ABOUT YOUR HEALTH

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health. HENRY A. HOLLE, M.D., Commissioner

AUSTIN—"School days, school days, all around the state," may stray somewhat from the original song, but it means that come September, around 263,000 little Texans will be going off to school for the first time.

In anticipation of this the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the Texas State Department of Health is girding itself for the annual last minute onslaught of thousands of requests for birth certificate photostats.

It seems that each year the situation repeats itself. Most school districts require proof of birth in the form of a birth certificate or photostat for students entering school for the first time in the first grade.

Harried mothers all too often forget about this requirement until middle of August. By then the Bureau of Vital Statistics is flooded with thousands of similar requests for photostat copies resulting in a delay in the receiving of the copy for two weeks or more.

In efforts to speed up the process, the bureau each year hired extra help and works overtime, in addition to using certain speed-up techniques to aid in the location of the original certificates kept on permanent file at the Department of Health.

Most of the requests will be for six-year-old children. Knowing this, vital statistics personnel arrange the record books containing the 217,470 certificates of birth for the year 1951 and part of the "stacks" for 1950 so that access will be easier and quicker.

The removal and replacement of the certificates for photostating is done at the "stacks" by the extra personnel instead of at the photostat machine by the technicians in the usual manner.

In this way a staggering pile-up of record books is avoided and the issuance of birth certificate photostats is greatly speeded.

State Registrar Don Carrol asks that requests for photostat copies be made as soon as possible to avoid the rush. Contact your local health department or send as soon the request to the Bureau of Vital Statistics, State Health Department, Austin, Texas.

Be certain to include the child's name, name of both parents, and the date and place of birth. Enclose one dollar ($1.00) with your request. Cash is requested.

Write tonight to be sure to get your photostat on time.

AUSTIN—Half of the men and a fourth of the women in the United States smoke cigarettes daily, according to a recent survey by the U. S. Bureau of Census. That adds up to something like 38 million cigarette addicts—25 million men and 13 million women.

Those figures, besides revealing the extent to which the smoking habit has become ingrained among Americans, accentuate the grimness of the recently validated relationships between cigarette consumption and the general death rate, including dreaded lung cancer.

It took the American Cancer Society four years of concentrated study of the smoking habits of 188,900 men to reach these conclusions:

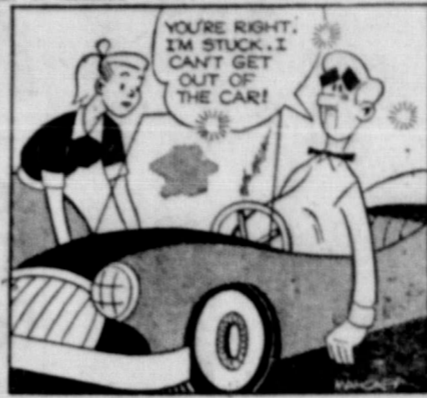

A 57 per cent greater death rate from disease of the heart and circulatory system among smokers as compared to non-smokers; a 97 per cent greater cancer death rate; a 186 per cent greater death rate due to pulmonary diseases excluding cancer; and a 29 per cent greater rate of death from all other causes.

Among men over 50 with a history of regular cigarette smoking, the general death rate is 52 per cent above the death rate for men who have never smoked.

The same study revealed a slight relationship between pipe smoking and lung cancer, and practically no relationship between cigar smoking and lung cancer. Present studies indicate that the reason cigarettes are more important in the cause of lung cancer than either pipes or cigars is that the tars in cigarette smoke is drawn in at much higher temperatures.

In support of statistical evidence relating smoking to cancer death rates, it is possible to prove the connection by laboratory methods. By condensing the smoke of burning cigarettes and painting the gummy tars on the shaved backs of mice or rabbits, laboratory technicians have produced cancerous growths on the animals. The question as to whether men who smoked but quit have a lower death rate than those who have not quit has also been answered statistically. Men who quit ten years before the study was made showed a death rate almost as low as those who had never smoked.

