Rayburn Backs Move To Study Red River Salt

Interest was renewed again this week in the possibility of getting salt on Red River when Speaker Rayburn entered the picture in Washington. The move came when Speaker Rayburn recently made one of his rare appearances in Congress as a congressional witness to seek substantial increase in funds to study Red River pollution.

of the Denison Chamber of Commerce testified a food processing plant decided not to locate at Denison because of the high mineral content of the lake water.

Area proponents of a dam on Red River, located either in Childress or Hall County, have for years recognized the arguments put forth by Speaker Rayburn. They contend that the proposed dam would do much to prevent the pollution and sedimentation of Lake Texhoma.

First Steers Taken To Market Monday Under Commercial Feeding Program

Monday nine steers were taken to Fort Worth by members of the Memphis and Estelline Future Farmers of America in the first commercial calf feeding program. The event is being carried out under the sponsorship of the Memphis Chamber of Commerce and Hall County Board of Development.

Those making the trip included Porter Lambert, Donald Widener, Dwain Ellerd, Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Potts and son, all of Memphis; Larry Braidfoot and Jerry Johnson of Estelline.

The cattle were assigned to one of the commission firms and were purchased by Armour and Co. The animals averaged 800 lbs. each and brought $28, $28 and $39 per hundred when sold. The calves were purchased last summer and were maintained during the summer and fall on available pasture. They were placed in the feed lot on Feb. 1 and fed home grown roughage type ration in addition to cotton-seed meal. The steers had an average daily gain of one and one-fourth pounds while on pasture and a gain of two and one-tenth pounds per day for the 100 days in the feed lot. Records kept by each boy shows a very good interest on the money invested.

Lions Club Members Attend Convention

Several members of the Memphis Lions Club were in Plainview over the weekend attending the annual district convention. Attending from here were Lynn McKown, president of the local club, Joyce Webster, Bill Hall, John Shadid and Bill Leslie.

Estelline Eighth Grade Announces Honor Students

The valedictorian of the eighth grade graduating class of Estelline Public School is Donna Sue Eddins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Eddins. She has an average grade of 96.20. The salutatorian of the class is Linda Bowman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen D. Bowman, with an average of 93.7.

Troop 35 Scouts To Sell Candy Sat.

Members of Troop 35 will complete their candy sale Saturday afternoon here. Scoutmaster Ted Eddins said this week.

Estelline Honor Students Named

Senior graduates of Estelline Public School are Jo Ann Cupell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Eddins, and Gary Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raleigh Adams, it was announced this week. Their grades were exactly the same, 93.75. A tie for the valedictorian's place has been declared, insofar as it is possible, and will be divided. Each student will speak at the graduation exercises, but neither will be called valedictorian.

had the leading role in the senior play. Gary Adams has been an outstanding athlete in Estelline High School for four years, and recently won second place in the broad jump at the Regional Track Meet in Lubbock, which entitles him to go to the State Track Meet. He has been an outstanding leader in the FFA, and was assistant editor of the yearbook, class favorite, and has participated in all class activities. Both of these students were voted "Best All Around" in 1958-59. Adams plans to enter Clarendon College in the fall of 1959, and Miss Cupell plans to attend West Texas State College if she goes to college.

Funeral Services Held Saturday for Estelline Major

Hugh Marshall Lang, 42, mayor of Estelline, died Thursday in an Amarillo hospital where he had been a patient for several days.

Funeral services were conducted at 2:30 p. m. Saturday from the Assembly of God Church in Memphis by Rev. C. V. Davis of Amarillo, former Memphis pastor, officiating. Assisting ministers were Rev. Virgil C. Sparks, local pastor, Rev. Harvey Melton, pastor of the Estelline Church and Rev. W. O. Rucker, pastor of the Estelline Methodist Church.

Graveside services were conducted by the Estelline IOOF Lodge. Burial was in Fairview Cemetery under the direction of Spicer Funeral Home.

A native Texan, Mr. Lang was born July 15, 1916, in Cooke County. He moved to Hall County in 1935, and to Estelline in 1944 where he owned and operated a blacksmith and welding shop.

He was married to Miss Luellen Greeson Feb. 26, 1935, in Memphis. They made their home here until 1944 when they moved to Estelline.

Mr. Lang was presently serving as mayor of Estelline. He was a member of the Assembly of God Church and a member of the Estelline IOOF Lodge.

Members of the IOOF Lodge of Estelline served as pall bearers. Survivors are his wife, Mrs. H. M. Lang of Estelline, and one son, Hugh Wayne Lang, also of Estelline; one grandson, Keith Wayne, of Estelline; his mother, Mrs. Lenora Lang of Shamrock; three sisters, Mrs. Nelson Tyrell of Houston, Mrs. Albert Odham of Samnorwood and Mrs. David Brown of Ponca City, Okla.

First Aid Course To End Tonight

The standard first aid course now being conducted by I. G. Vaden, first aid instructor, will be completed Thursday night, it was announced this week. The class will be held at the Carnegie Library beginning at 7:30 p. m. All interested citizens and Scouts should be on hand for the examination which will be held at 8 p. m.

Mrs. Frank Finch Dies Here Today

Mrs. Frank A. Finch, one of Memphis' early pioneer women, died about noon today at her home, 1016 Robertson. Mrs. Finch had been in ill health for the past several years, and in recent months had been confined to her home.

Funeral arrangements were pending at Spicer Funeral Home.

Nine Memphis Students To Compete In State Events

Drill Stem Test Shows Salt Water Wed.

A drill stem test was run Wednesday night on the wildcat oil well south of Memphis, and showed only salt water, according to Ellis B. Colvin, of Houston, operator in charge of the rig.

The drill stem test was taken in the Mississippian formation and run from 5484 feet to 5534 feet. The tool was open for one hour and showed a good blow of air throughout the test, Jim Sojourner, geologist for the West Central Drilling Co. of Abilene, said.

They recovered 4364 feet of fluid in the drill pipe consisting of mud and salt water. There was no show of oil or gas.

Colvin said that the drilling would now continue and it is expected to be slower as the Mississippian formation is of harder material.

The well is expected to be drilled to a depth of 6800 feet or granite, whichever comes first.

The location is known as the D. A. Neeley No. 1 and is about five miles south of Memphis at the end of the Friendship road.

Will Go To Austin Next Weekend

Nine students from Memphis High School will be in Austin next weekend to compete in the state Interscholastic League Meet.

In order to compete in the meet the students had to win in the regional events at Lubbock last weekend.

The boys doubles tennis team, composed of Sam Goodnight and Roger Crooks, won all of their matches as did the girls team, composed of Bettye Gidden and Linda Godfrey.

Tommy Brewer took first place in extemporaneous speaking to qualify for state in that event.

The Memphis golf team also won their event, and will journey to Austin for state-wide competition. Members of the golf team are Jerry Hickey, Coy West, Dick Morgan and Don Deaver.

Annual Round-Up For Pre-School Children To Be Held Monday at Travis

The annual pre-school round-up for children who will enter school in September is being held Monday, May 6, in the Travis Cafeteria, it was announced today. The meeting will begin at 10 a. m.

The round-up is sponsored jointly by the Stephen F. Austin and Wm. Travis units of the Parent-Teacher Association.

Mrs. Brode Hoover, president of the Travis unit, will welcome the group after which W. C. Davis, superintendent of the schools, will speak. Dr. H. R. Stevenson will also speak to the group on the "Value of Immunization."

Mothers with children who will enter school next fall are urged to come and bring them to the meeting. Purpose of the meeting is to familiarize the pre-school child with school routine before he enters school.

Children will be sent to first grade class rooms where they will be students next fall for a visitation period. At 11:45 they will enjoy lunch in the school lunch room. Following the noon meal they will return home.

Letters concerning the round-up are being mailed to all parents this week. Mrs. Hoover stated. Along with the letter is an Examination Record, which is to be filled out and presented to the teacher in the fall. The Examination Record is merely a health record of the child and although it isn't compulsory it is hoped that parents will co-operate by furnishing the required information, Mrs. Hoover concluded.

Honor Roll Is Released for High School

The Memphis High School honor roll for the fifth six-weeks period was released this week by the principal, Clinton Voyles.

Fifty-one students were listed from the five classes in the high school. On the list were nine seniors, ten juniors, ten sophomores, thirteen freshmen and ten pre-freshmen.

Listed were the following students:

Seniors: Virginia Chappell, Lois Clark, Elaine Clayton, Carolyn Ferrel, Roger Crooks, Neal Foxhall, Joyce Hull, Johnnie McWhorter, Bill Whitten.

Juniors: Pat Anthony, Paula Blevins, Bettye Gidden, Judy Lemons, Swayne McCauley, Judy Miller, Jan Mitchell, Thomas Snowdon, Kay Stilwell, Priscilla Wright.

Shrine Train Will Stop Here Next Thursday

A special train loaded with Shrine members will stop in Memphis Thursday, May 7, to present music by their band and to give clowns a chance to entertain children.

