More Farm Vehicles On Texas Highways Than Ever Before

COLLEGE STATION — "More and more farm implements are now seen on public highways. This, of course, is one result of rapid mechanization on Texas farms. And it has brought with it added dangers," W. L. Ulich, Texas Agricultural Extension Service Engineer, said.

One-third of all tractor fatalities occur on public roads, and many others occur on private lanes and drives, Ulich added. Mile for mile, it is much safer to operate an automobile on public roads than it is to operate a tractor. The heavier the traffic, the greater the hazard.

Farm work should be planned to reduce the exposure of slow-moving tractors and farm machinery to traffic hazards.

Rules of the road apply to farm tractors and implements. Come to a full stop when entering the highway and at regular stop signs . . . do not proceed until it is safe to do so, and then be sure to turn into the proper lane. Don't cultivate the habit of driving on the wrong side of the road when no vehicles are in sight, Ulich continued.

Early in the evening is not only a period of heavy automobile traffic, but it is also the time when motorists have the greatest difficulty in seeing. If machinery must be on the road at dusk or during hours of darkness, proper lighting is a must.

Reflective material applied to tractors and equipment is an added safeguard, and during daylight hours a red flag helps call attention of the motorist to the hazards of slow moving machinery, Ulich concluded. Motorists should not be expected to assume the entire responsibility for the safety of farm machinery on rural highways. The farmer must also share in this responsibility.

Mrs. John C. Wilson and Grace Wilson visited friends and relatives at Duncan and Ardmore, Okla., last week.

LAFF OF THE WEEK

"What line of work had you thought of taking up in place of third grade?"

Redemption of soil bank certificates, an important item to many Texas farmers, has been explained by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Under certain circumstances, the certificates will be worth a little more than face value. But mostly, they are on par.

The soil bank chits earned by farmers for reducing acreages of wheat, corn and rice will be valued at 105 per cent of their cash value when exchanged for grains in the Commodity Credit Corporation but 10 per cent below its standing a decade ago.

At the June meeting of the American Cotton Congress in Lubbock, a top economist for the National Cotton Council said competition is still beating cotton on three counts: research, promotion and price.

Total cotton research money spent last year by all public and private agencies was $14 million. Synthetic fiber producers are spending at least $60 million a year for research alone.

Similarly, cotton producers, through the National Cotton Council, spent only a half-million for promotion in 1955 compared with $12 million given over to promote synthetics. Since most synthetics are much cheaper to produce, many are underselling cotton.

This would indicate that cotton's problem is largely financial, since there is no question as to quality and usefulness. Some say cotton producers, the farmers themselves, should insure cotton's future to the tune of $1 to $1.50 on each bale produced, spending the total on research and promotion.

Everyone concerned agrees that money spent now could mean a market saved some time in the future.

Much work has already been done in the right direction, and there's little doubt that the cotton industry will respond in a big way to maintain its role at the top of the fiber market.

Doleful Senators Due Shock When Ike Wins, Fears Doc

One of the strongest Eisenhower men in our town is Doc Brown. Doc says he just can't put up with Stevenson's socialized medicine program; there are a lot of other things he doesn't like about Adlai, but that one is enough for him, he says. Doc is a pretty outspoken cuss, but he's a good doctor. At least, he's the best one in town, being the only one, and our people always call him when they get sick whether they like his politics or not.

The other day several of us were standing around in front of the post office, talking politics—some Eisenhower men and some for Stevenson—when Doc walked up looking glum. One of the Stevenson men said: "Hey, Doc, what's the trouble, did Ike just call you in some bad news?"

Doc Brown said no, he hadn't heard from Ike this week, but he was worried.

"Not about Ike, you understand," he told the Stevenson fellow. "Ike has got it made. Even the Stevenson people are beginning to admit that. Poor old Adlai isn't going to get any farther in this race than he could throw Kefauver's cousin cap with the tail cut off."

"The ones I am worried about are these out-of-state senators who are coming down here to Texas to tell us how to vote. I sure feel sorry for those boys. It must be tough to face life with their attitude."

"To hear them tell it, this country is in a terrible shape. All the farmers are starving, all the businessmen are going broke, and all the working people are just barely making enough to keep body and soul together. The only reason some little country doesn't step in and whip us tomorrow is that they know they can just wait a few days and the United States will fold up of its own accord. That's what I understand from listening to the visiting senators.

"Of course, they know how to correct the situation overnight. Elect Adlai, and let him abolish the draft and do away with the H-bomb, and let Estes establish the Atlantic Union which he has made speeches about all over the country, and everything will be all right."

"These things are too important, of course, for these senators to waste time telling us Texans why they voted against the Texas tidelands bill.

"As a medical man, I am worried about the great shock these senators are going to get, after the election is over and Ike is re-elected and this country keeps on being peaceful, prosperous and progressive. It's liable to put them all in bed."

And Doc Brown walked on off, shaking his head. Of course, the Stevenson man caught on that Doc was hurrying him, and he didn't like it much, but he'll still have to call him the next time one of the kids gets the croup, because like I said he's the only doctor in town.

inventory or when used to redeem grain they have put under price support loans. This is a minor "give-away" to farmers, themselves, in order to reduce politically hot surpluses.

For exchange purposes, the value of the CCC-owned grain will be set at the current support price for the grade, class and location of the grain. The certificates may also be redeemed for cash at 100 per cent of face value.

CCC-owned grain will be available through warehouses operating under the Uniform Grain Storage Agreement. The grain will be delivered at local warehouses or terminal elevators but CCC will not supply grain at locations other than where it has stocks. In other words, no cross-country movement of grain into an area where it is not grown.

