CITIZENS PLEDGE $35,000.00 TO FOUNDATION

Citizens of Memphis and this area had pledged approximately $35,000 to the Hall County Industrial Foundation, according to Homer Tucker, chairman of the industrial committee of the local chamber of commerce. Tucker made the announcement today, adding that the goal had been set at $50,000.

Any person who is interested in subscribing to the foundation may do so by contacting a member of the board of directors, or a member of the industrial committee, Tucker said.

During the past week, civic leaders have been canvassing business and professional people in Memphis. Their total pledges was the basis used by Tucker in announcing that $35,000.00 had been pledged.

Three members of the industrial committee will be out of the city next week, Tucker stated. They will call upon industrialists in an effort to get them interested in Memphis as a probable site for a (Continued on Page Ten)

Wind, Floods Disrupt Power Service Here

Area tornadoes and floods ripped power lines to shreds, interrupting electric service in Memphis last Thursday and Friday.

Complete service was restored at 5:30 Friday afternoon when repair crews completed the round-the-clock fight to rebuild the lines across Red River.

Intermittent service only was available for most of the city last Thursday and Friday. Service was maintained at the hospitals. In order to provide service to homes, as far as possible, industrial power users, street lighting, and other commercial customers were cut off.

Residential customers were served on a rotating basis, service being supplied to different parts of town during alternate periods. E. M. Wilson, West Texas Utilities Company local manager, said, "All of us at WTU sincerely regret the inconvenience which this power outage caused. It was something that we had no control over. You can't argue with tornadoes and floods. We do appreciate the cooperation and the understanding we have received from our Memphis customers."

"This is something new to us, too," Allan Shahan, WTU district manager added. "We have never experienced anything like this before. Two to seven tornadoes cut lines to pieces on the north, and floods ripped lines out on the south. I want to add my thanks to our customers for their cooperation, patience, and understanding."

"Service is our business," Shahan continued, "and we build and work to maintain service, but this is the worst storm experience we have had in this area in more than 30 years."

Memphis, Hedley, Lelia Lake, Lakeview, and Clarendon were all affected by this storm damage. Power for these towns is supplied from two directions by 69,000-volt transmission lines.

Andy Rogers Sez!

We are happy to report the passage of a bill which may have consequences of the highest order for the people of the 30th District and of Texas. The measure, one directed to the State Board of Water Engineers to conduct a study of water pollution by salt and gypsum deposits of the tributaries of Red River, was introduced in the House by Representative Will Ehrle of Childress and sponsored in the Senate by myself.

As we have become increasingly to know and fear in the past few years, our large man-made lakes in the northern half of the State have shown a tendency to become useless because of heavy deposits of salt and gypsum carried down by tributaries. This is the case with Lake Texoma, the largest of our lakes, whose waters are already useless for home, agricultural, industrial or municipal purposes. The same is true for Lake Kemp and almost true of Possum Kingdom Lake and many others.

The purpose of the directed study will be to evaluate possible methods of ridding our streams of salt and gypsum pollution, such as the possibility that salt and gypsum beds and springs might be sealed off from the valuable main stream waters. Another such possibility being considered by hydraulic engineers is that polluted streams and forks might be dammed off and their useless waters evaporated in "catcher lakes." Another chance lies in the direction of the efforts of science to reduce the costs incident to water purification.

Experts long have said that the water shortage in areas of Texas is related more to the presence of pollution than it is to the actual amount of rainfall which these areas receive. It is the purpose of the study directed to make an investigation of the best opportunities we have for cleaning out our polluted streams and lakes.

Under a law passed without opposition in the Texas Senate, companies like the defunct U. S. Trust and Guaranty Company will no longer be able to operate in Texas. The law prohibits both the creation and the operation of combined insurance and trust companies. The four companies of this type still operating in the state will be given time to change their set-ups to those of trust companies in order to conform with the new law. Last session a Senate committee killed this bill.

A friend took pity on Rep. D. B. Byrd of Huntington. The pay of all Texas legislators stopped on May 7. The friend sent Byrd a food package, including peanut butter and canned soup.

A pair of earnest Texas gentlemen worthy of the name, Travis County District Judge Charles O. Betts and Renne Allred Jr., of Gowie, and beyond any doubt the two men working hardest to clean up the insurance mess in our state.

Allred is a man whose name continues to come up in connection with efforts to get to the bottom of the scandals involving the insurance industry and the Texas Insurance Commission. You may remember that he was summarily dismissed by the Board of Insurance Commissioners because of his insistence two years ago that things were not going as they should. Appointed already this year as Special attorney to the Receiver in both the U.S. Trust and I C T cases, Allred now has been appointed to the same office in a total of 27 receivership court. Judge Betts cut off the Insurance Commission's authority over these receiverships.

Allred now has the power to exercise a great amount of good in straightening out the insurance industry and restoring public faith in that area of state governmental policy. These two men, an attorney sworn to uphold the law and a fighting judge who refuses to sit back and watch which way the political ball bounces, deserve the respect of the people of Texas.

One of the ironies of this session was made apparent during the past week in the passage of two measures concerning penalties for licensing of teen-age drivers. One bill makes the juveniles liable for traffic violations; the other changes the procedure by which they obtain driving licenses. There is nothing wrong with either of these bills, probably, but the irony arises out of the fact that the legislature had an opportunity to pass a driver education program which would have fitted right into the operations of our schools and which would have better equipped our teenage drivers to avoid penalties.

Panhandle Area Makes Great Strides In Game Improvement

What has all happened in the last nine years, but did you know that our Panhandle and South Plains district is counted as the best game area for Texas? It is a measure of credit should go to the State Game Commission and the hard work in the face of the worst drouth in our history. You'd be surprised to learn how many of our game and ranchers have started game programs, both on their own and in cooperation with the game commission, especially with quail, deer and sheep. These programs are not only replenishing our game, but they are also giving a chance to some brand new and exciting game birds and mammals.