The train is scheduled to arrive here about 9 a. m. and will consist of a steam engine, old coaches, flat cars, box cars and cabooses.

The group of about 300 Shriners will be on their way to Dallas for a state Shrine ceremony there. They have planned stops in Clarendon and Memphis and will distribute free balloons and chewing gum to children.

All parents are urged to take their children to the train depot to see the clowns.

Warm Weather Turns Man's Thoughts Toward Snake Hunting

When the weather turns warm in spring all true hunters begin to think about rattlesnakes. For that is the time of year when the reptiles begin to come out of their underground homes and sun themselves.

This is also the time of year when rattlesnake hunters begin to scurry back and forth over the land collecting the snakes in wholesale lots. One such hunter this year was Perry Campbell at Lakeview.

He caught 350 of the reptiles in all this spring and sold about 160 of them last weekend at Okeene, Okla.

To the many who fear snakes with a passion this would seem deadly work but Campbell handles the animals with the skill of a snake charmer.

A friend usually tells Campbell about seeing snakes at a certain spot, and then the hunt begins.

After finding what appears to be a likely home among rocks or other such material, the work begins. Gasoline is squirted into the hole, and the fumes drive the snakes out. As they come out of the hole Campbell picks them up with a sharpened hook on the end of a steel pole.

The hook pierces their skin enough to pick them up but not thought to do real damage. If this method fails, he uses another metal pole which has calms on the end of it. These calms can be controlled by a handle at the opposite end of the rod.

"So far there is no equipment manufactured for snake catching, and we have to make our own," Campbell said.

The snakes are placed in cages to await the annual sale at Okeene, Okla.

This year there were a total of (Continued on Page 12)

SENATOR ☆☆☆ Yarborough's Report

Many people have written about my proposal to extend the provisions of the Korean G.I. Bill to "Cold War veterans."

This proposed new law would extend to the educational assistance, vocational rehabilitation, home loan guarantees and mustering out pay provisions through 1963.

The main feature of the new measure is its educational provisions. The Korean G.I. Bill ended on January 31, 1955. The Yarborough Bill would provide 1 1/2 years of college training for each day of active military service for veterans, with a maximum of 3 years college training. The subsistence pay would be at the same rates as in the Korean G.I. Bill.

This Bill would also extend vocational rehabilitation and home loan guarantees would provide for $100 mustering out pay for veterans honorably discharged after the bill is passed. All these benefits would be extended through 1963, when the draft law ends.

The measure is now being considered by the Senate Veterans Affairs Subcommittee, of which I am chairman. I am pleased to report that in hearings held recently, the Yarborough Bill was endorsed by representatives of Universities and Colleges, state vocational training units, veterans organizations, veterans and their families and others.

Testimony before the subcommittee has shown that about one out of every two men who served in World War II received educational training under the first G.I. Bill. Another two million veterans of the Korean Conflict also received this training under a similar measure. Educators say that veterans made better grades and conducted themselves better at college than the non-veterans. When they finished, the training helped them earn higher income and pay more taxes than non-veterans, statistics show. And more than a fourth of the veterans who received this training became scientists and engineers.

One witness quoted the Bradley Commission Report which said, "The veterans' educational program was a major contribution to the national welfare, and the country would be weaker educationally, economically, and in terms of national defense if educators, veterans organizations, the president and the congress had not seen fit to embark upon this new and momentous educational enterprise."

Another man told the subcommittee that this training not only helped the productive power of our nation, "but, on the basis of additional income taxes which our government collects on this added earning power, the cost of veterans education is paying better returns than any security listed on the New York Stock Exchange."

Soil Conservation News

The Great Plains Conservation Program is moving steadily, in the Hall County Soil Conservation District, according to Lee Scrivner, District Supervisor from Turkey. He reports that the supervisors, at their last meeting, were well pleased at the interest that farmers and ranchers in the District are showing in the Great Plains Conservation Program.

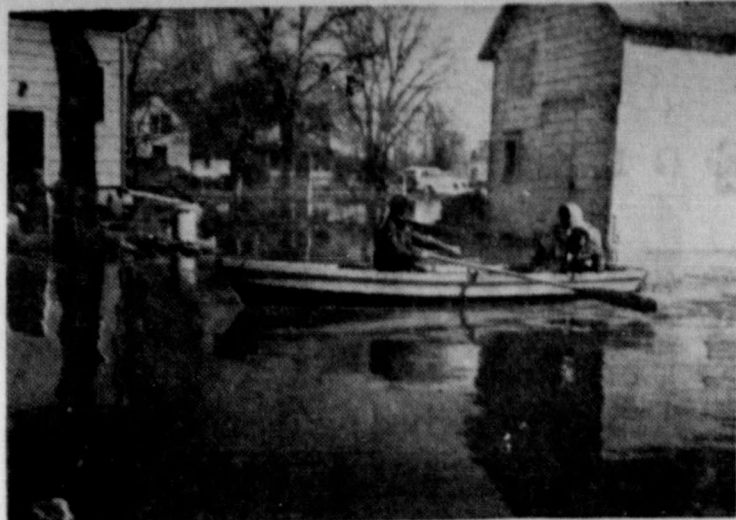

The Great Plains Conservation Program was developed for the Great Plains area of the United States to assist farmers and ranchers in carrying out conservation on their land. Due to the varying climatic conditions of the Great Plains area, the conservationists and the policy makers of the government felt that a program that would place maximum emphasis on proper land use and care was needed for this portion of the U.S.

In designating the Great Plains Program consideration was given to all existing farm programs so that all programs and agencies could work in close harmony under the program. For example, if a farmer or rancher is interested in going into the Great Plains Conservation Program on his farm or ranch, and also wants to participate in a practice under the Agricultural Conservation Program or wishes to place some land in the Conservation Reserve (Soil Bank), he may do so. Also, if a farmer or rancher already has a portion of his land in the Soil Bank, he may plan conservation activities for the remainder of his land through the Great Plains Conservation Program.

Farmers and ranchers in the District that have recently completed plans under the Great Plains Program are David Hudgins, Joe Montgomery, Bill Montgomery and Roland Salmon of Brice; Lynn Davis, Lee Scrivner, F. C. Ham, and Irl Twilla of Turkey; Hugh Lambert, Phaeton Alexander, Doc Messick, and Omer Hill of Memphis.

Charley B. Cape, with the Soil Conservation Service at Memphis, reports that their technicians are in the process of servicing around 30 additional applications for the Great Plains program assistance at the present time.

Any farmer or rancher that is interested in going into the Great Plains Conservation Program or would like further information about the program should contact their local Soil Conservation Service technicians.

Multiplication Table Records in Game Form

These records have been tested in classrooms of schools with TREMENDOUS success!

Teachers in third, fourth, fifth and sixth grades say they are EXCELLENT as a teaching aid for learning at HOME and at SCHOOL.

The importance of multiplication cannot be stressed enough! Every child loves the subjects he understands, and in which he excels. You can help your child to excel by helping him to understand mathematics. Division is multiplication turned wrong side out.

Children love these records. Each game is different, exciting, and challenging! The whole family will enjoy playing the games. Your child can play them while getting ready for school, doing his chores in the evening, or before going to bed at night.

These records are designed especially to insure the child's successful homework, without continuous effort on the part of the parents or teachers. The multiplication tables are printed on the sleeve. Your child can see as well as hear the table.

The set consists of four double-faced records: (3's & 4's) (6's & 7's) (8's & 9's) (12's & 13's). These records are available in 45 RPM ONLY. However, for those of you who need the record with the standard hole, center adapters for 45 RPM records may be purchased at any music store.

One or more records may be purchased at $2.00 each, or the set of 4 records for $7.50, plus postage. (10c postage for the first record plus 5c for each additional record). Please send no money, only check, money order, or request for C. O. D.

Savings Bonds Sales Total $73,875 in March

"March sales in Hall County were $29,904 and sales for the first three months of 1959 totaled $73,875, which is 38 per cent of our 1959 goal of $194,000," chairman O. L. Helm said this week.

Sales in Texas during March were $14,996,269 and sales for the first three months of 1959 totaled $45,196,598, which is 24% of the state's 1959 goal of $188,000,000.

"Every American who buys Savings Bond is providing for his own future, adding to the strength of his country, both militarily and economically, and is putting meaning in the slogan 'Share America'," Helm concluded.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to take this means thank everyone for the good wishes and cards that were received during Vick's stay in the hospital. We also want to thank the Doctors and Goodall hospital staff for their many kindnesses.

