

Report From Washington

By Walter Rogers

Congressman, 18th District

In the Nick of Time

We recently had an experience which prompts us to make the following observation. In writing to your Senators or Congressman in Washington, always address the envelope to him at the Senate Office Building or the House Office Building (as the case may be), Washington, D. C. You should also show on the envelope that the addressee is a United States Senator or a Member of Congress. The Post Office Department does an excellent job of getting these communications to the Senators or Representative with the greatest of haste, realizing, no doubt, that it is a communication between a citizen of this country and the government under which he or she lives.

The experience to which I refer has to do with a letter that was addressed to me at a house in which I formerly lived here in Washington. A young man was desirous of entering one of the Service Academies and his communication to the residential address because it was a personal matter to him and one of great importance. But, the Rogers family had moved to another house and the delivery of the letter was substantially delayed. However, it did come into my hands on the day before the date set for the eligibility examination of those boys desiring to compete for appointments to one of the Academies. I was able to get hold of this young man and to get into his hands a wire authorizing him to take the examination. He is a fine young man and it would have been a tragedy if he had missed the opportunity to take the examination simply because of a mixup in the mails.

Many people are under the impression that the mail addressed to the office of a Senator or a Member of the House of Representatives very seldom comes to his personal attention, but is handled by a secretary. I cannot speak for other Members of Congress, but I can say that every piece of mail that comes to my office from the 18th Congressional District of Texas, or a person who has legal residence in that District, comes to my personal attention. This is true even though I may not be in the Washington office at the time the mail arrives.

I make these observations so that everyone will know that it is much better to address communications to me at the House Office Building, Washington, D. C. It is a pleasure to receive your letters at my home, but there is much less risk of delay if the letter or wire is sent to the office.

The War Situation
Although war might be declared in many quarters in this world before this letter reaches you, it seems to be the general feeling in Washington that the danger of any all-out war has lessened measurably. If Britain, France and Israel withdraw their troops from the Suez area and permit the area to be policed by the United Nations, the danger of any all-out conflict will be lessened considerably more. It is hoped that by the time this communication reaches you these three countries will have agreed to the suggestions of the United Nations and have removed their troops. It is also hoped that by that time work will have commenced on removing the obstacles that are now blocking the Canal. It must be remembered that the accomplishments of these tasks, although a great forward step toward a solution of the problem, will not provide the answer to the fuel shortage in Europe because of the refusal of Arab nations to continue to furnish this oil. This problem is a staggering proportion and upon its proper solution may well depend the answer to the question of whether or not there is another war or peace in our time.

If this Middle East situation can be worked out to an early solution, it will enable the eyes of the entire world to focus on the Hungarian situation and certainly cause Russia some uneasy moments, not only as to the uprising in Budapest but also as to Russian policy in Roumania, Czechoslovakia and Poland. Russia would be in a very untenable position to deny entrance of United Nations observers into the Hungarian Capital. Such developments, as an early solution to the Near East problem, would afford an excellent opening for the Western Allies to put Russia into a foreign corner where she would be forced to do one of two things. She would have to admit United Nations observers in an effort to try to settle the Hungarian dispute, or openly confess that she was dominating her satellite states by force and arms and did not intend to take any other course.

Foreign Aid and the Farmer
Few people realize that our foreign aid policy has been directly responsible for many of the ills besetting the American Farmer. This country, among other things, did the following:

- (1) Promoted through foreign aid an increase of 5 million foreign acres.
- (2) Financed 2600 deep irrigation wells in India.
- (3) Made available 260 million dollars in agricultural loans.
- (4) Provided 1 billion dollars to promote agriculture in foreign countries.
- (5) Provided half a billion dol-

SNOW GEESSE NEED CURBS

A press dispatch from Canada referring to growing overpopulation of snow geese gave emphasis to the contention by the Executive Secretary of the Texas Game and Fish Commission that bag limits on snow geese should be increased.

The Canadian report quoting the provincial authority stated the snows were so numerous in the summer nesting areas that food was insufficient, thus exposing the flocks to weakness and ultimate disease and starvation.

W. L. Ulich, extension agricultural engineer and secretary of the Council says studies made at many of these destructive fires show that defective chimneys, carelessness with combustible materials or misuse of petroleum products rank high as causes of farm fires.

He says the Council recommends that a check be made now of all heating equipment used on the farm whether in the home or in connection with water systems or in other farm buildings. Cracks or other chimney defects should be repaired and rusted or burned out stove pipes should be replaced. Petroleum products should never be used to start or hasten a fire. Make sure, emphasizes the engineer, that combustible materials are protected and stored away

Cold Weather Brings Fire Hazards

Officially, winter is still a few weeks away but colder weather has arrived. When temperatures drop and all forms of heating equipment are brought into use on farms, the chances for farm fires increase. Every year in the nation more than 100 million dollars worth of farm property is lost to fire and members of the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council say most of this vast loss can be prevented.

CARD OF THANKS

To all the many kind and thoughtful friends who have been so helpful to us at the tragic loss of our dear husband, father and grandfather, we express our most sincere and heartfelt thanks. We are indeed grateful for the prayers, the food and the beautiful flowers. Thanks to the choir, and Bro. Helm and Bro. Evans.

May God bless you is our prayer.

The Earl Duke Family

Rev. and Mrs. C. A. Davis and children were in Dallas over the Thanksgiving holidays to visit with Mrs. Davis' parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Hornsby. While there they also attended the North Texas district Youth Convention of Assembly of God Churches.

Mr. and Mrs. William Palmeyer and daughter Paula of Matador spent Sunday with Mrs. Seth Palmeyer. Mr. Palmeyer is the former Asst. County Agent of this county.

Mr. and Mrs. W. N. LeCroy and sons Franklin and Johnnie visited in Childress Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Moore. Mrs. Moore is Mrs. LeCroy's sister.

Visiting in the J. W. Ivy home last Thursday were Mr. and Mrs. John Jewett and family of Albuquerque, N. M.

Bernice Ellis and son LeRoy of Pampa spent Sunday in the home of Mrs. H. B. Bennett.

Visitors in the Clifton Burnett home over the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Dick Betts and son Dwight. The Burnetts accompanied the Betts to Amarillo where they visited Mrs. Claude Betts.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernie Davis and sons, Rod and Randy, of Paducah visited in the home of their parents and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Gardner.

