The Eversole visited the Australian ports of Brisbane, Cairns, and Darwin. Later she also visited Subic Bay, P. I.; Hong Kong; Minamata, and Yokosuka, Japan.

At Subic Bay the Eversole joined in anti-submarine tactics, plane guard operations and radar picketing.

Plymouth Sales At All Time High

Plymouth automobile sales in the Southwest are at a record level and last month hit an all time high with volume up 97 per cent over the corresponding period last year.

The May sales record topped the previous high month, March 1957, by 5 per cent and was ahead of April sales total by 13 per cent.

S. L. Noble, Southwest zone manager of Chrysler's sales group, in commenting on the record month said, "This achievement is a strong indication that the economy in this area is firm. We expect sales to continue at this high level."

Sen. Lyndon Johnson Urges Survey Of Texas Rivers by Army Engineers

Senator Lyndon B. Johnson said Sunday he is urging the Army Engineers to survey every river in Texas and recommend steps that would prevent a repetition of the current flood damage.

"I have had a major ambition since I have been in Congress," Senator Johnson said. "It is to live for the day when every river in Texas is controlled against flood damage insofar as we have the knowledge and the intelligence to control it."

Senator Johnson spoke over his weekly radio broadcast in which he answers questions sent to him by Texans. He said the current flood damage has driven home the lesson of "too little and too late."

Dams already constructed, he pointed out, have saved Texans millions of dollars in property and many lives.

In passing the first four appropriation bills to be considered by both the House and Senate, Congress saved the taxpayers nearly half a billion dollars, he said. He explained that this amount was sliced from the presidential requests "and we have just barely started."

Senator Johnson also said that the decision to shift to a loan program in foreign aid offers a method of helping other nations "without imposing a perpetual burden on our taxpayers."

He said that the record on foreign loans since the end of World War II reveals that other nations have met their payments on time "almost without exception." He said that Congress would be "reluctant" to vote gifts but will give reasonable consideration to sound loan proposals.

Five Supervisors Head Hall County Soil Conservation

The Board of Supervisors of the Hall County Soil Conservation District are looking forward to a bountiful crop year. Planting is in full swing in most of the district, even though much of the land is still wet, Charlie Cape, work unit conservationist, said.

Recent rains have made this vast area look good. Range grasses and the condition of ranges have improved during the last two months, Cape stated. Farmers and ranchers are urged to at least partially rest their grasslands since it takes a year or two of excellent moisture conditions to bring back to peak production.

The Board of Supervisors is the governing body of the Hall County Soil Conservation District. The five supervisors of the district are; J. L. Brooks, Ross Gentry, George Colvin, Johnny Glover, and Pick Bartlett. The board is responsible for setting the policies, making the plan of work, and getting conservation on the land. The Soil Conservation Service is one of the agencies that assist the board in their work.

Ross Gentry To Plant Grass Mixture

Ross Gentry, a supervisor of the Hall County Soil Conservation District plans to plant a mixture of grass seed this month.

Gentry is planting sand love-grass mixed with blue panic on a two acre patch on one of his farms. The grasses are to be planted in rows.

Gentry has been a cooperor of the district for several years.

Music Camp at WTSC To Be Held August 4-16

Area music students planning to attend West Texas State College's fifth annual Music Camp can save $5 on the tuition fee if they act before Saturday, June 15.

Tuition for the music festival, scheduled August 4-16 on the WT campus, normally is $20 but students who enroll before June 15, can do so for $15, according to camp director M. J. Newman. All correspondence should be mailed to Box 426, WT Station, Canyon. Students must enclose a $10 enrollment deposit and pay remaining costs on registration day.

In the past four camps, enrollment has been at capacity and a number of late arrivals have had to be rejected. Size of the camp is determined by the number of dormitory rooms available. Despite the constant increase in dormitory facilities, it has failed to keep up with the demand for accommodations.

Visiting instructors at this years camp will include Harold Bachman, director of bands at University of Florida; Jack Lee, director of bands at University of Arizona; Miss Sonie Rogers, Western Michigan College and a former national twirling champion; L. N. "Cy" Perkins, professor of bands at Midland High School, and Miss Ann Dorris, Dumas High School and former chief majorette at WT.

West Texas State's own staff of Dr. Houston Bright, W. O. Latson, David Kaplan and Newman also will instruct.

Mr. and Mrs. Shelly Hignight returned to their home in Canyon Sunday. Mrs. Hignight had been enjoying a week's visit here.

Mrs. Andy DeWees and son, Vernon Ross, of Lubbock visited in the home of her mother, Hester Bownds.

