Rainstorm Lashes Area Saturday

INDIAN CREEK BRIDGE DAMAGE—Deputy Sheriff Elmer Neel looks down into the deep hole left by flood waters when they washed away the roadbed at the end of the Indian Creek Bridge west of Memphis. The waters hit the bridge late Saturday night and the paving collapsed about 11 a. m. Sunday morning.

Total Moisture For Year Now 9.72 Inches

Rain! Rain! Rain!—for more days in succession than most residents can remember. That was the story all over Hall County this week as farmers watched the fields soaking up the moisture. The rain started in a stormy way Saturday night leaving the Indian Creek bridge unpassable, almost washing out a cement culvert on Highway 287 near Giles and damaging many terraces in the Lakeview-Lesley area. The hardest rain Saturday night hit the Lakeview area about midnight and dumped as much as seven inches in most rain gauges and more than that amount in others. A little hail accompanied the storm during its beginning but did little damage to the area. The hail, however, is reported to have piled up as high as nine inches in some areas in Donley County. All reports indicate that Hall and Donley counties received (Continued on Page Ten)

MR. FARMER:

does your soil need a doctor?

Even the best of soils should periodically have a "physical check-up" to see if they are ready to produce at peak efficiency.

We believe it is good advice to have your soil tested at Texas A & M College. Ask your county agent about soil tests, or come in and discuss this with one of our officers.

Only properly fertilized soils can produce maximum profits. You can find what your soil needs in the way of basic plant foods only by an analysis. It will pay you to see a "soil doctor."

Cowpeas, Sorghum Make Good Mixture For County Farms

Many cooperators in the Hall County Soil Conservation District will be planting grain sorghum as soon as weather permits. It would be a good idea to mix a few cowpeas with the grain sorghum seed in order to obtain more organic matter for the soil, SCS Technician William C. Swindle said.
In view of the recent good rains, an excellent opportunity exists to get the practice of interplanting cowpeas with other crops into operation.
Organic matter helps the soil to take up and hold more moisture which is a great help in this area, he continued. Cowpeas along with grain sorghums can furnish much of this organic matter as well as furnish a lot of nitrogen.
The sandy soils of the district are especially deficient in nitrogen and organic matter, Swindle commented. Of course the cowpeas would need to be inoculated with a cowpea culture in order to get the best results. Other beneficial results are also obtained when cowpeas are interplanted with other crops.
For additional information, contact the local Soil Conservation Service or your Hall County Soil Conservation District Supervisor.

TIME NEAR FOR NOTARY PUBLICS TO RE-QUALIFY

Secretary of State Zollie Steakley has announced that he will reappoint persons now holding notary public commissions but that such persons must re-qualify by the filing of a new oath and bond with the county clerk of his residence between June 1, 1957, and June 10, 1957.
Steakley emphasized that notaries public should not send requests for reappointment or for commissions directly to the Secretary of State. The law specifically requires the county clerks to approve notary bonds.
Any person not now a notary public who desires appointment should apply to his county clerk between May 1, 1957, and May 20, 1957. Application during this period will assure prompt attention before the rush procedure of reappointing present notaries.
Secretary of State Steakley further pointed out that each person applying for a commission as a notary public must be at least 21 years of age and a resident of the county for which he is appointed. The exact name and permanent address of the applicant must be furnished the county clerk.

Visitation Day for Memphis Pre-School Children Is Featured Here Tuesday

Visitation day for Memphis pre-school children was held Tuesday, beginning at 10:30 a. m. in the Memphis High School auditorium in observance of the annual spring round-up sponsored by the local public schools and P-TA units.

The mothers and children, who will begin their first year of school in September, 1957, were greeted by the Stephen F. Austin P-TA president, Mrs. Zeno Lemons, who stated that "one day of school did not seem too great to an adult, but to a small child, it is indeed eventful, and sometimes a strenuous undertaking," and continuing she said, "so that it is with this one day, spent visiting in the first grade rooms and getting acquainted with the future teachers, and eating lunch in the school cafeterias, that we hope to remove some of the fear and anxiety that arises with the first day of school. We hope that it makes the child look forward with anticipation to the future years to be spent in school."

W. C. Davis, superintendent, extended a welcome and explained briefly the medical record form sent to the parents. He asked that they be compiled and returned to the elementary schools, or to either of the P-TA presidents, Mrs. Lemons or Mrs. Gene Lindsey, in order that each child's medical history will be immediately available in event that such information should be needed.

