Cotton Insect Course Set For Estelline

A cotton insect short course will be held three nights next week at Estelline school, T. H. Seay, vocational agriculture instructor, announced this week.

The meetings will be held Monday, Wednesday and Thursday nights beginning at 7 p.m. They are open to anyone who desires to attend and will be held in an air conditioned classroom. The course will last for about three hours each evening.

They will be taught by H. A. Seay, insect control specialist, vocational agriculture from the State Station.

Seay holds a bachelor of science and master of science degree in entomology and has had four years of field experience in insect control work.

During the past 11 months he has taught 36 insect control short courses under the auspices of the State schools.

Seay stated that he expected farmers participating in the course to gain enough additional knowledge about identification of insects, about their habits and about insecticides and methods of application that they will be able to carry out more effective and economical prevention and control measures.

Farmers interested in attending the course should contact Seay. Entry fee of $2.00 per person will be charged.

The insect control short courses are being conducted under a program operated through the Vocational Agriculture Division of the State Education Agency. Under this program agriculture specialists are available to vocational agriculture departments in the State schools to conduct special training on a short course

Following a test of translator television broadcasting and reception in this area over the past weekend, two public meetings have been scheduled by officials of the Caprock Translator System, Inc.

The first meeting will be held at the Lakeview Cafeteria Saturday night, June 27. The meeting will begin at 8:30 o'clock. Citizens of the Memphis area will attend a meeting at the American Legion Hall in Memphis Monday night, June 29, beginning at 8:30.

Officers of the system will endeavor to explain in full detail how the translator will work to give better television reception. Questions will be answered pertaining to the proposed program.

The test of translator television was conducted Friday and Saturday by engineers. The test was beamed from a portable 60-foot antenna located southwest of Hedter.

According to officials, a good quality, with 10-watt power transmitter picture was received over the area. These reports came from Estelline, Lakeview, Hedley and Memphis.

Following the test, leaders in the communities will go forward

Area I Little League Playoffs To Be Here

The Area I Little League baseball playoffs will be held in Memphis the latter part of July, according to an announcement this week by the board of directors of the Little League organization.

Allen Dunbar, secretary of the board, stated that the district league representative, Bill Moore of Muleshoe, notified the board Monday by telephone that Memphis had been selected as the play-off site.

There will be five teams competing here for the Area I championship. They will include Memphis, Childress, Canadian and two teams from Pampa.

The teams which compete in the area playoffs are all-star teams composed of players from all teams in the league within each city.

The actual date for the tournament has not been set, however, it will be sometime between July 20 and July 30, Dunbar said.

In regular Little League play here this week the Giants downed the Yankees 11 to 5 last Saturday night. In the second game the Indians and the Tigers battled to a tie with 8 runs each.

This game will count one-half won and lost for both teams. It, at the end of the season, there should be a tie in a total of games won and lost, the game will be replayed, Hershel Potts, coordinator for the program said.

Tonight the Memphis Owls, who compete in the Pony league, will meet the Yankees from Childress here at 8 p.m. They play in a league with three Childress teams here each Thursday night.

There will be Little League ball games Friday, Saturday and Tuesday nights, weather permitting.

Rev. O. B. Herring, new pastor of the First Methodist Church was the speaker for the occasion. He told the group that there were too many widows in this day and age and that more men should take their wives with them when they went fishing and to the golf course.

Lynn McKown, retiring president, served as master of ceremonies for the occasion.

Other new officers of the club include Joyce Webster, first vice president; Roy Brewer, second vice president; Dr. H. R. Stevenson, third vice president; James Van Pelt, secretary; J. M. Ferrel Jr., treasurer; Homer Tribble, Lion Tamer, Les Sims, Tail Twister; Adrian Combs and Carl Yancey, directors for two years.

Flood Control Bond Vote Scheduled For Saturday

Residents in the northwestern part of Hall County and the southwestern part of Donley County will go to the polls Saturday to vote in a $75,000 bond election.

The election will be for the Hall and Donley Counties Water Control and Improvement District No. 1 to issue this amount in bonds.

The money will be used for the cost of organization of the district and in making surveys, investigations and other costs and expenses incident to the organization of the district, according to a legal notice issued by the officers and directors of the district.

Approximately $40,000 of the money will be used to employ a planning party to survey the watershed within the district and to draw up plans for the location of dams to control the flooding on the creeks, Del Wells, president of the board of directors, said.

President Wells explained that the election was another step toward completion of the overall flood control project for the district. Damage from floods through the years has been tremendous. But with the establishment of the complete system, the economic picture of the area will be changed, he added.

In districts where the dams have been constructed under the federally-sponsored program, the underground water level has been raised. This holds possibilities for this area.

"The primary reason for calling the election was to expedite surveys and investigations in our district," he stated. "It will mean that SCS survey crews and engineers will be on the ground without undue delay."

ATTENDANCE AWARD—New Lions Club President Bill Baten, above left, and the immediate past president, Lynn McKown, examine a plaque which the local club won last Friday for having the largest number present at a barbecue in Clarendon.

