

Mrs. L. McKown Reviews Book At Delphian Meet

Mrs. C. D. Keith was hostess to members of the Delphian Club at the regular meeting on Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 3.

The afternoon's study was devoted to the problems confronting the Negro race.

Mrs. Henry Hays gave the afternoon's meditation entitled, "The Negro Comes into His Own."

Mrs. Lynn McKown reviewed the book, "Our Miss Rossie" by Jessie Bennett Sams. Mrs. McKown explained that the author of the book is a Negro woman who was reared at Alachua, Florida. She was educated at Florida A&M and at the University of Southern California. For the past ten years she has taught school in Los Angeles.

Miss Rossie, of whom Mrs. Sams writes, is a southern white lady, who disregarding her neighbor's prejudices, helped Mrs. Sams and her twin sisters grown out of poverty into well adjusted, cultured women, Mrs. McKown said.

"Miss Rossie was a Christian. She was silent when gossip attacked her or the little girls she was helping. Her philosophy was; 'you can't stop them. What they say can't hurt you, unless you let it. The way won't be easy, she would tell the little negro girls, but then, it never is for anybody. And when it is, when you no longer have troubles, what has really happened is that you have stopped growing; you've stopped trying. And to stop trying is a little like dying. It is dying a little," Mrs. McKown said in quoting the author of the book.

Mrs. Sams said it was love which gave life to "Our Miss Rossie". She wrote, "there are many kinds of love. Love can be greedy, tyrannical, selfish, demanding,

But Miss Rossie's love had none of these elements. Never did it cling, hurt or drain. It strengthened, supported and healed," Mrs. McKown concluded.

During the social hour tasty refreshments were served to Meses. Bob Fowler, Sim Goodall, Belle Shults, Jim McMurry, Jack Boone, Henry Hays, C. C. Hodges, C. D. Morris, Clyde Smith, W. C. Dickey, Lynn McKown, Miss Maud Milam and hostess, Mrs. Keith.

Tax Reform

"A small, specialized school will open in the Nation's Capitol next month. The subject matter will be tax law and economics. The faculty will be composed primarily of economists, tax lawyers, and educators in these fields. The students will be the members of the House Committee on Ways and Means. As a matter of fact, it will not be a formal educational institution, but a seminar by the committee to inform itself on all shades of economic thought with respect to practical and desirable remodeling of our tax structure.

The classes will take the form of public hearings, beginning November 16 and continuing through December 18."

This was the novel manner in which my good friend, Honorable Jerry Harrison, Congressman from Virginia's 7th District and a member of the Committee on Ways and Means, announced the Committee hearings which will commence next week. Actually, the hearings will take the form of panel discussions with an eye to accomplish a specific objective and one which, in my opinion, is greatly needed. The Committee on Ways and Means is that which exercises legislative jurisdiction in matters of taxes and revenue, and the hearings which will begin November 16 for the purpose of establishing concise and factual information that in all areas of federal tax laws so that tax reform may be accomplished by intelligent and informed legislation.

The Chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means, Honorable Wilbur Mills from Arkansas, has stated that the immediate objective of income tax reform is to reduce the rates without sacrificing revenues required for responsible financing of our government, and at the same time, tax reform must seek among other things (1) tax climate more favorable to economic growth; (2) greater equity through closer adherence to the principle that equal incomes should bear equal tax liabilities; (3) assurance that the degree of progression in the distribution of burdens accords as closely as possible with widely-held standards of fairness; (4) an overall system which contributes significantly to maintaining stability of the general price level and a high rate of use of human and material resources; (5) a system which interferes as little as possible with the operation of the free market mechanism in directing resources into their most productive uses; and (6) greater ease of compliance and administration.

These objectives, if accomplished (and I have high hopes they will be) would signal good news to the most familiar with the subject—the taxpayers of this country. As many of you know, I have long advocated a reduction in tax burden which does not suffer and in a manner whereby we can maintain our fiscal integrity and responsibility. Our present tax system has been criticized as being not only too high, but as containing provisions which have been enacted over a long period of time—some of them during the early war years of World War II, to meet specific problems which arose at that time. These provisions result in tax differentials which render many of them inequitable. This is particularly true in the lower and middle income groups. My efforts have been directed toward a correction of tax inequities, and I am indeed happy that constructive action is becoming a probability.

