country, no law should be enacted or upheld as constitutional that compels a man to join a union to obtain or keep his job, just as no law should prevent him from joining a union to hold his job."

This simple sentence completely covers the principle of the right-to-work movement, regardless of the verbal complexities that may appear in a particular piece of legislation.

'SCRAM, IT'S MY INNING'

Press Paragraphs —
QUOTING OUR NEIGHBORS

Cash

From the Seville Chronicle, Seville, Ohio: You can best evaluate our Nation's changing attitudes towards that fleeting willow-wisp known as cash by observing the methods men are using to convey it.

When we were young, men of the circles in which our families traveled carried their money in a small leather receptacle called a purse. This had a steel clasp at the top that locked and unlocked only under respectable pressure.

Small children could be sent to the grocery store carrying one of these with the certainty that no one but a strong adult would have access to the twenty cents (mother wanted a pound of hamburger, a quart of milk, and a loaf of bread) contained therein.

Naturally this purse entrusted to children was a simple one or two compartment model. Men of substance paid bills from a purse containing as much as six compartments, each opened separately by another section of the iron clasp. Curious tradesmen, seeing Dad take the last dime out out of compartment one, were still properly respectful, knowing that he probably had as much as five dollars in compartment six. This division of the wealth was probably also a part of a rudimentary budget system, although we don't remember much talk about this until they started giving money to women.

As for growing boys sufficient to say that we carried all our money in the watch pocket of our knickers clear through high school.
This always proved adequate, too!

Today, men resort to something called a billfold. This has space for a driver's license, a social security card, 20 lodge and club memberships, passes, credit cards, a photostat of your service discharge and a thin crease in the middle for folding money. Most of them come equipped with a "secret" compartment for big bills. People we know usually just take this out and give it to the kids to play with right away.

Change is carried loose in a pocket. This provides a bonanza for the person who cleans under the cushions in the divan. —Seville Chronicle, Seville, Ohio

Your Time

Researchers have come up with some facts concerning how the average person spends his lifetime. These, for example, make us wonder:

One-third of your life is spent sleeping.

A man uses up five months of his time simply tying his shoe-laces.

He spends five years washing and shaving.

Two to four years are taken up in smoking a quarter-ton of tobacco.

Telephone calls take up one to two years.

Seven years are spent eating and drinking, three years being sick.

Traveling to and from work takes five years.
Men spend four years in conversation, but women spend five years in the same pursuit.
Which leaves, as we've suspected all along, very little time for work.—Moore County News, Gene

Hit Show in Rome

As a result of cooperative action between a group of American food chains and the Department of Agriculture, a typical U. S. type supermarket was exhibited at the International Congress on Food Distribution in Rome. Response, it is now reported, exceeded all expectations.
Some 17,500 people visited the market on the opening night alone. The Paris Herald Tribune described the exhibition as "one of the hit shows of the Rome season. Some of the Italian newspapermen and their wives at the preview walked through the sample store in stunned silence. It was so different from the pushcart buying which kills hours each day for most Roman housewives, resident Americans included, that many were at a loss for words."

One enthusiastic observer said the market "will do more for American prestige than millions in giveaways." And an enterprising Italian group has offered to buy the market and everything in it, right down to the mirrors, with the intent of duplicating it.

A typical American store dealing in commodities other than food would receive an equally rapturous reception. The American system of mass distribution — based on big volume at a very low unit profit — has no comparable counterpart abroad.
For the most part, European merchandising is many, many years behind this country. And that helps to explain why our living standards so far exceed those of the rest of the world.—Graham

WORK ON RUNWAYS, DE-LAYED BY RAIN, BEGINS AT AIRPORT — The much delayed work on construction of the runways on the new Memphis airport finally got underway this week.

Grading of the north-south runway was started Tuesday morning and completed on the same day, and work on the other two runways is expected to be finished today.

The work on the runways, originally scheduled to start two or three weeks ago, was delayed due to the heavy rains which this area has been receiving. A grader was taken to the field last week, and almost bogged down in the mud, but the ground had dried sufficiently this week for the work to be done.

yearling, Sourdough, took third, and his Paul Waggoner, two-year-

Thompson Helping to Introduce "Sorghum Alum" in This Area

— the New alum — the new grass in the farm news — is being introduced in Collingsworth County, E. P. Thompson announced Wednesday.

Thompson stated that L. E. Collingsworth County farmer, agreed to be at Thompson's Co. in Memphis on Monday and Thursday for a few days to explain the fantastic new drouth-resistant grass. The two men are working in placing small plots of the grass seed in the hands of farmers of this area.

Collingsworth is one of the most drouth resistant areas among farmers and livestock raisers of this area.

History of its introduction into the United States began when Coleman, Collingsworth farmer, received a table-spoonful of seed at Wellington, New Zealand in 1952. Four months later, the small package which came by air mail from New Zealand, is proving in many respects, especially drouth resistant properties.

