City Council Adopts 1960-61 Budget At Monday Meeting

Climaxing a long session, the Memphis City Council approved the proposed budget for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1, 1960, and ending Sept. 30, 1961.

The council's budget, as approved Monday night has a total expenditure of $85,293.40. This is $5.17 short of the estimated receipts which total $85,298.57.

The following expenditures received approval of the aldermen: street dept. $14,016; police dept. $13,435; fire dept. $12,778; the health and sanitation dept $6,190; Carnegie Library and Park $2,018; City Park $2,180; Fairview Cemetery $4,000; swimming pool dept. $4,672; general administration expenses, $14,285; interest and sinking fund requirements, $11,719.40.

This budget also includes a salary raise for the two city policemen of $10 per month, which the council approved Monday night.

Mayor H. J. Howell opened the session with a discussion of the Tax Committee's request that the council appoint a committee to meet with a Memphis School Board committee to investigate the re-evaluation of city property.

The council also listened to a discussion by a representative of the McMorris and Company. Following a 30-minute discussion period, the members voted that a committee, to meet a school board committee, be named by the mayor. Mayor Howell named Aldermen Ben Parks and L. E. Hughes to serve on this committee.

During the reading of last month's minutes, a report was included on the work of the special committee, composed of Aldermen M. E. McNally Jr. and E. E. Roberts, who met with officials of the Donley County Water Control and Improvement Dist. No. 1 to see what could be done in securing state approval for Memphis' water supply.

The minutes showed that on Friday, May 13, the aldermen met with Rayburn Smith, president of the District, and R. W. Hester, district engineer.

Engineer Hester told the aldermen that in order for the state to approve the water supply all the infiltration wells, 13 in number, would have to be abandoned, and the chlorination system would have to be located closer to the supply. He explained that the district would install new chlorination equipment in the event such steps were taken.

He went on to explain that the 13 wells produce approximately 187,000 gallons of water per day, while the five remaining deep wells produce approximately 1,009,000 gallons per day for a total of approximately 1,196,000 gallons per day capacity.

Past daily consumption indicates that maximum usage in the past has exceeded 900,000 gallons per day. Under the terms of the existing franchise under which the district serves citizens of Memphis, the district is required to have a water supply adequate to provide 250,000 gallons of water per day in excess of maximum daily usage.

Hester told the committee that (Continued on Page Ten)

TO HEAD MASONIC ORDER—It doesn't happen often but this year will see three members of the W. E. Leslie family as head of local Masonic Orders. Mr. Leslie will serve as Worshipful Master of the Masonic Lodge while Mrs. Leslie will head the Order of the Eastern Star as Worthy Matron and their daughter, Celia, was installed May 31 as Worthy Advisor of the Memphis Assembly LT, Order of the Rainbow for Girls. Looks as if it's a busy year ahead for the Leslie family!

Agent W. B. Hooser Calls For Control Of Giant Grasshopper Crop In County

County Agricultural Agent W. B. Hooser this week issued a warning to county farmers about the large crop of grasshoppers which are being hatched.

He asked farmers to try and kill as many of the recently hatched hoppers as possible before they reach a larger and more destructive stage.

"Toxaphene or chlordane can be used against grasshoppers where there is enough forage to hold the insecticides," he said.

Where there is quite a bit of luxuriant growth of grasses and weeds—in field margins along fence rows, ditch banks, pastures, or waste land near cultivated fields, the two poisons may be used effectively. In these conditions, sprays and dusts work better than poisonous baits, Hooser explained.

For chlordane, use one quart of 45 per cent emulsion or two pounds of 50 per cent wettable powder to each 50 to 100 gallons of water per acre. For toxaphene, mix one quart of 45 per cent emulsion or two and a half pounds of 40 per cent wettable powder in 50 to 100 gallons of water to spray one acre, he said.

Memphis Owls Lead In Pony League Play

The Memphis Owls won their game Tuesday night at Childress, 4-3, to take first place in Pony League competition, over the three teams from Childress.

The Owls will play here tonight starting at 8 p. m. at the Little League field. They will play the Childress Red Sox.

Oil Mill Here Is Sold To Serape Co. Of Ariz.

The equipment and buildings of the cottonoil mill of the Western Cottonoil Company located in Memphis are being torn down and moved to Arizona, it was officially announced this week.

The Western Cottonoil Company has sold the mill and the buildings to the Serape Cottonoil Mill Company of Chandler, Ariz. Chandler is located 20 miles from Phoenix.

J. H. Ford, manager of Western Cottonoil Co. here said that the move began May 15, when crews started taking down some of the equipment.

W. J. Boyd, superintendent of Serape Cottonoil Co., said that they hoped to have all the equipment and buildings moved out of Memphis by Aug. 1 so they could have it in production by Oct. 15.

He said the company hoped to have a 40,000 ton milling capacity.

Western's Manager Ford explained that the mill here was closed down completely in 1956 following one year of partial operation in the fall of 1955. The mill has not been in operation since that time.

Ford explained that Western Cottonoil Co. would continue to keep their seed house, grain storage building which has a capacity of 300 box cars, their gin parts warehouse where they store parts for their 12 gins, and their district office.

Also, Ford said, Western will continue with all selling services they have had since the mill closed. These include fertilizer, seed, etc.

The buildings and equipment of the mill will be taken to Arizona as they are disassembled and then reconstructed at the mill site at Chandler.

Funeral Services For Dolly Wallace Held At Lakeview

Funeral services for Miss Dolly Mae Wallace were held at 2:30 p. m. Sunday from the Lakeview Church of Christ with Acel Clark, minister, officiating, assisted by Cecil E. Hadaway, minister of the Memphis Church of Christ.

Burial was in Lakeview Cemetery under the direction of Spicer Funeral Home.