The Supervisors of the Hall County Soil Conservation District urge all farmers to check the possibility of applying cotton burrs to their land this fall. Production results from farmers who have applied cotton burrs to their land show an increase in production. Cotton burrs can be very beneficial to the land. Burrs add organic matter.

Organic matter increases in the water-holding capacity of the soil, increases water penetration, adds ease to the tillage operations, and helps in the control of wind erosion. After the burrs are hauled to the field they can be scattered by several methods. One method found to be satisfactory is to use a Graham Hoeme plow. Remove all of the sweeps or points from the plow except the back row. Attach an old grader blade to the back row and then place a 2 x 12 inch board above the grader blade. By using the hydraulic lift the burrs can be scattered over the field to a depth that is desired.

If heavier applications are applied for example above 5 tons per acre for best results apply approximately 30-40 pounds of nitrogen to the burrs per acre. Cotton burrs have a tendency to tie up with available nitrogen that is in the soil when they are decomposing. Therefore the addition of 30-40 pounds of nitrogen fertilizer to the cotton burrs will help to offset the tie up of the available nitrogen that is in the soil.

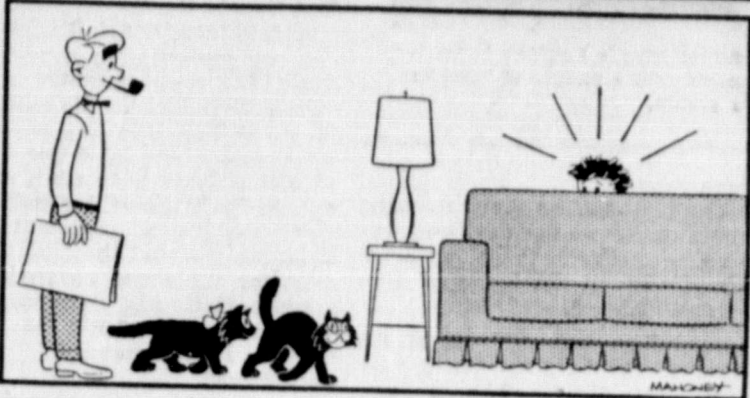

If desired cost share payment for the application of cotton burrs to the land is available through the Agricultural Conservation Program and application can be made for payment at the local ASC office.

For more information on the application of cotton burrs contact your local Soil Conservation Service Technicians.

Specialist Says Control Weeds For More Grass

Weed growth in Texas pastures is heavy this fall. G. O. Hoffman, extension range specialist, says these uncontrolled weeds use from four to eleven times more water for growth than grasses. They rob livestock of good grazing since weedy pastures produce very little forage for winter use.

To have more grass for next year's grazing, control weeds by spraying with one pound to 2.4-D per acre. Usually one application will give good weed control throughout the growing season. Weeds must be sprayed in early spring when they are about six inches tall and growing rapidly. Pasture weed control using 2.4-D costs about $2.00 per acre. Many demonstrations have indicated that grass production is from two to ten times more on sprayed pastures as compared to unsprayed ones. To cite an example, says Hoffman, a demonstrator who spent $2.00 per acre for weed control and practiced deferred grazing during the summer obtained a $25 return per acre from increased grass. He pointed out that this amounts to growing over a ton of forage per acre for a cost of $2.00. "Have more grass for grazing next year and less weedy growth by planning a range pasture chemical weed control program followed by good grazing management. See your county agent for information about chemical weed control and pick up a blueprint on how to make a pasture weed sprayer. The agent also has information about other range management practices which will pay you big dividends," advises Hoffman.