Mrs. Bonie Butler of Hamlin, visited Vernelle Butler over the weekend.

Mrs. Letha Butler returned here from Hamlin Friday where she has been visiting her children and grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dennis and Dink visited over the weekend in Lubbock with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Howard. Mrs. Howard and son Dennis returned to Memphis with the Dennises.

MISS BETTY PERCELL

Miss Betty Percell To Become Bride Of Bobby Townsend

Mrs. Gene Hearn of Amarillo this week announced the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Miss Betty Percell, to Bobby Townsend of Amarillo, son of Mrs. Violet Townsend, 1110 West Main.

The wedding vows will be exchanged Dec. 23 at 321 North 10th St. in Memphis. The couple will make their home in Amarillo, where Mr. Townsend is employed with William Ford Lumber Company.

Jean Foxhall Crowned Band Sweetheart

Miss Jean Foxhall, popular member of the senior class, was crowned Band Sweetheart of the Memphis Cyclone Band during the half-time of the Memphis-Canadian football game.

After making their entrance upon the field, the band formed a "crown" and the field was darkened with the exception of footlights.

As the band played "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi," Miss Foxhall was escorted to the center of the crown by Band President Eddie Gable and Neal Foxhall.

Under a spotlight, the president crowned Jean Band Sweetheart of 1956-57 and presented her with a "Sweetheart" locket. Neal Foxhall, brother of the sweetheart, then presented her with a bouquet of a dozen red roses.

The lights were turned on and the band moved into the initials "J. F.," leaving the sidelines in this formation.

Mrs. J. D. Wallace of Fresno, Calif., and formerly of Memphis, is here visiting with her sister, Mrs. Gilbert Young, who is ill. Also with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Grimsley of Lakeview and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Buster Jeffries and daughter returned to Memphis last Saturday. They have been residing in San Diego, Calif., but plan to make their home in Memphis. Mr. Jeffries is the son of Mrs. Vesta Jeffries of Memphis.

Mrs. Tom Dunbar went to Fort Worth Friday to visit her daughter, Mrs. H. M. Hodge.

Mrs. Royce Young and Mrs. Van Gayle Howard went to Childress Friday on a shopping trip.

1913 Study Club Meets in Home of Mrs. R. S. Greene

One of the most unusual programs yet enjoyed by the members of the 1913 Study Club was enacted in the home of Mrs. R. S. Greene the afternoon of Nov. 21. The topic, "Women of Our Modern World," was cleverly developed through speech and action by the program planning committee.

Mrs. Nelson Combest, the first to appear on the program, gave an excellent review of the book, "A Wife Is Many Women" by Doris Bernays. Following Mrs. Combest, Mrs. Gayle Greene enlightened her listeners with a humorous talk in answer to the question, "What Is This Thing Called Charm?"

Next, Mrs. Frank Foxhall impersonating a visiting psychiatrist proceeded to hypnotize Mrs. O. L. Helm and regress her subconscious thinking to lives of another day and time. Out of the past Madame Curie, played by Mrs. Gene Lindsey, appeared as one of the famous women of history. Then Mrs. A. L. Gailey, as Madame Tzu-Hsi, came forth to give interesting excerpts from her life. Mrs. Boyd Rogers was Queen Isabella of Spain, and Queen Esther of Persia was played by Mrs. Bluford Walker. All of which made a highly entertaining bit of hypnotic demonstration.

Matters of business were handled by the club vice president, Mrs. Greene, preceding the program. Twenty-one members and one guest, Mrs. O. B. Jones, enjoyed the tasty refreshments served from a tea table decorated with fruit and autumn leaves appropriate to the season at which Mrs. Beo Fields presided.

Present were: Mmes. Nelson Combest, Gayle Greene, Bluford Walker, Gene Lindsey, Mills Roberts, Howard Finch, M. G. Tarver, A. L. Gailey, D. L. C. Kinard, Hubert Jones, Paul Montgomery, Joe

FHA Initiation Held Monday

The formal installation and initiation of the Memphis Chapter of Future Homemakers of America was held Monday night in the high school cafeteria.

The old officers relinquished the positions to the new officers in a very impressive ceremony. Old officers were: Guyula Crawford, Beverly Crawford, Dorothy Moore, Helen Shackelford, Frances Wright, Teresa Jackson, and Janice Smith. Newly elected officers are: Virginia Chappell, president; Carolyn Collins, vice president; Wanda Moore, secretary; Linda Collins, treasurer; Audrey Beth Burnett, historian; Kay Ferrel, parliamentarian; Earnestine Young, reporter; Johnnie McWhorter, song leader; and Elaine Clayton, pianist.

Virginia Chappell, the new president, presided during the Initiation Service. As a part of the ceremony, each past officer lighted a candle and repeated one of the eight purposes of the organization.

After the ritual, the freshmen candidates were presented with a red and white bow signifying the colors of the club.

Tasty refreshments were served at the close of the service.

Bridal Shower Compliments Mrs. Linton Gardenhire

Mrs. Linton Gardenhire was complimented recently with a lovely bridal shower in the home of Mrs. Lyman Davenport of Lakeview.

Guests arriving between the hours of 7:30 and 9:30 p. m. were greeted by Mrs. Phaeton Alexander. The groom's sister, Miss Edna Gardenhire, presided at the Bride's Book, and appropriate music was furnished throughout the evening by Mrs. W. H. Spear.

Punch and angel-food cake were served from a table laid in white and pink. Presiding at the refreshment table were Mrs. J. H. Robertson and Miss Marietta Byars.

The honoree received an array of beautiful and useful gifts including Early American crystal given by the hostesses.

Hostesses for the affair included: Mmes. Lyman Davenport, David Davenport, Paul Smith, J. H. Robertson, Phaeton Alexander, W. H. Spear, Hubert Payne, John Capps, Olen Neighbors, Raymon Moore, J. B. Duren, D. H. Davenport, Sr., and Lee Skinner.

Guests for a Thanksgiving dinner held in the Robert Stewart home were Mr. and Mrs. Gene Stewart of Childress, Will, Bob and Alfred Berry of Memphis, Mrs. Leslie Weatherford of Memphis, and Miss Betty Stewart of Abilene.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Boureland and daughters of Quail visited in the home of her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Sweatt.

Radioactive Waste Disposal To Be Studied at UT

The critical and growing problem of radioactive waste disposal is being studied at the University of Texas.