Probably the most exciting game developments during the eight or nine years that I have served in the Panhandle, becoming daily more familiar with state game laws and regulations, have been astoundingly successful programs in our area involving quail and both White-tailed and Mule Deer. We've had a real explosion in the turkey population in the last few years, and it is hard to believe, the deer population is counted now at about 400,000 head in the area. Of course, our biggest game resource is the canyon country where the deer and turkey are building up and now that the rains have come, the situation is going to improve even more out on the rolling hills and brakes.

There is also some exciting work going on in programs connected with the introduction of foreign game species into the Texas game, and nine-tenths of this work is being carried on in our Panhandle and South Plains area. The game men say that while the species being introduced are mainly of the hardy desert varieties, the rains will benefit them no less than the native strains. Of most interest to Plains sportsmen and landowners are the releases in our district of 1) the Spanish Red-legged Partridge and the tough little See-see desert quail, which is thought to be the bird which fed the Israelites between Egypt and Canaan, and 2) the controlled release of a starter herd of the fabulous Aoudad Sheep, brought in from the rocky deserts of North Africa and Morocco.

The Spanish Red-leg program is well underway now, with several hundred birds released under conditions calculated to give them the best possible chance to take hold in the new habitat. If the birds do well — and experts are optimistic about their progress so far — they will furnish a thrilling new gamebird for area shooting. They are a distant cousin of the famed Chukker Partridge, but are reputedly more adaptable to our Plains country. Not much is known thus far about the little See-see quail. He's slightly smaller than the native Bobwhite — whereas the Red-leg is larger — but has great possibilities as a dry-country forager. The government sent a biologist to far-off Pakistan in the rough dry and mountainous country above India to pick the best stock to adapt to our conditions and the See-see and Red-leg were selected. Several hundred of the birds have been released and we should have reports on their progress during the next year.

But the biggest fancy-tickler of them all, both at the game commission and among Plains hunters, is the big Aoudad sheep released. Big is the right word for them, too; I'm told that a full ram will dress out about 200 pounds. And Horns!!! Both rams and ewes have the same big spread and it is said that the experts can't tell the difference between them at a hundred yards. The commission turned loose a shipment of 31 head — 13 ewes, 10 lambs, and 8 rams — at a carefully planned site between Claude and Tulia. They say that the sheep are acting right at home, seem to prefer the south slope of the canyon, and already have trails beaten out to feed and watering places.

However, and notwithstanding the natural excitement of both scientists and interested sportsmen and landowners over the chances of new animals and new species being added to our game resources, it is like one commission administrator recently told me: "Our best hopes for good use of our food resources still lie with our more or less native species like the Bobwhite, Mourning Dove, Prairie Chicken and the White-tail Deer." Added to this list, of course, are the wild turkey, which can already be called a native because of the big gains made, and the Mule Deer, really booming in the canyon brakes and on the high, grassy plains alike. Our first thought, say the experts, should be to do everything we can to make these native and more adaptable species thoroughly at home in our marginal land pastures. Most anyone would be surprised at the numbers of landowners who are entering into the programs. At the same time, we can all remember when hunting was better than it is now. Why?

Well, the answer is so simple that it has taken us many years and a lot of mistakes to find it. Take the example of the Bobwhite quail. We have tried passing laws to close seasons, protect birds. We have carried out programs designed to kill off predators like hawks, fox and wild domestic cats etc. We have tried to raise the quail population by posting our land and by artificial restocking. Yet none of these things has — by itself or altogether — given the answer that was needed.

It is as simple as this: We have made some wrong choices about land management. Of course, the drouth has had a lot to do with it; but the dry weather hasn't been all: We have over-improved by clearing out most of the natural food and cover of the quail, all little brushy, dirty corners and fence rows where quail were at home, and we have put the greatest percentage of our land into cultivation, sometimes to the detriment both of our long-run crop programs and to our hopes for a good quail crop.

It all depends on whether the landowner really wants quail and other game. If he wants them, they can only be considered as another crop; they must be planned for, cared for, estimated and harvested, just like any other crop. The experts, both in game management and in general agriculture, agreed that there is a place in almost every farm and ranch operation for a game program which will pay off both in financial terms and in terms of a rare pleasure: growing and hunting game on one's own preserve.

Thanks, Folks, For Patience and Your Cooperation - and I'm so Sorry You Were Inconvenienced!

You were wonderful in spite of the inconvenience. Your understanding, cooperation, and courtesy made our job easier . . . and helped restore service quicker.

We want you to know that after the tornadoes cuts the 69,000 volt line north of Clarendon to pieces and flood waters destroyed the 69,000 volt line from Childress where it crosses the Red River just north of Estel-line, every available man worked around the clock to restore full electric service to your home and your town.