In the first year of production, as the acreage in Collingsworth County is limited. But the new grass is limited. But plots which farmers and livestock raisers are viewing daily, will prove to be a lifesaver of drouth.

Collingsworth alum is growing up tall under normal field conditions this year on some and is proving its superiority over other varieties in test plots in 56 Texas counties.

In Collingsworth have that the new grass will go to three head of livestock per acre for a period of months. Approximately 100,000 seeds were planted that county last spring. Collingsworth alum produces a stalk and leaves. The stalk is similar to sudan grass. A feature which has startled farmers who have inspected the fresh green appearance of the stalks, when grain is planted alongside, have been burning up.

"The new grass is a natural hybrid," Coleman explained recently. "It is a perennial and stools out enormously, from 10 to 45 stalks are produced by each single seed. This makes it possible to plant only one pound of seed per acre. Besides this, suckers come out at each joint along the stalk. After the first year, the plant comes back from a crown."

Representatives of the Soil Conservation Service and the Southwest Foundation for Research and Education are making tests of the new grass. Their report to date reads, "It produces more tonnage than anything else we know of."

By HARRY GRAHAM

FROM GOD OR SATAN

Division in the religious world is a prominent fact. The one usually assigned for it is that we cannot see the Bible. Why? We are influenced by preconceived ideas. People are not much divided over what the Bible says, but it does not say that people would have it say. The Bible plainly teaches against division amongst God's people (17:20-21; 1 Cor. 1:10; Eph. 4:3-6; 1 Cor. 12:13; Jno. 17:21).

Let us suppose that an evangelist comes to our city to conduct a religious meeting and proceeds as follows: At the first service he preaches that salvation is by faith only, but at the next one he contends that it is by faith exercised in obedience to the gospel of Christ rather than by faith alone. At the third service he declares that either sprinkling, pouring or immersion is baptism, but at the fourth service he shows that immersion only is scriptural baptism. At the fifth service he declares that people that they ought to baptise their babies, but at the sixth service he says that penitent believers are the scriptural subjects of baptism. At the seventh service he declares that people that it is possible for them to fall from grace, but at the eighth he says that people that have fallen, and that the Bible tells us how to keep from falling. At the ninth service that it is alright to have man-made creeds, manuals, disciplines, and other legislative enactments in the church, but at the tenth he declares that the Bible should take the Bible as our only rule of faith and practice in religion.

So thoughtful person would continue to listen to one preacher preach like that, but the majority of people are perfectly willing for ten preachers to preach these conflicting doctrines. THINK!!! What kind of a God would Jehovah endorse all of these conflicting doctrines being preached right here in Memphis and has sent out the preachers to preach each one of them?

Let us remember, "If any man speak let him speak as the oracle of God." (1 Pet. 4:11), and, "Beloved, believe not every spirit (teacher) but try the spirits to see whether they are of God." (1 Jno. 4:1)