Dr. Earnest F. Gloyna, associate professor of civil engineering, has received a $19,440 grant from the Atomic Energy Commission for support of his research. Dr. Gloyna is studying the possibility of storing highly-radioactive nuclear wastes in underground salt formations.

"Salt formations or domes are immense, impervious masses of virtually pure sodium chloride," Dr. Gloyna said. "The domes do not contain either fissures or water and hence nuclear waste stored there would not enter water supplies or contaminate other usable minerals."

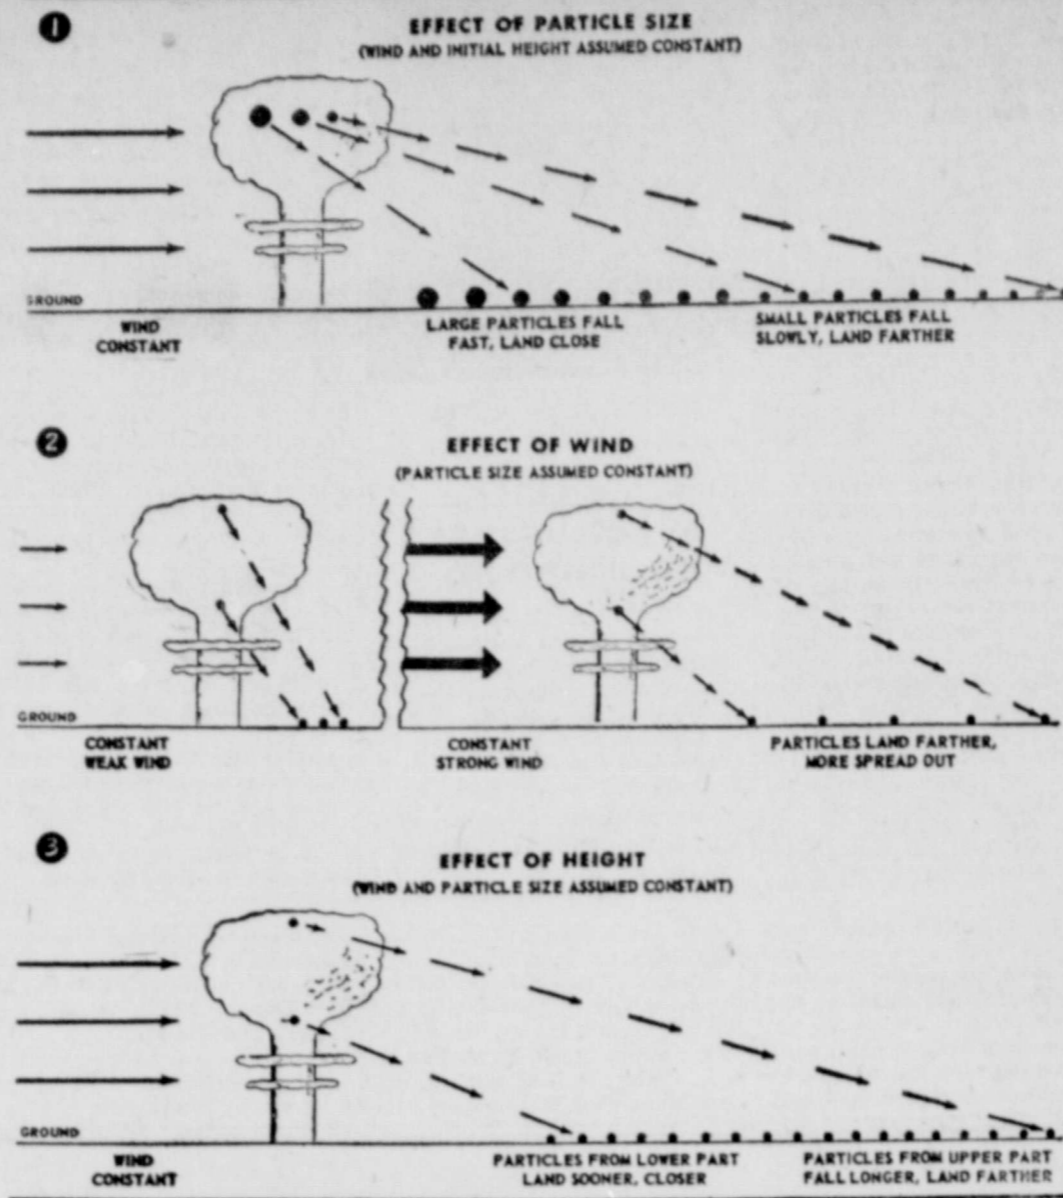

By 1964, it is estimated that 20 million gallons of liquid radioactive waste will be produced daily, Dr. Gloyna said in emphasizing the need for safe disposal of nuclear waste.

"The amount of radioactivity in this waste would be 20 times the total supply of radium used in the world today," he added.

Special advisors to Dr. Gloyna on the project will be Dr. Kenneth A. Kobe, chemical engineering professor; Dr. William R. Muehlberger, assistant professor of structural geology, and Dr. Frank Jessen, petroleum engineering professor.

The Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies is the only other group studying the disposal of radioactive wastes in underground salt formations.

What Is Fallout?

FACTORS AFFECTING FALLOUT distribution over countryside downwind from a nuclear blast are the size of the earth particles carrying the radioactivity, their altitude and the speed and direction of the wind. Generally, in the United States, the winds which would dominate the direction of fallout would be the strong, west-to-east winds at about 40,000 feet. For this reason, the Federal Civil Defense Administration warns that only weather experts, with their methods of tracking high-altitude winds, can predict with reasonable accuracy the area to be affected by fallout. Men with radiation monitoring instruments are also required to determine whether an area is "safe" from radio active fallout after a nuclear attack. (FCDA Photos)

Need for First Aid Training Stressed

Texans were reminded this week of the need for more of their number to take first aid training.

William L. McGill, state coordinator of defense and disaster relief, said a minimum of one member of every family should be a graduate in first aid. He also advised that one member of every family be trained in the home care of the sick.

McGill said the standard Red Cross first aid course is of particular importance to business and industry and all governmental agencies concerned with the protection of life and property.

"In times of general emergency, the doctors and nurses in your community will be too busy to respond to calls," McGill reminded. "When that time comes the individual trained in first aid can be of great help to his neighbors or fellow workers. Yet his services can be of inestimable value in the kind of emergency that happens every day—the common accident causing injury that requires attention until medical professionals can take over."