Miss Wallace came to Hall County with her family in 1906, and for the past several years had made her home with her sister, Mrs. O. A. Srygley. She had been in failing health for some time.

She was born Nov. 17, 1893, in Dallas. She passed away Friday, June 3, in a local hospital.

Her parents preceded her in death.

Other than her sister, Miss Wallace is survived by one brother, Richard Wallace of Pico, Calif.; two nephews, Melvin Srygley of Memphis and Clayton Srygley of Borger, and two grand-nieces and one grand-nephew.

Pall bearers were L. M. Wington, Stacey Waites, Clent Srygley, Pete Roberts, Bill Srygley, and Miller Srygley.

Honorary pall bearers were George Williams, Haskell Srygley, Robert Hanvey, Jr., Charlie Williams and Herman Moore.

G. W. Peabody Dies Following Heart Attack

G. W. "Jack" Peabody, 59, who for many years served as a peace officer here, died about 6 a. m. Tuesday morning in a local hospital shortly after suffering a heart attack.

Funeral services were held at 3 p. m. Wednesday from the First Baptist Church with Rev. Jeff Moore of Borger, former Memphis pastor, officiating.

Interment was in Citizens Cemetery in Clarendon under the direction of Spicer Funeral Home.

A native Texan, Mr. Peabody was born April 1, 1901, in Valley View, Cook County.

He was married to Miss Laura Neighbors Jan. 28, 1924, in Gainesville. The couple moved to Donley County that same year and in 1941 moved to Memphis.

Mr. Peabody had served as deputy sheriff in Donley County and after moving to Memphis spent a number of years with the law enforcement body, working as a deputy sheriff and later with the city police and as a constable. At the time of his death, Mr. Peabody was employed by the county, operating a maintainer in the Lakeview community.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. G. W. Peabody of Memphis, two sons, Wayne and D'Arman Peabody, both of Borger, five grandchildren; two brothers, Clate Peabody of McLean and Carl Peabody of Impera; three sisters, Mrs. Ben Adkins and Mrs. Joe Hall of Clarendon, and Mrs. Guy Pierce of San Antonio.

Pall bearers were Truett Behrens, Vonie Wade, Nat Bradley, Bill Kilpatrick, Howard Warner, W. B. McCreary and O. O. Hill.

Fishing, Hunting Trapping Rules To Be Discussed

Notification was given in last week's paper on a public meeting which will be held at 8 p. m., Wednesday, June 15, in the Hall County courthouse. The meeting has been called for the purpose of discussing proposed hunting, fishing and trapping regulations for this county. Walter Hicks, game warden, said this week.

This is one of three meetings scheduled for next week in Hall, Donley, and Childress counties Hicks said. A meeting is set for (Continued on Page Ten)

Tornado, 5-inch Rain, Hail Causes Much Damage In Plaska Area Wednesday

Thomas Clayton, coordinator for the Hall County Disaster Relief Committee, Wednesday afternoon stated that as far as the committee was concerned Hall County suffered a disaster from the very heavy rains.

He said that the committee was undertaking a survey of county roads and bridges to estimate the extent of damages the rains had caused. These estimates will be sent to the State and Federal offices of the Civil Defense and Disaster Relief Department.

Funds and equipment will be sought to help repair the damages done over the county, Clayton said.

Hall County, especially that portion north of the river, suffered the heaviest rains it should expect in a 50-year period this week, with estimates of from 4 to 10 inches being reported Monday night, Charley Cape, Hall County SCS conservationist, said.

Estimates of damages to county and city roads and streets, bridges, and property is expected to be in the hundreds of thousands of dollars. These estimates do not include private property damages to farms, homes, lawns, etc. Reports also indicated that some of the county's irrigation wells were also damaged by the heavy rainfall.

Weather forecasts Thursday morning indicated that even more rain can be expected in this area today and tomorrow.

Tornado Hits
A tornado, five inches of rain and heavy hail hit the Plaska area late Wednesday, doing considerable damage.

On the Gip McMurry farm, located two miles east of Plaska, the roof and a light pole were torn off a concrete block dwelling.

One-half mile northeast of there on the Chester Carson farm, a large metal implement shed and a garage were torn down. All the metal was ripped off the shed.

The roof was lifted off the house on the W. D. Swendell farm. It is located three-fourths of a mile east of the McMurry farm. However, no one was reported injured as the twister struck.

Also, the seed house at the Paymaster Gin at Plaska was blown away by the tornado.

The area had suffered heavy rains and flood water damage from the downpours of Monday and Tuesday. The 5-inch rain and hail created additional problems.

It was reported that the Guy Cawfield family, operators of the store at Plaska, have moved to Memphis.

Across the river at Parnell and Hulver, 3.5 to 4 inches of rain was recorded. Estelline received 2 to 2 and a half inches of moisture Wednesday.

Rains Tuesday night and Wednesday afternoon of 1.60 and .75 of an inch added to the damages already done to farm land. All cotton crops have been washed out in the area located north of Red River. The Lakeview area received 2.5 inches of additional rainfall Tuesday.

The Fort Worth and Denver railroad track bed was weakened by Monday night's floods at a point about five miles southeast of Memphis. Trains were held up until about 1:30 Tuesday afternoon. The train bridge on Buck Creek between Childress and Wellington has been damaged, it was reported.

Power lines of the Hall County Electric Cooperative and of West Texas Utilities Company have been damaged by the rains. The WTU lines in Lakeview suffered damages, and the REA lines in and near Brice have been down.

Reports from Estelline stated that the area received from one to two and a half inches of rain Monday night. From two to four inches of rainfall were recorded in the Turkey area.

To date, Hall County has received 7.364 inches of rain above seasonal averages. (Ten and one-quarter inches is the averaged total for Hall County through the month of June.)