World Health
Strange to say, the highest life expectancy rate is in Norway. There, it is 73 years. Others enjoying a rate of 70 years or more include the United States, Australia, the United Kingdom, Sweden, and Japan. These are all highly developed countries from an industrial standpoint. Russia has a reported life expectancy rate of 66 years at the present time. Those having a rate of above 50 years include the southern portion of South America, Spain, some central European countries, the Philippine Islands, the Sudan in Africa, Mexico, and others. The lowest rates of life expectancy are in central and northern South America, southwest Asia, India, Egypt, and others. It is also noteworthy that very few of the countries enjoying high expectancy rates are located near the Equator, yet most of the countries with the lowest expectancy rates are located at, or near the Equator. Whether or not this geographical location has any effect on the situation, I do not know, but it would seem that such is the case. Also to be considered is the fact that most of the countries having the low expectancy rates have a high percentage of poverty. In summarizing the world data, we find that 801.3 million or 28.7 per cent of the world population have an estimated average life expectancy at birth of 50 years; 287.5 million or 10 per cent of the world population have an estimated average life expectancy of between 50 and 64 years; 713.9 million or 25.6 per cent enjoy a life expectancy of 65 years or more. It should also be said that approximately one-third of the world's population, 996.3 million, cannot be the subject of such information because there is not sufficient data from which to make an estimate.

In 1957, it was estimated there were 2,790 million people living in the world. More than one-half, or approximately 1,400 million, live in Asia, 204 million live in Russia, and 174 million in the U.S. This population is increasing at an accelerating rate, due primarily to the declining death rate, rather than an increased birth rate. The fastest rate of increase occurs in Middle America, where it is 2.7 per cent. It is 2.5 per cent in southwest Asia, and 2.4 per cent in South America. The smallest rate of change occurs in Europe, where it is 0.6 per cent. The fact that America is ahead of the other countries in the increase of population is due primarily to the great strides which we have made in the solution of health problems and the splendid contributions to medical science by our medical profession.

So long as good health conditions continue to grow better and better, producing strong, healthy human beings, and these on the increase, I do not believe we should have much fear about being overthrown by some grave catastrophe that will wipe out all humanity.

James E. Smith Severely Burned At Greggton Tues.

According to information received by relatives here, James E. Smith of Greggton received first, second, and third degree burns in a gasoline explosion on Tuesday of last week. The accident occurred while he was at work.

A former Memphis resident, Smith is the husband of the former Bobby Howard of Lakeview, daughter of Fred Howard of Lakeview.

Smith is receiving treatment in Gregg Memorial Hospital in Longview. Although his condition is still critical, he was reported as somewhat improved this week.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Thompson and Ruth Thompson visited in Amarillo Sunday with relatives and attended the Tulsa-Amarillo baseball game.

Taylor Scott of Amarillo visited Sunday with his daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Malone.

Time Running Out
The present regular session is rapidly drawing to a close, and time is running out. The end of this regular session is scheduled for Tuesday, May 12th.

Entire Week on Money Matters
The entire week has been devoted to taxes and money matters. Most of the other controversial legislation has taken a back seat to our tremendous tax problem. Although the House has had trouble writing a tax bill, some progress has been made. At least we know that the House has vetoed down several sales tax proposals, and at least one income tax proposal, so it would appear at this point that Texas will still have no general sales tax nor an income tax after this Legislature adjourns.

Red River Water Authority Advances
A Senate bill by Andy Rogers

to create a Red River Water Authority (which has been passed by the Senate) advanced another step toward final passage this week when the House Conservation and Reclamation Committee approved the bill and recommended its passage.

This bill would create an Authority whose primary purpose would be to create a master water development program for the Red River and its Texas tributaries. The Authority would also study the salt pollution of the Red River and eliminate part of this mineral content if possible.

All in all, it could be of great value to our area.

Around and About
By HELEN COMBS

Howdy, folks! Guess we have had the spring fever the past few weeks, or maybe a touch of laziness. Now that we have an excellent co-worker, Yvonne Maddox, we can hardly use lack of time as an excuse for not writing our column.

First, we want to say welcome home to two fine pioneer women who have been away visiting for several months with their children. They are Mrs. Mattie Stanley of Lakeview, who returned recently from Fort Worth after spending the winter with her son, Jim Stanley and family, and Mrs. A. O. Gidden, who returned Tuesday after a three-month stay in Amarillo with her daughter and family. Both these ladies plan to be at home during the summer months ahead.

At the same time we want to say that we are sorry to lose from our midst another fine pioneer citizen, Mrs. J. C. Ross. She sold her home here and moved to Amarillo Tuesday. Mrs. Ross has been here since the early 1900's and will be missed by her friends here.

Then, we were sorry to lose another couple, Mr. and Mrs. Roy McClure and daughter, Nancy, who moved to Panhandle. They had not lived here a great number of years, but moved here as a bride and groom and have a host of friends. Mrs. McClure was cashier with the local telephone company for some time and Mr. McClure has been with Waples-Platter Company. Nancy, their 20-month-old daughter, was a devoted playmate of our granddaughter, Debbie . . . so she is going to be missed, too.

Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Pounds, who have operated the Pounds Hotel during all the years we have been in Memphis, and I don't know how many more, will observe their 60th wedding anniversary Sunday. They have invited all their friends to call at the hotel between the hours of 2 and 5 o'clock.

Isn't it fun to see someone you know on TV? Be sure and tune in on Channel 4, KGNC Amarillo, next Wednesday, May 6, at noon. Mrs. Gayle Greene and Ginger, Carol and Tommy, will be featured on the Ruth Brent's Show. Charlene is going to demonstrate her new records . . . offered for sale the first time this week. The set, which includes four records, is the multiplication tables presented in game form. Looking back, I can think how nice it would have been to have my children learn their numbers this way. We understand it was through the need for a teaching aid for her own children, Charlene hit upon the idea for the records. We see no reason why the sale of the records shouldn't go over and we wish Charlene

The Bloomin' News

Heard a wonderful thought expressed in a prayer while attending the Liens Convention in Plainview this past week-end. It is: "Lord help us to be creative instead of critical. Help us to commend and not condemn." There are instances, though, when I think we should be critical. My farmer friend at Plainview told me that on a 1/2 section of land he rents out, our government guarantees him more net income every year than his total investment in the land and 3 wells—for raising crops that are not needed and he is helping to use up water that will never be replaced and which will be sorely needed in less than 50 years to grow food and fiber which will be sorely needed before that time.

Have a blessed event in progress in our greenhouse. The orchid plant we've had ever since we came to Memphis is giving birth to twin blooms. The irony of this is the fact that last month this plant was on our $1.00 bargain bench. Sure glad all of you passed this up as we will sell these blooms for $5.00 each.

Heard a feller say last week he was going to plant a mesquite tree in his back yard so he could tell when spring comes. Guess it is here because they are leafing out now. We can also tell that it must be spring by the number of small plants we are selling. They are growing fast in the greenhouse and need to be put in your yard NOW.

A week from Sunday is Mother's Day. Let us have your order now for one of the nicest gifts you can give—Flowers.

Just two weeks from Friday night is the Lions Club feature event of the year—the annual Park Opening and barbecue hamburger feast. Get your tickets now from any Lion.

SPELLING TROPHY—Miss Suzanne Sexauer, 6th Grade Travis Elementary Student, is shown above with the trophy she was awarded Saturday at the Luncheon given at the Amarillo Club by the Amarillo Globe-News Publishing Company honoring county Junior Spelling Bee Champions. Representing Hall County, Miss Sexauer won the honor earlier in the month in county competition. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sexauer.

much success in her new venture.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moss and sons, Robert Mack and Jerry, who were recently chosen as "Family of the Year" by the Wm. Travis Parent-Teacher Association. This is indeed an enviable honor.

In a few days now the roses will be in full bloom. After admiring the roses of our friends for several years, we finally decided to try our hand . . . so we put out a few bushes this spring. Our garden is ready . . . but with the dry weather prevailing we haven't had the urge to plant anything to date.

The prettiest thing we had at our house last year was a vine that covered the back yard fence. The seed was brought to us by D. C. Messick, and he called it running okra. Not only was the vine pretty, but it put on plenty of fruit as well. The only resemblance we found to okra was the color; otherwise the huge pods looked more like the yellow necked squash in size and form.

We were unable to attend the Junior Play Tuesday evening . . . but understand they played to a full house. Proceeds from the play will be used for the Junior-Senior banquet.

Mary Jameson invited us to be her guest at the annual banquet of the Victory Sunday School Class Thursday evening. The class was celebrating its 15th anniversary, and decorations were in keeping with the occasion. Adding to the splendor of the occasion was the newly redecorated class room including new drapes. A delicious chicken dinner with all the trimmings was served. The program featured musical selections by high school students, two original readings and a thought-provoking speech by Tom Hulsey of Amarillo, husband of our own Sue Lynn Guthrie Hulsey. Thanks, Mary, for an enjoyable evening.

Three Memphis women and two from Estelline were chosen on the official slate of the Childrens District Woman's Society of Christian Service at a meeting in Wellington last week. Heading the organization for the past two years has been Loraine Tarver, who has devoted much time to the work.

Culture Club Meets in Moss Home Wednesday

The Culture Club met in the home of Mrs. Grover Moss for the regular meeting Wednesday, April 22 at 4:00 p. m.