There are now 4,155 authorized instructors in first aid in Texas and Red Cross records indicate nearly 40,000 Texans received certificates of graduation in the standard course last year. In the same period the Red Cross also instructed 7,610 persons in the home care of the sick.

"Because the facilities for this

Three hearty meals a day is no guarantee of good health. It is what you eat and not how much that counts.

Strangely enough, in the richest agricultural nation on earth, an alarming percentage of the population is deficient in consumption of vital nutrients such as calcium and vitamin C. Even over weight people who eat high-calorie foods rarely get a real balanced diet.

The current popularity of high-calorie foods only tends to make some people fat, according to recent diet studies. A danger point is approached when these rich foods are widely available and the need so obvious, we are urging all who can to take an active part," McGill said.

Texas Professor To Begin Study Of Yellow Fever

Mosquitoes which carry the yellow fever virus, are the target of an intensive study by University of Texas Zoology Professor O. P. Breland.

Dr. Breland has a grant of $9,243 from the Department of Army, Office of the Surgeon General, to study the biology and distribution of the Haemagogus or jungle mosquito.

Several of these jungle mosquitoes were spotted in the Rio Grande Valley last fall. Dr. Breland will seek to discover how well established the mosquitoes are in the U. S., where they breed and under what conditions they are most likely to survive.

"In the last few years, it has been noticed that the yellow fever virus is moving northward," Dr. Breland reported. "It is possible, if the progression continues, that the virus will reappear in this country."

Only a few jungle mosquitoes have been found within U. S. boundaries, but the virus could reach epidemic proportions if once transmitted to the more common mosquito, Aedes aegypti, found in large number in the U. S.

Yellow fever virus, once stamped out in this country, has been kept alive in Central and South America. Though no longer common in humans in that region, the virus has been maintained through jungle mosquitoes, monkeys and other jungle animals.

MEN NEED VITAMIN C

Extension Service foods and nutrition specialists of Texas A & M College say that men over 50 generally need more food rich in vitamin C than do women of about the same age. Both groups probably need more protein and iron and less fat than most get in their daily diets.

Questions & Answers For Veterans

Q. I was discharged from the Army in January, 1955, so my deadline for starting Korean GI training is January, 1958—three years from discharge. I recently re-enlisted for three years, which means I will be on active duty when my starting deadline comes around. Can an exception be made in my case, so that I will be able to begin training after I leave service?

A. An exception to the three-year starting deadline is not possible. The law states that veterans must start Korean GI training within three years from their first discharge. It doesn't provide any exceptions.

Births Lead Deaths Four to One In Texas During Past Two Years

Over 800 births a day in Texas were recorded by the Division of Vital Statistics of the Texas State Department of Health during the last biennium, Sept. 1, 1954 to Aug. 31, 1956, an advance look at the department's biennial report shows.

During the same period, 134,045 deaths were recorded. This compares with a total of 624,408 births. Four births for each death coupled with the influx of newcomers making their homes in Texas has shot the Texas population well over the 8 1/2-million mark.

The Division of Vital Statistics is just one of 22 divisions under the State Department of Health, charged with the severe responsibility of watching over the health and sanitary level of the citizens and locales of Texas. The report shows that watching over the health of Texans is not enough. The health department corporates inspection, research, active aid, and education in its program of bettering the health standards of Texas and Texans.

Inspection and research walk hand in hand to evaluate the effects of local outbreaks of disease throughout the state. Aid is then rendered if at all possible. Following closely in the footsteps of research, education of the public in the many advances and improvements in public health comes as a matter of course. Some of the time education is concerned not so much with advances as with commonplace health procedures, which Texans occasionally seem to neglect.

Every drink of water, every bite of food, and even each breath of air comes under the careful scrutiny of one or more divisions. At night, before counting that last sheep, you might consider that the mattress on which you sleep—if manufactured or sold in Texas—has been O.K.'d by the Bedding Division.

The complexity of the Bedding Division's duties alone during the past biennium can be shown by a total of 40,412 separate violations to the State bedding law

Irrigation Booklet Available From Texas A & M

Cotton farmers should find the information given in a new Texas Agricultural Experiment Station publication, B-838, Guides in Cotton Irrigation, most helpful in setting up their plans for another crop year.

Authors of the new publication are E. L. Thaxton, Jr., assistant irrigation engineer, at the Lubbock substation and N. P. Nelson, irrigation engineer, A.R.S., Lincoln, Neb., but formerly of the Amarillo Experiment Station.

Covered in the bulletin are the results of studies conducted at Lubbock and Tulla on the use of irrigation water by cotton. The research workers found that cotton yields in pounds of lint per inch of water were about the same for all moisture levels studied but in general, the high moisture levels are the most profitable.

They say that because cotton can use varying amounts of water efficiently, it is an easier crop to irrigate than grain sorghums. They emphasize that the most important irrigation is the one done before the cotton crop is planted. Getting water stored in the soil for the upcoming cotton crop, they say, can go a long way toward supplying the moisture required for maximum crop production.

Recommendations are listed in the bulletin on water management, cultural practices, along with brief statements on methods of irrigation and fiber quality.

Copies of the publication are available from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station.

Cattle Need Vitamin A

Feed containing a good source of vitamin A should be provided this winter for cattle on drought-stricken pastures, suggests P. T. Marion, animal husbandman for the experiment station at Spur.

Such feeds as cottonseed meal and hulls, sorghum grain, dry sorghum bundles, prairie hay and weathered Johnsongrass hay contain little or no vitamin A.

Green feed was not available in much of Texas this year and cattle could not store in their bodies enough of this essential vitamin to supply their minimum requirements until grass turns green next spring.

Vitamin A deficiency symptoms in young cattle are night blindness followed by swelling of the joints, watering of the eyes and a tendency toward respiratory ailments. Under severe long-time deficiency conditions, calves, yearlings and two-year-olds may become day blind, have convulsions and eventually die.

One to four pounds of this year's alfalfa hay will provide a minimum supply of vitamin A, Marion said. Twenty pounds of sorghum silage daily per head will do for cows. Short grazing periods on good wheat pasture or similar crops also are good.

Commercial feeds fertilized with synthetic vitamin A may be fed. Cows weighing 1,000 pounds can be fed fortified cottonseed cake or protein pellets at a cost for the added vitamin A of one-cent per head daily, Marion said.