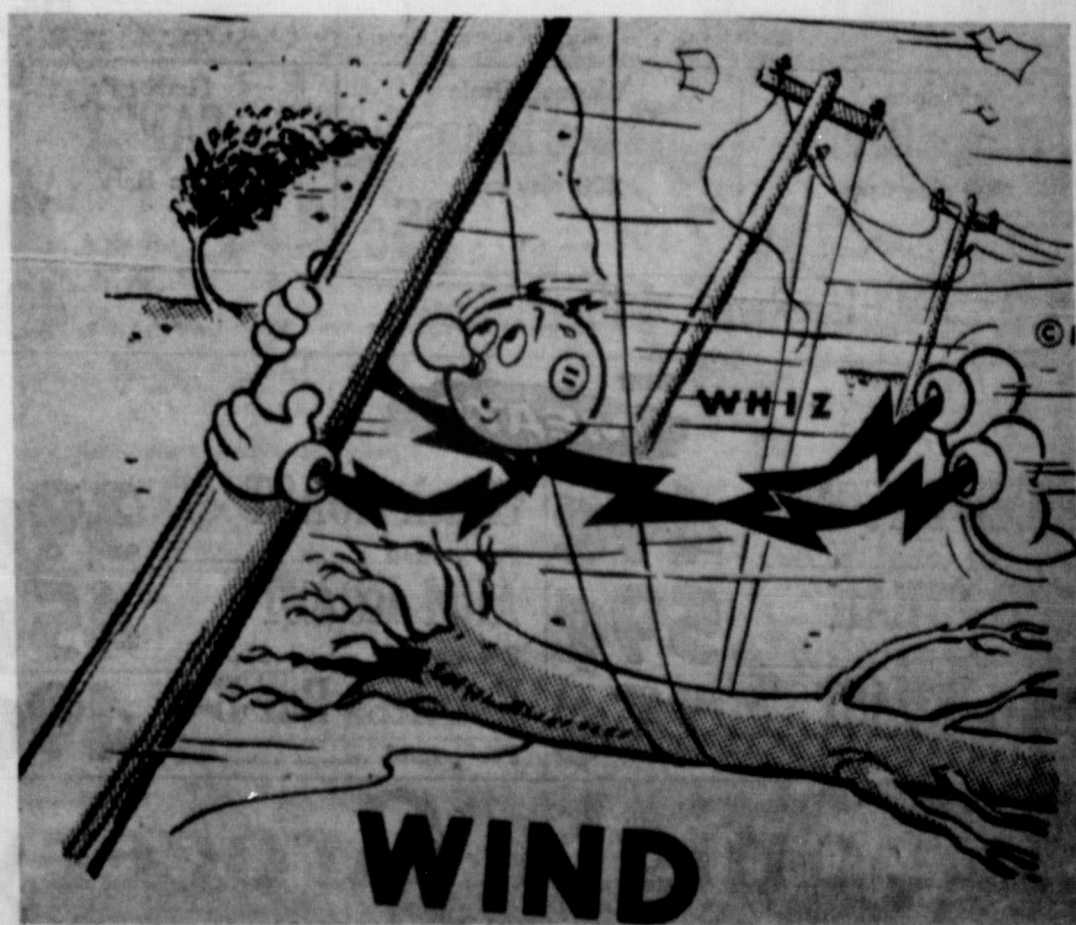

With power supplied from two sources and from two different directions, we have served this area for many years with only a very few minor difficulties. But when old Mother Nature threw up to seven tornadoes at us from the north and followed up with a flood from the southwest, she really jolted us.

I'm glad to express my Company's thanks to its own men for a job well done . . . but most of all, I want to tell you how much we regret that your service was interrupted. Regardless of the cause, we don't like our customers inconvenienced. You're swell to work for.

IT'S THE LAW
in Texas

Homestead May Be Sold for Taxes
Many Texans have the mistaken impression that their homestead cannot be seized and sold for delinquent taxes. In many cases, this idea has led to considerable grief and monetary loss which could have been avoided. A homestead should be rendered to tax assessors like any other property, and taxes assessed against it should be paid as faithfully as those on any other taxable property.

The deadline for rendering property for taxation is April 1, so far as most city taxing agencies are concerned. The last date for rendering real and personal property for state and county taxes is April 30. State taxes are collected by the County Tax Collector.

Under the Texas Constitution, each family is entitled to claim one piece of real property as their homestead. This claim must be established by an affidavit filed with the county tax assessor on or before April 30, each and every year. This affidavit must be filed by the owner himself. A lending agency cannot do so, even though it may actually pay the annual taxes thereon from a fund created by the owner's monthly installments.

When the homestead affidavit is properly filed, the owner becomes entitled to an exemption of State taxes up to the value of $3,000 or 200-acres in the case of farm lands. This is an exemption from payment, not a complete exemption from rendition and assessment. There is no similar exemption with reference to county or city taxes.

The homestead claimed for tax purposes need not be the property which is actually occupied by the owner as his residence.

When the homestead affidavit is not filed by April 30, the taxpayer loses his right to the $3,000 or 200-acre exemption, and consequently becomes liable for more taxes than he would otherwise be required to pay.

Property taxes are assessed against the person who is the record owner of each piece of real and personal property on the first day of January of each year. Individuals purchasing property during the year should make sure that the taxes for all previous years have been paid. Otherwise, the purchaser may be forced to pay hundreds of dollars in delinquent taxes to protect his property. Unpaid taxes create a lien against the property which can be enforced regardless of change of ownership.

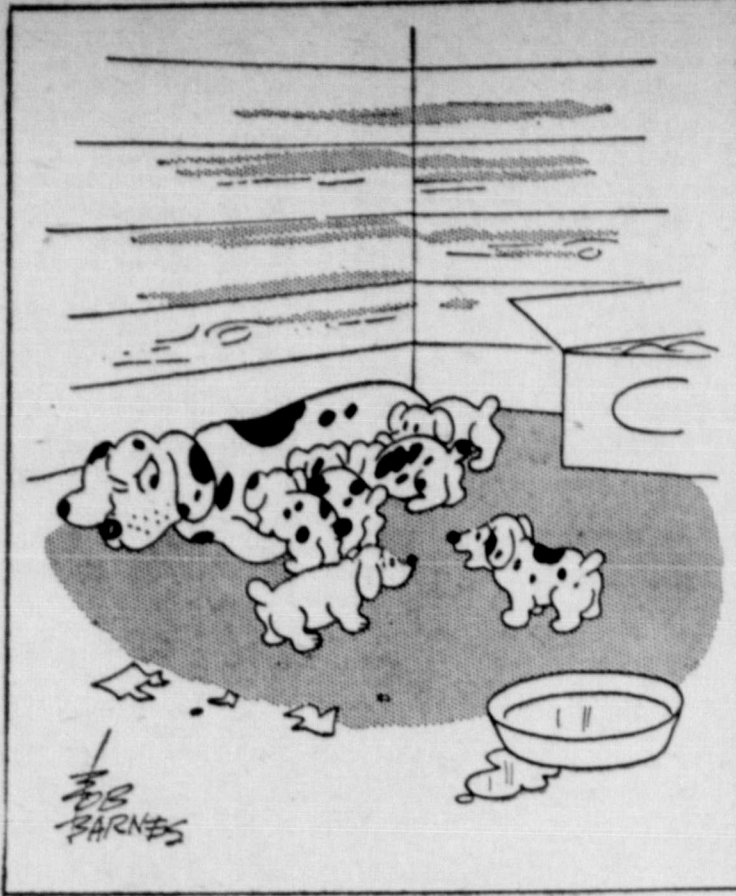

One should also keep in mind to make some arrangement for the previous owner to pay his pro-rata share of taxes for the current year. Otherwise, the buyer may find it necessary to pay the entire taxes for that year.