So far this year, Memphis has (Continued on Page Ten)

UDC Members Conclude Year With Luncheon Here; Breakfast in Childress

In observance of Jefferson Davis birthday, June 3. The Winnie Davis Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy attended a breakfast in the home of Mrs. Carrie Hardin in Childress.

Following an old fashion Southern breakfast served promptly at 8:30, Mrs. Glynn Thompson in an impressive ceremony installed the officers for the 1960-1961 year of the Childress Chapter No. 1845. Mrs. Hardin made a talk on the United Daughters of the Confederacy, their work, their plans for the State Convention in Lubbock in October and the Randolph Relief Fund for the aged.

Attending from here were Mrs. J. A. Odom, Mrs. Herlie Moreman, Mrs. T. J. Hampton, Mrs. Glynn Thompson, and Mrs. Emma Baskerville.

Following the breakfast in Childress, Mrs. T. J. Hampton was hostess to a luncheon at the Cyclone Drive Inn. Then the group adjourned to the home of Mrs.

Hampton for the final meeting and program of the year.

After a short business meeting the following program was given: Mrs. L. G. DeBerry reviewed the book, "First Lady of the South" by Ishbell Ross; Mrs. O. R. Goodall read the Historian's Report of the years events and Mrs. Glynn Thompson installed the officers of the chapter which concluded this year's meetings.

Members present were Mrs. O. R. Goodall, Mrs. Herlie Moreman, Mrs. R. E. Clark, Mrs. J. H. Norman, Mrs. Glynn Thompson, Mrs. Emma Baskerville, Mrs. L. G. DeBerry, Mrs. J. A. Odom and Mrs. Hampton.

Katherine Wright, Bride-Elect, Honored At Lovely Shower in Monzingo Home

Complimenting Miss Katherine Wright, bride-elect of Don Reeves, a group of hostesses entertained with a lovely pre-nuptial tea-shower in the home of Mrs. Frank Monzingo on Saturday evening, May 28, between the hours of 7:30 and 9 o'clock.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. Monzingo and presented to the honoree, Miss Wright; her mother, Mrs. Don Wright; and Miss Myrtle Reeves of Hedley, aunt of the groom-to-be.

The bride's chosen colors of yellow and white were noted in party decorations. In the dining room, the table was laid with a white organdy and linen cloth decorated with yellow daisies in shadow embroidery. Centering the table was an arrangement of yellow Shasta Daisies. Table appointments were in crystal with gold band.

Miss Joy Parks poured punch from the crystal service and assisting with serving was Miss Carol Ann Monzingo.

Mrs. Don Wright of Amarillo, sister-in-law of the honoree, presided at the register to secure signatures of the guests.

A lovely array of gifts were on display in two rooms of the suite.

Senator Yarborough Writes—

Farmers' Hard Times Forewarns Recession

Increasing hard times on the part of Texas an America forewarns a serious recession, a position U. S. Senator W. Yarborough said in a letter this week.

During the hard times, the 24 percent drop in farm income since 1954 is at least partly to blame for the substantial loss in population in 145 Texas counties in the census just completed.

The farm problem is one of the most complex and vital problems facing the Congress. It is not as simple as some think, just something that farm income falls off while income rises, the only possible long-term results can be that other business also will suffer setbacks and losses.

The reason is clear. American agriculture uses more finished products in a year than is consumed in the annual output of passenger cars. Farm operations use more gasoline than any other industry, and farmers constitute the largest users of electrical power. Farm income in Texas and other areas, declines virtually every year—particularly those in rural areas, declines proportionately. That's a major reason why farm counties of Texas have lost population these last 10 years that we had 350 small businesses in Texas last year.

The farm program, as it is now administered, is a failure to the government is spending as much money in the times of agriculture as it was years ago, and Agriculture Secretary Benson has increased his staff by 28 percent in that period. Price support cuts advocated by Secretary Benson and forced by Administration vetoes have resulted in a 20 per cent cut in price support levels and a 15 per cent increase in production. This has meant a buildup of fantastic grain surplus and staggering storage costs to the government.

A House Appropriations Committee study, which was signed unanimously by Republicans as well as Democrats, found that farm problem "cures" urged by Secretary Benson have cost American taxpayers nearly $30 billion. To achieve a balanced and healthy economy, the Congress must legislate and the Agriculture Secretary must administer in good faith, a new farm program which will:

- (1) Allow farmers a reasonable return on their work and investment in line with income of their jobs and business, and
- (2) permit American families to purchase food in the market place at prices within their reach.

This, I am confident, can be achieved and at considerably less expenditure of tax money than is now being spent.

Report From Washington

By WALTER ROGERS
Representative, 18th
Congressional District

Whither We

One of the most curious pastimes to emerge in the United States during the past 15 years is a parlor game called "What's Wrong With America." People of all ages and occupations, prompted by the compelling nature of our country's foreign and domestic affairs, indulge almost daily in this simple substitute for Canasta and Scrabble. "What's Wrong With America," which has achieved an almost universal appeal today, is one of the most unprecedented and deadly serious activities developed since World War II.

The object for each player is to outline in some detail his assessment of the "mistakes" America has made and the fearsome future she faces. Two or more players seldom agree and even less seldom achieve any certainty concerning their ideas for a solution. Political disagreement, of course, is as American as the Fourth of July and has lent distinction to our history for more than 180 years.

But "What's Wrong With America" is more than a political disagreement. In many respects it is strictly non-partisan. The recent debate in Congress over the so-called Civil Rights Bill was a clear-cut issue, with opponents and supporters. It was discussed almost entirely on its merits or lack of same. But when we begin playing "What's Wrong With America," much of our effort is disjointed and all but lacking in purpose.

The game dies if an agreement should be reached on "what's wrong," just as one of our television Westerns would collapse if the hero ever lost one of those Main Street duels. If anything at all is really wrong with America, it is probably the fact that for the first time in our history public opinion ranges across such a wide field as to inhibit the thoroughgoing, prompt, and effective action that has been our hallmark for so long.

