Soil Bank Conservation Reserve To Close Oct. 30

Deadline Extended Fifteen Days

Deadline for entering the Conservation Reserve part of the Soil Bank has been extended until Oct. 30, according to an announcement this week by Lynn McKown, manager of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office here.

The program was originally scheduled to close Monday, McKown said.

Payments to Hall County farmers will be $11.00 per acre annually for land placed in the reserve, McKown said.

Informational meetings to explain the Conservation Reserve program were held last week at Lakeview, Turkey, Memphis, and Esteline.

To be eligible to enter into 1956 Soil Bank Conservation contract, the designated acreage must be cropland on which no crop has been harvested or land which has not been grazed during the 1956 calendar year, McKown said.

The Conservation Reserve will normally be land on which grain sorghums have been grown and payment will be $11.00 per acre annually, plus 80 per cent of the cost of establishing a cover of permanent grass, he continued.

Contracts for land on which cover must be established will be for a period of five years, beginning Jan. 1, 1957. There will be no one year contracts under the Conservation Reserve program, McKown said.

Letter Writing Week Now Being Observed Here

National Letter Writing Week is being celebrated in Memphis during the week Oct. 7 to 13, Postmaster J. H. Vallance announced this week.

Commenting on the significance of National Letter Writing Week, Vallance pointed out that each year since 1938 this event has been observed as a reminder of the real meaning of a personal letter.

Emphasizing the traditional sanctity of the letter mail, Vallance reminded Memphis residents that one of the basic American Freedoms is the uncensored transmission of their first class mail. It is the most valuable possession of the citizens of a free country, he continued.

"We in America have the privilege of uncensored and unlimited means of communication. With this in mind, I urge all the citizens of this area to join me in this national celebration. Let's make National Letter Writing Week for 1956 the greatest ever," he concluded.

Fans at last week's game saw Memphis battle Quanah to a 0-0 tie with the Cyclones forging ahead with 12 first downs while the Indians picked up only 8. Prognosticators had picked the local eleven as a two-touchdown underdog for the contest, but the hard fighting Cyclone was able to handle everything that Quanah could run or throw.

Memphis also led in yards rushing with 187 as compared with 123 for the Indians.

In the first quarter of this non-conference struggle, Memphis drove for their own 12-yard line to the Quanah 20 before being stopped.

Ike Can't Make It Rain, But He's Still Best Man

The other day I asked a farmer if it was dry out his way. He said it sure was. "Looks like we just can't get any rain," he said. "Why, when Noah had his 40-day flood, we didn't get over half an inch."

There's no mistake about it, Texas is having itself a real drought. Some of the farmers and ranchers in our county are in such bad shape that they may vote for Stevenson.

Old Man Jones, from across the river, said he wasn't going to go to any such extreme. He said he needed rain as bad as anybody else. He claimed water was so scarce in his community that the preacher was baptizing new members with a wet handkerchief. But he was holding out awhile longer, anyway.

"I may be stubborn," said Old Man Jones, "but I just ain't been convinced that President Eisenhower is keeping it from raining."

He said he knew that Stevenson and Kefauver acted like they thought so, and they had a right to their opinion. Lyndon Johnson, he figured, knew better, but he was sticking with Adlai and Estes for the sake of unity. He said he didn't figure Mr. Sam Rayburn had known whether it was raining or not for the last 25 years.

"I hate not to go along with such a widely known crowd of weather observers," Old Man Jones said. "If there's anybody who keeps up with which way the wind is blowing, generally speaking, it's Stevenson, Kefauver and Johnson."

Then he went on to say that he realized the national farm program hadn't pleased everybody—including him. If he was in the White House, he would do things different, at least in our county. He allowed that the $61,000,000 spent by the Eisenhower administration for drought relief in Texas could have been doubled and still not made all the farmers happy and prosperous.

"But," said Old Man Jones, "I keep remembering that the main reason for our troubles, besides the drought, is the fact that we are not at war. Now, if Adlai and Estes really want to jump on President Eisenhower, there is a real issue. They've sure got the goods on Ike in that respect. If he hadn't stopped that Korean War, farm prices would be higher, no doubt. I wonder why they never mention that."