Should you stop smoking? You must answer that question alone. Ask yourself if the fleeting pleasure you get from cigarettes—described as "adult pacifiers" by the late Dr. William Mayo—outweigh the risks involved.

And keep in mind that the best scientific talent in the world is convinced that steady cigarette smoking constitutes a health hazard of major proportions.

The American Cancer Society has turned its results over to the National Institute of Health for further checking.

Game, Fish Comm. Reports Costal Fishing Excellent

Costal fishing right now is at its best, according to all reports reaching the Texas Game and Fish Commission. They are catching boat loads of all kinds of salt water fish from Port Arthur to Port Isabel, and a hundred miles out in the Gulf.

Calm water on the Gulf has made for more comfortable fishing, too, the report indicates. Boats working the snapper banks a hundred miles out in the Gulf report excellent water over the past week end. One boat fishing in the snapper "flower bed" area 130 miles south of Lake Charles, came in with a load of snapper, 'cuda and other fish caught in 30 fathoms of water that resembled a looking glass. Only movement in the water was the playful flying fish.

In the Freeport area they were catching big tackle busting kings. Rockport and Corpus Christi areas reported excellent trout fishing. Farther on down in the Mansfield-Port Isabel area they were catching big trout and reds.

Trout fishermen were finding plenty of fish all the way from Port Arthur to Galveston. Roll-over area was reported as being "very hot."

Congressman, 18th District

Story of Little Boy Who Cried "Wolf" (1957 Version)

You have all heard the story of the little boy who was left to watch the sheep and was told to call out if a wolf appeared. He called out several times when there was no wolf, to the dismay of the men who came to help. When a wolf finally appeared his cries for help went unheeded, and as the story goes, the wolf ate all the sheep, and some people say the little boy.

We have a modern day version of this which would do something like this. Once upon a time there was a little boy named Val Peterson, who had a friend called the President. The President had many, many things to do. Included among these was the responsibility of developing a warning system to protect the American people against a Russian bear. He thought the best way to do this would be to keep a sharp lookout, and whenever the bear attacked, he could warn the people so that they could scurry into safe places and protect themselves from the bear. So, he bought a large whistle with a long string on it. He then sat his little friend, Val Peterson, by this whistle and told him that it was his duty to pull the string which would blow the whistle and warn the people that the Russian bear was coming. Little boy Peterson was so fascinated with his job and so anxious to pull the string and blow the whistle that he devised a plan to blow the whistle even though there wasn't any Russian bear coming so that the people would scurry to places of safety. By this means he reasoned that a test could be run on whether or not there were enough places of safety for the people to scurry to and whether or not there were enough roads for the people to do the scurrying on. He advertised this plan widely, and on the appointed day pulled the string, and lo and behold the whistle blew. However, much to his dismay, the people didn't scurry. For some reason the people didn't understand that they were supposed to run and hide because the little boy had blown the whistle. However, the little boy was so enchanted by the sound of the whistle that he continued to pull the string each day, and it wasn't long before the people had become so accustomed to hearing the whistle it did not even cause comment.

In fact, the recent "Operation Alert," a mock air raid on the City of Washington and other major cities of the nation, designed to produce casualties of 54 million people, was executed. This operation even included the little boy's friend, Mr. President. He was provided with two helicopters which spirited him and the secret service men from the White House to a secret destination. As you can imagine, this was a major exercise of such proportions as to draw the attention of many millions of people, especially those who were supposed to be killed. The only catch was that the people had heard the whistle so many times they paid no attention to it and did not know anything about "Operation Alert" until they read about it in the newspaper after they were dead or maimed. This has caused a great deal of concern among those who conceived the plan, but it is rumored that a solution may have been found. It has been suggested that, since the little boy has blown the whistle so many times and the people have become so used to hearing it, the only effective warning, should the Russians approach, would be for the little boy NOT to blow the whistle.