In further explaining the helpfulness of the visitation day, Mr. Davis said "It is the child's first step into another world; his first few days in school, when for the first time for many children, that he is away from his mother. He must learn to adjust to these new surroundings and make new friends. Parents have to also adjust themselves to their children's new surroundings and understand their problems completely before they can be helpful to that child, and to also learn to share their children with the teacher who has the child's best interest at heart."

"Upon the first day in school," he continued, "each child is presented a diploma stating that he has successfully completed the first day of school."

Concluding, Mr. Davis said, "Each child that is well adjusted and happy the first year in school, will enjoy and love school and make a good student throughout his entire school life, and it is that goal that we are striving to attain."

Upon completion of this talk, Mr. Davis passed a story book, "Happy Landings for the Beginners Who Are Coming to School," to be read by both parents and then shared with their child before he enters school in September.

A film to familiarize the parents of the method used, and the research and testing associated, with the manufacture and making available for the public, of the Salk vaccine used to immunize against polio was shown, through the courtesy of the National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis.

Urging that the polio vaccination be a prerequisite to school attendance, the Texas Medical Association's policy-making body, the house of delegates, passed a resolution at a meeting Monday, April 29, in Dallas, saying "the local board of education should require that each child be immunized against smallpox, poliomyelitis, diphtheria and tetanus as a prerequisite to school attendance," it was announced.

Upon completion of the film, the pre-school children boarded school buses and were transported to their respective school, where they were greeted by the school's principals, Miss Ethel Hillhouse of Travis and B. J. Thomson of Austin, and were guests of the Memphis Public Schools for lunch and visited with the first grade teachers until school dismissed at 2:30 o'clock. First grade teachers in the schools are Mrs. C. H. Morris, Stephen F. Austin; and Mrs. Bessie Newton and Miss Esta McElrath of Wm. B. Travis.

Twenty pre-school age children and their mothers were registered by Mrs. H. C. Pounds of the health committee of Wm. B. Travis.

TAX TIPS

from the office of James Z. Pearce, Amarillo, Texas

The Amarillo office of the Internal Revenue Service reminded all taxpayers subject to the withholding tax this week that it is extremely important for them to keep employers advised of all changes in their exemptions.

Pearce warned that "One of the common difficulties experienced by the Service is straightening out erroneous withholding tax certificates."

Keeping one's employer posted concerning exemption status benefits both the employer and Revenue Service.

It enables the employer to maintain accurate records in both his own bookkeeping accounts and in his payment of these taxes to IRS. The Revenue Service is enabled to make more quickly accurate analysis of the taxpayer's return.

If a taxpayer's exemptions have changed, he should obtain at once a new certificate (Form W-4), fill it out and return to his employer. This should be done immediately especially when dependence changes have an application to the current year.

Such factors as marriage, divorce, the birth of a child or assumption of a recognized dependent may alter an individual's tax status.

Taxpayers who find that their withholding bracket does not satisfy their indebtedness may if they wish reduce or omit exemption claims to increase withholding deductions to an annual total figure approximately satisfying their tax owed. Similarly, persons with small additional incomes beyond that on which tax is withheld may follow this practice to avoid heavy tax payments as the April 15 deadline each year.

Victory S. S. Class Observes 13th Birthday Tuesday

The Victory Sunday School Class of the First Methodist Church celebrated its thirteenth birthday with a banquet in the class room on Tuesday evening, April 23. The decorating committee, guided by Mrs. Wyley Whitley, used the idea of Happiness for their motif.

The tables, set in the shape of "V," were centered by wishing wells and made colorful with china birds, flower arrangements, and many-colored butterflies.

After a sing-song during the arrival of the guests, the members gathered for the dinner. Invocation was pronounced by Reverend David Binkley, pastor; George Archer, accompanied by Miss Walter Smith, sang "The Evening Prayer"; Miss Vernelle Butler played two accordion numbers: "Whispering Hope" and "It Is No Secret."

Elmont Branigan gave a brief synopsis of the year's activities; the president, John W. Smith, and the secretary, Mrs. Ernest Foster, were presented with Bibles. The speaker of the evening was John T. Forbis, district attorney, of Childress. He spoke on the value and the responsibility of talking in public, reminding his listeners that each man's responsibility is commensurate with his talents.