Old Man Jones was kidding a little, of course, in his usual way, but I think he had something there. We have got to adjust to peace-time, which is taking awhile but President Eisenhower is working at it. And meanwhile our boys aren't fighting and dying on foreign soil. It's worth thinking about.

Yours truly, Tex

Complimenting Mrs. W. C. Evans, Jr., the former Miss Peggy Smith, a group of hostesses entertained with a lovely miscellaneous shower in the home of Mrs. George Greenhaw, 717 South Sixth, on Saturday evening.

Miss Jo Ann Edwards presided at the Bride's book to secure signatures of the guests.

In the dining room, the table was laid with a lace cloth with undercloth of green and centered with an arrangement of white carnations and Baby's breath to carry out the bride's chosen colors of green and white.

Dainties, also featuring the chosen color scheme, were served with punch. Mrs. Grover Roden and Mrs. Lee Brown alternated at the punch service.

A lovely array of gifts were on display in another room of the party suite. A set of cooking ware was the hostesses' gift for the honoree.

An out-of-town guest was Mrs. Regnal Greenhaw of Amarillo, who assisted Mrs. Greenhaw with party arrangements.

Report From Washington

Congressman, 18th District

Middle East Oil

The Suez situation has pinpointed the question concerning Middle East oil. The continent of Europe is primarily dependent upon this source of fuel. Frankly, I hate to say this, and if it were not a well known fact throughout the world, it is something that should not be openly discussed. Nasser, however, knows better than anyone the dependence of the European continent on this fuel supply. He also knows that if Europe uses Middle East oil, a tremendous amount of it must come through the Suez Canal. The reason being that a great deal more is needed to supply the demand than can be provided at the Mediterranean pipeline outlets. Therefore, the talk about taking ships around the continent of Africa and by-passing the Suez Canal was simply out of reason. It might have worked with many items, but it could not have worked with Middle East oil for several reasons, the main one being the additional expense and the time element involved in going around Africa. In the second place, the dependence of Europe on this source of fuel would demand a continuous supply. It would have been almost impossible to have provided enough tankers to have kept such a continuous supply going if the trip had to be made around the Cape of Good Hope. Another reason that was not talked about too much is the fact that there are many shipping interests throughout the world who would have been happy to have picked up a lot of this business and used the Suez Canal. They were not under the domination of the British, French, American or other government that might have been in sympathy with the position of the United States, France and Britain. Needless to say these shipping interests would have had no difficulty in obtaining cargo because the governments under which this oil is produced, if not in full sympathy with Nasser's action, are certainly willing to acquiesce therein.

In fact, there are many who believe that the nationalization of the oil fields will come about in the near future. It must be remembered that these fields are all relatively new fields and are producing oil in great quantities. For instance, let us look at the country of Iraq. The first gusher came in 1947 at a depth of 1521 feet. It flowed nearly one hundred thousand barrels per day until brought under control. In 1951 this field was producing approximately 62 million barrels of oil out of 11 wells. By 1955 this production had been stepped up to 250 million barrels. In Kuwait we had a similar situation. In 1951 the production was approximately 210 million barrels. By 1955 this was almost 400 million barrels. The Saudi Arabian production in 1951 was approximately 280 million barrels. In 1955 it was 355 million barrels. In Qatar a 17 million barrel production in 1951 was stepped up to 40 million barrels by 1955. With all of this tremendous increase in the Near East production there is one situation that points up the difference between free enterprise and nationalization. In the country of Iran the 1951 production was approximately 117 million barrels. You will remember that it was in Iran that the oil fields were nationalized. Immediately production fell off. The end result of the policies that were followed by Mossadegh in his nationalization policies, was that Iran was the only country that did not increase its production between 1951 and 1955. In fact, the production in Iran fell off by approximately 7 million barrels.