The little boy was promoted recently to be Ambassador to Denmark. The moral seems to be—if you want to be an Ambassador, you don't have to toot your own whistle—you can toot the government's.

I apologize if this seems somewhat facetious, because I fully realize the great need for a proper warning system in the event this country is invaded. However, I think it is foolish to continue programs which cost the taxpayers lots of money and which are not producing the results that should be produced. I feel the plan or program should be weighed against the possible danger involved. I have never felt there was a great danger of this country being attacked by Russian planes dropping bombs. There is no doubt that Russia could get some planes through to drop bombs on our major cities if she sent enough planes in the first place. However, this is not a one-way street. Russia realizes this country has the potential to retaliate on a ratio of at least 10 to 1 should anyone in Russia become foolish enough to attack this country. In the first place, the congested areas of Russia are so much more congested than in the United States that an equivalent bomb dropped on equivalent localities in both countries would do much more damage in Russia, in so far as taking human lives—the reason being that Russia has no residential districts. The people live in living quarters set aside in huge apartment type buildings. These living quarters are so small in many instances that the manner in which people are crowded in these buildings resembles stacked cordwood. The Russians have no private conveyances to speak of and would have no way in the world to depart from these congested areas should a war break out. For these and many other reasons, I do not believe that we are on the verge of war with Russia, and I do not think we should continue to spend tremendous sums on programs that could be considerably better, much more efficiently handled, and at a much cheaper price. If we continue to maintain our defenses as we have in the past and do not relax our vigilance, our country will be here for a long, long time.

New Folders Tell How To Catch Catfish, Carp

Be you carp or catfisherman? The Texas Game and Fish Commission has some red hot information for you. In pamphlets just issued there is expert advice on how to catch both catfish and carp. The publications also tell how to cook them.

Carp fishing has become quite a fad on many Texas lakes and streams, where fishermen have found them to be plentiful and real battlers. Biologists of the Commission are doing everything they can to eradicate carp as "rough fish."

There are still thousands of fishermen who like to catch carp. Many private dock owners bait holes for carp fishing. They grow big and fight hard.

The folder on catfish describes the individual fish and tells how the fisherman can identify them. It also tells of methods of taking catfish, and the kinds of baits best suited to catfishing.

Copies of these pamphlets can be had by writing to the Game and Fish Commission, Walton Building, Austin, Texas.

Replica of Earth Satellite To Be At State Fair

A full-size replica of the "man-made moon" which will be launched into space to circle the earth will be exhibited at the 1957 State Fair of Texas, Oct. 5-20.

The Dallas Health Museum will display the earth satellite model, along with much of the IBM calculating equipment which will gauge its flight and record its reports. A model of the three-stage rocket which will carry the "moon" into space also will be on exhibit.

The exhibits will be furnished by the U. S. Naval Research Laboratory in Washington, D. C., where the technical program is being carried out for Project Vanguard.

Vanguard represents man's first real attempt to conquer space. The earth satellite, a sphere 20 inches in diameter packed with intricate instruments, will be fired into outer space where it will circle the earth in an orbit some 300 miles out. Its instruments will send back data by radio which will assist scientists in their studies of space.

The launching of the "man-made moon" is one of the experiments to be carried out in the United States' scientific program for the current International Geophysical Year which began July 1.

It is estimated that the "Vanguard" project has already cost $57,000,000, with hundreds of the nation's scientists involved in work to perfect the satellite sphere, design the equipment to track it and build the giant rocket to take it up.

Soil Conservation News

By WILLIAM SWINDEL

Bass grow fast only during summer and early fall—a five or six-month season of abundant food. The major food is newly hatched fingerling bluegills in a bass-and-bluegill pond. A pond owner in the Hall County Soil Conservation District, therefore, must fertilize his fishpond all summer long to grow the most pounds and the largest bass.

Fertile water grows green microscopic algae which feeds a heavy pondage of worms. The worms grow more bluegills. The bluegills would grow in summer, too, if they didn't spawn. They do spawn, however, and the tens of thousands of little bluegills eat so much food that their parents cannot grow during the June to October period.