According to surveyor's measure, 36 square miles comprise a township.

Virginia Diane and Gary Doyle Geter of Dallas spent the past two weeks in the home of their grandmother, Mrs. S. S. Montgomery. They returned home Sunday.

State Swamped With Requests For Fish to Fill Ponds

Land owners whose stock tanks and farm ponds have been dry since they were built now are wanting fish to stock them, according to the Director of Inland Fisheries of the Texas Game and Fish Commission.

On Tuesday the Department received 204 applications in one mail. During the past two weeks thousands of others have poured into the office.

Several of the hatcheries have been badly crippled by flood waters, curtailing the production materially. Applications will be processed and efforts will be made to distribute the fish as equitably as possible to the major impoundments, according to the Director.

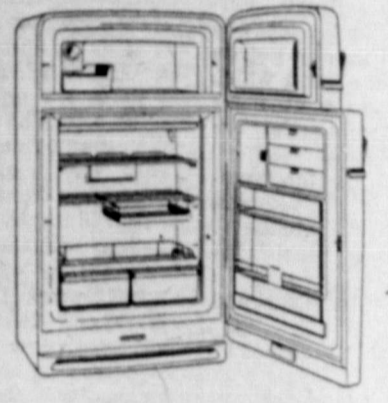

On ponds smaller than ten acres, no fish can be delivered by the Department before Sept. 1. Owners, however, whose application have been approved, can pick up fish by calling at the hatcheries. Since bass fry are no longer available, lakes in excess of nine acres cannot be stocked with them before the spring of 1958.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

A lot of wrong ideas about outboard motors and boats seem to persist year after year. In fact, no nine-lived cat with the homing tendencies of a carrier pigeon was ever harder to get rid of. The reason for this, as Willard Crandall, boating editor of SPORTS AFIELD, points out, is that these fallacies are heard and believed by newcomers to outboarding; and today there are two new outboards for every old one. Thus, the newcomers become sitting ducks for the same old misconceptions.

Here is a partial list of fallacies which, says Crandall, may help to set the record straight: More beam means less speed. This is only true for slow boats, those with five hp-or-less engines. Planning boats slide over the water and the extra width will make them skinnier better.

Transom strength determines motor size. It's true that a transom would weaken under the strain of a too-powerful motor, but before this could happen the boat will probably swamp or upset. Safe power limits are set by manufacturers.

Strength is most important in determining safety. Strength would only be important if the boat were scheduled for an ocean voyage. Since this is unlikely, the boat that's too small or has poor bottom lines is a better candidate for sinking.

It's better and safer to steer from the bow. Up-front steering is a rather new innovation to the outboard field. In a boat not designed for forward weight distribution, steering from the bow could prove dangerous.

Slow boats are safer than fast ones. Boats are not like automobiles. Slow boats have their own hazards. Actually a fast boat is more stable.

High sides mean safety. This is only true to a point. High sides also mean more surface to catch wind which may cause tipping and jerking.

Outboard motors are not dependable. This is the most tenacious fallacy of all. Outboards often caused trouble in the early days, but after more than forty years of production the industry may be considered as grown-up.

The shot fired by the American colonists at Concord was the "shot heard round the world."

ABOUT YOUR HEALTH

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health.
HENRY A. HOLLE, M.D., Commissioner

AUSTIN — If you think "mental illness" and "emotional disturbance" are one and the same thing, you're like most people. But you aren't necessarily correct in your opinion. That's why, especially since this is National Mental Health Week, the difference between the two expressions should be cleared up.

It is a matter of degree. Mental illness is generally considered severe enough to require hospitalization and a regimen of treatment, often for long periods.

On the other hand, many people have emotional disturbances which temporarily affect their mental health. Proper professional help can prevent the trouble from progressing into something more serious requiring hospitalization.

It is in providing this professional help that psychiatric outpatient clinics prove their worth. There are 18 such clinics in Texas. There is a great need for many more.

Clinics are currently operating in Austin, Corpus Christi, Dallas, El Paso, Fort Worth, Galveston, Houston, and San Antonio. The address and telephone number of each is listed in the city telephone directory.

The first comprehensive look at the services rendered by clinics has recently been completed by the State Health Department's Division of Mental Health. It shows that in one year more than 2,400 people—95 percent of them urban areas—were given psychiatric help visiting clinics for consultation and returning home afterward.

And since each patient was a member of a family, the relief of his distress meant happier relations for the entire family.

Most children patients in the 5-9 age group were diagnosed as having personality problems—such things as social conduct and habit difficulties. The bulk of mental deficiencies were also found in this group.