It was explained that the District should have approximately $30,000 deposited in a bank. This fund will be used to take care of maintenance and repairs, as needed. This is a requirement in order to qualify for federal expenditures. The government will spend from two to four million dollars within the boundaries of the district, according to estimates.

The president requested that all qualified voters go to their polling place Saturday and cast their ballots.

The bonds will be issued for a period of 10 years and will bear not to exceed six per cent interest. There is over 150,000 acres in the district.

There will be two polling places within the district. One will be (Continued on Page Six)

Judy Lemons Attends Girl's State at Austin

Miss Judy Lemons returned recently from a 10 day trip to Austin where she attend Bluebonnet Girl's State at the Texas School for the Blind, held June 10-19.

A special train from Amarillo carried Judy and 24 other girls from this district to Austin. Upon arrival, the 450 chosen girls were sent to assigned cottages, then divided into four countries, two cities making up each county. Each girl was either assigned to the House of Representatives or to the Senate.

Judy was appointed to the committee of Labor in the House of Representatives and served as county chairman of the Federalist party.

The first few days were spent paying poll taxes, filing for city, county, and state offices, making posters, and making campaign speeches.

Saturday night was election night and the girls stayed in assembly until 2 o'clock Sunday morning, waiting for the returns.

Sunday morning services were held in the Lutheran Church. Speakers such as, senators, representatives, lawyers, business men and Governor Price Daniel, made speeches each day.

The group enjoyed a tour through the Governor's mansion, and had special permission to sit in the meeting of the House of Representatives.

Judy reported that she spoke with district representative Will Ehrle, while in Austin.

Through actual participation, the girls learned how government in cities, towns, and state is run.

Judy said that she had a most educational and enjoyable ten days and expressed her appreciation to her sponsor, the Memphis American Legion Auxiliary, for making her trip possible.

New Phamplet Available on Okra Production

Okra production is commercially important in certain areas of Texas. It is a close relative of cotton and requires about the same cultural practices and climatic conditions. A soil which produces high yields of cotton is suitable for okra.

Okra production is discussed in a new leaflet, "Growing Okra in Texas", released by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Several hundred acres are grown annually for the fresh okra market from the Lower Rio Grande Valley in the south to the High Plains in the northwest. The same good practices of soil rotation, soil fallowing and soil preparation used with cotton to avoid root rot and Fusarium wilt are recommended for okra.

Slenson Spinless and Louisiana Green Velvet are the most popular and best adapted varieties for Texas. Both varieties are highly productive over long periods. Perkins Dwarf Green Long Pod is the preferred dwarf variety.

According to the leaflet, seven rules should be followed when growing okra: 1. Select a fertile, well drained soil, 2. Select varieties that are well adapted to the area, and consider your market, fresh or processing, 3. Plant in a well-prepared and well-fertilized soil. Assure proper moisture for germination, 4. Use seed from a reliable source, 5. Thin plants for proper spacing, 18 to 24 inches apart. Keep cultivated and irrigated as necessary, 6. Harvest pods regularly, keep them in a cool shaded area and market as soon as possible. Handle the harvested pods carefully and 7. Check and follow carefully the quarantine regulations for your area.

You can obtain the leaflet from your local county agent. Ask for L-433.

are the answers to some questions that local people have been asking about the small watershed act.

THE ACT

Congress passed watershed and Flood Prevention Act, known as P.L. 566 in 1954. The act provides for a type approach to soil and resource development, use, conservation. In 1956 the act was amended by P.L. 1018, 84th Congress.

FEDERAL PROJECT

Under the watershed act each project is a Federal project with Federal aid.

PEOPLE INITIATE

The act places full responsibility for start-up of watershed projects on people who act through their organizations. Only local organizations can initiate a project.

LOCAL PART

Under P.L. 566, as amended, the Secretary of Agriculture is authorized to provide technical and financial assistance to local organizations in carrying out work and carrying out work of improvement for flood prevention.

SCOPE OF ACT

To bridge the gap existing between the effective conservation work done by local farmers and ranchers on their own land and the large stream dams and other developments on major rivers.

COST SHARING

Local organizations or landowners and operators are required to bear certain costs, either in cash or the value of labor, services, or materials. The Federal Government pays all the construction and operating costs of installing and maintaining improvement for flood prevention.

HELP GIVEN

In addition to the assistance offered under the Small Watershed Act, local watershed conservation organizations have the aid of other Federal, Federal-State and State programs dealing with land, water and plants. This assistance may include educational, technical, ACP cost sharing, credit, FHA, and the collection and dissemination of research data from research agencies.

Funeral

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks to the many kindnesses shown us during our recent sorrow. For the prayers, food, cards, and hearts held out to us, we are sincerely grateful. Each of you have just such a card in your hour of need. The Family of Sina Harrison

Neighbor next door has gone away, we hope to meet her some sweet day, meet where there will be no fears, God shall wipe away our tears, you always so good and kind, your neighbor would be hard to find, so sad for her to go, leave us lonely here below, ever there we know she is glad, but one day will she be sad, some day we will understand, we all meet in the Great Promised Land.