Some pond owners stop their fertilization program to keep the bluegills from spawning so This is a bad mistake. Bass not grow unless they are fed. A heavier pondage of bass help prevent an overpopulation of bluegills—by eating more of the following fall, winter, spring. This important "thin" of the bluegill population in October, following their spawning season. It ends in early mer when the bluegills spawn again. Failure to maintain fertility throughout the spawning period, and fall results in production of bass.

"The best ponds—the best thing—require good summer fertility. Next year's bass crop depends on it," says Soil Conservation Service technicians.

The only modern Short Stroke SIX!

Another reason why Ford Trucks Cost Less

Under the broad hood of that boldly modern '57 Ford there's something you won't find in any other pickup. It's a six-cylinder engine with modern Short Stroke design.

Because of Short Stroke design, Ford engines—both Six and V-8—have less internal friction. This means less wear, less repair. Coupled with new 8.3 to 1 compression ratio—it also means more miles from every gallon of gas.

Ford trucks cost less in every way! First cost is low; many, many models are priced below every other make. Ford resale value is traditionally high. And independent insurance experts have certified for the 12th straight year that Ford trucks last longer. Act now—save now and for years to come!

Punishment for Political Beliefs

Texas citizens can be happy this week that it wasn't J. Evetts Haley who was elected Governor of the state last year. Haley's true colors showed last week, according to the Lubbock Avalanche Journal, when he engineered a secret session of the Board of Directors of Texas Technological College and secured a vote against the renewal of contracts for two faculty members during the executive session.

Dr. Byron Robert Abernethy, professor of government, and Dr. Herbert Marvin Greenberg, assistant professor of psychology and associate director of the vocational rehabilitation counseling program, were the two men who failed to have their contracts renewed. The dismissal of both of the men was beyond a doubt punishment for not believing the same way that Haley did on political matters.

Dr. Abernethy has been active in the past in support of Sen. Ralph Yarborough and other policies of that faction of the Democratic Party which holds true to the old line party beliefs. Haley was, no doubt, able to convince the rest of the board, all of whom were appointed by former Governor Shivers or Gov. Daniel, that Dr. Abernethy should not be allowed to continue working at the school. There are nine men on the board. Haley alone should not be blamed for its action.

The second man relieved of his position was probably dropped because of his views on segregation. Haley conducted his campaign last summer on a strong anti-integration plant and was unhappy over a survey recently completed on the Tech Campus by Dr. Greenburg.

The board did not give reasons for dismissing either of the men. Haley said the board released the two faculty members because they did not "measure up to the high intellectual and academic standards set by the administration and the board of directors of Texas Tech." However, Dr. E. N. Jones, president of the college, said he disagreed with Haley's statement on the board's academic rating of the two professors.

Over 300 members of the Tech faculty met last week to protest the firing and stated the dismissals were "manifestly unjust" in that they were held in secret session. The resolution adopted by the group also stated the firings "tend to discourage freedom of thought and to create in the mind of every member of the staff faculty a feeling of insecurity."

If the board can so openly use this method to dispose of those who do not agree with them politically, our state is in a dangerous position. The action has caused protests from all parts of the state and will no doubt be brought up at the next meeting of the board on August 17. Most of the protest has been against the manner in which the men were dismissed without giving them a chance to appear before the board. There has been, in the last few years, a great tendency for governing bodies to make more and more use of the executive (secret) session. We believe that this is one of the greatest dangers to the freedom of the people of this country. The business of the people should be open to the people at any and all times.

National Farm Safety Week

This week, July 21 through 27, has been set aside as National Farm Safety Week in an effort to focus attention on the tragic loss of life and property which takes place each year on our farms. If 1957 holds true to the average, some 15,000 farm residents will die of farm mishaps and another 1,300,000 will be injured. Accidents on the farms have progressed to a point where it is the most dangerous industry in the world. Most people think of coal mining as a very dangerous work but each year more persons are killed and injured, percentage wise, on farms than are in any other major industry.