When taxes are not paid by the deadline prescribed for the particular taxing unit (city, county, State, or District), monetary penalties and interest are added from month to month. In addition, the property becomes subject to seizure and sale to satisfy the tax lien. This lien applies to all property, whether homestead or not.

FINDERS KEEPERS?
"Finders keepers, losers weepers." Is this old rhyme true or false? Lawyers say it is not always strictly accurate under the law. It is sometimes rather difficult to determine the rights of a finder in court.

There are some rather fine distinctions to the "finders keepers" maxim that have plagued the courts — and finders — for generations. In the first place, the finder is not entitled to keep the property unless the original owner is not known and cannot be located. Neither may he keep it unless the object is truly "lost", and not merely "mis-laid."

LAFF OF THE WEEK

"Doesn't the menu ever change around this place?"

In general, property is legally "lost" when parted with involuntarily — through accident, neglect, forgetfulness or any other unintentional circumstance. Property is not lost in the legal sense when voluntarily left by the owner, intending to pick it up later — even though he fails to do so. Such property is "mis-laid." Thus if one loses a watch on the street by having the clasp break, not knowing where or when it was dropped, it is legally "lost." The same is true of a fountain pen falling through a hole in one's pocket unobserved. In such cases, the finder owns what he has found against all but the true owner.

On the other hand, a package left on the seat of a bus is "mis-laid" rather than lost. In one Southern state, a pocketbook left in a barbershop by a customer was held to have been "left," not "lost." The barber was arrested and convicted of larceny when he spent the money that was in it.

Under the law the finder of either lost or mis-laid property should make a "reasonable" effort to find the real owner. When articles are left on a train or bus, in a public hotel, or even when dropped on a shop floor, under circumstances indicating that the true owner will later return to claim them, such items are not considered lost. The proper custodian to hold them for the owners would be the proprietor or other person in charge.

Remaining unclaimed, the property sometimes goes to this custodian, sometimes to the finder. The distinction here appears to be whether the place it is found is private or semi-private, or a place used by the general public.

(This column, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Good lawns don't happen. They are the product of considerable time and effort, says extension economist E. M. Trew. He lists a fertile soil, adapted lawn grasses and drainage along with proper watering, fertilization and mowing as essentials for establishing an attractive lawn.

Several Farmers To Grow Grass For Seed

Several cooperators of the Hall County Soil Conservation District have recently expressed their desire to grow grass this year for seed production.

Q. N. Clark of the Lesley community plans to harvest the seed from about 20 acres of Blue Panic. T. H. Gattis of the Brice community is planning to plant approximately 200 acres of Blackwell Switchgrass for seed production. Wayne Hutcherson who lives south of Memphis is planting several acres of K. R. Bluestem, some of which he plans to use for seed production.

In view of the recent enacted Soil Bank program, Soil Conservation Service technicians have indicated that the next few years may bring heavy demands for all kinds of grass seed.

SCS Engineer Inspects Flood Damage Here

James H. Miller, agriculture engineer for the Soil Conservation Service from Amarillo, was in the flooded area west of Memphis recently. Miller, who has charge of the engineering work of the SCS for the Panhandle area, was getting factual data on the damage done by the recent heavy rains.

The information that Miller collected will be turned over to flood prevention specialists that are to study that area soon.

In making the study, Miller talked with farmers in the flooded area and took pictures of the damage.

Mrs. Clifton Burnett, Mrs. Gip McMurry, Mrs. M. C. Allen and Myrtle Howard visited Wednesday in Hollis and Childress.

Former Memphis Residents Enlist In U. S. Army

Two former Memphis residents, Ed Ray Pyeatt and H. L. Holland enlisted in the U. S. Army this month and are now undergoing basic training.

Pyeatt was born in Memphis and attended elementary school here. He will take his basic training at Fort Coffee, Ark. and will then go to Fort Belvoir, Va., for eleven weeks of technical training in construction drafting, the school he selected prior to enlisting.

Holland, who formerly worked for Wood Bros. Super Market, will take his basic training at Fort Ord, Calif. and will then be assigned to an anti-aircraft unit with a location of his choice. After having spent some time with the unit in "on the job" training, he will have a chance to attend an anti-aircraft school located at Fort Bliss.

Additional information on army enlistments may be obtained from SFC John C. Dills, Army recruiter who is in Memphis at the court house each Friday.

ABOUT YOUR HEALTH

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health. HENRY A. HOLLE, M.D., Commissioner

AUSTIN—This can be said without reservation: we'll have more insects to fight this year than ever before, especially flies and mosquitoes. The reason is the unprecedented siege of wet weather most of the state is going through this spring.

Mosquitoes breed in standing water—whether in a Gulf Coast marsh, a West Texas stock tank, or a tin can or old tire in the back yard. They harbor in damp vegetation and undergrowth like we have so much of this year. As for flies, they'll be breeding in the garbage or washed-out sanitary land fills, and in sewer lines broken or overflowed by floods. And conditions are equally favorable for most other insects species.