Although it was estimated in 1950 that 42 per cent of the world's total reserves were located in this Middle East area approximated at that time at about 33 million barrels, it was recognized that the potential oil production there could not be determined with any great degree of accuracy. Subsequent developments have proven the estimated reserve and much more. In this respect it might also be pointed out that subsequent developments should have proved something else to those Middle East governments. I refer to the situation in which Iran finds itself. If these other governments who are blessed with oil potentialities will look at the record, they will readily see that nationalization is not the answer to obtaining sufficient funds from their natural resources to provide a better way of life for their peoples. In comparing the production of Iraq with Iran in the four years from 1951 to 1955, we find that a country that did not have nationalization, Iraq, is now enjoying a production of four times its 1951 production. While in Iran, the country that did have nationalization, we saw a decline in the production as herein above pointed out.

It might also be pointed out in this respect that in 1949 although the Middle East had the potential it was producing only 512 million barrels from about 208 wells. The United States, on the other hand, in 1949 produced 1 billion, 840 million barrels of oil although it took 449,545 wells to do it. The life of the United States has been geared to industrial output and our requirements in 1948 were 2 billion, 243 million barrels of oil. The United States needed the oil and produced it. It did so under an unregulated economy and by free enterprise. The same thing can be done in other countries without nationalization. Let us hope that the Middle East countries will realize the fallacy of the nationalization theory and will so conduct themselves that these vast oil reserves and resources may be used for the betterment of mankind and not for his enslavement.

Both the highest and the lowest points above sea level in the United States are in California.

Memphis Federated Club Women Hosts At Workshop Held By District Officers

Members of the Atalantean, Delphian, Culture, 1913 Study, and Pathfinders clubs entertained officers and out-of-town guests of the Seventh District of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs at a workshop meeting in the First Christian Church of Memphis, October 3.

Present, to conduct the workshop proceedings were: Mmes. Robert R. Lindsey, district president of Borger; A. L. Cocanougher, first vice-president of Lubbock; and R. B. Jones, second vice-president of Plains.

The meeting was begun promptly at 10 o'clock with the singing of patriotic hymns led by Mrs. M. G. Tarver and accompanied by Miss Mary Foreman. Mrs. J. L. Barnes led the pledge of allegiance to the flag. Greetings to the guests were extended by the local workshop chairman, Mrs. N. A. Hightower, and the invocation given by Mrs. Lindsey.

For the purpose of acquainting the incoming local officers with their duties, to instruct the members in program planning, and new federation projects, these workshop sessions are conducted throughout the eight districts of Texas each fall. As instructors, a panel of four or five district officers, holds meetings at designated points in each district.

Mrs. Cocanougher, the program chairman, was the first speaker. Among other things, her listeners were reminded that Emerson had said, "Civilization is the power of good women," and that Seventh District could be justly proud of the fact that it is the largest of the eight districts into which the TFWC is divided. Of the 11,000,000 women who are federated club members throughout the world, 5,000 of them live within the bounds of the Seventh District.

Mrs. Robert R. Lindsey, the next speaker, made a thoughtful, provoking talk on Federation in general and Seventh District projects in particular. Stating her keen feeling of responsibility as leader of the district, Mrs. Lindsey explained she has chosen as her administration theme, "We Accept the Challenge" as it seemed a natural follow-up to the General Federation President Mrs. Logan, "Knowledge Is Power" and the district president's "Abundance Through Training."

She then elaborated on the purpose, tenets, and aspirations of federation and set forth the expansion of federation in Seventh District as her over-all project during her administration.

Emphasizing the importance of women's place in today's society, Mrs. Lindsey urged her audience to help keep this nation's liberties and freedoms, to see that principles and ideals of democracy are planted deep in the hearts of the people.

"If we realize that 'knowledge is power', if we aim at 'abundant living through service' then we will 'accept the challenge' to inform ourselves and assume our responsibilities as members of modern society and federation. Federation's greatest need is public support—the women, plus their clubs, plus their communities," said Mrs. Lindsey.

Assuring the women of Seventh District that she was, at all times, ready to help further their understanding and work in federation, Mrs. Lindsey asked for indulgence and patience should she not know all the answers.

Mrs. R. B. Jones, as the next speaker on the agenda, stressed the importance of careful program planning. Setting forth four main objectives: (1) a definite purpose, (2) unity of content, (3) originality, (4) conformity to Federation suggestions. Mrs. Jones urged the women to have worthwhile, informative programs.