The reason for this is generally attributed to the type of work which a farmer must do. During the busy part of the year he is working long hours in the fields and after becoming exhausted, may be tempted to take short cuts. Most mishaps occur during these periods of peak work and can be combated in only one way—by the farmer himself. Since the work must be done, the farmer should be more and more careful, as he works longer hours each day.

Farm machinery is a big killer. Careless handling of equipment causes many accidents but even a careful operator may be hurt if he is running a broken or worn machine. A good maintenance program for machinery could do much to keep down farm tragedies.

Hall County 4-H Club members have done an excellent job in the past in trying to eliminate the risks of their farms, but they cannot do the job alone. Every member of every farm family in the county must work toward the elimination of the hazards on their farm if we are to stop this needless waste of life and property. One good place to begin this campaign is inside the home itself. Last year over 4,000 farm people died from accidents inside the house. This does not include the 3,500 who died from fires occurring at the rate of 300 per day.

The list could go on and on, this tabulation of statistics, without every mentioning the hours spent in a hospital bed just because a fork was left lying down where someone could step on it. There are a few accidents which are real "accidents," but most of those so called could be prevented with a little thought and a small amount of action. However, they can only be prevented by each and every one of us doing his share to remove the dangers lurking all over the farm.

Press Paragraphs— QUOTING OUR NEIGHBORS

Off the Truck —Into the House

Before the war, Perryton used to be visited several times each summer by a traveling medicine show, with a portable stage, a couple of musicians, a barker and a lot of medicine in bottles of jars.

There has been no medicine shows in town since the war, to our knowledge.

They have moved into the living room—via television.

TV has restored the old barker, and put him before a larger audience. These men dressed in white who hawk their wares on TV commercials, make fantastic claims and apparently have plenty of suckers.

Their magic elixirs are good for the ills of man or beast, their salve will cure corns or clear up acne, their hair restorer will put fuzz on a billiard ball, they have headache powders which cure twice as fast.

Their bottled wares will cure tired blood or speed up sluggish circulation.

The vogue is to make these claims while dressed in white, with perhaps a stethoscope draped around the neck. This gives the appearance of respectability and without saying so, leads you to believe a bona fide doctor is making these claims.

The Federal Trade Commission objects to the men in white. They have been ordered to cease and desist playing like doctors. But we notice little let-up in the tirade of pills, ointments, etc., which are hawked nightly over our television set.

In the old days it used to be the sheriff who ran "Doc" and his bunch out of town. The FTC needs to do the same on a nationwide basis.—Ochiltree County Herald.

Today's Fable

Once there was a little boy. When he was three weeks old his parents turned him over to a baby-sitter. When he was two, they dressed him up like a cowboy and gave him a gun. When he was three, everybody said, "How cute," as he went about lipping a beer commercial jingle.

When he was six, his father occasionally dropped him off at Sunday School on his way to the golf course. When he was eight they bought him a BB gun and taught him to shoot sparrows. He learned to shoot windshields by himself!

When he was ten he spent his after-school time squatting at a drug store newsstand reading comic books. His mother wasn't home and his father was busy.

When he was thirteen, he told his parents other boys stayed out as late as they wanted to—so they said he could too. It was easier that way.

When he was fourteen they gave him a deadly two-ton machine, wangled a license for him to drive it, and told him to be careful.

When he was fifteen, the police called his home one night and said, "We have your boy. He's in trouble."

"In trouble?" screamed the father. "It can't be MY boy!"

But it was.

Attitude Toward Farmers

We hope we are not so provincial as not to realize there are two sides to most questions. Having lived off the farmer so long we must take it for granted we are quick to see the farmer side, slow to view problems from another angle. This is a preface to the statement that reports out of the national capital and out of the big centers of population bother us.