1957 Ford Line Goes on Display

For the first time in its 53-year history, Ford Motor Company is producing two sizes of Ford cars, Eddie Foxhall, local dealer, announced early this week. The new models, which were unveiled in dealer showrooms Wednesday morning, have the highest performance engines ever offered in the low price field, Foxhall stated. The new Ford line divides into two basic sizes, Fairlane and Custom, plus the station wagon series, each with its own body and chassis. In addition, the Fairlane series has been expanded to offer "Fairlane 500" models, which have extra luxury features. The 1957 Fairlane and Fairlane 500 sedans are nine inches longer and four inches lower than last year's comparable models. Custom and Custom 300 sedans are more than three inches longer and nearly three and one-half inches lower than the 1956 models. Station wagons are three and one-half inches longer and nearly six inches lower. Fairlanes and Fairlane 500's are built on a 118-inch wheelbase. Station wagons, Customs and Custom 300's have a 116-inch wheelbase. "There has been no sacrifice of headroom inside the car, in spite of their reduced height," Foxhall said. "The new frame extends to the sides of the car, and this permits the floor to be lowered inside the frame rails. "The design and styling are new from the ground up. Every dimension is changed. Wheels, frame, rear axle, drive shaft, engines and every body style are definite departures from past models," he explained. Riding ease has been greatly improved by using a wider, longer frame with lower pressure tires on wider treads, and employing redesigned ball-joint suspension in front and outboard-mounted longer leaf springs in back. Because there is more spring length ahead of the rear axle, front end dip on quick stops is checked better than ever before. "Durability is built into the 1957 Ford through stronger alloy metals, greater use of insulation and sound-deadening materials, longer-wearing fabrics and plastics, and strengthening of mechanical parts," Foxhall pointed out. For the first time, a high performance V-8 engine is available as an optional power plant on all Ford cars. The engine, called the Thunderbird Special, develops 245 horsepower, and is equipped with a four-barrel low silhouette carburetor. Standard for the Fairlane and Station Wagon series is the 212 h. p. Thunderbird V-8. A 190-h. p. V-8 is standard for the Custom and Custom 300 series. Both have two-barrel carburetors. In addition, the 144 h. p. Mileage Maker six is available on all models. All engines can be ordered with standard, over-drive or Fordomatic transmissions. Advanced design of the engine's carburetion, combustion chamber, and exhaust system, plus stepped-up compression, provides increased operating economy in all models. The dry-type air filter, carburetors, intake manifold, intake valves, camshaft, and distributors are the new components which give Ford increased performance. Ford's new styling charts with wide hooded headlights and a forward slanting grille, and includes streamlined wheel openings, a windshield that wraps further around the sides for better visibility, distinctive fins at the rear, and contoured sides that give the car a sculptured look. "Hardtop" styling is the trademark of the conventional two door and four door sedans in the Fairlane and Fairlane 500 series. The effect is achieved with thin side pillars. Ford's true pillarless "hardtops," the four door and two door Victorias, also are offered in these series. Station wagons have flatter roof lines, with a contoured step-down midway back from the windshield. At the back, the rear window and liftgate wrap around the sides to provide 20 per cent more opening for bulky loads. Ford's pioneering safety features introduced in 1956 have been improved. There is a new safety instrument panel with recessed control knobs clustered under the redesigned deep center steering wheel. Instrument panel and sun visor crash cushions are available, and the safety rear view mirror is continued. Safety door latches have been reinforced to withstand greater impacts. A three and one-half inch absorbing area is provided over the steering column by the new safety steering wheel, which is one inch smaller in diameter. It is mounted lower in the car for the best driving position. Roofs have been strengthened with steel center bows. Hoods are hinged at the front so air will hold them down if they open accidentally. The hood release has been 1957 FORD—Shown above is one of 19 body styles, which went on display at Ford dealers Wednesday. From the road up, the new Fords are a complete departure from previous models. Fairlane models are nine inches longer and four inches lower than their 1956 counterparts. Though lower, interior headroom is as great as last year, since the car's chassis and floor are re-designed for a lower center of gravity.

A new kind of FORD with the mark of tomorrow

You're in for a thrill when you see this new knock-out named Ford! But save your superlatives till you drive it! That's where the fun really starts. It's fun just knowing that others who see you wish they were you. For you're commanding the longest, lowest, heaviest, biggest car ever to sport such a low price tag. There's head room to spare for a new fall bonnet... stretch-out space for a "Daddy Longlegs." You'll find that the tough and ready new "Inner Ford" is built to take the roughest road you'll care to travel. New outboard rear springs and ball-joint front suspension let Ford take the turns without the tilt. New swept-back control arms help take bounce out of bumps. Best of all, Fords library-like quiet is built in. And the new "Inner Ford" is why. For never before in Ford's field has there been a body with so much extra bracing so firmly anchored to its foundation. And you can choose from three big Silver Anniversary V-8's with up to 245 horsepower. There's also a new Mileage Maker Six with 144 horsepower, the most modern Six in the industry. You can pick your Ford tailored to your desires and your budget, too! Choose from nine Fairlane or Fairlane 500 models or from five Custom or Custom 300 models. Or take your pick from Ford's five longer, lower, new station wagons. Whichever model you select, you'll get a car that's been re-invented from the wheels up! So there's the new kind of Ford. Big! Gracious! Spacious! A luxury car true—but one that any new-car buyer can easily afford. Come in! See what wonder-cars you can buy now at low Ford prices.

FROM A NEW "INNER CAR" PROVED IN ACTION came the magic that made possible so wonderfully different a Ford. In the toughest on-the-road tests ever given to a car, this "Inner Ford" demonstrated that a '57 Ford rides you sweet and low... that it takes the bumps without a bobble, the curves without the pitch... and, that in power, it "takes nothing from nobody." Nothing on wheels hurries, handles or holds up like a Ford!

The Fairlane 500, finest Ford series, features five of the 19 longer, lower, beefier Fords for '57.

for five years, beginning January 1, 1957. There will be no one year contracts under the Conservation Reserve program, McKown said.

All of the above mentioned meetings will be held jointly with the Extension Service and the Soil Conservation Service, McKown continued.

Cotton Marketing Cards Farmers were reminded this week not to forget their cotton marketing cards. These are available for all producers who are in compliance with their 1956 cotton allotment, he said.

Rye Seeding McKown also stated that farmers can now sign up for approval for seeding rye for winter cover. The payment for this practice is $2.00 per acre for seeding 60 lbs. of rye per acre. Harvesting is not permitted and grazing is restricted until after February 1, 1957, McKown continued.

This practice can be used as a temporary winter cover on all Soil Bank land, however, grazing will not be permitted on 1957 Acreage Reserve land, he concluded.