If fish oil products are used, Marion suggests that only one month's supply be bought at a time because this form of vitamin A is not as stable as other synthetic products.

Wintering experiments conducted at the Spur station show that some protein supplement should be fed with silage. Cows receiving silage alone had a lower calf crop and the calves were lighter than when fortified or unfortified cake was fed.

Geese Line Up To Drink In Dry Coastal Area

Wild geese, desperate for fresh water, flew in an aerial queue to take their turns at stale ditch water, stated a field report from the coastal plains area of Texas.

Biologist J. R. Singleton, of the Wildlife Restoration division of the Game and Fish Commission, pointed out the thirsty geese, comprising both snows and blues, were so dry that they ignored their ordinarily severe security tactics.

The incident occurred before recent showers that brought limited temporary relief to some Gulf marshes.

Singleton, who specializes in waterfowl research for the Commission, stated:

"The geese were feeding in a newly harvested rice field along side of a major water irrigation canal, and in order to get water, the birds were flying up and hovering just over the canal. As those in the canal moved out a new bunch moved in. The canal was totally dry except for a few small scattered puddles. Those geese were after the small amount of stale muddy water and were actually lined up awaiting their turn to drop down into the canal. Now you can imagine that this is not the usual procedure, for geese are much too smart to get themselves trapped in a small limited opening where a fast getaway could not be made. We had to watch for a few minutes to realize why the geese were hovering just over the canal. Then we drove on down the highway, which crossed the canal, and were able to look down the canal and observe the operation."

REASONS I AM A CHRISTIAN ONLY

I could not be a member of any church for which I could not cite Bible authority for its origin. Jesus said: "Every plant which my heavenly father hath not planted shall be rooted up." (Matt. 15:13) In such a church my labor would be lost, and would be in opposition to that purpose which Christ came into the world, to save the lost.

I could not be a member of a church whose designation is not according to the scriptures. If it is the church of Christ wearing some other name, it is guilty of hypocrisy and unfaithfulness to Christ. If it is honestly wearing the name not found in the Bible then it is not the church for which Jesus died. If it be the right church with the wrong name, it is hypocritical and misleading, and if it is honest in wearing the wrong name, it is the wrong church. (Matt. 16:18; Rom. 16:16)

I could not be a member of a church whose plan of salvation I cannot quote in Bible terms. For that reason I could not belong to any church that teaches salvation by faith only. I could cite scripture for salvation by faith, but never for it by "faith only". "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved" Mk. 16:16) The Bible says definitely salvation is not by faith alone. (Jas. 2:24) I could not be a member of any church that declared it was.

I could not be a member of any church that admitted it was a denomination. A denomination is a part, a division. The New Testament Church is all! Paul asked, "Is Christ divided?" (1 Cor. 1:13). A follower of Christ cannot be a party to divisions.

The foregoing are some of the reasons I am a Christian, a Christian only; just a member of the church of Christ. These are some of the reasons I ask you to learn more about the Bible and the church the Lord established. Everything we do and say in the work and worship of the church of Christ is specifically authorized in the New Testament. Investigate.

Draft Boards Register 6,018 Texans in October

A total of 6,018 Texans registered in the state's 137 draft boards during October, or with volunteer registrars in many small towns and cities.

Colonel Morris S. Schwartz state Selective Service director, said registration for October was "up to normal." He said registration during the summer months was "not up to expectations."

Colonel Schwartz said that, from official reports which have reached him recently, some young men take needless trips from their communities to draft boards to register when there is an officially appointed registrar living near them.

He said the state Selective Service headquarters recently had ordered registration posters to place in state high schools to keep young men turning 18 reminded of their obligation to register and to direct them to the nearest registrar.

The federal draft law requires all males to register with a draft board on their 18th birthday, or within five days thereafter. If they are not at home at the time, they are required to go to the nearest board or registrar.

A young man who registers away from home can be sure he is assigned to the board in his home area if he gives his place of residence in his home area as his address.

Since the present draft law was enacted in 1948, all males born since August 30, 1922, have had and now have a legal obligation to register, except those not yet 18. Failure to obey the law can mean a fine up to $10,000, 5 years in prison, or both.

Hunter Aid Asked in 'Bucks for Buckskin'

By Grady Hill
Red and Rifle Editor
San Angelo Standard-Times

San Angelo Occupational therapy, which doctors consider almost as important as medicine and rest to bring tuberculosis victims back to normal lives, was just a theory in State Tuberculosis hospitals until buckskin came along.

Somebody discovered that soft, pliable, durable buckskin was an ideal vehicle for handwork. From then on supplying the tanned leather to the eager patients became a problem.

At first, cooperating groups footed the bill for shipping and tanning the hides donated by hunters. The supply grew, and likewise the costs. Motor freight carriers came to the rescue, carrying the "charity" marked rolls of hides free.

Donation of the hides by hunters has become traditional. The supply seems assured. The tanning expense is the major problem. So now it's up to somebody to foot the tanning bill, which averages $2 a hide wholesale.

Hunters, taxidermists and locker plant operators are asked to ship donated hides, cleaned, salted and rolled—and plainly marked "charity" for the free motor freight line transportation, to:

L. M. Rathbone
Austin Taxidermist Studio
2708 Fredericksburg Road
Austin, Texas.

The Austin taxidermist, working with the Volunteer Council for State Tuberculosis Hospitals, will see to the tanning chore—as long as the actual cost funds will allow.

Hunters this weekend will find tanning donation receptacles, carrying the legend "Bucks for Buckskin," set up at strategic sportsmen's centers in Mason, Llano, Fredericksburg, Kerrville, Junction, Rocksprings, Sonora and other "deer towns."

At least 90 per cent of the 2,500 tuberculosis patients in the state hospitals at San Angelo (McKnight), Kerrville (Legion), San Antonio, Harlingen and Tyler can be helped in occupational therapy during the next year if the fund

Hard To Maneuver In Yankee Stadium Thompson Gets Picture In Spite of Policeman

Note: This is the first of a series of articles written by E. P. Thompson, while on his assignment to New York City last week.

E. P. THOMPSON
I was given a report of the game yesterday. (Sunday, Nov. 27.) I was up early as usual and read the baseball news in the fourth series game. The Yankees were a 6-2 victory over the Dodgers, making it a 2-2 tie.