Among adults, the most common diagnosis are personality disorders exclusive of alcoholism or drug addiction. Few psychotic disorders are seen, but when they are most of them are schizophrenic ("split personality") reactions.

Boys and girls do not differ substantially so far as diagnoses are concerned, but of patients under 18, boys outnumber girls by almost twice. Clinic costs per patient range from an average of $99.41 to $272.24.

Nearly three-fourths of all patients were considered "improved" after clinic treatments, a fair gauge of their true worth to the Community.

Mental Health has become the nation's Number One concern. At least nine million Americans are now suffering from a mental disorder. The cost to taxpayers: more than $1 billion a year. More psychiatric outpatient clinics could prevent much of the high cost in dollars—and in human unhappiness.

Report From Washington

By Walter Rogers
Congressman, 18th District

Civil Rights

The Congress is now debating the commonly, but in my opinion, incorrectly named "Civil Rights" bill. It is a stark tragedy that every individual, who has the great privilege of being an American citizen, cannot enjoy the opportunity of hearing the full-dress debate on this subject. They would soon realize that the sinister purpose behind this bill is not to provide additional rights nor to guarantee any present rights against loss. On the contrary, the bill destroys rights now enjoyed by the individual under the Constitution.

In the first instance, it creates another commission or bureau, if you please, to further add to the confused bureaucratic maze of complexities in the executive branch of the government, with which the people are already sorely overburdened. It does not set up any qualifications whatever for the members, yet vests the Commission with wide quasi-judicial, if not full judicial powers.

It would also have the power to appoint all the personnel it could get appropriations to pay. It could use the services of voluntary and uncompensated personnel, but would be authorized to pay traveling and subsistence expenses for these voluntary snoopers. Subsidies alone could be claimed at $12 a day without any specific accounting. You can see the making of a virtual Gestapo in the United States of America by these provisions.

In the second place, the Act has been very cleverly worded so that the right of trial by jury in criminal contempt proceedings is destroyed, without letting the average reader of the Act realize what is being done.

In the third place, it denies the individual the right to say what he will follow in asserting his claimed rights, and leaves this decision, insofar as injunction proceedings are concerned, solely within the discretion of the attorney general of the United States.

There is much that could be said about other rights which are damaged or lost under this Act, but time and space available here will not permit. I do say that this is a matter of the utmost importance to every citizen of the United States, and particularly in the South, because the adoption of this legislation could open the door for a return to the carpetbagger days immediately following the Civil War.

The Act itself is recognized by many of its supporters as being designed for the purpose of punishing the South. This was made most obvious in the testimony of the National Director of Americans for Democratic Action, Mr.

Edward D. Hollander, when he appeared before the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce. I asked Mr. Hollander if it was not a fact that his organization supported centralized control in the federal government. He denied this, and I asked him how he explained the ADA's position on the so-called Civil Rights matter and other similar legislation. He did considerable talking about federal and local responsibility, but let the cat out of the bag when he said the following:

"And, if there were some way you knew whereby the Southern states could guarantee to all of the citizens the right to vote without discrimination, we would think that it would be wonderful—if the federal Civil Rights law were unnecessary."

"Until the states of this country have demonstrated their ability to guarantee these constitutional rights to their citizens, then it seems to us the federal government, under the Constitution, must assume the obligation by default."

In other words, Mr. Hollander inadvertently admitted that the entire Civil Rights controversy grows out of a gross misunderstanding and violently false assumption on the part of a bunch of Northern "do-gooders" who are bent on punishing the Southern states.

Mr. Hollander's testimony reflects that the philosophy of the ADA (a group composed of 40 thousand members) supports the sovereign power of the states only so long as that power is exercised in complete conformity with the beliefs of the ADA. When any state transgresses the thoughts and beliefs of the ADA, the federal centralized control must come into play. Frankly, I can think of no sillier philosophy in the history of mankind.

Incidentally, Mr. Hollander admitted that he had never been in business for himself and knew nothing of the difficulties of meeting a payroll or the rent in such capacity. Substantially all of his working years have been in government employment.

Girard Case

The decision of this government to turn an American soldier over to the Japanese for trial in a Japanese court has brought a deluge of protests to the National Capitol. As the matter now stands, the people of this country have not received sufficient information through news sources to justify in their minds the placing of this boy on the sacrificial altar of international appeasement. It can be said that all the information made available to the press has been published. The question is, whether or not the State Department is withholding information by which they would or could justify the delivery of this boy into the hands of the Japanese authorities. Unless there are ample and sufficient facts upon which to justify such action, the decision to turn the boy over to the Japanese should be immediately rescinded. As for me, I can think of no reason why Girard should not be accorded his constitutional rights as an American citizen, rather than be the victim of the very questionable Status of Forces Treaty.