Bobbie Lemons, Judy Lemons, Elaine Clayton, Jean Foxhall, Audrey Beth Burnett, and Linda Fields served as waitresses.

Shakespeare, according to estimates, never made a continuous journey as far as a round trip from Boston to New York.

Quebec, Canada is the only walled city in North America.

Bonnie Merriman of Amarillo Guest Speaker at B&PW Club Banquet

Mrs. Bonnie Merriman of Amarillo was principal speaker Friday evening when members of the B&PW Club entertained with the annual banquet. The meeting was held in the Masonic dining room.

The hall was attractively decorated for the occasion. Tables were laid with pastel shade colored cloths. Centering the head table was an umbrella fashioned of flowers and ribbons. Further accenting the chosen theme, places were marked with miniature umbrellas.

Topps Gilreath, president of the club, served as toastmistress for the evening. Following her word of welcome, the response was given by Buster Helm, mayor.

Miss Roselyn Williams, who is state treasurer, and presented her with a corsage. Nell Beeson, in turn, recognized President Gilreath for her service and presented her with the National B & P W club pen.

Guests for the evening were introduced by the various members. Miss Gilreath then presented Mrs. Ralph Williams, program chairman, who introduced the evening's program.

Preceding Mrs. Merriman's address, members of the Morning-side chorus sang three selections.

Taking as her subject, "Time," Mrs. Merriman gave a most interesting and entertaining talk. "Time, like the poor, is always with you," she said. "It begins at our birth and ends at our death. I think we can agree, then, that one of the biggest problems in everybody's life is how to spend his time."

"There is an old saying that 'time is money.' Of course, it isn't. It is much better than money. The mints of our country never coined anything as precious as a second, a minute, a day, a week, a month. One second sometimes can give your life a golden meaning.

"Time is much more important in the economic scheme of life than money. The only resemblance between time and money is that one begins to realize their value when he doesn't have enough left to buy the things in life he really wants."

"We are working people, whether at home or in the office, and we know the value of money. We know the effort and struggle it often takes to acquire money. We usually learn to spend money the hard way—through trial and error. We make mistakes by buying the wrong things at the wrong time, but experience teaches us and we learn to do better."

"One of the saddest of life is that many people never acquire the skill of spending their time as well as they do their money. We think we have so much time, and most of us know we don't have too much money. But no man ever had enough time."

"You may lose $100 or $1000 and earn it back and be poorer only in spirit. However, you have an opportunity to re-earn it. Not so with time. What was it Milton said? 'Time, the subtle thief of youth.' A wasted hour in youth cannot be reclaimed and we are left with Whittier's lesson: 'For all sad words of tongue or pen, the saddest are these: It might have been.'"

Benson Wants To Cut Cotton Again

The farmers "friend", Secretary of Agriculture Benson, was at it again last Friday when he addressed the American Cotton Shippers Association at a meeting in New Orleans, La. The secretary urged a re-examination of the basic law governing cotton price controls. He said that recent increased exports and reduced carryovers shouldn't be allowed to lull the nation into complacency.

"We must not wait until, having disposed of surplus No. 1, we built up surplus No. 2," he told the group. "We must not wait with making changes until they are forced upon us." He continued to blast the present cotton program by saying that the price support requirements in the basic law were committed to continuous surplus disposal operations.

Benson continued talking about increased production and how acreage had been cut but never did outline what he proposed to do. The only indication was a statement that new legislation was needed.

The word has been going around in Washington for some time now that Benson wants Congress to lower the minimum support price from 75 per cent of parity to 60 per cent. He originally wanted the law makers to allow him to set the price anywhere he desired but he soon saw that there was too much opposition to this scheme. He now plans to get them to let him drop the minimum a little now; and, when he gets the price down to that figure, he will ask for another change in the law dropping it a little lower.

The present law requires that the Secretary of Agriculture support the price somewhere between 90 and 75 per cent of parity. Benson has already pushed the support price almost to the 75 per cent figure; so in order to lower cotton prices much more he will have to get the law changed. The lowering of the price has not cut the amount of cotton produced so far. How can the secretary hope to cut it by lowering the price some more? When a person has only one product to sell he must make enough money from it to live. If the price of that product is high, he can produce a smaller amount and still live, or if the price is small he has to produce a large quantity in order to make ends meet. This is the dilemma of the Hall County farmers. If there were other crops which could be used for cash income it might be a different story, but government restrictions are on ever major crop which is adapted to this area.