On Sunday morning, my plane turned to my Sunday class at home, although I had arrangements with Nat to teach in my absence. I had to go to the stadium to see the game.

I arrived there at noon, so I had an hour to get some good pictures of the players, stadium and the fans as they began to fill the stands. The bleachers were already filled.

I wanted to have my camera checked by someone who knew his business; so I decided to try and make my way to the press box. That's where the boys who operate the cameras that take the pictures you see on your television screen work. I was stopped by at least a dozen ushers who told me I could not go up there.

I kept walking and they said those policemen would throw me out. I kept walking and talking in the direction of the press box. Finally I got to within 100 feet of the box, and a policeman threw up his hand and asked, "Where are you going?" I told him I was going to see the cameraman and have my camera checked. He said you can't go up there. We argued a few minutes, then I said, "Look here, cap, I am from Texas and came 3,000 miles to get some pictures for my grandson who plays in the Little League. The policeman patted me on the shoulder and said, "Go on, pop."

The cameraman checked my camera and said some nice things about it. After getting by with this, I figured the same strategy would work on getting down to the dugout. It worked and I got some excellent pictures of the players, and some good views of their batting practices right from the top of the dugout. I went back to my seat and rested and watched the crowd. I decided to take another chance on getting through out; so began working my way down to the right field fence. I got some views of Mickey Mantle making those run-back catches for which he is famous.

Yankees beat Dodgers 6-2. Mantle and Bauer hit home runs. This evened the series. Dodgers tied with three on base. Tom Sturdevant pitched the Sunday game to pull the Yanks to a tie.

I had finished reading the 10 verses of the 7th of Luke, the superintendent's surprise called on me.

Sodolitan Class Meets In Home of Mrs. L. Wilson

The Sodolitan Class of the First Baptist Church met in the home of Mrs. Leonard Wilson on Thursday evening, Nov. 22. Mrs. Anna Mauck and Mrs. Bill Merrill were co-hostesses for the evening.

Mrs. L. G. Rasco offered the opening prayer and Mrs. Hulda Wilson gave the devotional from the 100th Psalm.

Mrs. Leonard Wilson conducted the business session at which time reports were given by the secretary and group leaders.

Mrs. J. W. Fitzjarrald gave a Thanksgiving story and the group sang the class song. Mrs. Bud Godfrey offered the closing prayer.

Guests and members attending were Mrs. Bonnie Isaac and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hartman. Mr. Weatherby's niece, Mrs. Weldon Snider, was hostess at a between-Thanksgiving dinner.

Beef Week in Texas, Dec. 2-8

Faith in what we are doing and confidence in our ability to do it are two prime requisites for success in any endeavor or enterprise, whether undertaken individually or as a group. Long hailed as strong believers in this positive philosophy—expressed in the story of the little freight locomotive, pulling up a long grade, painting, "I know I can, I know I can,"—are the rugged, hard-working individualists who make up the Texas cattle industry.

Several years ago, the cattlemen, concerned over beef surpluses, nettled by talk of price supports and subsidies and angered by proposed federal buying programs, gathered together and decided to tackle their problems in the good American free-enterprise way. The cow men decided they didn't believe there was over-production of beef—just under-consumption. Banding together under the banner of the Texas Beef Council, the industry set out to persuade Texans to eat more beef.

Pausing next week to observe "Beef Week in Texas"—the third such state-wide event to be proclaimed by the Governor—cattlemen are pointing to a recent survey of meat retailers strongly indicating Texans tend to agree with the Council's widely-circulated slogan, "Texans Eat Beef Every Day." Over 700 stores contacted reported Texans are purchasing 16 per cent more beef this year than last, when we ate 17% more than in 1954.

Equally important is a second survey which points out that overall meat production during the next few months will just about equal demand. This is good news for everybody. It means the consumer gets a price break and the cow folk are building a stable, year-round market for their product.

Has Rigor Mortis Finally Overtaken Our Town?

It is now a matter of record that our chamber of commerce is supported by one percent of the people of Collingsworth county. This is an amazing thing! If the chamber were an organization operating for the benefit of, say, five per cent of the people of this county, then it would seem logical that maybe only one percent of the people supported it. But here is an organization devoted in its entirety to the good of all the people in Collingsworth County . . . yet only one person in every hundred will support it!

Now this 99% who do not support the chamber will readily tell you what is wrong with our county. They will tell you that we need more payroll, more industry, more people with steady weekly incomes; but they never seem to get around to realizing that there is only one organization devoted to securing these things for our county. They deplore the fact that the chamber of commerce is powerless to act, when an opportunity comes along where our county has a chance to secure a small industry and payroll. They never stop to think that it is powerless because only one percent of the people support it!

To put it bluntly, plainly and to the point, ours is a town where the great majority of the citizens are "over-the hump" in life. The majority no longer has the will or the urge to progress. We are willing to let things rock along—down hill (because that's the only way a town will go when we just sit back and let "George do it"). And when a new comer comes along who wants to try and change things, this great old majority of the past, ups and tells him: "If you don't like our town, why don't you move on? We like it here; and we were doing alright before you came." This makes a good joke and gets lots of laughs—and really makes the jackass who says it look very smart for the moment—but the fact is staring us right in the face that it hasn't helped Wellington any; and to our sorrow, most of these young folks are moving on!—Charles Allen in The Wellington Leader.

Press Paragraphs — QUOTING OUR NEIGHBORS

Gosh, Just Like The Dirty 30's!