YOUR Social Security

Hal S. Geldon, Manager of the Amarillo Social Security Office said this week, "The risk of disability hangs over all of us, and although it may strike only once in every hundred, it may affect the family's financial security more than the retirement, or even the death of a worker."

"In recent years the old-age survivors insurance program has been enlarged to give protection also against loss of earnings because of severe, long-lasting disability."

"Part of our job at the social security office is to answer questions which people have about this protection under the social security program."

Geldon says that these are the questions most often asked about disability benefits under the social security law:

Q. How old do I have to be to be eligible for disability benefits?

A. Monthly payments may be made to disabled workers age 50 to 65. A person's disability benefits are automatically changed to old-age benefits when he reaches 65. The amount of the benefit is the same. (However, a person disabled since childhood may get benefits regardless of his age if one of his parents gets retirement or disability benefits under the law, or dies after working long enough under social security to become insured.)

Q. What if I become disabled before I am 50 years old?

A. You may have your social security earnings record "frozen" to protect your own and your family's rights to future benefits. When your earnings record is frozen, the period during which you are totally disabled for work is not counted, and does not lower your average earnings.

Q. How long must I have worked under social security to be eligible for disability payments, or to have my social security record frozen?

A. At least 5 years — or, since social security credits are counted in units of calendar quarters of the year, in at least 20 calendar quarters. The 20 quarters of coverage need not be consecutive, but they must all have been during the 10-year period ending with the calendar quarter in which you become disabled. After 1961 the amount of work required will increase slowly.

Q. How disabled do I have to be to meet the terms of the social security disability provisions?

A. You don't have to be completely helpless to be found "disabled" under the social security law, but you must have a disability which, in the words of the law, makes you "unable to engage in any substantial gainful activity." Your condition must have lasted for at least 6 months, and be expected to continue for an indefinite time. Your physical or mental condition must show up in a medical examination or tests. Some examples of conditions which ordinarily are considered severe enough to make a person unable to engage in any substantial gainful activity are: loss of use of both arms, both legs, or a leg and an arm; cancer which is progressive and cannot be improved or cured by surgery or other treatment; permanent and total inability to speak; total deafness (which cannot be corrected by a hearing aid); and mental disease requiring constant supervision or continued confinement in an institution.

Q. Will my family receive any social security benefits if I am disabled for work?

A. The 1958 amendments to the social security law provide for de-

Rain Gives Young Cotton Boost

Weather during the past week has been just right for most of the county cotton but a little wet in some cases for wheat cutting.

John McMicken, official weather observer, recorded .75 of an inch here at the measuring Tuesday morning and then .12 of an inch last Friday morning, to make a total of .87 for the past week.

The rain seemed to be pretty general over most of the county with heavier amounts being reported from the Plaska area on both nights. There was some damage to crops but for the most part the rain came at just the right time for the young cotton.

Editorial

What Will A Community Building Cost You?

In last week's issue of The Democrat the city council ran an ad in which they stated that it would take about a 14 per cent increase in taxes to pay for the community building bonds. The council, according to a city official, based their estimate on what would probably be required by the Attorney General before he would approve the bonds and what would be needed before the bonds could be easily sold on the market. It does not necessarily mean that the entire 14 per cent would be required for the retirement of the bonds, however council members felt that this amount must be levied in order to secure the approval of the Attorney General and to provide for their sale in an easy manner.

So here is how to figure your increase in taxes. If, for example, you paid $20 taxes on your home last year, the increase will be $2.80. So, after the 14 per cent increase, your taxes will be $22.80. To figure your own increase, take the amount you paid last and multiply by .14. It is just that simple. Then you will know approximately what the tax increase will mean to you.

As we explained above, the increase in taxes will be more than enough to pay for the community building. As far as we know the city council may use any surplus as they see fit.

Last week we discussed the various advantages to the community and the area which will be achieved by such a building. During the last several months Memphis has enjoyed greater growth than at any time in the past 10 years. We have seen this year the construction of several new homes. Work has started on a division office for the General Telephone. Waples-Platter Company moved their Vernon headquarters here and several service stations will be constructed soon.

All of these things add to the progress of a community. We have, also during the past several years, seen a community come into action on several different fronts. An active Little League baseball program has been provided, Girl Scouts have been organized, Cub and Boy Scout units have been enlarged and a general growing tendency has made itself felt in all phases of community activity. A community building would do much to provide for the continued growth of our city. There is a desperate need for a meeting place here for every local organization—a place which will seat a great number of persons when necessary.

There has been considerable work on investigating what kind of building would best serve the needs of the community. One firm quoted a price of about $25,000 for a brick building with timber-rib ceiling, similar to those in many modern church buildings. A building of this nature will take care of up to 600 people at a banquet and 700 when used as auditorium. Their price of $25,000 does not include the partition walls. So the amount of the bond election, $50,000, is sufficient to construct a building of which the entire community would be proud.