Waples-Platter Co. Has Long History As Memphis Firm

The Waples-Platter Grocery Company will celebrate its 42nd anniversary in Memphis this year. The grocery wholesale firm first nailed up its sign in Memphis in 1915.

The firm occupied a 25-foot structure on the south side of the square at that time, later moving to the building now occupied by Finch & DeWees Implement Co. As the demand for White Swan, Wapco and Concho brand merchandise grew, they needed more room and bought out a rival wholesaler, Nobles Bros., consolidating the two stocks and moving into the building formerly occupied by Moss Motor Co.

When the facilities there became too small for their business, the firm purchased the block of ground where they are now located, and constructed the modern brick building, believing in the future of Memphis and the surrounding territory.

The first manager of the firm here was Roger Wilson. He was followed by E. W. Gillenwater, Walter Storey, and H. B. Davis. Manager Ottie Jones received his training under these men, and took over the job in 1922. Davis is now manager of the Lubbock branch.

The local staff is now composed of E. E. Crooks, Hubert Jones, Raymond Martin, Jim Hansard, Roy McClure, Edgar Daugherty and T. B. Nelson.

"All of these men are well trained and seasoned operators," Jones said.

They received their training by unloading cars, delivering groceries and doing office work, he added.

President of the company, with general offices in Fort Worth, is Thomas M. Ryan. J. D. Gamel is the executive president and general manager. General sales manager and president of White Swan Coffee Co. is Claude Ferebee, formerly of Clarendon and later manager of the Vernon branch.

Each week salesmen from the Memphis warehouse cover an area bounded by Childress, Spur, Turkey, Quitaque, Silverton, Wellington, Sayre, Granite, and Hollis, Okla. They are followed by truck drivers delivering the merchandise.

These salesmen and drivers are instructed not only to do the job but to also spread good will and advertise Memphis. Jones said, "Part of their job is to put the map on the map and keep there," he continued.

Most of the men employed by the company own homes here and have been active in church and civic affairs.

Joyce Muncy of Oklahoma is visiting here with Mr. and Mrs. Royce Bruce and Judy.

Commissioners Hold Quiet Session

County Commissioners Court met in a quiet session Monday morning and set July 1 as the date for persons to appear before the court who are not satisfied with the recent tax rendition. Commissioners present for the session were George Blewer, Leon Lane, Pete Davis and County Judge Tracy Davis. After approving the usual monthly reports from county officials, the group passed a resolution to borrow $3000 for the use of Road and Bridge Fund No. 3. Another order was passed providing for the money from escrow account No. 602, a total of $754.35, to be divided between Road and Bridge funds numbers 3 and 4.

Commissioners also approved a motion to move Deputy Sheriff Clyde Rogers to Turkey from Estelline. Rogers replaced Deputy Dan Callaway who recently moved to Snyder to be employed by the sheriff's department there.

Deferred Grazing Aids Range Land

Many farmers and ranchers of the Hall County Soil Conservation District have begun deferring their grasslands.

Monroe Jeffers, a cooperater who rents several farms near Deep Lake, has been following this practice. He has good stands of blue grama and buffalograss that are seeding. Jeffers said he planned to defer these pastures in order to obtain a good seed source that would reseed the grassland next year, as well as to help prevent erosion of the soil.

The growing season of grass is a good time to practice deferred grazing according to technicians of the Soil Conservation Service.

Military Justice

It seems that the U. S. Army has finally carried their policy of appeasement of foreign nations to a point where the American people have rebelled, and justly so.

The agreement provides that soldiers be tried in a Japanese court for crimes committed during duty hours.

The point in question is not if Girard killed the woman, but, who should try him. Girard stated that he had been left at the range by a sergeant who told him to look after a machine gun there.

There is also one other angle to this question which probably outweighs all others—Does the Army have the right to turn over American boys to foreign courts.

We believe in doing our best to get along with the other countries where troops are stationed, but we feel that the administrative agreement is going one step too far.

This process of turning over American boys to foreign courts has been going on for several years, and it is high time that something is done about it.

We are happy to see this question come into the light and into the minds of the American people. If the government can draft American boys into service and send them to the ends of the earth, the least it can do is guarantee them a trial in a U. S. Military court.

JUNE WEDDING, THE GET-AWAY

Press Paragraphs— QUOTING OUR NEIGHBORS

Expensive Session For a man who only a few short days ago had to figure ways to defer part of the state's obligations, Governor Daniel is exhibiting a pretty carefree attitude about expenses.