A depression hasn't hit the country yet, and most people feel pretty safe when their money is in the bank. However, they may be a little surprised to know that the local bank ran completely out of the green stuff Saturday morning. This unusual development, however, should not entitle depositors to make a "run" on the institution to recover their cash. There were some good reasons behind the embarrassment. Farm laborers who have flocked to the area this fall settle up with their employers on Saturday, and it is at that time they all make for town to get their checks cashed. Friona State Bank officials usually estimate the amount of cash which will be needed to meet the payroll, and lay in a supply accordingly. This week, however, they miscalculated a little. It was with a sigh of relief that they closed the doors at noon behind their last customer. Another one of almost any importance would have "busted" the bank. Charles Allen, cashier, says the employees were sweating it out. When the door clicked shut there were two $1 bills and four $2 left. All the $5 and $10 notes were gone. —The Friona Star

Big Plane

Only three years away is a fleet of passenger airplanes in regularly scheduled flights that will fly quietly "high above the weather" from New York to Mexico City in four hours. By 1961 there will not be a fleet but fleets of these giants of the air. Such "ships" are already on the drawing board. Manufacturers are already making and storing the metals that will be used in their construction. The specifications call for a plane that will be taller than the First National Bank, just about the same length, but a half-block wide. They will operate at 500-600 miles per hour for 4,000 miles without refueling and will carry 135 passengers. One of the results of this new way of travel will be the effect on the ways of thinking of the people. New way of doing, new ways of thinking. Already many find their outlook outmoded. Air travel will have an increasing part in these changes. —The Floyd County Hesperian

23rd Amendment

The 23rd Amendment to the U. S. Constitution was approved by Republicans and disgruntled Democrats to insure that no other president the likes of Franklin Roosevelt would ever hold office of president more than two terms. It was also used as a weapon to get Harry Truman off their backs when he proved a better vote-getter than anybody expected. Now comes President Eisenhower, along with the big-wigs of his party, to declare that the two-term limit on the presidency is a "bad thing." Now the GOP claims that the people should be allowed to select their president without any constitutional restrictions on the number of terms he may serve. That's real funny, is it not? A third term is a bad thing with a Democrat in office, but to bar a Republican from a third term is "denying the American people from a free choice" in choosing their leader! As a Democrat, we realized the 23rd amendment for what it was—a gimmick to get rid of Roosevelt and Truman. But we were in favor of limiting the president's terms to two. And we still are. What the politicians did out of partisan spite has turned out to be, for once, a boon to democracy. During the coming session, Congress will be asked to repeal the 23rd amendment. We hope this move fails, not because of Democrats or Republicans, but because people have demonstrated how easy it is for them to elect a man who can and will perpetuate himself in office through a series of "national emergencies" and emerge a full-fledged dictator. —The Raf's Banner

Clips and Quips

We learn from editor Charles Voigt of the Orange (Calif.) News that a friend of his, Mrs. T. B. M. Hicks, associate editor of the Dallas (Pa.) Post, threatens in her "Pillar to Post" column to write a book. Mrs. Hicks figures that anybody who has worked on any newspaper as long as she has has ample material not only for a book but enough to turn any community inside out. She says she's going to call her volume "Just Cancel My Subscription." Here are some of the chapter headings:

- "Say it with Brickbats."
 - "You Aren't Going to Put THAT in the Paper?"
 - "Go Ahead and Sue."
 - "We're VERY Sorry."
 - "If You Can't Stop Leaving my POST in the Wrong Mailbox, You Can Just . . ."
 - "Well, He Was DRUNK, Wasn't he?"
 - "It Must Have Happened in the Back Room."
 - "No, Mrs. Blodgett, It's Too Late."
 - "The Story was OK When It Left My Typewriter."
 - "More Than A Newspaper, A Mental Institution."
 - "You Left My Name Off The List."
 - "I Thought You Were My Friend."
 - "Where's that Cut of Mrs. Specknoodle?"
- Editor Voigt adds his own comments: "While we hesitate to offer any suggestions to an old timer like Mrs. Hicks, we do feel

H. J. HOWELL NEW CHAIRMAN OF RED CROSS CHAPTER
 H. J. Howell was named chairman of the Hall County Chapter of the American Red Cross last week, succeeding W. B. Wilson, who has served in this capacity for the past two years. Howell is manager of the J. C. Penney store in Memphis, and has been active in civic affairs since moving here in June, 1945. He is now serving as chairman of the board of trustees of the First Baptist Church, and as a deacon of the church. Another activity to which Howell is devoting much time is the local Girl Scout organization, of which he is vice president.

In addition to Howell, the following officers are serving with the local Red Cross chapter: E. M. Duren, vice-chairman; Miss Maria Baskerville, secretary; and Edwin A. Smith, Jr., treasurer.

FRIENDSHIP SCHOOL CLOSING; STUDENTS COME TO MEMPHIS — Because of unavoidable circumstances, Friendship school has to close for the remainder of this year, Mary Foreman, county superintendent, announced this week. Arrangements have been made to send the Friendship students and one teacher to Memphis for the remainder of the school year.

Beginning Monday morning, December 2, the students who have been attending Friendship school will come to Memphis. Students in the first four grades will go to West Ward, adjoining the high school, and students in grades through seven will go to High School. MEMPHIS ALL STAR PLAY WELLINGTON GIVING DAY — After defeat at the hands of the Clarendon Junior College on Friday night, the Memphis Stars have added a new player to their team. It was reported this week that the Memphis Stars were preparing for the game scheduled at Cyclone Stadium Saturday afternoon when the Wellington All-Stars will start at 2 o'clock.

"After seeing the Clarendon tilt we can be a hard fought and tight game," Herbert Curry, manager said this week. Memphis All-Stars had a victory in last Friday's game. Coaches Buster Ham and Harrison have stated that the team will be ready to go Thursday.

New Task-Force 57 Chevrolet Trucks!

They "flattened" Yukon mountains with the most modern truck V8's of all!

Rated G.V.W. of these payload-carrying heavyweights goes all the way up to 32,000 pounds!

New V8-powered '57 Chevrolet trucks, heavily loaded, made one of the world's toughest roads look easy! In a straight-through test run, they rolled over the famous ALCAN Highway to Alaska—in less than 45 hours (normally a 72-hour run). Here's proof-in-action of power that'll handle your toughest jobs—and keep coming back for more!

Whatever your job, there's an Alcan-proved Chevrolet Task-Force truck ready right now to save you time and money!

Six new Task-Force huskies made the run. And six modern Chevy engines proved their power and performance—with gas mileage up to 18.17 miles per gallon! The engines were not stopped once, and they burned along at peak efficiency the entire 1,520 miles! Chevy's big V8's—including the new 283-cu.-in. Super Taskmaster—turned in top performance jobs. They handled typical loads up and down towering grades and through washouts that sucked wheels into hub-deep mud. They roared on through miles of heavy dust that narrowed visibility to a few hundred feet. And in spite of the varying altitudes and temperatures, not a single truck was forced to drop out or turn back! Stop by and see them soon!

Proved on the Alcan Highway Champs of every weight class!

Annual TB Fight Gets Underway

Ninety-three thousand pounds of TB-killing material will go through Uncle Sam's mail this week in Texas, the Texas Tuberculosis Association announced.