Congress established minimum acreage allotments for cotton of 17.6 million acres for 1957 and 1958. Benson stated that the acreage allotments in 1959 could be near the 14 million acre mark. In other words, he would like to be allowed to cut the acreage allotments as well as the price support. All this from a man who sits on the cabinet to protect agricultural interests. He is opposed to the high farm supports but has said not one word against manufacturers' supports and tariffs.

It's time for voices from communities such as this to be heard in Washington, the only place where they will be effective as long as the administration is in power. Profits from farming are still the backbone of this area's economy, and "good times" will return only when farmers have more money to spend.

Congratulations on the Clean Years

The entire citizenship of Memphis deserves a pat on the back for the excellent way the yards all over town are looking. Now that we have a little moisture the weed seeds, many of which have lain dormant for several years, are rapidly growing to gigantic bushes. But, in spite of these many weeds, the yards over Memphis are in the best condition they have been in in many years.

The parks too are being taken better care of this year than in the past. They have already been mowed and a section around the Carnegie Library has been plowed up and is being reworked.

There are only a few yards in town overgrown with weeds, and, we are happy to note, most of these are at houses which are vacant. We only hope that this spirit of neatness will prevail through the entire summer. It will indeed make our annual clean-up drive a lot easier.

Benson Theory
Plains wheat farmers who have followed the public career of Secretary of Agriculture Benson were not surprised at the Secretary's action in cutting a whopping 22 per cent from the support level of the 1958 crop (the one which will be planted in September).

They were surprised at the timing but not at Benson's action in exercising the flexible price support program to which he is devoted—except in election years, as some unhappy wheat farmers have pointed out.

The wheat farmers also point out, and it seems to us with considerable justice, that Mr. B's dogged devotion to the principal of flexible supports is not supported by the economic facts in the case.

If a $2 price support level was justified for the 1957 crop (which was planted in the election year of 1956), there is no reason to believe that a slash in $1.78 or $1.70 a bushel is justified for the 1958 crop which will hit the market at a time when U. S. wheat stocks will be at the lowest point in recent years.

The reason: A 1957 crop which is expected to be one of the smallest on record, plus expected 1957 exports of 450 million bushels, the greatest foreign sales ever made in peace time. We'll admit that these foreign sales are subsidized, but that, too, is part of official U. S. policy—in this case dictated by the State Department which has ruled out any "dumping" of U. S. wheat abroad.

From the standpoint of the Panhandle farmer, the Secretary's action simply overlooks the economic facts of life. Presumably, farmers in some areas may be able to make money on $1.70 wheat. In the Panhandle, dryland farmers can make money on such wheat prices if the wheat yield reaches an accustomed 20 or 25 bushels an acre on dryland.

But the history of wheat production on the High Plains is of a wheat yield average of 10 to 11 bushels an acre over a 20-year period. Figure a yield of $16.80 an acre. Some of the best dryland farmers in the Panhandle say production costs, which are going up every year, now stand at about $11 or $12 an acre. Half the farmers pay rent, approximately a third of the crop or about $5 an acre. The profit margin is reduced to the point where the smart wheat farmer should apply for a pick and shovel job.

As for the irrigation farmer, he simply cannot meet expenses on $1.70 wheat.
Maybe Mr. Benson is betting that Great Plains wheat farmers will make a bumper crop in '58. If they do, they can make some money in 1958, but not enough to take care of the lean years which are sure to come.

For Panhandle farmers know, even though Mr. Benson apparently does not, that it is the averages that count. Washington apparently figures averages on the theory that a comfortable man is one with one foot in the oven and one on a cake of ice.

Like other theories, it ain't necessarily so.

Work Can Solve Problems
We have long wondered if Walter Reuther and his Auto Workers are on the right track when they want shorter work weeks and more pay, and just this week there is evidence that work is no longer thought of as an evil word by everyone.

A group of teen-age students living in Virginia and Pennsylvania were asked what they believed to be the chief causes of current youth problems.

The greater number answered, "Need of work."