Wheat certificates may be exchanged for wheat, barley, rye, oats or grain sorghums — but not for the other two basic grains, corn and rice. This limitation applies to corn or rice acreage reduction certificates during the harvest periods. CCC officials point out. CCC will not exchange a particular grain for certificates during the harvest season for that grain in the area. This harvesting limitation will also apply to redemption of grain under loan by use of certificates.

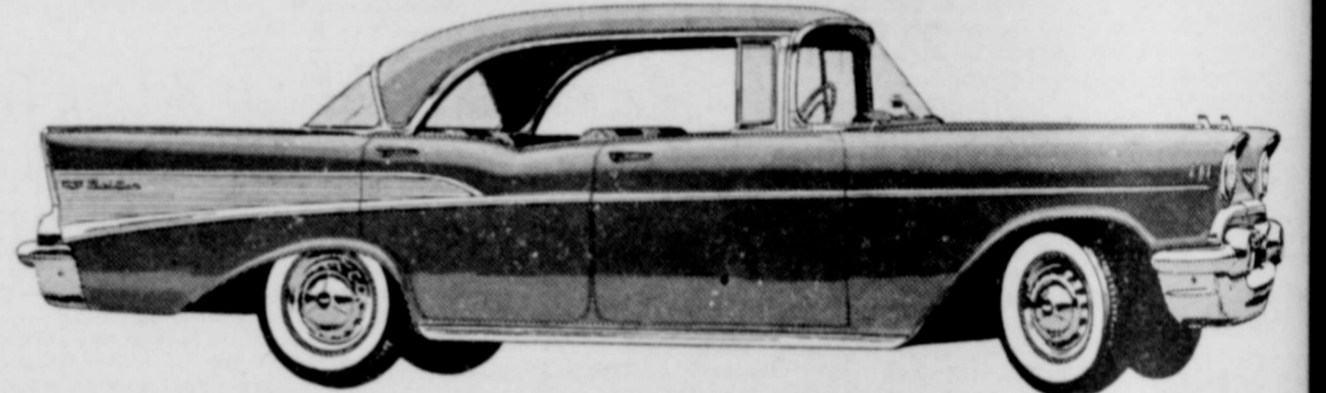

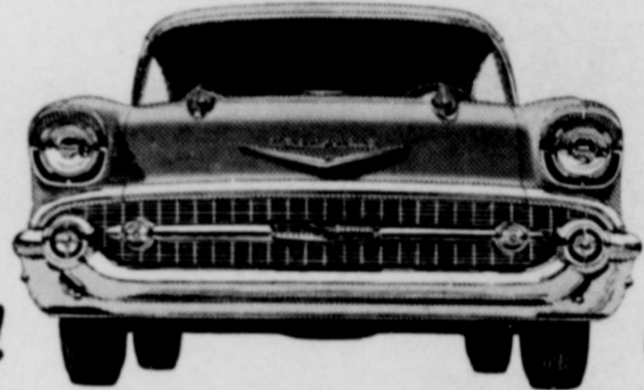

Helping Cotton Hold Its Own
Only thirty years ago, cotton was king of our farmer's domain. It was the nation's No. 1 cash crop.

Today, cotton has been exiled to the third niche in national farm economy, below meat and dairy income. And unless much work is done on cotton's behalf, the famous mainstay of plantation days is in for an even tougher ride on the world's market.

One major threat to cotton's No. 1 spot on the domestic fiber market is the marked acceptance of new synthetics which are gradually eating their way into all areas of the fabric trade. Last year alone, synthetics took three per cent of the market from cotton, bringing rayon, acetate and nylon up 27.8 per cent of the total. Cotton's take was 65.7 per cent of the market — still No. 1.

IT'S GOOD SENSE To Be a Democrat

The Party of All the People - - in Texas and U.S.A.

Again Texas citizens are being told by those who want to carry the state for the Republicans that there is a NEED and it is a PRIVILEGE to vote for the GOP on November 6. Let's take a good long look at what has happened in our state, and realize once again that it makes good sense to be a Democrat.

We now know the Republicans contribute little to Texas government. The only time you hear from Jack Porter and his Republican clan (most of whom vote in Democratic primaries) is in a presidential election year WHEN TEXAS' 24 ELECTORIAL VOTES become important. We are seeing a rough game of patronage and exclusion, smoke filled hotel room decisions and political bosses swinging their weight around.

From a national standpoint, our state's prestige is in the Democratic party. Texans lead their party in both houses of Congress. Democrats man all of the Congressional stations allotted to Texas, with the exception of one Republican (who will likely go into involuntary retirement soon). Let us remember that Republican policies have always been geared to suit the business and political interests of the North and East. They have shown time and again that they don't care about Texas and the South—except when they're wanting our 24 electoral votes every four years. Still, what about our Republican neighbors here in Texas? They stand want to remain a closed shop, where a few king-makers can yield political power from the penthouses of Houston and Dallas.

It's time we recognize that we can't have Ike without having the Republican party. In the past Texas Democrats have been "baking the bread" but have made it possible for the Republicans to "sop the gravy." Hall County's prosperity has always been in better shape under the Democrats. We need to recognize this, and make our plans accordingly.

A sound farm program is of intense interest to every man, woman and child in our county. For this reason, let's look at agricultural developments and find out how they affect the pocket-books of our business and professional people; the farmers and the salaried citizens of this area.

Nearly four years ago Ezra Benson was appointed Secretary of Agriculture by President Eisenhower. We need to look at his record in the light of what has been done to promote the welfare of farm people, who, when they prosper, helps the rest of us.