Iron Chlorosis Problem Subject Of New Leaflet

Chlorosis is a condition which results when chlorophyll (the green coloring matter in plants) fails to develop or is destroyed. Iron chlorosis normally appears first on young leaves. The leaves of chlorotic plants range from light green to yellow to almost white. Iron is necessary for the formation of chlorophyll, says Dr. W. F. Bennett, extension soil chemist. When iron is unavailable for plant use, chlorophyll fails to develop properly and plants exhibit chlorosis. Iron chlorosis is most prevalent on members of the grass family (such as St. Augustine-grass, Johnsongrass and grain sorghum) certain fruit trees (citrus and peaches) many vegetables (particularly beans) and many flowers and ornamentals. Most soils on which iron chlorosis occurs are well supplied with iron, but it is in a form unavailable for plant use. Bennett says chlorotic plants are found all over Texas, but are more prevalent in areas with alkaline, calcareous soils. In Central, South and West Texas it is a fairly common and serious problem. To control iron chlorosis, it is necessary to treat the soil so that iron becomes available, or else provide supplemental iron as a spray or soil application. Application of large amounts of well-rotted organic material on a regular basis make the soil less alkaline, resulting in more iron becoming available. Well-decomposed compost plus one pound powdered sulphur per 100 square feet can also be used to make the soil less alkaline. Acid peat can also be used. Iron sulphate or iron chelates are good sources for providing supplemental iron. Bennett adds that a new leaflet has been released by the extension service that discusses iron chlorosis. The title is "Iron Chlorosis" and can be obtained from any county agent, or write to the Agricultural Information Office, College Station and ask for 1435.

Home Still Important To Teen-Ager

All of us have been hearing and reading about juvenile delinquency for the past several years, and are prone to turn away when the subject comes up. But the fact remains this is one of our most important problems, primarily in the cities of this nation.

A thought-provoking article was recently published in pamphlet form by the Denver, Colo., juvenile court, which is being quoted extensively in the press. One message, straight and frank, was written by Judge Phillip B. Gilliam, who has received national recognition for his work with erring young people. The judge entitled his article, "An Open Letter to a Teen-Ager". It is quoted below:

"Always we hear the plaintive cry of the teen-ager: 'What can we do? . . . Where can we go?' The answer is Go Home!

"Hang the storm windows, paint the woodwork. Rake the leaves, mow the lawn, shovel the walk. Wash the car, learn to cook, scrub some floors. Repair the sick, build a boat, get a job.

"Help the minister, priest or rabbi, the Red Cross, the Salvation Army. Visit the sick, assist the poor, study your lessons. And then when you are through—and not too tired—read a book.

"Your parents do not owe you entertainment. Your city or village does not owe you recreational facilities. The world does not owe you a living . . . You owe the world something. You owe it your time and energy and your talents so that no one will be at war or in poverty or sick or lonely again.

"In plain, simple words, grow up; quit being a cry-baby. Get out of your dream world and develop a backbone, not a wishbone, and start acting like a man or a lady.

"You're supposed to be mature enough to accept some of the responsibility your parents have carried for years. They have nursed, protected, helped, appealed, begged, excused, tolerated and denied themselves needed comforts so that you could have every benefit. This they have done gladly, for you are their dearest treasure. But now, you have no right to expect them to bow to every whim and fancy just because of selfish ego instead of common sense dominates your personality, thinking and requests.

"In Heaven's name, grow up and go home!"

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, who has been dealing with crime on the national level for many years, recently discussed the problem of young criminals. Part of his speech is quoted below:

"A valuable ally in the fight against crime, the news media of the nation can afford further public service in focusing the spotlight of public opinion on those members of the judiciary who, in the face of the present crisis, persistent in endangering the public by unleashing young terrorists apprehended at great risk by law enforcement officers.

"Parents who, through bad example, indifference, or lust for worldly gain, inflict upon their fellow men the scourge of vicious offspring deserve to feel the sting of public indignation and to face legal and financial responsibility for the criminal acts of their children.

"At this time, when the increase in youthful crimes constitutes the bulk of the shameful rise in our national crime, serious consideration should be given to lowering the age distinction between a juvenile and an adult violator. We are dealing with vicious young criminals, and they should be treated as such.

"The prevention of juvenile destruction lies in the establishment of juvenile discipline. Assuredly, this is the responsibility of every individual interested in his own safety and the welfare of his country."

PROTEST IN SUBURBIA

Press Paragraphs— QUOTING OUR NEIGHBORS

Veterans Day 1959
Every man and woman who put on the wartime military uniform of the United States and served with honor passed the supreme test of American citizenship. Each bore arms on behalf of the United States in time of war to defend the American Constitution and our free way of life. This is the final proof of allegiance to our government because the citizen puts his own life in jeopardy and knowingly faces the hazards of combat to preserve this nation built on individual freedom.