The business session was opened by the club president Mrs. Theo Swift. Minutes of the previous meeting was read by Mrs. R. R. Cole, club secretary, and treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Marion Posey, club treasurer. Mrs. Posey reported on the district meeting at Borger which she attended.

Mrs. Bob Ayers introduced the topic "Art In Review", and it was discussed by Mrs. Posey.

Miss Joyce Hull illustrated a still life arrangement in tempera paint, after which there was a film, "Art News," covering different phases of art through Holland, Japan, and Spain, and the life and works of Leonardo Da Vinci, (painter of Mona Lisa and many other art pieces.) Also miniature art, straw art, embroidery, shadow theatre, miniature city and famous painting of the American Art.

Those members and guests enjoying delicious refreshments were: Mmes R. E. Clark, R. R. Cole, Robert Moss, Jeanette Irons, Brode Hoover, L. A. Stilwell, Ward Gurley, Theo Swift, Marion Posey, Bob Ayers, Miss Alma Bruce and Syble Gurley, two guests Mrs. Edwin Taylor, Joyce Hull, and Hostess, Mrs. Moss.

The next meeting will be a picnic at the park for members and their families at 7:30 p. m. on Thursday, May 7.

Ophelia Club Makes Plans To Improve Square

The Ophelia Junior Club met Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. James Helm.

Mrs. J. N. Helm, president, presided during the business session. Members voted at this time to sponsor a project to improve and beautify the center of the square at Estelline.

As the program, Mrs. Geo. Helm gave an interesting talk on "Modern Homes." Tasty refreshments were served to Mmes. Gerald Fowler, Geo. Melm, Jack Kinard, Claudia Welch, Jim Hutchins, Jo Bob Nivens, J. N. Helm, Jr., Roy Gresham, Leon Helm.

The next meeting is slated for May 12 in the home of Mrs. Roy Gresham.

In fact, the organization felt her service was so valuable she was chosen to head the Society for another two years. Others on the official roster from this county are Mrs. John Fowler and Mrs. L. G. DeBerry from Memphis, and Mrs. D. T. Eddins and Mrs. Bob Davidson of Estelline.

Thought for the Day: Before you flare up at anyone's faults, take time to count ten of your own.

Estelline FHA and FFA Parent Banquet Is Held on Tuesday Evening

On Tuesday evening, April 21, the F. H. A.-F. F. A.-Parent Banquet was held in Cub banquet hall in Estelline. The theme was "Cotton—1959."

The floral arrangement at the speaker's table was of gladioli. Featured decorations were miniature bales of cotton. Large emblems of the organizations were displayed. Places were marked by program booklets in the shape and color of bales of cotton.

Rolfe Wooten asked the invocation. Welcome was brought by the toastmaster, Danny Davidson.

The menu included barbecued chicken, baked potatoes, cole slaw, baked beans, hot rolls, butter, fruit cobbler, iced tea or coffee.

Jo Beth Barnes discussed "Cotton for Modern Living." A boys' quartet composed of Noel Long, Mike Cope, Larry Braidfoot, and Mike Davidson, accompanied by Burl Bumpus, sang "In the Middle of an Island." The freshman and sophomore girls, accompanied by Elaine Seay, sang "He." Kenneth Sweatt discussed "Cotton's Future Tied to Lower Costs of Production." The junior boys and girls sang "It's a Wonderful Day Today." A boys' quartet composed of Jerry Stephens, Burl Bumpus, Kenneth Sweatt and Bobby Ward sang "White Silver Sands," with Larry Braidfoot at the piano.

Mrs. W. B. Davidson, president of the 1932 Culture Club, presented the annual awards to the outstanding boy in F. F. A. and this went to her son, Mike Davidson, who was selected by Tom Seay, vocational agriculture teacher. She also made the club award to the outstanding homemaking girl, selected by Mrs. W. O. Rucker, homemaking teacher, and this award went to Rebecca Moore.

The entire group of one hundred persons completed the program by singing "Old Black Joe" and "Auld Lang Syne." Gary Joe Rogers asked the benediction.

Walters were Jesse Corona, Billy Ferrel, Billy Bowman, Maurice Hood, Mike Cox, and Martin Wood.

The F. F. A. Sweetheart, Carolyn Hood, and the F. H. A. Heart-throb, Danny Davidson, were introduced.

Soil Conservation News

Soil Stewardship Week
Soil Stewardship Week for 1959 May 3 to 10 inclusive says D. A. Williams, administrator for the SCS. During these eight days, Soil Conservation Districts and chapters throughout the United States will observe the fact that the earth is the Lord's and the fullness thereof but responsibility for its stewardship is a sacred trust vested in man.

Many other local farmer organizations, civic and professional organizations, schools, businessmen's organizations and other community-minded groups will join in the observance. In many states the observance traditionally names Soil Stewardship Week in a proclamation. The Soil Conservation District supervisors and personnel are proud of any help that we are able to give.

The continuing and growing interest of Soil Conservation Week, sponsored by the National Association of Soil Conservation Districts and various national church organizations, indicates that we have reached the time when soil conservation has become an ideal in the hearts of millions of people. The growth of Soil Stewardship Week in the last few decades has amazed many people. It has pleased even more.

It should not surprise anyone who likes to farm, ranch, garden, putter around his flower beds or to mind our dependence on the soil. Even if we only eat food, wear clothes, and live from the soil, we are well being with the soil.

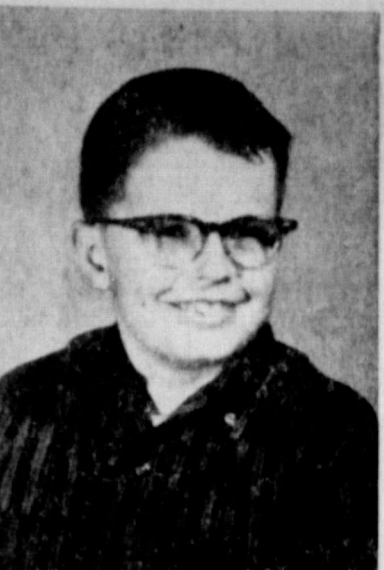

Farmers, ranchers and backyard gardeners deal with the mystery of the life of plants, of animals, and the soil itself. For soil is living thing. That must be why many farmers and ranchers wouldn't do anything else.

That may be why backyard gardeners can lose themselves in their hobby. Such a person wants to give the soil because it lives and gives life. He thus becomes a good steward. He may not realize the spiritual value any more as a person doing a good deed in the name of God and religion. All of these values are inherent in the soil.

Many of the experiments will involve less radiation than is given off by a radium-dial watch. Most tests will be conducted at a radiation level no greater than would be had by working with a teaspoon of radioactive gasoline in 40 tank cars of fuel.

Yes highly accurate measuring instruments will allow the students to learn by experience how to make the nuclear particles and radiation do their bidding.

Tech Completes Nuclear Assembly Installation

Texas Tech has taken another big step into the atomic age by completing installation of a sub-critical nuclear assembly.

The super sensitive device is described by Engineering Dean J. R. Bradford as a "reactor that never quite made it".

Tech graduate students in engineering and science will be able to experiment with basic nuclear principles without any fear of intense quantities of radiation.

The assembly's vital parts can not be arranged in any way that makes them dangerous. Dean Bradford explained. This makes the assembly constantly available for student use without an involved safety program.

The assembly contains approximately $100,000 worth of natural, pure uranium suspended in a "honeycomb" of 259 aluminum tubes. In the lattice's center is a 260th tube filled with $8,000 worth of plutonium-beryllium neutron sources.

The center tube pours forth 40 million neutrons per square centimeter per second, creating radioactivity for experiments.

Students are protected from the rays by a buffer of water in which the lattice is submerged.

Many of the experiments will involve less radiation than is given off by a radium-dial watch. Most tests will be conducted at a radiation level no greater than would be had by working with a teaspoon of radioactive gasoline in 40 tank cars of fuel.

Chickens Take Top Spot on USDA Plentiful Food List

Broilers and fryers take the No. 1 spot on U. S. Department of Agriculture's list of plentiful foods for May.

Pork and eggs, featured items in April and March, respectively, still belong on the team. Turkeys, especially the smaller sizes, also have stepped into the May list for this area.

Edible fats and oils, milk and dairy products, lard, and potatoes are expected to continue plentiful this month.

And with huge harvest of celery now underway, this item also deserves special attention this month. The monthly list of foods in heavier than normal supply is provided by USDA through the southwest food distribution division of the Agricultural Marketing Service, after national and local supplies are determined. Menu planners usually will find it to their advantage to serve plentiful foods more often.

Mesquite is moving east and is taking over a lot of abandoned cultivated land. It is an aggressive, persistent plant on some 75 million acres of grazing land in the Southwest, the specialists said.

The best time to spray mesquite is in the late spring. The best mixture for single stem plants is one-third pound of 2, 4, 4-T, one-half gallon diesel oil and enough water to make 3 gallons of spray solution per acre. For multiple stem and sprouts and regrowth, they recommend one-half pound of 2, 4, 4-T.