This scattering of public opinion would not be unusual so long as it was directed to specific public issues. But so much of the world is out of step with itself that many who deal with "issues" discover a tremendous growth of ambiguity within the public forum since 1945. In the backwash of momentous technological, economic, diplomatic, and social strides taken since V-J Day, the "issues" have simply not been given the opportunity to settle down into any sort of sharp pattern.

As a result, the world at large has lost a number of extremely important allies. These allies are not geographical entities, but are psychological concepts such as "predictability" in foreign affairs or "clarity" in domestic policies. Much of our time on the international scene is spent on the defensive simply because we are so often incapable of translating Russian action into commonly accepted terms. At home, so much of our life is burgeoning with our efforts to get a grip on the subtle implications of this or that policy that little time remains to seek out a national purpose as a whole and act upon this purpose with dignity, determination, and vitality.

The American people, in a majority of cases, have not yet decided what, if anything, is wrong. And obviously, very little can be done by either government or by individuals to correct the situation when we are vague and inept about basic problems and issues. Countless goals, which almost everyone wishes to pursue, have been "reached" by sweeping them under the rug with a slight change here and there. The goal is thus only put off, not actually reached, and the process strongly suggests the approach to an appealing but illusory mirage in the midst of a great desert. We are not going to measurably reduce our serious national debt, for example, with a sporadic budgetary surplus now and then. This task will require much more in the way of a carefully planned program accepted and understood by enough citizens to keep it rolling.

A profound gap exists between the political, social, and economic postures which events have forced us to adopt on the one hand and our basic understanding of these postures on the other. This gap, more than anything else, has sparked our vague search for something "wrong." I earnestly believe that "What's Wrong With America" can be played with immense profit for each of us as well as our nation. We can struggle to seek out and define our nation's problems with the knowledge that we will eventually succeed in clarifying the forces of the 20th Century. But this must not obscure our search for the understanding which will close the gap in our knowledge and place us, once again, with God's help.

Postmaster Summerfield Announces Improvements In Mail Transportation

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield last week announced improvements in mail transportation that will mean better mail service for Memphis and other communities in the Amarillo and Lubbock metropolitan areas, covering over 37,000 square miles.

Discussing the program at a meeting of postmasters in Amarillo recently, Geo. A. Gray, regional operations director, said that 800,000 people in the 40 Texas counties would benefit by better mail service.

During infrequent delays in mail transportation and occasional distribution errors, first-class letters mailed at designated post offices or in the post office before 5:00 p. m. on a business day will be delivered on the following business day.

JUST ANGLING . . . Appropriately named Chris Darling is "Miss World Series of Sport Fishing" and that's what WSSF stands for.

route distribution, are also utilized in the program.

The plan required an intricate pattern of interlocking schedules, with connections being made within a matter of minutes at many places. For instance, a letter from Roaring Springs to Levelland travels over six different routes, including one train; it is transferred at five different locations.

Mr. Gray explained that the next-day delivery depends on the conscientious attention of postal employees as well as the closely integrated time table which governs the area's postal units and the transportation linking them together.

He said this improvement in letter mail service is the result of intensive study, and he credits the cooperation of dedicated postal employees in the 125 offices involved.

The counties in the area are Armstrong, Bailey, Briscoe, Carson, Castro, Childress, Cochran, Collingsworth, Cottle, Dallam, Deaf Smith, Donley and Floyd.

Also Foard, Gray, Hale, Hall, Hansford, Hardeman, Hartley, Hemphill, Hockley, Hutchinson, Lamb, Lubbock and Moore.

Also Motley, Ochiltree, Oldham, Farmer, Potter, Randall, Roberts, Sherman, Swisher, Terry, Wheeler, Wichita and Wilbarger.

Family Dinner and Reception Honors Mrs. John Hoover on 90th Birthday

A family dinner with a reception in the afternoon Sunday at the American Legion Hall commemorated Mrs. John Hoover on her 90th birthday anniversary. Hosts for the occasion were Mrs. Hoover's eleven children, all of whom were present for the occasion.

In addition to the children and grandchildren, many friends called between the hours of 1:30 and 5 to wish Mrs. Hoover many more happy anniversaries.

A long-time resident of Newlin, Mrs. Hoover lives alone. She enjoys housekeeping and visiting with her friends of long-standing.

She was the recipient of many lovely gifts and cards on the occasion.

Decorated birthday cake and punch was served from an attractive table laid with a cut-work linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of orchid mums. Granddaughters of the honoree alternated at the punch service and the registration table where the guests signed their names in an attractive guest book.

Relatives present were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hoover of Cleburne, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Allen Hoover and children, Mr. and Mrs. Otho

The Original "Philadelphia Lawyer"

Frequently, when a problem is particularly perplexing, someone will exclaim that "this would confuse a Philadelphia Lawyer." The term takes on special significance when it is remembered that it has a close connection with one of the most important cases in American legal history — the seditious libel trial of John Peter Zenger in 1735.

Zenger was the printer and publisher of a paper known as the New York Weekly Journal. Unfortunately, he made the unhappy mistake of criticizing the administration of Royal Governor Cosby of New York in the public print. The tyrannical Cosby had Zenger jailed and thus began a dramatic and important event in American history.

Zenger had editorialized that the Governor had deeds to lands destroyed, judges arbitrarily displaced, new courts established without the consent of the Legislature and had denied the right to vote to certain landowners. All of these accusations were based on fact but truth was held to be no defense in a prosecution for seditious libel, which was defined as a "written censure upon public men for their conduct as such." Inconceivable as it is today, the English courts had taken the position that the greater the truth the more serious the nature of the libel.