"Wet" Supreme Court

The Texas Supreme Court recently jolted church, moral groups and bootleggers by ruling that a town or precinct can vote wet even if the county votes dry. The results of this ruling may be far more important than a lot of people have realized. There are a lot of sections of the state, similar to our own where the nearest "wet" town is many miles away.

It would seem to us that it is now possible for a small town in the center of such an area to turn itself into a boom town by calling an election and voting wet. Bootleggers here have had a hard time during the past several years due to the efficient work of law enforcement officers. However, there are dry sections of the state where bootleggers do an estimated million dollars a year business. And it is entirely possible that some small community, under the control of one man, or group, could vote a little town wet and do a booming business.

During the past several years the Texas Supreme Court seems to have been taking lessons from the national group in Washington. It seems funny to us that both high courts have suddenly decided that previous rulings on various subjects were wrong and they must set up new precedents.

GASOLINE CORNER AND PLEASURE LANE

Press Paragraphs— QUOTING OUR NEIGHBORS

Counting Our Blessings How many times have we Swisheries been guilty of apologizing for our treeless landscape, our lack of beautiful mountains, the smallness of our towns, our lack of cultural attractions? How many times have we been ashamed of our country when we had visitors from the city? How many times have we pretended to despise our home for fear out-of-state visitors would think we are Hicks? It's true that our country is different from many other places, and grass always greener on the other side of the fence. When we visit the city, it has an attraction because it offers diversion. A change is always good for a person. That is why most everybody, regardless of his home, likes to take a vacation once a year. City folks go to the beach. Those who live near the beach go to the mountains. All who can, go to Europe or Hawaii. And so it goes. But visiting a place and making it one's home are two different things. In what ways is life in Swisher County preferable to life in other places in America or abroad? We mention a few. Consider the blessing of going to bed in the still of the night with no clanging streetcars, no honking taxis, no flashing electric signs to disturb one's rest. Consider the blessing of comparatively clean, wide streets and sidewalks on which to drive or walk instead of narrow alley-like thoroughfares found in so many cities. Consider the blessing of being able to walk through our business districts without having to wade through hordes of destitute people begging alms. Consider the blessing of clean, pure air to breathe instead of the humid atmosphere of many cities, polluted with the aroma of decaying vegetation and unburned people—not to mention Los Angeles' smog. Consider the blessing of being protected by pure food laws, making it possible for us to eat and enjoy anything we see in a store with the knowledge that it will not injure our health. Consider the blessing of modern super markets which stimulate our appetites. Consider the blessing of being able to communicate with most anyone we desire, unbound by language difficulties. Consider the blessing of living in a country without having to fear that any daybreak may see civil insurrection and bloodshed. Consider the blessing of going to bed at night with a doctor, ambulance, miracle drugs, hospital

But for just plain living, give us Swisher County despite the drought, and small town ways. —The Tulsa Herald clings to curves like a cat on a carpet!

the travel-lovin' Chevrolet

Nothing else but a dyed-in-the-wool sports car like the Corvette can take a turn with such solid assurance! It's easy to see where Chevrolet gets its road sense. With big coil springs at every wheel, a firm, wider stance and all of its pounds distributed with painstaking care, Chevy's born with it.

The only thing that may be hard to understand is how it can offer the ride it does, along with so many other luxury-car virtues, and still compete in the low-price field. We use the word compete only in the sense of price. For with a ride as special as Chevy's, real competitors are hard to come by. There's a world of difference between Chevrolet's coil springs at all four wheels and the leaf springs that most other cars still use. Take a Chevy down a snaky back road and you'll feel the difference in the sure way it holds through curves and shoots over rough spots with hardly a ripple. This one's really made to travel and loves every minute of it.

Draft Call Weeks 382 Men

State quota for Texas draft in July calls for 382 men, said Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, announced this week.

The state's July call of 382 compared with a quota of 284 for June and 272 for May. The July call represents the state's share of a national quota of 8,000 men, all for the June national quota.

Schwartz also announced that in spite of the slight rise in the state quota, no call for pre-physical and mental examinations for July would be issued.

Board quotas for the July 1949 draft have been figured and sent to the state's 137 local draft boards.

About Your HEALTH

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health. HENRY A. HOLLE, M.D., Commissioner of Health.

It's sad but true: the hay fever season lasts all year in Texas. The reason: the wide range of climate and soil conditions which produce an assortment of offending flora — trees and shrubs and grasses. This might be some consolation, though: the state is running generally behind schedule in the rain department. And during dry weather pollen production goes into a slump.

Ragweed pollen is still the biggest enemy of the watery-eyed set, but mountain cedar, scrub elm, and a variety of other plants and grasses also cause their share of sneezing misery.

From mid-winter until early spring, people from Dallas southward are affected by the pollen of cedar, a profusely growing tree with a bad habit of pollinating like it was going to be banned tomorrow.