It has been estimated that the special session he wants the Legislature to hold in October will cost upward of $600,000 and will draw the 181 members away from their private affairs for 30 days.

If there were a real emergency, the $600,000 would not be much of a consideration. If the state had a surplus on hand, it would be of less consequence.

The Budget Congressman George Mahon last week from the floor of the House of Representatives told his colleagues they should stand pat on their plans to cut the national budget.

Small Car Outlook A widely discussed topic these days inside and outside the motor industry is the future of the small car.

Others feel that Americans just won't accept small cars, but there has been a surprise. More than 50,000 cars of a small German brand sold in the United States last year.

That has the big American auto magnates looking and thinking. It has been brought out the Nash's Metropolitan, manufactured in Great Britain, has been highly popular.

A couple of decades ago people laughed at the little Austin. They laughed some more at the small sports cars from abroad.

It may be that Americans will quit laughing and start buying them in big numbers. It may be economy; it may be a desire to have something different; anyway you can't ignore the small car market any more.

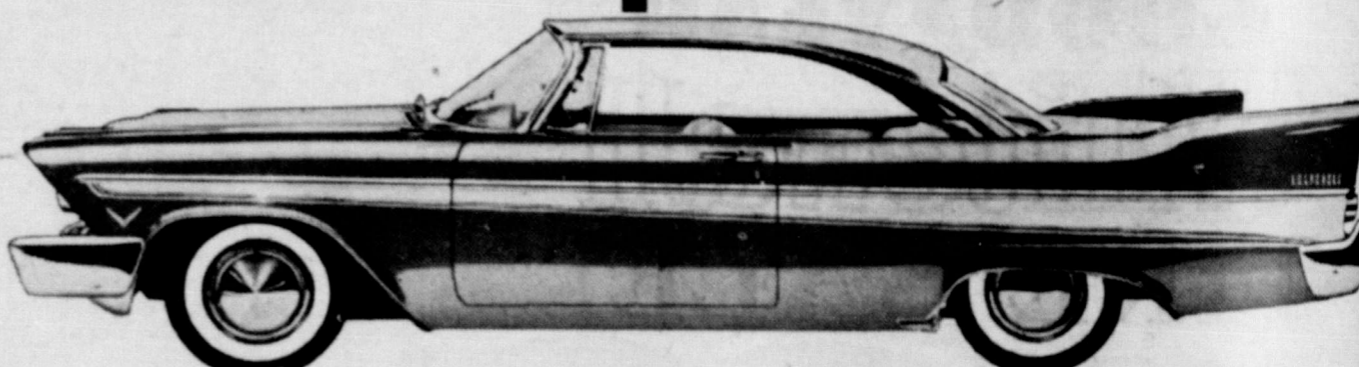

Yack, Yack and Yack Do you remember all the political "yacking" about the Hell River Dam project? The republican politicians were screaming socialism and how detrimental this dam would be to Free Enterprise.

They cried in their beardless faces that private capital and free enterprise could dam up this people better than a bureaucratic dam that damned the American System.

Now lets see how this wonderful American System they were "yacking" about, has worked out. The Hell Canyon Dam project was turned over to the Idaho Power Company.

So we find ourselves in the odd position of turning valuable government property over to big business, pay them to construct the project; make themselves wealthier, while we rear back on our gable ends and call it Free Enterprise.

THE LAW in Texas

SCARED GIANT
The mightiest law making body in the United States Congress and Senators — sit down in the Capitol to make laws.

Annals of the United States Congress show that Congress is, in fact, a giant. It is the only body in the world which can suspend the writ of habeas corpus (unless the public interest demands it during rebellion or insurrection). All officers or others in the custody of the United States are held lawfully.

It is the only body which can pass "bills of attainder" (unlike the public interest during rebellion or insurrection). Congress cannot pass an act which is retroactive.

It is the only body which can pass an act which is a law which makes an act a crime which was not one when done, or which punishes the offender more than called for when done.

4. Congress cannot tax exports from any state nor by regulation favor one state's ports over another's, nor make one state's vessels clear or pay duties to another state in order to enter.

Besides these denials from within, the constitution curbs Congress and the executive and judiciary in the amendments, especially the first ten.

Among other things, Congress cannot make a law respecting an establishment of religion or prohibiting its free exercise, or abridging the freedom of speech, of the press or the right of the people peaceably to assemble and to petition the government for a redress of grievances.