Spray with an airplane in swaths not to exceed 60 feet in width for single stems. For multiple stems and regrowth, spray swaths should be 42 feet or less. Cost for the control will be about fifty cents per acre with returns averaging about one dollar, the specialists said.

Mechanical treatments using root cutters, anchor chains and root plows give immediate results, but may be expensive. Often a combination of mechanical and chemical treatments may give the most control for the least cost per acre per year, they said.

After using chemicals, defer grazing from the treated area during two growing seasons and stock to obtain moderate utilization. This combination of practices, they said, would prolong retreatment for at least two years.

Children Can Not Work on Farms During School

With the coming of spring planting, Texas farmers were reminded this week that while the Fair Labor Standards Act permits children of any age to work on farms after school and during vacation, it prohibits farm work by children under 16 during school hours.

This reminder comes from Dallas' William J. Rogers, Regional Director of the U.S. Department of Labor's Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Divisions, the agency which administers the Act.

He said that the child-labor provisions apply to local youngsters and children of migratory workers alike. The only exception to the law is in the case of children working exclusively for their parent or legal guardian, he added.

To make sure of the age of any young worker he hires, the farmer should ask for and obtain an age certificate. These certificates, which serve as proof of age for purposes of the Act, can be obtained in Texas from the Texas Employment Commission, as a public service.

The child-labor provisions apply to farmers whose crops go either directly or indirectly into interstate or foreign commerce. Mr. Rogers pointed out that a farmer must observe the law if he has reason to believe that his crops—either in their original form or processed—will eventually cross State lines.

Additional information about the application of the act to children working on farms can be obtained from the Wage and Hour Division Office in Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston, San Antonio or El Paso.

Behold the Ant...

• Science tells us that the strongest thing in the world for its size is the common red ant. This marvel of nature can lift 10 times its own weight.

As strong as the red ant may be, it has been proven that the most powerful thing for its size is the little want ad in your local newspaper.

The want ad, which costs only a few cents a day, does a hundred-fold job. This mighty mite of the printed page finds jobs for folks, sells used lawnmowers, rents houses, sells farms, loans money, finds missing persons, locates lost dogs, rents appliances, thanks folks, locates homes for surplus puppies, and performs a hundred and one useful services for the community.

Editorial

Congratulations, Regional Champs

Several Hall County youths came away from the Regional Interscholastic League meet in Lubbock over the weekend with first place honors. These youths have excelled in either literary or athletic events and are a credit to their community. The Interscholastic League program has done much during the past years to promote interest in many various fields, academic as well as athletic. This has been achieved by district, regional and state competition, as most citizens well know.

Competition in the district events is usually hard enough, but that in the region is extremely difficult. We feel that those students who won in region are to be congratulated on their fine showing. They are a credit to their schools as well as to the county as a whole. It reflects not only their personal hard work but that of their instructors as well.

Most of the events in the spring competition deal with individual efforts and do much to develop initiative in youths. In most cases it also provides them training in fields which they will be able to continue after they have finished school. There is also another phase of the league which deserves comment. This is the program for the younger children. The league has been in operation for many years for high-school-age youths but was only recently expanded to include competition in the grade schools. We think this will go a long way toward providing the youngsters with earlier training.

Something For Labor To Ponder Over

The high wages and elaborate fringe benefits won by hard bargaining with American companies now are returning to haunt the United Auto Workers Union. The impact of the rising importation of foreign-built cars already has been felt in the Detroit job market. Now farm equipment is being brought in from abroad, and before the import trend has run its course, the damage may extend far beyond the UAW and its membership.

Tractor imports stand now about where car imports stood five years ago, when the foreign autos were being scoffed at by U. S. industry and labor alike. With car import volume expected to reach 500,000 this year, it is no longer a laughing matter. Should tractor imports follow a parallel course, the combined repercussions could have a grim depressive effect not only on jobs but on a number of businesses and industry, and such a course seems to have been charted.

The Wall Street Journal reports that International Harvester, Ford Tractor Division and Massey-Ferguson already are active importers and that J. I. Case is considering the possibility of introducing into the country a small diesel made at its plant in France. Oliver and Minneapolis-Moline also have scouts abroad surveying the prospects for foreign manufacture of their products, the Journal said.

The big lure, of course, is relatively cheap foreign labor. This allows firms having overseas facilities to build abroad, import to this country and still sell at a price lower than the comparable American-built product can be sold for.

Obviously, as more and more firms turn to importing, there will be fewer and fewer jobs for workers in this country. Companies not having large-scale operations overseas will be hard hit, too, as will suppliers of steel, paint, castings and innumerable other components that farm tool makers up to now have been purchasing in the United States.

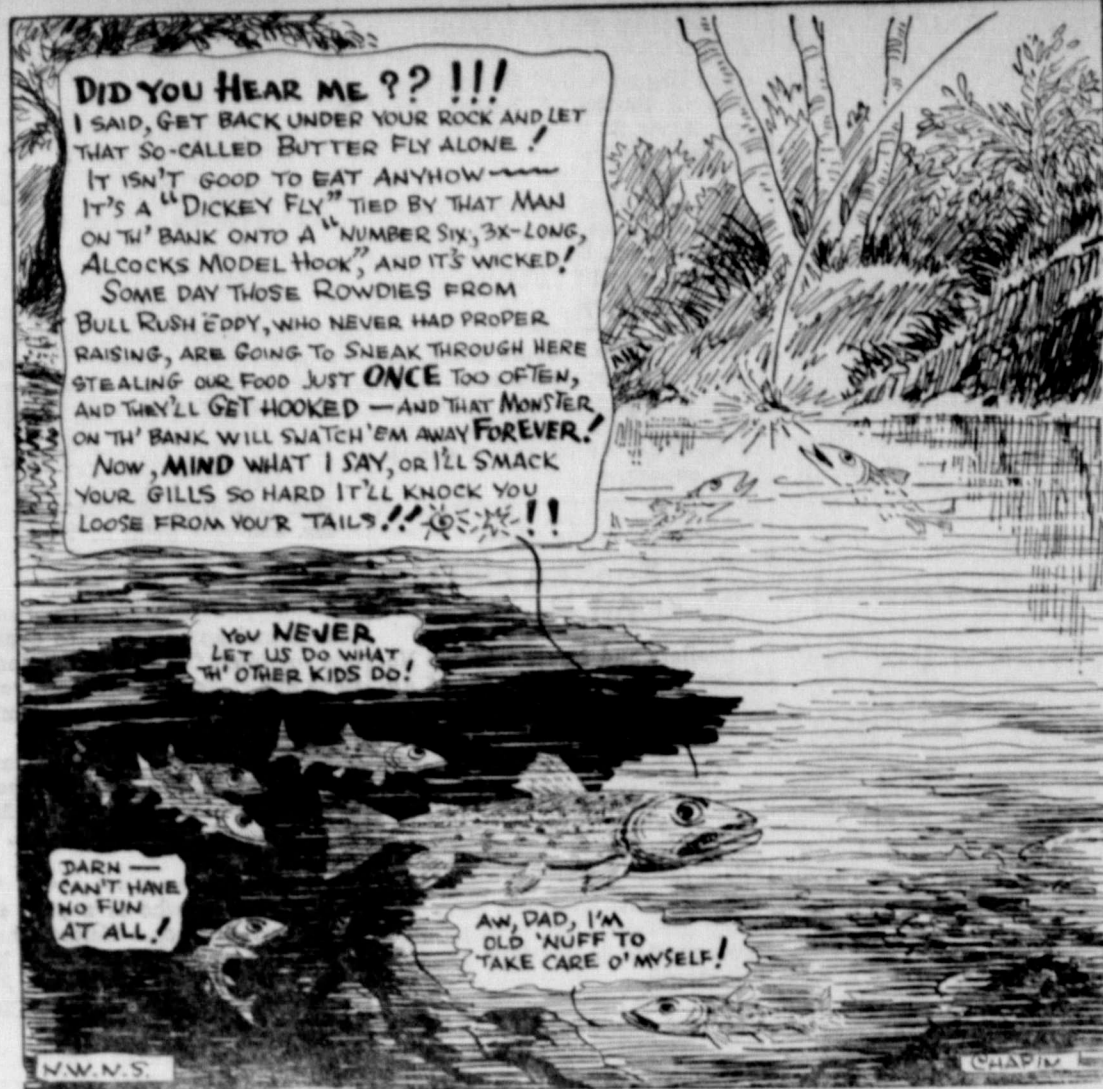

It is hoped that developments will cause a reversal of the trend before an economic chain reaction has done severe harm to American commerce. It will be a bitter pill for labor to swallow, but one of the first such developments would have to be an end to union demands of higher pay, shorter work weeks and more fringe benefits with each new contract.

HALF-PAST TEEN

MR. BROOK TROUT, DISCIPLINARIAN!

Press Paragraphs— QUOTING OUR NEIGHBORS

Teen-agers menace . . . on the highways?