Four years ago producers of basic crops had the benefit of STABILIZED SUPPORT PRICES. They could count on getting 90% of parity at harvest time. Now their prices can be raised or lowered at the whim of Benson. Also, we are seeing the use of farm supports for the benefit of the party in power. How? Let's consider the CORN belt, where the Republicans fear they will lose the farm vote. Under Benson's flexible price program, corn supports should have dropped to 80%. Did they? The answer is no. Corn has been pegged by Benson at 86% of parity. Wheat supports have also been raised—from 76% to 84%.

BUT FOR COTTON—HALL COUNTY'S MAIN CROP—SUPPORTS HAVE BEEN DROPPED FROM 90% to 82½% OF PARITY.

Compare this with the enormous special legislative benefits provided for American labor; also the vast benefits to manufacturers by tariffs, fast tax write-offs, and similar legislation. Yet for the farmer, Benson has preached a doctrine of rugged individualism, which both labor and big business would scorn in their national and international transactions. To the right and left party programs are denounced as SUBSIDIES.

This man, chosen to represent farm people, has been devoting much energy to stirring up urban groups AGAINST AGRICULTURE. Now many city dwellers believe that farmers are being favored by government over other groups; that farm prices are responsible for the high prices that consumers pay for food and fiber; that the surpluses are a liability.

Then came the Soil Bank Plan—and an election year. Now look at the areas where the big Soil Bank payments are being made:

OF AN ESTIMATED 1956 MAXIMUM OF $261,000,000, $225,000,000 WILL GO TO CORN AND WHEAT GROWERS, IN AREAS WHERE PAYMENTS COULD BE EXPECTED TO DO THE REPUBLICAN PARTY THE MOST GOOD POLITICALLY!

We know now, as this nation has marched forward to higher incomes and better living, FARMERS ARE THE ONE LARGE GROUP THAT IS LAGGING BEHIND. Farmers are entitled to returns which represent a fair relationship between FARM PRICES and OTHER PRICES. Agricultural communities such as ours need a fighting friend in the office of Secretary of Agriculture. The citizens of communities such as ours know that they will not have this friend if the Republicans are to administer another four years.

Make your plans now to go and vote Nov. 6. Vote for the Democratic nominees from Constable to President. If you think Hall County will fare better under a Democratic administration,

Then Go To The Polls And Cast Your Vote For

Stevenson and Kefauver

For President and Vice President

Report From Washington

By Walter Rogers

Congressman, 18th District

The Automobile Company with 437 million. The DuPont Company was just below Ford, showing a net of 431 1/2 million. An interesting item is the fact that 31 per cent of the DuPont earnings came from dividends on General Motors stock holdings, according to this report. Also pointed out is the fact that GM's earnings exceed the combined total of the last 14 companies on the list.

More than half of the corporations listed are directly concerned with motor vehicles and their operation. Chrysler Corporation was not in the top half but was just below. It was listed as No. 18 and showed a net of $100 million.

The list included the Big three in automobiles, GM, Ford and Chrysler. Nine oil companies, 3 steel companies, 1 aluminum company, 1 electric, 1 telephone, 1 copper, 1 nickel, 1 paper, 1 kodak, 1 mail order, 1 carbon company and the DuPont Company which could probably take a general classification of chemical.

Of the 25 companies listed 24 showed a marked gain over 1954 profits. The only company not showing an increase was Shell Oil. This due to the fact that the 1955 net profits did not include non-recurring profits. Six of the companies showed gains of more than 50 per cent. Chrysler led in this division, showing a gain of 440.4 per cent. GM was also the No. 1 money maker in 1954 with earnings of some 800 million. It showed an increase of 47.6 per cent for 1955.

The total earnings of the 25 companies exceed 6 1/2 billions of dollars.

There is a dark side to the picture however, that will get darker as more vehicles move on the highways. The death toll is now approaching 40,000 each year, the maimed and injured are numbered close to a million. Property loss and damage run into the millions.

America must stay on wheels, but it cannot continue to pay this tragic price. Much progress is being made in research and development of better cars, better highways and better traffic rules and regulations, but the number one key to a measurable reduction in casualty rate is the driver of each motor vehicle. Application of the Golden Rule would do wonders.

Oil Pool—Texas Size

The Permian Basin, which covers some 76,610 square miles of Texas and 12,000 square miles of southeastern New Mexico, is the largest gas and oil producing area in the United States. It provides one-fifth of the nation's oil from some 50,289 producing wells. Since the first Commercial production 35 years ago, nearly five and one-half billion barrels of petroleum have been produced from this area and there is still more oil to be recovered than has already been produced.

Atalantean Club Members Visit Indian City, U. S. A. In Anadarko

(Editor's Note: Below is an account of the Atalantean Club's recent trip to Anadarko, Okla., and visit to Indian City, U. S. A. The account of the trip is related by Mrs. Lloyd Martin, program chairman of the club.)

The Philomatic Club of Anadarko, Okla., was host to the Atalantean Club Oct. 16. On our arrival we went directly to Indian City, U. S. A., located two and one-half miles southeast of Anadarko atop the Tonkawa Hills. A welcome committee greeted us and served coffee and sweet rolls.

An Indian guide, George Basin, began the tour with a history of the project. He told us that it is a new city, built in 1955 of a series of separate Indian villages, all forming the nation's first and only outdoor museum of Indian lore and history.

To date six villages authentically constructed just as the Indians fashioned over 100 years ago make up this attraction on 160 acres of an old Indian battle field. From the many Indian tribes which once roamed the Anadarko region, seven were selected for representation at Indian City.

We saw the Pawnee earth village, the Caddo houses and tribal lodge, the Wichita grass houses, a Comanche settlement, the Kiowa and Kiowa Apache teepee villages, and the simple Wickiups of the Apache.

The guide, Mr. Basin, told us that his father, who is 93 years old, after the project was completed, nodded his approval and said, "Just like long, long ago." We thoroughly enjoyed Mr. Basin's tales of "long, long ago," especially how the wives used to do all the work, but not now — just like white woman.