It is by such willingness that the eternal worth of basic human principles is established. We must believe in these ideals beyond the price of life itself. America has grown into the great and powerful nation which it is today because every generation of Americans has contributed men and women who set the cost of liberty above life itself.

Veterans Day is set aside to honor all American men and women of all generations who served in the Nation's military uniform with honor in time of war. This is a roll of patriots that stretches back to the Revolutionary War and embraces the survivors of America's last four struggles. They fought in the Spanish War of 1898, World War I, World War II and the Korean Conflict. They fought and they died.

But more than 22,000,000 of our veterans live on and constitute the hard core of tried and tested American citizenship today. They come from every station of American life. But the have this in common: they passed the supreme test of American citizenship; they preserved this America.

They preserved America in war; they helped build America in peace. The spirit of loyalty and sacrifice that has always gone with the wearing of the American military uniform is rooted in their hearts. That spirit will never change — in uniform or out — because it is inspired by immortal values of our American heritage.

It is fitting that this Nation should set aside one day a year to honor its veterans, both living and dead. It brings to a focus a great American truism that ordinary Americans—the everyday people with whom we live and work—are capable of greatness when great demands are made upon them. When the preservation of America and the defense of American ideals are at stake, in every generation of Americans, the patriotic men and women of every historic era in this free land of ours responded to the challenge confronting their liberty and met it with sacrificial spirit. Every generation of Americans has met its obligation of preserving American freedom and has met it fully and freely.

Veterans Day is aptly defined as Recognition Day of Tried and Tested citizenship. But it can be made to serve also an additional purpose. It should be a great day of rededication to American ideals by all citizens, young or old, veteran or non-veteran. It should be a day when everybody in America should resolve deep in their hearts to put love of God and Country first in their daily living.

America will survive for all time if her citizens have the courage to face the challenges of peace as they faced the challenges of war.

Harder Than To Be A Christian

Moderns nowadays complain that it is hard to be a Christian, what with all the worldly temptations and distractions. Maybe it is, and the records would probably reflect that there are more lukewarm than red-hot Christians in every congregation in the land.

We were interested to learn recently of the fate of the 12 Disciples. Most of us stopped with events soon after Christ died, and the later lives of these 12 men have been somewhat of a mystery. However, scholars who have traced each man's life found that this is the manner in which each of the 12 came to their end:

1. John died of extreme old age in Ephesus.
2. Judas Iscariot, after betraying the Lord, hanged himself.
3. Peter was crucified, head downward during the persecution of Nero.
4. Andrew died on a cross at Patrae, in Achaia, a Grecian colony.
5. James, the younger brother of the Saviour, was thrown from a pinnacle of the Temple and then beaten to death with a club.

6. Bartholemew was slayed alive in Albanapolis, Armenia.

7. James, the elder, son of Zebedee, was beheaded at Jerusalem.

8. Thomas, the Doubter, was run through the body with a lance at Coromandel, in the East Indies.

9. Phillip was hanged against a pillar at Hierapolis, a city of Phrygia in Asia Minor.

10. Matthew was slain by the sword in Ethiopia.

11. Thaddeus was shot to death with arrows.

12. Simon died in a cross in Persia, now Iran.

Add to these 12 loyal and devoted Disciples the thousands of Christians who were beheaded and thrown to the lions during Roman times and we have to conclude that being a Christian nowadays is easy.

Woman's Culture Club Observes 60th Anniversary With Tea at Country Club

The Woman's Culture Club, the oldest study club organized in Memphis and one of the oldest in the district, observed its 60th anniversary with a seated tea at the Memphis Country Club on Saturday afternoon, Oct. 24.

More than 75 guests were in attendance.

Forming the receiving line to greet the guests were Mrs. R. E. Clark, president of the club; Mrs. L. C. Kinard, past district president and state board member and Mrs. A. W. Howard, also a state board member.

Featured as the afternoon's program was an authentic history of the club taken from the pages of minutes and told in story form. The six decades were each represented by a different member of the club who was dressed in costume to represent that particular period of time. Mrs. Jeanette Irons served as reader.