For instance, Congressman George Mahon, little given to wordy alarms, says the "policies and pronouncements of the Secretary of Agriculture in the past four and a half years have had a telling effect on the attitude of people of the non-farm areas."

These non-farm groups are in the majority, he points out, both in and out of Congress, and their new attitude is disturbing so far as a long range program favorable to the farmer is concerned.

These non-farm people have been subsidized for so long they take it as normal for them to be so. They do not realize that their subsidies, dating back many, many years, finally put such a burden on the back of the farm people that at one time there was good reason to expect a farmers' revolt. There was going to be violence had the federal government not come to its senses. Now it seems we may have started back over the same old road. That's a gloomy way to look at things.

To add to the gloom it may be fairly said that the farmers themselves are "more dis-united" than they have been in years. There is more division among corn growers even than among the cotton people. And corn is king in the farm world. Acreage in corn exceeds that of wheat and cotton combined and the corn growers have thrown their weight around in Congress more than growers of any of the other basic farm commodities. Congressmen from agricultural constituencies are much concerned. They are looking for remedies to the situation in which the farmer finds himself straight-laced.—Floyd County Hesperian.

The god "Pan" was supposed to be responsible for human fears—hence our word, "panic."

Perhaps you wish to save for some definite purpose, to buy a home, make sound investments. Then you can need to enlarge on a plan of savings, and set up a SAVINGS ACCOUNT at our bank. Too, you can add your Checking Account and accomplish the same purpose. Whatever your purpose for saving, we are in and talk to one of our officers. We can help you with your "money problems."

Around and About

by Helen Combs

Truly as American as the coffee break is the summertime vacation! The heat of summer is forgotten as plans are made for that long-talked-about trip. Among all of our associates we can think of only one friend who does not take off in the summer.

True, some escape to the cooler climates . . . while others ignore the heat and simply go wherever they choose. This week enjoying the cool of Colorado are Mr. and Mrs. Dick Fowler and children, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Brown and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Kinard and Kelly, Mrs. D. L. C. Kinard, and Mr. and Mrs. O. V. Alexander. Then, there are Mr. and Mrs. Sam J. Hamilton and Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Howell who have just returned from a vacation at Estes Park, Colo.

Taking longer jaunts this summer are Mr. and Mrs. Glen Carlos, who recently visited Yellowstone National Park . . . and Mrs. Reba Stroehle and daughter Billie Jean who left Monday for their summer home in Colorado to visit Yellowstone. Then, there are Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Crawford and son who decided on a trip to St. Louis to see some of the Big League baseball games. They left Monday. Mr. and Mrs. James Norman are in California visiting their son who is serving with the Marines.

But, then, after a week—two weeks—the vacation comes to an end . . . the weary traveler returns home! No matter how joyous the vacation, into his mind flashes this old adage as he opens his own front door: "Be it ever so humble, there's no place like home."

A brother of Mrs. John Dennis and a sister of Mr. Dennis died within three hours of each other at their homes in Oklahoma City Wednesday evening after suffering heart attacks. Both former Memphis residents, Pete Martindale and Mrs. J. V. Barber, were related to several families here. Mrs. Barber died about 5 p. m. at the home of her daughter while Mr. Martindale suffered the attack while attending church services. He died about 8 p. m.

In talking with J. W. Coppedge, we learned the Little League baseball program will come to a close next Tuesday evening, J. W. said, in his opinion, the program has been highly successful this season. On Monday evening around 60 boys were present and participated. The program has provided worthwhile recreation, fellowship and entertainment. Plans are already in the making to continue the Little League next summer.

Basically, we think of the program as providing fun for the young boys, but one mother, Mrs. Billy Thompson, said the games had kept her home, too! Not because she had to stay, but rather that she preferred seeing the Little League games to going out of town for the weekend. We feel sure many other adults feel the same way . . . and now that the games are over, vacations will be the order of the day.

The program will be climaxed with awards night which will be held sometime in the near future, the date to be announced soon. Special awards will be given at this time.