After leaving Indian City, we were served lunch at the Christian Center. Mrs. Ralph Williams, an honorary member of the Philomatic Club, was chairman of the committee that raised the money to buy the site for the center. This youth center was built for the education of the Indians' education. Mrs. Susie Peters, an elderly lady who was taken into the Kiowa tribe two years ago, is largely responsible for the progress that has been made toward preserving the natural culture and art the Indians are born with.

The pictures are most outstanding that have been done by Indians who have never had a lesson, the bead work, the music that they make in their heads as they go, are something you have to see and hear to believe. I have never seen a person as remarkable as Mrs. Peters — never seen as much love and respect in anyone's eyes as in the Indians as they speak to her or about her.

Mrs. R. L. McElhanev gave a very instructive talk about the ways and habits of Indians. The talk was entitled, "The Gift Is Rich," and stressed Indian culture. Mrs. McElhanev is an Indian woman, the granddaughter of one of the great chiefs of the Kiowa tribe, Satank, better known as Sitting Bear. She is the first Kiowa Indian woman to receive a liberal arts degree from any college and graduated from Keuka College, N. Y. Incidentally her husband is mostly white, she said, "too much white, he talks too much and never listens."

In her talk she said, "Your culture and ours together make one of which we may be proud. There is much to be learned, if one will remain quiet and listen." In closing her talk, Mrs. McElhanev translated the 23rd Psalm in Indian wording and sign language. It was the most beautiful and inspiring thing I have ever seen and heard.

Rev. John Tsatoke, pastor of the J. J. Methvin Church, grandson of Hunting Horse (a famous leader among his people), talked and sang a song as he played his grandfather's drum. Mrs. McElhanev interpreted it as "I'm rejoicing; I prayed to God and He helped. I was discouraged, He helped."

The well-known Indian trio, the Thompson Sisters, sang five numbers. They appeared in full Indian attire, white buckskin dresses, beaded, etc. Very attractive they were, and we thoroughly enjoyed them.

An Indian boy, Everett Cozad, played the "Indian Love Call," on the flute. Rev. Tsatoke said that he was probably the only man alive capable of playing this type flute. He also was a famous grandson. His grandfather was Balaw Cozad, a famous flute maker and player.

During our visit to the Philomatic museum, a project our Mrs. Williams was very much a part of, we had the privilege of seeing many priceless relics from the historical past of Anadarko and vicinity. Also we saw the beautiful shadow boxes built by the Indian Art and Craft Center that we had earlier visited.

Much to our sorrow, the day was ending and we were many miles from home and were forced to say goodbye to the many friends we had met and enjoyed.

The following members made the trip: Mmes. Ralph Williams, C. W. Kinslow, J. A. Odom, Claud Johnson, W. C. Dickey, Herb Curry, Eddie Foxhall, Robert Spiry, J. M. Morris, J. W. Coppedge, N. A. Hightower, S. B. Pallmeyer, W. R. Scott and L. C. Martin.

GOD'S POWER TO KEEP HIS CHILDREN

There are two prominent ideas relative to God's power to keep His children: (1) That God has power to keep His children, but this power is only extended to those who keep His commandments. (2) That God has power to keep His children and He exercises this power regardless of the child's conduct, even though they steal, commit adultery, or any other crime in the catalogue of sin. It is contended that a child of God can so conduct himself that he will be eternally lost on account of sin, is not to God's glory in the least. The real issue between the two sides is not the amount of power God has, but to what extent does God exercise His keeping power. The passages show unquestionably that God has the power to keep His children: "For thee which cause I also love many things; nevertheless I am not ashamed; for I whom I have believed, and am persuaded that He will keep that which I have committed unto Him until that day" (11 Tim. 1:12); "Who are kept by the power of God through faith unto salvation ready to be revealed in the last time" (1 Pet. 1:5); and "Now unto Him able to keep you from falling, and to present you before the presence of His glory with exceeding glory" (Jude 24).

In contrast to these statements and coupled together with what we find that GOD'S CHILDREN ARE ALSO KEPT. Note: "Keep your selves in the love of God" (1 John 2:7); "Little children keep yourselves from idols" (1 John 2:9); "Pure and undefiled religion before God and the Father is this, to visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction and to KEEP HIMSELF unspotted from the world" (James 1:27); "Lay hands suddenly on no man, neither be partakers of other men's sins: KEEP THYSELF PURE" (1 Peter 2:5-22); "If thou wilt enter life, keep the commandment" (Matt. 19:17).

There are therefore two keepers: One is God and the other is man. God keeps us when we keep His commandments. God extends His keeping power only to those who keep Him.

A Short Contemporary History

During the last four years the price the farmer receives for what he sells and the price he pays for what he has to buy—the test of the farmer's fair share of the national income—has declined from 102 per cent to 82 per cent.

The National farm income has declined 10 billion dollars and the farm income in Texas has declined 70 million dollars. In June of this year the cost of living reached the highest level in the history of this land.

The farmer's share of the housewife's food dollar has declined from 47 cents to 38 cents, while food processors' profits have risen 22 per cent. Northern and eastern city dwellers are being told that the price support program is responsible for the high cost of food.

General Motors profits rose 113 per cent during the period and Ford profits took a rise of 274 per cent. While on the other hand, auto workers' wages rose only 14 per cent. U. S. Steel profits rose 158 per cent and steel workers' wages 21 per cent. Goodyear Rubber profits rose 53 per cent, rubber workers' wages rose 17 per cent. Yet it is being said that high wages are the reason for high prices.