Insects have troubled man ever since he has been on earth. They have bitten and stung him. They have destroyed his food, his clothes, his home. They have carried germs that brought him horrible death. In all, entomologists can identify some 10,000 insect "public enemies" that do $4 billion in damage annually.

Let's realize, though, that some insects are not harmful, and others actually do valuable chores for man. Various species of beetles feed on harmful insects, and some caterpillars eat weeds. And other insects, like the honey bee, pollinate crops. Nevertheless, with all his scientific knowledge, it is only by constant effort that man is able to hold his own against insects.

Consider just a single crop—wheat. Each year insects destroy in stored wheat the equivalent of 2 billion loaves of bread, enough to supply every person in the United States for seven weeks. Or consider just a single disease—encephalitis, spread by mosquitoes. At least 500 cases occurred in the Plainview area last summer. Many of the victims died.

But let's be fair about it. Insects got here first. They've been on this earth for at least 250 million years, 250 times longer than man. And in all that time, they have remained relatively unchanged. The roach, for example, looks just about as he did 250 million years ago. Old fossils and stone impressions tell us this.

For thousands of years man probably swatted or squashed insects to defend himself against them, but by 1,000 B. C. Homer was talking about sulphur as a fumigant. Since then insecticides have steadily improved. One, DDT, was developed in 1942, and gave early promises of providing the knockout punch against insect boards. But it hasn't. Entomologists say flies, salt marsh mosquitoes, roaches, an lice quickly developed resistance to the chemical, and Mexican beetles, spider mites, and many aphids are not affected by it.

Today we know a complete program of insect control calls for constant application of good home and community sanitation—such things as garbage can with tight lids, good systems of garbage pickups, and well-operated sewerage disposal plants—together with periodic spraying with effective insecticides.

Information as to which insecticide is best for your specific use can be had by writing to your local or state health department.

Agricultural Sidelights on Texas

Texas vegetables may be slightly higher this spring, due to acreage cutbacks. Onions, already higher than last year, are expected to rise due to the short crop, one-fourth the normal. In contrast, egg production is expected to be well above 1956 levels.

For a few extra cents per acre spent on tagged and tested seed, a farmer can be assured that his land value will not drop. If he wisely and ill-advisedly uses low-quality and possibly polluted seed, he may well be incurring a higher loss than whatever payment he will receive from the Soil Bank.

No Bargain Basement Seed Failure to use good, tested and any soil-building program defeats the entire purpose for which the land is being retired. The risk is great that improper, untested seed may contain weed seed which can create a permanent blight on the land. The purpose of acreage retirement is to build a revitalized land with healthy and helpful crops, not to jeopardize it with a "grab-bag" seed purchase.

There is no such thing as bargain basement seed, whether it be used to plant a major crop or to give your land a rest.

Soil Conservation Week To Be May 26 to June 2

The National Association of Soil Conservation Districts have named May 26 through June 2 as National Soil Stewardship Week, Charlie B. Cape, work unit conservationist of the local SCS, said this week.

The Department of Agriculture this week stated that "they were happy to join with the association in the observance of this week devoted to conservation of the soil."

Secretary Ezra Benson stated that the observance was especially heartening to those of the department who are charged with helping farmers use soil wisely and at the same time conserve it for continued production for the generations to come.

The Hall County Soil Conservation District urged farm, church, civic, conservation and other organizations to participate in this event as an important means of becoming better acquainted with the vital importance of wise use of land to both the nation's material and spiritual welfare.

Many church organizations will lend assistance to the movement by observation of Rural Life Sunday, May 26.

What an Industry Would Mean to the County

Most persons around the area have been talking during the past week about the Hall County Industrial Foundation and what it will mean to the county. Usually when speaking of projects of this type, persons have to speak in generalities. The U. S. Chamber of Commerce recently conducted a survey of a town before and after an industry located there, trying to find exactly how much the industry added to the economic picture of the town.

The industry used was one that employed 100 persons at the minimum wage of $1.00 per hour for a 40-hour week. Here is what these 100 new factory workers meant to their community: 296 more people lived in the town—they built 112 more homes—51 more children were in school—$590,000 more personal income circulated—bank deposits rose 270,000—four more retail establishments sprang up—retail sales rose $360,000 per year and 174 more workers were employed.

Of course with this influx of more money there was some rise in the number of persons employed. In addition to the 100 employed in the factory the following went to work at other jobs: retail trade 33—construction 25—professional and related services 14—transportation, communication and other public utilities 13—business and repair services 5—wholesale trade 5—public administration 5—finance, insurance and real estate 4—entertainment and recreation services 2. These are extra persons who went to work in addition to those who were working before the industry payroll came to town.

The total increase in retail sales of $360,000 each year was broken down into the following categories: grocery stores $70,000—eating places $30,000—department, dry goods and variety stores $45,000—clothing and shoe stores $25,000—gasoline service stations $20,000—lumber yards and building materials dealers $15,000—other stores $105,000.

It is easy to see from the above figures that everyone in the area benefits from the added money placed into circulation. Not only will the economic structure of the area be placed on the better basis, but the town will, as an end result, be a better place in which to live. One example of this is the rise in school children. More children will mean more teachers and a better school system.

As everyone here knows, the economy of this area has always depended on the farmer and rancher to provide the money for the wheels of economic progress. When hard times hit the farmer and rancher, the town and everyone in it were hurt. A small manufacturing plant in Memphis would help to ease us over those economic depressions, or recessions as they have been called in the past years. A factory would not cure all our economic problems but it would help to stabilize the economy and keep the money flowing in times such as we have undergone during the past few years. An example of this would be bank deposits, which would mean more money available to be loaned to farmers in their time of need. The factory might also provide jobs for farmers during their slack seasons.

These reasons, and many others, explain why the Hall County Industrial Foundation has been organized. It should be backed by every person in this area to the fullest extent of their ability, not only with money but with their work as well.