Mrs. L. A. Sailwell represented the first ten years of the club from 1899 to 1909; Mrs. Robert Moss represented the time from 1909 to 1919; Mrs. Bob Ayers from 1919 to 1929; Mrs. H. E. Craig from 1929 to 1939; Mrs. Will Leslie from 1939 to 1949 and Mrs. Richard Cole from 1949 to present time.

Musical selections, each representing the given period of time to which the reader referred, served as background for the program. Miss Brenda Duncan was pianist and also accompanied Mrs. John Clark of Dallas as she sang selections from the movie "Show Boat."

The tea table featured the club's colors of orchid and gold. The table was laid with yellow satin and centered with an arrangement of purple flowers. Miss Alma Bruce presided at the punch service.

Guests were registered by Miss Sybil Gurley.

Among the out of town guests were Mrs. Jim Sharp and Miss Anna Moore of Clarendon, whose mother, Mrs. A. G. Moore was the first president of the club; Mrs. Jeffery Hoy of Denver, Colo.; Miss Helen Madden of Geneseo, Ill., and Mrs. Herley Moreman of Hedley.

B&PW Club Nets $536.16 From Stage Production

The Business and Professional Women's Club received a gross amount of $536.16 from the production, "The Law West of the Pecos" presented here on Friday and Saturday nights of last week, officers of the club stated.

The play was well received and a capacity crowd was in attendance both nights of the performance. Several persons who attended the show the first night returned for the second performance.

"This production would not have been possible without the splendid co-operation of the entire community," Mrs. Billie Waites, president, said.

"We want to thank each and everyone who assisted. Participating in the cast alone were more than 40 persons and many others contributed in other ways to the production."

"Proceeds from the play will be used to help promote worthwhile community projects throughout the year," the president concluded.

About Your HEALTH

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health. HENRY A. NOLLE, M.D., Commissioner of Health.

One thing about the "good old days" of yesteryear—people probably didn't have to put up with as much of the pang of indigestion as we modernists do.

There is evidence that the stress and strain of modern life, the lack of exercise and improper diets, cause the stomach to over-secrete and bring on the aggravating gas and burning sensation of many types of indigestion.

One of the most common forms of stomach upset, physicians say, is caused by nervous excitement. You probably can recall days when an important business deal, an unexpected event, an accident or pressure of work set your stomach churning. The stomach is, of course, largely controlled by the involuntary nervous system.

Hasty eating, improper chewing of food is another common cause. Foods having an irritating effect on stomach lining are important sources of trouble. Among them are those which are highly seasoned with salt and pepper and spices.

Things were different in the old days. Life was calmer, less hurried and less harried. And frouth will less indigestion.

Modern use of condiments and strongly flavored foods cause the stomach to over-secrete hydrochloric acid. In normal people the stomach tends to neutralize what

Questionnaires For Farm Census Being Mailed

Questionnaires for the 1959 Census of Agriculture are now in the mail and will be in the hands of local farmers within a few days, it was announced today by Field Director James W. Stroud of the Census Bureau's regional office at Dallas.

The farm census questionnaires are being mailed from Chicago, Ill., with the distribution timed so that the report forms will reach farmers about a week ahead of the date when census takers will begin the field canvass.

The advance mailing is for the purpose of giving farm operators time to consult their records before filling in the answers required by the questionnaires and getting them ready for the census takers to pick up. This procedure is designed to insure greater accuracy of reporting and to save time for both the farmer and the census taker when the latter calls at the farm.

The 1959 Census of Agriculture questionnaire is designed to provide information on the number and size of farms, acreage and harvest of crops, livestock production and inventories, selected farm facilities and equipment, selected farm expenditures, farm values, and mortgage debt. On the average, each farmer is asked about 100 questions, many of which can be answered by simply checking "yes" or "no."