Interest rates on commodity credit loans, F. H. A. loans and G. I. loans increased from 4 to 4 1/2 per cent. During the same period interest rates on Small Business Administration loans increased from 5 to 6 per cent. The interest cost on the public debt has increased 500 million dollars. Bank profits are up 23 per cent, BUT NOT COUNTRY BANKS; more than 2/3 of all 1955 profits went to less than 3 per cent of all U. S. banks.

Big business (those with assets over 100 million) profits are up 61 per cent. Small business (those with assets under $250,000) profits are down 52 per cent. Stockholders' income (8 out of every 100 persons) is up 24 per cent while farmers' income is down 26 per cent.

At one time during the past four years the administration said that the country could not afford a $20 tax cut for everyone, however, in 1954, the Republican Congress voted a 1.4 billion dollar tax cut, 91 per cent of which went to corporations and wealthier persons. Corporations got 87 cents, families earning more than $5000 got only 9 cents of each dollar reduction.

Scholars of history say that it has a way of repeating itself, or at least that is the reason they give for having students study history in school.

Recheck the facts listed above, and make up your mind about what you want the future to hold. There's an election coming up, and you can exercise your privilege of voting for a continuation or cessation of the trends which are now a matter of record.

Timing Polio Vaccination

Polio has brought needless tragedy to thousands of Americans this year—needless because we now possess the means of preventing better than four out of five cases of paralysis from this cause—and more will be stricken next year. Just how extensive the human damage will be in 1957 depends on how many of us act now to protect ourselves and our families.

The time element is vital because it takes eight months to space out properly the vaccine shots required for maximum protection. Only by starting at once will you have time to complete the three-shot series before warm weather brings another uptrend of the disease next year.

Each of the three shots is important. The whole effect is to enable the human system to produce the antibodies that destroy the polio virus before it can reach the nerve centers. The third is the clincher; it provides long-lasting protection at the highest level attainable—a level comparable to the immunity conferred by a natural attack of the disease itself.

Medical authorities recommend that the second shot be administered four to six weeks after the first, and the third, seven months after the second. If you have already begun the series you should get the remaining shots according to schedule. If you haven't started yet, there is no better time than the present.

Don't be put off by that old misnomer, "infantile paralysis." Your children need this protection, but if you are under 36 years old you should have it too—for their security as well as your own. Polio's attack has been shifting in recent years. It is striking more frequently at adults and as a rule it hits them even harder than it does children. This may mean disaster to the whole family.

Don't let it happen to you and yours. Get in touch with your doctor now.

Voting

"Voting is more than just a privilege of our citizens—it's a duty and an obligation. And that's something to remember in these coming pre-election days. As individuals, we don't owe anything to these politicians—our obligation is to secure the highest type of good government"—Junction City, Ore., Times.

Poll Shows Ike Losing Farm Votes

A recent poll by a major newspaper, conducted among big crowds at the national plowing contest at Newton, Iowa, recently, shows that President Eisenhower is losing farm votes. This is cheering news to the Democrats and disturbing news to the Republicans who have pushed a flexible price support policy, which has not yet been able to halt the decline in farm income—which has continued for some years.

The poll showed that over ten per cent of those who were questioned, and who had voted for Eisenhower in 1952, say they will support Adlai Stevenson in 1956. Moreover, the poll also showed that another thirteen per cent of those who voted for President Eisenhower in 1952 are undecided how they will vote this year.

Yet, no farmer was found who had voted for the Democratic nominee in 1952 who was shifting to the Republican nominee this year. There were only a few questioned who had voted for Adlai Stevenson in 1952 who are today undecided.

It is interesting to note that the main reason given by those who are switching their allegiance is lower farm prices, and resentment against Ezra Taft Benson, the Secretary of Agriculture.

The greatest factor working for the President—the pollsters found—was the feeling among farm women that President Eisenhower had ended the Korean war, thus bring home boys to the farm who might still have been in the trenches in foreign lands today.

While this poll is not conclusive, of course, and was conducted in Iowa only, it is highly significant in that it supports other indications and claims of Democrats, that President Eisenhower is not going to run as strong in the farm areas of the country this year as he did in 1952. If this turns out to be true and if Adlai Stevenson carries the Solid South, the Presidential race of 1956 might be a great deal closer than some people have assumed it would be. —Shafter Texan

Farm Problem

In this area, the farm problem is the one which worries us most. Ike distinctly said in a speech in 1952, and I heard him: " . . . not 80 per cent of parity, not 90 per cent of parity, but 100 per cent of parity for our farmers." We suppose under Mr. Benson's influence, now Ike says he wants the farmer to have his fair share of the national income.

But the trend of the times since the Republicans took over seems to be to less income for the farmer, more cost to the farmer in the things he has to buy, things made by big business. The discrepancy in income and outgo for the farmers of the nation is widening and if you don't think so, you better investigate. —Muleshoe Journal

Protect the Public

More and more legislation to "protect the public" is being fostered on the people, i. e. legislation regarding barbers, beauticians, censorship boards, radios, newspapers and what have you.

Now it seems the portestant organization "Churches of Christ in America" want to control all radio and TV programs related to religious thought under the guise of protecting the people from "money minded" radio preachers. The Tulsa Herald Editor, in an editorial commenting on this new attempt at thought control, closes his editorial with:

"But when we set up a system of censors, where is it going to begin and end?"

"When we pass a law to exclude those religious programs with which we don't agree from the air-planes, we must remember that we must necessarily exclude some with whom we do agree. The same

COLEMAN INSTALLS REFRIGERATION UNITS AT SOUTH SIDE GRO.—The South Side Grocery, owned by Roy L. Coleman, this week announced this installation of new refrigeration units, and 100 per cent self service. The occasion will be Open House Days Friday and Saturday, Oct. 25-26.