These young people said work brought them recognition and a sense of belonging. It offered opportunity for developing the habit of punctuality. It conferred upon them a keener sense of dignity and self-respect.

Stated simply, it gave them something to do. It gave them, if you please, a purpose in life.

Could it be that our learned psychologists and government experts are overlooking this basic cause of juvenile delinquency—idleness? Might there not be less destruction of school and public property, less incidents between teen-age groups, if more members of this leisure class were to join the workers?

Every day we read of teen-age trouble—of vandalism, of theft, of burglary, of petty crime of various sorts. Some say this is due to lack of parental supervision, some say it is due to comic books, movies or TV programs glorifying crime; others say it is a sign of

Around and About
by Helen Combs

Water, water, everywhere—
not only in our county but over the entire state. So much water that even the sea gulls are confused! A flight of these inhabitants of the coast were seen near Memphis Sunday afternoon winging their way northward still in search of the shore.

Amazing things this rain can do! We returned home late one afternoon this week to find our husband pulling weeds in the back yard . . . the rain was peppering down. Never one to be over-enthusiastic about yard work, we were surprised to find him working in the rain. Perhaps what was needed all along was just plenty of water to give him inspiration!

Several have asked about our plans for a garden this year. We are a little embarrassed to admit the plot is overgrown with wild rye and weeds at this time . . .
but there's still time to plant blackeyed peas. After all, we intend to show the husband we can grow peas, and without them costing $1.00 a pound, too!

Have you noticed the library park? Isn't it going to be nice to see grass growing there this summer in place of the weeds of previous years. Let's all give Eddie Foxhall, park board commissioner, a word of encouragement for this worthwhile project.

Evidently we "got up on the wrong side of the bed" last week.
Most of you have had those days when things go wrong. Our week was like that. We are sorry for the typographical errors which occurred in the Jackson-Hale wedding announcement. Of course most readers know the name should have been Mr. and Mrs.
Sam Hale in the place of "Sale."
And, then, we accidentally omitted the meeting place in the Culture Club's report. The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Clifford Farmer.

May we ask a favor? If you have news—will you please bring it to us as early in the week as possible. We start setting type and printing the paper Monday, and when Thursday arrives, only four pages remain. Many times we are forced to leave out news because of space.

Although our readers are very nice, we know that many of them sometimes wonder about items not appearing which have been turned in. That is the reason that we have made the above explanation. Hundreds of persons are most kind in helping us, and we do appreciate this very much. It is our desire to give you the kind of paper you can enjoy reading.
You are doing us a favor when you pick up your telephone receiver, and report that you have entertained out-of-town guests or have been out of the city yourself. It helps our paper to be more "newsy."

Congratulations to the Cyclone
Band, and the director, Miss Kathy Phillips! For the second year in a row they have won the sweepstake award at the Interscholastic contest in Canyon.

Mrs. Cleve Taylor has lost a pair of binoculars which belonged to her son, who is deceased. The binoculars were a keepsake, and she is most anxious to have them back. If you know of some child who might have found the binoculars, please contact Mrs. Taylor.

A recent letter from Lena Memphis Martin of Redding, Calif., told of the death of Charlie W. Howe in February. Mrs.
Martin, who we understand was the first white child born in Memphis, said she was sure many pioneer residents would like to know of Mr. Howe's death. One of the early day pioneers, Mr.
Howe came to Hall County in 1889, where he was employed on the Hall County Record, which was then located at Salisbury. After the paper was moved to Memphis, he and his wife moved to California in 1898. He was residing in San Diego at the time of his death.

Another recent death of interest to friends here is that of Mrs.
Herring of Nocona, mother of Mrs. L. G. DeBerry. Mrs. Herring was 97 years of age.

Chuckle of the week: A Texan was enjoying the wonders of California. As a group of tourist passed through a grove of citrus trees, one remarked: What beautiful grapefruit! A native jokester replied, "Oh, those lemons are a bit small, owing to a comparatively bad season." "And what are those enormous blossoms?" asked the Texan. "Just a patch of buttercups," said the Californian. The Texas tourist said no more until they reached the Sacramento River. "Ah," he exclaimed, grasping the idea,
"somebody's radiator is leaking."

Mrs. Henry Hays Gives Book Review At Delphian Club

Mrs. Henry Hays reviewed "Sand in My Eyes" by Signora Russel Laune before members of the Delphian Club meeting Tuesday, April 16, in the home of Mrs. J. L. Barnes. Mrs. J. K. Porter was co-hostess.