Mrs. House, the state president, is sponsoring an Oriental Scholarship in the amount of $1,000 for the education of three oriental students now in college in Texas. Mrs. Lindsey is asking all the Seventh District club women to contribute 25 cents each toward a Christmas Stocking Fund to assist in paying craftsmen to instruct the boys at Boys' Ranch. Plans to send 100 bred heifers to Korea as well as boxes of clothing and stocking dolls to Formosa and the Philippines; and a fund-raising project to help with repairs on the federation headquarters house in Austin were among the far-reaching objectives of the Texas Federation mentioned by the district officers.

At the noon hour a "sack lunch" was enjoyed in the fellowship hall. A question and answer session concluded the day's program.

How many crosses mark graves on foreign soil because the Cross of Christ was not exalted there! May we not ignore that Cross, the mark of Christianity, that which has made our land a place of freedom to all mankind! Panel On Taxes Presented Tuesday At Delphian Club

"Highway of Taxes and Freedom" was the topic of the panel discussion given before members of the Delphian Club, meeting in the home of Mrs. Ben Wilson, Jr., on Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 2.

The meeting was called to order by the president and the pledge to the flag was given by members present.

Mrs. Lynn McKown, program chairman, introduced the afternoon's study. In presenting the panel, Mrs. McKown stated that on our trip of "Road Ahead U. S. A., 1975" we would need money, so the topic of "Highway of Taxes and Freedom" would be discussed by Mrs. Sidney Baker, Mrs. J. S. McMurry, Mrs. J. K. Porter and Mrs. Kenneth Dale.

The first speaker, Mrs. Baker, talked on "Taxes and Freedom." "Taxation is not a new thing," stated Mrs. Baker. "It was one of the causes for the Boston Tea Party when our country was very young. In 1913 a bill was passed to tax income. Only 1 per cent was assessed at that time, but it has steadily increased to 20 per cent." she said.

"At the taxable income level of $41,500.00 a businessman gives as much in taxes as he keeps for himself," Mrs. Baker pointed out. She went on to point out many things high taxes are doing to the people of the United States.

In closing she quoted from the Hoover Commission report: "We cannot expect to cut taxes until we cut spending."

Next Mrs. McMurry gave "Taxes and Fair Play." In opening her talk she said for extra effort to make money the people of the United States are now penalized. "Taxes drains us as they are now, instead of adding to our progress as individuals. Much of the tax money is used in National Defense. This we are glad to pay but when the Army ships several car loads of tomatoes from California to Maine while the Navy ships the same amount of tomatoes to California from Maine, then we do think something could be done about that. The government stores meat and produce which costs about 35 billion since 1951. So we must do something about fair play in taxes," Mrs. McMurry continued.

Mrs. Porter gave "Taxes and Your Future." "It is quite clear to us," stated Mrs. Porter, "that this unfair tax system does only one thing. It prevents the accumulation of saving; it prevents the building of funds for risk capital for production investment in America for the creation of jobs. Uncle Sam already has a firm hold. The nation's electric power-operation, land owners, house builder, consumer banker, borrower, lender, employer and spender. President Eisenhower describes it: 'V. A. as creeping socialism.'

"As a citizen, voter and taxpayer you are entitled to know," continued Mrs. Porter, "that your federal government employs 10,000 lawyers, spends 4 billion dollars every year on paper work alone; owns one quarter of the land area of the 48 states; has 244 billion dollars in loans, guarantees insurance and other contingent liabilities."

Mrs. Dale concluded the program with "Taxes and You." Dis-

The Farm Problem

Many people today are puzzling over the "programing" of farming by the government. They wonder why we have controls, quotas and price supports.

They wonder, without realizing that the well-being of agriculture is an absolute essential to the economic health of our nation, just how the farmer became such a governmental concern.

The answer is simple if one will look back through economic history, tracing the financial ups and downs of this nation and then look at them in relation to the farm income. The farm income is always a good barometer to use when predicting the business for the coming year.

All of the great industries of this nation depend on the farmer. Many people will say they do not depend on farmers but who else can they sell to for a complete profit. If the man who works for a motor company buys a car from them they make some profit but they cannot sell all the cars they make to their employees.