Zenger was brought to trial for his published remarks and almost immediately his New York counsel were disbarred because of the resistance they offered in his defense. After disbarment they secured the services of Andrew Hamilton of the Philadelphia bar to continue the defense. Hamilton was the foremost lawyer in the American Colonies and the term "Philadelphia lawyer" was long used as a special compliment in his individual honor.

Hamilton offered his services to Zenger without fee. Displaying great moral courage he defied the judges who were controlled by the Governor and told the jury that it was not considering the cause of just a poor printer. Instead, it was considering the cause of "the liberty both of exposing and opposing arbitrary power by speaking and writing truth." At the conclusion of the trial the Chief Justice instructed the jury that the printed words of Zenger were libelous and that if the jury found he had published them, as he had, then Zenger should be found guilty. Under such circumstances it was obvious that Zenger would be convicted.

Fortunately, the jury, which was not controlled by the Governor, defied the court.

Farm Critics Are Hit by Official

A top official of a major industrial trade organization has taken a healthy swing at critics of the American farmer.

Writing in the May-June issue of the Agricultural Ammonia News, Jack F. Criswell, executive vice president of the Agricultural Ammonia Institute, declared "today's farmer is just as much of a business executive as the merchant, manufacturer, banker, or anyone else you can name, and often his investment exceeds that of the business named as comparison."

Too often, he said, the farmer is pictured as an illiterate hay-seed, with overalls patched at the knees — "but nothing could be further from the truth. The past 30 years, representing the greatest advancement in American history, has been pre-empted by agricultural progress. Agriculture output per man hour has increased 90 per cent he said, while industrial output per man hour has increased only 24 per cent."

Criswell also pointed out that the farmer must continually push back production frontiers since demand threatens to catch up with supply. Agriculture's capital requirements are now $27,000 for every farm worker, he declared, as against $15,000 for each industrial employee.

"And while these capital requirements are increasing with a rapidly rising population, agriculture is faced with the loss of 2,000,000 acres of farm land every year for urban developments and new highways."

The only answer, he said, is in the use of more plant foods, more machinery, and continuously improving agricultural practices.

"Think of the chaos in our way of life and daily living if the grocer told your wife, 'There is no bread today — maybe some next week.' How much better for our economy is a wheat surplus of 200 million bushels, than a shortage of 200 bushels."

The surpluses for which the farmer is constantly cussed are the primary contributors to the present standard of living enjoyed by those doing the cussing, Criswell said. "Where but in America, can the working man buy his entire food requirements and have enough money left over to enjoy the luxuries of the rich. Instead of cussing the farmer, we should praise him." Criswell said.

More and more people are enjoying the fine sport and the great fun of fishing in Texas... and savoring their delicious catches at their dinner tables.

Texas' gulf coast is fabulous "dream come true" for anglers. Many return home with ice chests full of such tasty salt water fish as speckled trout, red snapper, flounder, and many, many others.

The big ones are there too! Fact of matter is the world's record catch in a giant sea bass was made in Galveston Bay. It weighed a mighty 551 pounds.

Everyone, young and old, has read about "Old Rip." He has traveled as a dignitary all over the USA and even visited Pres. Calvin Coolidge in the White House. (Which, incidentally, is pretty good for a little old "Horny Toad.")

What made Old Rip famous? This little horned frog slept for 31 years in a dehydrated state in a little tin box in the cornerstone of the courthouse in Eastland, Texas. You can see him today in his plush casket at the Eastland Courthouse and read his fabulous story again.

In the days of the old west, you were a big man if you were quick on the draw with your Colt single-six. Men died with their boots on and were buried the same way at the famous Boothill Cemetery in Tascosa, Texas.

To relive the old west, visit Tascosa, some 25 miles northwest of Amarillo and present site of Cal Farley's Boys Ranch.

An old railroad touring car belonging to Jay Gould, the railroad magnate, now stands as a museum in Jefferson, Texas, in the northeast corner of the state.

When the town council refused him right-of-way for his railroad through the city, in the mid-1900's, Gould noted in the hotel register, "This is the end of Jefferson."

But Jefferson still stands, and so does the railroad car!

What Other Editors Say

Trusted Thieves
There has been an increase in shoplifting, in petty thievery, other types of crime, but there has been the biggest increase of all in the theft of money and property by employees.

The rise in losses to "trusted employees" has been appalling to many in this nation today. At a meeting of the Factory Management Council recently in Syracuse, N. Y., it was estimated that about $1 billion would be lost by U. S. companies through employee stealing this year. Department stores are expected to suffer a 1.3 per cent loss on $16 billion in sales; supermarkets a $100 million loss.

This represents a sizeable portion of these firms' operating profit.

The U. S. News and World Report carried a story recently about an Ohio plumbing manufacturing firm that lost $250,000 worth of fixtures by 41 of its most "trusted employees." These men and women developed the habit of carrying home with them various articles being manufactured, and the cumulative effect was the same as if a band of armed bandits had trucked off the wares.

During the past year or so, the news has been fairly regular about trusted bank employees pocketing money belonging to the bank and its depositors. Bookkeepers have absconded with money or concealed small thefts until their company was on the verge of bankruptcy.

All too often when disclosure develops, the guilty parties are found to be pillars of the community, teaching Sunday School classes, etc.

The strange thing about these inside thefts is that practically none of those involved would think about stealing from any place except the company they work for. What kind of thinking is this?

We have always had soda jerks who ate the boss' ice cream; the waitress who drank the boss' coffee; the mechanic who used the boss' tools and supplies on his own car; the traveling salesman who used the company's car and gasoline on his personal trips.

But it has developed only in the past few years that employees have developed the idea that what belongs to their company also belongs to them and they have developed a numb conscience about stealing.

Like income tax chiseling, expense account padding, etc., this may be just another sign of the times—an indication of the deterioration of morals. — Ochiltree County Herald.