Fall hay fever sufferers probably have the scrub elm to blame for their troubles. A late-summer pollinator, the elm is common over most of the state, but it is particularly profuse in the bottomlands of the Guadalupe and Trinity Rivers. The mesquite causes minor allergic trouble in West Texas during May, June and July. Cottonwoods and poplars are pesky sources of red eyes and congested noses wherever they are found.

Grass hay fever is possible through spring, summer and fall over most of Texas, and in winter in the Rio Grande Valley. Bermuda grass is the chief offender. Rhodes grass is a potential hay fever factor in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Ragweed pollen is now almost as abundant at Dallas and Houston as in the north central states.

It is a serious summer and fall problem as far west as San Antonio and all along the Gulf coast to Brownsville.

In arid parts of Central and West Texas, Russian thistle is a leading cause of inhalent allergies. Other local causes are sugar beets and Palmer's amaranth. Sage pollen is a potential factor in West Texas. Sand sagebrush, a dominant native plant in the Panhandle, is suspect as a trouble maker.

How to get relief from hay fever? A sea voyage during "your" season would do it. So would staying in an air-filtered room. But since neither action is practical you'll just have to sneeze and wipe your nose unless you check with your doctor about the best method of treatment in your own particular case.

Call them redbugs. Call them harvest mites. Call them chiggers. By whatever name, they mean sleepless nights and ceaseless spasms of itching misery. This is their season. It will last from now until cold weather cuts into their ranks. A few people have an apparent immunity to chigger attacks, but the vast majority of us are oh-so-susceptible!

They — the chiggers — have a special affinity for low, damp places covered with vegetation. Bermuda grass harbors them well, but for some unexplainable reason they are not usually found in carpet grass.

Just for the record, it's the larvae which do the damage, attaching themselves with their mouthparts and sucking blood until they become engorged and fall off. The fiery itching is caused by an anticoagulant material they inject into their host.

Although adult chiggers — large, red and velvety — are probably harmless to humans, their wayward offspring can be serious as well as annoying. Not that they spread any specific disease — at least not in this country — but their bites demand scratching which frequently cause secondary infections in the form of sores and boils.

To learn where chiggers are harboring, stand a piece of black cardboard on end where you suspect their presence. If after a few moments you see tiny yellowish or pinkish mites accumulating on the upper edge, you know it's time to check your supply of insecticide.

Chiggers attack lizards, snakes, birds, and rodents with the same vigor and resourcefulness they display in attacking humans. No distinction is drawn between man and lesser animal species, which is hardly complimentary to us Homo sapiens.

Light applications of sulphur dust on lawns and low branches of shrubs have been used successfully for years to control chiggers. Nowadays, the new insecticides such as chlorodane and lindane give better results. Just follow the directions on the label.

A quick word of caution: Be sure to avoid unnecessary exposure to the insecticide. If you spill the concentrated material on your skin, wash it off immediately. Be sure to keep children and pets out of the yard until the spray dries.

Draft Board Must Be Informed of Changes by Men

Selective Service officials are becoming increasingly concerned about the numbers of men of draft age who do not advise their local boards about changes in their status.

This was reported recently by Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, who has recently returned from a conference of state and territorial Selective Service directors in Washington.

He says officials are worried because up-to-date and accurate information can be "very valuable if this country were to get into an emergency."

Men registered with draft boards are required by law to advise their boards about everything from a change of job to a change of address. The law gives them 10 days to get the information to their boards in writing.

The official regulation reads:

"It shall be the duty of every classified registrant to keep his local board currently informed of his occupational, marital, family, dependency, and military status, of his physical condition, of his home address, and of his receipt of any professional degree in a medical, dental, or allied specialist category. Every classified registrant shall, within 10 days after it occurs, report to his local board in writing every change in such status and in his physical condition and home address and his receipt of any such professional degree."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

"Bond Issue for Community Building or City & County Hospital — Which Shall We Choose?"

It is three a.m. I couldn't sleep so I thought it best to get up and write this article while it is fresh on my mind.

A Community Building, yes it would be wonderful to have, and very nice for Memphis, but which comes first: our pleasures or the welfare and health of our children and our loved ones?

How many of you citizens and taxpayers of Memphis have stopped to think what the very near future holds for us when Dr. Odom and Dr. Goodall retire. Will our other good doctors stay here or will they go on to larger cities. We do have good doctors and we want to keep them.

I understand that this is the last year that Hall County can receive state aid for the use of a hospital. We want to keep our doctors. Who wants to drive ninety miles to see a doctor and that is what will be happening if we lost our chance to get a City & County Hospital now. A Community Building, yes, but let's have the hospital first.

Now that I have this off my mind I believe I can go back to sleep.

Around and About

By HELEN COMBS

Just 30 years ago Memphians recognized the need for a community building and an editorial in The Memphis Democrat proclaimed this fact. We quote: "There is no reason why Memphis should not stand out in the Panhandle as a convention city. We have facilities here for conventions. If we ever build the contemplated municipal auditorium there will be no reason in the world why Memphis should not appeal as a convention city."