The store recently installed two 11-foot Hussman open-type refrigerated cases, one of which will carry refrigerated produce, and the other will feature dairy products and all other pre-packed items ordinarily selected from closed-type cases. In addition to this, a 7-foot frozen food case has been installed, which according to Mr. Coleman holds a temperature zero to five below.

WASN'T A GOOD DAY FOR SNAKE KILLING EITHER—Rattlesnakes are not very fond of cold weather, but evidently they came up for air last week, especially northeast of town where H. H. Shields and Wilmuth King were building two and a half miles of fence.

How they had time to do much fencing and fight rattlesnakes too is one of the mysteries of the present age.

They killed 24 rattlers along the two and a half miles of fence. The law that would deny radio time to a minor religious body or to a fanatical protestant group would also affect Dr. Theodore Epp, Dr. Chas. E. Fuller, and Billy Graham.

Mrs. Lynn McKown, program chairman, introduced the study for the afternoon which was in three parts.

First on the program was a radio skit, "Our Training Ground." Taking part in the skit were Mmes. B. J. Thomson, Ben Wilson, Jr., Sidney Baker, Clyde Smith, Robert Clark, J. W. Stokes and C. C. Hodges.

Mrs. McKown then introduced Mrs. C. D. Morris, who talked on the Gilmer-Aiken law, explaining its high points.

"As a teacher," Mrs. Morris said, "I feel that teaching is at the top ranks of any profession and that teachers are appreciated and respected."

"In 1925, some schools in Hall County had terms of less than 9 months and the salary was $80.00 per month. Five years later the teachers did get a raise to $100.00 a month and 9-month school terms. Then the depression began, and in 1931, salaries were reduced to $70 a month and some rural schools were reduced to 7 months.

"In 1941 the second world war began and took teachers away from the profession of teaching. Then in 1943 improvement came about in the school system. A state school superintendent was elected and a minimum salary of $2,000 a year was set. In 1949 the Gilmer Aiken law was passed. Teachers were required to get more education. The teacher's retirement plan was improved, and schools required to have a full 9 months of school work.

In concluding, Mrs. Morris pointed out that with improved conditions Texas still is rated as 24th in the nation.

Concluding the program Mrs. Weldon McCreary talked on Teacher's Retirement vs. Social Security." She pointed out that under the 4th amendment to be voted on in the general election, teachers will receive a better retirement plan. This will help bring new teachers into the profession and many are needed now to replace the retiring ones. She discussed social security from the teacher's standpoint and gave a comparison of social security as compared with Teacher's Retirement.

A short business session was conducted by the president.

During the social hour, angel food cake and ice cream was served to Mmes. J. L. Barnes, Robert Clark, O. R. Goodall, Kenneth Dale, Henry Hays, Walter Hicks, C. C. Hodges, Weldon McCreary, Lynn McKown, J. S. McMurry, C. D. Morris, J. K. Porter, Clyde Smith, Mildred Stephens, J. W. Stokes, B. J. Thomson, R. H. Wherry, Ben Wilson, Jr., and hostess, Mrs. Baker.

The next meeting is slated for Nov. 6 at 4 p. m. in the home of Mrs. B. J. Thomson.

Mrs. A. B. Jones Hostess to Members Of Sunday S. Class

Members of the Truth Seekers Sunday School Class met in the home of Mrs. J. W. Oliver, Oct. 11, for their regular monthly meeting with Mrs. A. B. Jones as co-hostess. The president, Mrs. L. G. Yarbrough presided over the business session.

The meeting opened with the class song, "What A Friend We Have in Jesus," and Mrs. Guy Kercheville led the beginning prayer. Mrs. J. J. Evans, secretary, read the minutes of the previous meeting. The devotional was given by Mrs. Ella Johnson, who used for her scripture the 92nd Psalm. A reading entitled, "We Worship the True God" was then given by Mrs. A. B. Jones.

Mrs. J. W. Oliver conducted the Bible lesson, and the class voted to send ten dollars to the mission home at San Antonio. The meeting was then closed with the Lords Prayer in unison.

Refreshments were served to the following members: Mmes. J. J. Evans, Wm. Gerlach, C. E. Gowen, C. Gerlach, L. G. Yarbrough, Pearl Massey, Henry McCann, Ella Johnson, Guy Kercheville, C. E. Hankins, two guests, Mrs. E. E. Foster, and Mrs. Williams of Abilene, and the hostess, Mrs. Oliver and Mrs. Jones.

Thespian Society Meets Monday

The Thespian Society met on Monday, Oct. 22, for the purpose of collecting dues and Thespian entrance point sheets.

Truman Smith, president, also discussed what night in November to attend a Little Theater Play which will be given in Amarillo if enough cars could be found to accommodate the society members.

Plans were also begun for the formal initiation of members, and it was decided to sponsor an entertainment to raise money for the Thespian Society.

An announcement of decisive importance to anyone about to buy a new automobile

The most exhaustive endurance test ever given an automobile has just been completed by two stock '37 Fords—identical in every respect with cars now being offered by Ford Dealers.

Under the supervision of the United States Auto Club and the Federation Internationale de Automobile, each of these two '37 Fords traveled 50,000 miles in less than 20 days. Ford No. 1 averaged 108.16 mph for the entire run... Ford No. 2, over 107 mph. These averages include time for all pit stops.

In all, the '37 Ford smashed 455 national and international records.

This test was run on the Bonneville Salt Flats in Utah... it was the longest left turn in history.

A car, like a man, is known by its deeds, not words.

That is why, we at Ford, despite our confidence in our '37 cars, let their deeds of accomplishment speak for themselves.

Therefore, we engaged an independent engineering organization to test our '37 cars more thoroughly than any other cars have ever been tested before—in this country or abroad.