Its magic will be spread in post office boxes throughout the State. By itself the material will not kill tuberculosis, but it provides a means of controlling the disease which yearly causes more deaths than all other infections and parasitic diseases combined. That disease is tuberculosis.

Those 93,000 pounds are Christmas Seals.

In the 50 years since the first bright bit of gummed paper appeared on the American scene, much has happened to tuberculosis control. Because of money that was brought in by those bits of paper, 3,000 TB associations dot the country, working slowly but tellingly against what was, a half-century ago, the nation's No. 1 killer, the Association said.

Today, because of contributions of the voluntary TB movement, research and medical knowledge have been able to cut the death rate from the disease 68 per cent in Texas in the past 10 years.

Perhaps from the comfort Texans have derived from that scaled-down death rate, complacency has set in. But not enough has been done to keep the disease from pulling down new patients. Last year, more new cases of TB were reported in Texas than were found the year before, the association continued.

Tuberculosis is still a threat as proved by the fact that the nation spends $600 million each year to treat and control it.

Tuberculosis is still a threat as proven by the fact that the average patient spends 15 months in the hospital before his case is marked "arrested," they reported.

Tuberculosis is still a threat when men and women refuse to be hospitalized, or leave a hospital before their cases are non-infectious, and go back into everyday life, infecting others with the disease, the association continued.

Turkey Shoot -

Gusty winds sailed the birds up, out, and sideways, causing everybody trouble in hitting the target.

In the "lucky shotgun" tilts, the patterns were scattered and full of holes, and generally off-center, a fact that was attributed to dirt in the eyes, gusts of wind at the wrong time etc.

Big bore rifle competition fared little better, with blasts of wind making a cool trigger squeeze a theoretical procedure.

Deer Movement Proved Scant

Further evidence that wild deer do range over comparatively small areas has been reported by the Director of Wildlife Restoration for the Game and Fish Commission.

He cited a trapping and tagging experiment which is being conducted by wildlife biologists in the Hill Country which shows that the greatest distance traveled by any one marked deer was about two and one-half miles from the original trapping point. All deer were native whitetails and the work is being carried out in Mason, Gillespie and Llano Counties.

The trap sites were selected in the fall and winter of 1954, and deer were trapped and marked with metal tags in both areas before release at the trap. Deer movements were noted through re-trapping, check station examination, and returns of bags from successful hunters. A total of 168 deer were trapped and tagged during the winter 1954-55 and 1955-56. Forty-one deer were retrapped the first year and 49 the second for a total of 90 head. The greatest verified movement of a trapped deer was two and one quarter miles. Many retrapped animals were caught in the same trap where they had been tagged while others were taken in traps not over one-fourth mile distant from the original trapping site.

These experiments, said the Director of Wildlife Restoration, are a vital part of studies necessary to the formation of modern game management techniques.

The results of this study demonstrate that deer will not leave their home range, even during times of critical food shortage. Because of this tendency, overpopulations build up in certain areas, and if surplus is not removed by proper harvest methods, many deer are lost through starvation.

not doing the job but that something can be worked out by corrections and amendments to the law." Farm Bureau officials were charged with working toward correcting these inequities, he stated.

Stanley Garnett, of Spearman, was elected to represent this district at the National Convention in Chicago, Dec. 9-11. Donna Black, Dumas queen candidate from this district, placed second in the judging, Mitchell said. The winner was Joann Vaughn of Tulla.

An increase of approximately 10,000 members was reported as a result of the recent statewide membership drive, he continued. Texas will probably lead the south in Farm Bureau membership this year, Mitchell said.

He concluded by saying that approximately 64 resolutions were passed by the convention and that copies of these are available at the local Farm Bureau office to anyone who would like to see the Farm Bureau stand on different issues.

Winterizing of Farm Machinery Will Save Money

A hard freeze can play havoc with auxiliary motors, tractor engines and sprayers unless they have been properly winterized, says W. L. Ulich, Texas A&M agricultural engineer.

Auxiliary motors should be cleaned; the crankcase drained and refilled with new oil and the motor run for a few minutes to coat all surfaces with oil. The radiator should be drained and flushed with a reliable radiator cleaner and then flushed again with clear water, Ulich continued.

Remove the spark plugs. Give them a good cleaning and adjust and oil before replacing them, says Ulich. The upper cylinder walls should be lubricated while the plugs are out. Drain the fuel tank and allow to air dry. Cover the end of the exhaust and breather pipes to prevent moisture from entering the motor. Clean and charge the battery and store it where it will not freeze.

To winterize spray equipment, the engineer advises flushing the entire system. Open all valves while the pump is running to release any trapped water and remove and place all valve balls in oil. Drain the oil from the pump and flush with kerosene; refill the pump with new oil. Grease and turn shafts to distribute the grease so all water drains out.

Give all machinery a good cleaning. Pack bearings to seal out moisture; remove belts and canvasses and store in a dry, rodent-proof container and apply a rust inhibitor to all polished surfaces such as plow moldboards and sieves. While this job is being done, Ulich suggests a close inspection of all machinery for broken, bent or worn parts. Repairs or replacements can be made during the winter.

ment bears the full amount of this subsidy. In addition to the emergency feed grain assistance, eligible applicants are helped to buy hay or other approved roughage to maintain their basic herds. Under this program applicants receive a Federal subsidy of $7.50 per ton of roughage actually bought.

Regulations that guide FHA county committees in the review of applications provide that if they are financially able to obtain the necessary feed for their basic herds without difficulty and can continue their normal farming and livestock operations. It is not expected that applicants will exhaust their total resources, including credit, before they can be certified for this assistance, McKay advised.

"However," McKay added, "the fact that the purchase of feed at regular prices may not be profitable to the applicant is not sufficient grounds to qualify him for assistance. It must be determined in every instance that an applicant is primarily engaged in farming or ranching and that other sources would not necessarily disqualify the applicant. The overriding factor in determining the eligibility of any applicant is his financial ability to obtain feed necessary to maintain his basic herds and continue his normal operations. An applicant whose financial circumstances are such that he can provide necessary feed for his basic herds and carry on his operations without serious difficulty is not eligible for this assistance."

Under the present designation applications may be filed through Dec. 3, 1956 for a supply of feed grain and roughage to carry basic livestock herds through Dec. 31, 1956.