Teenagers are frequently blamed for the high rate of deaths on the highway. No doubt about it, teenagers are dangerous behind the wheel. Their record is especially bad when it comes to fatal smashups. In proportion to the amount of driving they do, it is estimated that teen agers have 5 times as many deadly accidents as people of their parents' age.

Teenagers are no worse than their older brothers. The most dangerous drivers in the U.S., in the opinion of the National Commission on Safety Education, are not high school students but young men of twenty to twenty-five. For years this group has had the highest accident rate of all. Not that the two groups matters much. The fact is that both groups are menaces to themselves and to everyone else on the highway.

The problem does not involve girls. Their record is comparable to that of the average adult, and insurance companies allow girls to take over the family car without charging higher premiums. Although the girls' share in minor accidents is proportionate to their numbers, they have only half as many fatal crashes on the average.

At 25, a man is still more likely to die in a car than he was at sixteen. If he's married, his chances for survival are better. Apparently wives make efficient backseat drivers.

A young man is second to none in ability to handle a car— quickness of reflexes, keenness of eyesight. It's attitude that he falls down on, his judgement being no match for his desire to show off, to prove to himself and to the world, by the way of his automobile, what a remarkable fellow he is.

Taxes To Be Bigger

The people of Texas know that something new is coming in the way of taxes and they think it is going to be unpalatable and what tax is not. The tax bill has come out of committee and is before the house. It is a sales tax although the sponsors are quick to point out that it is not a general sales. Such things as food, clothing, drugs and farm equipment are exempt; but that is about all.

We want and by our votes have asked for more money for education, highways, eleemosynary institutions, and a hundred other things and the money must come from somewhere. It is liable to be a bitter pill for the average taxpayer to swallow. You can't help but wonder if somewhere in this vast ramification of state expenditures if there are not some places where the spending could not be reduced.

I was astonished to read that the bill calls for a reduction of the present tax on sulphur. How did that come about? With hundreds and hundreds of new taxes being levied and many old ones increased, it seems that the tax on sulphur could at least be left at its present rate.

—The Wellington Leader

Texas Size

This may be a blow to Texas pride, but it's pretty certain, as things stand right now, that the first man to reach the moon won't be a Texan. He won't, that is unless the Texas Legislature decides to send up a rocket of its own . . . which, come to think of it, ain't beyond the realm of possibility since the Legislature seems to be preparing to send everything else in Texas up.

At any rate, none of the young Air Force test pilots selected for "Project Mercury," the first manned space flight is a Texan . . . although, one of the select seven is from Oklahoma. Before any of our recently wet-behind-the-ears Okie neighbors start bragging too freely about this state of affairs, however, we'll hasten to deflate their ego.

Texans are naturally barred from Project Mercury flights on account of the space limitations of the space vehicle. Maximum height for Project Mercury pilots is 5 feet, 11 inches . . . and our Texas hot pilots just don't come in those half-pint sizes.

Economy

A salesman, in trying to sell a refrigerator, pleaded, "Lady you can save enough on your food bill to pay for it."

"We are paying for a car on the carfare we save," said the woman. "Then we're paying for a washing machine on the laundry bill we save, and we are paying for a house on the rent we are saving. It looks like we just can't afford to save any more at the present time."

—Wheeler Times

Cigarette smoking became popular in Europe during the Crimean War when French and British soldiers acquired the habit from their Turkish Allies.

About a tenth of the United States lumber supply comes from national forests.

Cherry pits of several species have been found in the Stone Age deposits of Swiss lake-dwellings, and in the mounds and cliff-caves of prehistoric inhabitants of America.

Olympic National Park, a vast preserve in the heart of the isolated Olympic Peninsula of Washington state, is the only United States park that holds both snow-capped mountains and ocean beaches.

More than 400,000 retail stores in the U.S. today sell fresh fruits and vegetables.

30 YEARS AGO March 29, 1929

J. Claude Wells, publisher of the Memphis Democrat for the past four years and a veteran Panhandle newspaperman, is retiring from active journalism, having sold his local interests. He retains his holdings in the Wellington Leader . . . T. T. Harrison announces that he will double the capacity of his gin this year in time for the fall ginning season. He will install two square bale presses and one round bale press and will have ten 80-saw gins. This will enable him to gin two bales at one time . . . Prospects are bright for Memphis securing a stadium in which athletic contests of various kinds will be held, particularly football games. LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Pennace Pond
Lewes, England
April 11, 1959

with a midnight snack awaiting me in my room. If I ate every weekend as I have this weekend, I wouldn't have to worry about being underweight. All in all it is a perfect weekend and I hope to repeat it in the near future.

—April 14—

I have been having an enjoyable time in London also the past few weeks. A good friend of mine invited me to move into his town apartment which is in Rutland Gate, a very fashionable part of London. So last week I packed my things and moved in as his guest. The apartment is very large and elegant, the walls being hung with fine old tapestries, and paintings, and being furnished with very rare furnishings such as James II chairs, French marble-top tables, and rare Persian carpets. I feel quite honored being invited to stay here, as I could have never afforded such luxury myself. I feel quite ritzy when I invite my friends to lunch or tea here. It's very wonderful, but the sad thing is, I'm afraid, that I'm developing a Champaigne taste, and I only have a beer pocket book. I know my little pocket book is not going to keep me in the style to which I'm becoming accustomed, but I'm glad to be able to enjoy it while I can. Being a visitor in this country, people do go out of their way to be hospitable to me, and I must say that I am most grateful to my parents for seeing that I had the training and education to be able to meet and mix intelligently with people from all walks and stations of life. If I had not taken advantage of the education which was offered me, I'm afraid I would have been very self-conscious around many of the people I've met, therefore I wouldn't have become their friends, and many pleasant experiences and opportunities would have passed me by. That is why, when I spoke to the English classes in Memphis, I urged them to take advantage of every opportunity they had to learn about as many things as possible. I will take this opportunity to say that with all my travels, and experiences and equanimities, there is nothing I hold dearer than Memphis, and my friends there. I wouldn't trade my Texas heritage for an upbringing in any other part of the world.

To get back to London, it is absolutely beautiful this time of the year, the trees are just beginning to turn green, and primroses, daffodils, and magnolia blossoms are to be seen everywhere. I can understand the poet saying "Oh to be in England, now that April's there," as April certainly is a most pleasant time of year here. A lot of new plays are opening with the spring season beginning and I am looking forward to some good evenings of theatre. Last night I saw a magnificent performance of Isben's "Brand". It is the first time a full production of it has been given in England, and was a most moving performance.

Speaking of my Champaigne taste, I have been on a buying spree again. I went with my host to a very old and fine auction house for art, antiques, and jewelry, to view the things that were going to be on sale there last week. There were many beautiful and tempting things there, but I wasn't looking with the thought of buying anything. We were about ready to leave when I saw two lovely spoon back chairs which had belonged to Napoleon when he was on the Isle of Elba. I wanted them very much so on Friday I went to the auction to see how much they would bring. There were three antique dealers bidding on them so the price kept going up. I hated very much to pass them up, so I decided to make one offer. As the bidding slowed down, I made my bid, and could have been knocked down with a feather when no one raised my bid. I didn't know whether to be glad or sorry, because I was very happy to get the chairs, but I had bid more than I wanted to. They are very nice French Empire Bergeres, mahogany grained, with ornolu bead molding on the back. Each bears a small ivory plaque on the back reading "Napoleon's Chair, Isle of Elba", so I am very proud of them, and think that they will make very impressive pieces of furniture. To increase my collection of Napoleons, I have bought two Staffordshire figurines, one of Napoleon and the other a lady curtsying before him. Today I bought two Napoleonic five franc coins circa 1806 and 1813. I am going to start closing my eyes when I go past antique shops because I can't afford my temptations.

My host has asked me if I would go tomorrow to Lord Rothchild's house, which is being torn down, to see if there are any fixtures in which he might be interested. He is unable to go himself, so I have happily consented to go along and have a look. I think it will be rather interesting as the house was one of the finest mansions in London, and is being torn down only to make way for a wider road to pass through.

I think one of the most amusing things about England is the song which has been number one on the hit parade for a number of weeks. It is a catchy little tune that goes like this: "Does your chewing gum lose its flavor on the bed post over night?—If your mother says don't chew it, do you swallow it in spite?—Can you catch it on your tonsil, can you toss it left and right?—Does your chewing gum lose its flavor on the bedpost overnight?" Its so typical of the English popular taste.

Another thing I find odd about the English is the fact that they all share a dislike for central heating and warm houses in the winter, and for air conditioning and cool houses in the summer. They consider it unhealthy to have temperature much different inside from that outside. As for myself, I would much rather be warm and unhealthy than healthy and cold. They also differ from us in the fact that they like their bread cold, and their beer warm, in fact there are very few places in London that ice their beverages, whether it be Coca Cola or lemon ade, it's usually served at room temperature. However, it's the difference in people that makes life interesting. It would be a dull world if everybody was alike.