Yes, folks, these were the thoughts of Memphis residents 30 years ago... they recognized the need for improvement. But what did they do about the need? Apparently nothing! It is well to talk about progress and write about progress but the actual "doing" is what counts.

Wednesday, July 1, you will have an opportunity to vote bonds to build a community building, an improvement we have needed for 30 years. There are other improvements the community needs... those should be added too.

A few short years ago we voted bonds to build a swimming pool and pave the streets... none of us have felt the pinch of additional taxes too much for these improvements. We, personally, take pride when we can say to our out-of-town friends, "Look at our streets and we'll show you our swimming pool."

If we do not feel we need the community building for our own personal use... let's remember our community, our friends, our business firms, our clubs, our youth, and our rural friends... all of whom need the building.

For years our civic pride has suffered because we do not have a decent city auditorium. We have been embarrassed year after year at the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet as we packed people into the Travis cafeteria... this is just one of many examples which could be cited. Time after time, we have said we cannot invite any large delegation to our city because we do not have a suitable building in which to meet. Throughout the years, Memphis merchants have lost thousands of dollars from out-of-town visitors who could have been entertained in our city.

Folks, 30 years is long enough to ponder over a situation. Meet us at the polls Wednesday and let's build a community building... but let's not stop there. Let's add the other improvements our community needs, too.

For three years now we have been telling you about the wonders of granddaughters... now we're going to have to digress a bit. Our first grandson has arrived. He's a healthy looking little 7 pound, 10 ounce boy with darker hair than his blond sister. Carais and Adrian have named him Kenneth Adrian with plans to call him Kent. He arrived Tuesday afternoon.

Speaking of girls, we found this excellent defense of women and their spending by Ernest Joiner in the Ralls Banner: "Women take a lot of guff about the amount of money they spend on hats. But I never heard of one who spends $495 for a hat, another $495 for a motor and $25 on fishing tackle to catch a 25 cent fish she didn't intend to eat in the first place." Thanks Mr. Joiner!

Mrs. Alvin Massey, who recently moved to Dumas, came by to see us Tuesday. She said Margaret Ann will leave tonight for Los Angeles enroute to Copenhagen, Denmark, to meet her brother, Roy Alvin, for a tour of Europe. Margaret Ann took the Polar flight. Roy Alvin has been in England for the past several months. They plan to spend the next several weeks touring the various European countries, returning to the states about the middle of September.

Understand the game afternoon sponsored by the 1913 Study Club proved to be the week's social highlight. More than 60 women and one gentleman enjoyed the games of bridge, Canasta and forty-two at the Country Club Tuesday afternoon. This is the first in a series of three parties planned by the club for the summer months. The next social will be on July 21... so make plans now to join your friends for a pleasant afternoon.

Thought for the day: O. Henry once said: "It ain't the things you don't know that gets you into trouble... it's the things you know for sure that ain't so."

Betty Orcutt and Don Ferrel Wed In Estelline Rites

The First Methodist Church of Estelline was the scene of the wedding of Miss Bettye Gail Orcutt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elam Orcutt and Don Crump Ferrel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Crump Ferrel of Estelline. The double ring vows were read by Rev. W. O. Rucker, minister, on June 13 at 7 p.m.

Mrs. C. L. Sloan, organist, presented traditional selections and accompanied Miss Elaine Curtis, Olton vocalist, who sang "Because" and "Wedding Prayer".

Misses Rene Pardue and Jan Hudlow were candle lighters. Their blue crystalline dresses were fashioned with full skirts and were enhanced with self bows.

Mrs. Gus Orcutt was matron of honor, Misses Nell Couch, Amarillo, and Dee Dee Arrington, Childress, were bridesmaids. All the attendants wore identical dresses of blue crystalline, fashioned on princess lines with bouffant skirts. Their headpieces were matching half-caps of blue velvet.

Best man was Billy Ferrel, brother of the groom. Ushers were Eddie Braidfoot of Memphis, and Burton Lathram of Tell.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a waltz-length formal gown of imported chantilly lace over taffeta. The bodice was fitted with a decollete neckline and the skirt flared from a princess style waist line. Her double shoulder length veil of illusion was attached to a crown of encrusted sequins. She carried a prayer book of white, topped with a bouquet of white carnations.

A reception was held in the church banquet room immediately following the ceremony. The bride's table was beautifully decorated with blue and white. Assisting were Misses Wanda Mabry, Marie Ward, Carolyn Hood and Julia Richburg.

Mrs. Ferrel is a graduate of Estelline High School, and has been employed for the past year with the First State Bank of Memphis.

Mr. Ferrel was active in Estelline High School where he graduated in 1958. He attended West Texas State College the past year.

After August 1, Mr. and Mrs. Ferrel will be at home in Canyon, where the groom will continue his studies, and the bride will be employed with the First National Bank.

Before their recent marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Ferrel were honored with a reception and shower, given in the reception hall of the Estelline Methodist Church. One hundred and fifty guests registered for the occasion.