Church of Christ Youth Hold Meet At Memphis Park

Approximately 100 youth from the Churches of Christ in Estelina, Lakeview, Childress, Memphis and the Lubbock Christian College met at the Memphis City Park on Thursday evening.

Preceding the picnic meal, a devotional period was conducted by Cecil Hadaway, minister of the Memphis Church of Christ. Taking part in the program were Dwain Ellerd of Memphis, Carol Hickey, Jim Ravanelli and Frank Bishop, all of Lubbock Christian College, and Paul Thompson of Lakeview. A quartet composed of Dwain Ellerd, Cecil Hadaway, Gail Hadaway and Cecilia Hadaway rendered several selections. Young people from the Memphis Church of Christ served as hosts for the picnic meal which followed the devotional period.

After the meal, the group enjoyed skating at the Memphis Skating Rink.

Mrs. Anna Dickson returned recently from a two months visit with her children, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sitton in Carlsbad, N. M. and sons in Lubbock and Santa Ana and Bakersfield, Calif. She also visited a friend, Mrs. George Bugbee in Redlands, Calif.

Pathfinders Council Concludes Year With Luncheon In McElreath Home

A salad luncheon in the home of Mrs. W. F. McElreath marked the closing activities of the Pathfinder's Council for the current season 1958-59. Pink roses accented the luncheon table, garden flowers were used throughout the party rooms. Place cards marked the place of 11 members.

Mrs. Anna Dickson gave the invocation.

After the luncheon, the meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Ritchie. She expressed her thanks to the members for their cooperation the past two years.

The theme for the afternoon program was "Keys for Tomorrow."

Mrs. Jess Mitchell gave the meditation.

Mrs. D. C. Messick gave a survey of the year's achievements which included: donated books to library, weekly visits to the sick as the Sunshine for Golden Years project, Christmas box to the Wichita Falls State Hospital, the awarding of five dollars each to the best boy citizen, Mike Foster, and the best girl citizen, Shirley Guthrie, in the eighth grade. The sales of handbags, Christmas corsages and apron project, were the money-making projects. A 100 per cent subscription to The Texas Clubwoman and contributions to all federation projects were given.

The retiring president, Mrs. W. F. Ritchie, conducted the installation of officers using as her theme "Musical Keys and Notes." The musical scale was placed upon a white altar surrounded with pink roses and pink candles and white Bible completed the setting.

Mrs. J. J. McDaniel lighted the candles in which she stated, "May the light of love, friendship and harmony shine brightly throughout our club work next year."

In installing the officers, Mrs. Ritchie said, "May I share with you the thoughts that come to my mind in comparing music to our club. To me, music is very important, music is the language everyone understands; it serves every purpose when you are weary it gives you a lift and brightens your load, it comforts you in sorrow and adds joy to happiness. You are privileged to enjoy all music, whether it be a simple tune or a complicated concert. It is made up from the seven notes which compose the musical alphabet. So, with our club, my musical notes have a meaning, starting with C let us follow the simple scale, no sharps, no flats."

As each officer was introduced, each represented a key in the music scale.

Mrs. W. F. McElreath, president, represented the key of C; Mrs. Gene Chamberlain, vice president, represented the Key of D; Mrs. Jess Mitchell, treasurer, represented the note E; Mrs. D. C. Messick, recording secretary, represented the key of F; Mrs. John Smith, corresponding secretary, represented the key of G; and Mrs. A. Gidden, parliamentarian, represented the key of A. Others installed included Mrs. Robert Spicer, critic; Mrs. Anna Dickson, librarian; Mrs. W. D. Hicks, press reporter; and Mrs. W. F. Ritchie, press book.

In conclusion, Mrs. Ritchie said, "These are the notes from which we shall make our melody from the heart this year. Our prayer is that the master musician may direct us from above as we smile and serve."

After the installation, the club presented the out-going president, Mrs. Ritchie, with a gift.

Members attending were Mmes. Anna Dickson, O. M. Gunstream, Barney Burnett, Arthur Gidden, D. C. Messick, John Smith, Jess Mitchell, W. F. Ritchie, W. F. McElreath, and J. J. McDaniel.

Miss Helen Madden, who is a teacher in the Geneseo, Ill., high school, arrived here Monday to spend the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Madden.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Davis of Lubbock, who have served as manager of the Waples-Platter Co., for 39 years and now is a member of the board of directors, visited with Mr. and Mrs. Otis Jones Monday.

PLANS AUGUST WEDDING — Mr. and Mrs. Ben Parks announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Joy Beth, to Jerold Edward McQueen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira McQueen. The wedding will be an event of Friday, August 19, at 7:30 p. m. in the First Methodist Church in Memphis.

Mrs. Wilma Leslie and W. R. Scott Installed OES Worthy Matron, Patron

Mrs. Wilma Leslie and W. R. Scott were installed as worthy matron and worthy patron of Memphis Chapter No. 351, Order of the Eastern Star, Tuesday evening in the Masonic Temple.

Mrs. Anna Mae Foster was installing officer. Serving as installing marshal was Mrs. Hattie Dem Thompson. Mrs. Marie Ward of Aspermont was installing secretary. Mrs. Ona Rasco was installing organist. Serving as warden and sentinel for the installation were Mrs. Mary Jane Foxhall and R. C. Lemons. Mrs. Minnie Kinslow was installing chaplain.

Other chapter officers installed were Mrs. Mary Lou Irwin, associate matron; Joe Williams, associate patron; Imogene King, secretary; Mrs. Ruth Fowler, treasurer; Mrs. Leila Scott, conductress; Mrs. Beth Lemons, associate conductress; Mrs. Estelle Barber, chaplain; Mrs. Margaret Hancock, marshal; Mrs. Ona Rasco, organist; Mrs. Sandra Goff, Adah; Mrs. Belle Odom, Ruth; Miss Maud Milan, Esther; Mrs. Christine Galloway, Martha; Mrs. Vera Gunstream, Electra; and Mrs. Mabel Lavender, Warden. Walter Hicks will be installed at a later date.