Good Neighbors

Hall County citizens again proved their neighborliness last week when they opened their hearts and pocketbooks to those persons in need at Silverton. H. J. Howell, county Red Cross chairman, stated Monday that a total of $1050 had already been collected to assist with the emergency operations in the tornado torn town.

Howell turned over $500 to the Red Cross in Silverton Thursday and another $250 Saturday. The City of Silverton was given $200, also on Saturday. By Monday afternoon approximately $100 more had been collected for Silverton.

We are indeed happy to report that the relief money was so generously contributed. It isn't often that we have the chance to help our fellow man to the extent we did following this storm.

Fight Sleeping Sickness Now

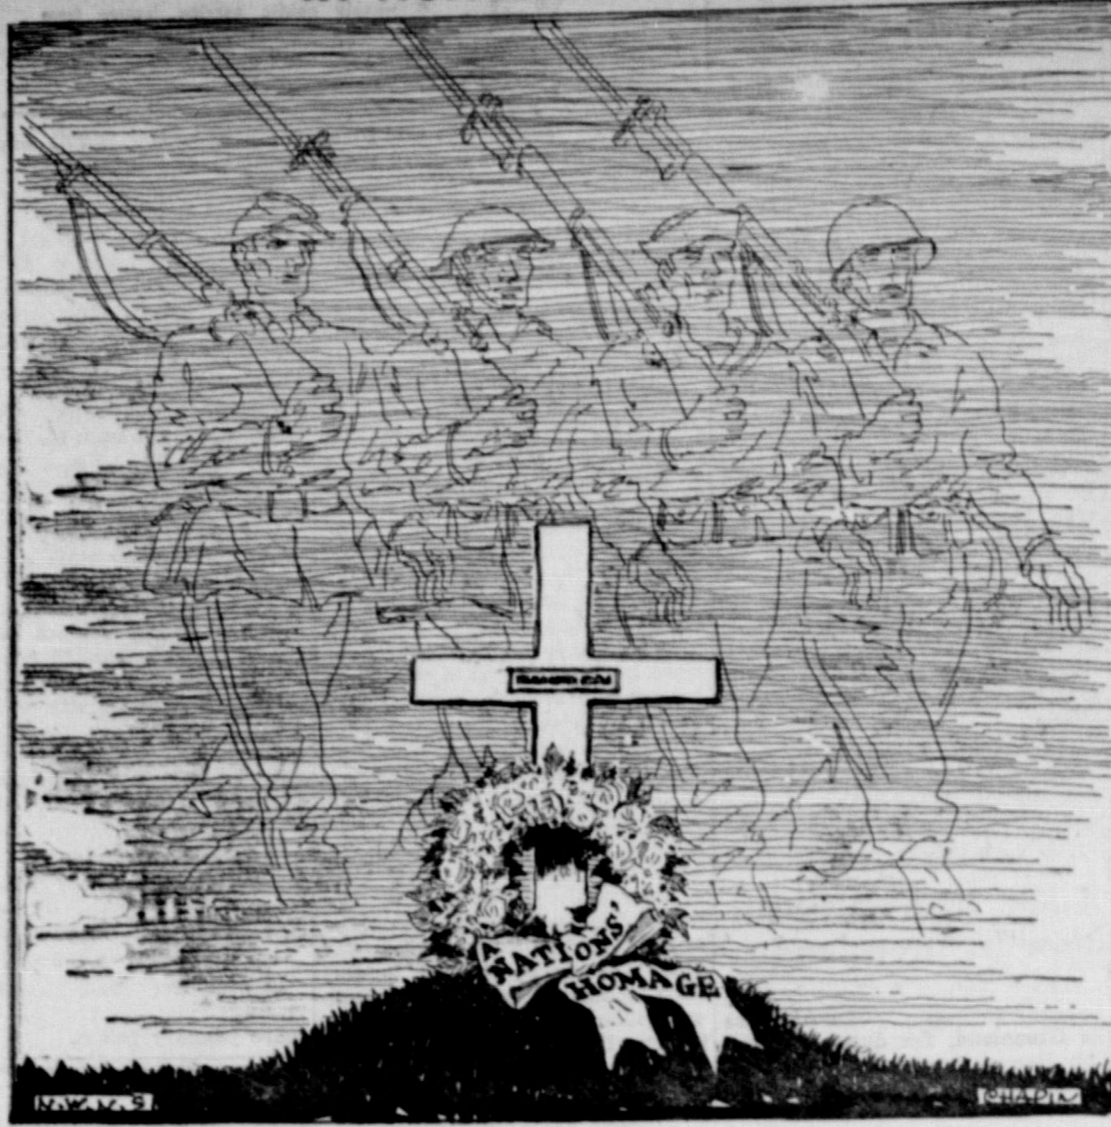

Spring rains have come to the area again this year for the first time in seven or eight years, bringing green grass, flowers, and giving all things a new lease on life. The rains also will bring another thing which can be a great danger to health of the area—the mosquito.

Last year Encephalitis, commonly known as sleeping sickness, reached epidemic proportions in the plains area of the West Texas. Sleeping sickness was until recent years practically unknown to this area. In 1954 and 1955 a few cases were diagnosed and in 1956 one county alone (Deaf Smith) recorded 18 cases. Carrying much the same symptoms as polio, sleeping sickness in many ways can be considered an even worse malady when viewed on a practical basis. Certainly, it far outnumbered the polio cases in this area last year.

Now comes the mosquito part. This insect is known to be a carrier of the disease, much in the same manner that the mosquitoes of the Panama area carry Yellow Fever. Last year it was dry here, for the most part and mosquitoes didn't have a place to breed. However, if we continue to have rains, mosquitoes will soon be growing in every tin can, forgotten well, and every other place which will hold a little moisture when it falls.