Mrs. J. J. McMickin was telling us Monday that among her visitors over the weekend was her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Powell of Lubbock, early-day Memphis residents. After a visit with friends about town, Mr. Powell confessed to his sister that a visit with old-time and for separate property, for homestead property, and for all of the many possible combinations of surviving relatives. Each situation must be carefully studied to determine the correct distribution of this property.

For example, here is a general idea of how the community property which you and your spouse have accumulated will be divided if you do not make a will prior to your death.

If your husband or wife survives and there are no children, the surviving spouse receives all of the property.

If, in addition, there are surviving children or descendants of deceased children, they would divide one-half of the property, while the surviving spouse would receive the other one-half.

Of course, grandchildren do not share in the estate unless their parent who would inherit is deceased. And when descendants of previously deceased children do inherit, they receive only the portion that the child would have received, regardless of the number of such descendants.

An odd note, perhaps, is that the surviving spouse already owns one-half of the community estate prior to your death, and the law adds nothing to this sale where there are children surviving.

When there are only children and their descendants surviving, they divide the entire community estate between them.

Vets To Receive Fee Refunds From Land Program

More than $16,000 in fee refunds will soon be in the hands of Texas veterans, Land Commissioner Earl Rudder said Friday.

The fees were collected by the Veterans' Land Board from ex-servicemen buying land through the Veterans' Land Program. Some transactions were not completed, but until now fees could not by law be returned.

Commissioner Rudder recommended to the Legislature during its last session that the law be changed to authorize refund of these fees.

"I want to commend the Legislature for giving the veterans the just refund of their money," the Land Commissioner remarked.

A total of $16,271.80 will be returned to 229 veterans who have submitted fees since the Program reopened in October, 1955, but who did not complete their transactions.

This is an average of $71.06 per veteran. The largest refund will be $100, the amount each veteran must pay in fees. Several will receive the full amount.

Half of the $100 covers closing expenses, $25 is appraisal fee, and $25 is a contract service fee.

The Veterans' Land Board began mailing refunds this week. Most will be mailed within several weeks, Commissioner Rudder said.

Vacationing in Colorado are Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Kinard and son Kelly. Mrs. D. L. C. Kinard accompanied them to Almont where she plans to vacation for several weeks.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

It has been said that most accidents afield come from incompetence and thoughtlessness. It is true that certain precautions must be taken in rough country, but there is more danger in crossing a city street than there is in the wilderness, according to Col. Townsend Whelen, camping editor of Sports Afield magazine.

However, a man in the field may be miles from medical aid, and thus should keep in mind the ounce-of-prevention slogan. For example, he should handle his ax with great care; be sure of his footing on rough ground; never attempt dangerous climbs that may be avoided; stand clear of the rear of his horse; and cook with gas or oil only where there is proper ventilation.

There is practically no danger from disease in the healthy outdoor air. But after a time a man may lose his immunity to the germs of the cities and crowds, and become liable to infection upon his return.

Yet, perhaps the greatest danger of all to the camper comes from falling trees, says Col. Whelen. Most camping manuals will caution not to camp near dead, standing timber or under a tall isolated tree in a field. Lying awake at night in the mountain jungle of Panama, every half an hour or so one will hear, near or far, the crash as an old giant tree falls. It stands to reason that where there are thousands of high trees some of them will fall every little while. Lightning will also topple trees.

While it does not pay to take chances, it also does not pay to worry about what possibly may happen. Too much overconcern, and a man will never leave the city limits. A little good sense will almost guarantee a pleasant—and a safe—camping trip.

State Trappers Get Four Bighorns For Black Gap

Two more desert bighorns from Arizona have been added to the Black Gap management area in Brewster County, it has been announced by E. A. Walker, director of wildlife restoration of the Texas Game and Fish Commission. The two latest additions are a ram and an ewe. Previously two ewes had been flown into the 600 acre pasture where the Commission hopes it will be possible to produce a herd of the native southwestern sheep.