The worthy matron's chosen colors of pink and green were emphasized in floral arrangements. Centering the dais were pink geraniums and caladium. Flanking this arrangement were arrangements of philodendron in pink ceramic pots. On the secretary's desk was a low pink bowl that held white chrysanthemums and geranium interspersed with fern.

The installing officers had corsage of white carnations tied in pink and green, gifts of Mrs. Leslie.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hancock, the retiring worthy patron and worthy matron, presided for the opening of the meeting and gave the welcome.

The retiring worthy matron and worthy patron were presented Eastern Star jewels from the chapter. A white leather-bound scrapbook, a gift of her corps of officers, was presented to Mrs. Leslie.

Following the ceremonies, a reception was held in the chapter's West Room. Mrs. Hancock presided at the table, which was covered with a white linen cut work cloth and centered with an arrangement of spring flowers. Crystal appointments were used.

Frosted lime punch and angel balls iced in pink were served to thirty-one members and guests from Dallas, Aspermont and Memphis.

Mrs. J. T. Harris of Franklinton, La., is here visiting her sister, Mrs. J. W. Chappell.

Bob Roberts, who is receiving treatment in an Abilene hospital, is reported to be recovering nically this week. Mr. Roberts is suffering from an injury to the vertebra in his neck which red several days ago.

Hall County Farmers Are Beginning To Plant Guar In Crop Rotation

Farmers in the Hall County Soil Conservation District are beginning to plant Guar as part of their crop rotation. Guar is a multi-purpose crop and the importance that it serves as a conservation crop in rotations is voiced by cotton growers and cotton ginners in the areas where guar is now established and paying its way through increased yields of higher quality cotton. In addition growers realize a profitable cash return from harvesting and marketing Guar beans with production ranging from 500 to 1200 pounds per acre. Some facts about Guar are: Increased water intake and water holding capacity of the soil, puts nitrogen into the soil, reduces the effect of rootrot and insect damage to the cotton, and is drought resistant and thrives in hot weather. Guar can be planted with standard equipment and is planted in the late spring after cotton planting time. Guar is a row crop and 5 to 6 pounds of seed are planted per acre. For best results the seed should be inoculated and at harvest time guar can be harvested with a regular combine. Two varieties of Guar are planted in this area. They are Texsel variety which is a tall growing plant and Groehler which is a branching variety. The 1960 market price is approximately $4.00 per cwt. for No. 1 clean beans and there is a local market for Guar. For more information about soil improving crops contact your local Soil Conservation Service office. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Senn of Portales, N. M., visited with her sister-in-law, Mrs. W. A. Spruill, over the weekend.

Hall County Soil Conservation District News

The completion of several engineering practices in the Hall County Soil Conservation District will greatly benefit farmers and ranchers as conservation practices, Royce Frisbie, soil conservation technician stated. Jack House has completed the construction of a farm pond on his farm in the Weatherly Community. This is a large size pond that will hold 100 acre feet of water and will be 32 feet deep when water reaches spillway level. Other ponds completed recently include two ponds on the O. D. Phillips farm in the Harrel Chapel community, one pond on the Charlie Murff farm at Brice, and one pond on the W. B. Morrison farm 7 miles East of Memphis. These ponds will provide for a better distribution of livestock grazing and produce recreation for farm families. Since the summer season is approaching all safety measures should be observed around farm ponds. Never go swimming alone or after eating a meal. A life preserver such as an old tire tube should be kept near the pond in case of emergency. Other life saving equipment such as long poles or ropes should be kept near the pond. For further information such as fish stocking rates and fertilization of farm ponds can be obtained from your local Soil Conservation Service office. Visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Widener and family over the weekend were Mrs. Widener's aunt and uncle Mr. and Mrs. Roy Senn of Portales, N. M. vice, their products; (3) They have nothing to hide; (4) And they know they can fulfill their promises. We might add to these the fact that wide-awake merchants in smaller towns like Memphis are beginning to realize that their hardest competition is coming from the big cities like Amarillo, Wichita Falls, Lubbock, etc.

City Council

the board of trustees (the Mercantile National Bank of Dallas) would have to approve any franchise change, and it was his understanding that they would not approve any change in franchise unless the franchise was renewed and extended for a term of 50 years.

It was the opinion of the council members that a lower supply requirement of 187,000 gallons per day would be agreeable, however, they would not be favorably inclined to renew existing franchise for a term of 50 years. The special committee notified Hester of this, however no word had been received by the council to date.

The council read and approved the reports and the paying of the monthly bills.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Billington are in Houston this week visiting their son.

Flood

received 17,364 inches of rainfall.

Citizens Suffer Hardships

Among hardship cases reported as a result of flood water was that of Min. and Mrs. Cecil Hadaway. They were returning from Lubbock late Monday night by way of Silvertown. Just before they reached the Red River Bridge on Highway 256, their car entered a dip in the highway, and stalled. Water in the dip was so deep that it began running into the car, which was immediately abandoned.

After standing out in the rain for about an hour, another automobile came along and picked them up. They came to Memphis by way of Clarendon, arriving here at 6:30 a. m. Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Webster, who reside south of the city, were without gas after a pipeline was washed out leading to their house. They were unable to get out because of the high waters; so for several hours were marooned in their home—without fuel.

Some farm families living in certain rural areas have been unable to reach paved roads due to mud and washed-out bridges.

Mrs. Bill Hitt and two children, Tim and Holly, returned to their home in Lancaster Monday after a visit here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Wines. Kay Wines went home with her sister to spend a short time.

New Standard Oil Co. Station Is Being Built

Construction is progressing rapidly on the new Standard Oil Co. service station building, located at the junction of 10th Street and Boykin Drive.