The constitution also curbs the courts (for example, they cannot deny a person a fair hearing duly represented by counsel). It curbs the executive (he cannot, for example, take private property for public use without just compensation.)

The constitution, which divides the work of the three branches of government, winds up by telling where the rest of the power rests—just in case anybody gets any fancy ideas of dictatorship. There are things no state can do, for instance, "make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States."

If there are any powers not given to the United States government or reserved to the states, they belong to the people. The constitution does not seem to limit the people.

(This column, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Conditions Now Indicate Good Quail Crop in Fall

Conditions right now are favorable for an excellent quail crop this year, according to the assistant secretary of the Texas Game and Fish Commission.

"There will be more cover and more favorable conditions for the birds this year than we have had for a long time," he said. "This is particularly true of ground cover. There will be heavy ground vegetation and unless something happens later in the season there will be heavy hatches."

The assistant executive secretary said he had not heard of any heavy damages done to the quail population by floods as yet except in the flooded Lower Brazos area. "There is still plenty of time for additional hatches and with ample food and cover there should be a big crop of birds and they should do well," he said.

At the same time the assistant executive secretary said that release of quail from the Tyler hatchery will start about June 1, in East Texas. The distribution of Southwest Texas birds will begin about July 1. The birds are approximately eight weeks old at the time of release.

The hatchery now has on hand some 8,000 birds for East Texas distribution and 4,000 for Southwest Texas. Additional birds will come off at the rate of approximately 2,000 per week.

These birds are furnished land owners on a cost basis of approximately 50 cents each. Birds can be obtained by making application to the Game and Fish Commission in Austin. The local warden then will be instructed to inspect the land area, offer any suggestions for improvement, and then make a recommendation. After that the hatchery will be notified. Birds are released on a first come first serve basis.

Flying high and shooting true, the crack shot fighter squadron team (VF-112) stationed at the Naval Air Station, Miramar, California, won the title of "The Navy's finest aerial gunners" in the first Navy Fleet Air Gunnery meet. Miramar's VF-112 topped five other teams at both 15,000 and 25,000 feet to win the Earle Trophy, which will be presented annually to the winner of the Fleet Gunnery Meet.

Memphis Youth Center News

By Judy Lemons

The Council of the Memphis Youth Center met Monday night in the Cyclone Drive Inn. Those attending the meeting were Judy Lemons, Judy Phillips, Addie Lou Wells, John McElreath, John Lemons, Kathy Phillips and Frank Smith. They decided that waste baskets should be taken care of. It was discussed whether or not to meet each Monday night. It was decided that it was necessary to meet each Monday night. The Youth Center is planning to have an amateur contest on July 15. The divisions of the contest will be 7th, 8th, and 9th grades, 10th and 12th grades and out of school. We would like everyone to start thinking about this and planning a way to compete in it. Judy Phillips will be working on this summer so Judy will take over his office for the Youth Center in August. The Youth Center was open on Saturday nights. The Saturday night dance was about 120 present. There are about 200 people who now belong to the Youth Center.

Legumes Planted With Feed Crops Improve Soil

Supervisors of the Hall County Soil Conservation District are again urging farmers and ranchers to interplant legumes with their feed crops.

Cowpeas, such as Brabhams, Chinese Reds, or New Era can be mixed and planted with such crops as milo. These legumes will improve the tilth of the soil, may increase the production of the growing crop or crops that follow, and may shade the ground enough to prevent excessive evaporation of ground moisture.

Seed should be inoculated to obtain best results according to Soil Conservation Service technicians.

Out-of-State Fishing License To Be Reduced to $2.15

Visitors from other states from now on will be able to fish in Texas lakes and streams without having to pay a premium for an out-of-state fishing license effective September 1, according to the Executive Secretary of the Texas Game and Fish Commission.

This is a feature of the new fishing license bill passed by the last session of the legislature. The fishing license fee was increased from $1.65 to $2.15, which will increase the revenue of the Department by an estimated $825,000.

"The elimination of the non-resident feature of the license should be helpful in promoting tourism in Texas," according to the Executive Secretary. "Previously when a visitor came to Texas he had to buy a short-period license. Now he can get a license for $2.15 that is good for a year."

Questions & Answers For Veterans

Questions and Answers

Q—I bought a house with a GI loan, and I had to sell it in 1950 because my employer transferred me. Since my loan was not paid off, I could not get my GI entitlement restored. If the purchaser should now pay off the loan, would I still be eligible for restoration of entitlement?

A—Yes, you still may be eligible to get your entitlement restored, even though you sold your house several years ago. The original GI loan, of course, would have to be repaid in full.