Mrs. C. L. Sloan, assisted by Mmes. Bob Davidson and Joe Bob Nivens, honored the couple with a dinner and an evening of entertainment of games in her spacious country home west of Estelline.

Mrs. Bud Johnson Honoree at Bridal Shower

Mrs. Bud Johnson, formerly Miss Ruth Ann Jackson, was honored Monday evening, with a "come and go" bridal shower in the home of Mrs. Heber Johnson. Guests called between the hours of 8 and 10 p.m.

Guests were registered by Miss Mary Lee Melton in the white leather bride's book on a registry table covered with a white cloth and centered with a bouquet of bells of Ireland and white daisies.

Gifts were displayed on various tables throughout the home.

The serving table was appointed with a white linen cloth centered with yellow roses and fern. Refreshments of cookies, mints, nuts, and punch were served throughout the evening by Mrs. Billy Johnson and Mrs. Blackie Johnson.

The hostess gift to the honoree was a starter set of Melmac dinnerware.

Hostesses for the occasion were Mmes. Edgar Daugherty, Guy Wright, Thelma Hodges, C. E. Rice, Billy Don Johnson, E. L. Kilgore, Guy Cawfield, Kenneth Crump, Mildred Jones, W. W. Ferris, Shirley Bryant and June Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Chitwood of San Angelo, and formerly of Memphis, visited here last week with friends.

Louis Saied Family Moves To Perryton

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Saied and children, Georgia Kay, Loren, Patti Lynn and Steven, moved to Perryton Wednesday.

He has been in Perryton the past several weeks when family operates a Men's Store at a Laddie's Ready-to-Wear Shop.

The Saied family has lived in Memphis for the past 10 years and during that time operated Saied's store here. The store, which is being managed by Saied, a brother of Louis.

In speaking of moving, Mr. Saied said, "We hate to leave our good friends here and will think of Memphis as home."

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Norman purchased the Saied home and move to that location this week. Norman is the new local manager of West Texas Utilities Co.

Report From Washington

By WALTER ROGERS
Representative, 18th
Congressional District

Deadline

Although this is a weekly news-which would indicate that there is plenty of time to prepare a bill, the deadline sometimes slips up on us. Last week was one of those times. We almost missed this letter out on schedule. The reason was the extreme action of the Committees and the Legislative Oversight Committee of the House. The Legislative Oversight Committee and Foreign Committee held hearings all week long starting at 9:30 each morning and continuing until the House of Representatives went into session at 11 o'clock. The measure being considered by the House of Representatives involved a bill that required our constant attention.

First day was devoted to consideration of a Conference Report on an appropriations bill, the Suspension Calendar, and the Suspension Calendar. The Suspension Calendar included the highly controversial Veterans Pension Act. A two-thirds affirmative vote was necessary to pass this measure. It is not in its passage does not involve the controversy that took place in the House. Another bill in the Suspension Calendar was the extension of the Oil and Gas Lease between the States, which is important to Texas and Oklahoma. The House then adopted a resolution authorizing the consideration of the foreign aid bill to be taken up and debated Wednesday. A major portion of the week was consumed in a bitter debate over this high-priority measure. We also considered a wheat bill that had been passed by the Senate and House Agriculture Committee. This was hotly debated and, incidentally, failed of adoption. As soon as the foreign aid bill had been concluded, the House considered probably the most expensive issue facing the country today. I refer to the proposal of the Eisenhower Administration to increase the national public debt limit.

These activities meant that the day of the Congressman started earlier and lasted later than usual. I was on the move by 7:00 o'clock in the morning, and never able to get to bed before 12:00 o'clock all week. In addition to the activities outlined above, we had the usual responsibilities and obligations of the average day in the Congressional office. That it, the regular mail that must be answered promptly, the matters that must be handled with all the Federal departments, the reference work which must be done to keep one acquainted with the pending bills, as well as a thousand and one other things that are never anticipated. I am sure all newspaper, television and radio people can appreciate the deadline situation. I just wanted you to know that it goes on here too.

Tops Gilreath Attends Meet of Superintendents

Vera Tops Gilreath, county superintendent, was in College Station last week to attend the 1959 conference of the Texas Association of County Superintendents. The conference was held on June 15, 16, and 17 in the Memorial Student Center, Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas.

Attending the conference in addition to the county superintendents were Texas school administrators and instructional supervisors.

The program opened at 8:45 a.m. Monday. Featured on the morning program was Robert M. Isenberg, assistant secretary, Department of Rural Education, National Education Association, Washington, D. C. Mr. Isenberg spoke on "Change, Social and Economical Forces and the Future." On Monday evening the superintendents enjoyed a Smorgasbord in the ballroom of the Memorial Student Center, followed by a business meeting.

On Tuesday morning Emmett Smith, Director of Teacher Education, West Texas State College, spoke to the group on "Role of the Public Schools in the Teacher Education Programs." Tuesday evening the group enjoyed a buffet supper and party at the Briarcrest Country Club.

"Two study courses that were particularly of interest to me were the 'Clinic for New County School Superintendents,' and 'Role of the Supervisor in an In-Service Education Program,'" Miss Gilreath said.