Now is the time to begin this fight against sleeping sickness! If we wait until the night air is thick with mosquitoes, it will be too late. The best possible preventive measure is to destroy their breeding places. The plains area had the epidemic last year because they had sufficient water in their irrigation ditches to provide a home for the young mosquitos. It is entirely possible that we could have an epidemic here if we don't begin our war on the insects now.

IN HONORED MEMORY

Press Paragraphs— QUOTING OUR NEIGHBORS

Foreign Aid

Vice President Nixon (and that is a dirty word) told members of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce last Monday it was good business for the government to spend $72 billion in 1958 and said, "I can assure you that not one dollar has been spent in our foreign aid program that was not in the interest of national security."

Vice President Nixon is either a liar or just plain dumb, and either one of those classifications would disqualify him for being Vice President of the United States or Vice anything else.

We remember reading a piece less than a week ago that told how our foreign aid money was being used to give free college educations in this country to the sons and daughters of multi-billionaire potentates in these foreign countries who were so potentially rich and wealthy that all the luxury of the Gods seemed to have settled down upon them. The taxpayers of this country pay for bringing these spoiled and pampered brats over here, setting them in luxurious apartments with servants and limousines and a Staff of State Department couriers flitting about like moths around a flame, and good old Uncle Sam maintaining a direct telephone line home so they can talk to mama about how many times the old man was given his weight in diamonds today.

If that is contributing to the national security of this country I am an African baboon, and just such stuff as that is one of the reasons why our legislature right here at home is getting ready to double the college tuition that our own poor, unfortunate kids will have to pay. We are giving away hundreds of thousands of dollars to send foreign millionaire's kids to school free and in the elegant manner to which they are accustomed while we double the expense of our own kids making it impossible for thousands of them to go to school at all.

If Vice President Tricky Nixon calls that good business he is more of an idiot than we though he was all along.

That's just one example. There are thousands of others equally as repulsive to disprove the disgusting statement that "not one dollar has been spent that was not in the interest of our national security." Somebody please hand the man his blocks and his crayolas.

COTTON

Cotton raisers ought to take out more of their money to use for research than they do. We note that the National Cotton Council which we have taken for granted as an all-cotton industry organization is viewed as a bunch of fakers by some cotton raisers. Those who do so view ought to find somebody that will do research in growing, manufacturing and marketing that they can back and back them. The cotton people have got to spend more of their time and money on promoting and research for their product. Growers spend a dime per bale now. It well could be 50 cents or a dollar and be money well spent, counting the kind of times we are in and the back to the wall fight American cotton is making for a place in the world's markets.

Stimulate the Sales of cotton. That is the slogan and intent for all of next week. Plains husbands need to do one of two things: (1) Work up material that will make their women folk anxious to have cotton in their wardrobes, or (2) give their women folks a talking to. The former is next to impossible, the latter is inadvisable. Practically all the income hereabouts are based on cotton, but the people seem to think it is made to sell so something that is better liked can be bought.

Man-made fabrics, at first experimental, now have attained the point in production know-how which gives them the whip-hand over cotton. Note that as cotton goes down the competing fabrics also drop a bit in price, just enough to be quoted lower. Cotton production costs must be cut some more somewhere between the field and the retailers counter. A more uniform staple, with fewer leaves, stems and spots might be part of the solution. "They say" that a bale of cotton is processed six times after it reaches the mill before it goes to the spindle, whereas the other fabrics are processed only once.

FLECHING FROM POOR

The people in this state do not know the meaning of the proposed amendment to the U. S. Constitution now being considered by the Texas legislature . . . A 25 percent income tax limit amendment would shift billions of dollars of federal taxes to the medium and low income groups from corporations and the high income bracket who, I estimate are now paying 10 to 14 billions in taxes with the percentage above 25 per cent. If I am correctly informed a 25 percent income tax would, in my judgement, be a national disaster comparable to Pearl Harbor.

Church Members

The trouble with too many church members is that they die about 25, but are not buried until they are 70.

1913 Study Club Has Commemoration Program Wednesday

Included in the banner headline, "The Making of Our Modern World," the members of the 1913 Study Club enjoyed a most interesting commemorative program celebrating the great Virginia Peninsula.

It has been three hundred and fifty years since the three little ships (The Sarah Constance, The Discovery, and The Godspeed) made a safe landing on the shore of America, a place later called Jamestown for King James of England.

The recollections of that landing by our forefathers and the annual celebration at Williamsburg, Jamestown, and Yorktown in Virginia supplied the material for a symposium with a nostalgic appeal.

Under the heading, "America's Homecoming," Mrs. Frank Foxhall set the scene for the program about the Jamestown Festival, giving a brief sketch of the early history of the state of Virginia.

Mrs. Gayle Green told of the scenic beauties of the Shenandoah Valley; Mrs. Clyde Milam pointed out the reasons for Virginia's industrial importance; and Mrs. R. S. Greene described the building and the departure from England for America recently of a replica of The Mayflower sailing vessel.

All in all, it was a program to fire the patriotism of each one present. Booklets on the state of Virginia published by the Ford Company were distributed as mementoes of the occasion.

Mrs. Nelson Combest was hostess for the meeting but because

Pathfinders' Council Meets Tues. In Bass Home

The Pathfinders' Council met at 3:30 p. m. on Tuesday, May 14, in the home of Mrs. George Bass with Mrs. Ernest Lee as hostess. Each member brought as her special guest a grandmother.

The entertaining rooms were gay with bouquets of roses and iris. The dining table, covered with a hand-crocheted cloth, featured green-and-white in the dainty sandwiches, novelty cookies and frosted punch.

Upon arrival, the guests were greeted by Mrs. Robert Spicer. After being served, Mrs. A. O. Gidden, club president, welcomed the guests. Invocation was led by Mrs. O. M. Gunstream; Mrs. Lee read a poem, "Grandmother's Day." Mrs. A. Gidden read a series of poems from Grace Noll Crowell's book, "Flame in the Wind." She then asked the grandmothers a number of questions under "Remember when—"

The reminiscences, most of which recalled pioneer days, was a heart-warming flashback through the years.