Q—I took out my GI insurance policy on February 29, during leap year. In years other than leap year, what will be considered the anniversary date of my policy—February 28 or March 1?

A—During years other than leap year, February 28 will be considered the anniversary date of your policy.

Q—Under the War Orphans Education program, will monthly allowances be stopped if a student's progress is not satisfactory?

A—Yes. They may be resumed only if VA finds that the cause of unsatisfactory progress has been removed, or if the student changes to another course more in keeping with his abilities.

Coturnix Quail Being Planted In Trial Areas

Sportmen of Texas will find a new quail in some areas when the season opens Dec. 1, according to W. J. Cutbirth, Jr., assistant executive secretary of the Texas Game and Fish Commission.

It is the Coturnix quail, a Japanese import, which now is being released in various areas of the state. It is estimated that some eight thousand will be produced at the State Quail Hatchery at Tyler. Already a number have been released, with several more plantings scheduled before the breeding season ends.

The coturnix closely resembles the illustrious bob white. Their feeding habits are somewhat comparable, but the coturnix is more migratory than the bob white. It is supposed to be a very hardy bird.

It already has been released in the El Paso area. Other areas include Travis, Midland, Kerr, Wise, Taylor and McCullough counties. They will be released in different types of quail range for research purposes. All birds are banded and sportsmen are asked to return the bands of the birds they kill to the game department and report the kill of unbanded birds. In that way a veteran taking flight training?

A—For GI flight trainees, entitlement is used up at the rate of one day for each $1.25 paid to them as GI training allowance.

Q—I have a permanent World War II GI insurance policy on the endowment plan. At the end of the endowment period, how will VA pay me the money?

A—You have a choice. You may receive the proceeds in a lump sum or in monthly installments which may range from 36 to 240 months.

Q—Would any compensable service-connected disability qualify a veteran for vocational rehabilitation training under Public Law 894?

A—No. The disability must be of such a nature that the veteran needs training to overcome his handicap.

Q—If I file an application for Korean GI training within three years from my discharge, would that be considered as my official entrance into training before and meeting the deadline for starting training?

A—No. Filing of an application is not sufficient. You actually must be in training before your deadline of three years from discharge.

Q—Under the War Orphans Education program, do the monthly VA allowance checks go to the student or to his living parent?

A—If the student is under 21, the payments go to his living parent. If over 21, he may receive them himself.

Q—My World War II permanent GI insurance lapsed, and VA automatically cancelled it in force under extended term insurance. I want to reinstate my permanent policy. Will I have to take a physical examination?

A—If you reinstate within five years prior to the date the extended insurance would expire, you will not need a medical examination or any medical proof of good health. If you reinstate after that time limit, you will be required to take an examination.

Q—Is a "six-month enlistee" eligible for VA hospitalization after he leaves military service?

A—He would be eligible if he was discharged under other than dishonorable conditions for a line-of-duty disability, or is receiving compensation for a service-connected disability.

Q—I served in World War II, was discharged and went to school under the World War II GI Bill. I served again during the Korean conflict. Would I be eligible for more schooling under the Korean GI Bill, and if so, how much?

A—You may be eligible for training under the Korean GI Bill. To determine how much, subtract the amount of World War II GI schooling you've had from 48 months. You will be entitled to the difference, so long as it does not exceed 36 months of Korean GI training.

Q—I have a Korean GI term insurance policy for nondisabled veterans. Could I convert it to a permanent plan?

A—No. The law prohibits the conversion of your type of Korean GI term insurance to permanent plans. Only those issued to Korean veterans based on service-connected disabilities may be converted.

a study can be made of the conditions best suitable.

There are 200 brood pair at the Tyler hatchery. Their eggs production is high, but the fertility seems to be low in pen birds, according to the Assistant Secretary.

An unusual feature of the coturnix is that the birds sometimes begin laying at 36 days of age. Generally, however, they begin laying at from six to eight weeks. Their eggs are slightly larger than bob white eggs and are speckled, while the bobs lay a white egg. Hatching percentage of the free birds is said to be higher than among penned birds.

Some coturnix birds also are being sold by game breeders to individuals. Bands for these birds will be furnished free when requests are made of the department, according to the Assistant Secretary. All birds released should be banded in order that their movements may be traced.

"It is too early yet to say how successful these birds will be," he says. "We need to learn a great deal more about them before attempting to establish them in Texas. We are trying to determine whether they will be competitive with bob whites or whether they will thrive in areas where bobs don't do so well."

"We can best tell this if we have the cooperation of the sportsmen. When they kill a coturnix, if they will send us the band, we can check on its range. Land owners also can help a great deal by locating the birds and reporting them to our biologists."