If the farmer cannot buy a tractor it puts the man who makes the tractor out of business. This means that the company cannot buy steel, the steel mill goes out of business, the man who transports the ore used to make the steel, the miner who digs the ore, and also the coal miner, all fold.

There is another theory thrown in sometimes which goes like this, "Let the farmers who can't make a living farming move to the cities and get jobs." This sounds fine until one figures what would happen to wages of factory workers when there were three other people willing to take over his job for less pay.

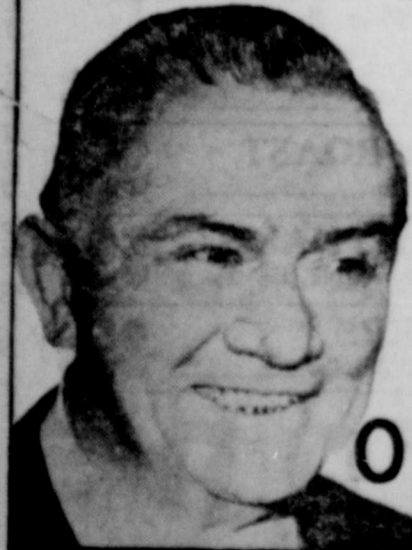

These are the reasons why the government has tried to keep the farm income up. Some think that many government policies have been wrong, and maybe they have, but that is no reason to stop trying.

Quite a few years ago the entire economy of the nation was on wobbly legs and efforts to steady it were aimed at agriculture. Since that time there has been many programs designed to help the small, family farmer and rancher but a lot of them never reached the persons who needed them most.

Only through the careful selection of leaders in policy making posts can farmers have personal agents on the national level to protect their interests.

Hear THE WRITE-IN CANDIDATE W. LEE O'DANIEL FOR GOVERNOR

(Pol. Adv. Paid for by W. Lee O'Daniel)

THERE'S THAT MAN AGAIN!

Press Paragraphs — QUOTING OUR NEIGHBORS

Daniel Gives Voters . . . A Post-Dated Check
Senator Price Daniel has resigned his Senate seat . . . but the manner of his resignation leaves a lot to be desired.

The governor-elect handed the voters of Texas a sort of post-dated check. His resignation is dated January 15 "or sooner if a successor is elected."

And, according to Austin reports, Governor Shivers is on a bear hunt in Kodiak, Alaska this week . . . giving the State Executive Committee more time to beat their heads over the special primary problem.

Maybe Senator Daniel didn't say so in precise legal language, but it was generally understood when he announced his candidacy for Governor that he would resign his office after his election in time to allow the voters of Texas to choose a successor at the General Election.

There's a lot of fine political finagling behind all of this, of course, but we think Senator Daniel hasn't been exactly forthright in submitting his resignation as promised.

His "resignation" has enough strings to it, at any rate, to tangle up the election procedure quite well. — Canadian Record

Rain?
A tourist stopped at Al Homer's service station and commented on the lack of rain. "Doesn't it ever rain here?" he asked.

Al thought for a moment and said, "Mister, do you remember the story of Noah and the Ark, and how it rained 40 days and 40 nights?"

"Sure, I do," said the tourist. "Well," said Al, "we only got a quarter of an inch that time." — Groom News

Danger Ahead
Slowly, through legislative powers, extension of office terms, concealment of public records and related operations the government is drifting further and further away from the people.

Texas, long ago, would have had a sales tax, state income tax and a lot of other undesirable legislation had it not been for our power of voting on these amendments.

A recent editorial in The Amarillo Daily News comments on the various amendments to be voted on Nov. 6 and closes with this thought:

"Refraining from comment on the merit of any of the amendments, we can say that the most of them are matters for legislative action. Probably, they have no place in basic constitutional law.

"Most of the amendments concern matters on which legislators are, or should be, well informed. They are not matters on which the general public is informed — a submission of such issues to the electorate is not likely to result in wise action in all cases or even the majority of cases.
"On the other hand, the only alternative to the amendment route would be a new constitution to replace the 1876 model — which seems to leave too much legislation in the hands of non-legislators."