We provided them with '37 Fords—cars identical with those now offered by Ford Dealers. The rest we left up to them.

Here is what they did:

They took these cars to the Salt Flats at Bonneville, Utah.

Here, twelve of the world's greatest drivers took over.

In relays they drove these cars night and day for a distance greater than twice around the world... a distance equal to 5 years of normal driving.

Not in all history has a man-built machine traveled so far in so short a time—by land or sea!

But this was not a test of speed—but of endurance of the "Inner Ford." A trial to take the measure of Thunderbird Y-block V-8 power without qualification of any kind. A test of running gear—of brakes, of materials in body and chassis. Of steering and roadability, yes, and comfort, too!

A test, indeed, such as no other cars have ever undergone, let alone successfully concluded.

Surely they have told you, in decisive terms, that they are worth more when you buy... and when you sell!

Your Ford Dealer will gladly place at your disposal the new kind of Ford that means a new kind of value for your car—buying dollar—the greatest the world has ever seen.

THE LAW in Texas

Stop for School Buses

Hundreds of school children are trooping back to school in Texas. Many of them are transported by school buses. People are careful when passing a school bus which is standing beside the road to pick up school children. How do you know when to stop? Well, you have already had some accidents this year because of a child or a motorist, or you are careless at that very moment.

Texas drivers are aware of the fact that a school bus requires a driver to stop completely when passing from the rear a school bus which has stopped to receive or discharge school children. After stopping immediately behind the bus he is then allowed by law to proceed past same at a speed "which is prudent, not exceeding ten (10) miles per hour, and with due caution for the safety of such children."

What many persons do not realize is that the very same rule applies when meeting a stopped school bus. While everyone is interested in protecting our children, unthinking violators of this simple safety rule greatly outnumber those who comply. Failure to follow the law in this case can lead to fines up to $200.00 even when no accident occurs. Following an accident in which some child is injured or killed, the penalties are naturally much more serious.

Although the above rule does not always apply when passing a stopped school bus in a business or residential district of a town, the necessity for extreme caution even in those locations is obvious.

When it comes to overtaking and passing moving vehicles, exercise of ordinary common sense will generally keep a driver within the law. For instance, when passing a car it is only common sense to proceed on past it a safe distance before cutting back to the right side of the highway. Also, any driver would realize the danger of increasing his speed while another is attempting to pass him.

In the same category is the prohibition against passing on the right under most ordinary conditions. Of course, you may legally pass on the right in a few specific instances, such as when the vehicle overtaken is making or about to make a left turn, or upon a one-way street with two or more lanes, or upon a four-lane highway.

However, our traffic laws state that even when passing on the right is allowed, it should be done only under conditions permitting such movement in safety. And, in no event should such passing be accomplished by driving off the pavement or main-travelled portion of the roadway.

Familiar to all are the no passing zones designated by a dash line placed to one side of the center stripe on our highways. Not so well known are the restrictions against crossing the center line when approaching within 100 feet or when traversing any intersection or railroad grade crossing.

A driver should never cross the center line of a highway when the left side of the road is not clearly visible and free of oncoming traffic. Generally speaking, when not engaged in passing another vehicle, one should not drive to the left of the center of the roadway.

(This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform — not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Soil Conservation Service Explains Advantages of Stubble Mulching

Mulches of leaves, straw and stubble have long been used around orchard plants, truck crops, and in the fields, William C. Swindle, technician for the Hall County Soil Conservation District, said this week.

The Chinese have used pebble mulches on some of their dry-land soil for many years, he continued. These pebbles allow water to pass through the mulch and trickle into soil as well as to shade the soil and reduce evaporation, Swindle continued. Paper mulches have been used in Hawaii to reduce erosion.

When the American pioneer removed the forest cover or broke the prairie sod, he began to lose his soil by wind and water erosion, he said. Many of these pioneers lived to see their soil completely erode away after having "broke" it out. Much of this land was eroded so severely that it had to be taken out of cultivation and replanted to grass or hay crops, Swindle stated. Under original forest conditions the heavy mulch of leaves and organic matter formed such a good cover over the soil that most rainfall was absorbed, he said. This heavy mulch also protected the soil from wind erosion and there was little erosion taking place.

On the prairie, the turf of grass and organic matter rapidly absorbed water and held the soil in place during the heaviest rains, he continued.

Pioneers saw that the forest floor and unbroken prairie sod held moisture and prevented wind and water erosion, yet they did not seem to think of using the same principle on their fields to keep their soils from washing and blowing, he said. Much of the farming in this country was and still is being farmed under a system of clean tillage. At the present time there are thousands of acres in the Hall County Soil Conservation District that are being farmed in this manner, Swindle said.

However, there is another method of tillage that many farmers are adapting and using, Swindle explained. It is known as sub-surface tillage. Instead of burying the stubble and dead stalks of previous crops, sub-surface tillage leaves it on top of the soil. The crop residue, made up of stalks and stubble of previous crops, form a mulch on top of the soil. The common name for this practice is stubble mulching. Thus, using farm equipment in such a way as to leave all crop residues on the surface is called stubble mulch farming, he said.

Stubble mulch farming will benefit farming operations in many ways. It provides cover for the land to help control blowing dust, protects against water erosion, and reduces runoff, allows greater penetration, conserves moisture by reducing soil temperature and evaporation, reduces the impact of raindrops that cause crusting, Swindle continued.

In view of the coming dust storms, stubble mulching would definitely be a wise farming practice for the Hall County Soil Conservation District. Wind erosion is much less on soil that is covered with crop residue than is bare soil, he said. Residue reduces the velocity of the wind at the ground surface and helps to prevent picking up the soil. Blowing dust can be greatly reduced if a dense residue is left on the fields, he continued. Farmers are urged to leave stalks and stubble on the surface of the soil, thus helping to control one of our worst farming problems, Swindle concluded.