The all-steel building has been erected, and concrete laid. The glass windows were installed this week.

The construction is being done by Contractor R. B. Walden of Lubbock, for the Standard Oil Company of Texas, which features Chevron gasoline.

According to the builder's permit, the station will cost $21,000 and will include 1,200 square feet. The land on which the new station is located is owned by J. R. Nelson of Amarillo. It is being leased by the Standard Oil Company of Texas.

Jerry McQueen Given Scholarship At University

The Department of Geology, University of Texas, has awarded Jerry McQueen the Minnie Stevens Piper Foundation Scholarship for 1960-1961, according to an announcement made this week.

The scholarship has a monetary value of $500.00.

McQueen, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira McQueen, is a senior at the university. He is a graduate of the local high school.

McQueen received the award because of the high scholastic rating he has maintained at the university.

Grasshopper

When they are small, a 10 per cent dust at 15 pounds per acre is recommended. Later on make it 18 to 20 pounds per acre, or use a 20 per cent dust at 10 pounds per acre, or use a 20 per cent dust at 10 pounds per acre," he said.

"There are a couple of precautions to remember, too," he added. "Do not feed forage treated with these insecticides to dairy cattle until at least three weeks after spraying or dusting. And it is a good idea to protect bees when possible, so try to avoid applying these chemicals to legumes in bloom. The bees are essential for pollination, and should be protected. However, these sprays are less harmful to bees than the dust."

Hooser said that sprays will not kill large grasshoppers. However, there are a number of wet baits which are good, he said.

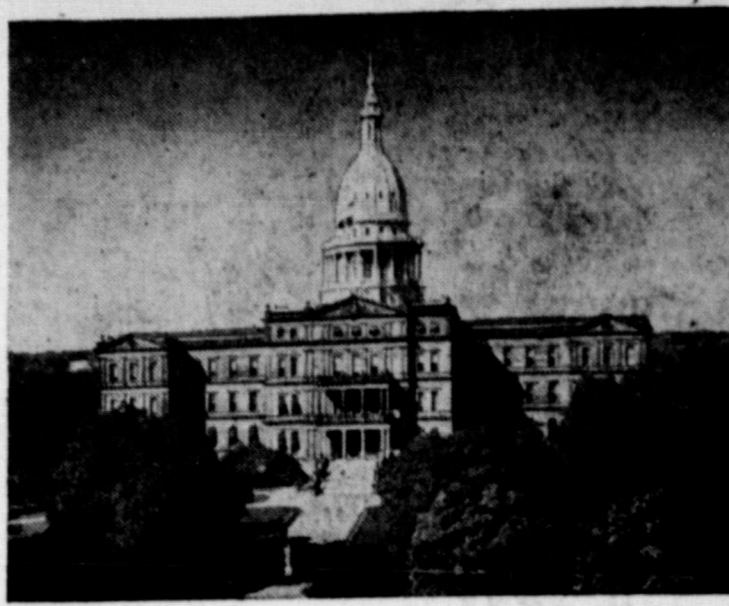

Chlordane or toxaphene in the form of emulsion concentrates or wettable powders can be substituted for sodium fluosilicate in any wet bait formula containing bran and hulls. Either one kills more quickly and for a longer period than sodium fluosilicate.

Chlordane at one-half pound and toxaphene at one pound have consistently given at least as good kill as six pounds of sodium fluosilicate per 100 pounds of dry bran and hulls.

"Stir the emulsion concentrate in wettable powder into the quantity of water required for wet bait and apply to the bran-hull mixture in a single mixing preparation. They are obtainable in various strengths, but whatever their strength, use enough to provide amount of insecticide indicated in the following formula:

Brand 25 pounds, cottonseed hulls three times the volume of bran, Chlordane one-half pound (or Toxaphene one pound, or sodium fluosilicate six pounds) water

How Well Do You Know Your America?

Test your knowledge or your guessing ability. See how far you must read before you can identify the American landmark shown above.

Shadows of a State's great past linger over this dome-shaped baroque building. Typical of the architecture of its day, the building was started in 1872 and completed in 1879, at a cost of $1 1/2 million. To duplicate it today would require some $6 million.

Standing before the building is a weathered statue of one of the State's most famous (and most photographed) men, Austin Blair, governor during the time of the Civil War.

More than 100,000 sightseers yearly go poking through the old building in which the bustle of the state's center of government continues in an atmosphere charged with the lore of the past.

The building, of course, is Michigan's Capitol, at Lansing.

to make a moist, crumbly mash, 10 to 12 gallons.

Grasshoppers are very easy to kill with sprays when they are small, Hooser said. However, when they grow larger, they are harder to kill. When they get grown the poison in the above formula should be increased.

"The government does not furnish poison bait any more," he explained, "However, the grasshoppers can be controlled if every farmer in the county will control his own hoppers. We will be happy to assist the farmer in any way possible in the control of grasshoppers and any other insects," Hooser concluded.

Regulations For

next Thursday at Clarendon, and a week from next Monday in Childress.

Hicks said the meetings are being held under a program of the Division of Wildlife Restoration, Texas Game and Fish Commission.

Warden Hicks requested that all citizens in the county who are interested in the discussion of these regulations to be present at this special meeting.

Work On New Grocery Store Is Progressing

Construction of a new grocery store was progressing rapidly the block of 12th Street Main. The walls and roof of building have been completed.

B. H. Layton is the contractor for the construction of the 100-foot hydite block building. It will contain 5,000 square feet of floor space.

The building is estimated to cost $9,750, according to builder's permit, which was issued by the City of Memphis.

George Scott and Don Dr. Wellington have purchased 19 to 24 of Block 16 of the Addition, and are now building the new grocery store.

The 24th annual Poultry Course for training flock-lead and pullorum-testing agents be held at the Texas A&M try Farm, June 13-16.