I might mention to this editor that I have seen a lot of cases where a legislator has been more completely unwise and misinformed than has the non-legislator. — Claude News

Midget Bollpullers
Fellow from down Central Texas way reports that the cotton is so short there that if they hand pick it they will have to use midgets. He said that where they had a good stand the cotton grew all the way up to eighteen inches in spots. Maybe the cotton farmers in Hardeman are not so bad off after all. — Quantah Tribune-Chief

This is where Tomorrow starts!

After today, American cars will never be the same again. For the Big New Kind of Ford is a brilliant new automotive package—the one fine car in the low-price field!

We've unwrapped the 1957 Fords! They're the best Fords of our lives. The power is new—with Silver Anniversary V-8's to fit every horsepower need. The style is new—a revolutionary, sharp, brilliant, clear-cut design that will stand out in traffic. The comfort is new—a rock-solid velvet-road ride. The braking is positive—silky smooth when your toe says "whoa." The steering is light and firm. This is a great automobile, from the large honest dial faces on the instrument panel to the effortless loading way it cruises. The new Ford begins with the "inner Ford." Its new elegance comes from within, from the way its automotive muscles are put together. All the changes are toward more rugged endurance, toward increased power, toward smoother operation. These are the bases for its "Mark of Tomorrow" elegance. This is the one fine car in the low-price field. There are actually 19 different new kinds of Ford—and no matter which one you choose, it's yours at low Ford prices! How does it look? It's only fourteen hands high—as tall as a child's pony. You can stand beside it and lean your elbows on its roof. And it's over seventeen feet long . . . 21 inches wider than it is high! This big new Ford looks like the fun on a travel poster. It's the kind of car that looks sunshiny in the rain. It looks as fresh as morning. It looks like tomorrow—like the first thing out of Detroit that symbolizes the new Age of Movement. See it at your Ford Dealer's. Give it your own Action Test. But you'd better leave a deposit . . . for you won't want to bring it back.

Lovely Bridal Shower Honors Miss Edna May

The W. M. Cofer home was the scene recently for a lovely bridal shower given to honor Miss Edna May, who became the bride of Roy Richardson on Sept. 29.

The entertaining rooms were decorated with garden flowers carrying out the bride-elect's chosen colors of pink and white.

The tea table was covered with a maderia cloth. Centering the table was a bride and groom standing on a cushion of pink net and backed by tall pink candles. Refreshments further accented the bride's chosen color scheme. Misses Bobby Joe Welch and Maritta Byars alternated at the crystal punch service.

In another room of the party suite, gifts were arranged on tables covered with pink cloths. The bride chose pottery and Early American crystal as her pattern. The hostesses' gift was an air-loom bedspread in pink.

Yearbook Sales Total 188 Copies

Formal sale of the 1957 Cyclone was closed Friday, Oct. 5. Subscriptions for the yearbook are still being taken, however, Editor Jean Foxhall said.

By Monday, Oct. 8, 188 copies of the yearbook had been purchased by the students.

In an annual staff meeting held Monday night, Oct. 1, at the home of Jean Foxhall, editor, the theme, dedication and general setting of this year's Cyclone were decided upon. These will be kept secret until the publication of the book next spring.

Student Council Members Selected

Members of the Memphis High School Student Council were elected recently by the student body. Officers for the group, with the exception of the president, were selected by the council members.

Those elected were: Sherman Clemons, president; Francis Wright, secretary; Linda Fields, reporter. Senior representatives are Bill Morgan and Linda Fields; junior representatives, Francis Wright and Butch Adeock; sophomore representatives, Ouida Massey and Neal Foxhall; freshman representatives, Priscilla Wright and Tommy Tuckey; eighth grade representatives, Mary Crawford and Jimmy Dunn; seventh grade representatives, Perry Wright and Elaine Snowden. Sponsors are Supt. W. C. Davis and Miss Neville Wrenn.

The Student Council is now engaged in sponsoring the religious assemblies and organizing pep rallies. Later in the year other programs will be undertaken.

The first religious assembly program was held Oct. 2, at 9:55 a. m. in the high school auditorium. Rev. D. W. Binkley, pastor of the First Methodist Church, was the speaker.

Rev. Binkley spoke on the "Understanding Heart." He stressed the point that if "we could wish for anything that we wanted, we should put aside all other thoughts and wish for the understanding heart."