At the age of 83, Mrs. Laune wrote of her experiences which depicts early days in this area. The title "Sand in My Eyes" was chosen by Mrs. Laune because of the "sand, sand, sand" which was ever present, according to the reviewer.

In her most interesting manner, Mrs. Hays took those present back to remembered customs and slang expressions of earlier times, here in Hall and Collingsworth counties and in Woodward, Oklahoma, which the author and her husband helped to build and where she lived most of her life.

She tells of getting off the train in Memphis and of the court house and hotel here in the late 1880's.

Club members especially enjoyed her recollections of early study clubs; how they studied art and literature, the constitution, current affairs, etc.; and the projects they undertook as the building of cement sidewalks and getting the streets sprinkled to settle the dust, etc.

Another interesting experience the author related was her first taste of gyp water. Most entertaining was the full account of the life of this pioneer woman.

The business session was conducted by Mrs. J. L. Barnes, president. The meditation, "Life's Stewardship," was brought by Mrs. Lynn McKown. An informative report on current legislation was brought by Mrs. C. D. Morris.

Delicious refreshments were served to the following members: Mmes. Jack Boone, Robert Clark, Kenneth Dale, W. C. Dickey, C. C. Hodges, G. W. Keesterson, Weldon McCreary, Lynn McKown, C. D. Morris, Hershel Potts, Clyde Smith, B. J. Thomson, Ben Wilson, R. H. Wherry and Mrs. Henry Hays and the hostess, Mrs. Barnes.

Highway 287 south of Memphis has been closed to traffic since the rains due to the work being done on the road between Estelline and Childress. The paving has been taken out in many spots and the mud is almost impassable.

George Blewer, commissioner of Precinct No. 2, reported Wednesday that approximately 20 culverts were washed out in his area. No bad damages have been reported from the other precincts.

Del Wells, who lives one-half mile west of Lakeview, reported that almost seven inches of rain fell Saturday night and about two inches had collected in his gauge since that time.

At Newlin they have recorded a little over five inches since last Friday.

Here in Memphis the total rainfall for the past week is 4.14 inches, as recorded by John J. McMickin, official weather observer. Friday the gauge showed .07, Saturday 2.60, Sunday .90, Monday .34, Tuesday .12 and Wednesday .11.

So far this year, the total rainfall is 9.72 inches. January recorded .52 of an inch, February 1.05 inches, March 1.85, April 6.07 and May 23 of an inch.

The average for the first four months of the year, according to the Texas Almanac, is 3.97 inches. This places Memphis 5.75 inches above the average rainfall to date.

Temperatures for the past week were as follows: low Thursday 59, Wednesday 67-57, Tuesday 67-57, Monday 61-52, Sunday 59-52, Saturday 67-48, Friday 70-47.

Hamlin has a class AA school while Memphis is class A.

Andrews has been coach here for the past two years. He came to Memphis from Sweetwater where he coached in 1954. He is a graduate of Hardin-Simmons University.

During his two years in Memphis, Andrews has won 10 games, lost 9 and tied 1. Sports fans have called this a good record considering the small size teams which have been fielded. An example of this fact is this year, when there will be seven returning lettermen.

Andrews will stay here this summer to act as co-ordinator for the Little League program.

if they hoped to have a successful career.

Hamlin has a class AA school while Memphis is class A.

Andrews has been coach here for the past two years. He came to Memphis from Sweetwater where he coached in 1954. He is a graduate of Hardin-Simmons University.

During his two years in Memphis, Andrews has won 10 games, lost 9 and tied 1. Sports fans have called this a good record considering the small size teams which have been fielded. An example of this fact is this year, when there will be seven returning lettermen.

Andrews will stay here this summer to act as co-ordinator for the Little League program.

I've been sued for damages

You haven't got that much?

Too bad. Then they may attach your property or even your income for years to come. People sue for more, these days. That's true case of automobile injuries and deaths, and for accidents for which you may be liable. But the comforting thing is, it costs surprisingly little to carry a policy to protect yourself against from damage suits. And it costs only a little more to cover yourself PLENTY while you're at it. This is serious. Check with us on the cost of liability limits high enough to give you COMPLETE protection.