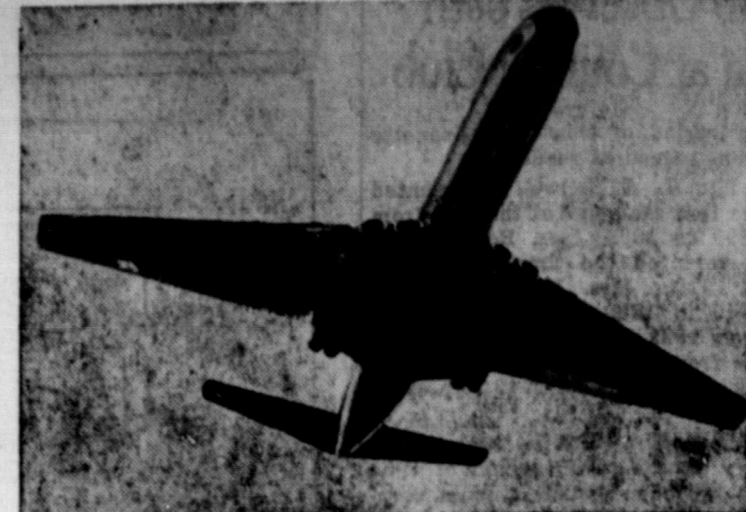

It over-secretes, but people with ulcers suffer painful "indigestion."

Greasy foods are particularly troublesome for people with malfunctioning gall bladders or liver disease. Fats stimulate gall bladder action, thus creating an outpouring of bile. Extra exertion of the defective gall bladder is felt as a painful cramp.

The degree of ripeness of a fruit or vegetable might be responsible for fermentation in the stomach, causing an unpleasant belching or more severe stomach upset.

Tannic acid is contained in 3 of America's most commonly used hot drinks. Nicotine, a product of tobacco smoke, is known to be a powerful stomach irritant.

So called persistent indigestion should always be checked by a physician, since it can be caused by a stomach disorder, a diseased gall bladder, liver or pancreas, possible heart disease or many other conditions that only an alert medical practitioner can detect.

Draft Quota For Texas Set At 454 For December

The state quota for Texas draft boards in December calls for 454 men, Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, announced Friday.

The state's December draft call of 454 men compares with a quota of 447 for November, and is the state's share of a national quota of 9,000 men, all for the Army.

Colonel Schwartz also stated that the local boards would send around 2,300 men for pre-induction physical and mental examinations. These men will return home after being examined at the examining stations.

Local board quotas for the December call already have been figured and were sent to the state's 137 local boards Monday.

The December quota will be filled with men who are at least 22 years old on December 1, with the exception of volunteers or delinquents, who may be younger.

County Farmers To Receive Over $560,000 From Land In Soil Bank

A total of $500,360.93 in checks have been mailed to county farmers within the past three weeks, Lynn McKown, manager of the Agriculture Conservation and Stabilization office, announced this week.

The checks were mailed to county farmers who participated in the 1959 Soil Bank, McKown said.

"We still lack about $60,000 having all the checks mailed out," he said. The remainder will be mailed as soon as possible.

McKown explained that the payments were made on approximately 50,000 acres of county land under old contract in the 1959 Soil Bank.

Last year's annual rental payment was $439,795.00. The increase, McKown explained, is due to the addition of land in the program. The 1958 payment was on land entered in 1956, 1957, and 1958.

The ASC office last year also paid out an additional $116,265 practice payments to farmers who had planted conservation grasses and other crops on the land they had in the soil bank.

Eleven Boy Scouts from Memphis will participate in the National Jamboree in Colorado Springs in July, 1960, it was announced this week by Bill Eller, Executive Representative of the Adobe Walls Council.

Boys who will be attending from Troop 35: Larry Wynn, Billy Thompson, Mike Webster, John Lemons and B. H. Cook; from Troop 131: Gary Gentry, Mike Branigan, Larry Helm, Dana Gibson, Bill Cosby, and J. D. Tuck.

Also alleged in the petition was that there were cast at least 118 illegal votes in the two voting precincts in Memphis and absentee votes. Names of these voters were listed. Reason given in the petition for illegal votes was that of failure to pay poll taxes and for not having taxable property rendered on the tax rolls of the county.

The court is requested to order election boxes in the bond election to be opened and a recount made.

Give her a color telephone of her very own and you'll make her the happiest young lady in town this Christmas!

What's more, a phone of her own leaves mother's and dad's line free for their exclusive use.

There's a choice of ten attractive colors to blend or contrast with the décor of her room (or his). And the cost of an additional telephone, in color, is only pennies per day!

It's the easiest Christmas shopping you can do—and a gift that's appreciated all year. Just call our Business Office, and we'll do our best to arrange the installation at your convenience.