Mrs. Gidden concluded with the poem, "I'll Be Pert and Perky, a Real Gay Grandma."

The honored guests—grandmothers of varying ages—were recognized by Mrs. Lee. They were: Mrs. John Bass of Clarendon, Mrs. T. K. Wilton, Mrs. Ira McQueen, Mrs. H. A. McCanne, Mrs. Guy Kercheville, Mrs. R. A. Massey, Mrs. Henry Scott, Mrs. D. A. Neeley, Mrs. J. B. Burnett, Mrs. J. B. Wrenn, Mrs. P. E. Gardenhire, Mrs. Dick Spoon, Mrs. J. M. Ferrel, Jr., Mrs. Roy Guthrie, Mrs. George Gass, and Mrs. J. S. Ballard.

Treasured keepsakes were displayed by the members and guests.

These consisted of crochet, quilts, wood work, china, pictures, embroidery, and sewing.

Perhaps the most unusual item was a quilt which is being made by Mrs. J. S. Ballard, an 84-year-old grandmother. Designed in an interesting fashion of colored pieces upon a white background, the quilt has scraps from every state in the union, from Canada, Old Mexico, China, Japan, Alaska and South Sea Islands. Mrs. Ballard explained that she had received some of the scraps from friends of friends.

Members who attended the meeting were: Mesdames Robert Spicer, Gene Chamberlain, J. R. Mitchell, W. P. Baten, F. W. McElreath, W. F. Ritchie, J. J. McDaniel, A. Gidden, A. O. Gidden, O. M. Gunstream, Barney Burnett, Hester Bownds, and Mrs. Lee.

The next meeting will be a luncheon in the home of Mrs. A. O. Gidden on Tuesday, May 28.

JOHN GUTHRIE

Guthrie Brothers Experience Surprise Meeting at Japan Air Force Base

Two Memphis brothers, serving in the Air Force, John and Charles Guthrie, met in a strange way not long ago in the far away corner of the world—Japan.

Charles was flying from Tokyo to Misawa Air Force Base and the plane landed at Niigata Air Force Base while en route. Charles was sitting in the tail of the craft when he walked John to pick-up the mail for the base.

Charles described the meeting, saying, "He (John) didn't see me when he first came on the plane. So I said, 'Hey! Guthrie.' He thought it was just another one of the boys and when he saw me a big grin came on his face."

The pilot of the craft found urgent business which had to be attended to delaying the departure for five minutes while the brothers talked.

Charles was recently named Airman of the Month for the 7th Aerial Fort Squadron of the Far East Air Force.

The award was made on the basis of loyalty, moral character, attitude and overall performance of assigned duties. As a result of this honor he was given a 10-day free trip to Hong-kong, China.

Both are graduates of Memphis High School and are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Tilman A. Guthrie.

Local Firemen Help Fight Blaze At Hedley Church

Memphis firemen answered a call last Sunday afternoon to Hedley where they assisted the fire department there in fighting a blaze which destroyed the First Baptist Church, valued at approximately $25,000.

The alarm was turned in about 4 p. m. by neighbors who saw smoke and flames issuing from the roof of the stucco structure, Hedley Fire Chief O'Neil Weatherly said.

Pumper trucks from Memphis and Clarendon joined the Hedley Fire Department in battling the blaze to bring it under control about 5 p. m.

High winds first threatened to carry the fire across the street to a residence, but firemen sprayed water on the house and prevented spread of the flames.

Some furniture and fixtures were salvaged by firemen and volunteers, but Chief Weatherly said nothing can be salvaged from the building itself, part of which is about 30 years old, and part of which was constructed within the past 10 years.

First reports seem to indicate that the fire may have started in wiring in the roof which was a mass of flames by the time the alarm was sounded.

No one had been in the church since shortly after noon, when the morning worship service ended.

Wheat Referendum Balloting To Be Held On June 20 Over County for 1958 Crop

Farmers will have two issues to decide in the June 20 wheat referendum, according to R. A. Eddleman, chairman of the Hall County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

The first issue is whether marketing quotas will be in effect, carrying with them penalties on excess wheat from farms in which the allotment is exceeded. The second issue is the level of the available price support.

A two-thirds favorable vote is required to approve wheat marketing quotas. Once quotas are approved, penalties for production in excess of the farm's quota are in effect for all farms in commercial wheat states which harvest over 15 acres of wheat for grain.

The farm quota is generally all the wheat produced on the acreage allotment. Under quotas, also, price support on the 1958 wheat crop will be available at a minimum national average of $1.78 per bushel to those farmers who are in compliance with their farm allotments.

Eddleman explained that if more than one-third of the voters disapprove quotas, there will be no marketing quotas and no penalties for excess production. However, acreage allotments will remain in effect in the commercial area, and the price support will be available at 50 per cent of parity to those farmers who comply with their allotments.

Eddleman explained that all persons are eligible to vote in the June 20 quota referendum who will share in the 1958 wheat crop from a farm in the commercial wheat area on which the wheat acreage to be harvested, plus any acreage to be placed in the wheat Acreage Reserve, will be more than 15 acres.

Farmers eligible to vote include those who are entitled to share in the proceeds of the wheat crop as owner-operator, cash tenant, share tenant or sharecropper. A guardian, administrator, executor, or trustee who engaged in production of wheat may vote, but the person for whom he is acting will not be eligible to vote.

Hall County farmers were notified this week by Lynn McKown, manager of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office, that some of them may need to sign form MQ31, a request to preserve allotment history for cotton land.

This request will prevent the loss of cotton history in the event that full cotton allotment is not needed for the 1957 season.

Cotton farmers should call by the ASC office at their earliest convenience and sign form MQ31, he said. By so doing, they will be assured of maintaining an accurate cotton history for their farm. Final date for signing this form is May 31.