Rainwater catchments and several concrete troughs have been provided to supply water for the animals. The entire area is surrounded by a deer-proof fence.

Trapping is continuing in Arizona. It is hoped that several more sheep can be trapped before the rainy season begins. This will stop trapping because the sheep then will leave the few watering places that have been available during the summer.

Wardens Finish Antelope Count in Texas Panhandle

The total count of antelope in the Panhandle area of Texas this year showed a decrease over a similar count last year, but more bucks are present, according to E. M. Spratt, director of law enforcement of the Texas Game and Fish Commission.

The count was made by Pilot Warden Frank Hamer, Jr., and biologist Bob Van Cleave. They flew 57 hours in making the check, and counted 1564 antelope. On a similar count last year Hamer checked 1822.

This showed a decrease of 299, with 205 antelope killed on the Panhandle hunt in 1956.

"In 1956 there were 563 bucks counted in the area," Hamer said. "There were 205 taken on the hunt, leaving 358. This year there were 419 adult buck antelope counted, giving a gain of 61 bucks since October 1956."

The count showed 838 does and 307 fawns, all in good condition. Hamer believed many of the Texas antelope might have been driven across the line into New Mexico by recent aerial spraying for grasshoppers just prior to the count.

Prospects for a limited hunt this fall are promising at this time.

Mrs. Grace Duke returned last week from Fayetteville, Arkansas, where she visited with relatives.

Sen. Yarborough Urges Conservation Of Texas Water

Three times last week, Senator Ralph Yarborough stood up on the floor of the U. S. Senate to advocate further extensions of the water conservation policies he has long urged in Texas. According to information from Washington, some of his statements urged operations into new scientific fields of water conservation.

On Wednesday, July 17, Yarborough called to the attention of the Senate, experiments in the Southwest which indicate that a chemical blanket can be placed on top of water on lakes preventing loss by evaporation, and that these chemicals are harmless to human, animal, fish and plant life.

On Thursday, he stated that the recent Texas floods which filled surface reservoirs did not fill underground reservoirs and that underground tables did not rise in many areas. The Senator called for more dams and conservation of surface water as a means to take the place of the lost underground water supplies.

On Friday, July 19, Senator Yarborough rose again to comment on the half million dollar appropriation recommended by the Senate Public Works Committee for extensions on work on McGee Bend Dam on the Angelina River in Texas.

In presenting his case for increased water conservation in the Southwest, and for an increase in the federal appropriations for that purpose, Sen. Yarborough buttressed his arguments with editorials from three daily newspapers in Texas, the Fort Worth Star Telegram, Beaumont Enterprise and Tyler Courier Times.

Sen. Yarborough has testified before Senate and House Committees for funds for nine different dams on eight Texas rivers in the brief time he has been in Washington.

Farm, Ranch Taxes Rise for 10th Straight Year

Farm and ranch taxes in Texas have risen for 10 consecutive years and agricultural prices have declined for four consecutive years, almost doubling the tax load of Texas farmers and ranchmen during the five-year period.

L. P. Gabbard of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and Tommy W. Smith of the Agricultural Research Service, United States Department of Agriculture, who made the survey, said that the average tax per acre on farm and ranch real estate in Texas last year was 31.8 cents, an increase of .8 cent, or 2.6 per cent over 1955.

It is the highest average tax per acre yet reached in Texas, they pointed out.

While the average tax increased 2.6 per cent for the state, it declined as much as 17.1 per cent in some sections of the Rolling Plains, and increased as much as 22.4 per cent in the Corpus Christi cotton producing area.

estate taxes to the value of governmental units practically unchanged at schools, including junior received 56.7 per cent of Farm personal property declined slightly, probably of declining prices for agricultural commodities and drouth.

Areas in which the average per acre decreased are, most part, devoted to stress on ranchmen falling cattle prices and conditions.

Taxes have risen in Texas generally because of rising local government. Property are the main source of government revenue, the concluded. Therefore, in sight for farmers and men, at least so long as taxes are the primary support of local government.