Ben Fort, superintendent, Bowie County Schools, New Boston, conducted the clinic for county superintendents. Serving as leader for the discussion of the second topic was James W. Patterson, superintendent, Johnson County Schools, Cleburne.

The presiding judge for the election will be O. V. Alexander and Mrs. O. V. Alexander will be judge. Clerks will be Mrs. A. H. Miller and Mrs. Jack Boone.

The election was called by the City Council recently after a petition signed by over 70 qualified voters was presented the group.

Should the election carry, it is anticipated that the building constructed would seat about 500 persons at a banquet and about 700 as an auditorium.

At present the largest available building for banquets and other such meetings is the Travis Elementary School cafeteria which will seat only about 300 persons.

equipment, which a number of citizens have figured will do the job.

"I am against the bond issue because I didn't believe the building could be built at such low cost," is the way one declared himself. Answer: The Lions Club Committee has on file tentative bids from two large building outfits and may be seen at the Democrat office. On a 70' x 140' building, concrete block walls, steel roof, and insulated, solid concrete floor, proper number of doors, one firm's figure is $25,135. The other firm figured doubling the concrete block wall and quoted $32,250. On 50 x 120' the two firms were nearly the same, $17,500. One firm added that pressed hollow brick instead of concrete blocks for all the walls at $25,000. The committee has obtained figures from seating companies and kitchen equipment and dining equipment and tables, heating and air conditioning, plumbing fixtures, as well as figures on building a stage, and kitchen and storage room partitions. The estimate obtained from the various companies will run to around $15,000 to equip the building properly. When the building and equipment companies are asked to submit bids, quite lower bids may be made.

"What good will a community building do?" some have asked. Week after week this newspaper in news items and in columns has outlined many things in which such building will render service. In limited space a few are repeated here: The Lions Club, the Rotary Club and the women's B. & P. W. Club have weekly meetings on the third floor of the Masonic building. Some of the members, on account of heart conditions, have to take a leave of absence because of the climb, and others had a darn sight rather have a ground-floor meeting place. These clubs want to change. They each pay rent of $20 to $25 per month, and prefer ground floor facilities and would gladly pay as much for the use of a community building. This would be a year-round tenancy.

Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and other teenage organizations would have use of such building instead of meeting in various school, church, Legion building and Carnegie Library. Women's Clubs and social groups would much prefer such building instead of basements of churches, school auditorium, country club (which sometimes has no resident keeper to keep the club room ready for occupancy, some social parties where host or hostess prefer a club room rather than the home in which to entertain. People find a community building ideal for wedding receptions, bridal showers, etc.

Annual events, such as Chamber of Commerce banquet, ex-students annual home coming affairs, Legion district conventions, square dance club district conventions as well as local dances each week,

Memphis Production Credit Association annual meeting, REA annual meeting, and now added to that the cotton classing office will have annual meeting of the farmers of the district, the General Telephone Co. has frequent meetings in which the whole district participates, all of which either have to limit attendance if held here, or go to Wellington and use their community center there.

Then there are many family reunions occurring during the year. If they meet in the park during the summer they sometimes have to go indoors in bad weather, and such a building would be available. All in all, there are enough different groups meeting all through the year to keep the center in use, and according to the city engineer at Wellington, the rental would take care of the janitor and upkeep expenses.

The school board has been very liberal with groups wanting to use the facilities of the school but they would prefer to use them for the school's benefit, not the whole community.

The large organizations with district offices here, would much prefer their meetings in the district office home town, but for lack of space have to go to Wellington and take the families. During the business sessions, the women and children have nothing else to do during the day except window shop, patronize the merchants, and the children especially visit the picture shows and swimming pools leaving quite a bit of money in the neighboring town, when by furnishing a community building Memphis would get the benefit both financially and added interest in our town.

One item not mentioned: Wellington & other towns with centers frequently have Big-Name dance bands and the young folks of Memphis and other neighboring places attend and leave quite a speck of money with the good neighbors. Such events could be brought to Memphis.

The typesetter is yelling for me to cut it short. So, in a few closing words (for this is the last time before the election that you will have to read the facts as we have found out by study and research, we have tried to faithfully give the facts to you so you can make up your mind whether Memphis will take a forward step that will lead to greater and better advancements and for the present fill a need that has been Memphis' for a third of a century. Answer to yourself the questions, "Do we need to go forward, or just let things drift? Will a community center be a step forward or will it be a backward step?" It has been truthfully said that when a town quits trying to improve, it goes backward. By all means let every one qualified to vote go to the polls Wednesday and vote one way or another. The majority rules and we will abide by the decision made at the polls.

May we say to the Memphis Lions Club, your committee has labored faithfully, if not well, to promote the community center project. If we have failed, please forgive us for not doing what should have been done. Honestly, we hope your children who soon will become the leaders here may have proper facilities provided to carry on and keep Memphis growing, should this issue fail.

See you at the polls Wednesday, July 1.