Anyone interested in additional information on stubble mulching is cordially invited to contact the local Soil Conservation Service Office.

Around and About

Get out your treats... the spooks are coming to town! Halloween, the most colorful of all the holidays and the gayest for the youngsters, will be here next week.

Having an English origin, Halloween or Hallow-Even was originally a pagan celebration, when, in thanksgiving for the harvest, the Druids of England held their great autumn festival. In their celebration they lighted fires in honor of the sun god; and, in the Highlands of Scotland and Wales, where the Celts for centuries survived the invasions of other races, the lighting of bonfires long remained a feature of the festivities. To these Celtic features were added, in early Christian times, others characteristic of the Roman festival in honor of Pomona, and thus nuts and apples, typical of nature's bounty, came to play an important part in various rites.

To these English customs, we Americans have added a few of our own—trick or treat, spooks, Jack-O-Lantern, etc. And today, we celebrate in typical American fashion our own Halloween.

Speaking of Halloween, there will be entertainment galore for the entire family at all the schools in the county. The Parent-Teacher units in Memphis are sponsoring a Carnival at the high school building on Tuesday evening... the Junior and Senior classes of Lakeview are sponsoring a Carnival at their school on Nov. 2... and at Estelline the Carnival will be held on Saturday night, October 27.

Each year members of the Memphis PTA work hard to provide healthy entertainment for everyone on this one night. Let's add our bit by attending the festival.

The members of the senior class are now taking orders for mums, which will be worn at Homecoming activities in Memphis Friday, Nov. 2. You may place your order for a mum by telephoning 324-W, 144 or 377-J.

Another Hall County couple will soon celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary... the couple is Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Hodnett, who have lived in the Lakeview community for the past 34 years. It was on a Sunday morning that Mr. and Mrs. Hodnett were married, and it will be on a Sunday, Nov. 4, that they will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary.

We are sorry to learn that Kay Christi Clark, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Clark, is critically ill in Baylor Hospital in Dallas. Mrs. R. Ernest Clark and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hays are in Dallas, and Dr. and Mrs. Robert Clark returned home from there Wednesday.

Mr. McMickin called us early Friday morning to inform us that Luther Nabers had already sent him word that he was coming in to claim the $5.17 refund due on the ticket to Tupelo, Miss. Happy to know that we have another reader!

Mrs. Claude Wells writes us this week from Gatlinburg, Tenn. "This is undoubtedly the prettiest place we have ever seen. There are no words to describe the beauties of these mountains and valleys. They are simply magnificent. We can't believe what we see... if our pictures are good maybe we can realize it's not all a dream. We have used up the fourth roll of films already."

Joe Smith Says Tex Can't Have Ike Without Republican Party

(An answer to Tex's recent letters)

Dear Tex:

I have been reading your political stories in The Democrat, and it seems like I ought to know you. The way you explain things, you sound just like some of our local people talking politics. But if you are the same fellow I have in mind, you are the one who took all that college training trying to learn how to make folks think you are telling the truth when you are telling the opposite.

If you are the guy I am thinking about, then you are the one who was hired in 1952 and 1954 by the Shivers crowd to make Texas people think that Walter Reuther and the labor unions were going to take over our state. Boy, you sure did a good job of fooling us on that "Port Arthur Story." They say you really cleaned up the cash working for Mr. Shivers.

I guess you must be about top man in this business of turning the truth around backwards and making folks believe it or else Ike's Republican friends wouldn't have hired you to work for him.

I can say one thing for you, Tex, you get paid for your work. Allan Shivers and George Sandlin are doing your kind of work for Ike free. If these two guys ever decide to go into your kind of business for money, you will have to take a back seat. Your Port Arthur Story was a masterpiece of deception, but Shivers and Sandlin took the prize when they made the Texas people think they were Democrats.

But maybe you are not the fellow I am thinking about at all. Maybe you are really one of those people who say, "I am a Democrat, but I am going to vote for Ike." Reminds me of a dream I had in which a pole cat walked up to me and says, "Joe, I am a coon," and turned around and threw his scent on me. I always will believe that critter was a pole cat.

You seem to be carried away with the way Ike talks in this campaign. It seems like the Republicans and Ike have figured out that the best way they can get along is to talk like Democrats just before every presidential election and act like Republicans between elections. Ike's campaign promises to the farmers in 1952 when he said he was for 100% parity for farm products brings to mind the time a friend of mine bought a mule from a Kansas Republican mule trader. "That's a good old mule," the trader said, "he just don't look good." My friend paid for his mule and took him home, but he had the mule back at the traders lot early the next morning. "I'm afraid this mule is blind," he told the trader. "This morning he ran smack dab over the barn." "Aw, that's not why that old mule ran over your barn," the trader said, "he just don't give a dern."

My friend wasn't at all satisfied with the trader's explanation and forthrightly declared the old mule to be stone blind and demanded his money back on the grounds of misrepresentation. The trader reacted in typical Republican fashion and replied, "I told you when you bought that mule that he didn't LOOK good, and I've got witnesses to prove it."

Now when the farmers first questioned Ike's 100% parity promise, he tried to pacify them by adopting Hoover's slogan that prosperity is "just around the corner." But now that some of the farmers are threatening to take back their votes of 1952 because Ike misrepresented what he was going to be for, Ike says what he meant in '52 was that he was for 100% parity for the farmers if they could get it without bothering him and his administration. It looks like Ike might do pretty good in the mule trading business next year if he would move around a lot and not stay in one place long enough for folks to get on to how he operates.

Come to think of it, Tex, you might be more effective in a new territory. Most of the people in Texas have figured out that you are a Republican in disguise.