Hunting coturnix quail is said to be similar to shooting bobs. They hold well for dog work and will make excellent birds on which to train dogs. They are a slightly smaller bird than the bobs. Their general appearance and coloring is very similar to the bob.

State Police Story To Be Made Into Motion Picture

A study of the infamous "Texas State Police" under E. J. Davis, carpet-bagging governor of 1870-1874, has been bought for the movies from a Texas Christian University history professor.

Dr. William C. Nunn, who holds the Amon Carter Chair of U. S. and Texas history, did the study for his masters' degree thesis.

Called "A Study of the State Police During the Administration of E. J. Davis," it was bought by the Edward Small Productions, Inc., of Los Angeles. The firm has produced several outstanding historical films. Purchase price for the motion picture rights was $500.

"The period of Texas history under Gov. Davis was a turbulent one," Dr. Nunn points out. "The carpet-baggers had moved in after the Civil War and Davis, a native of Florida and an officer in the Union army, managed to get himself elected governor."

He established the "State Police" of about 200 Negroes and uneducated whites. They made arrests without warrants and stirred up such a storm that martial law had to be declared three times during Davis' administration.

"However, not all of their work—or men—were bad. They helped break up some real gangs in the state and L. H. McNeely, later a famous Texas Ranger, was a member. But it was a bad time on the whole and the state adjutant general absconded to Belgium with $30,000."

Local Citizens Attend Water Meet In Childress

Seven Memphis citizens were in Childress Wednesday evening to attend a meeting of the Greenbelt Municipal and Industrial Water Authority where they heard A. Meredith, secretary of the Canadian River Authority, discuss problems which affected both organizations.

Attending the meeting were Wendell Harrison, J. W. Coppedge (directors of the organization), Mayor O. L. Helm, Mills Roberts, H. E. Craig, E. M. Wilson and Clifford Farmer, manager of the Memphis Chamber of Commerce and Hall County Board of Development.

Arrangements were made at the meeting for Judge Dent of Littlefield, a member of the State Board of Water Engineers, to visit with representatives of towns in the area on June 26 and 27, Harrison said.

"We are trying to make arrangements to have a joint meeting of the Lions and Rotary Clubs on June 27 in order that the guest speaker can explain some of the problems involved in getting a dam placed on the Salt Fork of Red River," Harrison stated.

The cities included in the proposed organization are Clarendon, Hedley, Memphis, Wellington, Paducah, Childress and Quanah.

Play Continues In Summer Baseball Program

Baseball play in the Little and Teenage Leagues will continue this week with two games, which were rained out last week, set for Friday night, Dave Corley, coordinator of the program, said.

These two games will be played in conjunction with the Lions Club park opener event, scheduled for that night.

Corley stated that a new ruling was placed in effect this week which limits the time of each game to a maximum of two hours.

"Many of the games have been continuing so late that it has been difficult for the parents, especially those living in the country, to attend," he said. "If as many as four innings have been completed in the two-hour period, then the game will be counted in the averages."

Telephone Co

$1.00 hike in all classes of residential service.

After being questioned by city councilmen about a changeover to dial service here, the telephone company representatives came forward with a second proposal which would increase rates $2.50 on individual business lines and 50 cents on all classes of residential service. Under this proposal the company would furnish dial telephone service in Memphis within 30 months after the passage of an ordinance increasing rates.

Members of the City Council did not act on the request at the Friday meeting, since there was not a quorum present, Mayor Helm said.

The last increase in rates was granted to the company in 1954. At that time one-party business telephones were increased $2.25 per month and one-party residential services increased $1.00.

H. E. Craig, district manager for the company, stated that the rates put into effect at that time were below those originally requested but were placed in effect in order to obtain immediate relief from extremely inadequate earnings.

"Experience with these rates, which presently are being charged, has not resulted in an improvement in earnings," Craig said. "This is due to the fact that the increased revenue from the 1954 rate increase has not met the increased cost of furnishing service brought by higher wages paid employees, higher taxes and higher prices paid for materials and equipment."

At the same time the rate increase was requested here, company officials presented a similar proposal to the Clarendon City Council. Both cities now have the same rates, a company spokesman said.

No action was taken at the meeting Friday and council members expressed a desire to study the proposal.

"Preliminary discussion seemed to indicate that the best solution to the problem would probably be the shift to the dial system as an answer to our future telephone service," Mayor Helm said.

The City Council will discuss the request in full at their next regular meeting on July 2 unless conditions warrant otherwise, he added.