Others appearing on the program were: Sherman Clemons, Brenda Duncan, Priscilla Wright, Bill Morgan, Neal Foxhall, Teresa Jackson, Bobbie Stewart and George Archer.

Parents and citizens are cordially invited to visit the assembly programs at any time.

government on a business-like basis than anything that has been proposed in many years, Judge Davis declared.

Under this basis the Commissioners Court could levy only the amounts actually needed in the operating funds instead of the amounts now fixed by the Constitution, which are, General Fund 25c, Road and Bridge 15c, Permanent Improvement 25c and Jury Fund 15c, this being on a $100 value.

The full amounts fixed by the Constitution are not always needed in a certain fund, but a larger amount may be needed in another fund. Under the present law, the only way the amounts can be changed is for the Commissioners Court to call a relocation election every six years or oftener. Holding these elections, of course, costs the counties thousands of dollars, Judge Davis pointed out.

By voting for this amendment, the taxpayers can save themselves money in two ways. First, by making it possible for their Commissioners Court to operate on a more business-like basis, and second, by eliminating the cost of expensive reallocation elections.

Under no circumstances could adoption of the amendment cause an increase in county taxes, because it fixes the maximum county levy for the four regular funds at 80c on the $100 valuation, which is the same as the present maximums.

"Sometimes it seems that few proposals are presented to the taxpayer which gives him an opportunity to save some money. But this is just what adoption of this amendment would do, so we hope the voters of this county will give it an overwhelming majority on Nov. 6," Judge Davis said.

Freeman Accepts Position With Fowlers Drug

James Freeman has accepted a position with Fowlers Drug according to an announcement released this week by John Fowler and Dick Fowler, owners, of the local store.

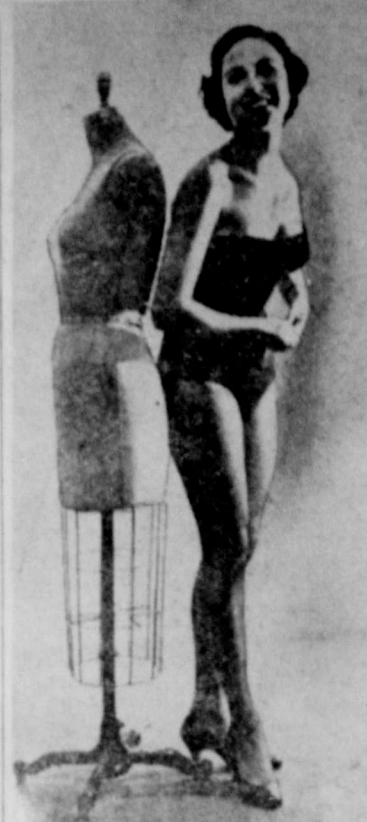

Freeman will serve as fountain manager at the store. Part of his duties will be that of floor salesman and drug clerk, the owners stated. He has 11 years of experience in that line of work, being employed most of the time in a Memphis store.

"We are glad to make this announcement since Mr. Freeman will be a valuable addition to our staff," the owners added. "And we want his friends to visit him in his new position."

Thompson Attends Sunday School in New York City

E. P. Thompson, who returned early this week from a trip to New York City, reported that he attended Sunday School at the First Baptist Church of that city Oct. 7.

He reported that the church, which is located at 79th Street and Broadway, appears to be approximately 200 years old. The pastor of the church, Rev. Peter Hoogenoom, had assumed his duties in New York the day before, and came there from Hamilton, Ontario.

Thompson stated that the new pastor taught the Bible class which he attended, taking as his subject Ezekiel 2:1-7.

Former Residents Die in California

Word has been received here from Mrs. F. A. Whitefield, Santa Maria, Calif., of two recent deaths of former Hall County residents in that state. They were Stanley H. Cruse and William L. Corshy.

Mr. Cruse was 63 years of age, and moved from Memphis to California 20 years ago. He was the father of Mrs. Lee Skinner. Mr. Corshy also moved to California 20 years ago. He was 64 years of age at the time of his death. While residing here, he farmed in the Lakeview community and has visited here several times in past years.