London differs very much from our major American cities, in the fact that it is an early closing city. The theatres begin at 7:30 and are over by 10:15, the bars and restaurants close at 11:00 and the buses stop running at 11:30 and the trains at 12:30, even the television signs off at 11:00. After living three years in Hollywood I like to stay up late, and find these early closing times rather dull. Not that I would want to make a habit of it, but I would like at times to take in a late movie, or have a late dinner after the theatre. Then again London has so many good features that make up for its shortcomings, that I really shouldn't complain.

I hope soon to have other interesting anecdotes to write you about, but I must say cheerio for now. I would love to have letters from anyone who cares to write me. The best place to address my mail is C/O American Express, 6 Haymarket St., London SW 1, England. They have a forwarding service and the mail will reach me wherever I am in Europe or other countries. My best wishes to all of you.

Fondly,
Roy Alvin Massey

CARD OF THANKS
The family of Fred Musgrove wishes to take this means of expressing our appreciation for your many kindnesses during our recent sorrow. The sympathy and comfort of friends is so precious in such a time.

The poem below was one of many found among Fred's things, and we feel that it is a message he would have his friends to consider.

IS THIS YOUR FATE TO BE?
He stood so grim in wonder of his destiny to be told,
As he asked the man of fate for admission to the fold.

What have you done St. Peter asked to seek admittance here?
Oh! I lived my life as I saw fit on earth of all my years.

Did you seek not the Christ your Lord while there on earth to be,
He gave his life at Calvary from sin to set you free?

St. Peter sir no warning came my life was swept away, thought to repent I meant to do throughout each coming day.

You died within your scarlet sins no peace dear sir you'll find, you should have been reborned again on earth while there was time.

Though as life goes—one never knows when time on earth will cease,
So now's the time—to kneel and find
Peace with the Lord—your King.

Victory Sunday School Class Observes 15th Anniversary With Banquet Thurs.

On Thursday evening, April 23, in the class room, the members of the Victory Class of the Methodist Church and their guests enjoyed their fifteenth birthday party. The decorating committee, under the leadership of Miss Margaret Davenport, had arranged a decor of red roses throughout the room. Emphasis was centered in bowls of red roses on the tables, and a beautiful entwined trellis focusing a large "15" in styrofoam. After a period of singing in the main chapel of the church, the people moved to the banquet hall, where they were greeted by Mrs. Ed Cudd and her committee, who had prepared the food. Lights were dimmed and red candles glowed while the class, led by Ivan McElreath, sang "Happy Birthday to You". The invocation was pronounced by Rev. David Binkley, pastor.

Mr. Larry Sparks, music instructor of Memphis High School, introduced his girls' quartet composed of Misses Judy Miller, Judy Lemons, Linda Sturdevant, and Ouida Massey, accompanied by Miss Brenda Duncan. The girls sang "Come By Here". Then he introduced his woodwind trio composed of Misses Judy Miller, Judy Lemons, and Jan Mitchell. These girls used for their number "Finale Movement from Beethoven's Sonata." Both numbers were most artistically rendered.

Mrs. Charles Snowdon, secretary of the class, made a summary report of the financial and civic activities of the group for the past year.

Miss Margaret Davenport read musical accompaniment by Mrs. John Smith two poems written by her mother, Mrs. Elvia Davenport. The first was "My World", the prevailing theme of which is "Our world is what we make for ourselves." The second, written especially for the occasion was "To The Victory Class."

Tom C. Hulsey, member of the Polk Street Methodist Church of Amarillo, gave the after-dinner speech in which he discussed "The Power of Faith." After defining "faith" as a religion, as a way of life, as a rapport between men, the speaker urged his listeners to establish, develop, and maintain the sort of faith which will keep them forever helpful, forever forgiving, forever striving upward to meet the goals set by the Divine Creator.

Of the charter members, eight were present: Mr. and Mrs. Gene Chamberlain, Mr. and Mrs. J. E.

Roper, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Srygley, Mrs. Hester Bownds, and Clyde Reed.

Bibles, tokens of appreciation for the year of splendid service, were presented to W. B. Hooser, president, and to Mrs. Charles Snowdon, secretary.

Fried chicken with all the accessories, including delicious birthday "snow balls," was served to more than sixty people.

Lakeview 8th Grade Enjoy Skating Party April 24

The Lakeview eighth grade class were entertained April 24 with a skating party at the Memphis Skating Rink.

Sodalitan Class Meets Thursday In Wright Home

The Sodalitan Sunday School Class met Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Lucille Wright with Mrs. Anna Mauk as assistant hostess.

Mrs. Clara Pritchett offered the opening prayer after which Mrs. Bud Godfrey, president, conducted a short business session.

Mrs. J. W. Fitzjarrald gave the devotional using as her text the 23rd Psalm.

Mrs. Bill Kilpatrick, vice president, had charge of the social hour. A game "Name That Tune" with Katherine Wright at the piano was enjoyed by the group.

Punch and cookies were served to Mmes. Clara Pritchett, Rosa Peters, Bill Hartman, Anna Mauk, Ruby Thornton, Bud Godfrey, H. Byrd, S. M. Watts, Bill Kilpatrick, Bill Merrill and hostess, Mrs. Wright, members; and two guests, Mrs. Fitzjarrald and Mrs. Emma Baskerville.

NEWLIN

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Sweatt made a business trip to South Dakota last week.

Mrs. Albert Bailey and Mrs. Kitty Jones of Estelline were Saturday afternoon guests of Mrs. D. W. Lawrence.

Mrs. Frank Lookingbill of Loco visited Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Sims last week.

Mrs. Ralph Pavillard and C. W. A. of Lawton, Okla., were recent guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Lawrence.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Cobb and Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Sims were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Sims of Hedley.

Delphian Club Meets Tuesday With Mrs. Wherry

Mrs. R. H. Wherry was hostess to members of the Delphian Club on Tuesday afternoon at her home, 914 Cleveland.

Mrs. W. C. Dickey presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. C. D. Morris. Announcement was made that the club placed 8th in program planning and received honorable mention for the yearbook at the 7th District Convention held recently in Borger.

Mrs. Mildred Stephens was elected as delegate to the State Convention to be held in Lubbock May 6, 7, and 8.

Mrs. W. C. Dickey was presented a gift of recognition of having been awarded a Life Membership in Seventh District, Texas Federation of Women's Clubs.

"As the World Changes — A Better World for you" was the program topic for the afternoon. Mrs. C. C. Hodges gave the meditation.

with a poem written by Mabel Lochrie Campbell, a former Delphian member.

Mrs. Clyde Smith talked on "The Status of Economy." She pointed out that 1959 may see inflation again, but on the whole the picture is brighter than in 1956 and 1957.

Miss Maude Milam gave a talk on Social Security. She said nearly everyone is covered by Social Security. She pointed out that $25,000 is paid monthly in Hall County at this time to 600 persons.

Mrs. Charles Coley gave an interesting demonstration in parliamentary procedure.

Tasty refreshments were served to Mmes. A. Anisman, Charles Coley, W. C. Dickey, O. R. Goodall, Henry Hays, C. C. Hodges, C. D. Keith, Miss Maude Milam, J. S. McMurry, Clyde Smith, J. W. Stokes and hostess, Mrs. Wherry.

The next meeting is slated for May 5 at 4 p.m. in the home of Mrs. I. G. Vaden.

Methodist WSCS Elects Officers at Wellington Meet

The Woman's Society of Christian Service met at 9 a.m. Monday in the Methodist Church annex.

Mrs. Frank Foxhall was leader for a program entitled "Isaiah Speaks: A Light Unto the Nations." This was the last in a series of lessons on this subject.

Mrs. W. F. Ritchie reviewed Chapter 10; Mrs. J. W. Coppedge gave Chapter 11 and Mrs. R. C. Lemons reviewed Chapter 12. These remaining chapters were given with special awareness of the spiritual message of the great prophet.

After the fellowship moments the concluding unit, a musical pageant by Mrs. E. Davenport, was presented. Those taking part were Rev. David Binkley who read the Prologue; Mrs. Frank Foxhall as Isaiah; Mmes. Lee Brown, J.

W. Coppedge, and David Ansky as Jewish women of the Old Testament. The choir wearing robes entered the picture singing "Halleluiahs." They were led by Mrs. Mac Tarver with Mrs. Binkley at the piano. At the conclusion they retired singing "phony" from "The New World." The pageant is to be held in the sanctuary of the church.

Coffee was served during social hour to Mmes. J. M. DeCoppedge, Bess Crump, Tracy Vis, L. G. DeBerry, W. C. Dickey, Mary Lou Erwin, Frank Foxhall, Louie Goffinet, Gayle Greene, S. Greene, O. M. Gunsterson, A. Hightower, Ed Hutherson, C. Lemons, J. J. McDaniel, McElreath, Hall Nelson, M. Phelan, W. F. Ritchie, Mac Ter, L. B. Madden, Miss Martin, and Rev. David Binkley.

The next meeting is slated for May 4 at 9 a.m. in the home of Mrs. W. C. Dickey.

Nickel was used for playing early as 1843.

Winners Named In Poster Event At Travis School

Winners in the Health and Safety Poster Contest at the Travis Elementary School were announced this week by the sponsoring organization, the Travis Parent-Teacher Association.

Winning posters are now on display in several downtown stores. Mrs. Brode Hoover, president of the organization, said Tuesday.

Two posters, one on health and one on safety, were entered in the contest from each grade in the school. The contest was divided into three divisions: first division for first and second grades; second division for third and fourth grades; third division for fifth, sixth and seventh grades.

First prize ribbons were awarded to the following: First division, Mrs. Bessie Newton's first grade room on safety and Mrs. Carrie Belle King's second grade room on health; second division, Mrs. Ward Gurley's fourth grade room on both health and safety; third division, Mrs. Clifford Farmer's sixth grade room took both health and safety.

Judges in the contest were Mrs. John Fowler, Mrs. Bob Ayers and Bill Leslie.

Mrs. Joe Williams and Mrs. Herman Bell are chairman of the Health and Safety committees.

Cemetery Working To Be Held Thurs. At Lakeview

The semi-annual joint meeting of the Oddfellow and Union Hill Cemetery Association at Lakeview will be held Thursday, May 7, it was announced this week by the secretary, Miss Bulah Black.

This will be an all-day meeting and working, the secretary stated. Families are requested to bring lunch and spend the day.

Members are reminded that tools will be needed with which to work as the association no longer furnished the tools.

Dr. and Mrs. Odom Attend Medical Meet in San Antonio

Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Odom attended the Texas Medical Association convention in San Antonio on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday of last week, where Dr. Odom's graduating class of 1909 was honored at the Texas University Alumni banquet on the occasion of its 50th anniversary.

Dr. Odom said there were only five members of the class of 1909 present, two of whom he had not seen since graduation 50 years ago.

Following the convention, Dr. and Mrs. Odom went to Aransas Pass where they spent the rest of the week fishing, returning home on Sunday.

Snakes Alive

Four tons of rattlers sold at the annual event last weekend. They were headed for the Black Hill Reptile Gardens of Rapid City, S. D.

The rattlers sold for 50 cents per pound at first, and then later at 40 cents per pound. The Oklahoma town annually holds a rattlesnake hunt in conjunction with the sale.

Campbell said the snakes are used for their venom as well as meat.

The largest snake Campbell displayed last Saturday was about five feet long and weighed about four pounds. The greatest number he has ever taken from one den is 60.

"A lot of the time when we put the gasoline in the holes we see coons, skunks, rats and other small animals emerge," he said.

"I think maybe that the animals were living in the holes first, and then the snakes just moved in," he concluded.

Mrs. Gayle Greene To Show Records On Amarillo TV

Mrs. Gayle Greene and children, Ginger, Carol and Tommy, will be featured on the Ruth Brent's New Idea TV show over Channel 4, KGNC Amarillo Wednesday, May 6. The show comes on about 12:15 p. m.

Mrs. Greene will be demonstrating her new records which are offered for sale for the first time this week. The records, four in number, consists of the multiplication table in game form.

"These records are designed especially to insure the child's successful homework, without continuous effort on the part of the parents or teachers, Mrs. Greene said.

Lions Club Annual Park Opener Will Be Held May 15

Plans were almost complete this week for the annual Memphis Lions Club Park Opener event, which will be held here at the City Park May 15, Lynn McKown, president of the club, announced.

Planning for the event is being handled by a committee headed by Will Leslie. As in the past, there will be six major prizes awarded as well as numerous smaller gifts. However, plans are being made to speed up the prize presentation part of the program.

The event will include also the annual barbecued hamburger feed. Last year over 900 hamburgers were served to persons from the surrounding area.

Entertainment this year will include a square dancing exhibition by the Memphis Square Dance Club.

Junior Olympics To Be Held Here Tuesday Night

The annual Memphis Junior Olympics will be held at the football stadium Tuesday evening, according to an announcement this week by school officials.

The event includes competition in both elementary and high school divisions, and will get underway at 7 p. m.

In the elementary division, there will be 50-yard dashes, and 220-yard relays with competition covering grades one through seven. Trophies will be awarded to the winning rooms and ribbons to the three high individuals in each race.

In the high school division there will be bicycle races in addition to others.

A charge of 50 cents per family will be levied in order to pay for trophies and ribbons.

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas

Constitution Curbs Lawmakers

In an earlier column it was pointed out that our rights and freedoms as American citizens result from state and national constitutions, our laws and our courts. To illustrate further, here are some of the restraints placed upon Congress and other agencies of government by our national constitution:

1. Neither Congress nor anybody else can suspend the writ of habeas corpus (unless the public safety demands it during rebellion or invasion). All officers or others must obey a court and bring in anyone in their custody to see whether he is held lawfully.

2. Congress cannot pass "bills of attainder," special acts to punish someone. Congress cannot bypass the courts.

3. Congress cannot pass an ex post facto law — a law which makes an act a crime which was not one when done, or which punishes the offender more than called for when done.

4. Congress cannot tax exports from any state not by regulation favor one state's ports over another's, nor make one state's vessels clear or pay duties to another state in order to enter.

Besides these denials from within, the constitution curbs Congress and the executive and judiciary in the amendments, especially in the first ten.

Among other things, Congress cannot make a law respecting the establishment of religion or prohibiting its free exercise, or abridging the freedom of speech, of the press or the right of the people peaceably to assemble and to petition the government for a redress of grievances.

The constitution also curbs the courts (for example, they cannot deny a person a fair hearing duly represented by counsel). It curbs the executive (he cannot, for example, take private property for public use without just compensation).

The constitution, which divides the work of the three branches of government, winds up by telling where the rest of the power rests — just in case anybody gets any fancy ideas of dictatorship. There are things no state can do, for instance,

Traffic Deaths Running Fifth Above Last Year

The Texas Department of Public Safety reported today that 50 more persons have been killed in Texas traffic accidents during the first quarter of 1958 than in the same period last year.

Col. Homer Garrison Jr., Director, said this means motorists apparently have reversed the trend which resulted in the lowest traffic death rate in the State's history in 1958.

The Department reported 551 persons have died in traffic accidents during the first three months of this year, including reports received up to April 18. This total compares with a death toll of 501 during the comparable period of last year.

"This 10 per cent increase in traffic fatalities indicates we are off to a bad start which could completely wipe out the tight per cent decrease in motoricides for the whole of 1958," Garrison said.

Equally alarming is the fact that the total number of accidents has increased 24 per cent over last year, indicating an urgent need for every motorist to take stock of his driving habits and join in a campaign to save lives and restore our improved record of last year.

Garrison's statement was issued with the release of a booklet containing an analysis of 1958 motor vehicle traffic accidents, prepared by the Statistical Services Division. This showed that the 2,432 traffic deaths was the lowest since 1949 when 1,947 were killed, and that the death rate of 5.3 persons killed for each hundred million miles traveled was the lowest in history. The low rate was achieved through a reduction of 197 deaths in 1958 in spite of a three per cent increase in travel.

Jack Compton and Mrs. Lynne Compton of Loraine visited here last weekend with Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Compton.

stance, "make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privilege or immunities of citizens of the United States."

If there are any powers not given to the United States government or reserved to the states, they belong to the people. The constitution does not seem to limit the people.

(This column, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform — not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Applications For DPS Jobs Must Be in By May 11

The Texas Department of Public Safety today urged young men interested in becoming patrolmen to make sure they have their applications filed by the deadline of May 11.

Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director, announced that competitive examinations will be given on a state-wide basis May 12, 20, and 21 to fill approximately 75 vacancies in the patrol.

"This is an opportunity for young men between the ages of 21 and 35 to become a part of one of the most respected organizations of its kind in the Nation and at the same time occupy an essential position in our society," he said.

"We are searching for qualified young men who want life-time career with prestige and security for themselves and their families. Applicants who make the grade will emerge from the 14-weeks of training at the State Law Enforcement Academy in Austin as commissioned patrolmen."

Garrison said applicants who successfully complete the examination will be trained with pay and, upon graduation from the Academy, will be assigned to one of the six regions in the state. They will receive an additional six months of on-the-job training under supervision of experienced officers.

Qualifications call for a high school education or equivalent sound physical condition, height not under five feet, six inches nor over six feet four inches. Applications can be obtained from any Department of Public Safety field office or by writing to the Personnel and Training Division of the Department in Austin.

Mr. and Mrs. Daryl Long, attend Texas Tech in Canyon, and their parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Allen and Mr. and Mrs. Long over the weekend. Mrs. Long remained for a week's visit.

Visiting in the home of Mrs. Robert A. Hodges over the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Naylor, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Naylor, and son of Panhandle, and Mrs. H. A. Hodges and D. and D. Hodges of this city.

Fiji Islanders are proud of their frizzy, upstanding hair, and considered poor taste to touch other person's head. To do so meant almost certain death.
